The Campus Chest service auction sale Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Iowa Memorial Union will climax the four-day Campus Chest drive now in progress.

Articles to be auctioned have been contributed by students, faculty members and local merchants.

Miss Helen Reich, assistant director of student affairs, will provide Sunday night dinner for four. T. Z. Koo, professor of Oriental studies, will furnish dinner entertainment for an evening dinner.

Contributions from Iowa City merchants include a pizza pie dinner for four at Kessler's restaurant, a sport shirt from Bremer's, a purse from Towne's, a supply of film from Lubin's pharmacy, and a record album from West's music store.

Fifty different services will be auctioned off by Geo. Parizek, 1211 E. Court st., and Lyle Donohoe, 1820 E. Court st. William Pinkston, SUI instructor in general business, will be master of ceremonies.

Entertainment will be provided at various times during the auction.

Any persons wishing to donate articles for auction may contact Edward Cohn, A3, Waterloo, chairman of the service auction.

6 Groups Pledge $1 Per Member

Four social sororities and two fraternities have pledged 100 per cent donations as the Campus Chest drive enters its last two days today.

Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity and Pi Beta Phi, Delta Gamma and Gamma Phi Beta sororities announced Tuesday that they would give $1 per member to the campaign which got under way Monday.

Total donations in the drive to date total $226. This includes $96.24 from housing units and $129.76 from on-campus solicitation.

Acacia fraternity and Sigma Delta Tau sorority announced before the drive began that, regardless of the quota, they would give 100 per cent.

Money collected in the drive will be given to five agencies which are determined by preference check lists returned by living units and student organizations last month.

The recipients include the World University service, loan fund for needy SUI foreign students, the CARE Book fund, National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro students, and Save the Children federation.

The drive got under way formally Monday night with a kickoff rally on the east approach to Old Capitol. SUI President match to light the central display built around the theme of the campaign, "Help Heiky Light the Match."

WARMING UP FOR SERVICE AUCTION, Dominick Consolo, graduate assistant in English, gives Allen Waxenberg, A3, publicity chairman for the Campus Chest auction, a preview of the service he will sell Thursday night at the Iowa Memorial Union.

Surgical Instrument Imprint On Marilyn's Pillow: Witness

CLEVELAND (AP) — An expert witness for the state testified Tuesday that the under side of Marilyn Sheppard's death pillow bore the bloody imprint of a twin-clawed surgical instrument. Her husband is an osteopathic surgeon.

Coroner Samuel R. Gerber, in his testimony, gave the first hint of the kind of weapon the state believes killed the pregnant, 31-year-old wife of the osteopath last July 4. No murder weapon ever has been produced.

The testimony took the defense by complete surprise. The state sprang its biggest sensation yet in the 4-week-old trial with the dramatic suddenness of a single thunderclap.

Dr. Samuel Sheppard, on trial for his wife's slaying, practices surgery under a state license that puts osteopaths on the same plane as medical doctors in that respect. His wife died of some 35 blows, most of them to the head.

Sheppard, 30, says a bushy haired prowler beat his pregnant wife to death and knocked him unconscious the morning of the summer holiday.

Dr. Gerber was by far the state's top witness so far. And Asst. Prosecutor Saul Danaceau made full use of him during al-

Utah Republican To Introduce Additional Censure Charge

Hungarians Release Couple Held as Spies

LONDON (AP) — The Budapest Radio said Tuesday night Communist Hungary has freed Noel Field and his wife, Herta, who have been in prison there on spy charges since 1949. Field is a former American State department man.

The broadcast, heard here, said the case against them recently was reviewed and the conclusion was reached that the charges could not be substantiated.

Expresses Surprise

A spokesman at the U.S. legation in Budapest, reached by telephone from Vienna, expressed surprise at the reported release of the Noel Fields. He said: "It is completely new to me. As far as I know, nobody in the legation knew about their pending release. As far as I know, no contacts have been made with them."

In Washington, State department spokesmen said they were not surprised, if the report is true. These officials said the department demanded the Fields' release in a formal note Sept. 28 to the Hungarian Foreign ministry and has sought a reply two or three times since.

Brother Freed Earlier

Fields' brother, Hermann, a Cleveland architect, was freed from a prison in Communist Poland last month. Hermann is in a Warsaw hospital to regain his strength after his prison ordeal before returning home. His wife, Kate, is in London.

Hermann was arrested in Warsaw early in 1949 while searching for Noel, who vanished in Prague, Czechoslovakia, in May of that year. Noel's wife also disappeared in Prague while she was looking for her husband.

