Congressmen Suggest Sharing Atom Secrets

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressional committee said Tuesday that "America's preponderance in atomic weapons" could foredoom a Russian thrust into Europe or elsewhere, but that "our partners" need more information about the weapons.

The senate-house committee on atomic energy made the declaration in asking congress to revise the 8-year-old atomic energy law.

It asked, as President Eisenhower has asked, that some exchange of atomic secrets be allowed with friendly nations and that private industry be let into the atomic power field.

The report discussed, among other things: Russian Expansion Foredoomed Atomic Arsenal — "America's preponderance in atomic weapons can offset the numerical superiority of the Communist forces and serve emphatic notice on the Soviet dictators that any attempt to occupy free Europe, or to push further anywhere into the free world, would be foredoomed to failure."

"Yet, so long as our law prohibits us from giving our partners in these joint efforts for common defense such atomic information as is required for realistic military planning, our own national security suffers."

Atomic Submarine — "The land-based prototype of the atomic engine propelling the USS Nautilus has already produced more than enough power to send an atomic submarine around the world, fully submerged and at high speed."

Predicts Low Power Prices Atomic Power — "The atomic reactor art has already reached the point where atomic power at prices competitive with electricity derived from conventional fuels is on the horizon, though not within our immediate reach."

"The goal of atomic power at competitive prices will be reached more quickly if private enterprise, using private funds, is now encouraged to play a far larger role in the development of atomic power than is permitted under existing legislation."

The senate-house committee, which probably knows more about America's atomic strength than any group not in on the actual manufacture and storage of atomic weapons, was both reassuring and foreboding.

It said "our nation has developed, in the form of our atomic-weapon stockpile, a degree of deterring power which may well constitute the free world's greatest material asset in its efforts to avert another worldwide war."

Notes Russian Progress It noted that Russia has progressed far faster than was expected with both A-bomb and hydrogen explosions. Chances for legislation revising the atomic energy law seemed good. The committee is one of the most highly regarded in congress. Its advice usually is followed. The 18 members were unanimous on the bill as a whole.

The bill would let the AEC transfer to another nation secret data on the tactical use of atomic

Senate Group Downs Social Security Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate finance committee voted Tuesday to make social security coverage voluntary for 3,600,000 farm operators and 500,000 professional people instead of compulsory as President Eisenhower asked.

The committee did not announce the vote. It was the first phase to be considered of the administration's bill liberalizing and extending the social security system.

But it was learned there were not enough votes in the committee in favor of compulsory coverage.

Early Decisions Changed Instead, the question became whether to eliminate the farm operators and professional people entirely. One member reported privately that at one point the committee voted to eliminate both groups from the bill.

However, these decisions were reconciled and the optional coverage was voted.

The house passed the bill in nearly the form requested by the president. It provided for compulsory coverage of the farm operators and all of professional people except about 150,000 doctors.

3 Per Cent Tax The professional people in addition to doctors covered on optional basis in the senate version, include lawyers, dentists, osteopaths, veterinarians, chiropractors, naturopaths, optometrists, architects, Christian Science practitioners, engineers and certified public accountants.

The farm operators and professional people electing to go under the system if senate version of the bill is adopted would do so as self-employed persons. This would mean they would pay a 3 per cent tax on earnings.

However, the provisions, increasing present and future benefits and raising the tax base to $4,200 of annual wages instead of the present $3,600 are expected to be approved with little difficulty.

City School Board Hires 9 Teachers Nine new Iowa City teachers were hired and three resignations were accepted at the Iowa City Board of Education meeting Tuesday night.

The schoolboard also took the following other actions: 1. Heard that ex-President Herbert Hoover definitely will be in Iowa City Aug. 10 to participate in dedication ceremonies of the new Herbert Hoover elementary school.

2. Approved the hiring of Miss Betty Bjorkie and Mrs. Sally Hauer as two new school secretaries.

3. Accepted bids totaling $6,322 for conversion to gas heating in three schools. Larew company of Iowa City will handle installations in the Horace Mann and Longfellow schools; Galbraith Heating company of Cedar Rapids will do the work in the junior high school.

