Ike Plugs for GOP, Cites Aid to Farmers

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — President Eisenhower said Friday night his administration has gone far toward building a "foundation of enduring prosperity" for American agriculture, and he asked for a Republican congress to help him carry out his policies.

The President made an open bid for farm votes in the congressional elections in a speech prepared for a meeting at Butler field house sponsored by the National Institute of Animal Agriculture.

Eisenhower jabbed at the Truman administration, saying that in its last two years in office "our farmers suffered a serious loss in buying power." And he said his own administration has taken "bold, progressive steps" to aid the farmer.

GOP Bought Time

The Denver White House had described the address in advance as "nonpartisan" but the Republican national committee bought broadcast time for it.

And Eisenhower, winding up his 20-minute prepared speech, brought in a plea "for a GOP congress. He said:

"Opportunity is ours if we continue to reject policies that lead to ever higher taxes, to regimentation, to dependence on a government far from our homes.

"Opportunity will be ours if we keep a government of teamwork—a government not of partisan rivalries, but of harmony and good will. To continue the advance along the course charted 21 months ago we need a congress and an executive department both guided by leaders of the same political philosophy. They must be dedicated to the same broad program and objectives.

Plugs for GOP

"For the next two years this means that our welfare requires a Republican-led congress."

From the start, the President made it clear that the speech was aimed at the farm vote. But he also included in his address an appeal for international peace.

Without mentioning the Soviet Union by name the President said:

"Today our nation extends the hand of friendship to all in the world who will grasp it in honesty and good faith. We will confer with any and all—if only we can have some assurance of sincerity of purpose, which must underlie all progress toward permanent peace."

2 St. Louis Women Hurt In Accident

Two St. Louis, Mo., women were injured Friday when their car collided with a train at a crossing 12 miles south of Iowa City on highway 218.

Mrs. Samuel McCluney, 73, and Mrs. Mildred McCluney, 72, were reported in good condition Friday night at Mercy hospital where they were taken for treatment of cuts and bruises.

Daughter Diving

Miss Louise McCluney, 41, daughter of the older woman and driver of the car, was knocked unconscious, but was not taken to the hospital.

The accident occurred at the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad crossing just south of the highway 218-highway 22 intersection.

Miss McCluney said she did not see or hear the train. She remembered driving north on highway 218, feeling the crash, then regaining consciousness in a smashed car.

The train's cow-catcher caught the right rear fender of the McCluney car and spun the vehicle about 25 feet north of the crossing.

Fender Torn Off

The fender was torn from the car body and landed about 75 feet away. The rear of the car was crumpled.

Miss McCluney said she was going 50 miles an hour at the time of the collision. The three were traveling to Spencer from St. Louis.

U.S. AIR POWER

CHICAGO (AP) — Adm. Arthur Radford said Friday night that American air power is second to none.

President Eisenhower Cites Aid to Farmers

Kline 'Appreciates' Ike's Farm Stand

CHICAGO (AP) — Allan B. Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Friday night said he appreciates President Eisenhower's "recognition of the importance of expanding" markets for farm products.

Kline made this comment on the President's speech in Indianapolis.

"The President very properly stressed the fact that farm prosperity depends upon a great many things other than farm programs.

"We are particularly appreciative of his recognition of the importance of expanding markets. He also indicated a good understanding of the seriousness of the problems facing agriculture and a sincere desire to be useful in helping to solve them.

"So far as farm programs are concerned, we appreciate his support of a comprehensive approach based on the principles of the agricultural act of 1948-49. The 1954 farm act to which he refers avoids dependence on all-out price fixing and provides opportunity for agriculture to move ahead on a sound basis."

Homecoming Queen Chosen at 2 Schools

Mara Jean Davis, Simpson college senior from Glenwood, was named princess of the 1954 Simpson homecoming Friday night. Bob Calhoun, senior from Oskaloosa was chosen this year's brave. No Progress In British Dock Strike

LONDON (AP) — Efforts to settle the strike of 24,000 dockers which has shut down London's busy port collapsed Friday night and the government warned that Britain's food supplies and export trade were endangered.

The strike is coupled with a spreading busmen's walkout and an order for a mass strike by Thames River tugmen.

"The stoppage in the London docks is having a serious effect on the country's export trade, is endangering food supplies and threatens to cause unemployment in other industries," the Ministry of Labor said in a statement after an emergency Cabinet meeting in an effort by the government to negotiate a back-to-work agreement.

Food Spoiling

The sprawling London docks handle one-third of Britain's export and import trade. Each week trade, estimated at $128,800,000, passes through. A Ministry of Labor spokesman estimated $700,000 worth of food already had rotted.

Richard Barrett, general secretary of the National Amalgamated Stevedores and Dockers emerged from a conference with Labor Minister Sir Walter Monckton and said he had turned down proposals to call off the strike.

Simultaneously, 4,500 members of the Watermen, Lightmen, Tugmen and Bargemen's Union were instructed to walk out Sunday morning, halting the movement along the Thames of London's coal, gasoline and garbage.

Plan Rejected

Barrett told newsmen Monckton had proposed the dockers revert to the pre-strike position of Oct. 4 and suggested setting up a court of inquiry into the dispute.

The union executive council "will not recommend any resumption of work until the employers agree that overtime will be voluntary instead of compulsory," he said.

A Ministry of Labor spokesman said no decision on emergency measures would be made before the beginning of next week.

3 Shenandoah Clubs Raided, Liquor Seized

SHENANDOAH (AP) — State agents raided three veterans clubs here Friday night, seizing 172 bottles of liquor. R. W. Nebergall, chief of the Iowa bureau of criminal investigation, said Friday.

The simultaneous raids were carried out at the Amvets Club, Veterans of Foreign Wars club and the Legion Country club.

He said the raids were the result of complaints which have been coming in to his and the attorney general's office over a period of months.

AFL-CIO Merger Plan Progresses

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL and CIO leaders agreed Friday to put aside organizing rivalries for the time being and work out a merger of the two big labor groups as "fast as possible."

Presidents George Meany of the AFL and Walter Reuther of the CIO talked optimistically of completing an actual merger plan within the next few months. They said special AFL and CIO ratifying conventions may then be called, followed by a joint AFL-CIO convention to complete the proposed amalgamation.

Reuther conceded, however, that "we still have a great deal of work to do." But both he and Meany maintained the AFL and CIO leadership is determined to go ahead with the merger.

Would Unite 15 Million

It would bring nearly 15 million union members under a single banner—with the idea of strengthening union labor's economic and political power.

Two decisions were made Friday by nine man committees representing the two organizations:

1. Each is to name a three-member subcommittee to work out a proposed new constitution for the merged setup. This would include machinery for settling rivalries over which union should represent various types of workers.

