Wasn't Home for Lunch

Brooklyn 11-Year-Old Looks Over Liner, Ends Up Across Atlantic

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP)—"Don't go far and be back in good time for lunch," called out Eugene Hart's grandmother as he left home in Brooklyn last Friday morning. He had 17 cents in his pocket.

Eugene, who is 11, promised he would and—"cross my heart"—he meant it.

Wednesday night Eugene wound up in this English port across the Atlantic in the liner United States. Eugene said when he set out he first intended to go to a movie.

"I had only 17 cents and thought it would be a good place to spend the morning," he said. "I then saw in the paper where the United States was in port so I thought I would go and have a look."

"I spent 15 cents for the subway to Times Square and walked to Pier 86."

The big liner was there, all right. So Eugene just walked aboard to look around.

"I saw a man in uniform," he said, "but he didn't say anything to me. I was still looking around for a couple of hours when I found the ship out at sea."

Eugene said he wasn't exactly scared but "I didn't know who to tell or whether I should tell at all."

Eugene just kept walking around the deck until boat drill that afternoon. A stewardess noticed he didn't have a lifebelt on—and then the story of his adventure came out.

Eugene was confined most of the time to the hospital on the voyage over. But he did get to see the captain. He said the captain "told me in a deep voice not to go ashore at Cherbourg or Southampton as I had given them a lot of bother already."

Eugene is being kept under guard while the liner is in port and then going back. He's due in New York Sept. 14—the day before school opens.

Eugene said he had received a telegram from his mother, a telephone operator in Brooklyn.

"Mom told me she'll be waiting at the pier," he explained anxiously. "I guess I'm going to get into trouble."

2 U.S. Doctors Say Chance Good For Polio Vaccine

ROME (AP)—Two American leaders in the war on polio reported Wednesday prospects are good for a vaccine that eventually may give long protection against the disease.

Dr. Jonas E. Salk, whose vaccine already has been given to 425,000 American school children in a massive field trial, said long-term immunity may soon be possible with a few injections.

Another, Dr. Albert B. Sabin, said some possibly remote day—but not yet—a doctor may give a baby a few drops of vaccine and thereby immunize him for life.

Salk, 39-year-old bacteriologist of the University of Pittsburgh, said recent evidence points toward the possibility that a person may be protected against polio by only two injections, instead of the three which American children received last spring.

At that time the children got three shots in five weeks. Since then, Salk said, it has been learned that shots more widely spaced promote more antibodies—the virus-fighting particles in the human blood stream which vaccines create. He said the proper interval now seems to be from six weeks to seven months.

Fraternity Rushing Begins Today For 300 Men Students

More than 600 new students at SUI will take part in fraternity and sorority "rush week" activities which begin today for men and Sunday for women.

Some 300 new men students are expected to attend the activities, according to fraternity adviser Paul L. Griffith, and approximately 350 new women students will take part in sorority rushing, according to Helen Reich, sorority adviser.

"Rush week" activities for men will begin with registration today and extend through Monday evening, which will be "preference night" in the 19 social fraternity houses. Bids will be extended to the prospective fraternity members Tuesday, with pledging scheduled for Tuesday evening.

Activities for prospective sorority members will start with open houses in the 13 social sororities Sunday. The rushes will tour the houses and attend programs presented by the various groups during the following week, with pledging scheduled for Thursday evening, Sept. 16.

All of the new students will also take part in university orientation week activities beginning Wednesday, Sept. 15.

Pravda Accuses Attlee Of Slandering Russia

MOSCOW (Thursday) (AP)—Pravda, in a blistering attack, Thursday accused Britain's former Prime Minister Clement Attlee of slandering the Soviet Union and Communist China immediately after enjoying their hospitality.

The Communist party paper said the British Labor party leader is a tool of reactionary circles in the United States and Britain.

Moreover, it added, he is no friend of the Soviet Union and Communist China.

The attack was a sharp reaction against statements Attlee made in Hong Kong after completing a Labor party group tour of the Soviet Union and Red China.

Pravda said Attlee at a Hong Kong news conference showed he was 100 per cent behind U. S. policy and the Western defense system.

Pravda contended the alleged slander was done in order to curry favor with America.

It reviewed Attlee's description of a conversation with Chairman Mao Tze-tung at Peiping. Pravda quoted Mao as saying to Attlee: "An important condition for maintaining peace is to stop the armament of West Germany and Japan and withdraw American forces from Formosa." Hong Kong dispatches had reported Mao sought to persuade Attlee to impress Red China's views in these respects upon the American government.

Pravda went on: "Attlee did not dare to contradict these facts—Mao's views of peace requisites. . . . Instead the head of the Labor delegation applied a much-used American propaganda trick.

"He clumsily tried to change the conversation to Soviet armament.

Cited Soviet Armament This was a reference to Attlee's remark in Hong Kong that he had told Mao Russia also might be prevailed upon to disarm.

"He asked Mao to tell the Soviet government that the Soviet Union should one-sidedly start disarming.

"Thereby Attlee made it clear that the leader of the British Labor party is ready to support the American policy of reviving German and Japanese militarism. . . ."

Pravda seemed shocked that Attlee could have any doubts of the peaceful intentions of the Soviet Union.

"In Moscow he had the chance to see what the Soviet people are doing, thinking, and their

MANILA (Thursday) (AP)—Eight nations Wednesday signed a security pact which flashes a stop light against Communist aggression in Asia.

Temporarily named the Southeast Asia Collective Security Defense treaty, it is aimed at repelling any aggression against the soil of the United States, Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, Pakistan and The Philippines.

While they are not signatories, the treaty extends its protection to the Indochina states of Laos, Cambodia and South Viet Nam. These three, like Thailand, fear they may be the next targets of aggression.

Chinese Nationalists Excluded Excluded are Nationalist Formosa and South Korea—the two nations with the largest anti-Communist armies in Asia—as well as Japan.

Prime Minister Pyun Yung Tai of South Korea immediately showed his displeasure. He belittled the effects of the treaty and told a news conference in Seoul that South Korea was "the only true ally of the United States."

Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki of Japan told the diet, however, he thought Japan "should back it (the treaty) up, at least spiritually."

There was no official comment from Nationalist China, which was preparing for a visit from U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. Dulles was hurrying to Formosa for a conference with Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek.

Falls Short for Some The treaty falls short of the demands of such nations as The Philippines that any attack on any member nation would automatically bring all other members to the rescue. It provides instead that each member in event of aggression will "act to meet the common danger in accordance with its constitutional processes."

In other words, the U. S. could not go to war under the treaty until war had been declared constitutionally by congress.

A highly placed U. S. state department source said the Manila conference accomplished five things which should serve as a warning to the Communists:

1. The U. S., Britain and France sat down together again and came to quick agreement—the conference opened only Monday—on mutual problems in the Pacific.

2. The support Britain and France gave the pact should dis-

Recent Advances In Fight Against Lung Cancer Told

CHICAGO (AP)—Evidence that lung cancer could be detected and removed surgically several years before symptoms appear was reported Wednesday by a Minnesota radiologist.

Dr. Leo G. Rigler, chief of the Department of Radiology at the University of Minnesota School of Medicine, said this very early stage of cancer leaves abnormal tell-tale shadows on an X-ray plate. The shadows are present in an area where cancer later develops.

He told the U. S. and Canadian sections of the International College of Surgeons that these shadows have been found on X-ray pictures taken as early as nine years before cancer was diagnosed in the patient.

Dr. Rigler said that whenever old films have been found in a lung cancer case, these shadows have been observed in nearly every instance.

U.S. Jets Help in Heaviest Attack on Red China Coast

TAIPEH, Formosa (Thursday) (AP)—Nationalist planes and warships in the heaviest attack of the week on the Red China coast Wednesday silenced Communist guns which had been pounding strategic Quemoy island, the defense ministry said.

Thunderjets furnished by the United States went into combat for the first time.

Tension mounted in the Far East as the pounding of Communist Amoy, and its satellite bases on nearby islands, roared into the third straight day. Amoy is but five miles from Quemoy, which lies 120 miles across Formosa straight from Formosa.

Hong Kong, the nervous British colony on Red China's doorstep, feared the U. S. 7th fleet would be involved. All U. S. fighting ships in Hong Kong harbor had disappeared.

British Warn Ships British owners warned their ships to stay out of the area after a freighter was machine gunned in Amoy harbor Tuesday and asked for royal navy protection.

One Taipei newspaper said the Nationalists were raising the question of whether to call off the offensive-defensive operations in this "vest pocket war" or make a possible landing on Amoy.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is due in from Manila today for a short visit and a talk with President Chiang Kai-shek. Chiang is expected to review the Quemoy situation and bring up a possible mutual defense pact with the United States.

Attacks Heaviest Yet A defense ministry communiqué described the air and sea blows Wednesday as the heaviest yet against mainland and island points from which the Reds have been shelling Quemoy.

The 30,000-man garrison on Quemoy watched the navy and air force work over the positions which had been harassing them since the Communists opened up last Friday with a heavy barrage on the island's defenses.

The bus had been in operation only five days.

The pupils were examined for injuries and treated at the West Branch high school and Herbert Hoover school there, by Dr. Lois Eichelberry.

Another bus was dispatched to bring them to the schools. A number of the pupils returned home with their parents, who had been notified following the mishap.

One lad, it was reported, was taken by his parents for treatment for shock.

Partly cloudy, with scattered showers and thunderstorms today, clearing tonight. Highs today: 74 to 80. Partly cloudy and a little cooler Friday.

Senate passage seemed certain as enough senators signed the resolution containing the amendment to assure its passage in the upper house. It would then be submitted to the people.

White.

Peress is the New York dentist who was given an honorable discharge despite his refusal to answer loyalty questions and despite McCarthy's demand that he be court-martialed. McCarthy renewed Wednesday a charge that Peress is "a Fifth Amendment Communist" and that the army—at that time, anyway—was "coddling" Communists.

Zwicker was Peress' commanding officer at the time of the discharge and McCarthy called him before the subcommittee for questioning. Zwicker contended executive orders prevented him from giving details, and the row with McCarthy followed.

Laboriously going over the transcript of the Feb. 18 hearing, often line by line, McCarthy contended Zwicker changed his story from time to time and said he felt fully justified in "vigorously" cross-examining the witness to get at the truth.

Much of the conflict between McCarthy and Zwicker hinged on a long question which the senator put to the general, and which Zwicker asked several times to have repeated.

The question: "Let us assume that John Jones is a major in the United States army. Let us assume that there is sworn testimony to the effect that he is part of the Communist conspiracy, has attended Communist leadership schools. Let us assume that Maj. John Jones is under oath before a committee and says, 'I cannot tell you the truth about these charges because, if I did, I fear that might tend to incriminate me.' Then let us say that Gen. Smith was responsible for this man receiving an honorable discharge, knowing these facts. Do you think that Gen. Smith should be removed from the military, or do you think he should be kept on it?"

Zwicker's answer at the time was: "He should by all means be kept if he were acting under competent orders to separate that man." McCarthy said he was talking about the man who originated the order. Zwicker asked to hear the question again and the senator told him: "Anyone with the brains of a 5-year-old child can understand that question."

Zwicker declined comment on McCarthy's testimony. He told reporters he would be available for testimony if he should be called—but there was no indication he would be—but would not ask to be heard.

A Condensation of Late Developments

Private School Backer Leads in Georgia

ATLANTA (AP)—A south Georgian who favors Gov. Herman Talmadge's plan for private schools to maintain racial segregation appeared to be sweeping to victory Wednesday night in a nine-candidate race for Georgia's governorship. With 577 of the state's 1,810 precincts reported, Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin had 71,150 votes in 117 of the 159 counties. More important in this Democratic primary, he was ahead in counties having 222 unit votes. M. E. Thompson of Valdosta, who had counted heavily on anti-Talmadge sentiment, was running second with 49,239 votes but was ahead in only enough counties to claim 54 unit votes.

