Insurance Firms Accused Of False Advertising

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government accused 17 of the nation's health, hospital and accident insurance companies Tuesday of misrepresenting benefits they offer millions of customers.

Chairman Edward F. Howrey of the federal trade commission announced the complaints, charging "false and misleading advertising." He said that in a 10-month inquiry of nearly 900 other health and accident insurance companies, the FTC has found hundreds of similar practices and will file additional complaints.

17 Companies Involved
Tuesday's FTC action involved companies in Texas, Missouri, Illinois, Utah, New York, Indiana, Delaware, Nebraska and Arkansas. In some cases, the commission said, misleading statements were made about the extent of coverage of policies; in others there was alleged misrepresentation of maximum benefits or other matters.

"In the aggregate," the FTC said, "the 17 companies named in the proceedings account for annual premiums of $300 billion, representing about one-third of the total accident and health coverage on an individual policy basis in the U.S."

Involves 4 Largest Firms
"The four largest companies in this field — Mutual Benefit Health & Accident association, of Omaha, Neb.; Mutual of Omaha; Bankers Life and Casualty Co., of Chicago; The White Cross Plan; Reserve Life Insurance Co., of Dallas, Tex., and United Insurance Co., Chicago—are among the 17 companies cited for alleged misrepresentation of their policies."

Members of seven Chicago insurance firms, among the 17 accused, expressed surprise Tuesday at the FTC's action.

Charge Termed 'Bombshell'
A spokesman for Bankers Life and Casualty Co. said "This action is more or less a bombshell. I am sure the FTC and our company are agreed on our wish to protect the public."

Seymour B. Orner, president of the LaSalle Casualty Co., said "This is the first I've heard of a complaint. We flatly deny that our advertising is misleading. It complies with the FTC rules." W. J. Fowler, assistant to the president of Guarantee Trust Life Insurance Co., said "We haven't received anything official." He added, "It's a very minor thing, I think—just a matter of setting some new rules."

The joint committee on health insurance, composed of representatives of seven insurance associations, issued a statement saying:

Statement Issued

"The complaints . . . are not a definite finding or ruling that the advertising in question actually violates the provisions of the Federal Trade Commission act, nor does the filing of these complaints imply that the relatively few companies concerned are averse to changing their advertising to remove FTC objections."

"The business is making every effort to have advertising conform to the highest standards. It desires to cooperate with state insurance commissioners and the FTC to this end."

Variety of Allegations

The commission listed a variety of alleged misrepresentations. No one company was charged with committing all.

The companies have 20 days to file their answer to the complaints. Hearing dates for each case were set on various days in December.

If the FTC complaints stand up, the commission will issue orders telling the companies to cease and desist from the practices.

And No One Was Hurt

Forty-two passengers fled from this Chicago Transit Authority bus shortly before it was struck and sheared in two by a commuter train during the evening rush hour Tuesday. The bus stalled on the tracks. No one was injured in the collision and the train, apparently undamaged, continued on its run.

Ives Links Harriman With Scandal

(AP Wirephoto)

AVERELL HARRIMAN, DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE for governor of New York, replied Tuesday night in New York to charges leveled at him by his Republican opponent, Sen. Irving Ives, who said Harriman was involved in a $250,000 scandal in 1930. Harriman called Ives' charges a "slandering attack."

Says Democrat Not Fit for Governorship

NEW YORK (AP)—Republican Sen. Irving M. Ives, in a statewide television speech Tuesday night, accused Averell Harriman, his Democratic-liberal opponent for the governorship, of being involved in a $250,000 New York waterfront scandal in 1930.

Ives asked his listeners to decide whether Harriman "is fit to be governor of New York."

Ives had broken off an upstate campaign tour to make the television address, which he said would reveal "a startling and shocking situation."

Company Pays
Ives said that a shipping company in which Harriman had an interest had paid out the $250,000 to a law clerk in the office of a Brooklyn judge to obtain a lease on docks controlled by Tammany Hall.

Ives said that Harriman at the time asserted he knew nothing whatsoever about the deal.

"I tell you, that you can't trust the business of the state to a man who says he didn't know what happened to a quarter of a million dollars of his own company's money paid to a corrupt judge," Ives said.

Ives Involves Tammany Hall

"The important thing is not whether Harriman told the truth or whether he didn't. The important thing is that you can be sure that if he is elected, Tammany Hall will make away with everything in the state except the steps of the state capitol."

He said the judge in question was named Vause and that he was sent to prison for six years in another case.

Apparently the judge to whom Ives referred was W. Bernard Vause, who was sentenced on July 30, 1930, to six years for conspiracy and use of the mails to defraud in connection with the Columbia Finance corp. case.

Goes Back to 1920

Ives said the story "goes back to the 1920's when the Tammany Hall grafters were riding at their very highest."

"It was one of the scandals that led to the Seabury investigation and the ousting from office of the mayor of the city of New York," Ives said in an apparent reference to the late Mayor James J. Walker.

"It was one of the scandals that led to the revolt which elected Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia and threw Tammany out for a dozen years. It involves a Brooklyn judge who went to prison—who got $250,000 from a Harriman company of which my opponent was the chairman of the board of directors."

Bought Ships

"My opponent had set out to be a shipping tycoon and bought a lot of ships to be owned or operated by his company, the United American line."

"The venture was a failure. It was losing money hand over fist and Mr. Harriman decided to unload," Ives continued.

"He found a company willing to buy his ships. But they had to have a lease on docks for their ships in New York."

Tammany Hall Controlled the Docks

"Company Gets Docks"
Ives said that Harriman's company wanted those docks and got them. "How did they get the docks?" Ives asked. "That's the secret and the story."

Ives said four years passed and the secret "seemed to be safe." "Everything was happy until the spring of 1930 when the scandal broke loose," Ives said.

French-German Saar Conference Progressing

PARIS (AP)—French officials Tuesday night reported some progress was made toward solving the status of the Saar valley. The report came after six hours of conferences between Premier Pierre Mendes-France and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Tuesday's conference was the curtain raiser for a series of big power meetings designed to bring West Germany into a strengthened Brussels alliance and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

British Dock Strike Spreads to North

LONDON (AP)—British dock workers spread their crippling strike to the big North Sea port of Hull Tuesday night in defiance of an implied government threat to have troops unload ships.

The mushrooming 16-day walkout—swollen by wildcat sympathy strikes and joined by the Communists—is holding up $200 million worth of imports and exports and has posed a serious threat to Britain's whole economy.

Half of Britain's 76,000 dockers and workers allied with the industry are idle. The vast port of London has been closed down as has Birkenhead. Liverpool has been crippled.

In the main Atlantic port of Southampton, the dock workers rejected overwhelmingly Tuesday night a demand to join the strike.

The decision was made at a meeting near the port as the liner Queen Elizabeth docked stern first ready for scheduled departure Thursday.

U.S. Clears Dutch In Espionage Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials expressed belief Tuesday that the Dutch had acted in good faith in the case of Joseph S. Petersen Jr., who is accused of "improperly taking" secret defense documents belonging to the U.S. and giving them to the Netherlands.

