

Giants Take 3d Straight From Indians, 6-2

Rhodes Hits Pinch Single To Tie Mark

By JACK HAND
CLEVELAND (AP)—Pinchhitter Dusty Rhodes came through again and Willie Mays started hitting as the alert New York Giants shoved the shoddy-fielding Cleveland Indians to the edge of the cliff Friday with a third straight World Series victory.

Hoyt Wilhelm strode from Manager Leo Durocher's well-stocked bullpen with his puzzling knuckler to nail down a 6-2 New York triumph when Puerto Rican Ruben Gomez weakened in the eighth after a blazing seven-inning job.

Rhodes, the spectacular clutch hitter who won the first two for the inspired National league champs, rose from the bench to deliver a key two-run pinch single in the third, tying a series record set by the Yanks' Bobby Brown in 1947.

Rhodes won the first game with a 10th inning homer and got another homer Thursday in the fifth. Friday, Durocher wasted no time and called for him to bat for Monte Irvin in the third.

When Dusty singled Mike Garcia's first pitch into right field to chase home Don Mueller and Mays, the Giants had a 3-0 lead. They never were in danger of being caught until the eighth when Wilhelm applied the stopper.

The New Yorkers need only one more triumph today to close out the series and make them the first National league team to win the World Series since the St. Louis Cardinals did it in 1946.

Welch Meets the Press

REPORTERS INTERVIEW Joseph H. Welch, special army counsel in the recent army-McCarthy hearings, as he arrived at the Iowa City airport Friday afternoon.

Don Dobrino May Start Today

Worried? Only About Cleveland, Welch Says

The bow tie and gentle smile which became familiar to millions of TV viewers last May during the army-McCarthy hearings distinguished the Boston lawyer from the crowd as he stepped from a plane late Friday afternoon at the Iowa City airport.

Ruddy-complexioned and bouyant of step, the tall figure of Joseph Nye Welch, special counsel to the army during the spring dispute, followed Mrs. Welch down the ramp to the runway.

He was soon surrounded by a group of photographers and newsmen, whose questions he parried with "no comments" or advice that the points in question required complex answers. He obligingly returned to the plane to make a second exit for photographers.

Record Clean
He reminded newsmen that his record of remarks concerning Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) was practically a clean one—and that "he had no personal vendetta with the senator."

Although his plane arrived at 5:20 p.m., two hours and 20 minutes late due to mechanical trouble at the Chicago airport, Welch emphasized that the trip "had been pleasant."

Leaving the airport apron to join Mrs. Welch in the waiting room, the Iowa-born Grinnell graduate (1914) said he feared to make any comment on the recent anti-Communist law passed by congress "for fear of seeming 'soft' on Communists."

Must Test Law
He said the new law would have to be tested in court with actual cases before its effectiveness could be judged. He conceded some doubts about the law as a contribution "to our legal arsenal" for fighting Communists.

Arriving at the end of an overcast day, as the clouds parted showing patches of blue and gold in the west, Welch seemed to be worried about only one thing as he hurried to a dinner of the Iowa Legal Institute. "They must be awfully sad in Cleveland today!" he said.

Enrollment Rises To 8,294 Students

Preliminary enrollment figures for the fall semester of the 1954-55 school year at SUI total 8,294 students, President Virgil M. Hancher announced Friday.

The preliminary enrollment represents an increase of 608 over the final count of the 1953-54 fall semester. University registrar Ted McCarrel expects final enrollment figures this semester to be at least 8,400.

Veteran registrations totaled 1,406 so far this fall as compared with 970 a year ago, with nearly the entire increase representing veterans of Korean service. There are now 5,793 men and 2,501 women students.

By colleges SUI enrollment for the first semester is: Commerce, 386; Dentistry, 256; Engineering, 495; Graduate 1,800; Law, 198; Liberal Arts, 4,048; Medicine, 450; Nursing, 488; and Pharmacy, 173. Liberal Arts shows an increase of 438 students and Engineering a gain of 94 students over 1953, to date.

French Officials Admit They Leaked Secrets

PARIS (AP)—The French counter-espionage service disclosed Friday that two high and trusted defense officials had confessed leaking secret information from the National Defense Council, top military planning body of the nation.

The disclosure came after the two men had been arrested and questioned all Thursday night in the case that is threatening to blow up into a major political scandal.

PICKETS SNEER AT Baltimore, Md., police as they escort Negro students home following classes at Southern high school. Friday's demonstrations against integration reached near-riot proportions.

Whites In Baltimore Battle Negro Pupils

BALTIMORE (AP)—A crowd of 400 white adults and teenagers shouted angry threats at Negro pupils leaving Southern high school Friday as demonstrations against combined white and Negro classes in Baltimore public schools gained momentum.

