Lung Cancer Claims Life Of Scientist

Prof. Joseph Bodine Dies of Lung Cancer
Hancher, Stuit Tell Of University's Loss

Prof. Joseph Hall Bodine, 58, head of SUI's department of zoology for 25 years, died unexpectedly Friday morning of lung cancer.

Prof. Bodine had entered University hospitals Wednesday after several days of illness. Death came at 10:30 a.m.

Since 1932 Prof. Bodine had also served as director of the Iowa Lakeside Laboratory at Lake Okoboji. He was a member of numerous scientific organizations, including the National Academy of Sciences.

Great Loss to University

"The death of Prof. Joseph Bodine comes with sudden and shocking force," SUI President Virgil Hancher said Friday. "The university has suffered a great loss. He was one of the most distinguished scientists in this university and in the nation."

"Dr. Bodine was a brilliant and original scholar, an inspiring teacher and a serious student of higher education," said Dewey B. Stuit, dean of the college of liberal arts.

Stuit added that Prof. Bodine's membership in the National Academy of Sciences had brought great credit to SUI as well as to himself. Membership in the academy is limited to 450 scholars.

Elected to Academy

Prof. Bodine was elected to the academy in April, 1953. At that time, he and G. W. Stewart, professor emeritus and former physics department head, were the only SUI faculty members to hold membership in the academy.

From 1948 on, Prof. Bodine was a member of the atomic energy commission fellowship board.

He held memberships in such other professional organizations as the American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Association of Zoologists and American Society of Naturalists. He served as president of the last two groups in 1948 and 1949, respectively.

Taught At Pennsylvania

Prof. Bodine was born Sept. 15, 1895, at Lake Hopatcong, N. J. He received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1915 and earned his Ph.D. from that institution in 1920. He taught zoology at Pennsylvania from 1915 until he came to SUI in 1929.

During World War I Prof. Bodine served as a medical corps captain with the American Expeditionary Force.

Prof. Bodine married the former Sarah Olivia Heimach in 1918. Following her death he later married the former Eunice Willis.

He is survived by his widow; his son, Joseph Jr. of Drexel Hill, Pa.; and his mother, Mrs. Gilbert Bodine of Rockaway, N. J. Other survivors include a brother, Gilbert Bodine Jr. of Rockaway, N. J.; and two sisters, Mrs. William Hann of Caldwell, N. J., and Mrs. A. R. Smith of West Dennis, Mass.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Beckman funeral home. Prof. Bodine's home was on Prairie du Chien road north of the city.

In statements issued Friday, SUI President Virgil M. Hancher, and Dean Dewey B. Stuit, of the College of Liberal Arts, expressed their regrets and sympathy concerning the death of Prof. Joseph Hall Bodine.

"The death of Prof. Joseph Bodine comes with sudden and shocking force," President Hancher said. "Although he had been ill, it was not anticipated that his illness could have such devastating effect. The university has suffered a great loss."

"He was one of the most distinguished scientists in this university and in the nation, and his scientific work had brought him national and international recognition, including membership in the National Academy of Sciences and other distinguished bodies."

"We mourn his death and extend our deepest sympathy to his family and friends."

Dean Stuit said, "The sudden death of Dr. Joseph H. Bodine, head of the department of zoology for the past 25 years, comes as a great shock to the entire university community."

"Dr. Bodine was not only one of the university's foremost scholars but of the entire nation and world. Tireless energy, original thought, relentless pursuit of truth and devotion to the University and its ideals were outstanding attributes of Dr. Bodine's life and work."

"He was an inspiring teacher and an able administrator as well as a distinguished research scholar. His death is an irreparable loss to the university, to the community and to the field of creative scholarship and teaching. All of us who knew him and worked with him had a profound respect and regard for him as a man and as a colleague."

"Our deepest sympathies are extended to his family."

U.S., Britain Begin Asian Security Talks

LONDON (AP) — The United States and Britain have begun consultations with nine Far Eastern nations on the buildup of a collective security system in Southeast Asia, diplomatic officials reported Friday night.

The coordinated British-American moves are designed to culminate in the formation of a Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

End Walkout At Chrysler, CIO Orders

DETROIT (AP) — The CIO United Auto Workers International ordered Chrysler Corp. strikers back to work Friday night on a finding that their walkout was unauthorized and was a contract violation.

The strike, which has idled 45,850 workers, caused a virtual halt to all Chrysler's automobile production in Detroit.

More than 10,000 Dodge main plant strikers, whose walkout led to the general tieup of the company's 15-odd plants in Detroit, were ordered to return to work "at the earliest possible date."

The action was taken by the UAW International executive board after a meeting with officials of Dodge local 3 and heads of other Chrysler union locals.

"... We are compelled to find," the board said, "that the Dodge strike is unauthorized in that it is conducted in violation of both the UAW (CIO) constitution and the collective bargaining agreement between the union and the Chrysler Corp."

In effect, the international's action supported management's position. Chrysler contended the strike was a contract violation and demanded that the union so rule.

Dodge main plant's 10,700 hourly employees walked out last Monday, protesting an alleged speedup operations. The company denied there was a speedup.

The international, while ordering an end to the strike, said evidence indicated a speedup does exist and declared it would authorize a strike later if Chrysler is "unwilling" to resolve grievances.

McCarthy Refuses To Fire Staff Aide Denied Clearance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and his investigations subcommittee Friday refused to fire a staff aide after the defense department renewed its refusal—without explanation—to grant the man a security clearance.

Central figure in this dispute between the McCarthy group and the Pentagon is Thomas W. LaVenia, former secret service agent now serving as office manager and assistant counsel to the senate subcommittee.

