Joint Committee OK's Tax-Cutting Bill

Senate Passes Ike's TVA Power Plant Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower won a big victory Wednesday night as the senate upheld his plan for a new private power plant in the Tennessee Valley area.

First the chamber refused on a vote of 55-36 to forbid the project. Then, on motion of Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) it adopted by voice vote an amendment specifically authorizing the undertaking.

The proposed ban on it had been offered in another amendment, by Sen. Clinton Anderson (D-N.M.), to the pending bill which rewrites the nation's atomic energy law.

Forty-four Republicans and 17 Democrats voted against the Anderson amendment. It was supported by 33 Democrats, 2 Republicans and Sen. Wayne More (Ind.-Ore.).

Sanctions Power Contract
The Ferguson amendment sanctioning the proposed electric power contract was accepted with a roll-call.

Anderson's amendment would have specified that the atomic energy commission could contract only for power served directly to atomic installations.

The President has instructed the AEC to conclude a 25-year contract with a southern utility group for construction of a $107 million steam plant to furnish power to the Memphis, Tenn., area.

The power would be served over Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) lines, replacing TVA electricity supplied to the Paducah, Ky., atomic plant.

Called for Review
Anderson's amendment was designed to kill the project by restricting the AEC's contract authority. It also called for a review of all AEC power contracts by the senate-house atomic energy committee.

The vote climaxed a stormy eight-day debate, mainly on the power issue, which is only part of the big bill.

The measure provides mainly for permitting private industry into the atomic field and for releasing some nuclear secrets to Allied armies.

During the day the President told his news conference that he does not regard the AEC as an independent commission but one requiring his supervision. He reiterated that he is prepared to support TVA, as it now is, with his full strength.

More Rain Forecast For Southern Iowa As Dry Spell Ends

DES MOINES (AP) — The parched southern section of Iowa received some rain early Wednesday and was to receive more rain early today.

The Wednesday shower gave the southeastern sections precipitation amounts of over an inch at some points.

The rain brought relief from the high temperatures which had been bothering Iowans in the early part of the week. Wednesday afternoon highs ranged from the 70's in the central and east sections to the low 80's in the extreme west.

The cool weather was expected to continue early today, but the mercury is due to rise this afternoon to highs of middle 80's in the northeast to the upper 90's in the southwest. Readings early today were expected to range in the 60's.

Predict Thunderstorms
Thunderstorms are predicted for late this afternoon and night in the western portions.

The rain and cool weather brought relief from heat and drought in other sections of the nation, too.

The heat wave has claimed more than 300 lives in the last two weeks.

Cool air from Canada spread southward between the Rockies and the middle Atlantic states as far south as Kentucky.

Rain fell in heavy amounts in southern West Virginia, Ohio, northern Indiana, northern Illinois and eastern Iowa. Some areas in these states recorded more than an inch of precipitation.

Not Much Relief
Local showers were reported in the lower Ohio valley and southern Illinois, but not enough fell to cause much relief.

Searing heat continued in the southwest, the south, and the central and southern plains states. In Gage, Okla., it was 104, Emporia, Kan., 98, and Fort Smith, Ark., 100.

Coolest spot in the nation was Mullan Pass, Mont., where light rain and snow brought a temperature of 36.

Since July 7, the number of deaths caused by the hot weather blanketing the south, midwest and southern plains states now total 301. In Missouri, since July 12, 108 have died from heat causes.

In Washington, Rep. Sid Simpson (R-Ill.), told President Eisenhower that a large area of southern Illinois is "burning up." He told the President he didn't think more than 30 per cent of the corn crop south of Springfield could be saved.

The drought and heat have killed thousands of chickens and livestock.

138 Polio Cases Reported in State; Increase Predicted

DES MOINES (AP) — Dr. Ralph H. Heeren, state health department director of preventable diseases, predicted Wednesday Iowa will have more polio this year than last year.

But he said he did not foresee polio climbing this year to the epidemic proportions of 1952 when 3,564 cases were reported.

Last year's polio cases totaled 613. This year, through last week, 138 polio cases have been reported, compared with 217 at the same date in 1952 and 87 in the same period of 1953.

"By this time in July we ordinarily have a pretty good idea of how much we're going to have and where it will appear," said Dr. Heeren.

"It looks like we definitely will have more polio cases than last year but not the extremely high rate we had for the state as a whole in 1952."

This year's polio cases are developing more in the eastern two-thirds of the state, Dr. Heeren said, but cases reported so far have not been concentrated in any one area.

On a population basis, Marion county has one of the highest polio rates this year with nine cases reported through last week. Population of the county is about 25,500.

In Polk county, with a population of about 235,000 there were 19 reported cases of polio.

Fifty-one of the 99 counties had reported at least one polio case by the end of last week. Counties with five cases or more included Allamakee, 5; Linn, 10; Pottawattamie, 5; Wapello, 6 and Webster, 7.

WHAT'S THE RUSH?
PITTSBURGH (AP)—With the temperatures hovering around the 90-degree mark, top postal officials went into executive session Wednesday—the first of a series of weekly meetings to decide how best to handle the 1954 Christmas mail rush.

U.S. Refuses To Guarantee Truce Terms

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower pledged Wednesday the United States "will not use force" to upset the Indochina armistice but warned the Communists that any new aggression would be "a matter of grave concern."

At a news conference, he declared the partition settlement signed in Geneva "contains features which we do not like."

Because of this, he said, the United States would refuse to join other nations in a joint declaration guaranteeing truce provisions.

In rapid-fire order, the President also made these points:

Asks Ambassador Exchange
1. The United States has asked the Indochina states of Cambodia and Laos to exchange ambassadors with this country in a move to build up their independence from communism.

2. The big lesson which free world nations can learn from the Indochina experience is to adopt a positive plan for banding together so tightly that none will ever give up to communism.

3. He believes the Communist world does not want war at this time, except through satellite excursions. The Reds would not deliberately challenge the free world to a war of exhaustion.

Settlement Unsatisfactory
4. He knows of no one who advocates that the United States should go to war to unify Korea or Indochina even though these settlements are far from satisfactory.

In talking with reporters, the President said the government would soon issue some sort of paper giving a history of the Indochina developments which would attempt to put all events in focus.

He disclosed this when asked whether he could say whether the United States ever actually proposed to send American bombers into the Indochina battle in a move to save the Dien Bien Phu fortress in northwest Indochina.

The President opened his weekly meeting with reporters by reading a prepared statement which said he was glad the Geneva truce has stopped the bloodshed in Indochina.

Decisions Not Binding
"The agreement contains features which we do not like," he said. "But a great deal depends on how they work in practice."

The President stressed that the United States has not been involved in final peace negotiations nor is it "bound by the decisions" adopted to halt the hostilities.

But, he added, "as loyal members of the United Nations," the American government soon will issue a statement at Geneva saying the United States "will not use force to disturb the settlement."