A high Dutch official said the Netherlands had obtained information from Petersen under the impression he was authorized to give it out.

The Netherlands embassy here also said its government had "exchanged" information with Petersen, a $7,700-a-year research analyst with the ultra-secret National Security Agency. He was fired from that job several weeks ago.

Petersen Before Grand Jury

The official statements, confirming an earlier report, were issued shortly before a federal grand jury in nearby Alexandria, Va., recessed for the second straight day without deciding whether to indict Petersen.

Until today the Justice department and the FBI had steadfastly refused to name the nation involved in the charge that Petersen obtained government documents and information on national defense "with intent or reason to believe" it would be used to injure the U.S. or to the advantage of a foreign nation.

Didn't Question Good Faith

A Defense department statement said the U.S. "has no reason to question the good faith of the Netherlands government, which has been demonstrated by that government's cooperation during the investigatory period."

The U.S. government added that it "must affirm that the activities of the American citizen involved in this case were completely unauthorized by his government and were carried out under his own personal responsibility without the knowledge of his superiors and in violation of the laws of the U.S."

Information Gave Tip-Off

The informant who first identified the Netherlands as the country involved said the case grew out of Petersen's friendship with a Dutch general who served in Washington during World War II after the Dutch lost Java to the Japanese. The general was not identified.

The informant said only friendship was involved and Petersen is not accused of any financial transaction in connection with the case.

Lone Bandit Gets $50,000 In Nebraska Bank Holdup

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP)—A bandit with a western drawl and squeaking cowboy boots slipped into the First state bank with employees coming to work Tuesday and staged a $50,000 robbery.

He fled in a bank bookkeeper's car and hours later was still on the loose.

Carrying a big canvas bag, the holdup man appeared from the shadows of a stairwell when Mrs. Dorothy Fox opened the back door of the bank.

For 45 minutes he held Mrs. Fox and five other employees under the muzzle of a sawed-off shotgun he took from his bag, while waiting for the vault's time-lock to operate. Once inside, he also donned a rubber full-face Halloween mask.

When the time lock opened the vault, the bandit gave Cashier Dale Adams the canvas bag and told him to fill it up, drawing: "Leave the ones' till last."

Then he locked the six employees in the vault and fled through the back door.

Assistant Cashier Howard Berger freed the six about 10 minutes later and called police.

Concert Tickets Available Now

Student tickets for the Oct. 24 concert by Metropolitan opera star George London are now available at the Iowa Memorial Union desk.

Students may secure tickets by presenting identification cards. The ID cards must be shown again at the concert.

Members of the faculty and staff may purchase tickets for $2.50 upon presentation of staff cards.

Sales of tickets to staff personnel will begin Thursday.

Nixon Says Security Risks Date from Acheson Regime

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Vice-President Richard Nixon said Tuesday night that all but one of more than 150 former state department employees listed as security risks on grounds of subversive associations or sexual perversion were "inherited from the Acheson regime."

"The other one was a 90-day temporary employe who lost his job the moment that his security check was completed," he said in a speech prepared for a GOP campaign finance dinner. The Republican national committee paid for televising the address on a Philadelphia station and for filmed telecasts over eight stations in New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts.

Nixon struck out sharply at what he said were "inspired stories to the effect that a great majority" of the 6,926 alleged security risks which the administration says were removed from the government payroll from May 1953 through last June "were hired by this administration, and not by the Truman administration."

He said a "leftwing clique . . . also tried to create the impression that the offenses of those discharged were inconsequential," and the Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell "compared them to 'traffic ticket violators.'"

To answer that, he listed—without names or the agencies involved—the cases of seven former employes "inherited from the previous administration" who he said were active in the Communist party and its affairs.

Italians Brawl In Chamber Of Deputies

ROME (AP)—Italy's chamber of deputies broke in to a fist-swinging brawl Tuesday night when Christian Democrats and Communists called each other "fascist."

The outburst forced temporary suspension of the session which had been drawing near a vote of confidence on Italy's settlement with Yugoslavia of the Trieste dispute. The senate has already passed a similar vote.

Shrieking "scoundrels," "idiots," "madmen," and "sons of dogs," the angered Communists poured from their seats and struggled to reach the center benches.

Chamber President Giovanni Gronchi shouted for order. A blast on his whistle brought a stream of ushers down the aisles to hold the Communists back.

The disorder broke out when Christian Democrat Deputy Giuseppe Togni denounced the Communists as "subjects of a nation which is not Italy and to laws not made in Rome . . ."

Goal Half Reached In Chest Drive

Contributions to the Community Chest drive total more than half of the goal, County Attorney William Meardon, chairman of the drive, said Tuesday.

The contributions as of Tuesday are $17,750. The goal set is $33,379.

Today the canvassing of the residential districts, this year including Coralville, will begin. Families who have already contributed are asked to place their red feather stickers in their window, so that solicitors will not have to make unnecessary stops.

Mr. I. L. Hedges is chairman of the residential drive. Mrs. Madison Putnam will be handling the Coralville area.

British Rule Of Suez Ends

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Under close security guard, British and Egyptian diplomats Tuesday night signed a historic treaty to end Britain's occupation of the Suez canal zone within 20 months.

A proclamation held Egyptian police and armed forces in a state of alert after alleged agents of the Communists and the fanatical Moslem brotherhood had stoned and wrecked two buses near Cairo.

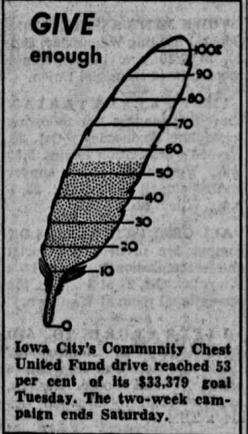

Officials said the alerting proclamation was merely precautionary. They explained the incident that prompted it occurred at a youth rally held in the Giza area near the Great Pyramid to celebrate the end of 72 years of British military activity in Egypt.

A few persons were reported injured and several were arrested for questioning.

Law Stretched For Twins

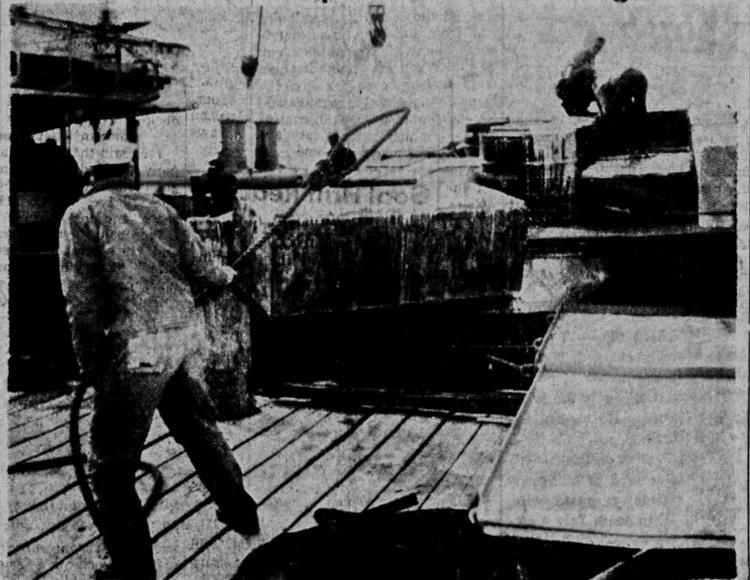

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP)—John W. Nolan petitioned the city board of alderman to waive the building code to allow him to convert a second floor porch into a bedroom.