New reports circulated meanwhile that the administration is seeking some way of easing Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens out of his job as a result of the army-McCarthy controversy. One suggestion heard was that he might be offered an ambassadorship.

At the White House, Murray Snyder, assistant press secretary, said he had made inquiries and reported:

"I have heard no reference whatsoever to any change in Mr. Stevens' status."

Wilbur M. Brucker, general counsel to the defense department, said after a closed-door session with the McCarthy subcommittee that he had refused to give the reasons for not clearing LaVenia on the ground that to do so would breach a confidence with the FBI.

Brucker said the justice department, which supplied the information on which the Pentagon based its decision in LaVenia's case, had insisted that the details be withheld.

The upshot was that the subcommittee announced a new demand that the defense and justice departments give the reasons for LaVenia's nonclearance, and decided that LaVenia be retained in his job but assigned meanwhile to duties in which he will not handle classified documents.

Cool Air, Showers Ease Midwest Heat Wave

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A dual surge of cool air brought relief to much of the heat stricken midcontinent area Friday.

The U.S. weather bureau said a flow of cool wind from the Pacific spilled over the Rockies and another spread from Canada over the northeastern states "to break the back of the present heat wave."

The picture was also improved by showers along the leading edges of both cool air masses. The rain was not sufficient to break the drought, however.

During the siege, at least 324 persons died of the heat.

Army Court Says Officer Not Guilty

FT. DIX, N. J. (AP) — An eight-man army court-martial board Friday night found Lt. Richard S. Morgan, 28, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., innocent of charges of "dereliction of duty" for allegedly allowing a company of trainees to stand at attention in 92-degree heat for almost an hour.

The eight officers deliberated an hour in making their decision after two days of hearings in which Morgan testified in his own defense.

The young lieutenant, who was wounded in action in Germany in World War II, and was recalled to service in 1951 after officer training in a reserve unit at Lafayette college, had denied that he had any part in the incident which occurred at Ft. Dix June 21.

He was accused of failing in his duty by allowing his administrative assistant, Sgt. Richard J. Witbeck, 24, of Wellington, Ohio, to keep the company of 225 trainees at attention in sweltering heat for nearly an hour.

Several of the men of Company L, 272d Infantry Rgt., were reported to have fainted during the period.

The long formation reportedly was ordered as punishment for an unexplained breach of discipline.

Witbeck, accused of mistreating the men involved in the incident, is scheduled to stand a separate trial. Both Witbeck and Morgan had been relieved of their duties during investigation of the charges.

Morgan was the last of six witnesses called by the defense Friday.

Denies Formation Order

He denied that he gave any orders pertaining to the long stand at attention or that he ordered men who had fainted doused with water and returned to the formation.

He said he had returned from the rifle range on June 21 and was busy in his office between 5 and 6 p.m., the time the formation incident allegedly occurred. He said he did not hear of the formation incident until he was told by Witbeck the next day.

Airliner Crashes Near China Coast; 8 Known Survivors

HONG KONG, Saturday (AP) — A stricken British airliner with 18 aboard—six of them Americans—crashed in the sea near the Red Chinese island of Hainan Friday with only eight known survivors.

The eight, dazed and injured, were picked up quickly from their rubber life rafts by a U.S. flying boat as Communist craft swarmed out from Hainan, big Communist sea and air base off the South China coast.

One passenger, a Chinese woman, was dead when the flying boat picked her up. The fate of the nine others was in doubt, but witnesses in other planes said all should have been saved if they were not trapped in the plane. The plane sank within a minute after it hit.

Boats Pick Up 3

These witnesses, who watched the Skymaster hit the water with one of its four engines burning, said they saw boats pick up at least three. If true, they probably are in Communist hands.

A search for more survivors was abandoned after sweeps of the area turned up nothing.

Three of those saved were Americans. The wife and daughter of one family were saved, but the husband and two young sons were among the missing.

3 American Rescued
They were the Leonard L. Parish family.

P. S. Thatcher of Stonington, Conn., was the third American rescued.

The pilot, co-pilot, and stewardess, all of Hong Kong, were saved. Three other crewmen were missing.

In all, five passengers were saved, one was dead and six were missing.
The big plane, operated by Cathay Pacific Airlines, had left Singapore Thursday and landed at Bangkok, Thailand, to take on additional passengers.

French Call Halt to Action In Indochina

SAIGON, Indochina (AP) — The French command called a halt to offensive action throughout Indochina Friday and announced the Geneva ceasefire will go into effect in North Viet Nam at 7 a.m. Tuesday, July 27. Vietminh forces kept up the fight in the Red river delta Friday.

The ceasefire will not begin officially in other areas of Viet Nam until shortly afterward to get word of the agreement to scattered outposts without radio links to headquarters.

Vietminh guerrillas struck violently before dawn at the French post of Vietri, 40 miles north-west of Hanoi, and were harassing other garrisons in the Red river delta. French briefing officer reported. Red forces attacked a French-Vietnamese post at Cao Reo, 300 miles northeast of Saigon on the plateau and of central Vietnam.

The French air force, which cut its operations down to 11 bombing missions in the 24 hours ending at dawn, showered leaflets over Vietminh positions. The leaflets announced the French had stopped offensive operations and demanded the Vietminh do the same.

The French command disclosed that an agreement had been reached with Vietminh conferees at Trung Gia for the tapering off of military activities until the ceasefire goes into effect throughout Viet Nam.

Among other things, the pact provides that no large-scale air, naval, ground or river operations may be carried out in North Viet Nam by units of more than regimental or mobile group strength, or of greater than battalion strength with corresponding firepower elsewhere.

1,100 Sign Petitions To End Fast Time

More than 1,100 local citizens had signed petitions to eject daylight saving time in Iowa City by late Friday. Thursday's names totaled approximately 750.