2. Such existing organizing rivalries will be held in abeyance until after the merger. The "integrity" of each union under the merged arrangement would be guaranteed. This was explained to mean that no AFL or CIO union would lose part of its present membership.

Set Up Machinery

"We don't contemplate trying to resolve the conflicts that now exist," Reuther said. "What we are going to do is work out machinery for a merger and a method for resolving problems after the merger comes about."

It was reported that the three-member AFL subcommittee to work out merger details will include Meany, secretary-treasurer William Schnitzer and vice-president Matthew Woll, and the CIO group will include Reuther, secretary-treasurer James B. Carey and president David J. McDonald of the CIO Steelworkers union.

Hoyt Vandenberg Jr. Bails from Burning Jet

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Lt. Hoyt S. Vandenberg Jr. bailed out of a burning sabrejet over West Germany Friday fell 8,000 feet into an orchard and still insisted "I feel good."

He was taken from the crash scene near here by helicopter to the U.S. air force's European headquarters hospital at Wiesbaden for a week's observation.

2 Women Hurt in Car-Train Collision

HIGHWAY PATROLMAN Lyle Hansen, right, and an unidentified helper remove luggage from the smashed car of Miss Louise McCluney, St. Louis, Mo. Miss McCluney's mother and aunt were injured when the car was hit by a train at the Rock Island lines crossing 12 miles south of Iowa City on highway 218.

THESE COTTAGES AT Myrtle Beach, S.C. were among the homes damaged Friday as Hurricane Hazel swept the South Carolina coast with winds up to 130-miles-per-hour. Raging waters of the Atlantic washed the foundations from under the homes. Units of the South Carolina national guard were called into Myrtle Beach to prevent possible looting.

East Germans Given No Choice Sunday In National Election

BERLIN (AP) — The spectacle of a national election in which no candidate can lose engaged the Soviet zone of Germany Friday.

A single list of candidates picked by the Communists and their collaborators will be placed before 12 million eligible voters Sunday to approve as their Volkssammer—parliament.

There is no place on the ballot to indicate yes or no. A citizen simply takes his ballot and drops it in a box and that is a vote for the entire parliament.

Can't Vote No

There is no way to vote no, and no way to deface the ballot without the probability of sudden arrest.

The East German government calls this a "democratic" election. Communist leaders say it qualifies as such because the candidates represent the ruling Socialist Unity (Communist) party, the Christian Democrats, the National Democrats, the Liberal Democrats, the Farmers party, the Communist Youth, the Women's league and the trade unions. There are also six candidates listed as having no party at all.

The only campaigning done Friday was organizational work by the Communist machine to get out the vote. Every city block and every village has a "leader" who is responsible for the actions of a certain number of people.

Molotov Makes Appeal
The most vigorous appeal to the electorate was made by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov. During his eight-day visit to East Germany, which ended last Wednesday, he called on children in kindergartens, donned a miner's helmet in uranium shafts, and generally behaved like a politician on tour.

Eastern sources said Molotov's unusual visit had considerable effect on the East German population and bolstered Communist Premier Otto Grotewohl's regime.

Community Chest Total at $7,000

Contributions of approximately $1,000 Friday brought the Iowa City Community Chest total to $7,000. The campaign goal is $33,379 by Oct. 23.

SUI faculty and staff members, business places, public service groups and professional people are being contacted this week.

The professional group is reported to be closest to meeting its quota.

Canvassers are trying to contact every person at his place of work. Each donor is given a red feather sticker to display in a window at home.

House-to-house solicitation of residential areas will begin Wednesday. Only homes not displaying red feathers will be visited.

Hancher Elected Head Of Education Council

President Virgil M. Hancher, Friday was elected chairman of the American Council on Education at its annual meeting in Chicago.

Hancher succeeds Henry T. Heald, chancellor of New York university, as chairman. The council, which includes nearly all the accredited colleges and universities in the United States, is often regarded as the spokesman for higher education in the U.S.

Hancher has served as a member of the council's executive committee from 1948 to 1951, and was chairman of the auditing committee those years. He has also been chairman of the institutional research policy committee from 1951 to 1954.

Other council committees he has served on are: relationship of higher education to the federal government, 1946 to 1954; study of tax exemptions, 1948; and special committee on finance, 1951 to 1953.

Citizens Protest Blanket of Smog

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An eye-stinging smog blanket hung over this city of sunshine for the ninth straight day Friday and an aroused citizenry cried for action.

Latest developments in the war on southern California's perennial plague:

1. Gov. Goodwin Knight flew here "to determine why the air pollution laws of this state are not being enforced."

2. A 10-year-old Alhambra girl died, apparently from mucous asphyxiation, and her physician said smog could be a factor.

3. Physicians reported an increase in colds and sore throats.

4. Mayor Clarence Winder of neighboring Pasadena urged mass prayer meeting in every church in the San Gabriel valley to "pray for God's deliverance from this terrible scourge."

Scientists still are attempting to learn the irritating factors in smog. These factors are believed to be hydrocarbons given off by incomplete combustion, from auto and truck exhausts and contained in gasoline fumes.

Liberian President Visits U.S. For Technical Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President William V. S. Tubman of Liberia will arrive in New York today to begin a state visit.

He is expected to seek a four-year extension of the technical aid agreement between the two countries.

Diplomatic observers rated his chances good of achieving something tangible along this line during the visit.

The presidential party is scheduled to come to Washington Monday.

Storm Called Most Erratic In History

NEW YORK (AP) — Hurricane Hazel, one of the century's most dangerously erratic storms, rocked New York with 100 miles per hour winds Friday night. But it was a dying gesture on the part of the big storm.

"The worst is over," was the weatherman's cheering word as the barometer began to rise in mid-evening.

Far to the west of the city, the hurricane spent its waning strength against the immovable barrier of Pennsylvania's mountains. Then it died and its force was absorbed in part by a new storm center in southwestern New York.

Hazel's death toll stood at 33 in continental United States. It swept into the Carolinas from sea early today, battering its way into the Northeastern states after grazing Washington with unsurpassed fury.

33 Known Dead

Hurricane Hazel left this death toll in its ravaged path: North Carolina, 6; Virginia, 6; Pennsylvania, 3; Delaware, 4; Maryland, 6; New York, 14.

Thousands were made homeless as the hurricane moved along with express train speed.

There were signs that the storm — third hurricane to hit the populous northeast in six weeks — was expending its strength. But it was dying by almost imperceptible degrees and, in its death throes, it was menacingly wicked.

Ships, Planes Flee

Ashore and at sea millions cringed before its awesome might.

Ships frantically changed course. Airplanes fled like game birds before a forest fire. Men pitted their puny strength in a frantic battle to blunt its destructiveness.

The naval academy at Annapolis, Md. reported more than 100 men were aboard the Reina Mercedes, historic old training ship, which broke its moorings in the Severn river.