First actual knowledge in the West of what had become of the Fields — a mystery to rival an international thriller — was given to the U.S. government by Joseph Swiatlo, a Polish security police chief who fled to the West. He said he had arrested Hermann in 1949. He told Washington authorities he thought

Senators Discuss Censure

SEN. WALLACE F. BENNETT (R-Utah), right, discusses with Sen. Arthur V. Watkins, also a Utah Republican, the proposal he introduced last Wednesday that he would file a new censure charge against Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) based on McCarthy's statements about the Watkins committee. Earlier, Watkins said he would file a new contempt charge if nobody else did.

Russian-U.S. Policy Review Unnecessary, Dulles Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said Tuesday he saw no need for a full dress reappraisal of American policy toward Russia, as proposed by senate Republican Leader William Knowland of California.

"I do not myself see any immediate emergency which requires either that review or discussion should be on any different basis from what it normally is," he told his news conference.

Dulles also stated, in what was a fresh warning to the Chinese Communists, that any attack on the Chinese Nationalist stronghold of Formosa would mean hostilities with the United States.

7th Fleet Ready

He said the American 7th fleet, which is assigned to guarding the island of Formosa off the Chinese mainland, conceivably could go into action to defend the Tachen islands, some 200 miles north of Formosa.

But the secretary declined to say definitely that the Tachen chain would be defended, although he noted it is the site of radar devices which warn Formosa of any air attack from Red bases around Shanghai.

Apparent White House Support

Apparently with firm White House support, Dulles made it clear that he disagrees with Knowland's view that present American policy is leading toward an "atomic stalemate" which opens the way for "nibbling aggression" by Russia. Knowland expressed his views in a senate speech Monday.

"I think our foreign policy has taken into account all necessary elements," Dulles said.

"We don't know very clearly just what is behind the Soviet words. In a sense, you may say that their soft words involve in themselves some change of tactics."

Must Look to Deeds

"But one must look behind the words to see what the deeds are, and I don't perceive as yet any change in the actions, the conduct, the deeds of Soviet Communists and their associates."

Dulles said he is ready and willing to continue discussing foreign policy before congressional committees, in speeches, within government councils and at news conferences, as he has done in the past.

But, he said emphatically, no new emergency has arisen which would make a full-scale review of foreign policy necessary.

Knowland Criticizes Policy
Knowland contends that a policy of "peaceful coexistence" with Russia while the Soviets

Britain Gives To Atom Pool

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Britain contributed 44 pounds of atomic material Tuesday to augment the 220 pounds put up by the United States as a start on an international atomic stockpile for peace.

While delegates of the United States and Russia talked behind scenes in an effort to reach agreement on a resolution advancing President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan another step, Anthony Nutting, new chief British delegate announced:

"I am authorized by Her Majesty's government in the United Kingdom to announce that Her Majesty's government are prepared to hold available as an initial contribution for agency projects a quantity of 20 kilograms (44 pounds) of fissionable material to serve as fuel in experimental atomic reactors. This United Kingdom contribution can be made as required."

Smiles of satisfaction spread throughout the Political Committee, but Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet delegate, sat silently. He said after the meeting he will speak Wednesday.

2d Victim of Fire At Floyd Dies

Seven-year-old Janice Pint died Tuesday in University hospitals to become the second in the family to die from explosion and fire which destroyed the living room in the home of Mrs. Harold Pint at Floyd, Nov. 4.

Her brother, Harold, died Nov. 6, the day after he was admitted to University hospitals.

Janice was taken off the critical list Nov. 11.

Others hospitalized are Mrs. Harold Pint, 30, who is in good condition.

William, 10, is in fair condition; Michael, 6, is in good condition, and a half-brother of Mrs. Pint, Emel Ballangen, 5, is in fair condition.

The explosion occurred when Mrs. Pint and the children were asleep in one small bedroom of the 3-room house. Firemen have not determined how the explosion was set off.

$850,000 in Idle Pension Funds Invested

DES MOINES (AP) — State Treasurer M. L. Abrahamson reported Tuesday he has invested another $850,000 in idle Iowa public employe pension funds in interest-bearing utility securities.

This runs the amount of the fund invested to about $4 million dollars.

2d Charge Against Roan Dismissed; Lack of Evidence

Peter F. Roan, Iowa City manager, was cleared of a charge of leaving the scene of an accident Tuesday in Ft. Madison justice court.

The charge was dropped on recommendation of the Lee county attorney for "lack of sufficient evidence."

Roan was fined $5 and costs after his attorney entered a plea of guilty to a charge of driving without a valid license. Roan did not appear in court.

Roan was charged with leaving the scene of a minor accident in Ft. Madison Sept. 15. Mrs. Jack Freighter, who said her car was nicked by Roan's, said earlier that Roan stopped at the first sound of her horn.