The board accepted "with regret" the resignation of Miss Lolla Hughes, high school dramatics teacher who is leaving after 27 years with the Iowa City schools. Other teachers resignations came from Mrs. Marenda Ewalt and Mrs. Patricia Poage.

The following teachers received appointments: Janet Bartel, elementary; Mrs. Frances Horowitz, elementary; Vivian Koek, elementary; Mrs. Mary Longman, elementary; Mrs. Jacqueline Sturdivant, elementary; Mrs. Virginia Canin, art supervisor; Mrs. Alberta Code, high school commerce; Mrs. Jacqueline Dodson, high school English; and Frances Miller, high school social studies.

The new appointments leave Iowa City with four vacancies in its elementary schools and two openings in its high school faculty.

World Court Rules UN Must Pay Back 11 Fired Americans

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—The World Court rejected U.S. arguments and ruled Tuesday the United Nations must pay $179,000 in compensation to 11 Americans fired by the world organization in connection with U. S. loyalty checks.

This issue was the center of a bitter controversy in the 60-member U. N. general assembly last fall, as a result of strenuous U. S. objections to paying the awards. It now goes back to the assembly for another round of debate.

The United States took the position the assembly could — and should — set aside the awards which had been made by the U. N. administrative tribunal, an appeals body set up to review staff personnel problems. After a long debate, the assembly decided to ask the international court for an advisory opinion.

By a vote of 9-3 the court held that the assembly "has no rights on any ground to refuse to give effects to awards of compensation" made by the administrative tribunal.

The court ruling was expected to kick up a big political row in Washington.

At the time of the debate American sources said privately they believed congress never would appropriate money to pay compensation to persons whose loyalty was in doubt. If the U. N. pays the awards, the United States will owe a third of the total.

The 11 involved refused to answer questions asked by a federal grand jury and other U. S. investigating bodies as to whether they had ever been Communists.

Flanders Predicts Vote On Move To Oust Joe WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Ralph Flanders (R-Vt.) said Tuesday he has a promise from the Senate Republican policy committee that he can have a showdown vote on his move to oust Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) as chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

Flanders met with the committee behind closed doors Tuesday.

Flanders is the author of a resolution the senate sent to its Rules committee proposing to strip McCarthy of all committee chairmanships. The Rules committee has taken no action on the resolution.

House Vote Halts Ike's Health Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house balked suddenly at President Eisenhower's health reinsurance program Tuesday sending it back to the interstate commerce committee on a rollcall vote of 238-134.

Majority leader Charles Halleck (R-Ind.) acknowledged that the unexpected move nearly killed chances of getting any action on the legislation during this session of congress.

With a personal introduction by President Eisenhower, Welfare secretary Oveta Culp Hobby went on the air last Friday to urge enactment of the bill. It would have set up a government reinsurance system to encourage expansion of health insurance offered by private companies.

House Debates 3 Hours The bill had cleared the interstate committee without a record vote, and as late as Tuesday afternoon Republican leaders told newsmen they knew of no major opposition.

A storm blew up during three hours of debate, however. The main complaint against the measure was that it was rushed to a vote too soon, that members didn't have time to digest the provisions in its 40 printed pages, and that it would not accomplish anything for the masses of people who don't have health insurance.

Midwest Governors Meet in N.Y.

Governors Debate Plan To Build More Roads

BOLTON LANDING, N. Y. (AP)—Governors pouring praise and protest on a huge new presidential highway building program upped the cost estimate Tuesday to a possible 90 billion dollars.

Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado, chairman of the annual Governors' Conference in session here, mentioned that figure at a news conference.

May Act Today It appeared likely the conference might act today on setting up a special committee to consult President Dwight Eisenhower on his 10-year "grand plan" for a national road network capable of meeting defense needs in any atomic war and transport problems of 200 million people.

In outlining the program to the governors, through notes read to the conference Monday night by Vice President Richard Nixon, Eisenhower spoke of a 50 billion dollar program — in addition to "current normal expenses."

Thornton said he and other governors figured these normal expenses, by the states and federal governments, would amount to another 40 billions.

Pump Priming Mentioned Thornton and Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio viewed the program as probably part of an administration plan to use road construction for pump priming purposes in event of a serious business recession.