The battleship Kentucky, on which construction was halted after it was 80 per cent completed, was torn loose from its moorings at Newport News, Va. and ran aground in the James river. A watchman aboard was reported in no danger.

None of the nation's big seaboard cities was directly in its path. But it staggered them with majestic insolence; its whining winds and curtains of rain marching escort for 300 miles across its center.

Hurricane Erratic

Weathermen called it "One of the most erratic hurricanes in history."

It flanked New York to the west by about 80 to 100 miles—the first time this century that an October hurricane cut behind the city.

The storm's center hit central Pennsylvania head-on.

Chief U.S. Meteorologist Ernest J. Christie, marveling at the unbridled savagery of the great storm, said it was "practically galloping northward with a forward speed of about 50 miles an hour."

The 10-day-old storm, eighth hurricane of the season, already had wrought death and destruction along a twisting path from its Caribbean spawning area far at sea.

100 Dead In Haiti

Behind it lay the stricken island of Haiti, where the storm struck Tuesday, razing towns and leaving a death toll estimated at about 100.

Behind it also lay the battered, debris choked Carolina coast where millions of dollars of damage was done early Friday as the storm veered from sea into the continental U.S.

Municipal Judge William A. Caughy warned. The first 60 days would be spent in the jail bull pen with comic books and other material to read.

editorials Love on the Highway—

Love's road may never run smooth, but a stop sign violation on that particular highway can have interesting results. A highway patrolman approaching a rural intersection one afternoon saw a car slam through the stop sign and take a screaming turn onto the highway. When the officer got the car stopped, he found a driver with a white-knuckle grip on the wheel and a much less steady grip on his emotions. "Gimme the ticket quick," he growled. "I've got places to go."

As is the routine, the patrolman asked first to see the man's drivers license. He didn't have it. "Left it home, back down the road a way."

It was obvious that the driver had just been through some kind of emotional explosion. He was in no condition to drive on the public highway. To gain some time with the man, the patrolman told him to park his car, then they would both go back to his home in the patrol car to pick up the license.

The driver blew up. "I can't go home," he said. "I just left there for good." He jerked his thumb toward a hastily packed suitcase in the back seat.

But the patrolman forced the point and the two men drove back. It took about 15 minutes of talking by the patrolman before the man got out of the car and stomped back up to the house he thought he had left forever.

The patrolman waited for him. The patrolman, in fact, waited half an hour. Then the man returned with his license, meekly accepted the ticket, and climbed in with the patrolman to ride back for his car.

It was a silent ride. The man didn't speak until he was getting out of the patrol car. "Sorry I kept you waiting back there," he said, "but the wife and I patched things up while I was in the house. She had to find the license."

Understanding Politics—

Political observers are scratching their heads over the failure of Americans generally to show fiery interest in the current election campaigns.

The reason may be this: Perhaps the people are just quietly standing by, waiting for their party leaders to catch up with them.

Dog Controversy Lingers On

Repercussions from Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson's dissertation on dogs still echoed along the political front, with Vice-President Nixon predicting the whole thing would wind up as a "plus" item in the GOP CAMPAIGN.

Wilson himself has apologized for his remarks at a Detroit news conference Monday. He told a Republican rally in Chicago that he "made a mistake—an unfortunate mistake—bringing up those bird dogs at the same time I was talking about people."

But the defense chief added that his meaning was "distorted by our left wing opponents."

Wilson's words
Discussing one aspect of the unemployment situation at the Detroit conference, Wilson had remarked, "and I've got a lot of sympathy for people where a sudden change catches 'em—but I've always liked bird dogs better than kennel dogs. You know, one who'll get out and hunt for food rather than sit on his fanny and yell."

This brought a roar of protest from union leaders, Democrats and even some members of Wilson's own party.

Iowa, Ohio Corn Contest Continues

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Iowa's answer to Ohio Secretary of State Ted W. Brown's "tall corn" challenge arrived here Friday in a package nearly 27 feet long. The label said "to be opened by Mr. Synhorst."

Iowa Secretary of State Melvin D. Synhorst accepted Brown's challenge, to beat the 13-foot stalk Brown had grown in his garden. The contest will be settled at Saturday's Iowa-Ohio football game.

When Synhorst began talking about needing a boat trailer to handle the stalk, Brown rustled up a 14 1/2 footer grown by Fred Collier of Columbus.

Ray Howard, Brown's aide, said it appeared that Synhorst's entry could measure 26 feet 11 inches. "Corn just can't grow that tall," he commented.

Interpreting the News

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
Foreign Staff
Associated Press

By taking such a touchy attitude toward the mere transmission of a Red Chinese complaint by the United Nations, the United States lays itself open, especially in Asiatic minds, to suspicion of a guilty conscience.

In the last four years the Chinese Reds have addressed 33 communications to UN members through the secretary general's office, and they have been transmitted, establishing the practice as regular procedure.

In 1950 the United States even permitted a charge of aggression against herself to go on the agenda at Russian request and agreed that General Wu should appear to present the Red case.

Reds Charge Aggression
Now Red China is charging the U.S. with aggression again in connection with Formosa.

Chief delegate Lodge refused to accept transmission of the note and charged Secretary General Hammarskjold acted improperly in distributing it to the delegations after the U.S. had requested that it not be done.

No explanation for this sudden change of face has been given, nor is it known publicly whether the action originated with the American delegation in New York or with the state department in Washington.

Lack of Diplomacy
Delegates from other nations, however, when asked what they thought motivated the American action, just shrugged it off as unexplainable. Some referred to it as verging on childishness.

Others privately attributed it to lack of diplomatic training among some of the state department people both in New York and Washington.

It was pointed out that even if Hammarskjold had heeded the American request not to distribute the note, all the Chinese would have needed was get the Russians to ask for transmission, which is automatic upon member requests.

Note Far-Fetched
As for the note itself, it is sufficiently far-fetched to defeat its own propaganda purposes. It was primarily an extension of the 1950 charges, accused the U.S. of designing "new military adventures," from Formosa and attacked the new southeast Asia defense pact as part of such an intent.

Its timing was extremely poor, too, since it came simultaneously with news that the U.S. was warning Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa against acts which might produce a war.

Doctors Think Blood Carries Pain Ingredient

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—A substance discovered in human blood appears to be the chemical mediator—or vehicle—of many human pains.

Wasps inject it with their painful stings. Snake venom causes this chemical to be set free in the bloodstream. And the same substance or something very like it is found in body fluids of people with rheumatoid arthritis and for some lung infections.

This substance, named bradykinin, was discovered by Dr. M. Rocha e Silva, biochemist and pharmacologist of the Biological Institute of Sao Paulo. Certain proteins or globulins of human blood contain it.

Bradykinin is set free when these proteins are treated with snake venom or with trypsin, an enzyme or chemical digester. Rocha e Silva finds bradykinin, or BK for abbreviation, is a powerful agent to reduce blood pressure in rabbits and guinea pigs.