He needed the extra room, he explained, for his recently born twins. The petition was granted.

Iowa City's Community Chest United Fund drive reached 53 per cent of its $33,379 goal Tuesday. The two-week campaign ends Saturday.

Michigan Police Shock Motorists

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan state police are trying shock to reduce the state's highway death toll.

An 18-page booklet of pictures showing ways in which motorists can die is being given to traffic offenders. The introduction is gruesome enough. It reads, in part:

"The pictures in this booklet aren't pretty. They're gruesome—they're horrible—but they are true. No one likes to look at bones sticking through flesh from compound fractures or faces smashed beyond recognition by windshields or heads and arms severed from the body—but that's what happened 105 times a day last year."

Debate on Formosan Activity Delayed in UN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The UN assembly steering committee decisively rejected Soviet demands Tuesday for immediate debate on American air and sea activity around Formosa and the ocean off the Red China mainland.

It voted 12-2 to postpone the question for 14 days after new and bitter exchanges in the committee between U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. and Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky. Russia and Czechoslovakia voted against the delay.

Front Porch Politics—

This practice of spinning war yarns out of the imagination is fitting for a retired war veteran lounging on the front porch, but it is entirely out of place in the political ring. The Utah Republican party had no choice but to accept the resignation of Republican Rep. Douglas R. Stringfellow after he admitted that his tales of operations behind the German lines during World War II were a complete hoax. Stringfellow personally apologized to the committee for the hoax. He also said he had not confessed earlier because "I just did not have the courage. I never found the way." If such is the case, Stringfellow is not the sort of man who should sit in the United States congress. This incident offers a warning to politicians and voters alike. We all have a weakness for glamour in public figures. An unusual talent, distinctive habit, stock phrase or gesture is often used to overshadow the capabilities of a public official. A political commentator once wrote, "Probably the most important single accomplishment for the politically ambitious, the most effective asset they can possibly acquire, is the fine art of seeming to say something without doing so." All of us should keep check on our own set of values as well as those of our leaders. Leaders are only as good as the people who elect them.

Kids Fight Own Problem—

Down at Bellevue, Ky., a town of 9,000 a curfew law had been called upon to keep boys and girls off the streets at night. The restriction had become necessary because of the actions of no more than 20 youngsters who were giving all the kids a bad name. Said the mayor of the town: "The boys responsible are the wise guys who shout at passing cars and pedestrians and who think it's smart to drink intoxicants and who race through the streets in their automobiles." At that point the kids took over and decided that they were going to do something about the ones who were giving them a bad name. They dug up the Athenian oath, taken 200 years ago by the youths of Greece, and every student in the high school subscribed to it. Hear it now: "We will never bring disgrace to this, our city, by an act of dishonesty, or cowardice, nor ever desert our suffering comrades in the ranks. "We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the city, both alone and with many; we will revere the city's laws, and do our best to incite a like respect and reverence in those above us who are prone to annul or set them at naught; we will strive unceasingly to quicken the public's sense of duty. "Thus in all these ways, we will transmit this city not only not less, but greater than it was transmitted to us." In the same manner, the young folks of Fairfield or any other town could accomplish more than curfew laws and police restrictions. In fact we wonder if they are not doing something about it.

Japanese Have Troubles, Too—

"How is your business these days?" "Much better thanks. And you?" These had been typical daily greetings of Osaka merchants until quite recently. Reflecting the stringency of economic conditions caused by the government-planned deflation policy, merchant's conversations today are more often like this: "How are you tiding over the monetary difficulties?" "Oh, I am at my wit's end."

Fuel Plan Sours Koreans

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea relations, already strained over a 700 million dollar aid program, has grown more tense over an 8th Army plan to sell surplus fuel stocks in South Korea. The U. S. plan was announced Sunday as a move to get Korean currency to pay off 100,000 Korean employees. The South Korean government on Oct. 1 shut off all currency advances in a dispute over the exchange rate for the Korean monetary unit, the hwan. Prime Minister Pyun Yung Tai told newsmen Monday the army decision was unilateral. He called it an attempt to distribute petroleum on the open market without previous consultation with Korean officials. What irked South Korean officials obviously was that the 8th Army proposed to sell its fuel at the rate of 10 hwan to $1. The official rate is 180 to 1, but U. S. authorities say this is unrealistic, with the black market rate hitting as high as 800 to 1. Korean officials have accused

Sex Brought into Trial Of Cleveland Osteopath

CLEVELAND (AP)—The defense heatedly charged Tuesday that sex in the person of pretty, young Susan Hayes is the heart of the murder case against Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard. Sheppard, 30, is on trial for his life. He is accused of bludgeoning his blonde, pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31, to death July 4 after a love affair with Miss Hayes, 24, a technician who formerly worked with Sheppard in his family's osteopathic hospital just outside Cleveland. Sheppard has pleaded innocent to murder.

Interpreting the News

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
Foreign Staff
Associated Press

President Tubman of Liberia, now visiting the United States, thinks powers like the U.S. and Britain should get over the idea that the problems of underdeveloped countries are theirs alone to solve. Nationalism among the big powers, he says, prevents them from seeing some of the wrongs in themselves and rights in others. "If the smaller nations that are in the majority were given an opportunity to express themselves they might be able to advance some suggestions that may be helpful."

Misplaced Emphasis He thinks the eastern powers place too much emphasis on the efforts of the Communists to subvert national independence movements to their own purposes. This he says, should not be permitted to obscure "one of the fundamental and far-reaching developments of the present century," the unremitting demand for independence by the heretofore subject or underdeveloped peoples.

That is one of the great problems of the time. The world's experience, with Indonesia, for instance, has not been a happy one, nor is India pursuing what the west considers the best course. In such times as these, with a great power standing ready to grab off every strag, where does the balance lie between the various independent movements and the community interests?

Incapable of Independence The trouble with a lot of independence movements is that people want to stand alone when they are incapable of it. Belgium and Holland and Norway, highly developed countries, and certainly independent, have learned that lesson within this century. Coloring President Tubman's approach, of course, is the fact that Liberia has never been troubled either by communism or colonialism. It was sponsored directly by the U.S. One of the interesting things about it is that the major job was done by private investment.

In these latter days, the government aid is designed as the forerunner of private investment. But this runs into snags. In the first place, since it is government-sponsored, it is suspicious as another form of colonialism.

Need for Aid Another great problem is technical. The countries which have the greatest need for development are the least able to offer incentive to private investment. Pakistan has just arranged to let foreign investors convert their profits into foreign exchange and take them out of the country. But Turkey, with a great modern program deliberately designed to attract private investors, is short of foreign exchange and has been unable to go so far.

From the security standpoint and from the economic standpoint about all the nations can do under present circumstances is to feel their way along, the large ones without arrogance and the small ones without intransigence.