The President did not explain exactly why he objects to parts of the truce but at one point he declared that every time a Vietnamese or Chinese loses his freedom, Americans lose a little too.

Indochina Cease-Fire Called Allied Setback

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and its allies lost a great battle Wednesday in the long conflict with communism. They lost because they could not command the united will and the power to win the fight for northern Indochina.

Their ranks were weakened by divided counsel over how to proceed. The military effort was weakened by their old failure to fully solve the colonial problem. Their diplomacy was frustrated as much by their own differences as by the wily maneuvers of Vyacheslav Molotov and Chou En-lai.

The negotiated peace which French Premier Mendes-France signed with the Reds at Geneva Wednesday morning recognized a state of affairs which in fact had passed beyond his control or that of such Allied leaders as Prime Minister Churchill and President Eisenhower.

Ike Recognizes Facts
Eisenhower himself recognized the hard facts of the defeat when he told his news conference a few hours later that if any good can come out of this southeast Asian experience it will be this—to get the free world to look facts in the face and see what must be done to save the free peoples from Red conquest.

At another point the President said that he did not think the free nations can continue to exist if they do not find a concerted and positive plan to bind themselves together so tightly that they will be secure against Red assault either from inside or outside.

But — perhaps significantly — the President did not say what the elements of such a plan were or how it might be made so appealing that all nations this side of the Iron Curtain would enthusiastically join in.

Disavows Responsibility
The President sought to disavow responsibility for the French-negotiated peace under which millions of productive acres and 13 million human beings in northern Viet Nam fall under Red rule. He emphasized that this had been negotiated by the nations which were actively in the war—France, Cambodia, Laos and Viet Nam.

But he declined to criticize them by emphasizing also what has come to be the central fact of American diplomacy throughout

Geneva Conference Endorses Indochina Pact; U.S. Abstains

GENEVA (AP) — The Geneva conference endorsed the Indochina armistice Wednesday, with partitioned Viet Nam and the United States abstaining from the vote.

Red China hailed the agreement as a possible pattern for a Korean settlement.

The U.S. warned grimly that any violation of the Indochina cease-fire would jeopardize international peace and security.

Western representatives signed with misgivings but Communist delegates were jubilant over the settlement. It turns north Viet Nam's 13 million people over to Red rule.

Viet Nam Protests
Protests of the pro-Western Viet Nam government over the division of their country were all but smothered. Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Do vainly attempted to incorporate in the final declaration reservations giving his government full freedom of action.

A few hours later, he telegraphed his resignation to Vietnamese Premier Ngo Dinh Diem in Saigon. He angrily told a news conference that he had not even been given an opportunity to see the text of the cease-fire order.

Recognizes Previous Agreements
In its final declaration, the conference "took note" of the cease fire agreements signed earlier Wednesday by French, Cambodian, Laotian and Communist-led Vietminh officers to halt the 8-year-old struggle in Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos.

The new accord provides for the neutralization of the three Indochina states and the partition of Viet Nam along the 17th parallel. The French agreed to evacuate the northern Indochina city of Hanoi and its port of Haiphong within 300 days.

The U.S., through Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith, announced it would not subscribe to the settlements. It pledged, however, to refrain from threats or use of force to disturb them.

French To Defend Until Fighting Stops
HANOI, Indochina (AP) — Gen. Rene Cogny, French Union ground commander in north Viet Nam, said Wednesday night he does not intend to push any fighting between now and the effective hour of the Indochina ceasefire.

"We do not want unnecessary deaths," he said.

He told newsmen he still had not received detailed terms of the agreement signed at Geneva, but anticipated these things:

1. Fighting will stop "in four or five or six days, depending on how long it takes to get orders to outlying posts."

2. He will be allowed two months for military evacuation of Hanoi and 10 months to pull all troops and war material out of the Haiphong area on the coast.

3. "We shall firmly hold to and defend our present positions, and we shall resist to the utmost any Vietminh attack between now and the effective hour of the ceasefire, but I do not intend to push any fighting or operations against him (the Vietminh)."

Faces Stiff Fight
In view of the substantial tax reduction on stockholders' dividends — and the heavy senate vote against substantial relief in this field — the compromise faced a possibly stiff fight in the senate.

In the house, where it faced less opposition, leaders said the compromise probably would be called up next week.

In other last-stage action, the conference committee agreed to knock out of the big revision program a house-approved section cutting taxes on income earned by corporations from foreign operations.

Senate Version Accepted
This section would have reduced taxes on foreign income by about 147 million dollars a year. The senate balked at this cut and the conference committee accepted the senate version.

In another major decision, the conference committee knocked out of the bill a senate amendment which would have killed the tax exemption granted to charitable or educational foundations, if they made any grants to suspected subversives.

Spokesmen for such giant enterprises as the Ford, Rockefeller and Carnegie Foundations argued this restriction could almost destroy their operations. The amendment was sponsored by Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev.).

Jet Crash on Okinawa Kills Pilot, Injures 19
OKINAWA (Thursday) (AP) — A marine Panther jet on a mock strafing run plowed into a hill today, killed the pilot and injured at least 19 American soldiers in a shower of flaming fuel and debris.

The army said the jet failed to pull out of a dive while making a simulated strafing run over troops of the army's 29th regimental combat team.

Helicopters were ordered to evacuate the injured to Ryukyus army hospital.

The accident occurred near Easley range, where the 3d marine regiment is conducting practice amphibious invasion of Okinawa, defended by the 29th.

Names of the casualties were withheld.

PROTESTS AGAINST DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME hit Iowa City Wednesday, as a dozen downtown stores and theaters displayed petitions for return to "slow" time. More stores and the University hospitals are expected to have petitions this morning. Above, Mrs. F. P. Gauges, 501 N. Dubuque st., signs one of the petitions.

Petitions Circulating To End 'Fast' Time

By NORM FINTEL

Petitions to repeal daylight saving time in favor of standard time were being circulated late Wednesday by a group of Iowa City businessmen. An employee of a local store, who preferred to remain anonymous, indicated that a number of businessmen were concerned by the feelings aroused against the "new" time.

"I don't think the stores have lost any business," she said, "but a great deal of confusion has resulted and some of the late evening businesses like the outdoor theater have suffered."

By 10 p.m. about 200 signatures had been obtained on petitions located in Iowa City theaters and stores. A total of 10 petitions were being circulated.

Pressure on Businesses
Pressure on local businesses catering to farm trade and those engaged in late evening business such as drive-in theaters brought about the action. The present daylight saving time is scheduled to remain in effect until Sept. 19.

Farmers, who have not made the change to daylight time, find shopping inconvenient, or they find offices closed earlier than they can get into town.

The Iowa City movement comes close on the heels of similar action in other Iowa towns, including Marion, which returned to standard time, and Cedar Rapids, whose city council is due to consider the question this morning.