Governors were fairly well agreed that the country needs an extra 50 billion of road building in the next decade, slump or no slump. But they were split over who should carry it out and how.

Some went along with the presidential suggestion of a federal-state alliance. Others protested that this would mean a continued federal hand in highway projects that ought to be left to the states.

Aid for Jobless Bill Passes Senate WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate Tuesday night passed 78-3 an unemployment compensation financing bill which will bring bigger federal grants to the states. It acted after rejecting an amendment to boost the jobless aid benefits to individuals.

The measure now goes to conference with the house, which passed it in virtually the same form last year.

The proposal of 16 Democrats and Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind.-Ore.) to raise the nationwide scale of unemployment compensation payments by an estimated 40 per cent was voted down 56-30 after several hours of debate.

Backers of the amendment contended that the benefits, which are under control of the states, were set in the 1930's and are inadequate by present standards.

Fraises Plan Mrs. Hobby, in her televised talk for the bill, said it was neither socialized medicine nor a handout to the insurance companies.

Dulles Again Urges Asian Security Pact

PARIS (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flew into Paris for Indochina talks Tuesday amid reports that the United States and Britain are "pretty well agreed" on a partition of Viet Nam as a basis for settlement.

This report came not from Dulles but from an authoritative British informant who outlined the situation to newsmen in London. He said the partition line would be between the 16th and 18th parallels, and "demonstrably defensible — one that the Communists will understand is defensible."

Dulles made it clear he was still thinking in the broad terms of collective security for Southeast Asia. In a brief statement on arrival, he recalled that he had come here three months ago to discuss a collective defense for that area.

Honorable Peace Possible "That was prior to the Geneva conference, and I felt that such a collective defense organization would help France to secure just and honorable terms at Geneva," he said. "I still feel the same way."

Britain and France have been moving slowly on the Southeast Asia project pending the outcome of the Geneva meetings. Dulles' visit here Tuesday to confer with Premier Pierre Mendes-France and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain, was arranged after Dulles rejected their requests to return to Geneva.

While the three-power talks here began in secret, the London informant was giving out the best available report of the combined American and British attitude toward Indochina in the light of the recent Eisenhower-Churchill talks.

Agree on 3 Points The London authority, insisting that he remain unnamed, listed three points as "pretty well agreed upon" between the United States and Britain:

1. The partition line would be as far north as negotiations could make it.

2. Even north of this line French Union forces would continue to hold some position. The informant suggested Haiphong, the seaport supplying the Red River delta, would be a possibility because it is, as he expressed it, defensible. The view appears to be that Hanoi, inland from Haiphong, cannot be held.

3. There would be some arrangement for an exchange of populations between the partitioned sectors of Viet Nam. This presumably would make the settlement more satisfactory to President Eisenhower, who has said he will not be a party to any agreement enslaving people.

France may feel called upon to accept other terms, the informant said, explaining: "It may be that France will feel obliged to accept an agreement that we and the United States would regard as dishonorable."

French Withstand New Red Attacks On Hanoi Outpost HANOI, Indochina (AP)—The Vietnam built up pressure Tuesday on French Union outposts shielding Hanoi on three sides, as the French slammed back with air and tank attacks.

Civilians were moving out of Son Tay, 25 miles northwest of here, following severe mortar shelling of French headquarters there by Communist-led rebels Monday night.

There was no indication the French garrison had yielded the town.

The Vietnam stepped up their attacks all across the northern Red river delta defense line. Guerrillas attacked a French highway guard patrol between Son Tay and Hanoi but were driven back when a squadron of French tanks rushed to the rescue from Son Tay.

IOWANS VOTE NEGATIVE WASHINGTON (AP)—Iowa's eight Republican representatives Tuesday voted with the majority as the house killed a bill to allow the government to underwrite losses incurred through expansion of private health insurance programs. The vote was 238-134. They are Cunningham, Dooliver, Gross, Hoeven, Jensen, LeCompte, Martin and Telle.

Grantland Rice Dies Of Stroke in N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—Grantland Rice, 73, dean of America's sports writers, died Tuesday.

He started his career on the Nashville, Tenn., News in 1901. For the next half century he chronicled the exploits of some of the greatest athletes the nation has ever seen.

Rice started many of his pieces with a bit of verse and this custom in time became sort of a trademark.