Roan was cleared of a drunken driving charge last week when the Lee county grand jury refused to indict him.

All three charges were filed against Roan by Ft. Madison police following the Sept. 15 accident.

Winter Sports Club Planning More Activities for This Year

THIS WAS A TYPICAL SCENE at Melrose lake last year where the University Winter Sports club held most of its skating outings.

By GENE INGLE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

It won't be long now before the snow starts flying and old man winter is blowing his breath down our necks.

The University Winter Sports club was aware of this fact when it called its first meeting of the year for tonight at 7:30 in room 121A Schaeffer hall.

Fred Buchanan, 1953 president of the club, said Wednesday that the club hopes to sign up at least 200 members this year. "The more we can get, the more fun we can have," he said. The club had 80 members last year.

Limited Activities

The club's activities last year were limited to weekly Wednesday night ice skating outings at Melrose lake, just south of the Iowa stadium.

But Buchanan said the club is planning a bigger and better agenda this year, including all kinds of skating (figure, hockey, speed, etc.), tobogganing and skiing.

Club officers are now negotiating with university officials in an attempt to acquire the use of a small lagoon just north of the fine arts building.

Location Better

"Melrose" Buchanan went on, "was too far-out and it cost too much to get in last year. So we tried to get a place that was more centrally located and cheaper for the members."

The lagoon for which the club is dickering has a stone shelter house with a conversion oil burner for heating. Buchanan said if negotiations are completed and at least $200 is raised, lights will be erected for night skating. "However," he said, "our main problem in the negotiations is where we'll get the money." The only income for the club is the dues ($1 per year) collected from the members.

Other Projects

"We'd also like this year," Buchanan continued, "to organize hockey teams and give skating lessons. But of course this depends upon the number of people who join this year."

Another project the club is planning is to take children from the University Children's hospital sliding sometime this winter.

Western League Bosses Call Meeting on Possible Losses

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Bob Doty, business manager of the Wichita Indians, was notified Tuesday directors of the Western League would meet at 10 a.m. Thursday at Lincoln, Neb.

Doty said his notice was by wire from E. R. Saltwell of Sioux City, league secretary, sent from Chicago.

Doherty To Attend

He said it stated that Ed Doherty of Louisville, president of the American Association, and George Trautman of Columbus, Ohio, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues — the minor leagues — will attend.

Both Denver and Omaha — Western League cities — have been mentioned as possible successors to Kansas City in the American Association. The Kansas City franchise is open as a result of that city's elevation to the American League.

No one would be quoted but the general feeling is that the departure of Denver and Omaha will fold the Western League.

To Determine Settlement

An effort is expected to be made at Lincoln to determine what sort of settlement can be worked out to reimburse owners of the other clubs. Denver has been the financial pillar of the league since its post-World War II revival.

The Omaha World-Herald said Western League directors in informal discussions reportedly have arrived at a figure of $200,000 as their idea of what they should receive for giving up their two largest cities.

Johnson To Name A's Manager Today

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Arnold Johnson, Chicago millionaire and owner of the new Kansas City Athletics, is expected to name his field manager at a news conference today.

Johnson hasn't tipped his hand so far, but there's much speculation that the man tabbed for the job will be Lou Boudreau, fired as skipper of Boston's Red Sox earlier this year.

Johnson, who acquired the Philadelphia A's franchise only last week, has admitted Lou has been under consideration.

Eddie Joost managed the Athletics during their dismal last stand in Philadelphia during the past season.

Mineral Bowl Selects Pair of Unbeaten Teams

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo. (AP) — Two of the nation's best small college football teams — Hastings of Nebraska and College of Emporia — tangle in the Mineral bowl game here Thanksgiving day.

Emporia is the undefeated Kansas conference champion, while Hastings completed its first perfect season since 1923, racking up eight victories. Both are Presbyterian schools.

LAST ONLY ONCE

Only once in the 39-year football history of the Southwest Conference has the University of Texas finished in seventh place. That was in 1937.

Outdoors

With ARLO JACOBSON
Assistant Sports Editor

Pheasant season is well under way and one needs only to go into the fields to find out how many hunters are out.

Opening day Thursday saw every hunter who could get away beating through the corn fields and brush. By Saturday when we finally got out, the birds were really "running scared."

We went north of Cedar Rapids Saturday in a group of four plus a basset hunting dog. Between noon and 4 p.m., we saw probably half a dozen pheasants. The only one we came close enough to to make a decent shot was a hen.

The hunt covered enough ground to convince us that from now on the birds are going to be hard to find.

