Hancher Gets First 'Herky' Badge

SUI PRESIDENT Virgil M. Hancher becomes the first to wear the 1954 "Herky Highlander" Homecoming badge. Highlander Marty Milani, A2, Centerville, pins the badge on Hancher while Gini Yoder, A3, Iowa City, looks on. The badges, which cost 25 cents, will go on sale Monday.

Ike Confident GOP Can Retain Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower flew into four states Friday on a major political mission—everywhere plugging for election of a Republican Congress, everywhere saying a GOP-led government means lasting peace and prosperity.

And, near the end of 1,400 miles of travel, he happily voiced confidence his party can keep control of congress in Tuesday's election.

The President reported enthusiasm for the GOP cause—and not the expected apathy—in Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky and Delaware.

"If everybody votes, we're in," Eisenhower said at Wilmington, Del.

Red Herrings

He took a poke at Democrats in a speech at the Cleveland, Ohio, airport on the Communists-in-government issue.

He said that when the Republicans won in 1952, "We were tired of hearing the word 'Communists' being called a red herring," every time it was mentioned.

Harry Truman once said while president that the Republicans were using congressional investigations of alleged subversive activities as a red herring to divert attention from themselves.

Democratic Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell declared at Washington that, "Today Eisenhower himself joined in the Red smear."

Solving Unemployment
Before speaking in Wilmington, his final talk, the President addressed crowds in Cleveland, Detroit and Louisville, Ky.

At each stop of his 12-hour tour he talked of unemployment—called it still a major problem, but said his administration is solving it without providing jobs through spilling the blood of our sons on the battlefield.

That was his major theme, in heavily industrial Detroit, where joblessness is a major issue. Democrats there have been blaming the administration for the unemployment.

Biggest Crowd 50,000

Eisenhower declared that when the Democrats were in power there was never peace or prosperity at the same time. He drew his biggest crowd in Detroit, estimated at 50,000.

At every stop the President plugged hard for election of Republican candidates for Congress and state offices. All four states he visited have key U.S. Senate races which could determine control of Congress.

Boy, 4, Runs Mile To Save Mother's Life

Merle Miller, a four-year-old Sharon Center farm boy, walked and ran more than a mile to obtain assistance for his mother, Mrs. Ora Miller, following an automobile accident early Thursday.

The boy had sustained bruises in the mishap.

Physicians at Mercy hospital, where Mrs. Miller's condition is described Friday night as "poor," said that the lad's quick action gave his mother at least a fighting chance for life.

The accident occurred near Sharon Center, 10 miles south of Iowa City when the car in which Mrs. Miller, her son, and a daughter, Mary Carol, 2, were riding, plunged into a ditch and overturned.

Mrs. Miller was thrown from the car, and received a severely fractured leg, possible internal injuries, and a possible fractured spine.

While still conscious, she asked Merle to get his father, who was working on a farm a mile and one-half away. The boy ran to tell his father, who called an ambulance.

When Mrs. Miller was admitted to Mercy hospital, physicians said that any further delay in giving her medical attention would possibly have resulted in her death.

Her pulse rate and blood pressure were very low. Her condition has been too critical to permit the taking of X-rays to determine the nature of internal injuries and confirm the possible fracture of the spine.

The Miller children were kept over night for observation, but were released from the hospital Friday.

Former FHA Commissioner Out On Bail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clyde L. Powell, a former government housing chief, was ordered jailed Friday on a charge of criminal contempt of court, but a few hours later he was freed on $5,000 bond.

A three-member panel of the U.S. court of appeals ruled that Powell may remain at liberty pending disposition of his appeal from a one-year sentence for refusing to answer a grand jury's questions about housing scandals.

U.S. District Judge F. Dickinson Letts, who sentenced Powell, had refused a request that he be freed on bond pending the appeal.

Appellate Judges Harold M. Stephens, E. Barrett Prettyman and George T. Washington ruled questions were involved in Powell's appeal. This is a prerequisite to bond after conviction.

The amount was furnished by a professional bondsman.

NATO To Receive New Atom Rocket

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several batteries of the "Honest John" rocket, a faster-than-sound weapon equipped to carry an atomic warhead, will be sent to Europe to help defenders against any aggression.

The army said the new rockets will be supplied to the forces under Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, commander of the NATO.

Contributions to the Community Chest Friday brought Iowa City's Community Chest United Fund drive to 84 percent of its goal of $33,375. The drive officially ended Saturday.

Big Hug from Daughters for Dad of Year

Manchester Doctor Named University Dad of the Year

Dr. Donald J. Goen, 54, Manchester, was introduced as SUI Dad of the Year Friday night before capacity audiences at the All-Star variety shows in the Memorial Union.

Honored with his family at a private dinner given by Omicron Delta Kappa, men's leadership fraternity, special guest at the Union concerts later in the evening, scheduled to appear during the half-time at today's Iowa-Wisconsin game, and bombarded with invitations to Dad's Day weekend student and alumni functions, the 1924 dental school alumnus is being recognized for his "service to SUI and to the community."

But a few paragraphs from distinction, written by his daughter, the letter nominating him for the title, a sophomore here, would probably make him feel "more honored than kings and princes."

In an essay written last year and attached to the nomination she said:

Walking With Dad
"There is no thrill in this world for me, quite like that of walking down town with Dad. Because his legs are long, I have always had to run, practically, to keep up with his strides. It seems as though everyone we meet knows my father and calls, 'Hi, Doc!' I always feel unduly aristocratic when we have reached our destination.

"Everyone in this world has faults and Dad has his share; but his faults are hardly noticed because his virtues outweigh them so tremendously. Although he loses his Irish temper very frequently, I have never seen him under the influence of anything stronger than a Coke. Dad is no saint when it comes to language; yet I have never heard an immoral saying or joke pass from his lips.

His greatest fault is the size of his heart—much too large—Dad has never been able to say 'no' to anyone. Anyone in trouble comes to 'Doc'; he is always ready to help.

"People love being with Dad. Boys, especially, enjoy being around him, but not as much as he enjoys having them around.

Religion More Than A Duty
"Religion with most men is just a duty, but not with my father. His attitude towards his children's church and moral obligations has made each of us want to be a good Catholic.

"The two things, I believe, that characterize Dad the most are his diamond ring and his package of Bull Durham. The ring symbolizes his love for show, and his aggressive ideals; while the package of Bull Durham reveals his big heart, his friendliness, and his love of human nature.

"When I was a very little girl and people would tell me I didn't look like my dad, he would always wink at me as if to say, 'We work better.' From this desire to resemble my father's appearance has grown a desire to lead the kind of life he has led and be able to live up to the standards he has set."

Mrs. Goen is an alumna of SUI, '27.

Their eldest girl, Ellen, graduated from SUI Phi Beta Kappa last June. They have a son, John, who is now a freshman in the college of law.

One Change Listed In Election Polls

Iowa City voters who live in the first ward, second precinct should vote Tuesday at the Communications Center, City Clerk Robert E. Meyer said Friday.

Previously, persons in the first ward voted at the Hawkeye Awning company.

Other polling places for the off-year election remain unchanged. They are:

First ward, first precinct, courthouse; second ward, first precinct, city hall; second ward, second precinct, Fine Arts building; third ward, C.S.A. hall; fourth ward, first precinct, Community building; fifth ward, first precinct, Welfare building; fifth ward, second precinct, Longfellow school.

Open Houses, Dance Honor SUI Fathers

Dad's Day events sponsored by Omicron Delta Kappa reach a climax this evening when SUI dads will be honored guests at the Dad's Day dance, held in the main lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Earlier today SUI dads will be welcomed at fraternity, sorority, and dormitory open house coffee hours and tours.

At 1:30 p.m. dads will be in the stands to watch the Wisconsin game. During half time the Alumni Dad of the Year will be introduced.

Dads may register in the main lounge of the Union between 8 and 9 p.m.

A coffee hour for parents will be held at 9 p.m. in the Union, co-sponsored by ODK and the Union board.

The churches of Iowa City have issued a welcome to all parents attending the Dad's Day activities, and invite them to attend Sunday services.

Deadline Next Week For Senior Pictures

All seniors who have not yet had their senior picture taken for Hawkeye must do so next week, Nov. 1 through 5, if they wish to have their picture in the 1955 yearbook. The hours are 1 to 5 p.m. at photographic service.