A stroke ended his life at 5:15 p.m. CST. He died at Roosevelt hospital.

Reached Peak in '20's Rice reached a peak in the 1920's during the "Golden Age" of American sport. As a first hand observer, he became a recognized authority on athletic events.

He considered Ty Cobb and Babe Ruth the best ballplayers of the thousands he watched. The Dempsey-Firpo fight stood out to him as the most exciting. Bobby Jones was his favorite golfer. And his greatest horse race was the 1935 match when Seabiscuit beat War Admiral.

He was stricken in his office about noon while working on his syndicated column, "The Sportlight." With him when he died were his wife, Kate Hollis Rice, and his secretary, Katherine Mecca.

Famed Rhyme Quoted One of Rice's most quoted pieces of verse read: "When the Great Scorer comes 'To mark against your name; 'He'll write not 'won' or 'lost,' 'But how you played the game.'"

Born in Murfreesboro, Tenn., he was an all-around athlete at Vanderbilt University, where he captained the 1901 baseball team.

Rice went to work for the Nashville News at $5 a week, writing sports and covering the State Capitol, county courthouse and other news sources.

Columnist For Evening Mail In 1911, he came to New York as sports columnist for the old Evening Mail and began to attract national attention.

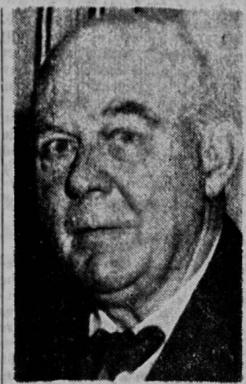

Rice went to the New York Tribune in 1914 and stayed there until 1930 when he began his nationally syndicated column.

He also wrote numerous short movie features, contributed frequently to magazines and wrote four books of poems.

Besides his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Fred Butler. As Florence Rice, she once played in movies.

U.S. Recognizes New Guatemalan Regime WASHINGTON (AP)—The State department announced Tuesday night that the United States has recognized the new government of Guatemala, headed by Col. Carlos Castillo Armas.

Spokesman Refuses Comment on Tax Information Leak

WASHINGTON (AP)—A spokesman for the internal revenue service said Tuesday he could not comment on a report that an investigation of how Iowa Gov. William Beardsley's tax affairs became public, was stirred by a protest from an unnamed Republican quarter in Iowa.

The spokesman acknowledged Monday that the revenue service was investigating its own staff to discover about a $13,000 deficiency in the governor's tax return from 1944 to 1949. The information was used by Beardsley's opponents in the 1952 election campaign, in which the governor won his third term.

Unofficial News Received The income tax law makes it a criminal offense for revenue service officials to disclose tax returns to unauthorized persons.

The best available unofficial information here was that the revenue service got a protest about unauthorized use of Beardsley's tax returns from an Iowa Republican national committee source. According to this report, the protest pointed to the Iowa Democratic national committee as a possible intermediary in the leak of the returns to the public.

Beardsley Attending Conference In Bolton Landing, N.Y., where he is attending the conference of governors, Beardsley said he has no information on the investigation.

Saying he released the entire story of his tax affairs in 1951, the governor added: "I can readily see how an honest revenue department would want to clean up its own house."

He said, however, that he made no move for the probe, that he knows of no GOP source in Iowa who did and that he has not been contacted about it in any way.

THE IOWA CITY AIRPORT became the scene of a square dance Tuesday night as the city playground and recreation commission held its weekly dancing session in front of the airport administration building in an effort to beat the heat. Usually the old-time dances are held in the Community building. About 35 persons took part in the festivities as William J. Coen, 1712 E. st., called the dances. Summer weather has cut down the attendance, Coen said, but added that during the winter as many as 92 persons came to the Tuesday night dances at the Community building.

A Condensation of Late Developments

Synhorst Asks Advice on Expense Reports DES MOINES (AP)—Secretary of State Melvin D. Synhorst asked the attorney general's office Tuesday whether he has any responsibility to take action against about 20 candidates who have not filed expense reports. Under Iowa law, candidates in the June 7 primary election were required to file the reports by July 7. The law makes it a misdemeanor to violate the law. The penalty is a fine up to $500, a jail sentence up to one year or both. The delinquents were mostly candidates for the state legislature but none sought top office nominations.