GOPs, Demos Tangle In Campaign Windup

Candidates in Iowa's Nov. 2 general election began their last two weeks of the campaign with speeches at several points over the state.

Rep. Thomas E. Martin, Republican nominee for the U.S. senate, told a Carroll civic club dinner meeting that "boasts" of some Democrats that they have supported the Eisenhower program are "misleading."

"The fact is," he continued, "they have backed the Eisenhower administration only when such action served their own purposes."

"If the Democrats gain control of the next congress, it is certain that they will be thinking about the 1956 presidential race and will attempt to scuttle the Eisenhower legislative program in order to make their own party look good."

After a review of the administration's accomplishments, Sen. B. B. Hickenlooper (R-Ia.) told an Indiana rally that "Tom Martin is one of the best friends the farmer has."

As to the Eisenhower farm program, the senator commented: "The Republicans have presented the country with the best and soundest farm program we've ever had. Given a chance to operate, the proof of its soundness will be completely evident."

Martin's opponent is Democratic Sen. Guy M. Gillette. Hoegh in a speech prepared the past 16 years.

He disputed what he said was President Eisenhower's effort to blame this situation on the Democrats and declared: "When the Republicans were elected the farmer was getting 100 per cent of parity. Today he is getting 88 per cent."

He also charged the GOP with failing to "take proper steps to head off unemployment" and said they "shouldn't have started the program of giving away our natural resources."

Maurice E. Rawlings Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor of Iowa, delivered the speech prepared by Clyde E. Herring, the party's candidate for governor.

He said that the 498 highway deaths in Iowa so far this year were due in large part to the "narrow roads, sharp curves and death trap bridges" which he said have been left on the roads because of Republican neglect in the past 16 years.

STATE ON THE MOVE

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Connecticut's Motor Vehicles Commissioner Charles F. Kelley reports that the state has more registered motor vehicles (900,000) than dwelling units (700,000).

U.S. Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.), the Democratic candidate for vice-president in 1952, said that the Republicans have asked for a vote of confidence but "they are not entitled to one."

"During the two years they have been in office," Sparkman said, "they have failed to provide an adequate agricultural program. Incomes have gone down and as a consequence farmers are caught in the worst pinch in years."

He disputed what he said was President Eisenhower's effort to blame this situation on the Democrats and declared: "When the Republicans were elected the farmer was getting 100 per cent of parity. Today he is getting 88 per cent."

Don't Scorn Theory, Says SUI Economist

The "practical man" who scorns "theories" in favor of "facts" is actually more impractical than he realizes, observes Clark Bloom, SUI economist.

For the man who claims to ignore theories really accepts and follows a theory unconsciously, Bloom says. Everybody has theories, which are ways of looking at and selecting facts and for acting on the basis of things not known, he says.

Bloom makes these points in the new issue of the Iowa Business Digest, in which he presents a philosophical-economic basis for considering the conflicting and fragmentary policy statements of special interest groups.

"Since theories are inevitable, the man who claims he has no theories is not conscious of his fact-sorting system. He never asks himself whether he is looking at the relevant or the 'right' facts. Consequently his picture of reality is less likely to be reliable than that of a person who questions his thinking as he fits facts into a system of relationships," the SUI economist explains.

On the other hand, persons who hold a fixed theory based on what they wish to believe may refuse to consider additional facts in their picture of economic reality. They as much as say, "When the facts are contrary to my theory, so much the worse for the facts," Bloom continues.

For instance, it is frequently claimed that when income tax rates rise, persons will work less and that—out of smaller after-tax incomes—they will save less, leaving businessmen a smaller volume of funds for expansion. This view seems so reasonable, is so consistent with what many of us wish to believe, that it has come to be descriptive of reality for many persons, Bloom notes. Actually, however, the facts question the theory here. When income tax rates, have risen persons have worked longer hours, not shorter. Saving has gone up, not down. Current output has risen, not declined. Capital expansion has been rapid, not slow, the SUI economist observes.

What is required, then, for such data is a theory which will include and explain all facts, not just those supporting the wishes special interest groups may campaign for. In these situations the economist serves in devising and testing such all-inclusive—and therefore practical—theories, Bloom concludes.

Sanity Hearing Set for Schmuck

KNOXVILLE (AP)—The murder trial of Harlan J. Schmuck, 38, of Knoxville, ended abruptly in district court Tuesday, and Judge Phil R. Wilkinson said he would conduct a sanity hearing of Schmuck next week.

County Attorney E. Raymond Mick explained after the court dismissed the jury that a reasonable doubt had arisen in the mind of the court as to the defendant's ability to stand trial. The trial started Monday, the jury was selected and the state was presenting its witnesses when the end came.

Schmuck was charged in connection with the fatal stabbing here June 2 of his mother, Mrs. Fay Bolen, 53.

Defense attorney N. D. Shinn had indicated he would attempt to prove Schmuck was insane at the time of the slaying.

Design Students Plan House

Class Designs House To Gain Experience

By BRUCE GOETSCH

The architectural design class under the direction of Prof. John Schulze of the art department is designing a house of Mr. and Mrs. Jay H. Jones of Iowa City.

The class is working on the project in order to get actual experience in building on a real lot, rather than working from imaginary lot on paper. Here on the real lot they can see exactly what they have to work with.

The lot is located on Kimbal road, and is rather steep with several old trees. To keep the original beauty of the lot, Schulze has required the design students to avoid cutting down any of the trees.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Jones are not sure they will use any one student's ideas and plans, they feel they will be able to make use of the ideas from several students.

Class Makes Plans
The class members will each plan a house as if they were the real designer. During the rest of this semester they will spend most of their class time drawing plans, figuring out the problems the lot presents, and making scale models of their plans.

Members of the class are William Baker, E3, Iowa City; Bradley Beals, E2, Newton; Gordon Cross, G, Rosario, Argentina; Sylvia Dolch, A3, Maquoketa; Taylor Flynn, A2, Hawarden; Dan Fox, A2, Charles City;

Helmut Grambert, E4, Wiesbaden, German; Kathleen Jones, A2, Iowa City; Celeste Kirwan, A3, Iowa City; Thomas Laughlin, A3, Des Moines; William Mcnard, A3, Sergeant Bluff; Floyd Starr, G, Ft. Madison; Loring Tyler, A4, Davenport; Mary C. Taylor, G, Winter Park, Fla.

Vern Thompson, G, Cedar Rapids; Lorraine Ward, A4, Oelwein; Nicos Zagraphos, G, Athens, Greece; Marietta Eighme, G, Tingley; Beverly Bloes, A4, Sibley, and Bruce Goetsch, A3, Decorah.

Class Officers To Be Chosen By Nurses Today

Nursing students are holding election for class officers today. Ballots can be obtained at the voting booth in Currier hall from 4 to 7 p. m. Westlawn's booth will be open from 10 a. m. to 7:30 p. m. to aid the nurses who are working different shifts. All student nurses will have an opportunity to vote.