Passers Help 'The Horse' Lead Attack

By GENE INGLE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Wisconsin, jolted from the ranks of the unbeaten last weekend by Ohio State, brings Alan Ameche and crew to the Iowa stadium this afternoon at 1:30 for a game which both Iowa and Wisconsin need to keep their slim title hopes intact.

Wisconsin bases its running attack on fullback Ameche, who now holds virtually all Badger scoring records. He has scored five touchdowns this season and 439 yards, average five yards per try.

However, Ameche is not the only Badger threat. Jim Miller, 177-pound quarterback, is regarded as one of the best, if not the best passer in the Big Ten. He has passed 60 times in Wisconsin's five games this year, completing 34 for a 567 average. Included are three touchdown pitches.

Jim Haluska, who could probably make any other Western Conference team's first string, is Miller's understudy. And he has a better throwing average than Miller!

He has a .605 percentage, hitting 23 of 38, including one touchdown.

This Wisconsin aerial attack will be an excellent test for the Hawkeyes' No. 1 pass defense in the nation. However, Eric Wilson, Iowa sports publicist, discounts Iowa's pass defense ranking as "misleading because opponents have found it easier to gain by rushing against Iowa than in 1953. So foes don't pass as liberally."

The Badgers' all-around defense is rated even better than Iowa's. Last Saturday at Columbus marked the first time this year that Wisconsin had been scored upon in the final half. In their five games, the Badgers have allowed only 58 points while piling up 105 themselves. They have allowed 774 yards on the ground while getting 1055 themselves.

The Badgers undoubtedly are in better physical condition than the Hawkeyes. No one is injured on the Wisconsin team while Iowa has at least ten players nursing injuries.

Don Suchy and Rodger Swedberg are most seriously hampered. Suchy has a sprained ankle and Swedberg a hurt knee.

Wisconsin has won 22 and Iowa 9 since the first Hawk-Badger game was played at Madison, Nov. 3, 1906. Wisconsin has won that one, 18-4. There have been no ties in this series. Wisconsin has won the last 5 games, the last a 10-6 victory for the Badgers at Madison in 1953. Iowa last won in 1948, 19-13.

Seats for Hawk-I Club To Be Reserved Today

Members of the Hawk-I pep club will be admitted to a special reserved section directly above the card section at today's game upon presentation of their membership cards.

The section contains 75 seats reserved for I-club members only, and seating will be on a first come, first served basis.

Members who do not have cards may obtain one at the game by paying the required dues.

Adenauer Proposes Pact To Ease East-West Tension

WASHINGTON (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer advocated Friday that free world allies eventually negotiate a giant nonaggression pact with Russia and her satellites.

He emphasized that before launching such a move to ease East-West tension the anti-Communist countries "must first secure their freedom" by further bolstering their military and economic might.

The 78-year-old German leader climaxed a two-day round of talks with President Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles and other top American officials.

Expect American Opposition

Speaking before a record-breaking National Press club audience, Adenauer said he was sure Eisenhower and Dulles shared these aims. But he acknowledged he did not discuss the problem with either.

His proposal, carefully hedged as it was, appeared certain to run into some American opposition for fear such a pact would indirectly confirm captivity of peoples behind the Iron Curtain.

A few hours earlier, Adenauer joined Dulles in signing a new comprehensive German-American treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation—a pact Dulles said formalizes the ties of firm friendship between the two countries.

Cuts Visit Short

Adenauer, speaking in German while his audience read prepared translations, said his people are "largely immune" to communism and the "overwhelming majority of Germans condemn any political adventures with the East."

Adenauer cut short his tour of the United States because of the death of the president of the West German Parliament's lower house, Dr. Hermann Ehlers. He arranged to leave by plane from New York Sunday.

British Strike Heads Urge Walkout End

LONDON (AP) — Leaders of Britain's paralyzing waterfront strike were reported Friday night to have reached a secret decision urging their followers to end the 26-day walkout.

Neither the public nor the Labor Ministry was told officially what the decision was.

Mass meetings of dock workers were ordered for each port today to hear the recommendations. Then it will be up to the strikers to decide what they want to do.

There have been strong indications the strike was breaking. Management agreed at the port of London to a compromise proposal Thursday which, in effect, gave the London port strikers what they wanted—voluntary overtime work.

The walkout has taken 43,000 men off the docks at London, Manchester, Southampton, Hull, Liverpool, Birkenhead and Rochester.

'Roll Along, Iowa'

John B. Whitlock, assistant director of bands at SUI, and Hawkeye cheerleaders lead students in singing the new fight song, "Roll Along, Iowa," at Friday night's pep rally. The song, composed by John Woodman, of Russell, a 1921 graduate of the SUI college of commerce, was first introduced at this year's Iowa-Michigan State game.

editorial Politicians: A Peculiar Breed —

We come pretty near having two holidays of equal importance in the same week—Hallowe'en and election. Of the two, election is the most fun. At Hallowe'en they put pumpkins on their heads. At election they don't have to.

—Will Rogers

We agree with the late Will Rogers that politicians are a peculiar breed. It was going to be a nice, quiet, fair campaign. In the beginning they shook hands—then came out fighting. Now, with only about half of the eligible voters expected to turn out at the polls next Tuesday, the politicians can't understand why so many are so apathetic about the election.

Even President Eisenhower is puzzled by the apparent apathy among voters. Yesterday he tried to do something about it on a whirlwind flying-speaking tour. We doubt whether even the President could do much to rectify the damage done by the politicians during a whole campaign.

The fact is, we think, that the people are just plain disgusted with double-talking politicians and cheap campaigning tricks.

The people aren't mad at anybody. Unfortunately, they aren't even mad enough at the politicians to vote them out and vote in men who would lend political life the integrity it should have.

Most of the country is enjoying its first relief in a long time from war and other real crises. The people are not in a mood to be bothered by men who peddle stale arguments and false crises.

Sadly, the entire campaign has seen few good, honest speeches. The Democrats would have us believe that the Republicans have been unfaithful to the farmers and laborers. It seems to us that the farmer and laborer have fared as well in the transition from a wartime to a peacetime economy as at any time in history—if not better.

The Republicans cry that if the Democrats win control of their house, the President's program will flounder on the rocks. In the past it has been the moderates of both parties who have influenced congress to support President Eisenhower. There is no indication that they will forsake him after the election.

The two parties' most prolific speakers, Vice-President Nixon and Adlai Stevenson, have waged verbal war, not on the merits of issues and candidates, but on which party would be kindest to the President.

In New York, the GOP candidate for governor, Irving Ives, dug up a 27-year-old charge against his Democratic adversary, Averell Harriman, when it began to appear that Harriman might win.

The Democratic national chairman charges that the President is giving power contracts to a couple of fellows named Dixon and Yates to help a personal friend.

At the beginning of the campaign, the Eisenhower program rated some discussion, but recently the election race has appeared more like a couple of old-timers re-fighting the Civil War. The Democrats are still fighting Hoover and the depression. The Republicans are still hacking away at Harry Truman and Dean Acheson.

It is unfortunate that the campaign has degenerated to such a low level. There are too many candidates who could not possibly represent the best qualities of the American people.

How can politics be brought back to its proper stature? It is a difficult and discouraging problem. Before the situation can be greatly improved, more outstanding men must be encouraged to seek public office and the voters must turn out in droves at the primaries to put them on the ballot.

At present, American politics is a long way from this ideal situation.

Last week, one of our country's top politicians, Governor Dewey of New York, aptly said: "Politics is a public duty and not a license to suspend the Ten Commandments . . . We seem increasingly to witness the paradox of candidates who expect the people to trust them when they show by their utterances that they do not trust the people to find the truth . . ."

Then Dewey himself jumped into the fray swinging wildly with both hands.

Meteorite Label Found To Be False

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — For years the large ore specimen rested in Utah's statehouse and bore the label "meteorite." Secretary of State Lamont F. Toronto became suspicious of the label. The geology department at the University of Utah confirmed that the specimen was of geological and not meteorological interest.

Inquiry, revealed it came from the Victoria mine near Eureka, weighed 1,300 pounds or more and contained lead, silver, gold and copper.