General OK's Cpl. Dickenson's Conviction WASHINGTON (AP)—The court-martial conviction of Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson on charges of collaborating with the Communists while a prisoner of war in Korea was approved Tuesday by Maj. Gen. John H. Stokes Jr., commanding general of the Washington military district. This sends the case on to the review board of the army judge advocate general. If the board upholds the conviction, Dickenson can appeal to the U.S. court of military appeals.

Eisenhowers Attend Sister-in-Law's Funeral STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—With President Dwight D. Eisenhower and the First Lady among the mourners, Mrs. Milton S. Eisenhower, wife of the President's youngest brother, was buried Tuesday in a flower-encircled grave on a Pennsylvania hillside. The presidential party came by plane and automobile from Washington to join Dr. Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State university, and other members of the family at the last rites. Three hundred persons attended the simple, 15-minute funeral service in St. Andrew's Episcopal church. Mrs. Eisenhower died on Saturday at the age of 49. The President and Mrs. Eisenhower flew back to Washington after the funeral.

Football Ticket Sale Biggest in SUI History

Season ticket sales for the coming 1954 football season at SUI are "the heaviest in the history of the school," athletic department business manager, Francis "Buzz" Graham reported Tuesday.

Mail orders for season tickets which went on sale July 1, have been heavier than in past years. At present the business office is about a day behind in mail and unable to release any figures on sales.

The biggest run for single game tickets was for the Notre Dame game. "On the basis of the mail orders to date it is likely that conference games and the game with Notre Dame will be sold out this fall," said Graham.

Reports received by telephone from Notre Dame indicated the Irish allotment of tickets had been sold out the first day they were placed on sale. At present only season ticket orders are being filled. Single game orders will be filled when the season ticket sale ceases, August 15. Graham reported that the business office expects to be able to fill all orders for single game tickets to the Notre Dame game that have been received to date. Good seats are still available for all other games.

All orders for single game tickets are being filed and will be honored in the order received.

Teamsters Given 19-Cent Pay Hike

Melvin Smith, business agent of teamsters local 238, and Newton Margules, Des Moines attorney, representing the companies Tuesday confirmed terms of a new contract for three Iowa City transfer firms.

The new contract, which covers about a dozen employees will expire May 1, 1955. The contract calls for a 19 cent hourly pay boost with a guarantee of four hours work with each "start".

Employees of Maher Bros., the Iowa City Transfer and Storage Co., and Thompson Transfer and Storage Co. returned to their jobs under an interim agreement May 21 after an 11 day lay-off.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The pavement in the show arena at the St. Louis Zoo was so hot Tuesday that the elephant show was called off. The temperature zoomed up to 109.3 degrees Monday, second hottest in St. Louis history, and was back up to 100.4 Tuesday.

Mason Rewrites Book On Covering Journalism

Forty-one theoretical reporting assignments, ranging from covering a murder story to reporting a corn-growing contest, are included in the rewritten edition of the workbook "Covering Journalism."

Author of the workbook is Prof. Edward F. Mason, head of pictorial journalism at SUI. The new edition replaces one published in 1942 and again in 1953. The original workbook was used by journalism students in the universities of Illinois, Arkansas and Washington.

SUI Acquires 97-Year-Old House

ONE OF IOWA CITY'S oldest landmarks, the 97-year-old Peter Dey home, 507 N. Clinton st., has been absorbed by SUI. The house was the first in Iowa City to have a picture window. Dey, who came here in 1857, pioneered the first survey and construction of the Union Pacific railroad. He was chief engineer on the Coralville dam construction project and president of the First National bank of Iowa City for 26 years. The university has no immediate plans for the property.

Van Oosterhout Suggested For Court of Appeals Position

An SUI alumnus has been recommended as a judge of the U.S. eighth circuit court of appeals, the Associated Press said Tuesday.

He is Judge Martin Van Oosterhout of the Iowa 21st judicial district. Van Oosterhout, 54, of Orange City received his B.A. degree from SUI in 1922 and the juris doctor degree in 1924. He has since served on the Iowa alumni association council.