We came across one farmer who was out picking corn with a shotgun sitting beside him on the tractor. He had several nice looking birds hung around him. Since his land was posted, we respectfully asked his permission to go into his fields and look around. His reply: "There's a lot of pheasant in this field, but I'm not going to let anybody hunt it until I get the corn picked."

The last time we saw him, he was handing his limit of three birds to someone else, apparently to be taken to the house and packed away in the freezer. He must not have known about the bag limit, though, because he drove back into the cornfield with his gun riding beside him on the tractor.

This may sound like sour grapes. It may well be, but it's difficult to walk away from a situation like that and not burn just a little about no hunting signs.

There are just enough farmers though, who have been bothered with trampled down fences and cattle turned loose through unclosed gates to justify the posting of fields.

But there's one consolation. The signs are made of paper. Perhaps if hunters for the next few years show enough respect for the farmers' property rights, the farmers won't bother to re-post the No Hunting signs as they weather away. It might be worth a try.

After a bad day Saturday we went out Sunday afternoon determined to take what we could get. Our luck was a little better. We got within 50 yards of a cock pheasant. Only a mean looking bull kept us from going into the corn field after him.

We did, however, get a pair of rabbits.

SMU's Eidom Named AP Back of Week

By MURRAY ROSE
The Associated Press

They call Southern Methodist the Mustangs and Frank Eidom ran like one against Arkansas Saturday to corral the honor of The Associated Press back of the week.

The 22-year-old, 190-pound senior from Port Arthur, Tex., performed brilliantly in leading the Mustangs to a 21-14 triumph over previously unbeaten Arkansas.

Eidom had to come up with the greatest performance of his career to nose out such other fine backs of the day as Iowa's Eddie Vincent and Earl Smith, Maryland's Ronnie Waller, Princeton's Royce Flippin, West Virginia's Freddy Wyant, Minnesota's Bob McNamara, Ohio State's Howard Hopalong Cassidy and Southern California's Aramis Dandoy.

Eidom scored all three of his team's touchdowns, gained 163 yards on 22 carries, caught two passes for 33 yards, starred on defense and had time to do an outstanding job of blocking.

"He played a wonderful game, not only for his offensive ability but on defense and he did a great job of blocking," said SMU Coach Chalmer Woodard. "He also furnished inspirational leadership."

Mays, Gomez Sign Giant Contracts

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Giants Tuesday announced the signing of Willie Mays and Ruben Gomez, two of the brightest stars of their 1954 world champions.

Horace Stoneham, president of the club, said he signed the two players on his recent tour of the winter leagues. Both men are playing for Santurce, Puerto Rico.

Mays signed for a reported $25,000 and Gomez about $15,000.

Mays, a brilliant fielder, won the National league batting title with a .345 average. Gomez won 17, lost 9 and had a 2.84 earned run average.

4th PLACE—WON 99

Only one team in American league history won as many as 90 games and finished fourth. Cleveland in 1950 won 92 but finished behind New York, Detroit and Boston.

Lawyer Collects Old Cars

Starts Out with 1913 Model T Ford; Ages of His 2 Autos Total 79 Years

County Attorney William Meardon explained Tuesday how he joined the ranks of antique automobile enthusiasts when he bought a 1913 model "T" Ford in 1953.

Speaking before the Iowa City Kiwanis club Tuesday, Meardon said there is a great difference between a ride today and motoring then when you were never without a tool kit.

"If you want to see the country or get into a parking place without batting an eye," Meardon said, "this is the way to do it." He admitted that he had trouble parking his own modern car, after parking his model T.

Old-Timers Stop Him
When he drives his car around Iowa City, old-timers stop him with remarks such as "Where'd you get 'er?", "Boy, she really ticks them off!"

The old auto has put him in many embarrassing spots such as stopping dead right at an intersection in downtown Iowa City.

He told the group of a trip he took in the Ford soon after he had restored it, to a client living five miles north of Iowa City, with the intent of 'surprising' him.

At the top of a long hill the vehicle stopped completely. Meardon coasted down into a farmer's yard and requested some tools. After inspecting the car thoroughly without finding the trouble, he thought of the magneto plug. He said cleaning the plug did the trick and the car was in running condition once again.

Lights Wouldn't Work
"It was getting dark and I had to get back to Iowa City since the lights on the car weren't fixed," Meardon said.

Once again at the top of the next long hill, the model T quit. This time he coasted down the other side of the hill into another farmer's yard. Finally he fixed the magneto plug with a piece of an old tin can and made it back to Iowa City.

He located the old Ford first at a farm near Grinnell, but by the time he was ready to buy, it had been sold to a car dealer in Des Moines.

