Nation's Atom Arsenal Growing, Says AEC

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy commission reported Friday the nation's arsenal of nuclear weapons is "growing rapidly." It indicated progress toward creation of an atomic-powered airplane and said the first fission-fueled engine for a submarine is almost ready.

The information in the semi-annual report, covering the six months ended last June, was obscurely phrased in the usual generalized language of the AEC. It commented that the rapidly growing stockpile "reflects a trend of increased variety and versatility of weapons." This meant that the numbers of mighty fission and thermonuclear bombs for destroying cities and of smaller packaged A-bombs and shells for fighting on the battlefield are increasing.

Paralleling since 1950 the standard fission-process bomb development has been "converted development effort on thermonuclear weapons," said the AEC in talking briefly about H-bombs.

Develop Plane Engine

The program for development of a nuclear-engined airplane "continued," said the report. But it also revealed that the program now has moved out of the field of theory and mathematical calculations into the testing of actual devices to go into an eventual engine.

The AEC's work on the atomic power plant for the submarine Nautilus, launched last January, was nearing completion, the report said. The Nautilus is expected to go into operation this fall. A test-type plant like that to be used in the second A-submarine, the "Sea Wolf," is "nearly completed." And development is going forward on still a third type of atomic engine "suitable for a high-performance submarine."

Radioactivity Troubles

The report also dealt with the troubles that arose out of the giant explosion of a hydrogen bomb in a test last March 1 on Bikini. Radioactive dust, caught by an unexpected wind, settled on some Marshall islanders, American nationals and Japanese fishermen.

It also disclosed that there was enough radioactive strength left in the fall-out when it passed over the United States to leave detectable traces in the bodies of some people. However, the amount was so small and harmless that it could be discovered only by analysis with delicate measuring instruments.

The Marshallese and American nationals who were dusted lightly in areas bordering the proving ground suffered no permanent harm, said the commission. And the Japanese fishermen are reported by Japanese physicians "to be improving satisfactorily" from radiation burns.

Brownell Proposes Rewards for Tips On Enemy Agents

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rewards of up to half a million dollars were recommended Friday for tips on enemy agents or other persons seeking to smuggle atomic weapons into the United States, or manufacture them here.

In addition to big cash payments, lifetime asylum in this country would be offered aliens and their families who provide such information.

These aliens would be admitted into the U.S. regardless of any laws barring them on the usual grounds, such as Communist party membership, moral turpitude, etc.

Brownell Submits Proposal
Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell submitted the proposal to Vice President Richard Nixon and House Speaker Joseph Martin in the form of legislation for introduction in congress.

He said the plan has the backing of the National Security Council, which is composed of President Eisenhower, Nixon, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, Foreign Operations Administrator Harold E. Stassen, and Defense Mobilization Administrator Arthur S. Flemming.

The amount of reward in each case for information on illicit traffic in atomic materials and weapons in this country would be determined by a board made up of the atomic energy commission, the attorney general and the secretary of defense.

AEC Would Pay
Payments would be made out of AEC appropriations. The information needed deals with smuggling of the secret manufacture of atomic weapons or materials within the U.S.

The Brownell proposal followed recent disclosures that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover had privately circulated an alert to law enforcement officials in all parts of the country, cautioning that developments in the nuclear field now made possible the manufacture of atomic weapons in a size which could be concealed on the person.

Compares U.S., British Unions

DR. HENRY PELLING, OXFORD PROFESSOR currently studying at the University of Wisconsin, speaks to a small but interested audience gathered in the SUI library's Shambaugh lecture room about "The British Labor Party and the United States."

Pelling Defends British Attitude on Red China

By DRAKE MABRY

The American attitude toward Red China is based on ideologies, while the British attitude is based on more practical grounds. This is the line of reasoning followed by the British Labor party, according to Dr. Henry Pelling, professor at Queen's college, Oxford, England.

Speaking about the British Labor party and the United States in the SUI library's Shambaugh lecture room Friday night, Pelling said, "The Labor party feels that the Chinese revolution happened, and it is impossible to ignore it. So why not recognize them?"

Britain Lives on Trade
Pelling continued to say that Britain lives by trade with other countries and wants to trade with every country as long as it is practical.