Van Oosterhout is the father of Peter Van Oosterhout, SUI law student and 1952's "outstanding Greek on the SUI campus."

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) recommended Van Oosterhout to U.S. Attorney General Herbert Brownell. If Brownell approves, the Associated Press said, President Eisenhower is expected to forward the nomination to the senate. The senate judiciary committee must okay the nomination before the full senate can confirm it.

Sen. William Langer (R-N.D.), chairman of that committee, wants a North Dakota resident appointed to the eighth circuit court, the Associated Press reported. However, there are now two vacancies on the seven-judge circuit bench.

The circuit court position is a life-time appointment at $17,500 a year. States included in the eighth circuit are Arkansas, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota.

CAA May Act In Plane Crash

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP)—A federal civil aeronautics administration representative said Tuesday he believes Washington officials of the agency will recommend that the Canadian government take some action in connection with the crash of a Canadian military plane here Monday.

The Royal Canadian air force Lancaster bomber had been here about a week for installation of radio equipment. Four crewmen were taken to a hospital after the crash but none was reported seriously hurt. The plane was damaged severely and partly burned.

2 University Physicians To Talk in Ames Today

Dr. Wilbur R. Miller, medical director of SUI's Psychopathic hospital, will speak on "Elementary Facts Every Citizen Should Know About Mental Health." Prof. Frank E. Coburn, of SUI's department of psychiatry, will describe "Early Symptoms of Mental Illness."

The three-day workshop sponsored by 28 health organizations in the state, is conducted for persons interested in promoting their own, and their community's health.

Interpreting the News

By TOM WHITNEY
Associated Press
Foreign Staff

It's now just a few days more than a year since the Soviet government announced the arrest of the dreaded police chief Lavrenty Beria.

How have things gone in the Soviet leadership since that sudden development which indicated to the world there had been cracks in the Kremlin walls?

Some foreign observers when Beria was purged expressed hopes the Kremlin clique would tear itself apart in a big power struggle. But they've been disappointed. Nothing of the sort has matured.

The fact is that the Soviet government and Communist party leadership during the past year have managed to maintain a seemingly high degree of stability.

There still may well be some acute personal conflicts within the Soviet leadership. It would not be surprising, sooner or later, to see one or more of these erupt into the open. But there is serious doubt whether anything of this sort will undermine the Soviet government.

Malenkov could do in Nikita Khrushchev, Khrushchev could get rid of Malenkov, or Nikolai Bulganin could get rid of them both, but any such developments would be handled, it is believed, inside the leadership and neither during their course nor in their result would have much important effect on the Russian people or the outside world.

It's certainly an open question whether the present form of committee dictatorship in the U.S.S.R. is destined to survive. In past history committee rule or committee dictatorship has rarely been long-lived in any society.

505 MAU MAU KILLED

LONDON (AP)—Britain has executed 505 Africans in the campaign to wipe out Mau Mau anti-white terrorism in Kenya, the house of commons was told Tuesday. Fox' Single Overshadows 6 Homers As Americans Win, 11-9

Rosen Stars with 2 Homers; Americans Get 4, Nationals 2

CLEVELAND (AP) — Injured Al Rosen, who offered to sit out the All-Star game "for the good of the team" staged a tremendous one-man show to drive in five runs with two home runs and a single Tuesday.

It took Nellie Fox's two-run bloop single in the eighth, however, to give the aroused American league an 11-9 victory over the National in the 21st All-Star Baseball game.

Rosen's record-tying two homers and five runs batted in provided the top drama to a stirring game in which the lead teetered back and forth.

Hitting Record Set

The game set a new record with 31 hits for both clubs, 17 for the American league; 20 runs scored by both teams and tied a mark with six homers. Statisticians will be popping up with other new records for the rest of the week.

A roaring crowd of 68,751, only 1,061 short of the All-Star high set at the same park in 1935, thrilled at the batting show, especially because Cleveland hitters drove in 8 of the 11 runs in this American league victory.

But the big mob didn't know the inside story of Rosen, who has been slumping lately because of an injured index finger that affected his grip on the bat.

Asks For Benching

Before the game Rosen went to Manager Casey Stengel, who, incidentally won an All-Star game on his fifth try. He told grizzled old Case he was free to take him out at any time if he felt the Indians' first baseman was hurting the team's chances.