Miss Alice Stewart, chairman of the "Citizens Committee for the Return of Central Standard Time on Saturday, July 31," estimated the total from figures on 15 petitions.

"Approximately 50 names went down the drain," Miss Stewart said, commenting on a petition which she said was "stolen" from one business place Thursday night. She added that it was apparently someone from the other side who is against the "fast time move."

First Word

It was the first word from the East about the man whose disappearance may force the United States and Britain to overhaul all their underground operations in the East zone.

In the Communist broadcast, the voice announced as John's said Germany was in danger of being torn apart forever and for that reason he decided to contact East Germans last Tuesday on the 10th anniversary of the July 20, 1944, bomb plot to assassinate Adolf Hitler.

He went on to say that he would issue a pamphlet soon in which he would give detailed reasons for his actions and would submit proposals for reunification of Germany.

Western monitors said the voice was clear and calm.

Western intelligence heard reports that a roundup already may be underway of East Germans who regularly send out information on Soviet activities.

Some doubt remained whether John, 44, was kidnapped by the Reds or defected East on his own. The U.S. high commission view was that John was "trapped or forced" into the East and is now being held in Berlin's Soviet sector.

Mentally Depressed
West Berlin police, who had been directly responsible for John's safety, clung to the theory he and a doctor acquaintance voluntarily went to the Russian sector. They said John suffered "serious mental depression" recently and that a letter left behind by the doctor reported John would not return.

John headed an antisubversive activities bureau known as the Federal Office for Protection of the Constitution.

Reds Claim Spy Chief Fled West To Gain German Unity

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet-controlled East Germany broadcast Friday night that Dr. Otto John, West German security chief, fled voluntarily to the Communist zone. He has information which could wreck the West's whole counter-spy network in East Germany.

John, sometimes called "the man with a thousand secrets," left West Berlin three days ago and vanished in the East sector. Some Western authorities clung to the theory he had been kidnapped.

The East German radio said in its special broadcast John's task now would be to work for reunification of all Germany. It presented during the broadcast a voice it said was that of the missing West German intelligence chief.

But Marathon Still Delays Senate Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a terrific, two-front struggle over atomic legislation, the Eisenhower administration won a big skirmish in the house Friday night but still faced a stone wall erected by filibustering senators.

By a standing vote of 161-118, the house approved a provision designed to keep the Atomic Energy commission out of the business of producing power for commercial purposes.

The administration bill, a broad revision of present atomic law, provides among other things for inviting private business into the field of atomic power for peacetime purposes.

Fear 'Private Monopoly'
Administration men contend that it is in accordance with the American system of free enterprise, but their critics, mostly Democrats, argue that the bill is so drawn as to turn vast national atomic resources over to "private monopoly."

Thursday night, in the midst of its marathon session, the senate dealt a blow to the administration on this issue. On motion of Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.), it voted 45-41 to authorize the AEC and other federal agencies to build plants big enough to produce power commercially.

Cooperatives and publicly owned utilities would get first call on any surplus power from such plants.

House Offers Substitute
But an identical amendment was ditched in the house, and substituted one offered which declares in effect:

Nothing in atomic law authorizes the AEC to sell or distribute any electricity except that produced as a byproduct in its research plants.

If both chambers should stand on their decisions, the struggle would be transferred to a senate-house conference committee.

On the senate side of the capital, the talkfest passed its 58th hour at 8 p.m. and the White House declared "the filibuster... is jeopardizing enactment of key items in the legislative program."

No Debate Limit

Senate GOP leaders appealed to the senate to put a time limit on the bitter debate, but they ran into the same wall of opposition that has been standing since this virtually continuous session began Wednesday morning.

The White House attitude was expressed by Press Secretary James C. Hagerty.

In a statement regarding the day-and-night senate deliberations, Hagerty said "Everyone here in the White House is concerned that such action is jeopardizing enactment of key items in the legislative program, among them extension of social security, extension of unemployment compensation, the farm program, tax relief, renegotiation of excess profits, the mutual security program and other important items."

Knowland Defeated

Majority leader William F. Knowland of California asked several times for unanimous consent to limit the talkathon, only to meet with objections from the floor.

The only other courses, Knowland said, are cloture limitation by a two-thirds vote of the senate membership, or complete surrender "of the legislative function into the hands of those who will try to keep the senate from functioning."

Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind.-Ore.) objected to one proposal which would have limited the debate, beginning Monday, to two hours on each amendment and four hours on the bill itself.

The tired, stubborn opposition was unswayed by Knowland's offer to call off another night session and hold only a brief, routine session today if a limitation agreement could be reached.

President Eisenhower has directed the AEC to negotiate the private power contract.

Joe vs. Pentagon—LaVenia Still a Risk

SEN. JOSEPH McCARTHY (R-Wis.) rubs his nose as he faces Wilbur M. Brucker, defense department general counsel, after a closed door meeting of the senate investigations subcommittee. Brucker had just announced the defense department's decision to refuse security clearance to Thomas W. LaVenia, subcommittee staff aide. The subcommittee announced a new demand, which was refused, that the Pentagon and justice department reveal why LaVenia has been denied clearance. Walter Swan of the defense department is at center.

Defense Executives Told Not to Write Articles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defense department has put its "big team" of top executives and military chiefs on notice that they should be too busy to write signed articles for magazines and other periodicals. The department's "informal position" on the matter was stated in a memorandum dated May 15 which went to the security and review office which passes on all articles before publication. The memorandum suggested that "members of the big team are so busy and so occupied with their heavy responsibilities" that articles for general publication are "inappropriate" and time given to writing them "ill-advised."