Iowa Packing House Workers Stage Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Walkouts and suspensions forced the virtual cessation of operations at three Iowa and one Omaha packing house Wednesday. Swift and Co. or its subsidiaries were involved in all except one dispute. Several thousand CIO United Packinghouse Workers union members were effected at Swift & Co. plants in Sioux City and Omaha; the Iowa Packing Co., a Swift subsidiary in Des Moines; and Jacob E. Decker of Mason City, a division of Armour & Co.

25 Escape Injury in Philly Plane Crash

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A TWA airliner struck a low fence approaching International airport for a landing Wednesday and skidded to a spectacular stop as the nose wheel collapsed. The airline said none of the 22 passengers and crew of three aboard the twin-engine Martin 202 was injured. The plane came to a stop 100 yards down the runway, tilted at a 40-degree angle with its nose against the ground. TWA said the plane was bound from New York to Columbus, Ohio, with an additional stop scheduled at Pittsburgh.

Ives Recommended For Dewey's Post

NEW YORK (AP)—New York's Republican executive committee Wednesday unanimously recommended Sen. Irving M. Ives as the GOP candidate for governor, an action that could assure his nomination.

Ives, however, said he is trying to persuade Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to run again for a fourth term.

"I am doing my utmost to persuade him to reconsider," the 58-year-old senator said Wednesday.

A Dewey spokesman said the governor has urged Ives to take the nomination.

Ives told a reporter he had not reached a decision, adding: "I've got to think about it tonight. I wanted to talk to the governor again."

Dewey announced Tuesday night that he would not seek reelection this fall.

McCarthy Calls Zwicker Unfit To Wear Uniform

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) opened his defense against censure charges Wednesday by blasting Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker as an arrogant, evasive and untruthful witness on army handling of suspected Communists.

Zwicker, wearing his World War II decorations, sat on the sidelines and flushed angrily as McCarthy—countering charges he abused the general in a closed hearing last Feb. 18—unleashed a searing new attack.

The Wisconsin senator said he never intended to question Zwicker's loyalty, but he repeated one of his challenged statements about the former Camp Kilmer, N.J., commander—a declaration that Zwicker is not fit to wear the uniform of an American general.

McCarthy Raises Voice "I said that then, I say it now and I'll say it again!" McCarthy cried out, his voice rising from the subdued monotone in which he gave most of his testimony.

McCarthy took the stand as the third and probably final witness in his effort to refute five groups of charges brought against him by three fellow senators—charges aimed at getting a vote of censure from the entire senate.

Earlier his first witness, Maj. Gen. Kirke B. Lawton, refused to give the testimony McCarthy called for, citing a secrecy directive handed down by President Eisenhower May 17 during the McCarthy-army hearings.

Accusations Against Pentagon The McCarthy side promptly accused the Pentagon of "gagging" Lawton, and the six-member special committee went into closed session to consider whether the general should be ordered to testify. No decision was reached immediately, however, and Chairman Arthur Watkins

(R-Utah) announced: "The matter will not be pressed at the moment."

McCarthy's other witness, John J. Harding Jr., of New York, testified he heard Zwicker mutter "you s.o.b." with reference to McCarthy a few hours before Zwicker and McCarthy came to grips at a closed session of the McCarthy investigating subcommittee in New York.

Row Over Peress Case McCarthy, in turn, said that was exactly the impression Zwicker gave him when he questioned the general about the now-famous case of Maj. Irving Peress. He said Zwicker took "the attitude that the chairman—McCarthy—was an s.o.b. and that he wouldn't answer unless he had to."

Peress is the New York dentist who was given an honorable discharge despite his refusal to answer loyalty questions and despite McCarthy's demand that he be court-martialed. McCarthy renewed Wednesday a charge that Peress is "a Fifth Amendment Communist" and that the army—at that time, anyway—was "coddling" Communists.

Zwicker was Peress' commanding officer at the time of the discharge and McCarthy called him before the subcommittee for questioning. Zwicker contended executive orders prevented him from giving details, and the row with McCarthy followed.

Laboriously going over the transcript of the Feb. 18 hearing, often line by line, McCarthy contended Zwicker changed his story from time to time and said he felt fully justified in "vigorously" cross-examining the witness to get at the truth.

Much of the conflict between McCarthy and Zwicker hinged on a long question which the senator put to the general, and which Zwicker asked several times to have repeated.

The question: "Let us assume that John Jones is a major in the United States army. Let us assume that there is sworn testimony to the effect that he is part of the Communist conspiracy, has attended Communist leadership schools. Let us assume that Maj. John Jones is under oath before a committee and says, 'I cannot tell you the truth about these charges because, if I did, I fear that might tend to incriminate me.' Then let us say that Gen. Smith was responsible for this man receiving an honorable discharge, knowing these facts. Do you think that Gen. Smith should be removed from the military, or do you think he should be kept on it?"

Zwicker's answer at the time was: "He should by all means be kept if he were acting under competent orders to separate that man." McCarthy said he was talking about the man who originated the order. Zwicker asked to hear the question again and the senator told him: "Anyone with the brains of a 5-year-old child can understand that question."

Zwicker declined comment on McCarthy's testimony. He told reporters he would be available for testimony if he should be called—but there was no indication he would be—but would not ask to be heard.

SEN. JOSEPH MCCARTHY (R-Wis.) sits in the witness chair Wednesday during a recess in hearings on censure charges against him. Edward Bennett Williams, McCarthy's attorney, sits beside him. In his testimony McCarthy said he believed that Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker was not fit to wear the uniform of a general in the army.

Congressman McCarthy Finds People Mistake Him for Joe

By DAVID A. HELLER
Central Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you are a newspaper reader, a radio listener or a television viewer you may have noticed from reading your newspaper, there's a member of the United States senate named Joseph McCarthy.

As you may not know, there's a member of the United States house of representatives who's also named McCarthy—Eugene, that is.