Someday it might find human use for treating high blood pressure, or pave the way to new antidotes against pain.

It also makes smooth muscles contract, but works slower than some other contracting chemicals, hence the name bradykinin which means slow movement.

Hurricane Names Create Mild Storm

Webster City Daily Freeman-Journal
Hurricanes have been in the news too regularly lately for the pleasure of seaboard residents. . . . A witty friend who insists she believes in equality for women, composed the following bit of verse, in women's defense.

Hurricanes are now called SHE
By smart alec men—
Florence, Edna, Carol, June—
But earthquakes, now and then
Can roar and rage, with horrid sway,
A force that knows no mercy;
I do declare that they are HE'S—
That Algiers quake was Percy!
Now, I'm wondering—would a tornado be an argument, between a hurricane and an earthquake, sort of a marital squabble?

Some of the students said they weren't celebrating anything or protesting anything—just tired of going to school.

Chicago Banker Claims Economic Outlook Bright

DES MOINES (AP)—An upswing in the nation's business activity next year to the point that a "near full" employment level is reached appears likely, the staff economist of a Chicago bank said Friday.

Beryl W. Sprinkel, of the Harris Trust & Savings Bank, said signs pointed to recovery prompted primarily by a rise in consumer spending; a moderate increase in inventories, reversing a current trend, and higher state and local spending.

Weather Forecasters Use Scientific Methods

By RICHARD S. BLOCH
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON — In 1922 an English mathematician named Lewis F. Richardson had a fantastic vision for making the prediction of the weather more accurate, a vision which is about to come true. He compared his dream method with the intricately co-ordinated performance of a vast symphony orchestra.

If thousands of persons, Richardson thought, each with a desk computer, would work together and augment each other's efforts, the equations to predict the state of the atmosphere for any given time would be solved.

Richardson, the founder of numerical weather prediction, was the first person to set down a list of all the equations and interactions of equations needed for the precise forecast of atmospheric conditions.

Room for Error
Then, as now, forecasters work with approximate rules based on physics, a few calculations, plus their years of experience, a method which is wide open to human error. Two forecasters might give two different answers from the same information.

In the spring or summer of 1955 a machine with a myriad of complicated mechanisms will start whirring and clicking away at thousands of equations at the same time. Richardson's dream will come true in the form of a lightning fast electronic computer.

Pressure, temperature and relative humidity data from North American weather stations and ships at sea will be flashed each morning to the new forecasting office, the joint numerical weather prediction unit at Suitland, Maryland.

The personnel at the office will transform this data into a special pattern "recognized" by the computer. The machine will be given a set of instructions telling it how to compute with the information in hydronomical and thermodynamical equations governing the motion of the atmosphere.

The data will be interpreted, the switch turned on. The answer which would take two or three people a half year to compute will be forthcoming in a few minutes to an hour. The results will be charted on map for local forecasters to use in making their predictions.

A great storm which formed over the east coast on Nov. 25, 1950, ushered a new era into weather forecasting. In a laboratory at the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N. J., was the computer, which, in a test at a later date, correctly calculated the disturbance.

Scientists Convinced
It achieved similar success when it calculated conditions indicating the storms of November both in the eastern United States. This was enough to convince scientists and the United States government that the numerical methods worked out for the machine were more accurate than any existing methods known.

The project at the Institute for Advanced Study which led to this development was established in 1946. The scientists at Princeton studied in turn, "each of a sequence of successively improving idealized mathematical models of the atmosphere."

The first models were very simplified but some results were felt as early as 1949. In 1950 the Princeton scientists attempted for the first time to use an electronic computer for numerical prediction.

Problem Solved
In 1952 they completed the institute computer and in early 1953 they solved the problem of the prediction of storm generation, or cyclogenesis, as it is known in the weatherman's terminology. Cyclogenesis is the chief obstacle to accurate weather prediction.

According to Dr. George P. Cresman, director of the joint numerical weather prediction unit, we can look forward with confidence to a steady improvement in the results of numerical prediction and a corresponding improvement in the forecasts.

Underdog Iowa Set For Ohio State Game

By GENE INGLE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor
COLUMBUS, O. — The seven point underdog Iowa Hawkeyes put their Western conference title hopes on the chopping block here today against the Ohio State Buckeyes before a sellout crowd of 82,000.

The weatherman isn't promising anything but thinks there'll be "light sprinkles" throughout the day. Daytime temperatures will be in the low 50's. A tarpaulin has protected the Ohio stadium gridiron from rain during the last two days. And at 11 p.m. Friday a steady rain was still falling.

Both teams will be without the services of at least one starting lineman. Iowa's Rodger Swedwe know what kind of an afternoon to expect tomorrow."

Commenting on having to confine his Friday afternoon to a two-hour "skull-session," at Neil House, he added:

"It won't hurt us, having to stay inside. If we aren't ready for Ohio, we never will be."

Pessimism Matched

Running his Buckeyes through a brisk hour and a half signal drill Friday afternoon, Hayes matched Evy's pessimism with a similar respect for Iowa.

The Bucks' boss reminded reporters of the Hawkeyes' smashing upset of Ohio State in 1932, and added:

"Iowa again is a big, fast, rough team, with one of the most capable lines we'll see all year. This will be our most important test so far, and I know all our players realize it."

Tight Pass Defense

Hayes says he is worried as much as anything about the Hawks having shown no vulnerability to air assaults. In winning from Michigan State and Montana, and losing to the Wolverines, the Iowa anti-aircraft platoon has permitted only nine completions in 41 enemy throws for a puny 116 yard total.

Ohio, in allowing 22 completions in 56 tries has given up 232 yards through the air—just twice that permitted by Iowa. The Hawkeyes' starting backfield of quarterback Jerry Reichow, halfbacks Earl Smith and Ed Vincent, and fullback Binky Broeder has gained an air-and-ground total of 829 yards in 3 games as compared with Ohio's 1,113.

If the rains subside by this afternoon and haven't sunk the field to a straight-away of mud, there's a remote possibility that the air may be filled with football.

Ground Attack

Both teams have relied largely upon the ground attack for the big damage done in three starts this season.

But there's increasing evidence pointing to a surprise aerial attack from either camp.

In three previous seasons under Hayes, Ohio State has been a consistent threat through the air. For example, in 1932, when John Borton led the nation in passing, the Bucks' tossed 217 aeriels, rushed 443 times. That's one pass to every two ground plays.

5-1 Ratio

Last year, the Buckeyes pitched 181 passes and ran 558 times for an average of one pass every three rushes.

The current Buckeye pass-run ratio is 5-1 in favor of the ground attack since Ohio State has pitched only 36 aeriels against 148 rushes.

Iowa, on the other hand, has never been much of a passing team. In two previous seasons under Evashevski, but at the start of the season, he promised one thing—"We'll pass at least 50 per cent more this season."