Council Might Reconsider
Mayor Leroy S. Mercer indicated that the city council would reconsider its move if a sufficient number of signatures were obtained. "The number would have to be considerable in view of the large number of signers on the original petition to install daylight saving time," he reported.

Mercer reported that no farmers had contacted him about the petitions or the movement to recall the daylight time decision.

Other factors will doubtless influence the decision a local businessman pointed out. "If Cedar Rapids should go back to standard time, we ought to."

Businesses Have Petitions
A number of Iowa City business establishments had copies of the petition on Wednesday afternoon with more to go out to other shops and University hospitals this morning.

Shops having the petition included: Lubins pharmacy; Mott's pharmacy; the Varsity, Englert and Drive-in theaters; Lenoch & Cilek hardware, and the Stewart shoe store.

At least one person was observed on downtown streets Wednesday afternoon soliciting the "slow" time signatures.

Opinions Vary
Feelings up and down the street were freely expressed. A waitress said, "If it were all over the state I'd say OK, but not the way it is."

A graduate student, Robert Snyder, said, "I'm from New York, and I like it all right."

Two clerks in an ice cream store commented that they liked the new time.

A druggist reported that he had heard many complaints about stores being closed before the farmers could get into town.

Generally opinions were divided with many people who had originally favored the move now changing their minds. Perhaps the most general opinion voiced was one indicating a hope for either all out acceptance or total rejection.

A Condensation of Late Developments

Convict-Author Loses Death Row Appeal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Convict-author Caryl Chessman Wednesday lost his latest legal move to escape death July 30 in San Quentin Prison's gas chamber as Los Angeles' "Red Light Bandit." The state supreme court denied his petition for a writ of habeas corpus and stay of execution. The court made no comment in denying the appeal, latest in a six-year series of legal maneuvering. The 32-year-old author of "Cell 2455, Death Row," had based his latest appeal on charges of trial and error in transcript — the same grounds that won him an 11th hour stay of execution in May. Chessman was convicted in Los Angeles in 1948 of robbery, kidnapping and sex offenses.

House Defeats Pay, Postal Rates Boost Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house Wednesday defeated an administration effort to pass a one-package bill raising both postal rates and postal workers' pay. It then set the stage to force separate action on pay boosts for post office workers without corresponding increases in postage charges. The double-barreled measure, which would have given postal workers a 5 per cent increase while simultaneously raising postage rates $233 million a year, was supported by the majority 228 to 171. However, under the prevailing parliamentary situation, it needed approval of two-thirds of those voting, or 266.

SUI Begins Construction of Field House Addition

Construction of the $310,000 athletic department office building addition to be located on the east front of the field house is underway.

The work is expected to be completed by the first of next year, Prof. George L. Horner, superintendent of planning and construction, said Wednesday.

Money for the new building will come entirely from athletic department funds.

The new addition will cover a total area of 22,245 square feet and will extend for 142 feet. It will be 60 feet wide at the widest point and will be of matching brick construction to blend with the present field house.

A ticket office, a lobby, and business and executive offices will comprise the first floor, and the main entrance area will contain 50 feet of glass.

Departmental offices and classrooms will occupy the second floor of the new structure and a partial basement will also be constructed for athletic facilities.

The present office area in the foyer which extends the full length of the present field house will be torn down and re-utilized as an Iowa athletic trophy area.

Eight ticket windows will be installed for athletic events along the east wall at the center of the foyer.

Construction of the office building addition is the start of a long range plan designed to improve SUI's athletic plant. Future plans include the construction of a new $200,000 press box, parking areas, improvement of intramural and recreational facilities and the lighting of outdoor tennis courts.

Preliminary plans call for the construction of the press box on the top of the west side of the stadium. Present facilities are considered inadequate and it is felt that more space is needed for radio, press and television.

(Daily Iowan Photo)
WORK ON A $310,000 addition to the SUI field house is going full-force, in an effort to complete construction by the first of next year. The addition will house the business and executive offices, departmental offices, classrooms and a lounge. The new construction is part of a long-range improvement plan for the SUI athletic department.

Mendes Wins Armistice—

Mendes-France, master tailor of the Quai Dorsai, rummaging through remnants for a suitable swatch to patch the French Union's threadbare tunic, came across a tried-and-true material at the 11th hour: partition.

Partition has brought armistice to Indochina. After eight years, 80,000 French lives, billions of dollars, and enormous suffering, an incredible quiet reigns for a moment, at least, over that distant land.

To the Premier himself, it is the first step toward an entirely new wardrobe for France. Mendes believes his country has bled men and money too long to maintain a spurious grandeur.

To maintain the illusion, which fooled no one but herself, France has become over-extended in every corner of her empire. Since the end of World War II, her checks have been bouncing at frequent intervals.

Cabinet crisis at home, martial law in her North African territories of Morocco and Tunisia, a long, futile, bloody war in Indochina, have all pointed up her mistake in trying to maintain the appearance of a first-rate power.

To a degree, the company France has kept must share the blame for her extravagance. Both Great Britain and the U.S. have expected her to (1.) build up her home economy after a catastrophic war (2.) build up her military resistance to the Soviet threat in Europe (3.) maintain a North African bulwark against the possibility of Communist encroachment and (4.) fight a long and weary war in Indochina.

Mendes-France knows well that France cannot do all these things and do them well.

The new Premier would see France free to build a strong economy independent of the U.S. Mendes says he will consider a European Defense Community plan, and has assigned capable aides to work toward devising one acceptable to France and her allies.

However, it should surprise no one if the Premier hides his time. He would like first to forge a new stability in the French government. If he can keep the people behind him, a defense community plan agreeable to the Western allies will probably be reached.

"An honest second-rate power" should be a more relaxed and reliable ally than one trying vainly to recapture a glory that is past.

Mendes, in his own judgment, at least, has taken the first step in reforming the French character along realistic practical lines.

Radio Sends Messages Across Iron Curtain

By JOHN GOETTE

Central Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK — "Operation Veto," sending millions of messages of freedom into Czechoslovakia by balloons, has upset the Red leaders of Moscow and Warsaw as well as Prague.

Only a few days after the rubber and plastic carriers, filled with hydrogen and printed leaflets, began clouding the Czech skies, Prague made formal protest to our state department. That was repeated over the three main Communist radio outlets.

The obviously disturbing "Operation Veto" takes off from a secret launching place just over the western perimeter of Czechoslovakia. The sponsors are actually the American people who contribute to the Crusade for Freedom, which in turn supports Radio Free Europe.

For three years, Radio Free Europe has been piercing the Iron Curtain from its link of anti-Communist transmitting stations clearly heard in Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania. Now, it has inaugurated the first fully co-ordinated radio-printed word campaign directed at Russia's satellites.