Man Casis Fish Pole As Television Silencer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Wilshire district resident has found a way to silence his neighbor's TV set whenever he wishes. The idea came to him during a recent hot spell when he was unable to sleep because of the blare of commercials from the set next door.

He stuck a metal fish pole out his third story window and leaned it against the antenna on the neighbor's roof. It did a beautiful job of shorting reception. He resorts to the fish pole now as often as necessary, removing it in the morning.

Interpreting the News

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
Foreign Staff
Associated Press

The last few days of the election campaign have brought a tremendous increase in political noise, but there are few signs of a corresponding increase in public interest.

The Republicans, especially, are making a vigorous last minute effort to turn what has been generally appraised as a strong trend toward the Democrats. The President's advisers have insisted that he be much more active than he has wished.

There has always been a question whether last-minute campaigning really is important. Individuals constantly testify that they knew how they were going to vote, and how their friends were going to vote, before the campaign even started.

There may be some who will be aroused to vote when otherwise they would not. But apathy during the registration period was widely noted, so the vote will probably be very light.

President Eisenhower, by his doorbell-ringing campaign, recognizes this as a handicap as he tries to get those who are registered to the polls.

As usual, despite early campaign agreements among political leaders that it should be fought out at the issue level, mudslinging and dirty politics are being served up in sufficient quantities to convince the people that the politicians don't have much respect for the public's political maturity.

Divided Authority
President Eisenhower undoubtedly has made some impression with his description of the kind of political picture which Washington will present if executive and legislative authority is divided between the parties. But party lines have been transgressed so regularly in Congress during recent years that a great number of people still seem to feel that technical control doesn't make too much difference. This is especially true of congresses which are so evenly divided as the last one, and as the next one promises to be.

The power of committee chairmanships, however, remains of extreme importance to an administration trying to put through a program.

One thing that has made it tough for the Republicans is that they have been forced to try to make a national campaign over what is essentially a group of local campaigns. But otherwise they couldn't have used the Eisenhower appeal.

Iowans' Income Increases

The yearly income per person in Iowa has increased 224 percent since 1939—lower than the midwest average but higher than the national average, according to a study of government figures by the National Association of Manufacturers. The dollar figure for the yearly Iowa income stands at $1,518. The national average is $1,709. This pattern of below average income areas making greater percentage gains during the past 15 years than the high income areas has been reflected nationally, the NAM reports. The significance of the trend is that the spread between high and low income regions has grown markedly smaller during the past 15 years. In 1939 the highest figure for the seven regions was 2.3 times the lowest; in 1953 the highest was only 1.7 times the lowest.

Accountants Help Business Firm

DES MOINES (AP) — "Increasing roles accountants are playing in the successful operation of present-day business firms" were described by speakers at Friday's opening session of the midwest regional conference of the National Assn. of Cost Accountants. Approximately 400 persons from seven states registered for the two-day meeting. Alexander Lindsey of Denver, president of the accountants' national association, declared that "Business is leaning more and more on the cost accountant. He gathers intricate data involved in manufacturing and selling a particular product, and determines whether the product can be produced and sold successfully and profitably."

'City of Sin' Sees Cleanup on Vice

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The military commander of Phenix City says investigators have found evidence of "every vice known to man" in the crumbling ruins of a once-powerful racketeering domain. "There's hardly a crime on the statute books we haven't uncovered," explained Adjutant Gen. Walter J. Crank Hanna, whose National Guardsmen have replaced civilian law enforcement officers in the fabled city of sin.

TO THE EDITOR:

Let one reader enter a mild dissent to Bill Burgett's review of George London's recital. For me, at least, the Strauss group was not "the weakest part of the program." Granted that London's heavier voice does not make that lyric quality which makes these Strauss songs come over properly, and granted that, say, a Heinrich Schlusnus among baritones or the Jussi Bjorling among tenors, is better equipped to make these songs soar, yet London's meticulous attention to text and intelligent use of a really beautiful voice in these exacting songs made that particular section of the program a very moving one.

The Prince Igor aria, the Mozart "Non piu andrai," and the Serenade from "Damnation of Faust," were of course the high points of the evening and they indicate that London should really be seen and heard in the opera house for a full appreciation of his art. I don't think I am going overboard in calling him a worthy successor to that tradition of operatic basses which gave up Pol Plancon, Edouard DeReszke, Marcel Journet, Feodor Chaliapin, Leon Rothier, and Ezio Pinza. Obviously London has a fine stage presence, and certainly he has a magnificent voice, even if, as a basso, his is a voice that does not "go down."

A handshake and thanks to the committee people who brought this first-rate artist to campus.

Committee is Judge

Gradually the idea expanded until a national committee, representing the top traffic associations, now sits in judgment on all changes.

What's Up?

Your reporter, like most motorists, had never given a nickel's worth of thought to where traffic signs came from. So it seemed like a good time to drop around and ask R.E. Royal of the Bureau, What's up?

Beginning at the beginning, Royal went back to the time when many states not only didn't fret about traffic signs; they actually resented them. "They figured the local people knew where they were, and who cared about tourists?"

But in 1925 a U.S. highway system was set up. If roads were to be numbered uniformly, why couldn't the signs be uniform, too?

Many of the revisions are so technical only an expert could care, but some are simple enough. Take that red sign. What about it?

"You know red means danger," Royal said, "so it was a natural for a stop sign. But all the red paint available then faded so badly it couldn't be used."

But California has been using red stop signs satisfactorily, and tests showed the new red paint would hold up. The experts forsook the yellow and returned to their first love.

PARKING CERTIFICATE?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Witnesses say the man drove into a no parking area, reached into the glove compartment, took out an old, used parking ticket and stuck it on the windshield. Then he strolled away, apparently hoping to avoid a fresh ticket.

SUI Women Are Eligible to Apply For College Board

Undergraduate women may now apply for membership on the 1954-55 College Board of Mademoiselle.

College Board members who are judged among the top 20 will win a Mademoiselle guest editorship. They will go to New York in June to help edit the August college issue. Members will be paid a salary for their month's work plus round-trip transportation to New York city.

Deadline for College Board applications is Nov. 30. The application must be in the form of a criticism of Mademoiselle's August, 1954, issue. If one is not available, an October or November issue will do.

Successful candidates will be notified of their acceptance on the College Board in December. Women who are accepted on the College Board do three assignments during the college year.

The first assignment will appear in the January issue.

Sigma Theta Tau Hears Discussion on Nursing

Dr. Margaret Bridgman spoke to Gamma chapter of Sigma Theta Tau, Thursday in the Westlawn parlor, at an informal discussion on nursing and nursing education.

Dr. Bridgman, former dean of Skidmore College of Nursing and author of "Collegiate Education for Nursing" has done extensive research in nursing education through the Russell Sage Foundation.

Dr. Bridgman does not advocate college degrees for all nurses. On the contrary, she presents nursing as a broad occupational field requiring large numbers of personnel having preparations of different lengths and kinds. She believes emphasis should be placed on the need for extended and improved opportunities in higher education.

Currier Dad Announced By New Student Council

"He's broadminded about his children's strange ideas," said Jo Schafroth, A2, Corning, in nominating her father for the honor of Currier Dad.

The members of the newly formed new student council must have appreciated this along with Schafroth's other qualifications because after screening all nominations by Currier residents they chose him to be Currier Dad.

Schafroth, who is active in school and community activities in his hometown, will be presented to Currier residents during Sunday dinner. Connie Tyrrell, A1, Vinton, a member of the council, will introduce Schafroth and will present him with a gift.

Council Chosen

The twelve new members of the council were chosen from the approximately 120 who were interviewed for the positions. They were chosen on the basis of their past activities and their apparent ability to plan events similar to past new student council projects.

An experimental sub-committee to assist the council will be formed said Louise Savage, A4, Des Moines, adviser to the group. This group will be composed of other new students who show interest and ability, she said.

Members of the new student council are Janis Stodala, A1, Cedar Rapids; Marty Hickerson, A1, Scarsdale, New York; Jane McIlrath, A1, Muscatine; Sally Evans, D1, Clarksville; Marilyn Lyon, A1, Des Moines; Marcia Watson, A1, Clear Lake and Charlotte Jacobson, A2, Des Moines.