Owens 1916 Overland
Meardon's second antique car is a 1916 grey and black Overland open sedan purchased in Spencer. "When this car stopped at the intersection, not one person offered advice," he said.

Meardon said he does receive advice from everyone in his neighborhood on how to handle the car. He told of the audience of five or six people he has every time he opens his garage door.

Meardon plans to use his cars for exhibition purposes, in parades and at fairs.

City Council OK's Paving Assessments

The Iowa City council Monday night approved assessments of more than $50,000 for paving done last summer on Lincoln and Ginter avenues, and Howell, Van Buren, Ash, Yewell and Dearborn streets.

Property owners in this area will be assessed, and may pay the amounts due now, or have them included in taxes in the next 10 years.

The planning and zoning commission approved the city's vacating of a tract of land on the east side of Madison street to the Iowa Water Service company. Included in this approval is a plan which would have the water company cede the land it owns on the west side of the street and build a sidewalk there.

Last week the council set Dec. 13 as the date for a public hearing on this proposal. The planning and zoning commission's letter was placed on file.

The library board requested an additional $3,000 for better insurance on the library building and its contents. This request was referred to City Manager Peter F. Roan.

Installation of a four-way stop sign or a traffic signal at the intersection of Kirkwood avenue and Linn street was asked in a letter from D. R. Davidson, Iowa City, manager of the Hy-Vee food store.

Rogow One of 36 To Receive Grant

Arnold A. Rogow, formerly of the SUI political science faculty, has been selected as 1 of 36 fellows in the new, Ford-sponsored post doctoral research center in Palo Alto, Calif.

The new center, which is the first of its kind in the field of behavioral sciences, will allow Rogow to conduct his research in a "secluded" atmosphere. He has been given a leave of absence from the university for one year.

Rogow was 1 of 3,000 applicants for positions at the newly established center. It was founded from an original grant of $3.5 million from the Ford foundation.

Stray Dogs Insist On Attending Classes

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP)—Washington and Lee university isn't going to the dogs but the dogs are going to the college.

Professors complained to the administration because stray dogs, petted by students, insisted on attending classes. One big hound, denied admittance at the door, leaped through a window.

The problem was referred to Buildings and Grounds Superintendent D. E. Brady, who may become chief dog catcher.

3 Highlanders Win Scholarships

SUI English Professor Helps Author Art Book

Ray B. West, Jr., SUI English professor, is the author of "The German Novel at Mid-Century" within the just-published book "The Fine Arts at Mid-Century."

A Horizon Press book edited by Robert Richman, the volume includes essays by such novelists as Elizabeth Bowen and poets Archibald MacLeish, Stephen Spender and Allen Tate.

West writes that the young German novelist now tends to think of himself as a European as much as a German, and he finds the absence of a strong traditional nationalism "the most hopeful single thing to be noted in respect to young German writers."

"The first postwar period was one of rebellion against standards of the Hohenzollern-Hapsburg era, anti-political (except for the Communists) and unconventional. In the second postwar period there has come a heightened respect for convention and a recognition of Europe's plight between America and Russia," he says.

West teaches classes at SUI on the writing and criticism of fiction and edits Western Review, literary quarterly published at the university. This semester he is on leave of absence as visiting professor at Queens college, Flushing, N.Y.

Dental Alums Plan 37th Annual Meet

Over 200 alumni of the SUI college of dentistry will attend the 37th annual alumni meeting Friday and Saturday.

Prof. Albert J. Soucek, Gerald P. Ivancie, John W. Wakely, Ralph C. Appleby, Andrew T. Morstad, and Merle L. Hale of the college will be featured speakers in a program designed for the dental general practitioner.

Introductions on Friday will be given by Loren L. Hickerson, executive secretary of the SUI Alumni association; William D. Coder, coordinator of conferences, and Prof. Earl M. Eaton, college of dentistry alumni association president.

A ten-minute eulogy to Dr. Ralph A. Fenton, Professor-emeritus of the SUI college of dentistry who died Jan. 8, 1954, will be given by Prof. George S. Easton, of the college of dentistry, at the beginning of the Saturday session.

School Administrators Plan Conference Here

Relationships between local and county school districts and trends toward enlarging administrative units will be discussed by Iowa schoolmen at SUI Nov. 30 to Dec. 1 at the 39th annual conference on school administration and supervision.

County school administration and modern methods of teaching mathematics will be major topics of the conference, most sessions of which will be held in the Shambaugh lecture room of the University library.

Following a keynote address by Shirley Cooper of Washington, D.C., assistant executive secretary of the American association of school administrators, a number of Iowa school leaders will discuss problems of overlapping administrative units. They will include Fannie Howell, superintendent of Floyd county schools, Charles City; Ernest W. Barker, superintendent of Pottawattamie county schools, Council Bluffs; Hiram Hunn, member of the Polk county board of education, Des Moines.