Message Forceful
In addition to the official protest, Radio Free Europe learns via escaping refugees and other sources, that "Operation Veto" reaches Czechs in Prague, Ostrava, Pilsen and hundreds of smaller communities. Its basic message is so forceful that even President Zapotocky of Czechoslovakia publicly, spoke out against it.

The launching of these free-flight balloons engages many American technicians and eager anti-Red European workers. In preparation, balloons carrying meteorological instruments were sent as high as six miles above the earth.

In the actual "Operation Veto" the 4 1/2-foot balloons expand to almost eight feet at a height of 30,000 feet. There they burst and each scatters some three pounds of poster leaflets. Some balloons have been checked as floating more than 700 miles beyond the Iron Curtain frontier.

Posters Symbolize
Smaller posters symbolize the "Ten Demands of the Czechoslovak Peoples Opposition" known as TDCPO. A second series of balloons drop an eight-page periodical in both the Czech and Slovak languages.

The 10 demands include freedom to leave collective farms, less regimentation of workers, increased consumer goods and housing, and greater local responsibility for local affairs. The campaign is based on scientific causes of dissatisfaction inside Czechoslovakia and its aims at obtainable goals.

Board of Education Approves 6 SUI Faculty Changes

Four appointments, one resignation and one leave of absence have been approved for the SUI faculty by the state board of education, President Virgil M. Hancher, said Wednesday.

Dr. Robert S. McClintock was appointed an associate in orthopedic surgery in the college of medicine effective July 1.

Add Dentistry Professor
Dr. Wendell L. Bartholdi was named assistant professor of crown and bridge in the SUI college of dentistry effective Sept. 1. Formerly head of the department of oral diagnosis at Creighton university, Bartholdi holds B.S., D.D.S. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Minnesota.

Dr. Charles S. Patton was named instructor of pediatrics in the college of medicine and consultant for state services for crippled children. A graduate of Dartmouth college with his M.D. from the University of Pennsylvania, Patton interned at the Philadelphia General hospital and later served as a resident in pediatrics at Mary Imogene Bassett hospital in New York and at the Boston Children's hospital.

Accept Goff's Resignation
Dr. Harold F. Patterson was appointed instructor of prosthetic dentistry effective Sept. 1. He has just completed a tour of duty in a U.S. army hospital in Wyoming.

The state board accepted the resignation of Lewin Goff, assistant professor of television and speech.

Ray B. West, professor of English, was granted a leave of absence for the first semester of 1954-55. He will be a visiting professor at Queens college, Flushing, N.Y.

Interpreting the News

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
Foreign Staff
Associated Press

For the first time in nearly 20 years, with the exception of a few months in 1936 and a few more in 1939, there is no full fledged war going on in the world.

Yet not even in war-weary France was there any great popular celebrating as the negotiators at Geneva ended the Indochina fighting.

It merely marked another defeat for the free world, another in the long service of defeats in the struggle with communism since World War II.

Surrender, Not Settlement
France tried to make it appear as "honorable" settlement. But it was surrender, just the same, and no settlement, either. It gives the Communists a better base for their attempt to conquer all Southeast Asia.

It gives them the Red river delta, with its great rice bowl, its coal, iron and other rich natural resources. It does not detract in any way what the French and other students of world affairs have always said, that he who holds the delta ultimately commands all Southeast Asia.

The French always said they would not desert their Indochinese allies. But, to a large degree, they have.

Perhaps 30 to 50 thousand most active French supporters among the Vietnamese will be evacuated. Thousands of others will be left behind to "choose" their political fate two years hence in an election which will find them, under the usual Communist practice, dead or completely cowed.

Since World War II, four important wars have been fought, and stopped after a fashion, in Palestine, Greece, Korea and Indochina. The first outpost of communism in the Western hemisphere, Guatemala, has been soothed. Britain appears to be about to settle bitter political struggles with Iran and Egypt. The war with Russia is now strictly on a "cold" basis, which, however disturbing, is better than fighting. The atmosphere should be better than it has been for a long time. But it isn't.

MONEY SAVED
PARIS, Ky. (AP)—Rainfall estimated at 3 1/2 inches fell here Wednesday on the eve of a campaign to raise $18,000 to employ a cloud-seeding firm to knock some precipitation out of the sky.

GENERAL NOTICES

Briton To Talk On Labor Party

Henry Pelling, fellow and tutor of Queens college, Oxford, England, will talk on "The British Labor Party and the U.S." Friday, July 30 at 8 p.m. in Shambaugh lecture room of the University library.

Pelling attended the University of Wisconsin under a Smith-Mundt grant during the past year. A special history research student, he studied the relation of the American Labor movement to the growth of the British Labor movement and the Labor party in the late 19th century.

Pelling graduated from Cambridge, England. At Oxford university he lectures on history, and has become a specialist on recent British history. The Macmillan Publishing Co. has just published his book "The Origin of the Labour Party, 1880-1900."

VA Doctors Replace Blood Vessels

A new type of operation has saved the lives of five people in the last three months at the Iowa City Veterans Administration hospital, Dr. L. E. Stilwell, hospital manager, revealed Wednesday.

The surgery involved replacement of diseased sections of the aorta, largest artery in the body, with healthy sections. The healthy segments came from a "blood vessel bank" maintained by the hospital.

"As far as we know, these operations are the first successful ones of this type to be performed in Iowa," L. E. Hunn, hospital information officer, said.

The first such operation was performed in April, he said. The fifth operation was performed this month. None of the individuals operated on were from Iowa City.

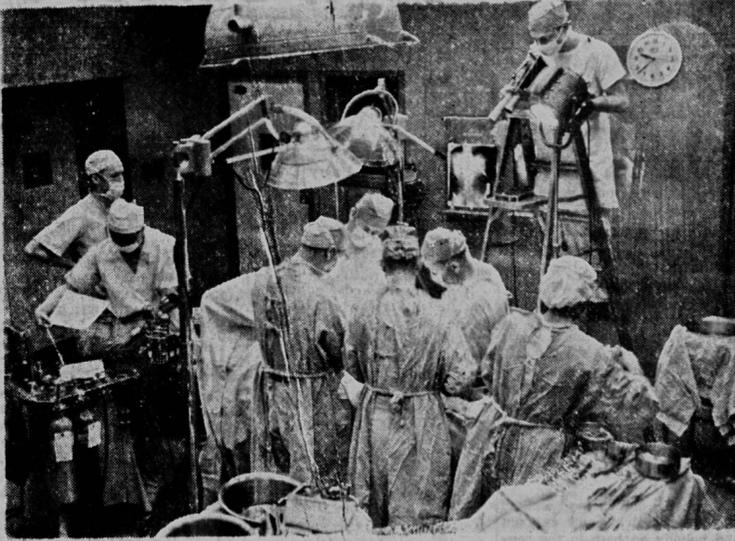

"The average length of time for this type of operation is about four hours," Hunn said.