Because Rosen was chosen by the fans and had to play at least the first three innings under the rules, Stengel went to Commissioner Ford Frick to ask permission to take him out if he wanted after a token appearance.

Frick okayed Stengel's request, but said it should be left up to the player, who has been hitting at about a .260 clip with only one homer since he returned to the lineup after breaking his finger early in June.

Rosen Struck Out

After Rosen struck out against Robin Roberts with two men on base in the first inning, he was not lifted. In the third he came up with Minnie Minoso of Chicago and teammate Bobby Avila on base and slammed a Roberto pitch for a 380-foot homer over the portable fence in left center for a 3-0 lead. Detroit's Ray Boone followed with a homer to make it 4-0.

After Doby tied it up with his homer off loser Gene Conley, the 6-foot-8 rookie Milwaukee right-hander, singles by Mickey Mantle and Berra of the Yankees and to Rosen filled the bases. National league Manager Walter Alton of Brooklyn then called Carl Erskine of his Dodgers to save the day. It looked as though the handsome right-hander might get out of it when he threw a called third strike past

Fox' Winning Hit

NATIONAL LEAGUE SHORTSTOP Alvin Dark lunges in vain for Nelson Fox's bloop single past second in the All-Star eighth inning. The bases full hit scored Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra with the last two runs of the game in the American league victory.

Rosen's second homer came in the fifth after the Nationals had rallied and forged ahead 7-5 with a burst of power. After Yogi Berra had singled to open the last of the fifth, Rosen hit his second homer into the lower left field seats, about 400 feet from home plate.

Indians' Big Day

It was a great day for the Indians who had lost four in a row and all but a half-game of their American league lead in Chicago last weekend. In addition to Rosen, second baseman Avila drove in two runs with a single and sacrifice fly and center fielder Larry Doby hit a pinch home run in the eighth to tie the score at 9-9.

After Doby tied it up with his homer off loser Gene Conley, the 6-foot-8 rookie Milwaukee right-hander, singles by Mickey Mantle and Berra of the Yankees and to Rosen filled the bases.

National league Manager Walter Alton of Brooklyn then called Carl Erskine of his Dodgers to save the day. It looked as though the handsome right-hander might get out of it when he threw a called third strike past pinch hitter Mickey Vernon of Washington.

But Fox blooped a single back of second to send Mantle and Berra racing home with the winning runs.

Bullpens Nearly Cleared

Alton cleared his bullpen with the exception of Milwaukee's Jim Wilson. Stengel used seven of his eight pitchers. The only reason he didn't get around to the eighth, Baltimore's Bob Turley, was that Turley ran into the fence in pre-game practice and suffered a cut over his eye.

The winning pitcher was Dean Stone, Washington's fine rookie lefthander who was a late selection by Stengel when he discovered George Kell, Chicago third baseman would't be able to make it.

Stone pitched to only one man in the eighth when the Nationals put the club on Chicago's Bob Keegan. The 24-year-old freshman came in with the Nationals out front 9-8, men on first and third and two out.

While Stone was getting ready to pitch to Duke Snider of the St. Louis Cards, The Nationals led Brooklyn, St. Louis' Red Schoendienst lit out for home. He was nipped at the plate on Stone's throw to Berra. That set off the only real rhubarb of the day.

Leo Durocher and Charlie Grimm, the two National league coaches, rushed in from the coaching boxes to complain bitterly to plate umpire Bill Stewart of the National. Durocher made motions that he thought Stone had balked. It didn't get him anywhere for the half inning was over and the Americans then came on to pull it out.

After the game Durocher was bitter. "The call at home was a disgrace," he said. "We know Stone barked. We even told Ed Rommel third base umpire to watch for it. Schoendienst was perfect and he would have made it home standing up if Stone had brought his hands down like he was supposed to."

Rosen's record-tying performance equaled Ted Williams' feat at Boston in 1946 when he hit two home runs and also drove in five runs. Williams, who went into Tuesday's game in the fourth inning, struck out twice and walked once.

The American league homers came from Rosen, Boone and Doby, the Nationals' from Ted Kluszewski and Gus Bell of Cincinnati, who came up as a pinchhitter in the eighth with Willie Mays on base and hit the ball over the right field fence for a 9-8 National lead.