Paul Wallace, supervisor of the state department of public instruction, Des Moines; Harold J. Williams, city superintendent of schools, Davenport; Richard Schuchert, city superintendent of schools, Dike, and Jordan Larson, former Ames and Dubuque school leader who is now president of the American Association

Bureau of Standards Offers Fellowships

An opportunity for young investigators to undertake basic research in the physical and mathematical sciences is being offered through postdoctoral research associateships now being offered by the national research council-national bureau of standards, according to Dean W. F. Loehwing of the SUI graduate college.

The associateships are offered in the fields of chemistry, mathematics and physics for "young investigators of unusual ability and promise who hold a doctor of philosophy or doctor of science degree or the equivalent." The yearly stipend is $5,940.

Applicants must be citizens of the United States, and all research will be undertaken at the national bureau of standards in Washington, D. C.

Applications for the academic year, 1955-56 must be filed on or before December 10, 1954, Dean Loehwing notes. Requests for application blanks or for additional information should be addressed to the fellowship office, National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council, 2101 Constitution ave., N. W., Washington 25, D. C.

Eastern Iowa Farm Census Half Completed

A. L. McKinstry, field supervisor of the 1954 farm census, said that the census of agriculture is about 50 per cent completed in this part of the state.

The census is taken every five years and is designed to provide up-to-date information about the more than five million farms in the United States.

The crew leader for Johnson and part of Iowa county is B. M. Ricketts.

Information gathered in the census will include data on crops, land, livestock, equipment and expenditures.

Doctors Urge Safety Changes in New Cars

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE, AP Science Reporter
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Seven changes in your future new car—from safety belts to a collapsible bullet nose—were urged by several surgeons Tuesday.

One estimated these "extras" would cost you about $30 more, but reduce auto deaths and injuries by 80 per cent.

"The motorist must strap on his vehicle and wear it like a suit of armor," agreed Dr. Horace E. Campbell, Denver, and Dr. E. Arnold Griswold, Louisville, Ky., at an American College of Surgeons symposium on prevention of auto injuries.

Vulnerable as Teacup
"In most automobiles, we are as vulnerable to injury as a teacup shipped loose in a barrel," added Col. Don S. Wenger of the office of the surgeon general, U.S. air force, Washington.

The seven changes, designed to prevent people from being flung out of cars or against the inside, are:

Seats fixed so firmly to the car frame that they can withstand sudden stops equal to 40 times the pull of gravity.

Retractable seat belts fixed to that kind of seat. Until then, seat belts fixed to the car frame itself.

Steering columns which telescope downward under impact, to avoid their becoming "a spear aimed at the heart."

Doors, like airplane doors, that won't fly open.

A crash panel of four-inch-thick foam material on the dashboard.

Getting rid of all sharp projections of instruments or rear view mirrors.

Wants 2 1/2 Foot Front
A front nose 2 1/2 feet thick made of something like aluminum foam which would crumple slowly, absorbing the shock of a crash.

Campbell estimated the annual toll of some 30,000 deaths and 1 1/2 million injuries in auto crashes—not including pedestrians—could be cut by 80 per cent.

Colonel Wenger said the human body can withstand fantastic forces, if properly supported and protected. He said "cars will become safe when the occupants are properly packaged to survive."

ICC Asked To Order Halt of Segregation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Examiner Howard Hosmer recommended to the Interstate Commerce commission Tuesday that it issue an order "prohibiting the continuance" of racial segregation on interstate passenger trains.

Hosmer said such practices, on some railroads, violate the Interstate Commerce Act which provides there shall be no "unreasonable prejudice or disadvantage" among passengers.

In finding there is a law violation, Hosmer differed from another ICC examiner, Isadore Freidson. On Sept. 30 Freidson held there was no constitutional provision or federal law which prohibits "reasonable segregation" of white and Negro passengers traveling in interstate commerce.

Freidson's ruling stirred Negro groups to action. They were joined Oct. 19 by Atty. Gen. Brownell who filed a brief in the case with the ICC, saying: "The time has come for this commission . . . to declare unequivocally that a Negro passenger is free to travel the length and breadth of this country in the same manner as any other passenger."

Hosmer's recommendation was to sustain a complaint filed against Freidson's ruling by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Lawyers for the NAACP filed their complaint against more than a dozen railroads as a test of segregation practices. Some of the roads said they maintained separate or divided accommodations for the races to meet the laws and customs of their areas; some of them denied they practiced segregation.