Council Members

Joyce Hultman, N2, Essex; Connie Tyrrell, A1, Vinton; Bobbie Edgecomb, A1, Lebanon; Linda Gamble, A1, Fairfield; Bonita Davis, A3, Corning, and Elnora Clausing, A3, Ottumwa and Pat Judge, A4, Boone, who were chosen second semester last year.

The next project of the council will be helping with activities in Currier on Homecoming weekend.

Mary Ann McClatchey, N2, Mapleton, is assistant advisor to the group which is composed of freshmen and transfer students who are new to SUI.

Mt. Vernon 0 6 0 0—6
TD's: U-High, Van Kirk 4, J. Schoenfelder 2, Bowers; Mt. Vernon, Rhodes. PAT's: Kozler, Lenz, Butterbaugh.

By BOB HOOKER
Paced by junior halfback Bill Van Kirk, who scored four times, Bluehawks wound up an eight-game campaign unbeaten and untied Friday night by routing Mt. Vernon, 45-6 on the City high field.

Coach Bob Hoff's team, ranked in a fourth place tie with Pringhar in the Iowa coaches' Class II poll, were too strong in the second half for the Mustangs, who were anything but beaten, at the intermission. They trailed then only 12-6.

Besides the seven touchdowns, U-High had four scores called back because of penalties. Two of these were a brace of successive 42-yard dashes by Van Kirk. In the same series of downs, the Bluehawks had a third touchdown nullified.

Van Kirk Scores First
Started first by Van Kirk's quick opening bolt through left tackle and his cut to the right to race down the west sideline 45 yards to score, the sparse crowd, sitting through spitting snow and 31-degree weather, later saw the shifty Van Kirk gallop on 30, 51 and 37 yard jaunts into the end zone.

With Hoff employing an over-loaded line to halt the plunges of Dick Kruse, one of the Eastern Iowa Hawkeye conference's better backs, Coach Don Hipple's visiting eleven took to the air with success in the first half, completing three of five tosses for 68 yards. One pass from quarterback Dave Ross was deflected by Van Kirk and U-

High end Jim Bowers into the waiting arms of Ron Rhodes midway in the second quarter for the lone Mt. Vernon score.

Score on Interceptions
However, it was Bowers who intercepted a Ross aerial and scooted 45 yards to tally shortly after the second half. Quarterback Bob Kozler sneaked across for the first of three Bluehawk extra points.

Jerry Schoenfelder then put U-High definitely in front to stay with a pair of touchdowns on scoring plays of 9 and 35 yards. Jim Lenz plunged for the conversion after the first of these scores, Van Kirk wound up the scoring with his 51 and 37-yard jaunts. The latter came after he had been called back twice, once on a pass, from a fake punt formation play. Earlris Butterbaugh ran the point.

Lenz had broken past Mt. Vernon's line and secondary for a 35-yard run just before this last score by Van Kirk, but the play was nullified. An illegal forward pass late in the first half cost U-High another touchdown.

U-High gained approximately 475 yards, almost entirely on the ground, and had a 15-3 first down edge.

BLUEHAWK DEFENDERS Jim Bowers, left, and Bill Van Kirk (25) leap high in the first half to bat down a Mount Vernon pass intended for the Mustang's Ronald Rhoads (12). Van Kirk raced to four touchdowns as U-High overpowered the Mount Vernon boys, 45-6 to wind up an undefeated, untied eight-game season.

Minors To File Suit Claiming Damages

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP)—Embattled minor league club owners will file suit Monday against Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick and the major league owners for invading the minors' territory with game broadcasts and telecasts.

The suit, to be filed in a federal court in Washington, will charge specifically that the major league owners violated "major-minor rule No. 1 guaranteeing territorial rights," said Frank D. Lawrence, owner of the Portsmouth Merrimacks in the Class B eight-member Piedmont league.

McGranery To File
James McGranery, former attorney general of the United States, will file the suit. He was retained by Lawrence to represent him and other minor league club owners who have indicated they wished to be parties to the suit.

Lawrence said Friday the amount of damages to be asked will be decided after he has heard from all minor league club owners. Previously a figure of $50 million had been mentioned.

'Minors Afraid'
Lawrence, who has been an independent club owner for 40 years, said some club owners in the minor leagues "are afraid to stand up and be counted" because of possible reprisals by the majors.

Commissioner Frick will be named a defendant in the suit, Lawrence said, because he failed to make the major league club owners obey the rule calling for protection of the minors' territorial rights.

The Portsmouth club owner, who makes his living as president of a bank, estimated the Piedmont league lost $150,000 during the 1954 season.

Syndicate Dies; Club Owners Criticize Macks

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The syndicate that tried to buy the Philadelphia Athletics from the Mack family died legally Friday. The American league owners, who refused to approve the sale, had dealt the final blow.

It came amidst published reports that Roy Mack had cast one of the votes against the sale at the league meeting in New York Thursday. Mack denied it. The certified checks totaling $1,400,000, with which the eight-man syndicate had hoped to purchase the club, were turned over to investment broker T. R. Hanff, one of the principals, and his attorney.

And the stock certificates, held also in escrow by a bank official, were returned to Athletics counsel J. Channing Ellery. All this took place behind closed doors and in quick fashion.

Hanff said "What is there to do now? We'll take our money and say amen."

Meanwhile, Roy, the son and brother of the two other Athletics owners said:

"Guess we'll have to operate as best we can. We'll have a meeting Monday or Tuesday and talk things over. I am truly disappointed in the deal with the Philadelphia group didn't go through."

He was told of a report that an undisclosed source said Roy had cast one of the dissenting votes.

"That's not true," Roy replied. The report said the source had New York, Baltimore, Boston and Philadelphia casting "no" ballots on approval of the sale while Cleveland, Washington, Chicago and Detroit voted in favor of the sale of the local syndicate.

Hanff said, "All I know is we were looking to the Macks to gain the league approval for us. They did not, because they either were unwilling to do so or were unable to do so. I think Mr. Chuck Comiskey's remark is especially significant. As far as I'm concerned this is the end."

He referred to Comiskey, vice-president of the Chicago White Sox, who said after the meeting, "It seems to me that the Macks can't get together on what they want to do. One wants one thing and another wants something else."

"I will not come back to any more meetings until the Macks have settled their own affairs among themselves. There are others who feel the same way."

Writing Award Set In Rice's Memory

NEW YORK (AP)—An annual award to sports writers in memory of Grantland Rice, following the lines of the Pulitzer prizes, has been set up by the Sportsmanship Brotherhood.

The award will go to the active sports writer who each year in his writing most nearly approaches the Rice tradition. It will be given on Nov. 1, the anniversary of Rice's birth.

Rice, considered the dean of American sports writers, died July 13 of this year. He was a longtime director of the Sportsmanship Brotherhood.

Terms of the competition will be announced at a luncheon honoring Rice given by the Touchdown club at the Yale club in New York on Nov. 9.

HARRIERS RUN

IOWA CITY—Iowa and Wisconsin meet in a cross country race here today at 10:30 a.m., starting at the Finkbine field golf clubhouse. Rich Ferguson, twice winner of the Big Ten cross country title, is the Iowa leader. Hawkeyes opened their season with a win over Minnesota last Saturday.

Golfers Play Through Forest for Variety

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Two golfers who wanted to get away from the smog were doing it the hard way Friday—blasting over brush and through trees along an impromptu 45-mile course through Angeles National Forest.

Leonard Nash, 26, of Pasadena, and Jim Rogers, 29, of nearby Altadena, teed off Thursday after making a $1 bet over who could get across the San Gabriel Mountains in the fewest strokes.

This morning, nine and one-half miles from their starting point at the foot of Angeles Crest Highway, Rogers had 177 strokes to Nash's 184.

Following the course of the winding highway through rugged country, they'll reach an altitude of 4,000 feet. Their goal is Palmdale on the other side of the range.

The golfers are equipped with sleeping bags, beer and food and are accompanied by two friends who act as referees. They hope to reach Palmdale Saturday night.

New York Discusses Boxing Point System

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York State Athletic commission discussed the new point scoring system, proposed by Chairman Bob Christenberry, Friday but took no definite action.