Communists are no serious threat in Britain, he said. "They have sought to join our trade unions since they started the party in 1920, but have been rebuffed continually by the labor leaders."

British trade unions are of the utmost importance to the party, Pelling said. The trade unions are led by practical, hard-headed men, who are aware of two main facets in the relationship between American and British labor.

Obvious Differences
1. There are obvious constitutional differences between American trade unions and British trade unions.
2. Both the U.S. American Federation of Labor (AFL) and the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO) are after the same thing as the British labor unions. Both are in the International Federation of Free Trade Unions, both have the same basic aim.

Pelling, who spent the last school year at the University of Wisconsin doing research on American labor parties, said the Labor party was formed in Britain in 1900, due in part to changes in view due to the American switch in ideas concerning Britain and industrialization.

Some Britons felt that British industry would form a trust and defeat the labor unions. "They felt they had to form trusts to compete with American industry," Pelling said.

BULLETIN
ROTTERDAM, Netherlands (AP)—Dirkzwagers Shipping agency today reported an American airliner is believed to have ditched in the North sea with 71 persons aboard. U.S. air force headquarters in London said it had received no word of any such plane missing.

SUI Hospitals Lists 23 Polio Cases; 3 From West Branch
Hospital officials listed a total of 23 polio cases.

One of the three West Branch youngsters is still in serious condition after being admitted July 21. He is Albert Wayne Albin, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Albin.

The two other children, both in fair condition, are Dan Robert Olsen, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Olsen and Sharon Louise McAtee, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McAtee. The Olsen boy was admitted Tuesday and the McAtee girl, Wednesday.

Total Reaches 57
Fourteen polio patients have been admitted since Monday bringing the 1954 total to 57, compared with 23 for the same date last year. During the same period in 1952, when Iowa recorded one of its worst epidemics of polio, 73 patients were hospitalized.

There have been no deaths this year. For the same period last year, one death was recorded and in 1952, there were three.

Hospital officials said that the next week or two probably would bring an increase in the total of polio cases admitted.

Other Patients
Other patients from the area undergoing treatment for polio in University hospitals and their conditions are:
Rowena Marie Pike, 8, Nichols, admitted July 23, fair condition.
Henrietta Martin, 41, Cedar Rapids, admitted July 11, fair condition.
Jean Kruse, 32, Stockton, admitted July 9, fair condition.
Roberta Radloff, 16, Cedar Rapids, admitted July 12, fair condition.

Charles Dalton, 4, McCausland, admitted July 14, fair condition.

Flanders Meets Opposition As McCarthy Debate Begins

Senate Kills Bill To Curb Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate rejected 81-7 Friday a proposal by Sen. George W. Malone (R-Nev.) to kill the foreign aid program and invest its accumulated billions in American military aircraft.

Malone offered his plan as an amendment to the $3 billion foreign aid authorization bill.

He estimated the foreign operations administration had $9.9 billion in unspent funds from previous appropriations. With the $3.1 billion in new money President Eisenhower is asking for the current fiscal year, Malone said, $13,079,000,000 would be available for building an invincible air force.

5,000 Additional Planes

The Nevada estimated the plan would give the nation an additional 2,000 heavy jet bombers and 3,000 jet interceptor planes.

He argued for it in a speech which lasted several hours but on the vote got the support of only six other Republicans — Sens. John W. Bricker, Ohio; William E. Jenner, Indiana; William Langer and Milton R. Young, North Dakota; Joseph McCarthy, Wisconsin; and Herman Welker, Idaho.

Officials said that while FOA has large unspent funds, most of them are already obligated and military items are under construction.

4 Iowa City Men Jailed After Robbery

Four Iowa City men were being held in Johnson county jail Friday in connection with the robbery of Ted Helm, Iowa City, last Saturday night near Hills.

They are Perry Courtney, 20; Ralph Decker, 23; George Abbott, about 26, and Paul Akers, 24.

Helm is filing charges against all four, Sheriff Albert J. Murphy said Friday.

Helm became acquainted with Akers last Friday in an Iowa City tavern, Murphy said. Saturday the two met after work and drove to Hills.

Leaving Hills, Murphy said, they encountered a stalled automobile on the highway and Helm stopped and left the auto to assist.

Helm was then slugged from behind, Murphy said, and robbed of his wallet containing $23.