Whereas Freidson said there was nothing in the law to prevent "reasonable segregation in the operation of a private business, Hosmer contended:

"The disadvantage to a traveler who is assigned accommodations or facilities so designated as to imply his inherent inferiority solely because of his race certainly is unreasonable."

The railroads took the position that the Supreme Court's May 17 decision holding that public school segregation is unconstitutional has nothing to do with them. They said while public schooling is a government function, transportation is not.

Brownell's Oct. 19 brief argued that the government is in transportation because of the regulatory powers of the ICC.

Sheriff's Deputies Told To Quit AFL

DES MOINES (AP)—Polk Sheriff Thomas L. Reilly told the Board of Supervisors Tuesday he will instruct 35 of his deputies to drop their memberships in the AFL Teamsters' union.

Reilly said he will go along with an opinion of the county attorney's office that membership by the deputies in a national labor organization is illegal.

The union's attorney, C. I. McNutt, told the board: "Public employees do have the right to join a union. But there are limitations on what the union can do for them."

Unionized deputies, he agreed could not strike. But he insisted that "men can bind themselves together for peaceful persuasion."

Wife of Bronx Lionkeeper Nurse to 'Cuddly' Tigers

NEW YORK (AP)— "There's nothing a sick tiger likes better than to be wrapped in a warm blanket and rocked," said Helen Martini. "They're so sentimental and cuddly."

She dropped to her knees on the cement floor of the Bronx Zoo nursery to pat a 3-month-old 18-pound Bengal cub. Quickly he put his front paws around her neck and muzzled her nose.

"This fellow here," she said, "likes to be rocked or just held, all the time. He's the most spoiled tiger I've ever seen, and I've raised—and spoiled—27 of them."

"The big baby. I call him Fer. That's Hindustani for tiger. I was running out of names."

Fed From Bottle
She picked up a nipples baby bottle of milk flavored with horse meat and sat on the floor. Fer ran over and climbed into her lap. Then he sprawled on his back, clutching the bottle with his front paws and nursing noisily.

Mrs. Martini learned a lot about caring for infant animals in the dozen years since her husband, Fred, head lionkeeper at the zoo, brought home a newborn and neglected baby of a highly nervous lioness and asked her help.

There were no books she could read on "What to do when the baby lion comes" and she knew nothing about domestic cats. But with the same loving care, sterilized bottles and feeding schedules she would have given her own baby she had lost years before, she pulled the little fellow through.

Raised at Home
As other helpless baby felines were brought to the small Martini apartment, she persuaded zoo officials to convert a storeroom in the lion house into a nursery. She still raises the babies at home though, moving them to the nursery at about 3 months.

Do they remember when they are big majestic cats pacing the cages she is not allowed to enter?

She laughed with pleasure. "Come and see," she said.

The 600-pound Bengal tigers they had once held in their hands as wriggling kittens rushed to the front of their cages when the Martinis approached. Throwing themselves on the cement floor, they rolled and purred—a house cat's purr 100 times magnified—and begged to be petted.

'Spoiled, Pampered Tigers'
"There's your answer," Mrs. Martini said, scratching a striped flank. "Maybe other tigers become ferocious when they grow up, but all I know are my own hand-raised spoiled, pampered tigers."

In the next cage a black leopard, reputedly the most treacherous and untamable animal in the world, was crouched glaring at the crowd when Mrs. Martini came up and called "Bagheera." His lithe, ebony body streaked to the bars and he frantically clutched her around the neck.

The crowd gasped and fell back. And Bagheera nuzzled her face, patted her cheeks, licked her hands with desperate affection.

Group Seeks Bill Creating County Parks

DES MOINES (AP)—The State Conservation Commission, meeting here Tuesday, decided on some of the things it will ask of the coming Iowa legislature. These included:

A law giving counties the power to have their own parks, recreation and conservation areas.

Legislation to plug a legal loophole in state park closing time.

A provision in the deer hunting law to limit hunters to one deer per season.

Bill Proposed Before

The county park bill has been proposed to the legislature in previous sessions without success but conservation officials feel county systems are a necessary part of the state's park development.

Present state law gives cities the power to own and operate parks but there is no provision for county parks.

Conservation officials contend that small parks of local interest are too much for the state to handle; the state should limit itself to areas of regional or state-wide interest.

Closing Time Loop Hole

The park closing time loop hole which the commission wants to plug concerns a state law which provides that all state parks close at 10:30 p.m. but does not set any opening time.

Commission members agreed that a uniform opening time should be established but, with early morning fishing in mind, they did not arrive at a decision on the hour.

Seek One Deer Limit

The commission also decided to ask the legislature to change the deer hunting law to limit a hunter to one deer during the entire season.