Christenberry asked boxing writers to score Friday night's Vince Martinez - Carmine Fiore fight on the new point system on a trial basis. Officials still will use the round system with a supplementary point system.

Under Christenberry's proposal, each round would be scored on a point basis. An even round would be scored 1-0, 2-0 or 3-0.

Outdoors

With ARLO JACOBSON Assistant Sports Editor

The weather has grown progressively colder all week, so we can look for mallards to start flying. They usually linger in the north for a while after teal and other less hardy waterfowl go south.

To aid hunters who likely will be going out in force this weekend, here are some tips from the Iowa Conservationist for identifying flying ducks:

MALLARD: Flight is not particularly rapid. Head and neck carried slightly upward, big body, ample wingspread. Underwings flash white while in flight and foreparts and hindparts of the drakes appear dark, with white bellies.

BLACK DUCK: Swift, direct flight. Large, very dark bodies with silver-white underwings.

PINTAIL: Fast and graceful, with long slender out-stretched necks and long tails. A slim, streamlined duck. Both sexes have pointed wings, and drakes have white breasts with long, white necks.

TEAL: Flight is very rapid, much wheeling and circling like a flock of pigeons. Wings whistle audibly.

WOOD DUCK: Flight is swift and direct. In flight the head is held high with bill pointing downward, and looking around. Tail is long and broad and both sexes show much white underneath. In flight this duck cries cr-r-ek, cr-r-ek. Season is closed on this duck for the 1954 season.

BLUEBILL: Flight is swift and erratic with much twisting and turning. Often in large, closely bunched flocks. Drakes have black heads and frontparts, with white sides and breasts. Lively, restless birds, both on water and in flight.

CANVASBACK: Large size, flight is swift, labored and powerful. Our fastest duck. Drake has a long, sloping head profile, very streamlined, white body, dark tail and long slender neck.

REDHEAD: Appears shorter and darker on the wing than canvasbacks, flight is more erratic and wings beat more rapidly. Flight always appears hurried. A chunky duck with round, puffy head. Drake has a black neck and chest, grayish body.

If the above doesn't help, do what everyone else does. When the first specks appear over the horizon turn to your buddy and say with authority: "Bluebills—way out!" He won't argue with you, because chances are, he doesn't know either.

INTRAMURAL PRACTICE

Beginning Tuesday, Nov. 2, residence organizations may use the north, south and west field-house basketball courts for intramural basketball practice. Teams may sign up in the intramural office in the field house for one-half court for a one-hour practice at 6:30, 7:30 or 8:30 p.m.

Substitution Limit Hurts Injured Hawks OK for Game

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP)—Art (Pappy) Lewis, coach of West Virginia's unbeaten Mountaineers, says the limited substitution rule has taken the fun out of college football and made duller scholars of the players.

In an appeal to college officials to restore the old two-platoon system, the hulking West Virginia mentor said Thursday: "A boy simply can't practice as hard as long as it's necessary today, then play 60 minutes on Saturday and do a good job in his grades."

Football 'Drudgery'
"Football is getting to be drudgery instead of fun, with no relief for the top players. And it's a shame to watch these boys drag themselves out on Mondays to continue practice. I know it's tough on their studies, too."

Lewis is preparing the Mountaineers for their battle here Saturday with Pittsburgh, a tough traditional rival which has beaten Navy and Northwestern on successive weekends. The game is a 34,000 sellout.

"The present rule is responsible for the wave of upsets and also for the runaway scores you see today," Lewis added. "Look at UCLA. Beats Stanford, 72-0, one week and Oregon state, 61-0, the next."

Badger, Irish Troubled
"Ohio State scores three touchdowns in nine minutes against Wisconsin, a fine team. Notre Dame, once the symbol of football wealth, plays 17 men in the Michigan State game, and six boys have to go all the way."

"All over the country, with big squads and little, you're seeing 60-minute performances and a lot of tired boys on the field in that last half. As a result you can't tell what will happen. When a game breaks open the boys are too tired to stop the runaway."

Coach Forest Evashevski put the Iowa squad through a light signal drills Friday.

With the exception of center Don Suchy, all the players on the injured list at the start of the week reported for practice and will be ready to go against Wisconsin, trainer Doyle Allsup said.

Jerry Reichow returned to the first string quarterback position, replacing Kenny Ploen. Dick Deasy worked out at tackle in place of Rodger Swedberg. Ploen and Swedberg ran with the second team.

Quarterback Don Dobrino, who has been on the injury list, quarterbacked the third team.

Starting assignment Saturday for quarterback and tackle were speculative. There was a chance that Ploen might start and that Deasy may go in at the start if Swedberg's hip is not better. Ends Ken Meek and Jim Freeman have been alternating at that spot during the week.

Martinez TKO's Fiore In Bloody Match

NEW YORK (AP)—Vince Martinez setup Carmine Fiore with stinging left jabs and then cut loose with a two-fisted barrage to score a technical knockout in 2:32 of the seventh round Friday night at Madison Square Garden.

When referee Harry Kessler intervened, Fiore was draped over the ropes near his own corner with blood spouting from cuts around both eyes.

WHITNEY MARTIN'S — Sports Trail

NEW YORK (AP)—There will be the usual quota of games won or lost (today) because the extra point kickers were calm and collected and made good on their attempts, or weren't calm and collected and missed.

There has been considerable argument as to the fairness of a rule whereby a team which is the equal of its opponent in every other department loses because its kicker had a crooked toe and the ball took off with a slice or a hook.

It readily is admitted the extra point often is the means of reaching a decision in a game, and that without it there would be a monotonous run of the games which leave both teams and their followers with that let-down feeling.

Part of Game
Also the extra point is as much a part of the game as the kickoff or the forward pass or the mousetrap play, and if one team is more proficient in making the conversions it deserves to win.

The idea of the anti faction is that the present conversion system places too much stress on the ability of one team to do a particular job, and the success or failure of his team depends on his ability.

Numerous ideas have been advanced aimed at a substitute for the present methods of scoring extra points, but they never got beyond the discussion stage.

Miami Tops Fordham, 75-7
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Miami's mighty running machine hit a new peak of offensive power Friday night with a 75-7 victory over Fordham.

It was the biggest score ever run up by a Hurricane team.

It was billed as a "revenge" game, because Miami wanted to get even for a 20-0 beating by an underdog Fordham team last year, but nobody expected the 11-touchdown tide Miami unleashed.

Eight minutes after the game started, Coach Andy Gustafson had benched his first team and long before halftime he had dipped deep into his fourth string.

Sugar Ray Signs For Comeback Bid
NEW YORK (AP) — Promoter Nick Londes of Detroit said Friday Sugar Ray Robinson will make his first comeback fight at the Detroit Olympia early in December.

Londes said he would decide later on an opponent for the former welterweight and middleweight champion who recently announced he was going to training camp to see if he could get in shape for a comeback. The promoter said the scrap would be held the first or second week of December.

George Gainford, Robinson's manager, said Robinson, training at Greenwood Lake, N.Y., was "faster than expected." He said Sugar Ray weighed 157 pounds.

Former Ambassador's Wife To Talk Here on Russia

Mrs. Lydia Kirk, wife of Admiral Alan G. Kirk, who commanded the U.S. naval forces in the Normandy invasion, will speak in Macbride auditorium on "Life in Russia Today," Nov. 10.

Mrs. Kirk is the author of "Postmarked Moscow", a report of her experiences as "housekeeper" for the U.S. embassy while her husband served as U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union from June 1949 to October 1951.

By accompanying her husband on his assignments, Mrs. Kirk has observed both the formalities and informalities of diplomatic life. She was in Brussels from 1946-1949 when Kirk was ambassador to Belgium. After Kirk resigned as ambassador to the Soviet Union in 1951, they moved to Paris where Admiral Kirk was named advisor to the United Nations.

Kirk is presently chairman of the American committee for the liberation of the peoples of Russia. The Kirks live in New York city.

Mrs. Kirk's three children and six grandchildren were indirectly responsible for her book on Russia. In order to keep close to her family in the U.S., Mrs.

Kirk wrote them many letters giving them the atmosphere of her daily life in the Soviet capital.

These letters were published under the title, "Postmarked Moscow".