Candidates for freshmen officers include Pat Faulkner, Des Moines, and Sonja Swanson, East Moline, Ill., president; Margaret Erickson, Dayton, and Gayle Maddison, Sioux City, vice-president; Donna Bevel, Davenport, and Susan Goodfellow, Aurora, Ill., secretary; Barbara Schmitt, Oshkosh, Wis., and Laura Wittekind, Paw Paw, Mich., treasurer.

Sophomore Candidates
Sophomore candidates for president, are: Dorothy Maher, Iowa City, and Margaret Rickett, Mt. Pleasant; vice-president Mary Brammer, Preston and Shirley Taylor, Iowa City; secretary, Barbara Bell, Des Moines, and Marcie Lambert, Dysart; treasurer, Mary Jane Harms, Vincennes, Ind., and Patricia Zimmerman, Iowa City.

Junior candidates include president, Norma Walker, Berwick, Ill., and Sylvia Woodruff, Gettysburg, S. D., and Nancy Simmon, Rock Island, Ill.; secretary, Martha Olson, Sioux City and Bob Smith, Iowa City; treasurer, Gretchen Kfater, Boone and Joyce Moberg, Gowrie.

Senior Candidates
Senior candidates for president are Joann Tracy, Ankeny, and Janet Hale, West Liberty; vice-president, Norma Kappleman, Des Moines, and Ruth Nelson, Humbolt; secretary, Arlene Edwards, Grundy Center, and Mary Frances Osborne, Iowa City; treasurer, Lorna Bueneke, Waterloo, and Betty Rice, Blanchard.

Crippled Girls Join Scout Troop; Learn Hand Crafts

You don't have to be able to hike or to camp overnight to be a Girl Scout.

Four girls at the Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children tell you this. Every Thursday afternoon at 4 p. m. they roll their wheel chairs or walkers toward the school library where they hold their scout meeting.

Their troop was organized on October 7 and will operate on a rotation system. Eight girls, one-half the troop from Horace Mann school, will meet with the handicapped girls for two months. The other half will then replace them. By using girls from an already organized troop, the scout leaders hope to give the handicapped girls the feeling of taking a real part in scouting activities.

Officers Named
The officers of the new troop were chosen from the handicapped girls. They take charge of the business meeting and plan future meetings with the scout leader.

At the next meeting, the girls will meet in the wood working shop at the school, where they will begin working on hand puppets. The puppets will have paper-mache heads and for easy handling will be manipulated by placing the fingers of one hand inside the sleeves of the dress.

The girls hope to use the puppets in giving skits at their meetings and possibly for puppet shows for the entire school.

Scout Uniforms
The troop will have skirts and blouses made of green denim as their official scout uniform.

Mrs. Kay Jones, scout leader of Horace Mann troop is advisor for the troop. Two University of Iowa students are assistant scout leaders: Ericka Erich, A3, York, Pa., and Marion Mueller, N1, Chippewa Falls, Wis.

Major in Marriage To Be Held Today

Today's Major in Marriage program at 4 p. m. in Shambaugh lecture room, will consist of a panel of three members who will discuss "Sex and Marriage."

10 Finalists Chosen For Dolphin Queen

Ten coeds have been named as finalists for Dolphin queen, Edward Mullahey, A3, Des Moines, chairman of the queen committee, announced.

The Dolphin club's annual show, at which the queen will reign, will be a part of the Homecoming weekend festivities. The 10 finalists were chosen from a field of 25 women representing all women's housing units on campus.

Finalists
Those selected include Sharon Holt, N2, Cedar Rapids; Phyllis Sutton, A1, Hedrick; Karlen Sutton, A1, Clinton; Nina Neel, A1, Gilmore City; Martha Weber, A1, Donnellson; Judith McLaren, A1, Des Moines; Janet Renquist, N2, Ft. Dodge; Lassic Lee Miller, A2, Alliance, Neb.; Jeanne Holtz, N4, Ft. Dodge, and Donna Schumann, A1, Waterloo.

These 10 women will be interviewed by members of the Dolphin club again to determine which will appear at the Dolphin show as the queen and her four attendants. The identity of the queen will be kept a secret until the first show is presented Nov. 4.

"Rainbow Rhapsody" is the name of the 1954 show and "Over the Rainbow" is the title of the theme. David Adama, A3, Princeton, is designing and painting the backdrop for this year's production.

"Rainbow Rhapsody" will consist of swimming acts, exhibition diving, synchronized swimming demonstrations and special water stunts.

Featured Performers
Donald Squire, a former Dolphin who is national solo synchronized swimming champion, and Buehla Gundling, national women's synchronized swimming champion, will be featured in the show.

Frank LaDue, G, Sioux City, national AAU trampoline champion, and Bob Hazlett, A4, Canton, O., national collegiate trampoline champion, also will perform.

COMPLETELY CLEANED
HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP)—Dewey Clinton sent his car out to be washed and greased. It came back cleaner than he expected—or wanted. Clinton told Hattiesburg police he had $1,651 hidden under a front seat. The money disappeared along with the dirt.

Classics Scholar To Lecture Here

The Rev. Mr. Raymond V. Schoder, S. J., professor of classical literature and archaeology at West Baden college, will lecture Thursday at 8:15 p. m. in the art building auditorium. The lecture "Greece and Rome from the Air" will be illustrated with many colorful slides.

This will be the first in a series of events to be sponsored by the Iowa Society of the Archaeological Institute of America. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The Rev. Mr. Schoder attended Loyola University, Chicago, Ill., and received a PhD in classical studies from St. Louis University. He has spent time in England, Wales, Europe, and the Near East studying and photographing classical sites.

2 Pharmacy Classes Appoint Officers

Duffy, .438 Hitter On 1894 Braves, Dies

BOSTON (AP) — Hugh Duffy, whose .438 batting average with the 1894 Boston National league baseball team never has been equaled, died Tuesday at his home.

He would have been 88 on Nov. 25.

In 60 years, only four batsmen in the major leagues have come close to Duffy's record. Willie Keeler batted .432 in 1897, Rogers Hornsby .424 in 1924 and Ty Cobb and George Sisler each batted .420.

A junior-size powerhouse who stood 5 feet 7 and weighed 150, Duffy was elected to the Baseball Hall of Fame in 1945. In 18 years in the major leagues, he not only set the batting mark on so high a pinnacle no one since has been able to reach it, but he also hit over .300 for 11 seasons and twice won the National league batting title. His lifetime batting average was .330.

After his unparalleled .438 batting performance, Duffy recalled he was paid a "magnificent" salary of $2,400.

He was an active scout for the Boston Red Sox of the American league through the 1953 season. Sox General Manager Joe Cronin said, "Not everybody recalls that Hughie was one of the founders of the American league, Manager of the Milwaukee team in 1901 when the league got its start."

In recent years Duffy had been bothered by a heart condition. Friends said it became acute Tuesday morning.

His wife, Nora, died Aug. 22, 1953, after 56 years of marriage. They had no children.

An outfielder, Duffy started but it climbed steadily to .311 and .328 in the next two years.

In 1892 he came to Boston and remained nine years. In 1893 he lifted his average to .378, his second-best performance, and in 1894 hit the peak .438. His third

Hawkeye Injuries Heal; Drill Offense

Iowa's Hawkeyes appeared physically and spiritually on the upswing Tuesday after losing a close 20-14 decision to Ohio State last Saturday.