The four men being held are suspected of taking part in the robbery.

A preliminary hearing is scheduled for today.

SEN. RALPH FLANDERS (R-Vt.) is shown examining a senate check-off role list before formally presenting his anti-McCarthy resolution. He has said that he will regard absence of any senator without reason as a direct attempt to dodge a stand on Senator McCarthy.

County Officials Propose New Reckless Driving Ordinance

By JOE MORAN

A recommendation that Johnson county towns pass a new reckless driving ordinance, aimed at cutting down the number of teen-age offenders, was made at a meeting of county mayors, magistrates and law enforcement officials in the city council chamber Friday night.

The assembled officials also voted that a similar recommendation be made to the state legislature to enact a statute enabling law enforcement officers to punish reckless drivers more effectively.

Iowa City Police Court Judge Emil G. Trott, who called the meeting, said the statute and ordinance are "particularly important" to small towns. Teen-age drivers, the judge elaborated, are the worst offenders in respect to careful driving.

Difficult To Convict
Trott said that present laws "make it very difficult to obtain a conviction" in cases of this kind. In small towns, it is difficult to "clock" careless, speeding drivers, the judge explained, because of the short distances involved. A new ordinance and statute "would make it easier to control these kids," he said.

The group voted another recommendation that three flashing traffic signals be placed on the Coralville road at the Melody Mill, Loghry's restaurant and the Coralville fruit market. They also recommended that the road between the Melody Mill and Loghry's be posted as a 45 m.p.h. maximum speeding zone.

The body further approved a recommendation to the state highway commission that the yellow no-passing lines on highways be painted in the center of the highway.

Lines Hard To See
They felt that painting them in the middle of the traffic lanes makes it difficult to see the lines, "especially when another car or a truck is ahead of a second vehicle," Trott said.

A fifth recommendation in regard to traffic approved by the group was that all stop signs be made high enough to be seen when visibility is limited by cars parked nearby.

Judge Trott distributed copies of the schedule of traffic violation fines that he has been imposing to the 16 officials present. He pointed out that, as in the past, each case will be handled on its individual merits by the magistrates.

Trott expressed his conviction that it had been "a good meeting, with good attendance."

The group voted to meet again at quarterly intervals. Judge Trott was named to call the next meeting and to contact city, county and state officials to inform them of the recommendations made Friday night.

Officials Attending
Names of officials attending the meeting were: Mayors Emmett Bird, Lone Tree; John Slach, Solon; Don Anciaux, Coralville; Ernest Buresh, Swisher; Clarence Amelon, Hills; Nate M. Moore, Jr., University Heights.

Justices of the Peace J. Newman Toomey and C. J. Hutchinson; Constables Preston Koser and Glen Helmer; Judge Emil G. Trott, all of Iowa City.

Justices of the Peace Carl Eldeen and R. M. Work, North Liberty; town marshals Matt Green, Lone Tree; Fred Painter, Coralville; and Stanley Davis, University Heights.

Conspiracy Against Joe, Says Dirksen

WASHINGTON (AP)—In an atmosphere of high tension Sen. Ralph Flanders (R-Vt.) fought Friday night to induce the senate to condemn the conduct of Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) but ran into objections from several colleagues.

Flanders presented his censure resolution—first of its kind in 25 years—declaring McCarthy's tactics tend to "bring the senate into disrepute."

Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.), the GOP majority leader, quickly protested that this was no way to handle the issue; that "what is properly a judicial decision will be made at white heat in a political body."

Morse Opposes Resolution

Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind.-Ore.) shouted to the senate that "I think this man (McCarthy) ought to be tried so to speak" by the senate at this session of congress, but that Flanders' resolution was no fitting paper on which to act.

It lacked the necessary "solemn bill of particulars," he said, endorsing a view expressed a few minutes earlier by Sen. Guy Cordon (R-Ore.).

Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.), long time friend of McCarthy, arose to declare that the move against the Wisconsin senator was "in the nature of a conspiratorial effort to liquidate and destroy him."

'Confusing Spectacle'
Dirksen said Flanders had visited upon the senate a "confusing spectacle." Flanders, he said, had produced three "wholly different" resolutions on the subject of McCarthy in the recent past.