Rep. McCarthy has all the woes that ordinarily fall to the lot of a member of congress plus an extra, king-sized headache. He keeps getting hissed by Senator Joe's enemies and cheered (mistakenly) by Senator Joe's friends.

Since few are neutral about the junior senator from Wisconsin, this puts Congressman Gene in the way of getting quite some extra lumps, particularly because people who take pen in hand to write their congressmen are far more likely to be critical than otherwise.

Minnesota Representative
Congress' other McCarthy represents Minnesota's fourth district, hailing from Watkins, Minn. The mistaken identity problem that has fallen his lot makes him unhappy no end, he says, because he's a liberal Democrat while Joe's a conservative Republican. On just about every issue facing congress, you will find them on opposite sides of the fence.

The confusion is especially annoying to Congressman McCarthy because he's not in the camp of admirers of Sen. McCarthy. He takes little pains to conceal the fact that he regards the Wisconsin lawmaker as a demagogue and he once put out a special notice to the newspapers asking them to distinguish between him and Senator Joe.

Not Interested in Schine
That helped the mistaken identity situation a lot, Congressman Gene says, but he still gets hot calls and letters each week asking why he's being investigated or why he wants to get Pvt. G. David Schine a commission in the army. He has never been investigated, he says, and he is not the least bit interested whether Private Schine acquires a set of gold shoulder bars or not.

Congressman Gene often gets invitations to address Republican gatherings and once he got some complimentary tickets to

Rep. Gene McCarthy
Hissed by Joe's Enemies

of lady correspondents as the handsome man on Capitol Hill. His primary interest, legislatively speaking, has been in improving the federal government service. He has served on the civil service committee and is currently a member of the house banking and currency committee.

How does he believe the forthcoming investigation of his namesake in the upper house will turn out?

"I don't believe that anything can or will be done about Sen. McCarthy," he says. "After all, he's been elected by the voters of his state and there's not much you can do about the actions of a senator."

Immigrant Wills $69,000 to U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—Julius Lehmann came to this country from Germany 50 years ago.

He became a prosperous importer of rubber shoes. In 1951 his wife died. And on June 20 of this year, Lehmann's long life came to an end. He was 92.

In his will, probated Wednesday, he left all but $1,000 of his $70,000 estate "to the government of the United States of America to which my wife and I are so much indebted for the blessings we have enjoyed as citizens of this country."

attend the President's superb birthday party in Hershey, Pa. Once the Minnesota McCarthy's secretary accepted an invitation to a dinner with the understanding that it was to be in his honor. Fortunately, a very embarrassing time on the part of all concerned was avoided when further investigation revealed that the intended honoree was Wisconsin's McCarthy.

Gets GOP Invitation
Then there was the case of the Washington high society hostess whose politics are definitely on the Republican side. She bombarded Democratic Congressman McCarthy with invitations to fancy shindigs under the impression that he was Sen. McCarthy.

Congressman McCarthy, 39, is seeking his fourth term in the house this autumn. A serious, studious man, he was a professor at St. Thomas college in St. Paul, Minn., when he was elected to congress in 1948.

6 Fall Postgrad Medical Courses Scheduled at SUI

SUI's college of medicine has scheduled six postgraduate courses for the late summer and fall.

The departments of surgery and orthopedic surgery will conduct a conference on trauma and fractures Sept. 10 and 11. A pediatrics course will be presented by the department of pediatrics at SUI and the Iowa State Pediatric society Sept. 22 and 23.

On Sept. 24 and 25, an international symposium on problems of physiology and pathology of the eye will be held in the department of ophthalmology. Ophthalmologists from Austria, Sweden, England, Holland, Germany, Switzerland and Italy will join members of the SUI ophthalmology staff and physicians from other parts of the United States in presenting the symposium.

A course entitled "Remedial Defects of Infancy and Childhood" will be sponsored Oct. 1 and 2 by the departments of surgery, orthopedics, urology, otolaryngology and pediatrics. On Oct. 29 and 30, a postgraduate course in obstetrics and gynecology will be held in conjunction with the Iowa Obstetrical and gynecological society meeting.

A postgraduate session in dermatology and syphilology is scheduled for Nov. 12.

University To Train Advisers, Proctors

Some 60 student advisers and proctors will meet this weekend at SUI to take part in a special training course to qualify them to guide their fellow dormitory students during the school year.

Women advisers are scheduled to arrive on the campus Friday, and the men on Sunday.

One of the prime objectives of the advisers and proctors is to help the student make a good adjustment to college life, says M. L. Huit, counselor for men at SUI. During the course various student personnel services on campus will be pointed out and explained to the advisers and proctors. They will also be instructed in the methods of record keeping, and the university's academic program will be explained.

Huit and Helen E. Focht, counselor for women, are the SUI staff members in charge of the adviser and proctor's program.

Interpreting the News

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

After taking a glance at New York Governor Thomas E. Dewey's statement that he will not be a candidate for public office "this fall," one is entitled to a quick guess that his return to private life may be very brief.

Some political observers were thinking he had left the door open for another presidential bid if Eisenhower should not seek renomination in 1956. Others referred to the possibility he might want to go to the senate then if Eisenhower does run, or that he might be appointed to the cabinet.

There are grounds however, for discounting the idea that he will do any more running for office. The prospect that he will go to Washington seems strong.

Dewey Likes Limelight
He likes the limelight, and he believes in unselfish public service.

Ever since Dewey went to the Far East several years ago he has been mentioned as a potential secretary of state, and that speculation has been revived in Washington. But it, too, is being discounted. The impression is that President Eisenhower is thoroughly sold on John Foster Dulles, and that Dulles is anxious to keep his job.

On the other hand, there were reports at the time of his appointment that Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson had not promised Eisenhower more than two of his big earning-power years and that Dewey had been told he could have the job at the end of his term as governor. You seldom get any advance confirmation of this type of political report.

Natural for Attorney General
There's another job in the cabinet for which Dewey would seem a "natural." That is as attorney general.