Coach Forest Evashevski called for an offensive scrimmage after a brief talk.

Cameron Cummins moved up to first team right tackle, replacing Bill Reichow.

Center Don Suchy worked out again Tuesday apparently at full strength after spraining an ankle in the Ohio State game.

Tackle Roger Swedberg, limping slightly, took part in the drills after his recurring knee injury had bothered him in the Buckeye contest.

Don Dobrino rested a bruised hip, and Ken Ploen took the second team quarterback position.

After the scrimmage, the varsity worked on defensive alignments for Saturday's game with Indiana. Particular attention was paid to the passing attack which is expected to be used by the Hoosiers.

Harris Wins Unanimous Decision over Bob Rossie

(Special to The Daily Iowan) DETROIT — Duke Harris, 147, of Detroit, won a unanimous eight-round decision here Tuesday night over Bob Rossie, 149, of Iowa City. Harris took all eight rounds on the score cards of two officials and seven rounds on the other.

Both fighters were covered with blood at the fight's end. Harris bled profusely from the nose throughout the fight. Rossie was cut inside his right eyelid, and over and under his left eye.

Harris staggered Rossie repeatedly in the third and fourth rounds, but Rossie hung on gamely to maintain his record of never having been knocked out.

Harris' victory was another in his growing string of wins over name fighters who figured to beat him. It was his 12th win in 15 starts.

A standing room only crowd of 1,500 witnessed the battle in Motor City arena. The bout was televised regionally in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Ontario.

NEW YORK (AP) — Unbeaten teams and once-beaten but increasingly respected Army are making a mass assault on the top positions in major college offense statistics, NCAA service bureau figures showed Tuesday.

Mississippi and Colorado, boasting five victories each, hold first place in total offense, rushing and passing, and coming up fast are Oklahoma, Boston U., UCLA, Minnesota, and the Cadets, who have won three straight after an opening loss to South Carolina.

Mississippi took over the total offense lead from Colorado this week, bringing its average to 423.4 yards a game, as the Buffaloes dropped to third with 416 behind Boston U.'s 418.8.

Mississippi also retained its aerial leadership, averaging 189.4 yards a game to Oregon's 184.6 with no one else within 20 yards.

And Colorado kept its grip on the top spot in rushing by a wide margin. It has made 368.3 yards a game on the ground, to 318.6 for Texas Tech and 292.5 for third-place Army. The Cadets moved up from 11th place, but behind them Oklahoma jumped into fourth from 35th, UCLA to 7th from 13th and Minnesota to 8th from 18th.

Workers Rush To Complete Building Needed Saturday for World Cage Tourney

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The trouble-plagued world basketball tournament, scheduled to begin Saturday with teams from 12 nations participating, will be played in the new Maracana gymnasium, if and when the 35,000 seat arena is completed.

Work on the huge stadium is going on feverishly, and it is hoped that it will be ready for the start of the tourney. It promises to be a close call.

The nations scheduled to compete are Brazil, United States, Paraguay, Uruguay, Chile, Peru, Israel, France, Canada, Yugoslavia, Formosa and the Philippines. Two notable absentees are Argentina and Russia.

Argentina Not Friendly

Argentina, winner of the first world tournament in 1950, is sticking to its policy of refusing to compete in Brazilian-sponsored tournaments. Russia was not invited, because Brazil, the host, does not maintain diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union and invitations have to be extended through diplomatic representatives. The decision to exclude Russia has caused some dissent among the International Basketball federation members.

A definite schedule for the tournament won't be arranged until the meeting of the delegates with William Jones, IFF

Helinski Probable Hoosier Starter

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Coach Bernie Crimmins put the Indiana football squad through another day of defensive workouts Tuesday in preparation for the Hoosiers' homecoming game with Iowa Saturday.

Crimmins moved junior left halfback Jim Stone up to the starting lineup, replacing Don Dornen, who was still favoring a bruised back. Quarterback Florian Helinski's bruised shoulder permitted him to throw more easily Tuesday, and Crimmins said he expected to start him this Saturday.

Delt, DU Pledges In Scoreless Tie

The pledge class of Delta Upsilon and Delta Tau Delta social fraternities met on the gridiron Saturday in the first annual Delt-DU pledge bowl game. The game ended in a 0-0 tie and Delta Upsilon won the flip for the trophy at the party which followed the game.

The Phi Epsilon Pi social fraternity's pledge class defeated the pledge class of Alpha Epsilon Pi, 24-6, Sunday afternoon. Marvin Bernstein, Al, Ames, threw four touchdown passes; two each to Louis Barnish, Al, Des Moines, and Gerald Smith, Al, Southbridge, Mass. The AEPi's scored their lone touchdown on a pass from Wayne Steinberg, Al, Miami Beach, Fla., to Gerald Fuskke, Al, Sioux City.

Iowa Players Give Tickets To Families

Three Iowa football players said Tuesday night that they send their free football tickets home or to relatives and friends.

Monday, Robert Halloran, a University of Wisconsin student, had related to a superior court judge in Madison that it was a "widespread" practice for Wisconsin football players to sell their tickets.

Fullback and Iowa Captain George (Binkey) Broeder said, "I give my tickets to my folks and friends." Center Don Suchy replied, "My father will get in free. Dad's day (October 30 with Wisconsin), but my mother, two brothers and my aunt and uncle are coming to the game and will use the tickets." Suchy's home is in Belle Plaine.

"I send my tickets home most of the time," said guard Cam Cummins, "but occasionally I sell them to friends."

Paul J. Blommers, chairman of Iowa's board of athletic control and the school's faculty representative in the Big Ten conference, stated, "As far as I know, the common practice (among players) is to give the tickets to parents or to sell them at face value. We follow the conference rules in limiting sophomores to two tickets, juniors to four and seniors to six."

Coach Forest Evashevski said, "We follow the policies laid down by the Big Ten and by Athletic Director Paul Brechler." Brechler presently is out of town and could not be reached for comment.

Collins TKO's Foe In Comeback Win

BOSTON (AP) — Featherweight Tommy Collins, 129½, of Boston, scored the third straight victory of his boxing comeback campaign Tuesday night with a sixth round technical knockout over Bobby Why, 128½, Los Angeles, in their scheduled 10-rounder at Boston Arena.

Referee Jimmy McCarron awarded the bout to Collins when Why, who had been down for a nine count in the fifth round, was unable to come out for the sixth.

Wet Grounds Blamed For Clock Failure

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Brown university Tuesday blamed wet grounds for failure of the stadium time clock during last Saturday's football game with Princeton.

The unofficial clock stopped after the first half. The 15,000 spectators had to guess the time as Brown squeezed out a 21-20 victory in the final minutes of play.

Gavilan Finally To Defend Title Tonight Against Saxton

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — After two postponements due to hand trouble and a case of mumps, Kid Gavilan finally is ready to defend his world welterweight title against New York's Johnny Saxton tonight at Convention Hall.

The sleek Cuban remains a strong 19 to 10 favorite in the 15-round match, despite the usual rumors that he will have trouble making the 147-pound class limit.