All five patients have made or are making "excellent recoveries," Dr. Stilwell said. The patients have remained in the hospital six to eight weeks following the operation.

"There is little doubt that the operations have actually been life-saving," Dr. Stilwell declared. He added, "Normal progression of the ailment that afflicted these patients is such that if left untreated it usually results in death."

The hospital's "blood vessel bank" which made the operations possible was established six months ago, Hunn said. Healthy sections of blood vessels are refrigerated and stored "indefinitely" in a solution of blood plasma.

Hunn explained that the segments of healthy blood vessels are acquired at the time of autopsies. Transfers of healthy blood vessels to the "bank" are made only at the request of the deceased person or his next of kin, Hunn said.

The aorta runs from the heart, through the chest and abdomen to the pelvic region, and supplies blood to the lungs, abdominal organs, kidneys and legs, Dr. Stilwell said. Arteriosclerosis, often known as "hardening of the arteries," causes the most common diseased condition of the aorta.

"Like a bulging inner tube in an old tire," was Dr. Stilwell's description of the diseased aorta. The weakened and enlarged aorta may be unable to deliver adequate amounts of blood to the legs, causing leg muscle cramps. The weakened section of the aorta may also become so enlarged that it causes pressures which result in back pains.

Eventually, the weakened aorta may burst, Dr. Stilwell explained. The resulting internal hemorrhage is usually fatal, he said.

When doctors suspect that an aorta is diseased, dye can be injected into the blood stream. X-rays will then show the exact location and amount of enlargement thus indicating the weak spots.

Experimental studies with arterial grafts in animals began about five years ago, Stilwell said. He said that surgeons began to use the technique with human beings after it was perfected and its safety known.

Development of penicillin and other antibiotics, establishment of adequate blood banks, and improvement of techniques in anesthesia have aided greatly in the success of these operations, Stilwell pointed out.

Student Reports 'Lady' Vanished

Iowa City police were alerted Wednesday to look for a "Lady" who vanished Wednesday morning after being allowed out for her morning walk.

"Lady" is a brown, two and one-half month old police dog. She was reported missing by her owner, Larry Rapoport, A2, Cedar Rapids. Rapoport said the dog could be identified by four white spots on each of her paws. Rapoport's local address is apt. 15, 106 S. Gilbert st.

Practice Disaster Drill Termed 'Satisfactory'

A practice disaster drill near Solon involving a simulated train wreck Tuesday night was described as "very satisfactory" by Highway Patrolman J. L. Smith Wednesday.

Smith is leader of the newly organized Johnson county auxiliary units.

Smith said everything went according to plan and all involved did a good job. "There was only one snag," he added. "An ambulance was supposed to take the injured girl uptown in Iowa City, but instead he went to Mercy hospital."

"Authorities there didn't know what to do with her, so the ambulance went to University hospital. At that time the worried police called the hospital to locate the missing girl, who was then taken to the police station and released."

This was the first test for the newly organized auxiliary police, which was formed by Johnson county American Legion posts. "This is the first unit of this sort in Iowa that I know of," Smith said.

At 7:15 p.m., Smith gave the signal for the beginning of the drill to the patrol radio station at Maquoketa by radio. They in turn notified the Iowa City police by radio and the police called the Solon telephone exchange and local ambulances.

Auxiliary policemen, volunteer firemen, and Dr. Jean Marshall, Solon physician, were called by the switchboard.

Within five minutes, Dr. Marshall arrived, firemen had lines strung, and traffic control blocks had been set up by the policemen.

At 7:32 p.m., an Iowa City ambulance had arrived and two minutes later a "victim" was on the way to Iowa City hospitals. Dr. Marshall set up a first aid station to assist "victims" supposedly less seriously injured.

Smith said there are no immediate plans for another simulated drill, but that during the next year each of the six Johnson county cities which have these auxiliary units will have a drill.

Demos To Choose Judicial Nominee For 8th District

The Democratic eighth judicial district convention will convene at 10 a.m. today in the Johnson county court house to nominate or endorse a candidate for the four-year term on the district court bench.

In 1938 and 1950 the convention endorsed the incumbent, Judge Harold D. Evans, a Republican. Evans was re-nominated last week.

Eighteen delegates from Johnson county and seven from Iowa county are scheduled to attend the convention.

District judicial committee-man Ingalls Swisher will open the convention.

SUI To Give 4th U.S. Performance Of Russian Opera

The SUI production of Prokofiev's opera, "The Love for Three Oranges," to be presented next week will be the fourth ever presented in the United States. Musical director Herald Stark, professor of music, said Wednesday that the Russian composer's work is seldom performed because of its unusual technical demands.

A cast of 18 and a 38-voice chorus will perform in the university production with a 57-piece orchestra. The opera will be presented next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings at 8 in Macbride auditorium.

Settings for the production have been designed by Prof. Arnold S. Gillette of the dramatic art department. The set is so large that it is being built beyond the stage onto and under the balconies on each side in Macbride auditorium.

Costumes for the opera were designed by Prof. Helen Lauterer, of the University of Oklahoma, who is visiting lecturer in the Iowa department of speech and dramatic arts this summer. Prof. Walter Dewey, of dramatic art, is in charge of lighting.

Tickets for "The Love for Three Oranges" are on sale at the Iowa Memorial Union and will be sold at the door, or may be ordered by mail before Saturday by writing to Opera, Music Building, State University of Iowa. Checks should be made payable to the university.

Prof. Earl E. Harper, chairman of the committee on opera, and Professors Stark and Harold Shiffler, directors of the opera, said Wednesday that the public will not be admitted to the last three final rehearsals of the opera, Friday, Saturday and Monday.

The fifth annual opera is being presented as part of the 16th annual SUI Festival of Fine Arts.

Iowa Gets More Vocational Funds

DES MOINES (AP)—More federal aid for vocational education in Iowa is available for the year ahead, the state department of public instruction reported Wednesday.

Increased funds voted by congress will allow an expansion of the vocational education program in Iowa and some increase in the amount of aid given to participating schools, Iowa officials said.

Congress raised federal appropriations for vocational education $5 million over last year. Iowa's share of the increase will be $122,625. That will raise to $677,802 the amount of federal assistance to the Iowa program. The state's share is $355,760.

Under the program, local schools provide vocational education for students and adults in agriculture, trades and industry, homemaking and business.

During the past school year, there were 259 vocational agriculture programs in the state; 29 trades and industrial; 194 homemaking and 19 business.

Radio Sets Termed Useless

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressional subcommittee said Wednesday an "untested model" radio set which the air force ordered in quantity has so far proved "so unreliable as to be of no practical use."

The statement was made in a report by the house military operations subcommittee.