"In so doing," Dirksen said, "he has done the damage — and you don't wash out the damage that has been done." He did not elaborate.

Dirksen said he would criticize McCarthy when he thought criticism was called for and would praise him when that was merited.

Text of Resolution
Sen. Flanders' resolution reads: "Resolved, that the conduct of the senator from Wisconsin, Joseph R. McCarthy, is unbecoming a member of the United States senate, is contrary to senatorial traditions and tends to bring the senate into disrepute, and such conduct is hereby condemned."

In presenting it Flanders made a speech charging that McCarthy, "however informally," is on the same grounds as "Fifth Amendment Communists" for having refused to answer questions a senate subcommittee raised a year and a half ago about his integrity and financial affairs.

No Action Taken
The senate recessed late Friday night without taking any action on the McCarthy matter.

Flanders also accused the Wisconsin senator of "habitual contempt for people" and responsibility for compromising the honor of the senate and the nation.

The remark about contempt for people brought Sen. Herman Welker (R-Idaho) to his feet in protest. He said McCarthy does not look with contempt on human beings, but has a wide love for them.

Resolutions Too Generalized
Flanders called parts of his speech a bill of particulars, and said he stood ready to supply more details of his charges, but Sen. Cordon declared the resolution was too generalized.

The senate is being asked, Cordon said, to adopt a resolution "that is not supported on its face by a single allegation of fact, a single specification as to time or place or as to specific misconduct." He said the issue ought to be turned over to the senate judiciary committee for consideration.

McCarthy listened to the big debate, scribbling notes.

Spectators Watch Eagerly
The hot debate went on in a chamber packed to the walls with spectators eagerly watching a battle that may run on into next week.

GOP Leader Knowland said

Phi Kappa Psi's Reinstated at SUI

The Iowa Alpha chapter of Phi Kappa Psi social fraternity has been reinstated at SUI as of Aug. 1, after approximately six months suspension for disciplinary reasons, L. Dale Faunce, dean of students, said Friday.

The decision to reinstate Phi Kappa Psi is being made upon the recommendation of the Inter-Fraternity council of the university and after a discussion of the matter by SUI officials with the chapter officers of Phi Kappa Psi, the alumni representatives and a representative of the national office of the fraternity, he stated.

Faunce pointed out that the outstanding record of the chapter on the campus over the past years held considerable weight in the decision to reinstate. Phi Kappa Psi has consistently ranked among the top four fraternities on the campus scholastically and in the accomplishments of its leaders and its members in campus-wide activities, he said.

U.S. Scientist Seeks Asylum in Czechoslovakia

LONDON (Saturday) (AP)—British police stopped and boarded a Polish freighter early today after it left London with American scientist Joseph Cort and his wife, who announced they would seek political asylum in Red Czechoslovakia. Parliament was told Friday that the 26-year-old Bostonian and professed ex-Communist, who did not want to go home to explain his failure to report for the military draft, had been granted asylum by Czechoslovakia. Cort and his wife left their Birmingham home on July 21 after Britain had refused to consider him a political refugee and had canceled his British residence permit, effective today.

Peiping Radio Charges U.S. 'Hunting for War'

TOKYO (Saturday) (AP)—Peiping radio in an angry blast at the United States asserted today that "China's coast has become increasingly shrouded in the tense atmosphere of war" and blamed U.S. air and naval forces in the Far East. In a commentary on the clash Sunday off Hainan island in which U.S. carrier planes shot down two Red planes, Peiping said: "The facts are well known to all—the rulers of the U.S. are thirsting for war; they are hunting for war; they are trying their hardest to create and extend aggressive war against the peoples republic of China."

Fire Damages Atlantic City's Steel Pier

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Fire raced through a 200-foot section of the Atlantic City boardwalk Friday night and was stopped as it nudged its way along the front of the famed half-mile-long Steel Pier. Four stores fronting on the boardwalk were damaged by flames, water and smoke. The flames broke out under the boardwalk at about 5:45 p.m. and spread quickly. The pier, located in the heart of the famed boardwalk, is one of Atlantic City's major amusement attractions.

Report Auto Mishaps Says Safety Director

Explaining Iowa's 1947 safety responsibility law, Milo Chalfant, Des Moines, told Masonic service club members at the weekly luncheon Friday that drivers involved in accidents resulting in injury, death or damage in excess of $50 must make a written report to the department of public safety within 24 hours.