Rosen Tells of Losing Sleep

CLEVELAND (AP) — "I didn't sleep a wink last night worrying whether I'd be an All-Star game goat. I even asked before the game to be taken out after my first time at bat."

Those were the first words of Cleveland's Al Rosen in the jubilant American league dressing room after Tuesday's 11-9 win over the National's leaguers.

"Something happened after I struck out the first time up," continued the beaming Rosen. "I wanted one more crack, even though I told Casey Stengel to take me out any time he wanted to. Boy, was it good to see that ball in the third inning sail over the left field fence."

Somebody pointed out that it was a bloop single over second by Nellie Fox of the Chicago White Sox which pushed across the two deciding American runs in the eighth.

"Just what you want," countered Stengel. "Those runs count just the same as Rosen's and Ray Boone's who homered in the third and Larry Doby's who hit an eighth-inning pinch homer which tied the score at 9-9."

While Rosen was surrounded by writers and photographers, comparatively off by himself in a corner was Boston's Ted Williams, who had homered twice and batted in five runs to shine as the hero of the 1946 All-Star game. That record was matched Tuesday by Rosen.

Umpires Arouse Leo's Wrath

CLEVELAND (AP) — The stony silence finally broke in the National league All-Stars' dressing room, and there were two main topics—a bloop single that won for the American leaguers 11-9 and an attempted steal of home that fizzled.

Nellie Fox of the Chicago White Sox hit the pop single over second on Carl Erskine's second pitch to him with the bases filled and two out. The hit broke a 9-9 tie by scoring Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra.

"In spite of all the homers out there today, Fox's single was the walk that beat us," manager Walter Alton summed up ruefully. "We put out everything we had. It could have gone either way."

The talk was longer, louder and more bitter on the other subject—the attempted steal by Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cards. The Nationals led 9-8 at the time, there were two out, Alvin Dark was on first with an infield hit, and Duke Snider, who had made three straight hits, was at bat.

"It was a disgrace," stormed coach Leo Durocher, who rushed from his third base coaching box to jaw violently at plate umpire Bill Stewart.

"The pitcher Dean Stone has got to come to a set position," Leo insisted, "and he didn't stop."

Over protest of Durocher and Milwaukee's Charley Grimm, Stewart refused to call a balk.

On Fox's hit, shortstop Dark made a hard-running try, but admitted afterward he was "at least 10 feet away" when the ball hit just behind second.

"Balls crashing all over the park, and a 98-foot hit ruins us," moaned Durocher.

Iowa City Whips Burlington, 5-0; Dubuque Wins

Herm Whittacker fired a one-hitter against Burlington Wednesday night as his Iowa City teammates walloped home five runs and contributed some sparkling plays afield to advance to the finals of the summer district high school baseball tournament on the City high diamond.

Whittacker was fast and wild, walking seven men and hitting two with pitches, but he was tough when in trouble. Whittacker fanned 11 opponents. Burlington catcher Inghram managed his team's only hit when he poked a ground single between the first and second baseman in the sixth inning.

Iowa City scored three runs in the first on two walks, a single, and Bill Stevens' triple then added two insurance scores in the sixth.

Dubuque overwhelmed Agency 16-0, in the first game of the evening, called at the end of five innings because of the 10-run rule. The Rams from northeast Iowa pushed across 11 runs in the first inning and coasted to an easy win, using three pitchers. Jim Kaufman pounded a home run in the victor's big first inning.

HOME FOOD FREEZER

How many times have you passed up a really good buy in meat, fresh or frozen fruit and vegetables — just because there was no way to store it? How often have you skipped steam canning your garden surplus or local truck crops because of all the work, fuss and bother involved? Fresh-caught fish and game — how much have you had to give away?

In a year's time you probably pass up dozens of opportunities to save on food costs! In itself, that's reason enough to own a home freezer! But you get these other advantages, too — easier meal planning, fewer shopping trips, more nutritious, flavorful food, more varied menus, and a ready supply of food for unexpected needs.

Add up the benefits, figure the cost, and you'll wonder why you've waited so long to get a modern food freezer.