Tickets for Mrs. Kirk's lecture will be distributed free to students, faculty and staff beginning Nov. 6, 8 a.m. at the main desk of the Memorial Union. Tickets remaining on Wednesday, Nov. 10, will be available to the general public up to 8 p.m., the time of the lecture.

Baptist Church Opens Doors to Negroes

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP) — Ten Negro residents of Greene County, who have been without facilities for religious worship, have found sanctuary among white Baptists.

A little country church at near-by Oak Grove recently opened its membership to the 10 Negroes. The church has the first integrated congregation in the history of the Arkansas State Baptist convention.

The Rev. A. C. Rudloff, pastor of the church, said, "The members took the position that if we could not do something like this here, we'd look funny talking about foreign missions."

There still are about 40 Negroes eligible for membership in the church, and a Negro minister has been invited to conduct evangelistic services at Oak Grove in an attempt to enlist them.

Pharmacists Told Defective Products Constitute Liability

Pharmacists should always keep in mind that they can be held liable for defects in the products they carry, for the negligence of their clerks or for the safety conditions of their stores, Prof. Allan D. Vestal of the college of law told 100 pharmacists Friday.

Taking part in a two-day pharmacy seminar being held on the SUI campus Friday and today, the pharmacists were welcomed by Dean Louis C. Zopf of the college of pharmacy.

During a conference on hypertensive products, Gail A. Wiese, associate professor of pharmacy at SUI said, "Although there is still no ideal drug for the treatment of hypertension and high blood pressure, more progress has been made in the last decade through experimental pharmacology and pharmaceutical chemistry than during any other period in medical history."

Prof. George Martin, head of the SUI department of botany, discussed fungi from a physiological point of view and explained their distribution in nature. Discussing the popular drug, penicillin, he mentioned how fungi can be curative as well as produce disease. "The study of curative substances which can be produced by fungi has just begun," he said.

Other speakers on Friday's program included Dr. W. D. Paul of the SUI college of medicine, Prof. James W. Jones of the college of pharmacy, as well as representatives of the federal drug administration, the bureau of narcotics and the pharmaceutical manufacturing industry.

Hawk-I Pep Club Slates 2 Meetings

Students wishing to become members of the Hawk-I pep club will be welcomed at the Nov. 2 and Nov. 9 meetings.

The meetings will be held in the Shambaugh lecture room.

At their meeting last Tuesday the I-club organized Homecoming badge sales. The 15,000 badges will go on sale Monday. The club is asking for volunteer salesmen. Any students who want to help in the sales may pick up badge allotments between 3 and 4:30 p.m. Monday.

Announcement was made of the forthcoming Homecoming pep rally, to be held next to the parade judges' stand immediately after the parade next Friday.

Old Solon Academy Saved as Monument

The Solon school board will equip the Old Stone academy as a historical monument despite the fact that the fate of the 112-year-old school is still undecided, John Wilson, president of the board of directors of the Solon community school district, said.

Old-time school room desks will be cleared to join other historic equipment from 14 obsolete rural schools which were sold at an auction Tuesday.

Believed to be the oldest existing school house in Johnson county, the building was withdrawn from Tuesday's auction at the suggestion of Prof. William J. Petersen, superintendent of the Iowa Historical society.

Driver Unsnarls 'Blue Jay' Traffic

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Rush hour traffic was tied up for several blocks because a baby bluejay was fluttering helplessly in the center of the street, two adult bluejays noisily hovering over it.

Finally the driver of the big truck which had stopped in front of the jays got out and carried the young bird safely off the street. Then the long lines of cars began to move again.

Homecoming is next Saturday, against Purdue.

33 Singing Ex-GI's To Give Concert Here

Lenard de Paur's Infantry chorus, a group of 33 singing veterans organized in 1942, will give a concert Nov. 17 in the main lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union at 8 p.m.

Students may get tickets at the Union free upon presentation of their ID cards, beginning Monday, Nov. 15. Spouse tickets will be available at the regular ticket price of $2. Reserve seats for faculty, staff and the public will be placed on sale Tuesday, Nov. 16 at the same price.

Since the all Negro group was formed, it has made over 3,500 performances. Their programs include music of many lands they have visited in their army tours (much of it new to the concert stage), songs of World War II, modern arrangements of art songs, and music of different religions and spirituals.

Organizes Ensemble De Paur enlisted in the army as a private and rose to captain. Shortly after entering the service he began forming the ensemble from the men in his regiment.

After the war 70 percent of the men remained together, including 14 of the originals.

The de Paur chorus toured the globe during the second world war to build the morale of the service men and aid in war bond drives.

Directs Musical De Paur's real interest in choral work came when he met Hall Johnson and joined his choir to eventually become associate conductor to Johnson. De Paur later became musical director for the Broadway production "John Henry". He also received acclaim for his work

DUKE DOCTOR TO LECTURE Dr. Eugene A. Stead Jr., professor of medicine at Duke university, will speak at SUI's college of medicine Monday at 4:10 p.m. The subject of his speech will be "Cardiac Output and Peripheral Blood Flow." ## Young Demos Set Parade, Meeting

Plans for a parade of the SUI Young Democrats Monday night and a party the following evening were made at a meeting Thursday night.

All who wish to participate in the election parade will assemble at the Iowa Memorial Union by 7:15 Monday night. Those who have cars are asked to bring them.

The members will have an informal gathering Tuesday evening with the arrangements to be made by Dave Foster, L1, Sheffield. Those interested should contact him.

Tom Maine, G, Estherville, was elected Thursday night to fill the office of state executive secretary of the Young Democrats, and Sam Pesses, A2, Bettendorf, was chosen as first district chairman. It was decided that the first district committeewomen would be selected from the Iowa Wesleyan group.

WHITE TO ADDRESS SDX

Iowa City Police Chief O. A. White will address the SUI chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity, at a luncheon meeting Nov. 1 at the Memorial Union. White's speech will be "The Press and the Police Force."

Views 'Iron Curtain' First-Hand

DONALD E. JOHNSON, RIGHT, WEST BRANCH, state chairman of Crusade for Freedom, is standing at the edge of the "iron curtain" in Western Germany. Johnson and 71 other Americans visited the spot as part of their first-hand appraisal of the facilities of Radio Free Europe, the anti-communist network that penetrates the iron curtain. Johnson is making the tour as a guest of the Crusade for Freedom, which supports Radio Free Europe.

(Daily Iowan Photo)

THIS SCENE WILL BE RE-ENACTED next Saturday when Mrs. Forest Evashevski, wife of Iowa's football coach, is presented with a Homecoming "mum" before the Hawkeye-Purdue football game. Shown here are Judy Harrison, Al, Davenport; Marsha Brubaker, Al, Davenport; Mrs. Evashevski; and Beverly Henschen, Al, Davenport. All four girls are on the YWCA "mum" sales committee. Ticket sales will begin Monday for the traditional Homecoming flowers.

3 Chosen To Judge Homecoming Floats

Three chamber of commerce secretaries have been named to judge some 30 floats which will compete Friday evening in SUT's sixth annual Homecoming parade.

They are Fred Duven of Cherokee, Harold Kamm, Webster City and Neil Hammer of Newton, who will score each float in terms of beauty, humor and originality, with the winning floats in each class to be awarded prizes.

Local businessmen join with student groups in sponsoring and constructing the floats for the ceremony, which has become a joint Iowa City-SUI tradition, viewed by thousands of townspeople and Homecoming visitors. In general, the business supply the capital and the students supply the labor which goes into construction of the floats.

Besides its 30 floats, the parade will include 17 bands and horses ridden by members of the Iowa City Saddle club.

Grand Marshal for the parade will be Ben E. Summerville, Iowa City. Dave Cannon, also of Iowa City, has been appointed assistant marshal. They will be helped by section commanders made up of volunteers from Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, Boy Scout fraternity and approximately 20 parade scouts.

The Dolphin gymnastic and water show will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, reigned over by the Dolphin Queen. There are five contestants now vying for the title of Dolphin Queen, out of an original "field" of 26 SUI coeds.

Halftime celebrations planned for the Purdue-Iowa game include the Iowa band doing a "Hit Parade of 1954" theme. The band will form a banjo, a bridge, a house and a formation of Old Capitol to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne."