Chalfant went on to say that in personal injury or fatal accidents, the driver must "immediately notify the sheriff, highway patrol or other peace officer nearest the place where the accident occurred."

Chalfant is director of the safety responsibility and driver's license division of the state public safety department.

He added that in cities of 15,000 or more people, a report must also be made to the chief of police.

Time Limit Told

The owner and operator of a vehicle involved in an accident "occurring in the state" may be required to furnish security "within 60 days," Chalfant said.

Security may be furnished in several ways: (1) insurance information on the accident report; (2) cash or a corporate security bond; (3) an installment agreement; (4) judgment of the court; (5) determination of non-liability; or, (6) release.

Security does not have to be furnished (1) when the only damage is to the driver or the vehicle; (2) when the vehicle is legally stopped or parked; (3) or when the vehicle is operated without "express or implied permission."

Future Security Needed

Future proof of financial responsibility for three years must be given when a driver's license is suspended or revoked for a traffic conviction or when the driver fails to satisfy the judgment of the court within 60 days.

Future proof may be shown in several ways: (1) a certificate of insurance, (2) $11,000 in cash; or (3) two individual sureties with real estate worth $22,000.

Following a suspension of a driver's license, the operator must take a written and visual test to recover his permit, Chalfant told his audience.

Cites Statistics

He also provided some statistics for the first six months of 1954. Johnson county had the same number of auto accident fatalities as in 1953, six. State-wide, there is an increase of 37 fatalities, the 1954 total being 263.

Johnson county had 79 fewer accidents of all types for the same period in 1954, a total of 423. The entire state improved in this category, 1954's total being 23,189, 4,698 less than last year.

In concluding, Chalfant pointed to the stepped-up safety program of the highway patrol. He said selective patrolling of critical points, driver improvement programs, and unmarked cars for patrolmen are being used to cut the Iowa accident toll.

Dentists To Play Major Role If U.S. Bombed, Ivancie Says

U.S. dentists will be expected to give valuable auxiliary medical service in case of a national disaster, Dr. Gerald P. Ivancie, instructor in the SUI college of dentistry explained Friday.

Available physicians and nurses would be too few to provide even emergency medical treatment for probable casualties.

"Therefore, dentists will function as auxiliary surgeons and will be expected to treat shock, burns, fractures, and contusion in all parts of the body," the dentist said.

Gerald P. Ivancie Stresses Dentists' Role

Ivancie attended a special three-day training course from July 21 to 23, at the national civil defense training center, Olney, Md. The course was part of the federal civil defense administration's training program for services which would be required in a national emergency.

Defense Concerns Everyone

Ivancie said that civil defense is not something for only the federal government to be concerned with. "President Eisenhower stated, 'Civil Defense responsibilities primarily belong to the state and local government — recruiting, training, and organizing volunteers to meet an emergency.' The federal civil defense administration estimates for each well placed atomic bomb on a large metropolitan area. With the H-bomb these figures would rise tremendously," he added.

It has been estimated that for each 100 enemy aircraft that may attack us, 70 would get through. That would mean that we are not immune. In any case, the number of people severely injured would be far greater than all available medical and nursing services could give even emergency care, the dentist said.

"We must train personnel for such an event. The dentists of this country number approximately 80,000 and constitute an important group as auxiliary medical personnel. By their basic medical science training, their experience in handling patients in severe pain, and their association with medical men in the treatment of disease they are especially qualified to act as assistants to medical men," Ivancie pointed out.

While it is impossible that any given smaller community will be attacked, no city can assume this. Iowa City, for instance, may be called on for assistance in an attacked area; such assistance may be in the form of medical, fire, police or other needed personnel. Iowa City citizens may be called to furnish an attacked area with such support as housing, feeding, medical care for evacuees and refugees.

Defense Efforts Not Futile

"Many people feel that any efforts to provide common protection against atomic or H-bomb attacks are futile. This attitude has been demonstrated to be false," Ivancie stated. "We in Iowa City and surrounding rural areas will definitely be affected in event of attack on critical target areas not too far distant," he added.