In his "farewell" speech Tuesday night the governor referred fondly to his days as district attorney in New York, which brought him the reputation which finally produced three terms as governor.

Ft. Madison Prisoners Back Karston's Appeal

FT. MADISON (AP)—A campaign is under way among inmates of the Ft. Madison State Penitentiary to raise funds to finance the appeal by William Karston, 29, from his sentence to be hanged at the prison.

Warden Percy Lainson said at Council Bluffs: "The boys don't want any more hangings in this penitentiary."

He was at Council Bluffs to participate Thursday in welcoming Mrs. Lainson home from Washington, where she was elected national president of the American Legion Auxiliary last week. The Lainsons formerly lived in Council Bluffs.

Lainson said he gave permission to a delegation of prisoners to conduct the campaign because "I agreed with them. There simply is no humane way to kill a man."

Karston was sentenced at Bloomfield to be hanged Aug. 15, 1955. He had pleaded guilty to the $81 robbery-slaying of Wendell Jones, 56, Pulaski farmer, last July 25. Karston later gave notice of an appeal to the Iowa supreme court.

Lainson said older life-term prisoners began the campaign, and that "probably 60 per cent of the prison population will donate to it." He added that the lifers expect to raise at least $500.

Young Women Tell Age More Than Men

Contrary to a popular idea, women do tell their ages, and more readily than men—in a certain age group, according to a study made by Prof. Manfred H. Kuhn of the department of sociology and anthropology at SUI.

This was one of a number of findings reported by Kuhn at a meeting of the American Sociological society at the University of Illinois, Urbana. The SUI professor spoke at a session of the Social Psychology section Wednesday afternoon.

Women "between the" ages of 18 and 22 are more apt to think of themselves in terms of age—and to mention their age—than are men, Kuhn said his study revealed. The study did not cover middle-aged men or women, but included approximately 1,175 individuals of both sexes between the ages of 7 and 30.

Being a woman seems more important to women than being a man is to men, the study indicated. And women feel that relatives are of greater importance in defining their place in society.

Women of college age were found less likely to think of themselves in terms of race than were men the same age, perhaps indicating a greater racial tolerance on the part of women. Kuhn emphasized, however, that further study needs to be done before a conclusion can be reached on this point.

From the time you are 7 until you are 30, no age will seem more important to you than being 13, Kuhn's study found. Apparently entering the teens is a real milestone to most youngsters, even more important than reaching 21.

Research for the study was done on 25 groups of students from the second grade through professional college classes and also included groups of adults beyond college age.

The study is part of long-time research by Kuhn on attitudes toward self. A report on one phase of his research was published Aug. 20 as a chapter in the book "Aspects of Culture and Personality," edited by Francis T. K. Shu and published by Abelard-Shuman, New York.

Kuhn was appointed recently a member of the committee on research of the American Sociological society.

HOWS a fellow going to study when he can hardly see the book? If he's squinting to dodge shadows, squinting to avoid glare, homework's sure to be a headache!

A good table lamp, well-placed, can be a real aid to seeing, posture, grades and dispositions.

In selecting a lamp for the study table, look for a model with a Certified tag, or at least a good reflector bowl and 50-150 watt bulb. Shade should be light-colored, translucent, with the bottom edge about 15 inches from top of the desk or table.

Patient, 81, Dies After Fall From SUI Hospitals Window

Ralph R. Pronk, 81, Cedar Falls, died Tuesday at University hospitals from skull, neck and chest injuries resulting from a fall from a fourth floor hospital window. The death was ruled accidental by County Coroner George D. Callahan.

Nov. 13, 1872, he is survived by his daughter, and a nephew, Ralph H. Pronk, Waterloo. Services will be held at 9:30 a.m. today at the Western Old People's home. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery, Cedar Falls. Pronk's body was taken to the Oathout funeral home.

Railway Engineer To Study at SUI On FRP Fellowship

Thurman M. Sanders, railway locomotive engineer of Topeka, Kan., is one of three railroad workers selected as winners of the second annual fellowship awards given by the Federation for Railway Progress. Sanders, 27, will use the $1,000 award to study industrial psychology at SUI.

The FRP fellowship program was established to give potential rail executives the opportunity to study modern business and industrial methods at accredited universities. In presenting the awards, Thomas J. Deegan Jr., chairman of the federation, pointed out that the organization has long been concerned by the lack of interest college graduates take in railroading as a career.

Unemployment Dip Noted in August; Factory Jobs Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment declined slightly to 3,245,000 in August while slowly rising factory payrolls brought total employment up to 62,276,000, the commerce and labor departments reported Wednesday night.

Both changes — a dip of 101,000 in unemployment and a gain of 128,000 in jobholders — were seasonal, and both were smaller than normal.

The census bureau, issuing its findings jointly with the bureau of labor statistics, described the employment picture as "stable," with substantial gains recorded in textiles, apparel and other soft goods manufacturing lines.

To qualify for a fellowship, an applicant must have been employed by a Class I railroad for at least two years, be under 35 years of age, and be able to meet the admission requirements for the university he chooses.

The new unemployment figure, only slightly changed from the past three months, represented about 5 per cent of the entire labor force of 65,522,000. It was 2 1/2 times as high as in August of 1953, when the postwar low of unemployment was recorded at 1,240,000.

Sanders obtained a B.A. degree in psychology at Washburn university, Topeka, while working for the railroad at night.

The number of workers on non-farm payrolls — not counting the self-employed and domestics — increased by 180,000 to an estimated 48 million.

During the next 12 hours, Norton said, the storm may continue its curve to a northeasterly course that would carry it away from the mainland and out over open Atlantic waters.

Agricultural employment, at 6,900,000 in August, was 600,000 below the previous month. This is about an average drop for this time of year.

Nassau, the British colonial capital of 20,000 population which had boarded up in full expectation of getting the hurricane's highest winds, escaped with a 30-mile breeze as the storm turned.

New Manager Named At Hotel Jefferson

Emil H. Buechler will be the new manager of the Hotel Jefferson, succeeding Watson M. McKinley, who had managed the hotel since October, 1953.