Labor Standards Higher, Arbitrator Says

What is "just cause" for employee discharge today is not quite the same as it was during periods of acute labor shortage, the vice-president of the American Arbitration Association told the Iowa Conference on Labor-Management Relations at SUI Friday.

"There are new and tighter standards of competence, J. Noble Braden of New York city, a veteran judge of conflicts rising from discharge cases, told the nearly 100 conferees.

"Where management was inclined to be indulgent and where arbitrators were apt to give the discharged employee another chance, the trend now is for enforcement of higher standards," he said.

Another effect of the current economic and political situation on the judicial branch of labor-management relations is that arbitrators are finding more and more cases where the stated reason for discharge is not the real reason, he continued.

"In some situations management hopes to get rid of inefficient or marginal employees by citing infraction of some minor rules," Braden said. "American Arbitration Association files reveal that on other occasions, the attempt was made to discharge workers for having supplied false or misleading information on job applications.

"Investigations of applications and references would probably never have been undertaken in a tight labor market. Such actions put before arbitrators very difficult problems in the administration of justice in labor-management relations," Braden concluded.

Earlier in the day the conference heard an analysis of trends in collective bargaining, in which labor and management legislate terms and conditions of their working relationships without recourse to a third party as in arbitration.

St. Louis Boy Thinks Churchill Does Well

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The mother of Gerald Lansbaum, 13, thought the British prime minister might be interested in this sentence from an essay written by the boy on a school assignment:

"Winston Churchill is an unusual man—although he is nearly 80 years old he does the work of a man twice his age." Churchill's secretary, acknowledging receipt of the essay, said "the prime minister was amused."

FORELL TO LECTURE
Prof. George W. Forell, of the SUI school of religion, will give two addresses Wednesday in Mason City at the annual pastoral conference of the southern district of the Evangelical Lutheran church.

SEASONAL CHANGE?
FRIES, Va. (AP) — This town has a pleasant climate but the pronunciation makes residents the subject of frequent jibes. Some insist it is "freeze" in the winter and "frys" in the summer.

Prof. Zeigler's Family Eagerly Awaits Snow

Prof. Harley H. Zeigler of the SUI school of religion and his family are witnessing their first autumn weather and preparing for their first winter in ten years.

Zeigler is an exchange professor from the University of Hawaii, serving for one semester in the school of religion here. He is acting in the post of Dr. Willard M. Lampe, professor emeritus, who is on leave of absence at the University of Hawaii.

The temperature rarely drops below 65 degrees, and the trees hold their green leaves all year in the semi-tropic climate of Hawaii.

"Our children have never seen snow fall, and are looking forward to the coming of winter," Zeigler said of his two youngsters, John, 8, and Karen, 5, who have never been off the Hawaiian Islands.

Zeigler and his family have lived in Honolulu since shortly after the bombing of Pearl Harbor.

In 1943 Zeigler, then teaching in the department of religion and philosophy at the University of Ohio, received an invitation to direct the school of religion at the University of Hawaii.

"I accepted," he said, "in order to be closer to the war front into which so many of my students at Ohio were then being drawn."

Zeigler said the University of Hawaii, the only accredited institution of higher education on the Islands, will likely become the state university in the event the territory is admitted to the union.

"There is not a great deal of difference between midwestern students and those that attend Hawaii," Zeigler said, "but of course they have certain unique customs acquired in their homelands.

"Many students would bow their heads during lectures as a token of respect to the professor, and it was often difficult to get them to participate in discussion because they were shy."

Zeigler explained that the Japanese, Hawaiian, Chinese and Koreans who attend the university are becoming "more and more Westernized."

A graduate of Boston university, he took special courses in philosophy at Harvard university, and went to the University of Berlin as a Howard Fellow. Commenting on the conditions in Germany at that time he said "Hitler dismissed so many of the leading professors that I gave up my idea of taking my doctors degree there."

Every dog should own a child

OUR dog here has just acquired a small boy—owns him lock, stock and barrel right now, as you can easily see.

Soon, the dog can begin the boy's training. If this boy is a bright boy, the dog will teach him several very good things. He will teach him about loyalty and patience and how to trust. And—most important—he will teach him about the obligation he owes to those who love him and depend on him.

As a grownup, you already know about that obligation and are doing your level best to live up to it. And we have a suggestion that may help. The easiest, surest, safest way to guard your family's future and provide security against emergencies is to join the Payroll Savings Plan.

Security—and all the dreams you have—can come true through the Payroll Savings Plan
When you sign up for Payroll Savings, you ask your pay office to save out part of your check each payday. This money's automatically invested for you in interest-bearing U. S. Series E Savings Bonds. If you sign for just $3.75 a week, in 9 years, 8 months, you'll have $2,137.30! No wonder 8 million Americans are using Payroll Savings! Why not join them—today?

You can do it—8 million others are doing it!
Steady saving through the Payroll Savings Plan is making dreams come true for eight million working folks. What about you? Why not get started right now and give yourself and your family a break? Sign up for steady, systematic savings with the Payroll Savings Plan. If you are self-employed, join the Bond-A-Month Plan where you bank. But pick your plan and join today—you'll be glad all the rest of your life that you did!

Saving is simpler than you think—with U. S. Savings Bonds on the Payroll Savings Plan!

Voters To Decide Fire Levy Issue

Voters of Cedar and Big Grove townships will vote special propositions for fire protection levies at the general elections Nov. 2.

The proposals ask for the legal limit of one and a half mills for "purchasing, renting, owning or maintaining fire apparatus" and housing such equipment. Under this proposal the townships may independently, or jointly with other townships, buy or rent fire fighting equipment.

The measure, submitted by the township trustees, was rejected by a narrow margin in the primary election in June. Such a proposal requires approval by 60 per cent of those voting.

Invites Thiefs for Beer, Daughter Calls Police

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Margaret Stivers told police she awakened at 3:30 a.m. and saw a man rifling her purse in her bedroom. She shared the room with her daughter, Josephine McGuckin.

"I was so frightened I was afraid to scream," said Mrs. Stivers. "So I began talking to him."

She said she invited him to the kitchen for a beer while her daughter called the police, who promptly joined the "party."

SUI Gets $7,453 In Gifts, Grants

Gifts and grants totaling $7,453.05 have been accepted for SUI by the finance committee of the state board of education.

According to the announcement by President Virgil M. Hancher, the sum of $5,000 was donated to the SUI college of pharmacy by the Iowa Pharmaceutical association, to be used in the production of educational television films and kinescopes. With pharmacy staff members serving as consultants, the production will be under the leadership of Prof. John R. Winnie of the SUI television center.

$1,000 For Eye Research

For research in ophthalmology, the finance committee accepted $1,000 from the American Optical company, Southbridge, Mass., its annual grant to the Iowa college of medicine. The sum will be used to support Dr. Hermann L. Burian's study of electrical impulses arising from the retina of the eye after a light stimulus.

Mrs. Grace W. Jeans, Iowa City, gave $1,000 for books and furnishings for the memorial library established in honor of her late husband, Dr. Philip C. Jones, 1924-52 head of the university's department of pediatrics.

The 1860-1900 business records of an early Clinton lumber company were presented to University libraries by L. J. Schuster, president of the Clinton National bank, and C. Y. Hancock, publishers of the Clinton Herald and grandson of W. J. Young, pioneer Iowa lumber magnate.

Business Record Included

To be the core of the University library's anticipated collection of Iowa business history as revealed by records of individual companies, the W. J. Young & Co. materials will be used by Alan W. Bogue, assistant professor of history, in research into the influence of Mississippi river lumber companies in the development of the Midwest.

The sum of $250 was accepted from the General Electric Co. to defray expenses of administering GE scholarships in advertising and public relations at the university. Present holder of the scholarship is Willard J. Isenberger, Jr., A4, Sioux City.

The finance committee also accepted $155 from friends and neighbors of the late Raymond Eastman, Des Moines advertising man who was killed in an automobile accident near Atlantic last August.

Record Given

A gift of 20 long-play recordings of 20th-century music was accepted for the university's music department. The recordings were donated by the Pittsburgh International Contemporary Music Festival under the sponsorship of the Carnegie Institute and the Pennsylvania College for Women.