Every time Gavilan goes to the post as a welter, you hear he may not make it. But he hasn't missed yet. It's beginning to sound like the same old story that preceded every defense by Sugar Ray Robinson when he held the welter crown.

The two fighters will weigh in at noon today at the offices of the Pennsylvania athletic commission for the nationally televised CBS bout starting at 9 p.m. (CST). The Philadelphia area will be blacked out but there will be a radio broadcast only in Philadelphia.

Promoter Herman Taylor talks of a gate of 16,000 and $80,000 with an advance sale of about $30,000. The advance sale just about matches the total paid back in refunds after the fight was postponed, July 14 and Sept. 1. More conservative estimates hint the crowd may be no more than 8,500 and the gate about $60,000. The TV rights will bring another $40,000.

Kid Gavilan Puts Title on Line

Gavilan hasn't fought since April 2 when he failed in his bid for Bobo Olson's middleweight crown. He used his right hand sparingly in that bout and later claimed he had injured the hand in a Feb. 23 tune-up match with Johnny Cunningham at Miami.

The Saxton match was set back for the first time in July when Gavilan, trouncing Cuba with a song and dance unit, reported his hand still was in a cast. The September show was postponed on the eve of the fight when the doctors discovered the "Keed" had the mumps. Fully recovered — Gavilan claims — the champ is confident of defending successfully for the eighth time and moving on to a match with challenger Carmen Basilio or another shot at Olson's 160-pound crown.

Saxton likes to crowd inside, nullifying the power of free swingers. The strong New York Negro has been involved in several dull fights, especially with Livio Minelli and Lester Felton in New York and with Johnny Bratton in Philadelphia.

The 24-year-old Golden Gloves grad never has been knocked out in 47 fights as a pro since 1949. He has a 43-2-2 record, losing only to Gil Turner and Del Flanagan last year. He drew with Wallace (Bud) Smith, one of the two men to floor him, and also went 10 rounds to a draw with the undistinguished Johnny Lombardo in his last outing, Aug. 11 at Mount Carmel, Pa. This is his first 15-round match.

Fly Caster Asks Fishing For Olympics

WASHINGTON (AP) — A quiet campaign is being fought to right what its backers regard as a major wrong: the fact that the world's greatest participation sport, fishing, has no place in the Olympics.

Cliff Netherton, a Washington high school teacher who is one of the prime movers in the campaign said Tuesday he and his co-workers are convinced they can build up enough support for international casting competition to get it into the 1960 Olympics.

"The Olympics are supposed to be concerned primarily with competition between individuals, but the trend has been going the other way," Netherton said. "We hope to reverse that trend."

40 Million Anglers
Netherton said, "There are more than 40 million fishermen in the United States alone and more money is spent on fishing equipment than any other kind of sporting gear."

There have been international angling events for many years, Netherton said, but there never has been "the one big championship tournament."

So, he added, two years ago he and a group of Americans launched the International Casting federation. Since then England, Australia, Scotland, Norway, Sweden and Holland have joined. West Germany, Canada and Denmark are expected to hook up with the federation shortly.

Desire Tourneys
"We have two aims," Netherton said, "One is to get casting into the Olympics. The other is to codify casting rules and provide for annual international tournaments."

Norway has put in a bid for the first such tournament next year. It will follow by two months the 48th annual national tourney put on by the National association of Angling and Casting clubs in St. Louis, Aug. 16-21. Netherton is a vice president of that association.

He said there are 182 angling clubs in this country and that about 10,000 men and women take part annually in casting tournaments.

He added, "Casting has never been much of a spectator sport. I don't know why, but it's true. We've got to do something to build it up as a spectator sport."

He had one suggestion: Teach casting in more high schools and colleges.

Willie, Minnie Win Crowns

NEW YORK (AP) — Outfielders Willie Mays of the New York Giants and Orestes (Minnie) Minoso of the Chicago White Sox, a pair of powerful right-handed hitters, Tuesday were crowned the major league slugging kings for 1954.

Mays, returning from a two-year army hitch to spark the Giants to the world championship, topped the National league with a lustrous .667 slugging average. Minoso, in his fourth season in the majors, was the American league leader with .535.

Statistics compiled by the Associated Press revealed that Mays accumulated 377 total bases in 565 at bats. Slugging averages are computed by dividing a player's number of times at bat into his total bases.

Batting Leader Also
Mays, who also led his league in batting, delivered 195 hits, including 33 doubles, 13 triples, most in the league, and 41 home runs.

Minoso, runnerup to Cleveland's Bobby Avila in the American league batting race, produced 304 total bases in 568 trips. The speedy Cuban collected 29 doubles, 18 triples, most in the league, and 19 homers among his 182 hits.

In 1953 Minoso finished sixth in the AL slugging derby with .466. Al Rosen of the Indians captured the title with .613, but he slipped to third in 1954.

Duke Runner-Up
Brooklyn's Duke Snider trailed Mays for National league slugging supremacy with a .647 average, and big Ted Kluszewski of the Cincinnati Redlegs ranked third at .639. Snider was the NL slugging leader in 1953, barely edging Milwaukee's Ed Mathews, .6271 to .6269.

Snider amassed 378 total bases, most in both circuits, in 584 at bats. Kluszewski, the major league home run pace-setter with 49, accounted for 366 total bases in 573 trips.

Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals wound up fourth in the slugging ratings with a .607 mark, as a result at 359 TB's in 591 times at bat. Musial boasts the highest lifetime slugging percentage in the National league, .584.

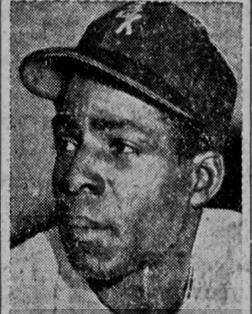

Mathews 5th
Mathews held down fifth in the slugging listings with .601, followed by Brooklyn's Gil Hodges, .577 and Hank Sauer of the Chicago Cubs, .563.

Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees trailed Minoso in the American league slugging parade with 284 total bases in 543 at bats for a .523 average. Mantle's collection of 163 hits included 16 doubles, 12 triples and 27 home runs.

Rosen was next with .506, achieved on 236 total bases in 466 trips. Among his 140 hits were 20 doubles, two triples and 24 homers.

Washington's Mickey Vernon, runnerup in 1953, fell to fourth at .492 and Yogi Berra of the New York Yankees finished fifth with .486. Larry Doby of the Cleveland Indians followed with .483 and then came another Yankee, Irv Noren, at .479.

To those interested in advanced academic study while associated with important research and development in industry, Hughes offers this practical program:

Hughes Cooperative Fellowship Program for Master of Science Degrees

A program to assist outstanding individuals in studying for the Master of Science Degree while employed in industry and making contributions to important military work. Open to students who will receive the B. S. degree in Electrical Engineering, Physics or Mechanical Engineering during the coming year, and to members of the Armed Services honorably discharged and holding such B. S. degrees.

Candidates must meet entrance requirements for advanced study at University of California at Los Angeles or the University of Southern California. Participants will work full time during the summer in the Hughes Laboratories and 2½ hours per week while pursuing a half-time schedule of graduate study at the university.