Pilotless Jet Crashes, Kills Child, Injures 4

WILLIAMS AIR FORCE BASE, Ariz. (AP) — A pilotless air force jet plunged into the officers' housing section and exploded here Friday. A child was killed and four other persons were injured in their flaming homes. The F84 Thunderjet clipped the corner of one house, blew up and burning pieces set fire to two other houses. The pilot, 1st Lt. Richard L. Juetten, 27, of Escanaba, Mich., had bailed out when his plane developed engine trouble about a mile from the housing area. He suffered minor injuries upon landing. Juetten was in a two-plane formation returning from Laughlin AFB, Tex., to Luke AFB, Ariz., when his plane faltered.

Meardon Calls for Stricter Laws for Drunken Driving

Driving an automobile is a "privilege, not a right," County Attorney William L. Meardon told a Friday luncheon audience of Masonic service club members.

Drunken drivers came in for special criticism from the county attorney. "There should be a more serious charge for this offense," he stated. A drunken driver is a menace not only to himself, but to pedestrians and other drivers as well, Meardon said.

State laws regarding drunken driving offenses must be at fault, Meardon continued, since there are so many second and third offenses on this count. Johnson county "is a good example of this," he stated.

Need Jail Sentence

Drivers must be impressed with the seriousness of drunken driving offenses, Meardon emphasized. It is "a really serious offense," he said, and ought to carry a mandatory jail sentence "of a few days" to bring that fact home to such law-breakers. "A mere fine does no good," the county attorney stated later in the day. "A longer suspension of drivers licenses" might "do something to reduce the death toll on the highways."

A minimum drivers license suspension of 60 days and a maximum suspension of one year is imposed for first offenders on a drunken driving charge.

Few Get Convicted

Many counties have few convictions under the charge because jurors feel that even now the laws are too strict, Meardon said.

Along with speed and liquor, reckless driving was cited as a major cause of auto accidents.

"Iowa does not have a careless driving statute which many states have," Meardon said.

Drivers Are Responsible

The county attorney said he definitely favored Iowa's adoption of one.

Meardon said the first responsibility for cutting down the loss of life on the highways rests with the drivers.

"Most accidents result from

Reckless drivers are hard to convict, Meardon said, because "they have to do something pretty bad" first.

Women Democrats Start County-Wide Political Group

The County Democrat Women's organization was formed Thursday evening at a meeting at the Mayflower Inn.

The group elected Mrs. Elliott Full president; Mrs. R. P. White, vice-president; Mrs. Ed Paulsen, second vice-president; Mrs. Robert Johnson, secretary, and Miss Mary Louise Strohmeier, secretary.

The organization also made plans for a coffee hour to be held in honor of the state democratic candidates.

The next meeting is scheduled in September. Awards will be given at this meeting to committee women bringing the largest representation of Democratic women to the meeting, and to a rural member who first completes canvassing her precinct.

Directors of the organization are Mrs. Emil G. Trott, Mrs. Leo Tesar and Mrs. Oren Neiderhiser. Mrs. Cora Griffin is chairman of the by-laws committee. Other members of this committee are Mrs. Manfred Kuhn and Mrs. Donald Borchart.

Interpreting the News

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
Foreign Staff
Associated Press

Even if a southeast Asian defense treaty is signed it now promises to be more of a political warning against further aggression rather than a practical military arrangement such as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The United States, sponsoring the project, is faced with a situation in which it seeks to guarantee territory where the defense organization cannot have any bases and which will be able to contribute little if any to its own self-defense.

Under the Indochina cease-fire agreement Laos, Cambodia and truncated Viet Nam may not furnish such bases, nor can they make military arrangements with outside powers.

Britain's Expected View

In addition, Britain is expected to hold to the view that armed forces of the Western powers should not be stationed in any of the Asian countries which may subscribe to the treaty.

This coincided with the desire of the Pentagon to avoid commitments in Asia parallel, in two respects, to those contained in the North Atlantic treaty.

Military policymakers are reported to oppose any treaty clause which would commit the U.S. automatically to fight under given conditions. And they express a fear that a definite promise to keep troops in the area might immobilize strength which could be better used elsewhere.

SEATO Like Western Pact

This would make the proposed Southeast Asian Treaty organization more like the Western Hemisphere defense pact, or like the Anzus arrangement with Australia and New Zealand, than like NATO. These latter arrangements are largely skeletal affairs, arranged to keep defense organizations in being rather than to meet an immediate military threat. In fact, SEATO now promises to be largely an extension of Anzus.

The only Asiatic nations likely to participate are Thailand and the Philippines, and present prospects are that they would be the only places, though Britain would do her duty in Malaya, where there would be any appreciable military buildup.

This means that, if new Communist aggression did develop, and if SEATO decided to act, the three Western powers would have to carry the load, with the U.S. in much the same position she occupied in Korea.

Select State Committee

In addition to adoption of the party platform, other features of the one-day convention were: selection of a state central committee of 16 with eight of the members newly appointed; addresses by U.S. Rep. Thomas E. Martin (R-Iowa), Republican Senatorial nominee, Hoegh and Gov. William S. Beardsley; and adoption of a rule that no platform plank could be presented from the convention floor unless it had previously been submitted to the resolutions committee.

Martin told the delegates that the national administration foreign policy "must be supported to achieve peace without surrender." He said in an earlier address to his first district caucus that the Republicans must elect a GOP-controlled congress to carry out the president's program.

Hoegh promised that if elected he would serve with "trust, courage, honor and integrity." He added, "My policy has been based on clean and honest government. I shall never deviate from that."

Urges Firm Leadership

Beardsley, who welcomed the delegates and who is not a candidate for office this year, declared that the American people would not change from the "firm, constructive leadership of today for what existed in the United States prior to the Eisenhower administration." Strayer estimated that of the 3,082 delegates qualified for the convention, about 2,500 were present for the adoption of the platform. Interest declined somewhat because the results of the primary election left no nominations to be made by the convention.