Even if, as air force officers contend, the set eventually proves to be worthwhile, the subcommittee said it appeared "that a great many millions of dollars had needlessly been spent as a result of procurement on such a large scale before its development had been completed or the set tested and proven."

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. R. Walter Riehlman (R-N.Y.), said the air force first ordered 307 of the long-range sending-receiving sets from the Radio Corporation of America in December, 1950. The order later was expanded to 3,900 sets with spare parts at a total estimated cost of $54 million.

Redesigning the sets to improve their quality may run the cost to $71 million, the subcommittee said. Only 790 of the sets had been delivered by last June 30.

In New York, RCA officials declined to comment beyond referring to a section of the report which said "there was no evidence reflecting upon RCA's integrity or upon its good faith in its effort to solve these difficult engineering problems."

New Army Camera Can See 30 Miles Inside Enemy Lines

FT. MONMOUTH, N. J. (AP)—The army signal corps Wednesday announced development of a long-distance "peeping Tom" camera which can peer across battle lines up to 30 miles into enemy territory.

The mammoth camera utilizes a 100-inch telephoto lens which was developed in the signal corps engineering laboratories here. It permits battlefield pictures to be taken when aerial photo flights are not possible due to weather or enemy action.

Using the long f-12.5 infrared lens, the signal corps says the camera can record images up to 30 miles away, depending on weather conditions and the height from which the picture is taken.

KENNETH JACKSON (front) and Leo Bittner (rear) survey the damage to their tractor and rig after it fell into a ditch on the west side of Finkbine golf course. The vehicle was en route from Chicago to Denver, traveling on the road to the WSUI transmitter when the accident occurred. The truck, belonging to the Ringsby Truck Line, had slowed down almost to a stop in order to let a car pass, when the shoulder gave way and it overturned into the ditch. When local tow trucks were unable to right the 6-ton vehicle, one had to be called from Cedar Rapids.

Season Tickets For Hawkeye Home Football Games Sold Out

Irish Game Completely Sold Out

All season tickets for Iowa's five home football games have been sold out. Francis (Buzz) Graham announced Wednesday afternoon that no more orders will be accepted.

July 14 Graham announced that all single game tickets for the Notre Dame game had been sold. The announcement Wednesday afternoon means that the Notre Dame game is a complete sellout.

"Tickets still are on sale for the Michigan State, Montana, Wisconsin and Purdue games on a single game basis and there is no limit," Graham said.

He stressed the fact, however, that it will be useless to submit orders for the Notre Dame game or for season tickets. Any such orders must be returned.

Many people have written Graham asking why they have not received their ordered tickets. Graham said the home game tickets will be mailed about Sept. 1, as usual.

Tickets for road games ordered through the Iowa ticket office will be mailed later because not all of the other universities have sent the tickets to Graham's office yet.

Chisox Blast Yanks, 15-3; Tribe Ties Boston Again

Miranda Goes High

WILLIE MIRANDA, NEW YORK YANKEE shortstop, stretches for a throw from catcher Yogi Berra in an attempt to get White Sox center fielder Johnny Groth, sliding safely into second. The action took place in the White Sox game with the Bombers in Yankee stadium Wednesday. Calling the play is umpire Larry Napp. Mickey Mantle, after fielding Groth's single pegged to Berra, attempted to catch Sox left fielder Minnie Minoso at the plate. Berra threw to Miranda trying to nip Groth who took second on the throw to the plate. The White Sox won, 15-3.

NEW YORK (AP) — The Chicago White Sox shoved the New York Yankees a half game behind the pace-setting Cleveland Indians Wednesday, blasting out a 15-3 victory as Virgil Trucks became the first American league pitcher to win 13 games.

The one-sided triumph boosted the third-place White Sox to within 4½ games of the Indians, who played their second straight tie with the Boston Red Sox.

Pounding starter Bob Wisler off the mound with a five-run White Sox went on to amass 19 hits, their largest total of the season, to hand the Yankees one of their worst beatings of the year.

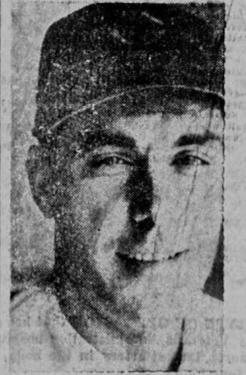

Trucks fanned six and walked two before retiring with two out and nobody on base in the seventh due to the intense heat. He also cracked three hits and drove in a pair of runs. Phil Cavarretta, veteran first baseman, collected two singles and a base-clearing double to highlight a five-run ninth against Bob Kuzava.

Kuzava, third Yankee hurler, replaced Marlin Stuart with two out in the fourth and was permitted to absorb an eight-run, 10-hit pounding the rest of the way as manager Casey Stengel apparently wished to rest his pitchers for today's important doubleheader with Chicago.

Oddly enough, Chicago used three pitchers. Morrie Martin, who took over from Trucks, also had to leave the mound when he pulled a muscle in his right leg in the eighth. Harry Dorish mopped up.

BOSTON (AP) — Jimmy Piersall dashed home with the tying run on Harry Agganis' infield out in the sixth inning as the Boston Red Sox fought league-leading Cleveland to a second straight draw, 7-7, Wednesday in a game halted by rain after eight innings.

Earlier Wednesday, at 12:57 a.m. a 16-inning struggle was called with the score 5-5 because of the league curfew rule. Both games will be completely replayed later in the season.

Cleveland had just rallied to take a 7-6 lead when Piersall singled to center in the sixth and went to third on Ted Williams' double poked to left field.

Ray Narleski, third Indian hurler, came in to replace Dave Hoskins. He got Agganis to hit a slow hopper but the Tribe had only a play at first as Piersall crossed the plate.

The free-hitting contest included back-to-back home runs by Doby and Al Rosen, the 17th of the season for each, and Jim Hegan's seventh for Cleveland.

Williams tagged his 13th for the Sox.

Probers Blame Army for Coddling Athletes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A house armed services subcommittee which investigated alleged "coddling" of athletes by the army reported Wednesday "a glaring abuse of pass privileges" and too much granting of "compassionate leave."

It pointed the finger of blame, not at the athletes, but at army field commanders. The subcommittee, headed by Rep. William E. Hess (R-Ohio), recently concluded public hearings during which it checked the service records of a number of big name athletes, including ballplayers and boxers.

"It simply does not happen," the committee commented in a formal report, "that every time

'Stars To Begin Practice Friday

Snell Named Coach At North Des Moines

an athlete in the service is scheduled for a public and profitable appearance that he then and there has accumulated the required amount of leave."

Saddler Cited
The case of Sandy Saddler, featherweight champion, was treated at some length in the report. It said, "there was such a fortuitous concert of action and collaboration as to suggest loose conduct amounting to fraud upon the government which permitted this athlete to engage in a profitable contest, on army pay and time, while coming from an overseas assignment on 30 days' leave, scheduling a fight to occur after his leave would have expired, posting a bond to perform, and then obtaining 15 additional days' compassionate leave" because his wife had a cold.