Buechler has been assistant manager and manager of the Russell-Lamson hotel, which belongs to the same chain, in Waterloo for the last year and a half.

Norton emphasized, however, that hurricane movements are more difficult to determine when they are moving slowly.

McKinley will remain at the hotel until Oct. 1.

CATHOLICS CRUSHED

CHICAGO (AP) — An undetermined number of persons were injured in a crush at a gate at Soldier's field, where thousands of Roman Catholics gathered Wednesday night to pay tribute to the Virgin Mary.

Police Investigate Case of Vandalism

Detective Harland Sprinkle said Wednesday afternoon he is continuing an investigation into an act of vandalism — the throwing of red, brown, peach and gray paint on the steps and porch of the Pi Beta Phi sorority house. The vandalism is believed to have been committed late Monday night or early Tuesday morning.

Damage to the sorority's property and to a lamp post in front of the house affected by the paint will probably run into several hundred dollars, Sprinkle said.

Stevenson Says Demos Will 'Place Country Above Party'

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Adlai Stevenson said Wednesday night Democrats "will place country above party, and decency above ambition" by discussing "the real issues" in the November election.

Stevenson's blunt assertion, in an address prepared for a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner formally opening the Pennsylvania Democratic election campaign, centered around this statement:

"We face the obligation to lift this campaign a considerable notch above the level of slander and ugly, bitter, name-calling to which our political dialogue has sunk in recent months."

More than 2,500 tickets were sold for the dinner, forcing the Democratic sponsors to erect a tent to handle the overflow crowd that couldn't get into the big auditorium where Stevenson spoke.

Stevenson said it is the function of the Democratic party "to bring forth the real issues."

Send Box Tops

"There will be no argument this fall about the virtues of peace and prosperity — the latest Republican slogan," Stevenson declared.

"I sympathize with the administration's difficulty in providing us with a coherent, consistent and positive foreign policy. Of course, such a policy isn't possible as long as an irreconcilable disunity exists within the Republican party."

Dittmer, Former Iowa Star, Earns Respect of NL Hurlers

By CLEON WALFOORT Milwaukee Journal Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — National league pitchers are rapidly revising their book on Jack Dittmer, the Elkader, Iowa, second baseman whose blazing bat has played a leading role in a nine game winning streak that has carried the Milwaukee Braves into second place in the pennant race.

He has hit five homers, two against Brooklyn and three against Cincinnati.

That was just the start. During the Braves' nine-game winning streak, Dittmer has hammered out 19 hits in 40 times at bat. That blistering 475 pace has raised his season average to .245.

Jack Dittmer Playing New Role

Dittmer, a .266 hitter despite a fast finish a year ago, spent the season on the bench as Danny O'Connell, purchased from Pittsburgh for $200,000 and six players, took over second base. The former Iowa athlete was a steady fielder and one of the better pivot men in the league on the double play. But his hitting, especially against left handers, left something to be desired — by a team with pennant aspirations.

Looked Silly "Sure," said National league pitchers, "sure, he'll hit a fast ball, if anyone is foolish enough to give him one. But curves and soft stuff make him look silly."

Dittmer was hitting a meager .167 when Eddie Mathews was hit on the left hand by a pitched ball by Carl Erskine of the Dodgers. O'Connell shifted to third to replace Mathews and Dittmer went to second. Before the game was over, Jack hit a slow ball into the stands for a home run — and Erskine has one of the best changeups in the business.

He has hit five homers, two against Brooklyn and three against Cincinnati.

That was just the start. During the Braves' nine-game winning streak, Dittmer has hammered out 19 hits in 40 times at bat. That blistering 475 pace has raised his season average to .245.

Dittmer's late season spurge poses an interesting problem for the Milwaukee club. The Braves can hardly keep either Dittmer or O'Connell on the bench in their plans for next season, which they hope will find them going all the way to the pennant.

"I don't want to come back and sit on the bench again," says the versatile and ambitious young Iowan. "I was as good a second baseman as there was in the league last season and if I was good enough to play on a second place club, I should be good enough to play regularly."

A Risky Trade Nobody expects Dittmer to continue hitting at a 400 clip, but he could hit a full 125 points under that figure and still be risky trade material. After the way this disposition of pitcher Johnny Antonelli to the Giants backfired, the Braves are going to be extra careful about dealing off any more potential stars.

The answer may be forthcoming in the next two weeks as the Braves carry their pennant bid into the home stretch. If Jack continues to hit the long ball and also slash singles to all fields, in addition to fielding beyond reproach and at times well beyond the call of ordinary duty, the club is going to have to make a difficult decision regarding the 26-year-old infielder.

Texas A&M Loses 6th Squad Member

JUNCTION, Tex. (AP) — Fred Broussard, Texas A & M's top football center, quit the squad Tuesday night — the sixth member to leave within the past week.

Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant said Broussard, a junior who lettered last year, quit of his own accord because he thought he wasn't helping the team.

When five members of the squad, including two lettermen quit last Friday, it was described as a natural development.

"We have boys quitting all the time," said Jones Ramsey, college sports publicity director.

Bill Reichow Breaks Shoulder; Moran Hurt

2 Converted Quarterbacks Injured in Front Line Action

The Iowa Hawkeyes received their first major "low blow" Wednesday when Bill Reichow, a first-string tackle from Decorah, suffered a fractured shoulder bone in the closing minutes of a light scrimmage during the morning drill.

He was taken to University hospitals where an x-ray disclosed there was a break in his left shoulder bone.

The mishap occurred as Reichow was throwing a block into an opposing lineman. Doctors said he will be out of action for three or four weeks. He definitely will miss Iowa's opener with Big Ten and Rose Bowl champion Michigan State here Sept. 25.

Should Heal Fast
"The doctors told me," Reichow said, "that if a football player is going to get injured, this is the best place to do it (referring to the shoulder bone). It heals fast. And in my case," he went on, "with a clean break, it won't take too long for it to heal."