Union Shop Unmentioned

The labor plank said in lieu of mention of union shops: "We recommend that we encourage and promote laws designed to protect the rights of both labor and management; to guarantee the right of collective bargaining, and to recognize unions and the right to strike, while protecting the rights of the public; that we continue the efforts to effect such improvements in the labor laws as shall be shown necessary to more effectively accomplish these purposes and to advance the prosperity and welfare of labor and management in the light of the expanding industrial life of Iowa." Iowa GOP By-Passes Union Shop Question

DES MOINES (AP)—The Iowa Republican convention Friday bypassed the union shop issue in adopting the party's platform for the November general election.

The compromise labor plank it adopted did not mention proposed legalizing of union shops. Atty. Gen. Leo A. Hoegh, GOP nominee for governor, and labor interests had fought for it. The Iowa Manufacturers' association, long a power in Iowa Republican politics vigorously opposed such action.

The party, instead, recommended increasing unemployment and workmen's compensation. It also proposed liberalizing the requirements for deducting union dues from a worker's wages, and suggested modernizing the state bureau of labor.

Only Halbert Opposed

The convention adopted the 16-point program offered by its resolutions committee by voice vote with only a single "No." C. W. Halbert, a Davenport delegate, spoke briefly in opposition. But the convention was adjourned by Chairman George Strayer of Hudson before Halbert could get to the speaker's rostrum. Halbert told newsmen later he objected to laudatory remarks about President Eisenhower and commented that "Ike has out-democrated any Democrat on expenditures for the last 100 years."

Favor School Aid

The Republicans favored increased state aid to schools, with an "ultimate objective" of 25 per cent support. The education plank also proposed a school district reorganization program "controlled at the local level."

Urges Gas-Tax Increase

The Iowa Good Roads association had urged the party to adopt the association program for a two-cent increase in the state gasoline tax and retention of the present temporary fifth cent of a tax.

Urges Firm Leadership

De-Sexed Hormones Provide New Hope In Fighting Cancer

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
SOA PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Sex hormones stripped of their sex magic offer new hope for drugs to combat cancer of the breast and prostate gland.

These important hormones were aimed at neutralizing regular sex hormones, which actually supply the fuel that makes some cancers grow.

Just traces of female sex hormones can be poison for some women with breast cancer and traces of male hormone can activate some prostatic cancers in men.

Found in Peanut Butter

And traces of female sex hormones have been found in such things as one brand of peanut butter.

Some flareups of cancers could be due to a person getting traces of sex hormones somewhere even after his or her own sex glands have been removed. Impotent hormones might be a good defense.

The brilliant chemical work which has produced these de-sexed hormones was described at the 6th International Cancer congress here by Dr. Charles Huggins of the University of Chicago.

Used in Animals

He said these hormones are being used in human and animal studies, but it is too early for the results.

Chemicals are the newest development in the counterattack on these two very common types of cancers. Removing the sex glands often helps for a time in depriving breast cancer of the female sex gland and prostatic cancer of the male sex hormone.

But the adrenal glands also can produce some sex hormones. Huggins pioneered in the surgery of removing the adrenal glands, giving patients daily doses of cortisone to make up for the lost adrenal glands.

Patient Doing Fine

Forty per cent of 162 women who were completely at the end of their rope from breast cancer have won new health and a normal life for at least 15 months from adrenal removal. The first patient operated on three years ago is still doing fine.

Good benefits come only if the women have the type of cancer which needs the female sex hormone. This can be determined by microscopic examination of the cancer.

Renewed growth of the cancer can occur if the patient is still getting traces of the female sex hormone. One woman was found to be getting it from peanut butter. She stopped eating it, and the cancer shrank again, Huggins said.

Similar To 1954

The 1950 Republican state platform included a labor plank, generally similar to the one adopted at the 1954 convention. The 1951 and 1953 GOP-controlled legislatures declined to legalize union shops. They, along with closed shops, were banned by the 1947 legislature.

In its farm plank, the 1954 convention expressed favor for the Eisenhower administration program for flexible price supports instead of the present rigid 90 per cent of parity.

In this connection the resolution commented: "We commend President Eisenhower and the administration for their forthright and courageous leadership in developing a sound agricultural policy to readjust to a peacetime economy."

Department Commended

The farm plank said also the party commends the U.S. department of agriculture "decision to return to the farmer his right, by democratic process, to elect his local township and county committees which administer his farm programs."

On taxation, the platform pledged no increase in general taxation "other than as dictated by public demand" through the legislature.

This plank also recommended reduced taxation by more efficiency, opposed the state entering the property tax field, and opposed increasing the state income tax.

Favor School Aid

The Republicans favored increased state aid to schools, with an "ultimate objective" of 25 per cent support. The education plank also proposed a school district reorganization program "controlled at the local level."

It said further appropriations for the three state institutions of high education should be "sufficient to maintain leadership in education and research fields."

The highways section of the platform proposed that the legislature provide "sufficient funds to get the construction under our present program on schedule." It recommended that any toll roads be self-financing.

Urges Gas-Tax Increase

The Iowa Good Roads association had urged the party to adopt the association program for a two-cent increase in the state gasoline tax and retention of the present temporary fifth cent of a tax.

Dresser Drawer Murder Suspect Confesses

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Victor Lively, a short and stocky Texan, admitted Friday he choked an 18-year-old girl to death in an Indianapolis hotel room, then stuffed her body into a dresser drawer.

The confession to St. Louis county sheriff's deputies came three hours after the 32-year-old Lively was seized by two deputies while walking westward on a highway.

He told the deputies, they said, that he became enraged when the girl protested about his drinking and that he choked her "three or four minutes until she was dead."