Police hustled the Negro pupils out of Southern high two or three at a time into prowl cars and took them home.

Leon Thompson, 14-year-old Negro, was punched in the face. Jack Zimmerman, 24-year-old unemployed shipyard worker from 28 blocks away, was fined $100 on an assault charge for hitting him.

3 Others Fined
Two other white men and one Negro were fined $25 for disorderly conduct.

A young woman physical education teacher rescued a Negro boy and girl after they had been surrounded by demonstrators. She drove into the crowd, took the two youngsters into her car, and sped off with them.

The crowd tried to upset the cruiser in which Zimmerman and the Thompson boy were taken to a police station.

Only 36 Negroes Enrolled
Police had squelched an earlier threat of violence at Southern, one of six schools to which picketing, boycotts and protests spread Friday. There are only 36 Negroes among the 1,780 enrolled at Southern.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro issued a public statement saying the situation had become "a matter of serious concern." He asked everyone to be calm.

The school board stuck by its announced intention of keeping schools open, with Negroes and whites assigned to study together at 52 of the 190 buildings.

Attendance Drops
Attendance was cut sharply at three schools as parents came to take their children home. Many explained they did not insist on segregation but feared their youngsters would be hurt.

Schools affected are in one of the poorer residential sections of the city. Occupancy of the tightly packed row houses sometimes shifts from white to Negro in the middle of a block.

The schools involved in Friday's demonstrations have had only tiny minorities of Negro pupils since integration went into effect with the start of the school year.

The Negroes enrolled at Southern High went into the building in a body after the first demonstration there Friday morning.

Boycott of School Ends in Delaware

MILFORD, Del. (AP)—School buses crowded with white pupils returning to classes signalled the end Friday of a spreading boycott protesting admission of Negro pupils to Milford high school.

Eleven Negro high school pupils remained at home, their educational future uncertain. They had attended the formerly all-white school under a school board decision to comply with the U. S. supreme court ban on racial segregation. They were barred Thursday when a newly formed board reversed the previous decision in the wake of protest meetings, burning crosses and the refusal of many white pupils to attend classes here and in nearby south Delaware communities.

Just where the Negro students would attend classes next week apparently had not been determined.

Judge Says He Likes Having Wife Boss Him

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Municipal Judge Nicholas F. Rago gave this advice when a young couple was brought into his court:

"My wife bosses me around and I like it. You'll find out that you will be happier having someone boss you."

Can't Afford Let Down

This means the Hawkeyes cannot afford too much of a let down after the keyed up battle with Michigan State. Iowa's defense must be set for Imer, all-Skyline conference halfback who averaged 8.2 yards per carry last fall; and Dick Heath, quarterback, who threw for 809 yards and 9 touchdowns in 1953. Heath's favorite target is Campbell, who caught 11 last fall.

Against Ft. Lewis, Imer carried 10 times, gained 90 yards and scored one touchdown. Campbell carried five times for 59 yards and two touchdowns.

And the Grizzlies, or Silver-tips as they are sometimes called, are no slouches when it comes to line strength. Three of the interior linemen pass the 200 mark. The line is led by senior guard Joe DeLuca, 202; Bob Miles, 220-pound tackle, and 215-pound tackle Paul Weskamp.

Crisis Looms As France Vetoes West German Rearmament Plan

LONDON (AP)—With a surprise veto Friday night France blocked a compromise plan to free and rear West Germany within the Western defense alliance. The action plunged the nine-power conference on Western European unity into an unexpected crisis.

A British foreign office spokesman immediately warned that the Churchill government will withdraw its 48-hour-old offer to maintain troops on the European continent if the conference breaks down.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has already warned that the United States might have to withdraw its troops from Europe unless the talks succeed.

He made no move to change his plans for going home tonight, and an American source expressed confidence the new snags would be overcome.

After the conference had been reported moving rapidly toward success, France suddenly rejected a compromise plan to bring West Germany within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and an enlarged seven-nation Brussels conference alliance.

Thursday, French Premier Pierre Mendes-France was reported to have accepted the compromise, advanced by Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak, to give NATO and the enlarged Brussels grouping joint controls aimed at preventing any runaway German rearmament.

Friday Mendes-France told the conference the Spaak plan did not go far enough in rigidly controlling every aspect of the manufacture and distribution of arms.

Instead he demanded fuller consideration of his own program, which called for controls to rest mainly in the hands of a new European armaments authority.

The present Brussels alliance—Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg—would be expanded to include West Germany and Italy. These seven nations would be represented in the authority.