This is Reichow's second case of "bad luck" since he joined the Iowa squad. He injured his knee in spring drills and later had an operation which was successful. Ex-quarterback Terry Moran was also sitting on the sidelines Wednesday with a torn cartilage in his knee. He had been complaining of a sore knee for the last two days and Wednesday had an X-ray taken which revealed the torn cartilage. It's not known how long he'll be out of the lineup.

Broeder's Back Improving
Binkey Broeder was still slowed by his pulled back muscle Wednesday and saw little action. He's expected to be back in top shape today.

Cleo Murphy was in street clothes Wednesday as he missed his second day of practice because of a severe charley horse. It's not known how long he'll be out.

Eddie Vincent was back in his old form Wednesday after spending Monday in the hospital with a chest cold and seeing limited action Tuesday.

Halfback Tom Gentry and guard Jim Martinkus have already left for home because of old injuries.

He also made it clear that he thinks his Hawks have a chance to win the Big Ten title. "But we'll have to be lucky," he emphasized, "and we'll have to avoid injuries, especially in the line. More than one injury up front could wreck us."

He said he was disappointed in the overnight condition in which many of the team members reported last week.

He also dashed any rumors of him returning to his alma mater, Michigan. "I am not returning to Michigan for two reasons," he said. "First, they have one of the finest coaches in the nation—Bennie Oosterbaan—and second, I like it here too well."

Byrne Hits, Pitches Way To 8-2 Win

BALTIMORE (AP)—Tommy Byrne helped solidify his return as a New York Yankee pitcher by accounting for four runs with a triple and bases-loaded double Wednesday night in an 8-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

The victory availed the Yankees nothing in their hopes of overtaking the Cleveland Indians who also won over Philadelphia to maintain a 4½ game lead for the American league pennant.

But Byrne, who was purchased last Friday from Seattle, showed plenty of promise of help in the stretch drive both on the mound and at the plate.

One Bad Inning
He had only one bad inning in which the Orioles scored and held them to seven hits. He showed no extreme wildness which had been one of the reasons the Yankees let him go after pitching for them in 1949 and 1950. He walked four and fanned the same number.

Byrne had to be good since Bob Turley, the starting Oriole pitcher, registered 12 strikeouts in seven innings before leaving for a pinch-hitter. It was the most strikeouts for a pitcher against the Yankees this year, Willard Nixon of Boston holding the previous maximum of 10.

Frequent Pinchhitter
Byrne, who has been used as a pinchhitter regularly in his baseball pitching career, tripled his first time up in the third inning and scored on Gil McDonnald's outfield fly for the first run of the game.

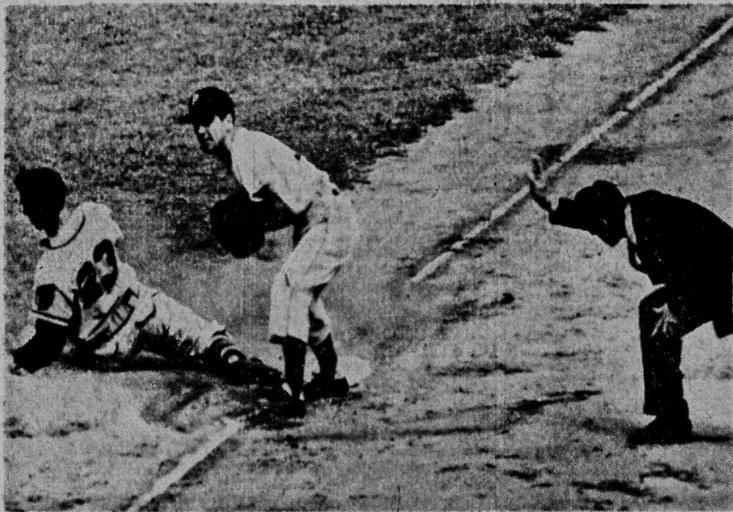

The Orioles threatened to drive him out of the game in their half of the inning by going ahead 2-1.

Byrne proceeded to put himself and the Yankees back in the ball game in the next inning with his bases loaded double.

Smith Stands Out in Hawk Passing Drill

Doubled Off 3d

JOHNNY LOGAN, Braves, shortstop, is called out at third base by umpire Bill Engel after being tagged by Pirate third baseman Ed Pellagrini in the second inning of Wednesday's game. Logan was caught off the base when Warren Spahn grounded to Pirate second baseman Curtis Roberts who tossed to Bob Skinner at first and then threw to Bob Skinner at first and then threw to Pellagrini to complete the double play. The Braves won, 5-2.

Braves Down Pittsburgh, 5-2; Spahn Hurls 11th Straight Win

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Superb pitching by Warren Spahn plus Eddie Mathews' 36th home run of the season helped the Milwaukee Braves past a 5-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Wednesday and enabled the Braves to move within four games of the league-leading New York Giants.

The Pirates got both their runs off Spahn in the first inning but Spahn was complete master after that. It was Spahn's 11th straight victory and extended Milwaukee's winning streak to 10.

Spahn settled down after the first inning and allowed the Bucs only three hits the rest of the way in racking up this 19th win of the campaign. His 11 in a row is tops for any National league hurler this season.

The crafty lefthander ran into trouble in the first inning, with the Pirates combing him for four hits. Curt Roberts led off with a single, Gair Allie walked and Frank Thomas singled the pair across.

Bill Bruton started the Braves' fireworks in the first by coaxing Dick Littlefield for a walk, Joe Adcock was safe on an error by Roberts—the first of three committed by the Pirates' second sacker, Mathews walked and Andy Pafo drove in the Braves' first run with a long fly.

Mathews moved the Braves ahead in the third with his homer after Adcock walked.

Pafo's double and Johnny Logan's single gave the Braves one tally in the sixth. They added another in the ninth on Logan's single, a sacrifice, and a single by Spahn. The Braves collected only six hits but got them when they counted.