Body Found in Drawer

The body of Dorothy Poore, a high school graduate of Clinton, Ind., was discovered in the dresser last Sunday, three days after she was slain. It was clad in bra, panties and slip.

The 5-foot-3, auburn-haired Lively, who has unusually muscular arms, said he picked up the Poore girl earlier on the day of her death, in a hamburger stand in downtown Indianapolis, and continued to drink in the room in the Claypool Hotel where he had registered under the name of "Jack O'Shea."

While he and Miss Poore were in the room, Lively said, two maids came in to clean it up. Lively added that another girl whom he knew only as "Ruth" was with him and Miss Poore for a time before the slaying.

Married Six Times

Lively, who told deputies he had been married six times and had one child, was carrying a loaded .32 caliber automatic wrapped in a money sack and newspapers when he was arrested.

The arrest was made by Deputies Robert E. Wilkerson and Carroll Rowland, who noticed Lively emerge from some brush alongside the highway they were patrolling in a car.

Wilkerson noticed the similarity of Lively's yellow sports shirt and blue trousers and his auburn hair to the broadcast pickup order sent out from Indianapolis on Lively.

Resisted Finger Printing

Lively readily admitted his identity but denied at first that he had any knowledge of the girl's death.

In the course of taking Lively's fingerprints, a deputy told Lively a good set of prints had been found in the hotel room at Indianapolis.

"He looked sort of surprised and stiffened his fingers to try to keep me from getting good prints," said the deputy, Marcel Bonzon. "Then he told me he had been in the room where the girl's body was found and that he had registered for the room. He didn't admit killing her, though."

When questioning of Lively was resumed a few minutes later he at first denied making the statement to Bonzon. The confession followed. Lively said he left the girl's body on the hotel room floor for a while and then crammed it into the drawer.

Reunion To Honor Former President

The late Prof. W. H. Willis, former president and owner of the old Iowa city academy, will be honored at the 7th annual alumni reunion at City Park, Sunday.

Willis was president and owner of the former academy until it closed in 1916.

The picnic will begin at 1 p.m. in the L-shaped shelter at City park. Former students, families, and friends are invited, Miss Mary Stuber, 114 E. Washington, secretary of the alumni association said.

Samuel Hunter, 822 Bowery, is president of the association; Hayes Fry, 521 S. Johnson, is vice-president; and Mrs. Cora Smith, 50 S. Johnson, is treasurer.

SUI Electrician Hunts Lost Metal Pipes with 2 Wires

Lose your gas main? Call Harry Wagner who works for the university electricians and he'll find it for you.

Using two pieces of wire bent at right angles he says he can find metal objects such as pipe lines, cables and even car springs which are buried in the ground.

Wagner was using this technique Friday at the new addition to the university field house to find a cable buried in the ground.

According to Wagner anyone can make the process work with two pieces of properly-constructed wire. It requires no special talent. Just take two pieces of heavy galvanized wire, bend them at right angles, hold them loosely in your hands making sure they are parallel, and walk slowly across the ground. When you cross some metal object beneath the wire the wires will turn toward each other and cross.

Ray Phillips, superintendent of the SUI physical plant, said that this system is often used by university employees to find such things as buried water pipes. "I can give no explanation for it, but it seems to work," Phillips stated.

When asked if there was any natural explanation for this unique method of locating buried metal. Prof. Ed Nelson of the SUI physics department stated, "I know of no physical basis for it."

'Punch and Judy' Play To Be Given Sunday at City Park

A three-century-old puppet play, "Punch and Judy" will command the limelight at City to 6. David Jenkins' "Woodnogs" to p. David Jenkins' "Woodnogs" are in their second week of performance. Jenkins is an SUI graduate student from Birmingham, Ala.

The cast 12 gives a different performance each time, following 17th century Italian tradition. Jenkins learned the tricks of operating his show from a British showman, Humo, at the beach in Wales where he studied for two years. The raucous voice of the main character is made by the use of a "call" which is a closely guarded secret of the Punchmen.

Punch's pugilistic show will be staged in a red and gilt booth between the merry-go-round and the ferris wheel. It has already appeared at outdoor art shows at Longfellow school, the Jack and Jill playschool and the Christopher Robin playschool here in Iowa City.

Food Prices Rise; Hit Peak for '54

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rising food prices edged living costs up slightly in June to the highest point since January and close to last October's peak.

The government bureau of labor statistics Friday reported its index rose one tenth of 1 per cent. This brought the index to 115.1, per cent of the 1947-49 average, compared with 115.0 in May and October's 115.4 record level.

Generally speaking, living costs are holding stable. They are only one half of 1 per cent above a year ago. Statistics Commissioner Ewan Clague said the outlook is for "continued strength" in consumer prices without much change either way.

Higher prices for fresh fruits and coffee led the June food price advance of four tenths of 1 per cent. Fresh vegetable prices were down.

Meat, egg, and milk prices were down a bit. Apparel costs were lower, as were prices for such items as used cars, auto tires and gasoline.

Graduate To Offer Piano Selections

Alan Rea, 228 South Summit, will be heard in a piano recital Sunday at North Music hall at 7:30 p.m.

Rea was graduated with highest distinction from SUI's college of liberal arts in June.

His program will include Schumann's "Scenes of Childhood," opus 15, Schubert's "Sonata in A major," opus 120, and "Concerto in E minor," opus 11, by Chopin. The recital is being presented by the SUI department of music.

ABC To Televis Iowa-MSU Football Game

The Iowa-Michigan State football game to be played here Sept. 25 will be telecast nationally by the ABC television network the Associated Press reported Friday.

Games will be carried by ABC Sept. 18 through Dec. 4, with the schedule calling for 13 dates. Regional telecasts will be used Oct. 23 and Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 25.