More Aeriels

If Evy's promise is to come true, the Hawks will have to take to the air more often. Because, as of the moment, they are operating at the same pace as in 1933—11 passes per game.

In 1933, Iowa pitched only 100 passes. This year, the Hawks have thrown 35—only 1 less than OSU.

Make no mistake, come game time at 1 p.m. (CST), the Hawks and Bucks will show they probably haven't deserted their passing attack.

Unbeaten Wisconsin Favored over Purdue

Old Rivalry, New Coaches Clash At Notre Dame

By JERRY LISKA

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Nudged somewhat from their usual lofty football perches, Notre Dame's fighting Irish and Michigan State's Spartans renew an old rivalry under new coaches at Notre Dame stadium today.

A pre-season choice of the nation's grid writers to be the country's No. 1 team, Notre Dame lost considerable prestige in a 27-14 loss to Purdue. This was sandwiched between two blankings of Texas (21-0) and Pitt (33-0).

Michigan State, a strong pre-season pick to repeat as Big Ten champion, bowed to Iowa, 14-10, and Wisconsin, 6-0, before defeating Indiana, 21-14.

2-Touchdown Pick

The Irish are a two-touchdown favorite in today's 21st meeting of the two schools to be attended by a capacity 57,000.

Terry Brennan, Notre Dame's 26-year-old coach, will be trying to exact from MSC's new leader, Duffy Daugherty, revenge for three straight trimmings handed Frank Leahy by Biggie Munn from 1930 through 1932.

In fact, Munn — now retired to the MSC athletic directorship — gave Brennan's old coach and predecessor his worst Notre Dame defeat, a 35-0 pasting of Leahy's 1931 Irish.

Wide Margin in Series

The last Notre Dame-MSU clash, in 1932, produced a 21-3 Spartan victory. The Irish, however, hold a wide margin in the series, which started in 1897, with 15 victories against only five defeats.

Both teams have patched-up backfields. The Spartans probably will start two one-time-quarterbacks, Johnny Matsock and Clarence Peaks, at the half-back spots. For Notre Dame, right half and fullback — occupied last year by All-American Johnny Latner and Neil Worden — still are up for grabs.

Philadelphia Group Offers Cash for A's

PHILADELPHIA (AP) A band of "last-minute" men plunked their check books on the line Friday and joined a cross-country tug-of-war with Chicago's Arnold Johnson for the suddenly much-sought-after Philadelphia Athletics franchise.

Through a spokesman, 10 prominent Philadelphia businessmen announced they had pledged sufficient cash to keep the Athletics in Philadelphia, but said the details of their offer would have to be worked out over the coming weekend.

That time element would take matters right down to the 10 a.m. (CST) deadline set by Will Hurd, American league president, for a final stand by Roy Mack, the A's executive vice-president and key figure in the situation.

In Chicago, Johnson—the baseball-minded financier who thought he practically bought the ball club at an American league meeting last Tuesday — said he still has hopes of purchasing the franchise he wants to transfer to Kansas City.

Johnson said he was prepared to give Roy Mack a five-year contract and a stock interest in the A's organization at Kansas City.

Columbus Group Seeks Red Birds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A group of local businessmen Friday opened negotiations with the St. Louis Cardinals for purchase of the Columbus Red Birds of the American association.

Should the transfer of the Philadelphia Athletics to Kansas City materialize, it's reported the New York Yankees might shift the Kansas City franchise to Columbus, with the Cardinals transferring the Columbus franchise to Omaha of the Western league.

Columbus Junction Humbled By University High, 34-7

By BOB HOOKER
U-High 7 13 14 0—34
C. Junction 0 0 0 7—7
TD's—U-High: Banc, Van Kirk (2), Koser, Lenz. Columbus Junction—Stewart.

PAT—U-High: Lenz, M. Schoenfelder, Koser, J. Schoenfelder, Columbus Junction: J. Howell.

Two electrifying scoring plays at the outset of each half featured University high's 34-7 Homecoming victory over Columbus Junction's Wildcats Friday night at City high field before a sparse crowd of approximately 300 people who braved the chilly weather.

Immediately after the opening kick-off, tackle Jim Banc scooped up a Columbus fumble and scampered 19 yards to paydirt to send Coach Bob Hoff's U-High Blue-hawks on their way to their 12th straight triumph, six this season. As the second half got under way with the Iowa City eleven on top, 20-0, halfback Bill Van Kirk dashed 52 yards down the sidelines to score after being trapped by the left side of Coach Willard Sawyer's line.

U-High, ranked sixth Friday in the Class II prep poll, preserved its Eastern Iowa Hawkeye conference leadership by its fifth league win. For Columbus, it was a fifth loss in six games.

U-High Capitalizes

In the second quarter the Blue-hawks followed up the initial touchdown by Banc, who injured his hand later in the one-sided tilt, by capitalizing on a blocked punt and a 32-yard pass to tally twice. Mike Schoenfelder set up the first touchdown of the second period when he blocked Jim Howell's punt on the Columbus 4. Quarterback Bob Koser plunged across the double stripe on second down. The extra point line-buck try failed.

With 40 seconds left before the intermission, sophomore quarterback Bob Price rifled his pass to Van Kirk who went unopposed for the first of his two touchdown romps. Schoenfelder plunged for the extra point as did Jim Lenz after Banc's six-pointer. Gaining the ball on the ensuing kick-off by an on-side boot, the Blue-hawks struck again, with the same Price-to-Van Kirk aerial combination on a play good for 36 yards, but the touchdown was nullified by a 15-yard penalty, one of four such infractions ruled against U-High.

The local gridgers' last marker came when Lenz smashed over from a yard out, after a Price-to-Van Kirk 18-yard heave had placed the ball on the Wildcat 7. Lenz took the ball of the one, then scored. Jerry Schoenfelder, Mike's brother, bulled across for the conversion.

Scoring Act

Just six minutes remained in the game when the visitors got in the scoring act. Gaining a first down on a pass interference penalty on the U-High 35, Columbus took quick advantage of the break. Howell tossed a pass to Gary Stewart to the Bluehawk 14. On the next play Stewart streaked the remaining distance to score and Howell ran the point.

Near the end of the third quarter Columbus threatened when Burt Van Auker recovered Van Kirk's fumble of a punt return on the U-High 20, but the Wildcats could penetrate only to the 18. Columbus was held to 10 yards for the entire first half.

Tonight at the Homecoming dance one of three candidates—Susan Hale, Pat Holdense and Joyce McNamara—will be chosen queen.

Little Hawks Tumble, 7-6

Wilson 0 7 0 0—7
Iowa City 0 0 6 0—6
TD'S — Iowa City, Langston; Cedar Rapids, Henderson.

PAT'S — Cedar Rapids, Henderson.