Kluszewski Hits 45th Homer; Reds Win, 9-3

Andrews Scores 2d Round KO in Chicago Stadium Bout

CHICAGO (AP)—Paul Andrews, Buffalo light heavyweight, connected with a steaming right to the jaw to score a second-round knockout Wednesday night over Bobby Hughes of Warren, Ohio, in a scheduled 10-rounder at Chicago stadium.

Hughes was counted out after 52 seconds had elapsed in the round and stayed down for several minutes before officials helped him to his corner.

For Andrews, third ranking light heavyweight, the victory was his 29th in 32 bouts. It was his 15th knockout.

The 24-year-old Buffalo belter outweighted his little known opponent 180 to 176. Hughes, 26, absorbed his 13th loss in 37 fights.

Mele, White Swat Homers as Bosox Top Tigers, 5-2

DETROIT (AP)—Sam Mele and Sammy White lashed consecutive home runs in the eighth inning Wednesday to break up a close game and give the Boston Red Sox a 5-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers in their battle for fourth place in the American league.

The win, credited to 6-foot-9 Frank Sullivan, pushed the Red Sox a game and a half ahead of the fifth-place Tigers, who used four pitchers.

About the only thing the Tiger hurlers accomplished was to hold Ted Williams' hitless in three times at bat. The big guy, shooting for the league batting crown, saw his average shaved three points to .355.

Indians Down Athletics, 5-2, As Wynn Takes 20th Victory

CLEVELAND (AP)—Early Wynn became Cleveland's second 20-game winner Wednesday as the league-leading Indians raked up their 99th victory of the season, breaking an alltime club record, in a 5-2 triumph over Philadelphia's Athletics.

It was the third season Wynn has hit the 20-victory mark. He won 20 in 1951 and 23 in 1952. Last Sunday Bob Lemon scored his 21st triumph.

Wynn, who has 11 losses, gave up eight hits to the Athletics. Southpaw Johnny Gray held the Tribe to seven hits, but let the Indians capitalize on most of them.

Vic Wertz started Cleveland's scoring in the second inning with a homer.

In the third, Gray walked outfielder Al Smith. Then Bob Avila grounded to Joe DeMaestri, whose throw to second was dropped by Spook Jacobs, leaving both runners safe.

Smith scored on Larry Doby's single to left, and Avila, executing a double steal with Doby, came in on Al Rosen's grounder to Jim Finigan.

The Indians scored twice in the seventh.

Wynn held the A's scoreless until the fifth inning, when the A's scored their first run.

ISC Drills For Cameras; But No Oscar

AMES (AP)—The Iowa State football team performed before a movie camera Wednesday, but the showing might not win an "Oscar."

Coach Vince DiFrancesca ordered the movies made to detect weaknesses in the Cyclones' attack.

Iowa State continued its two-day drills with emphasis on passing in the afternoon session. Quarterbacks Daryl Hobbs and John Breckreidige did most of the pressing. Linemen worked on downfield blocking.

The workout ended with a punting drill. Two ends, Bob Clark and Barney Alleman, handled the kicking.

Cleveland Sports 7 Pitchers with ERA's Under 3.0

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland's pitching staff, ranked for years with the best in the business, has seven of its eight front line workers under 3.0 in the earned run averages.

That includes the "big three" of Early Wynn, Mike Garcia and Bob Lemon; one of the spot pitchers—Bob Feller—and three relievers, veteran Hal Newhouse and rookies Don Mossie and Ray Narleski.

Every Indian pitcher has cut his ERA this year. Lemon, who had a 3.36 ERA in 1953, now is 2.72. Wynn, who had a 3.93, is now 2.85 and Garcia, who had a 3.24, is now 2.54.

The other four with low averages are Feller at 2.96, Mossie at 2.11, Narleski at 2.12, and Newhouse at 2.47.

All three relievers—Mossie, Narleski and Newhouse—are new to the Indians this year. Mossie, up from Tulsa, has won five and lost one; Narleski, up from Indianapolis, has won three and lost two; and Newhouse has a 6-2 record.

Despite the flossy averages, the Tribe probably will find itself with only two 20-game winners, compared with the three they had when they finished second in 1951 and 1952.

Lemon has 21 victories already and Wynn has a 20-11 record including Wednesday night's game against Philadelphia. The only other man with striking distance—and it would be a long strike—is Garcia, 16-8.

The Hawkeyes unleashed a barrage of passes Wednesday as Coach Forest Evashevski ran them through one of the heaviest scrimmages of the season.

Throwing nearly 80 per cent of the time, the Iowa quarterbacks backed up Evy's precious statement that they have gained poise this year and constantly made large gains through the air.

For the second straight day, it was left halfback Earl Smith who stole the show from the highly accurate quarterbacks. Smith was on the receiving end of possibly 40 per cent of the passes and seldom did he miss one.

Reichow Hits Well
Tossing them out were quarterbacks Jerry Reichow, Ken Ploen, Don Dobrino and Duane Toftson. Reichow, looking up to his form of a year ago, connected on 12 of 19 tosses including two long touchdowns.

One of them gave an indication that the Hawkeyes may come up with some razzle-dazzle plays before the season is over. Reichow hit Smith going down the middle who handed off to Eddie Vincent coming behind him and the fleet right half skirted toward the outside and ran for a 65-yard TD.

Reichow also tossed a 50-yard TD pass to end Jim Freeman.

Ploen also hit for two touchdowns in nine completions in 13 tries. Dobrino had four for nine and Toftson had two for five.

Cummins Scales 229
Earlier in the day, the Hawkeyes weighed in under the Big Ten's new system of stabilizing weights. A few players still are overweight with tackle Cummins the most noticeable at 229. He was listed at 200 when spring drills began.

The starting backfield, as it lined up Wednesday, averaged 182 pounds. Broeder was listed at 187, Smith at 171, Vincent at 173 and Reichow at 196.

The starting line, as it lined up Wednesday, averaged just under 215. Freeman tipped the scales at 234, Frank Gilliam at 178, John Hall 217, Cal Jones 223, Bud Lawson 296, and Rodger Swedberg 217.