The course attended by Ivancie consisted of lectures and demonstrations covering civil defense organization and training, analysis of problems, tactical operations, effects of atomic, biological, and chemical warfare, and the special job of the dentists in civil defense. The class also observed a demonstration of fire fighting and rescue techniques.

Among the sixty or more dentists who enrolled in the class were many representing state health departments, the United States public health service, and various national organizations.

'Re-Enlistment Blues'

Interpreting the News

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
Foreign Staff
Associated Press

The attitude of India and other Asiatic nations toward the United States has seldom been as well described as in the words of Ambassador George Allen that they fear "the Americans are about to acquire an empire in the Orient in a fit of absent mindedness."

The ambassador to New Delhi was telling the senate foreign relations committee that India and most other nations of the area would form an anti-Communist security organization only if it could originate among and be participated in by themselves.

They will not take the lead of, or directly associate themselves with, the Western Powers, he said.

Power Needs Control

This business of an American advance toward control as well as leadership of the free world, not only Asia, has been a topic among historical philosophers ever since World War II. It was raised naturally by the spectacle of a nation so powerful that its efforts were decisive in a war which covered two-thirds of the world, with an economy so strong that it alone could set this same area back on its feet in postwar years.

Never before has there been a nation so powerful as the U.S. If it had wished, at the end of World War II, it could have subjugated the whole world. That is a fact which has affected its relations with every country ever since.

Fear Stings

Not many have actually feared American intent. What they have feared is that the U.S. if she became hard pressed in her conflict with the Communist sphere might feel herself forced to tighten the strings which aid arrangements entail, requiring cooperation in a war and robbing other states of full freedom to act or not to act as they see fit.

An actual demonstration of this has been made in connection with the warnings to France of discontinued aid unless she goes ahead with formation of the European Defense Community.

America does feel that she must have a world after her own heart if she is to live in it safely, just as does Russia.

Fell into Leadership

But America did fall into her present position of leadership during a fit of absent-mindedness.

Power, once attained, becomes a terrific test of the character of the user. America thinks she wants neighbors, not satellites, but other peoples can hardly be blamed for wondering how far she might eventually be willing to go to enforce her conception of neighborliness.

Flanders

he is against the resolution, that it may lead to precedents that will "plague this body" for years. But he declared he would not attempt to choke off debate with a motion to kill Flanders' proposal by tabling it.

Flanders, in his opening address told the senate that McCarthy can do no more be appeased than could Adolf Hitler or the Kremlin.

Talk of Compromise

Talk of a compromise was stirring but apparently without any official backing of the senate GOP leadership.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), who had come forward with a substitute resolution to set up a special senate committee to investigate the "alleged good or evil of so-called McCarthyism," said he was changing it to eliminate reference to McCarthyism. He said he would suggest instead an investigation of methods and procedures in congressional inquiries.

In any event, a vote on the Flanders proposal or any compromise, was unlikely before late today or possibly Monday.

Crowds Filled Galleries

Big crowds had filled the senate galleries during the day, sometimes to overflowing. Only a handful of seats were empty as galleries started and in some galleries people were standing.

Mrs. McCarthy sat in a front row seat in the members' gallery.

Mrs. Flanders was in the row behind, several seats away and across an aisle.

Flanders had released the text of his curtain-raiser speech some hours in advance.

Army Issues 23,000 Draft Call for October

WASHINGTON (AP) — The army Friday issued a draft call for 23,000 men in October, the same number requested in the previous three months.

The October quota brought to 1,789,430 the total number of men drafted or earmarked for induction since the resumption of selective service in September 1950.

SUI Library To Publish New Booklet

All aspects of the Civil War—from the theater to the reactions of the individual "Johnny Reb" and "Billy Yank" — will be explored in a new illustrated magazine to be published quarterly by the SUI library.

Edited by Clyde Walton, SUI curator of rare books, the magazine will be entitled "Civil War History."

"There are thousands of persons throughout the United States interested in Civil War history," Walton points out. "Our purpose is to publish a magazine which will serve as an outlet and an exchange for information gathered by researchers on the Civil War period. The strictly military aspect of the period will be subordinated in the magazine," Walton says.

A feature of the first issue will be an article by Mark Twain. A one-time member of the Confederate army, Twain wrote "The Private History of a Campaign That Failed," which has been out of print more than 60 years, Walton says. The article will be edited and footnoted by Prof. John Gerber of the SUI English faculty.