'Right to Complain'
That was "a dubious performance," the committee said, and "every GI has a right to complain about that type of favoritism."

Army witnesses told the committee during hearings last spring that Saddler was given a 30-day leave from his army base in Germany through administrative error and that he then got a 15-day extension claiming his wife was sick.

"During that extension period, Saddler took part in a fight with Bill Bossio of Pittsburgh, knocking him out in the ninth round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

The committee called for "corrective administrative action" to prevent further abuses.

Erskine's 2-Hit Job Beats Redlegs, 5-1

CINCINNATI (AP)—Carl Erskine, pitching brilliant two-hit ball and retiring the last 23 straight batters to face him, hurled the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 5-1 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs here Wednesday night. Erskine, who struck out 10, did not allow a hit after Bob Borkowski hit a home run in the second inning.

Bud Podbielan, a Dodger cast-off who had beaten his former teammates three times this season, finally was shelled off the mound in the ninth after the Brooks had pecked away at him for at least one hit in every inning.

It was the fourth straight game without the services of Jackie Robinson. Robinson, suffering from a pain in his groin, was treated by a physician during the day but the pain returned and it was indicated he would not play regularly for several days.

St. Louis Uses 8 Pitchers, Finally Edges Pirates, 13-12

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Unable to find an effective pitcher Wednesday night the Pirates and Cardinals battled with hits and errors, gaining and losing leads inning-by-inning in the later stages, before St. Louis finally edged Pittsburgh with a pair of eighth-inning runs, 13-12.

Each club led four times before Brooks Lawrence and Harvey Haddix managed to combine talent to hold the Pirates scoreless in the top of the ninth, the first scoreless half inning since the top of the fourth.

The Redbirds, for the second time this year, tied a National league record with their parade of hurlers—eight of them. They used the same number May 4 against the Philadelphia Phils to tie the record previously shared by Pittsburgh and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Routing Jim Thies in the fourth St. Louis gained a 4-1 lead only to have the Pirates pull ahead by a 7-6 score in the sixth. In the home half St. Louis went ahead again, 8 to 7, but Pittsburgh surged to a 10-8 advantage in the seventh. The Cards came back with three and led, 11 to 10, before Lawrence permitted Pittsburgh to take a 12-11 lead, overcome by Sarni's single.

Oriole Bobble Lets Nats Win

WASHINGTON (AP)—Second baseman Jim Briedeweser permitted Jim Busby's easy ground-er to trickle past him with the bases loaded and one out in the ninth inning, enabling Eddie Yost to score the tie-breaking run as Washington defeated Baltimore, 6-5, Wednesday night.

The Senators shelled Bob Turley with a four-run outburst in the first inning and grabbed a quick 5-3 lead but the Orioles battled back to tie the score with two runs off winner Camillo Pascual in the eighth as Don Larsen checked Washington.

Phillies Down Braves On Roberts' 4-Hitter

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Robin Roberts set the Milwaukee Braves down with four hits, one of them Eddie Mathews' 22nd home run with two out in the ninth inning Wednesday night, as the Philadelphia Phillies chased Gene Conley in the first inning and went on to a 6-1 win before 36,799 fans.

The victory, Roberts' 13th against eight losses, pulled the Phillies back into a three-way tie for third place in the National league race with the Braves and Cincinnati.

The Braves had only four base runners in addition to Mathews. Billy Bruton, George Metkovich and Bobby Thomson, a pinch-hitter for Ernie Johnson, singled in separate innings and Johnny Logan drew Roberts' lone walk. Mathews' homer, a 400-foot poke into the bullpen, was the 21st hit off Roberts this season.

Taylor's 9th-Inning Hit Lets Leaders Defeat Cubs, 2-1

CHICAGO (AP)—Bill Taylor's pinch ninth inning single scored Hank Thompson with the winning run as the league-leading New York Giants defeated the Chicago Cubs, 2-1, in the opener of a two game series before 12,190 Wednesday.

Sal Maglie allowed just four hits as he beat the Cubs a third time for his 10th victory against four losses. Bob Rush was the loser, suffering his 11th loss on a yield of seven hits.

The pace-making Giants launched the winning rally on Thompson's leadoff single. A sacrifice and an infield out moved him to third.

Dusty Rhodes, sitting in for absent Willie Mays in centerfield, was purposely passed. Taylor batted for Davey Williams, and singled through short.

SUI Student Completes Response Machine

CONDUCTING A SERIES OF STUDIES measuring and interpreting the galvanic-skin-response in humans was how graduate student Robert F. Mager, Cleveland, Ohio, completed most of the work necessary for his doctorate degree. Shown here with an instrument designed by SUI's Prof. T. A. Hunter to measure "GSR," Mager has since built a similar mechanism for his own use.

Graduate Student Completes Studies On Skin-Response

Robert F. Mager, Cleveland, O., a graduate student who recently completed studies measuring the galvanic-skin-response in human beings as part of his doctorate, said that one thought has to be kept in mind in order to draw practical conclusions from psychological experiments.

"All psychologists like to have a subject think of something and then get his response . . . but does it mean anything?"

Often it is necessary in experimental work to design or improve instruments to measure a desired response. Four years ago Prof. T. A. Hunter began building an improved type of equipment to measure galvanic-skin-response, or "GSR."

When a satisfactory circuit was designed and the unit was built, Mager began using it to measure the skin resistance of the subject under test.

Since that time Mager has built his own GSR measurer and is continuing his research and trying to have all instruments of this type standardized so that practical conclusions can be drawn from the series of studies he and others are conducting.

To make the machine work a current-conducting paste is spread on the person being tested at the points where the electrodes are to be fastened. These electrodes are connected to the machine and when the subject responds an ink pen records the intensity and duration on paper.

Though similar to the lie detector the GSR recorder differs in that it measures more than just the "plus" or "minus" reaction. In regard to this Mager adds, "We're interested in the size and shape of the curves; that is, how much the stimulus arouses and how long it lasts."

The most practical application of the instrument now is in testing hearing. "Suppose we have a five-year-old boy who has been unable to speak or hear since birth," Mager explains, "We fix him up with a hearing aid, but then how do we know he hears? He can't talk and we don't know what is going on can't be expected to react. Using the GSR we know he has been helped when we get a positive response."

Another way in which the GSR is practically applied is in determining the causes of emotional conflicts. In this case the subject is read a list of words and when the word relating to the cause of the trouble — a specific situation, the name of a member of the family, etc. — is read the person unconsciously emits a response through his skin.