First game of the series will be the one between Oklahoma's Orange Bowl champions and the University of California, Sept. 18.

The game Oct. 2 will come from the Pacific coast where Illinois will meet Stanford. This was arranged to benefit from the time difference since a World Series baseball game will be played the same day.

Other games on the schedule: Oct. 9, Wisconsin-Rice; Oct. 16, Oregon - Southern California; Pittsburgh-Northwestern regionally; Oct. 30, Penn-Penn State; Nov. 6, Baylor-Texas; Nov. 13, Georgia Tech-Alabama; Nov. 20, Ohio State-Michigan; Nov. 25, Thanksgiving, Maryland-Mississippi regionally; Nov. 27, Army-Navy; Dec. 4, Notre Dame-Southern Methodist.

No sponsor has as yet been announced.

Iowa Athletic Director, Paul Brechler could not be reached for comment Friday night.

Lions Coach Gives Lecture Following Late Cafe Brawl

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — Coach Buddy Parker cracked the whip for the Detroit Lions Friday in the wake of a pre-dawn cafe scuffle in which star half-back Bob Hoernschemeyer lost a tooth.

The Lions, national pro champions in training for the College All-Star game in Chicago Aug. 13, were ordered to mind their 1:30 p.m. curfew or face fines.

Along with the loss of a front tooth, Hoernschemeyer had to put in a court appearance.

He and two other young men—neither a Lion—pleaded guilty to a charge of "disorderly fighting" in a cafe at nearby Ann Arbor at 5 a.m. Thursday. They were released on $25 bail for sentencing Aug. 27.

Afterwards, at a squad meeting, Parker laid down the law. He also put nearby Ann Arbor "out of bounds" for the squad.

The cafe incident involved Hoernschemeyer, a teammate, and a young woman companion.

Police said some remarks were made by Patrick Conlin, 21, and Benjamin Nicholson, 24, and Hoernschemeyer protested. One word led to another and a scuffle followed between Hoernschemeyer and Conlin.

Pirates Tip Reds, 7-4, on Gordon's Home Run in 7th

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates picked up their first Copley field victory of the year Friday night, downing the Cincinnati Redlegs 7-4. Pinch-hitter Sid Gordon homered with one aboard in the seventh inning to break up a 4-4 tie and the Pirates added an insurance run in the ninth on a double, sacrifice and single.

Jim Greengrass, Cincinnati outfielder, "booted in" five runs—three for his own Reds and two for the Pirates.

He lined his 18th home run of the season in the first frame with two teammates aboard. But in the top of the second, with two Bucs on base, he permitted pitcher Dick Littlefield's single to roll past him. This allowed one unearned run to score and then another tallied when Greengrass tossed wild to third base. He was charged with two errors.

Littlefield, an American league castoff, went the route for his victory. He seemed to get stronger as the game progressed.

Browning Defeats Furgol in PGA; Snead, Oliver Win

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Jim Browning, a paunchy New England home professional, punctured the steady march of favorites Friday when he cut down the new national open champion, Ed Furgol, in the second round of the Professional Golfers association tournament.

The 39-year-old Weston, Mass., links teacher, whose present state open title is the biggest he's ever won, threw a string of steady pars at the rusty opening to win on the final hole, one up.

Sam Snead, dangerously close to elimination in the morning round, shook the kinks out of both his sore neck and his golf game in the afternoon to lead other top name performers forward into the third round.

Other winners, as the field was cut from 64 to 16, were the defending titleholder, blond Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich.; medalist Ed "Pork Chops" Oliver; former national open champion Cary Middlecoff; Johnny Revolta, the just-jawed 1953 PGA king, and Roberto De Vicenzo, the gay gaucho from the Argentine.

Third round matches will be contested today over the 36-hole route on the Keller club course, and this is supposed to be the point where class tells.

Nats Get 5 in 1st To Top Tigers, 8-3; Stobbs Wins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington erupted for five runs in the first inning against Al Aber and breezed to an 8-3 victory over Detroit Friday night. Roy Sievers smashed his 16th home run off Bob Miller with Mickey Vernon aboard in the fifth inning.

Chuck Stobbs captured his third straight decision and his fifth of the season, limiting the Tigers to eight hits. Ray Boone blasted two triples.

The Senators parlayed five singles, a walk and two errors into a five-run first inning to shell Aber. They added three runs in the fifth.

Tribe Whips Yankees, 8-2; Home Runs By Smith, Doby

NEW YORK (AP) — Al Smith's three-run homer was the score tied in the seventh and two home runs by Larry Doby ruined Eddie Lopat Friday night, boosting Cleveland's American League lead to 1½ games with an 8-2 victory over the New York Yankees in the opener of their vital series.

If the Tribe should lose the other two games, they still will leave town Sunday night with a percentage point edge after this triumph, scored before 61,446 paid, the largest turnout of the season in either league.

It was the eighth straight game in which Lopat had failed to finish and it marked the Yankees' first loss at night in 14 games.

Smith, Cleveland's hitting star, drove in five runs altogether, adding two more in the ninth with a bases loaded single.

Lopat, mixing his soft stuff with an occasional fast ball, rode along on a 2-0 lead until Doby hit his 18th homer into the right field seats in the sixth. The Yanks had reached Early Wynn for a pair in the fourth on Irv Noren's third straight hit, a single with the bases loaded.

The Yanks kept pecking away at Wynn through the early innings, getting seven hits in the first four while Lopat rocked away with a two-hit shutout. Doby's homer with two out in the sixth was only the Tribe's fourth hit.