By JOHN WICKS

Unrated Wilson high school of Cedar Rapids ended City High's undefeated string Friday night, 7-6, on a three yard pass play in a game which will probably topple the Little Hawks from their number one ranking in prep football.

Wilson scored in the second quarter after Iowa City fumbled a punt on their own 35 yard line. Four plays carried Wilson to the Hawkle's three yard line. Harold Broxey then tossed a short pass to Don Henderson for the touchdown. John Henderson kicked the conversion.

Iowa City was completely outplayed by the spirited Wilson team throughout the first half. They came back stronger in the second half however, and early in the third quarter, Jim Kelley tossed a 25 yard pass to Jeff Langston.

The Little Hawks were jolted severely, however, when the pass from center on the conversion try rolled weakly on the ground. No kick attempt was made.

Wilson's upset of the Hawkle's was their first loss in two years, and ended a 14 game streak without a loss. Last week, however, City High was held to a scoreless tie by a determined Clinton eleven.

Fort Dodge was the last team to job, handing the Little Hawks an 18-0 pasting during the 1932 season.

burg, who was injured in the Hawkeyes' 14-13 loss to Michigan, is a doubtful starter. Although he worked out the latter part of the week, speculation arose here Friday night whether he would even play.

Center Out

The Big Ten leading and undefeated Buckeyes will be missing their star center and line-backer Ken Vargo who broke his left arm, early in Ohio State's 40-7 romp over Illinois last weekend at Champaign.

Otherwise, Ohio looks in pretty good physical condition.

The Bucks pin their winning hopes largely on the all-around play of Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy, who has been giving all-American performances every game this season.

However, the home team also boasts a top notch quarterback in Dave Leggett and a rugged 191-pound right half, Bobby Watkins. It was Leggett and Watkins, along with Cassidy, who led the Buckeyes to a 40-7 romp over Illinois.

Attempting to maintain a superlative Hawkeye defense which has allowed only four touchdowns in three games, Coach Forest Evashevski has decided to go with Dick Deasy at Swedburg's tackle post.

Buckeye Coach Woody Hayes will put 192-pound Bob Thornton into the Vargo gap with the hope the patch work holds against an equally riddled Iowa line.

No Workout

Evashevski left no doubt Friday night that he recognized the threat of Ohio's offensive talent. Cancelling an outdoor workout on the Buckeye practice field, because of the chill, rainy weather, and still a trifle cross because of his team's upset at Ann Arbor last week, the Iowa coach forced very few smiles as he looked at the Ohio State contest.

"On time," with the Hawkeyes chartered airliner at Port Columbus, despite generally stormy weather between here and Iowa City, Evy said:

Proven Line

"Everyone knows how deep Ohio State is in good backfield men, and now that their line has proven it can spring them loose,

Can the Retired Return?

Sugar Ray Robinson, 32, Seeks to Recoup Middleweight Crown in Comeback

NEW YORK (AP) — Ray Robinson, who retired as undefeated middleweight champion of the world 22 months ago, said Friday he would start training Monday with the idea of making a comeback.

"I have the urge to fight again, but I won't make any final decision until I see how I make out in training," said Robinson, who says he is 32 although the record book says he's 34.

"I feel good — I don't think I ever felt better. I would like to become the first retired champion ever to regain a title, and I hope to get a shot at middleweight champion Bobo Olson if my training works out well."

He said, "I have no need to fight, but you know everyone likes a buck."

Asked if he thought he could beat Olson, Robinson replied: "I beat him twice before but that's in the past. How I would do now remains to be seen."

Robinson's last fight was June 25, 1932, in the heat at Yankee stadium, when he was unable to come out for the 14th round against Joey Maxim, in a battle for Maxim's world light heavyweight title. Robinson led in rounds won at the time.

Since then he has been campaigning as a song and dance man in night clubs and has made several tours of the United States and Europe.

Olson, the current middleweight champion, succeeded Robinson when he whipped England's Randy Turpin, the European king, in a 15-rounder in New York, Oct. 21, 1933. Prior to that fight, Olson had won the American title by drubbing Paddy Young, and Turpin had annexed European laurels by beating France's Charley Humez.

Can He Come Back?

Sugar Ray Robinson will be back in a familiar role Monday when he begins serious training in an attempt to become the first retired champion ever to regain a title. Robinson's last fight was in June, 1932 when he lost to Joey Maxim in a battle for the light heavyweight title.

NEW YORK (AP) — It is assumed that the public at large is properly confused over the negotiations to transfer the Philadelphia American league franchise to Kansas City. Just to make it unanimous, the American league is slightly confounded itself.

There seems to be something less than a unanimity of opinion among the club owners as to the advisability of moving the A's right now, with Calvin Griffith of the Senators leading the anti-faction.

We haven't a doubt concerning Kansas City's ability to support a major league team, and certainly to support it in a manner better than that to which the A's have been accustomed.

Good Sports Spirit

As a former resident we can testify there is nothing wrong with the spirit of the Missouri metropolis when it comes to sports, although if the transplanted A's fail to improve in their new surroundings they are liable to tax the patience of the most ardent fan.

Next year would be the test, as it is improbable the team would improve to a contending position overnight, and the fans might think they still were watching their American association club, when it was in a slump.

If the Kansas Citizens can weather that ordeal, bolstered by the hope of better things to come, they will be showing an enthusiasm which should continue at a high level when the better things do come.

New City for AA

The American association will have to hunt up a new site for the ousted Kansas City club. Denver and Omaha have been mentioned. Both are in the Western league. If Denver got the nod, there would be the little matter of travel.

Minor leagues as a whole probably aren't too much enthused over losing one of their better cities, figuring they have been having troubles enough as it is, what with the inroads of television and one thing and another.

At any rate, the A's should feel right at home in Kansas City. They practically were a road company of the Yankees this year, with six former New York properties on the roster.

Campy's Hand Needs Operation

BROOKLYN (AP) — Roy Campanella, veteran Brooklyn Dodgers catcher, will have to undergo another operation on his left hand.

The Dodgers made the announcement Friday after an unfavorable test at the New York Neurological institute. The test showed Campanella had no nerve reaction in the fourth finger of his left hand.

Campanella, voted the most valuable player in the National league in 1951 and 1953, will undergo the new operation next Wednesday at the Queens Memorial hospital.

Dr. Samuel Schenkman, who will do the surgery, said it would be an "exploratory operation" to try to discover the source of the catcher's trouble. Additional operations could be forthcoming.

The injury, suffered the first week of the season, plagued Campanella throughout the year and cut down his usefulness to the Dodgers. He hit only .207, playing spottily.

He underwent an operation May 4 for removal of a bone chip in his left hand and was forced out of action until May 31.

On July 9, he said two fingers of his left hand had become uncontrollably stiff and he might not be able to play baseball after the 1954 season. Nevertheless, he played in the all-star game July 13.