Then the scientists have to measure the depth of the emotion causing the response and determine whether it is a positive or negative reaction. That

State Employe Funds Invested in Securities
DES MOINES (AP) — State Treasurer M. L. Abrahamson said Wednesday he has invested $750,000 in idle Iowa public employe pension funds in General Motor Acceptance corporation and U.S. Steel Co. securities.

This brings to about $32 million the amount of that money invested in various types of securities. The money comes from contributions to the system by employing state, county and municipal offices and school districts, and from their employes.

The $500,000 purchase of steel company securities will draw about 3 per cent interest, and the General Motors bonds will pay 2.97 per cent interest.

is where the void is in the GSR field at this time.

"What we need most is a standardization of equipment and procedure. As it is now, Professor Hunter and I have the same equipment, but every other researcher has equipment of his own design and standards."

"It's like 20 mathematicians measuring with different rulers, the length of which each has arbitrarily set up without consulting the other," said Mager.

When this standardization phase is completed the scientists will have to begin with all the very basic data as many things believed about skin responses in the past have already been shown to be in error. Also, when this uniformity is obtained the physiological response information obtained from the tests can be interpreted into something useful.

"Right now standardization is the keynote in GSR. Since there is no organizing body in our specialized field to set up standards for equipment and experiments, as there is in psychology, there is only one way to get the job done," Mager emphasized.

"Someone will have to do eight or ten studies and publish them claiming in the article that 'I proved such and such' . . . then watch other scientists jump to disprove the claims."

Mager continued, "Strong claims usually challenge someone to repeat your experiments under the same conditions in an effort to prove your statement's wrong. That's the first step in setting a standard."

MRS. LUCE FOUND WELL

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce U.S. ambassador to Italy Wednesday left the Columbia Presbyterian Medical center after undergoing a medical checkup. A hospital spokesman said she was found to be in good health.

House OK's Ike's Proposal To Combat Subversive Activities

WASHINGTON (AP) — The house approved by voice vote Wednesday President Eisenhower's proposal to strip United States citizenship from any American convicted of seeking or teaching the overflow of the government by violence.

This measure, which now goes to the senate, was one of several broad powers requested by Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell to combat subversion. In this field there were these other developments Wednesday:

1. The house passed and sent to the senate a bill making bail jumping in cases involving a federal offense a separate crime.
2. A house judiciary committee approved a bill to outlaw the Communist party and similar organizations. It would make membership in such groups a felony.
3. The house judiciary committee concluded hearings on a bill, already passed by the senate, to compel witnesses before congressional committees to testify by granting them immunity from prosecution for wrongdoing they may reveal in their testimony.

Another proposal ticketed for house action this week would create a commission on internal security in industry to study and recommend means to keep Communists out of defense plants and labor unions.

Mystery Explosion Injures 1; House Badly Damaged

DUBUQUE (AP) — An explosion severely damaged a home here and sent a gas company employe who was working on a water heater to a hospital with second degree burns on the legs and arms Wednesday.

The injured man was John Roskosky, about 40, of Stuart, Fla., an employe of the Shriver Gas Conversion Co. Inc. of Independence. Hospital attendants said his condition was not serious.

The water heater in Miss Stacia McMahon's home had been converted to gas operation only Saturday in preparation for the opening of natural gas service here later this year. It was being operated by propane gas for the time being.

Miss McMahon said she had called Roskosky because the water heater was not working properly.

Riasanovsky To Study In Finland Next Year

Prof. Nicholas V. Riasanovsky of the SUI history department said Wednesday that he will attend the University of Helsinki, Finland during the next year on a Fulbright research grant.

Riasanovsky, who came to SUI in 1950, was given a year's leave of absence by SUI to gather material for a book he is writing on the "Ideology and Politics in the Reign of Nicholas I of Russia: 1825-1855."

He said he chose the University of Helsinki because it has the best library outside Russia which covers Russia during the 19th century.

"The reason it has the best library," he said, "is because Finland was a part of Russia between 1809 and 1917, and the books written then are still available."

Born in China of Russian parents, Riasanovsky has specialized in modern Russian history and thought. Most of his research material will be gathered from Russian books.

Riasanovsky received his B.A. degree from the University of Oregon in 1942, his M.A. degree from Harvard university in 1947, and his Ph.D. from Oxford, England in 1949.

Trott Suspends 1st License Under New 'Get Tough' Rule

Police Court Judge Emil G. Trott Wednesday handed down a recommendation for a 30-day drivers license suspension under his new policy.

On July 14, Trott announced he would suspend drivers licenses of anyone convicted on a moving vehicle violation charge. The new policy went into effect Monday.

Arthur Davis, 33, 831 3d ave., appeared in court on a charge of reckless driving. He was arrested July 18 by Iowa City police after a complaint from a resident that the car driven by Davis was blocking traffic on highway 6 west of Iowa City.

Davis pleaded guilty to the charge and Trott fined him $40 and will recommend to the state department of public safety that Davis' drivers license be suspended for 30 days.

Trott explained that the state will impound the license plates of any car whose owner's drivers license has been suspended. He went on to say that the department sends a notice when the 30-day suspension is completed.

However, Trott said anyone whose license is recommended for suspension may drive until he receives a notice from the department of public safety.

A similar case was heard in court Monday but the defendant, Leota R. Conner, asked for and was granted a change of venue to a justice of the peace court.

Trott explained that persons arrested on a state law violation may ask for a change of venue but those charged with breaking a city ordinance may not.

Police Recover Body Of Brother from River

EDDYVILLE (AP) — The body of Fred Jordan Jr., 26, one of two brothers who drowned in the Des Moines river near here Tuesday, was recovered Wednesday.

Officers continued dragging the river for the second victim, John Jordan, 18, the brother of Fred.

An uncle of the two youths, Daniel Robinson, said the body was found in 16 feet of water only about 20 feet downstream from where the two youths were last seen.

A younger brother of the two, Gerald, 12, who witnessed the drownings, said Fred went under and John drowned in an attempt to rescue him.

2 Cars Damaged In Local Mishap

Damages to two automobiles estimated at more than $200 resulted about 10:30 a.m. Wednesday when a car driven by Mrs. Margaret Ann Stokely hit the rear of an auto driven by Mrs. Loretta Brady Tomlinson near the intersection of College Court and College st. No one was injured.

Mrs. Tomlinson, 1510 E. College st., explained that she stopped to allow a car traveling west to pass her. She had been driving east on College street, and because autos were parked on both sides of the street, she thought the oncoming vehicle would have trouble passing.

Mrs. Stokely, driving behind Mrs. Tomlinson's car, failed to stop and her vehicle rammed the bumper and left rear tail-light of the Tomlinson auto.

The right front headlight, fender, bumper and radiator fan grill of Mrs. Stokely's car were damaged to an estimated extent of $200. Mrs. Tomlinson said she could not estimate the cost of repairs to her vehicle until it had been inspected by a mechanic, but that the frame of the car had been "loosened" by the crash.