Included on the editorial advisory board are Bruce Catton, 1953 Pulitzer prizewinner in history, Iowa's MacKinlay Kantor, author of the Civil War novel "Long Remember," and Prof. Charles T. Miller of the English department.

Other members on the board are Stow W. Persons, professor of history at SUI, Bell I. Wiley, an authority of the multiple volume "Lincoln Finds a General," and Allan Nevins of Columbia university.

Walton expects the first issue of the magazine will be published next January. The magazine will sell for $1.50 a copy or $5 for a year's subscription, he says.

African Temperature Reaches Low of 51

BRAZZAVILLE, French Equatorial Africa (AP) — The Eastern Hemisphere's cold summer has spread right down to the equator.

Reports from North Angola Portuguese West Africa and the Belgian Congo put the temperature as low as 51 degrees Fahrenheit.

This was the lowest recorded since the establishment of weather stations in the regions nine years ago.

Political Scientists Plan Instructors' Workshop

Instructors in political science from colleges and universities in four midwestern states have been invited to attend a workshop in practical politics at SUI from Aug. 29 to Sept. 2.

Robert F. Ray, director of the SUI institute of public affairs, is in charge of the workshop, which is sponsored by the university and the citizenship clearing house. Purpose of the workshop is to discuss ways in which college students can be encouraged to participate actively in practical politics after they graduate.

Discuss Teaching Techniques

The college teachers will discuss courses and teaching techniques and special programs designed to interest students in politics. They will also meet with political leaders to discuss the ways in which young college trained men and women can take part in the political parties of their choice.

Men who will attend the workshop have been selected from the faculties of private and public colleges and universities in Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin. For the most part the participants are younger faculty members, persons with only a few years of teaching experience, Ray said.

50 Will Serve

Approximately 50 other persons will serve as speakers and discussion leaders in the workshop. These people include college administrators and teachers, leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties, and representatives of the press.

TWO-SHIFT PESTS

Iowa Safety Board Urges Highway Speed Limit Laws

DES MOINES (AP) — A 30 percent increase in the number of Iowa traffic fatalities directly attributable to too much speed has caused the State Safety department to decide to ask for both day and night highway speed limits.

"We feel now, on the basis of statistics for the first half of this year and last, that we should ask the next legislature to enact both day and night speed limits," Safety Commissioner Pearl W. McMurry said Friday.

"It appears that we in the department are agreed that we would be justified in asking such limitations," he continued. "We don't know what limits to recommend but perhaps they will be 60 day and 50 night."

Speed Accidents Increase

In the first six months of 1954 there were 93 traffic fatalities directly attributed to high speed. Only one vehicle was involved in each of the 93 cases. The total for the same period of 1953 was 72. That makes the increase this year 30 per cent.

Of the 93 fatalities for this year, 67 were charged to vehicles going off the road, 23 to cars hitting fixed objects, and three to vehicles overturning.

Of 225 accidents which resulted in fatalities up to July 1 this year, 179 occurred on straight roads and only 44 on curves. Only 18 of the 37 vehicles involved in fatalities had mechanical failures.

18 Deaths Due to Sleep

The department's statistical division said the 93 speed deaths did not include 18 fatalities attributed to drivers falling asleep. Commenting on the statistics, McMurry said:

"The average person is not qualified to drive out on the highway at the speeds they do. It would appear that the car manufacturers are producing vehicles with too much power for most drivers to handle, in consideration of the conditions of the highways.

"Some of the trouble comes from persons inexperienced at

Fath Styles Feature Eisenhower Jacket

PARIS (AP) — Gen. Eisenhower probably didn't realize when he donned his famed battle jacket in World War II, that it would some day set a Paris fashion trend.

Here in Paris it is called jacket a la Polonaise (Polish-style jacket) — but whatever the name, it is appearing frequently this season in swank fashion houses.

Jacques Fath used it, with variations, as a theme for many dresses and suits shown Friday. He even featured military breast pockets.

It may seem incongruous to think of battle dress done up in gold lame, oyster grey satin or trim black, but it looked good on Fath's pretty models.