Veterans Penn, Johnston, To Meet In Golf Finals

WATERLOO (AP) — The last of the young challengers fell by the wayside Friday and the championship of this year's Iowa Women's golf tournament is now up to Ann Casey Johnston of Mason City and Lois Penn of Des Moines.

The two seasoned veterans will meet for the title today in a 36-hole match starting at 9:15 a.m.

Mrs. Johnston, an easy winner over 18-year-old Linda Nordyke, of Ames, will match her sub-par shooting against Miss Penn, who disposed of Mrs. Vivian Heitland of Toledo in the uneventful semi-finals.

Mrs. Johnston won 9 and 8. Miss Penn's victory was 7 and 5.

Miss Nordyke had no chance against the Mason City woman who has held the state title twice dating back to 1941 and would like to take the trophy home again. The youngster lost the first eight holes, halved the ninth but was sunk on the 10th.

Miss Penn had a slightly more trying time. She was six up on Mrs. Heitland at the turn but halved the next three holes.

Andrews Beaten By Top-Seeded Entry in Tourney

CHICAGO — Art Andrews, Iowa City, was defeated in the Western Junior and Boys tennis tournament at Champaign, Ill., Friday, by top-seeded Jerry Moss of Miami Beach, Fla., according to the Associated Press.

Andrews took a 4-2 edge in the first set, but the Florida star won three straight games. Andrews tied it 5-5, but Moss took the next two and then six more in a row, winning 7-5, 6-0.

Moss will meet Jon Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif., whom he beat for the title last year, in the finals.

WHITNEY MARTIN'S —

Sports Trail

NEW YORK (AP) — It was nice to see that umpire Babe Pinelli was backed up by National League president Warren Giles in the decision to forfeit the game in St. Louis last Sunday to the Phils. Another umpire who tangled with Eddie Stanky wasn't so fortunate.

He was Scotty Robb, who was publicly chastised for a little bumping duel with the fiery little Cardinal manager, the humiliation so affecting the umpire that he resigned shortly thereafter. He subsequently was signed by the American league in what some believed was a silent rebuke to Giles.

Stanky, a pleasant enough fellow away from the ball park, has had his trouble with Pinelli before. In fact, there probably are few, if any, umpires with whom he has come in contact who have escaped his wrath.

Made Offensive Gestures In 1952, Eddie was suspended for three days for "offensive gestures" toward the umpire. It seems he is a great little gesticulator, as he created quite a furore in 1950 while with the Giants for going through setting up exercises at second base during a game with the Phils, the calisthenics obviously designed to distract the batter.

The incident prompted Ford Frick, then league president, to order his umpire to eject willfully any player going through motions "designed or intended to annoy or disturb opposing batsmen."

It apparently finally has dawned on Eddie that you can't win when you start tangling with umpires, despite the incident which led to the resignation of Robb.

He has been thumbed oftener than a telephone directory, and earlier this year he was ousted twice in four games. On each occasion his vehement protests got him nothing but the gate, and his delaying tactics of last Sunday brought him nothing but an automatic defeat for his team.

Apologized Then Too His contrite apology and promises to be a good boy in the future may or may not be in the nature of a lasting reform. A fierce competitor who asks no quarter and gives none, it will take tremendous will power on his part to keep from erupting when he believes his team isn't getting a fair shake from the men in blue.

Pinelli's action in forfeiting the game took a lot of moral courage, and even physical courage, as he couldn't be sure just how the fans would take the action. They had paid to see a double header, and to have one of the games stopped abruptly might arouse them to a bottle-throwing mood.

From all reports the crowd took the decision in good grace, and even made it clear that it believed the umpire's action justified. When the home town fans don't back up their manager, it might be cause for a little soul-searching on his part.

Cubs, Phillies Split Twin Bill; Roberts Wins in 13 Innings

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phillies divided a doubleheader Friday with the Cubs winning the opener 5-2 and the Phils coming back to take the nightcap 5-3 when Danny Schell singled with the bases loaded in the first half of the 13th inning.

Robin Roberts, who relieved starter Bob Miller at the beginning of the eighth inning, checked the Cubs with three hits and one run the rest of the way to earn his 14th victory. He's lost eight.

Bill Tremel was charged with the defeat that leveled his record at 1-1. The rookie righthander held the Phils at bay from the ninth until the 13th when Granny Hamner doubled with one out.

Del Ennis was passed intentionally and Bobby Morgan got a walk to fill the bases. Then Schell lined a two-run single to center to settle the issue.

Hamner put the Phils in front by socking a homer off starter Warren Hacker in the second inning. But the Cubs came back to tie the score in the fifth inning and Hank Sauer's 28th homer of the season put the Bruins ahead 2-1 in the seventh.

New York, Brooklyn Lose; Raschi Wins on 6-Hitter

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Bobby Thompson, who came to Milwaukee from New York in the winter trades, slapped a pinch single to left with two out in the ninth inning Friday night to give the Braves a 3-2 victory over the Giants before a new record crowd of 45,046 in County stadium.

Thom's sharp smash past third base scored Jim Pendleton, running for Andy Pafko, from second base to break up a tie game. The Braves scored their other runs on homers by Joe Adcock and Eddie Mathews.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Rookie Joe Cunningham drove in three runs with a double and tie-breaking homer Friday night to give Vic Raschi his first victory since June 15 and the St. Louis Cardinals a fifth straight triumph by a 6-4 score over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Cunningham's sixth homer in 23 games in the majors came in the sixth inning of a 4-4 contest and was belted off righthander Russ Meyer, who suffered his third defeat against seven wins.

Raschi, scoring his seventh triumph against five setbacks, yielded a three-run homer in the first inning to Gil Hodges—his 29th of the season—and then checked the Dodgers with one tally thereafter. Brooklyn 300 100 000-4 6 3 St. Louis 120 003 00x-8 12 0