In the opener against Michigan State and has been recovering this week. Reichow is ready to go but Coach Forest Evashevski probably figures the game today is a good time to test Dobrino.

For Iowa, the game offers a chance to tune up for the six straight conference affairs, including the impending successive road games with Michigan, Ohio State and Indiana.

Passed Little, So Far
Evashevski said previously Iowa fans could expect the Hawkeyes to pass 50 per cent more this year, and as yet, this statement has been only a dream.

Against the Spartans, the Hawkeyes passed only seven times, completing five. On the other hand, Montana, in their first game of the season against Ft. Lewis, Wash., attempted 17 aeriels and completed 9 for 142 yards and one touchdown. Montana won, 31-7.

The Grizzlies have six capable pass snatchers in backs Dick Imer, Murdo Campbell, Bill Kaiserman and Dale Shupe and ends George Samuelson and Keith Peterson.

Can't Afford Let Down
This means the Hawkeyes cannot afford too much of a let down after the keyed up battle with Michigan State. Iowa's defense must be set for Imer, all-Skyline conference halfback who averaged 8.2 yards per carry last fall; and Dick Heath, quarterback, who threw for 809 yards and 9 touchdowns in 1953. Hawkeyes Ready
The Hawkeyes are still nursing minor injuries received in the opener, but all will be ready to go against the Grizzlies. Cal Jones is bothered by a sprained wrist and Jim Freeman with a sore leg.

With scouts peering down from the press box, the Hawkeyes are likely to play under wraps as much as the ambitious Grizzly team will allow. But with the offense needing considerable polishing, Eby will undoubtedly turn loose a representative attack with Earl Smith, Eddie Vincent and Captain Blinkey Broder.

Welch Says U.S. Can Solve Problems, Retain Freedom

By JOE MORAN

Joseph Nye Welch, speaking on "Senate Hearings," told an audience of more than 1,800 in the Iowa Memorial Union Friday night he is confident the United States can solve "its grave problems without loss or impairment of its ancient, beautiful freedoms."

Introduced by President Virgil M. Hancher as "one of the few men to emerge with an enhanced reputation" from the army-McCarthy hearings, Welch said he was pleased to return to his native state and be received "with manifest evidence of approval." Welch received a lengthy ovation.

Referring to the army-McCarthy hearings last spring, in which he figured as special army counsel, Welch said he had been appalled by "the large quantities of fear and hate" generated "in that room (the senate caucus room)," in which the hearings were held.

Gestures with Glassee
Occasionally gesturing with his horn-rimmed glasses in a manner reminiscent of the protracted hearings, Welch conveyed to his audience of lawyers, students and interested citizens, both the pessimism and hope that he experienced under the TV lights.

Speaking in a mild, carefully modulated tone, he told of "the oppressive sullenness of that room," that reminded him of "a thunderstorm, with its fretful lightning, hinting of trouble just over the horizon."

Moral Hardship
Welch dwelled particularly on the moral hardship to witnesses in senate hearings, who may be questioned under oath on the same points at as many as three separate hearings. He commiserated with their "uncomfortable feeling about perjury, when they know that others may be poring over three separate transcripts searching for discrepancies in testimony."

"The human mind is peculiarly frail," and it is difficult to answer the same question, phrased differently at different times, in the same words, he said.

Welch questioned whether press interviews held after executive (closed) sessions with witnesses really serve a useful purpose. He noted the difficulty for lawyers, senators and witnesses to recall precisely, "after a long, hard day," what has happened.

He suggested that the whole senate committee should release a transcript to the press when necessary, but only for a legitimate purpose, "so the public may know what is said."

Coining a new proverb out of an old one, Welch said later he believed "two heads are cooler than one" and that he doubted the wisdom of allowing a senate committee chairman alone to exercise the full authority of the committee.

Need Broad Powers
However, Welch continued, with all its apparent faults and weaknesses, he would not diminish the power of senate investigating groups. He said congressional committees require the broadest powers, and that those "powers should be wielded by calm, not-easily-insulted men," who do not stand to profit personally from the outcome of their investigations.

The speaker also noted that the question of constitutional checks and balances in the federal government, entered last spring's hearings.

The question arose when the senate investigating subcommittee counsel, Ray H. Jenkins, confirmed that Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) was not obliged to reveal who had given him the famous "2 1/2 page document," purportedly signed by FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover.

Law Officer
Jenkins stated, said Welch, that if McCarthy had to reveal the names of all who brought him information, his effectiveness as a "law enforcement officer" would be diminished.

Welch explained that it is the function of the senate and senators to make laws, and the function of the executive to enforce them. He deplored the tendency to disregard the distinction.