Fath unveiled his "S-line" in opposition to the flat-busted "H-line" which Christian Dior played Thursday in hopes of banishing the bust and other curves this season. The "H-line" is long, slim, flat and tapered with no cinched-in waist. Fath's "S-line" follows the curves where nature put them.

highway driving. But most of it results from poor attitude, a willingness to violate the laws, and discourtesy.

Drivers Speed for Thrills

"Most of the speeding is done by individuals not so much concerned about getting to their destinations on schedule as they are with the thrill that great speed gives them.

"Speed is the No. 1 enemy of our safety program. The thing that brings this to mind is that the number of accidents is down from last year.

"This definitely indicates that those accidents which do occur are preceded by such speed that fatalities are almost sure to result."

Ancient Dutch Mill Burns

ROTTERDAM'S FAMOUS DUTCH MILL turned "Dutch oven" early this week. The "Mill De Noord," long a tourist attraction in the Dutch metropolis, burned to the ground. This landmark, the oldest working windmill in Rotterdam, was built in 1377. It escaped unscathed during German bombings in 1940 which destroyed surrounding buildings.

Centennial Dancers To Perform Here

Bearded and costumed square dancers from North English will add an oldtime flavor to Iowa City's weekly night of square dancing at the municipal airport Tuesday.

The event is scheduled to start at 8 p.m. (CDT) on the concrete apron just west of the terminal building. From 25 to 50 couples who have organized for the North English centennial celebration this summer are expected to join square dance enthusiasts from Iowa City and nearby areas.

Attendance at the airport sessions this summer has averaged about 100 dancers per night, said William Coen, Iowa City post office clerk, who directs the adult square dancing program for the Iowa City Playgrounds and Recreation commission. The commission sponsors year-around square dances on Tuesday evenings.

"Everyone is invited — as either a dancer or a spectator," Coen said Friday. He added that several dances during the evening would be scheduled for youngsters.

Music for the square dancing is provided by phonograph record. Coen said that he often calls the dances but that several Iowa City and North English callers will probably be present Tuesday.

William L. Tuttle Last Rites Today; Burial at Marengo

Funeral services will be held today at 3:30 (CDT) in the Oat-hout funeral chapel for William L. Tuttle, 84, former Iowa City resident and retired SUI maintenance employee.

Mr. Tuttle died Thursday evening — just three days after his 84th birthday — of a cerebral hemorrhage. He was at Mercy hospital.

The Rev. Mr. P. Hewison Pollock, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will officiate at this afternoon's service. Burial will be in the IOOF cemetery at Marengo, with masonic services at the graveside.

Mr. Tuttle had lived in Marengo with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Tuttle, since 1948. In that year he retired as foreman of the carpenter shop in the SUI building and grounds department. He had worked for the university since coming to Iowa City in 1920.

Mr. Tuttle is survived by his son, Mr. Tuttle's wife died in 1926. Three brothers and three sisters also preceded him in death.

SUI Theatre's Guest Director Says 'I'm Actor Who Directs'

"My favorite show is the one I'm working on," said Henderson Forsythe, summer guest director of the SUI dramatic arts department.

That means Christopher Fry's "The Lady's Not For Burning," opening Tuesday at the University theatre, is his current favorite.

Forsythe is no stranger to the theater. During the winter months he is associate director of the Playhouse in Erie, Pa. He also acted and directed in the 1950 Broadway production "The Cellar and the Well." The play ran at the former Guild Theater on New York's 52d street.

Actor Who Directs
"The Erie Playhouse is not a school," Forsythe said as he fingered the bowl of his pipe. "It is a working theater. And I'm an actor who directs, not a director who acts."

Forsythe's favorite roles are varied, but he did mention Petruchio, George Apley, and David Slater, the man upstairs in "The Moon Is Blue."

Compared to Shakespeare "The Lady's Not For Burning," is a comedy in blank verse by Christopher Fry, who has been compared to Shakespeare by some critics.

Forsythe thoughtfully puffed his pipe as he said: "As far as painting word pictures and utilizing the beauty of the language Fry seems to emulate Shakespeare, consciously or unconsciously."

The cast of the comedy has met the challenge of Fry's polysyllabic words. Before rehearsal few people in the cast knew that "abaction" was another way of saying cattle rustling, or that "amphigourous" referred to nonsense verse. And it wasn't