Colorado Invades ISC Homecoming

AMES (AP) — Undefeated Colorado shoots for victory No. 5 here today in a Big Seven football duel with a pepped up Iowa State squad.

It will be the second conference contest for the Buffs who knocked off Kansas, 27-0, and also hold one-sided victories over Drake, Colorado A & M and Arizona.

Statistically, Colorado leads the country's major teams in offense and also has the individual pacesetter in John Bayuk, a 221-pound fullback.

Iowa State may be too thinly manned to halt the Buffs but the Cyclones are set to give it a big try before a Homecoming crowd of around 15,000.

Iowa State excited its followers last Saturday with a 33-0 victory over Kansas to bring its conference percentage to .500 after losing to Nebraska, 39-14.

Yankees Activate 1st Negro Catcher

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees, who have been accused of discrimination, moved Friday to put their first Negro player — towering catcher Elston Howard — into an active Yankee uniform.

General Manager George Weiss, announcing the start of a rebuilding program for 1955, included Howard in a list of four players whose contracts were bought from minor league farm clubs.

Howard's papers were purchased from Kansas City of the American association along with those of Ed Cereghino and Tom Sturdivant, both righthanded pitchers. In addition, a promising third baseman, Leon (Buddy) Carter, was brought up from Binghamton of the Eastern league.

Sell Schulte Cicotte

To make room for these additions, the Yankees sold outfielder Art Schulte and pitcher Al Cicotte to Kansas City.

But the big news was the calling up again of Howard, a six-foot-two athlete who won the most valuable player award while with Toronto in the International league last season.

Howard caught the eye of Manager Casey Stengel in spring training at St. Petersburg last March. Stengel suggested one more year of seasoning and Howard, although the property of Kansas City, was sent on option to Toronto where he had an outstanding record.

Converted Outfielder

It was Stengel who shifted Howard from the outfield to a post behind the bat, and in the spring the Yankee manager commented:

"Howard's already a major league hitter. He has one of the greatest arms I have ever seen and anybody who doesn't think he's fast as a catcher is crazy."

"In a year or two he can be as great as Yogi Berra or Roy Campanella."

No-Hit Specialist Heads for Toledo

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Bill Allen, 23, who as a schoolboy pitcher twice hurled no-hitters to defeat Johnny Antonelli, 1954 World Series star for the New York Giants, Friday came home from the U.S. army ready to resume his baseball career.

He is scheduled to report to the Toledo club for spring training.

While Antonelli went to the Boston Braves as a reported $50,000 bonus player, Allen signed with the same club for no bonus at all. The Braves farmed Allen out to Hagerstown, Md., a Class B club for 1950-51. In 1952 he graduated to Milwaukee in the American association. He won 8 and lost 3 before going into the army.

ISC Plays Host To 1894 Team

DES MOINES (AP) — Five members of Iowa State's 1894 football team, the first ever to represent the school in intercollegiate contests, are going to get together at the ISC homecoming at Ames this weekend.

Included in the group will be the player-coach, Burt German of Des Moines; R. G. Weaver of Santa Clara, Calif.; Simon Tarr of Duluth, Minn.; Dr. I. C. Brownlie of Denver, Colo.; and Phil Damon of Ames.

The men will sit together in the stands today when Iowa State meets Colorado in the 1954 homecoming game.

Sunday TV Film To Feature SUI Speech Clinic Research

SUI's speech clinic will be featured Sunday on a nationally telecast CBS documentary, "The Search for Truth."

The half-hour program will be telecast by WIT-TV (channel 2), Cedar Rapids, at 6 p.m. Station WOI-TV (channel 5), Ames, will carry the program at 10:30 p.m.

Filmed at SUI last March, Sunday's program depicts the university's speech clinic and its work with stutterers. Clinic director Wendell Johnson and members of his staff take part in the program, as do speech pathology students and persons who have come to the clinic for assistance.

The program is the first of a series of 26 produced by CBS Television to highlight significant research projects in the nation's leading universities.

Sunday's program carries a warning to well-intentioned parents that they frequently are to blame for tomorrow's stutterers; that stuttering has its origin "not in the tongue of the stutterer, but in the ear of the parent."

The program demonstrates the harm done when an over-anxious parent insists too early on speech perfection in an otherwise normally-developing child.

The program also will offer clinical proof that stuttering will respond to proper therapy. Severe stutterers speaking normally when their attention is distracted will be shown.

Sunday's "The Search" is narrated by Charles Romine. It was produced by Irving Gitlin and directed by Heinwar Rodakiewicz.

Future "search" programs will originate from such universities as Chicago, California, Harvard, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio State, Minnesota and Yale.

ISC To Build New Dorm

DES MOINES (P)—The state board of education Friday authorized Iowa State college to proceed with plans and specifications for a 360-woman dormitory estimated to cost $1,600,000.

The dormitory, Linden hall, will complete a semi-circle of women's housing units on the southeast corner of the campus. Fixtures and other equipment for the dormitory will cost an additional $300,000.

Facilities in the new building will provide dining room service to residents of two other nearby dormitories.

No state appropriated funds will be used since the dormitory will be financed by self-liquidating bonds which will be retired by fees and services.

Construction is expected to begin in the spring. The building is to be ready for occupancy in September, 1956.

The board also gave permission to the college to prepare planning a third dormitory to be paid for under the same plan as Linden hall.

Sewer Rental Rates To Be Reduced 25%

Iowa City sewer rental rates will be cut by 25 per cent Jan. 1, City Manager Peter Roan announced Friday.

The reduction will save about $2 annually for the average householder and $10 for the average commercial user, Roan estimated.

The new rate charge will be 5.6 cents per 100 cubic feet. The present rate is 7.6 cents.

The reduction was possible this year when 20-year bonds issued for construction of the municipal sewage disposal plants were retired. Rental bills will now be used only to operate the plant.

A change in the billing system will accompany the reduced sewer rentals. Consumers will be billed every six months, instead of the present two-month system.

Coralville and University Heights users will not receive reductions. They are covered by contracts that fix their rates at 10 cents per 100 cubic.

SUI covered one-third of the cost of the $400,000 plant when it was built in 1935.

Journalists To Hear Veteran Time Writer

John Scott, assistant to the publisher of Time magazine, will be the main speaker at the 1954 Waygoose journalism banquet next Wednesday, in the River room of the Iowa Memorial Union. His topic will be "Talking Turkey."

A former chief of several overseas bureaus for Time and Life magazines, Scott will draw from his experiences as an author, lecturer and foreign correspondent for his remarks at the banquet, sponsored by the Associated Students of Journalism.

Scott joined the Time staff as a correspondent in 1941 and was sent to Japan. A year later, he became a contributing editor for

Time in New York. In 1943, he covered the state department in Washington. He was next assigned to London and then Stockholm, where he was chief of the Time and Life bureau until 1945.