Salary is commensurate with the individual's ability and experience. Tuition, admission fees and books for university attendance are provided. Provision is made to assist in paying travel and moving expenses from outside Southern California.

He turns thumbs down on any advertising program that would really work — because programs that work cost money.

Fortunately the FREEZE is a rare creature.

Iowa City Churches Sponsor Teacher Training Courses

Classes designed for training Sunday school teachers, potential teachers and church workers started Monday in the Presbyterian church chapel.

The classes will be given each Monday for six weeks and will be taught by local ministers and instructors from Iowa City public schools and the SUI School of Religion.

Five courses are offered, a section of each to be taught every class night. Courses are: The New Testament; Life and teachings of Jesus; children do learn, preschool methods, junior high methods and senior high methods.

Participating churches include: Presbyterian, First English Lutheran, Nazarene, Methodist, Friends and Congregational. Each in turn will direct a fellowship hour at the close of each week's classes. A worship service is also scheduled for each session.

Any church in this area may participate in the school. John E. McAdam, director of University

High school, is dean of the school, and Laird C. Addis, 1012 Fairchild street, is registrar.

Traffic Problems To Be Discussed At SUI Dec. 6-10

Iowa's traffic problems will be discussed by peace officers and city officials during a week-long public traffic school at SUI Dec. 6-10.

Under the direction of the bureau of police science of SUI's institute of public affairs, the traffic school will be divided into two sections; traffic supervision and traffic police duty.

Discussions on Drunk Drivers

The traffic supervision section is planned for officers and city officials responsible for planning and directing traffic programs. The traffic police duty section is intended to give training to patrolmen who are assigned to accident investigations and traffic enforcement programs.

Both sections will be combined on the opening day of the school for a full day of discussions on the problem of the drinking driver. The use of movies in drunken driving cases, chemical tests for intoxication and other enforcement methods will be discussed and demonstrated.

SUI Faculty To Assist

Men in the traffic supervision section will discuss accident records, analysis of traffic problems, engineering studies of parking, accident and congestion problems, and planning enforcement, public education, personnel and equipment programs.

Instructors in the traffic school will include staff members of Northwestern university traffic institute, several Iowa police departments, the Iowa highway safety patrol and the SUI college of law and bureau of police science.

Police officers, sheriffs and their deputies and city officials are being invited to attend the traffic school.

2 Alumni Have Books Published

Publication of books by two former SUI students, Merle Miller and Dale Kramer — has been announced by New York City publishers.

A novel, "Reunion," by Miller, who was born in Montour and attended SUI from 1935-37 and 1939-40, was published earlier this month by the Viking Press. The novel is Miller's sixth book. Manuscripts of two of his works, "The Sure Thing" and "That Winter," are preserved in the Iowa Authors' collection of the SUI library, according to Grace Wormer, assistant director of the special collections section.

"The Heart of O. Henry," a romantic biography of one of America's best known story tellers, was published this month by Rinehart and company. Kramer, author of the biography, is a native of Slouorney and attended SUI in 1929-30.

Kramer is also the author of "Heywood Brown" and "Ross and the New Yorker." The manuscript of the latter is included in the manuscript section in the Iowa authors collection.

Schedler To Speak At Conference Here

Carl R. Schedler, associate director of the federal mediation and conciliation service, Washington, D. C., will speak at a conference on labor-management relations here October 28-29.

He will speak for the public interest in the opening session on "Where Is Collective Bargaining Leading American Capital and Labor?" And he will act as moderator of a discussion of "Is Labor Law Revision Needed?"

Before assuming his present post in 1953, Schedler was for six years industrial relations advisor to the department of defense. He has been an attorney in the department of labor, director of industrial relations for a Connecticut industry and the national war labor board's director of field operations.

U.S. Shows Concern over Russia's Navy

WASHINGTON — Soviet sea power is coming so fast that it gives both British and American navy men the jitters.

According to their calculations, it will be firmly entrenched in second place among the powers in two or three years, having ousted Britain from the runner-up spot to the United States. In 10 years, at the present rate, it will be challenging Uncle Sam.

Ten years ago Russia ranked a mediocre seventh. In the spring of 1953 it was in third place breathing hot down the necks of the British fleet with a fleet still lacking in aircraft carriers but believed to consist of 14 cruisers, 84 destroyers, and 360 submarines.

Started in 1939

Then things seemed pretty much askew among the Soviet sailors. Their pride was a battleship, the Souyetski Soynz, which had been laid down in 1939 and not completed until 1950.

The authoritative guide to the world's war craft, James' Fighting Ships, ranked it as the only first class vessel in the navy. There were reports that attempts to make use of the former German aircraft carrier Graf Zeppelin had failed and the keel of the 40,000-ton ship laid down after the war was being scrapped.

It also leaked out that several Soviet naval engineers had been purged for failure to engineer a successful battleship program. When a few ships that had been loaned by the United States were grudgingly returned by Russia, they were found to be hardly shipshape and no tribute to Soviet seamanship.

Picture Changes

Now the picture apparently has changed abruptly. Russia is believed to have been spending $35 billion on a big navy since 1945. Fourteen new cruisers have been added since the end of World War II, and the building time has been cut to about two and a half years. The 15,000-ton Sverdlov is rated as tops among cruisers.

The undersea fleet which always has impressed western strategists as the most potent Soviet bid, now is believed to total 400 subs, about 40 per cent of which are the latest-type capable of a radius of 20,000 miles and speeds rivaling that of the new United States atomic sub.

Surmising that Russia would aim at severing the Atlantic life-lines connecting western Europe with America, Anglo-American strategists rate the submarine menace as very great, particularly considering that ex-German technicians are playing a big part in the build-up.

It is not clear yet that Russia has supplanted Britain as second ranking power on the seas, but its naval manpower of 750,000 probably does that.

Sprucing Up

In addition, the Soviet sailors have been sprucing up. Part of the fleet stopped last summer at Helsinki for a call on the Finns who have held it in contempt ever since in the two short wars with Finland it could not even enforce an effective blockade on its tiny neighbor.

To the amazement of the maritime Finns, the flotilla was sharp throughout. All the sloppiness noted in the United States exchange ships was gone.

Late last summer a Soviet task force of three cruisers and 12 destroyers cut quite a figure cruising down the Norwegian coast. These are ominous signs to navy men who have noted how quickly Russia came up with atomic devices after the war, and how her athletes now are challenging for dominance in the Olympic games to be held in 1956.

They predict that in two to three years the Soviet navy will consist of 30 cruisers, 150 destroyers, 500 submarines, 500 motor torpedo boats, 1,000 minesweepers, 300 escort vessels and 4,000 naval aircraft including the latest jet types. It has shipyards capable of building seven carriers.

Warm Up

As a result, American admirals have warmed up 50 more ships to bring the fleet to 1,130 craft of all types in active commission. There are more than 2,000 in the mothball fleet.

Heralding the fact that Congress inevitably will have request for a big naval budget when it reconvenes, the admirals are warning that the United States must not let its fleet go to seed as it did the famous "great white fleet" that Theodore Roosevelt sent around the world after the Spanish-American war.