Charles Goodell, Milford, gave the Hospital-School for Severely Handicapped Children $43.50 in memory of his father Hiram L. Goodell, former resident of Lake Park. The Fremont Lassies of Lone Tree presented $5 to the Cancer Research fund of the SUI college of medicine.

$18,000 Verdict Goes to Arildsen

The Schwab-Arildsen damage suit ended Friday morning after four days of trial when a Johnson county district court jury returned a verdict of $18,000 in favor of William A. Arildsen, 82, of Waterloo.

Arildsen asked $42,500 damages in a counter-claim to a $67,500 suit filed by Charles J. Schwab, 57, 915 Second ave.

The claims arose as a result of a head-on collision two miles north of North Liberty, March 27, which involved cars driven by the two men. Both were injured and Mrs. Arildsen died in the accident.

The jury turned in the sealed verdict at 5:30 a.m. Friday, after 16 hours of deliberation, and Judge James P. Gaffney opened it at 8:30 a.m.

Peggy Lee Sings . . .

PEGGY LEE sings and gestures her way through a series of numbers including both "mood" and uptempo tunes. The songstress was one of the stars that accompanied Billy Eckstine, the Pete Rugolo band and other acts as they played two shows in the main lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union Friday night. Meanwhile . . .

Revue Hard To Beat

No Surprises, But Billy Eckstine and Troupe Please Memorial Union Audience

By BILL BURGETT

The revue modestly billed as "The Biggest Show of '54" offered no surprises in its two performances Friday night, but the crowd at the Iowa Memorial Union, most of them avid Billy Eckstine, Peggy Lee, and Pete Rugolo fans, didn't really care.

The trio headlined a boisterous evening which included four lesser acts and kicked off the "Dad's Day" weekend celebration.

Probably the biggest crowd pleaser of the show was Miss Lee, who revived memories of her great days as jazz vocalist with Benny Goodman, by giving rousing renditions of "Love Me Or Leave Me," "Get Outta Here," "Just One Of Those Things," and "I've Got It Bad," and finished by doing an over-worked version of her popular "Lover."

Equally effective, but smooth and methodical in contrast to

Miss Lee, was Eckstine. "The Great Mr. B.," winner of many polls as America's favorite male vocalist, gave a medley of some of his better known MGM recordings. The best were: "My Funny Valentine," "Tenderly," and "I Apologize."

This tour marks Rugolo's initial effort as a bandleader. Best known for his fine progressive jazz arrangements while a member of the Stan Kenton organization, Rugolo responded with good backing for the show and presented some of his orchestrations. Among them were "Laura," "That Old Black Magic," "Jingle Bells Mambo," and a clever burlesque, "Lombardo Rides Again."

The remaining acts included: The 3 Arnauts, an unfunny comedy act; George Kirby, an amusing impersonationist; The Drifters, Atlantic Records quartet, and The Slate Brothers, a comedy duo.

As a music revue, "The Biggest Show Of '54" will be hard to beat.

Journalism School Gets Memorial Gift

A gift of $155, in memory of the late Raymond M. Eastman, who died August 22, from injuries received in an auto accident near Atlantic, has been given to the SUI school of journalism.

The memorial contribution was made by friends and neighbors of the 1949 graduate of the school.

Eastman, an advertising man in Des Moines at the time of his death, was the author of the widely celebrated "Ten Seconds to Live," a safety article describing the thoughts of a man in the last moments before he is killed in an auto accident.

The decision on how the money is to be spent was left to the faculty of the school. No decision has yet been reached, but items purchased will be identified in Eastman's memory.

A member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic society, Eastman was graduated with the B.A. degree in journalism from SUI in 1949.

During World War II, he served as a lieutenant in the air force. At the time of the Korean conflict he was recalled to active duty, serving in the United States and England in 1952 and 1953.

Spanish Travelogue In Macbride Sunday

An all-color film lecture, "Romantic Spain," is scheduled by Clifford J. Kamen for Sunday at 8 p.m. in Macbride auditorium. The program is sponsored by the Iowa Mountaineers club.

Kamen, a world traveler, photographer, and artist attended the University of California and graduated from Northwestern university. He also received art training at the Chicago Art Institute and the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts.

The travelogue will cover the Pyrenees, Sierra Nevada, the Mediterranean coast and the wilderness of the central plateau. The film will show the Alhambra, Madrid, the holiday atmosphere of the beach resorts, and the traditions of Castile.

. . . Billy Eckstine Rests

Saved Dog With Gun; Boy, 10, Is Paroled

WEST MONROE, La., (AP) — Ten-year-old Joe Cooper, who defended Tippie, his mongrel dog, with a loaded shotgun, Friday night was paroled to the custody of a married sister after a former governor agreed to spark a nationwide fund raising drive to give him a private school and college education.

Former Gov. James A. Noe, who operates a radio station in New Orleans and a television and radio station in adjoining Monroe, said he would advance money to send the sixth grader to the Webb School for Boys in Bell Buckle, Tenn., next Wednesday.

Tippie wasn't vaccinated and school officials had picked him up, locked him in a closet and called pound officials to destroy him.

Joe pleaded with Mrs. Tina

Clark, school principal for the freedom of his dog. She refused.

Then the undersized 10-year-old went into action. He returned home and got the family shotgun, used his lunch money for a shell and returned in an attempt to free his dog.

Joe held Mrs. Clark and truant officer Maurice Griggs at gun point until police relieved him of the gun.

"I would not have shot anyone. I just wanted my dog," Joe said afterward. "He's not much, but he's all I got."

SOCIAL HEALTH

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Sign in the health department building: "Courtesy is contagious."

State OK's Hospital Grant

SUI's application for $365,000 in federal hospital building funds, backed by the state health department, was approved Thursday by the state hospital advisory council in Des Moines.

SUI requested the grant to build a clinical research building and enable clinical facilities to be taken out of other hospital buildings to make room for more patients.

The grant brings to $1,265,000 the amount of funds available for the research center. The last legislature voted $900,000 for the project.

Federal authorities still must approve the grant.

The money is allocated to Iowa under a program in which the federal government puts up $1 for every $2 obtained locally.

Government Buys Land For Coralville Project

The federal government has purchased 300 acres of Johnson county land to be included in the projected Coralville dam reservoir area.

A 120 acre area in Oxford township was purchased for $19,900, and a tract of 180 acres in Madison township was bought for $14,400.

Overflow easment rights on 78 acres in Monroe township were obtained for $9,650, from two farm owners there.

for non-profit hospital facilities. This fiscal year $1,187,000 is available for Iowa.

SUI's request was the only one made to the council so far this year. The council and the health department's hospital services division have charge of distributing federal funds in the state.

MR. PRESIDENT: WHOSE TRAFFIC JAM?

In a TV appearance Thursday night, President Eisenhower referred to the possibility of a Democratic majority in Congress with a Republican administration, thus creating 2 drivers going in different directions and causing quite a traffic jam.

Let's examine a few facts:

From 1932 to 1952 — two whole decades of the first half of the 20th century—there was no traffic jam:

People all over the country were happy and gave their popular Presidents (Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Truman) Congressional majorities to develop and build American principles and ideals. Apparently the president is worried about Tuesday, November 2nd. If the voters are thinking of providing two drivers, perhaps it's because the voters don't like the direction the present driving is taking. If a new driver can't manage on his own, it's the usual practice to provide some help.

In Johnson County two Congressional candidates of the Democratic party warrant your very earnest consideration.

GUY M. GILLETTE

JOHN O'CONNOR

Senator Gillette is a candidate to succeed himself. John O'Connor is a candidate for Representative from the First District.

Senator Gillette is well qualified and proven, a popular representative of all voters, both Republican and Democratic through the years. He is a man who has ideals and follows them for the benefit of all the people of the state and the nation. He does not need anyone to come to Iowa to plead his cause and explain why he is needed. His record speaks for itself. He is an independent statesman, with a nationwide reputation for diligent service in the Senate.

John O'Connor is a young farmer who has studied issues facing Congress very carefully and is ready and willing to state his ideas and opinions whenever asked.

So don't worry about a "Traffic Jam", stay on the right way and follow the "Green Light" to better farm prices, steady employment and business conditions, and a firm foreign policy.