Made Bureau Chief
For the next three years Scott worked in Time's central European office in Berlin as chief of the bureau. In 1948 he returned to the New York office.

During 1951, Scott was an editor on a secret air force project produced by The March of Time. He was in Europe and North Africa during the summer of 1952, spending most of his time in Germany and Austria, but also working in Greece, Turkey, Italy, Morocco, France and England.

Scott is the author of "Beyond the Urals," a book published in 1942, describing life in the Siberian steel mills and chemical plants. The book is based on his own experiences from 1932 to 1937.

He is also the author of "Duel for Europe," published shortly after his first book.

Joined French Agency
After the great purge of 1937 forced him from Soviet industry, Scott remained in Moscow for three years as a correspondent for Havas, the French news agency, and later for the London News Chronicle.

Two weeks before the German attack against U.S.S.R., the Soviet authorities expelled Scott from the country for "slandering" Soviet foreign policy and "inventing" reports of Soviet-German friction. He then left for Japan, where he joined the staff of Time.

Now head of the land tenure unit in the U.S. department of agriculture, Harris will represent the USDA in the cooperative program recently established between the department, the Agriculture Law center in the SUI college of law, and the Iowa State college division of agriculture. Named director of the Agriculture Law center was John C. O'Byrne, associate professor in the college of law.

Janet Burnham was named associate professor in the SUI college of dentistry. Since 1950 a member of the State Services for Crippled Children staff at SUI, Mrs. Burnham holds a graduate degree in dental hygiene from the University of Minnesota and a bachelor of science degree from SUI.

In addition to addresses and phone numbers of all students and faculty, both directories list university administrative officers and their office numbers, maps of Iowa City and the campus and the university calendar. The 122-page student directory also contains a list of housing unit personnel, campus organizations and student church groups.

New Rule Governs Dropping Courses

Students cannot add new courses or substitute courses after the first three weeks of the semester, according to a new rule in the college of liberal arts, Dean Dewey H. Stuit of SUI's college of liberal arts, announced.

This semester's three week deadline was last Wednesday.

Courses may be dropped during the first six weeks of the semester with the grade W for withdrawal. A course dropped during the final four weeks, the student receives an F.

In other SUI colleges no qualification is made for students who drop courses in the first 12 weeks. Rules after that are the same as in liberal arts.

Student Talent To Be Listed By Council Index Committee

A new committee has been formed by the SUI Student Council to make an index of talented entertainers on campus. Toby Dunitz, A3, Newton, was appointed chairman of the committee, and Carol Rawson, A3, Chicago, Ill., will assist her.

In recent years, the office of student affairs has received a number of requests for student talent from a variety of organizations.

Until this year there had been no way to reach students who might desire to do this type of work except through personal contact. As a result, the opportunity to gain training through amateur and professional experience had often been lost.

The Student Council was notified of the situation and voted last year to set up an index.

Miss Dunitz is sending letters to all campus organizations asking them to compile a list of students with entertaining ability. She would like information on the type of act, number of persons involved, and the accompaniment and properties needed.

After the committee has made a listing of all available student talent, it expects to advertise the entertainment available and serve as a middle man between the students and those wishing to engage them.

Students who have not been contacted through their housing units or other organizations may call Miss Dunitz at 4197 or the Student Council office, x2350. Anyone interested in working on this committee should also call Miss Dunitz.

Visiting Nurse Group Celebrates 5th Year

The Iowa City Visiting Nurses association celebrated three big events this week — one of the most eventful weeks since it was organized in 1949.

1. Mrs. Mary Jane Sutter, former air force nurse, joined the staff Wednesday.

2. Registered nurse Mildred Smith, for the past five months the only staff nurse, made her 10,000th call Thursday morning.

3. The Iowa City VNA is celebrating its fifth anniversary. The unit, presently composed of the two registered nurses and their secretary, is sponsored by the Iowa City Community Chest.

Mrs. Sutter, whose husband is studying pharmacy at SUI, has lived in Iowa City since September. At present she is making calls with Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. Smith's 10,000th visit in Iowa City was to a woman convalescing from a hip fracture. She has been making bi-weekly calls to help her patient to walk. Mrs. Smith, for 27 years a public nurse, said she expects to expand her services with the help of her new co-worker. In the future she will be able to give instruction to mothers, help plan meals, and aid in carrying out doctor's orders.

Often the nurses will bathe, feed and get a youngster off to school when the mother is ill in bed and the father is at work.

Working out of a small office on the second floor of City hall, the nurses have a schedule of calls from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. When not on call they give aid to worried mothers and housewives. They and the VNA's secretary, Mrs. Vanita Roberts, are often asked where to buy good baby powder, what to do for a minor cut, and similar questions. Once they were asked what to use to get rid of cockroaches.

The Iowa City VNA was founded five years ago this month by a former president of the Community Chest board, Mrs. H. S. Ivie. One-fourth of the receipts of the current Community Chest drive will go to the VNA.

2d Candidate Refuses Free Game Tickets

A Linn county candidate for state officer has followed the lead of William Denman, Polk county Democratic nominee for state legislature, by refusing two free tickets to the Iowa-Purdue homecoming football game Nov. 6.

Wednesday, Denman rejected tickets because "receiving them raised in my mind why they were sent to me."

John M. Ely, Linn county Democratic candidate for the state legislature, said Friday that "we need to improve the ethical tone of our government. Too many subtle influences are at work on legislators."

Robert Ebel, homecoming committee chairman expressed regret at Ely's decision, adding "I do not regard entertainment of state officers and candidates at a homecoming function as an attempt to exert subtle influence on them. That was not our intention. The long tradition of this courtesy without any previous objection from intended guests supports this view."

Ely said he would accept SUI's invitation to both the game and the pre-game luncheon in the fieldhouse, but only on the condition that he pay his own way.

The committee has not received any other rejections.

3 Airmen Killed In B25 Bomber Crash in Nebraska

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., (P)—A B25 bomber from Offutt air force base, Omaha, crashed on a farm four miles north of Nebraska City Friday, killing all three persons aboard.

A strategic air command spokesman at Offutt said the twin-engine World War II light bomber was on a routine training flight.

He said an accident investigating team was sent to Nebraska City to determine the extent of the crew injuries, but persons at the scene reported seeing three bodies in the wreckage.

Arthur Sweet, Nebraska City newspaper editor, who reached the crash scene shortly after the crash was reported, said the plane did not burn, but he "could see three bodies."

CHECKING PLANS for the Community Chest drive, of which the Visiting Nurses association receives one-fourth of the receipts, are, from left to right, Roger H. Ivie, representative of the Community Chest; Mrs. Mildred Smith, registered nurse who recently made her 10,000th local visit, and Mrs. Mary Jane Sutter, who joined the staff Wednesday.