Under the present deer law a hunter may have only one deer in his possession but last year some hunters bagged more than one by disposing of the first deer and going after another.

KXIC Participates In Air Raid Drill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hundreds of commercial radio stations, including KXIC, Iowa City, planned to remain on the air beyond normal sign-off times Tuesday night for a test of the "Conelrad" system of foiling navigators of enemy bombers.

The fourth annual nationwide test of the system was scheduled from 1:30 to 4:30 a.m., local time Wednesday, across the nation.

Communications officials said the stations which normally remain on the air all night would be augmented by hundreds of others staying on late for the test. They estimated 1,300 of the nation's 2,000 radio stations would participate.

The system was developed to keep radio facilities operating so listeners could be advised what to do during an enemy air raid, while at the same time avoiding the danger that an enemy bomber could find its mark by riding a radio beam to a particular station.

Role of Boy Scouts In Church Debated

CHICAGO (AP)—Lutherans Tuesday debated the question of whether Boy Scout troops have a proper place in their churches. The forum was a meeting of representatives of four synods in the Synodical Conference of the Lutheran Church in North America.

A spokesman said the Wisconsin Synod is opposed to Boy Scouts in the church but that some congregations in the Missouri Synod have them.

The Rev. Oscar J. Naumann of St. Paul, Minn., president of the Wisconsin Synod, stated:

"Boy Scouts endanger the soul's welfare through naturalistic and unionistic tendencies. They practice a man-made religion that leaves Christ out."

The Rev. Martin Scharlemann of the Concordia Theological seminary in St. Louis earlier had outlined the Missouri Synod's views.

He said it is a question that could be decided best by each congregation.

The Rev. Scharlemann said the Boy Scouts of America organization "is anxious to have scouting become an integral part of the church's program of religious education and youth work." He added:

"Lutheran Boy Scouts offer prayer in the name of the Savior."

With apparent reference to criticism of the mingling of religious and non-religious activities, he said the congress of the United States opens with a prayer.

Defines Issue

The Rev. Mr. Scharlemann said the real issue is this: "How close can a church identify itself with the social and cultural pattern of the day."

The current meeting is a continuation of a convention which

East Germans Defect By Jumping Ships

Millionaire Gets 1 1/2 Year Jail Term For $41 Robbery

TORONTO, (AP)—John Leonard Smallman, 22, who gets $1,000 a month spending money out of his three million dollar inheritance, was sentenced to 18 months in Guelph Reformatory Tuesday for a $41 robbery.

The heir, widely known as Canada's richest young man, was convicted in County court.

Smallman, father of two children, was accused of taking part in the beating and robbery last Dec. 17 of Lawrence T. Nash of Toronto.

Nash said he met Smallman, who worked for a costume jewelry importer, in a Toronto tavern with two other men. The four went to Smallman's house when Nash said he wanted to look at some jewelry for a Christmas present, testimony showed.

After Nash bought a box of jewelry from Smallman, he said the young heir suggested looking at some more at his office.

As the four men stopped in West End Toronto and got out of the car, Nash said, he was knocked down. He said he felt a hand in his pocket and saw the men running away.

Smallman inherited his estate from his grand aunt, Mrs. E. E. B. Morgan of London, Ont.

Spellman Declines Comment on Martin

WASHINGTON (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York said Tuesday the statements made by Msgr. Edward Martin of New York concerning Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) are "none of my business."

Spellman is in Washington for a meeting of Roman Catholic bishops.

Reporters asked his reaction to a statement by the Msgr. Martin, who told a Nov. 7 meeting of Roman Catholic war veterans he knows personally that more than five million dollars have been raised to oust McCarthy from the senate because of McCarthy's Catholic ideals.

Martin represented Spellman at the meeting but Catholic leaders have indicated Martin was speaking only for himself.

1954 Costliest Year For Auto Producers

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry now has virtually completed one of the costliest and perhaps most significant model changeovers in car making history.

Something in "excess of a billion dollars has gone into the development and production of 1955 model cars. For several companies public reception of the entirely new cars could mean their very future existence.

Throughout the industry executives agree they face the fiercest competition they have known.

Increase in Demand Predicted

If new model preview forecasts materialize the industry will produce close to a record number of new cars in the year ahead. And because the models have been so radically changed, company executives are predicting an increased demand in the year ahead.

It is an historic fact, however, that just one seemingly small mechanical defect in a new car can seriously retard its sales. All the new cars have undergone prolonged and exacting tests in the laboratory and on the proving grounds. The car makers say as far as they have been able to determine there are no mechanical defects in any of the 1955 models now in production.

But numerous advanced engineering concepts have been built into the new cars. They work satisfactorily in the laboratory and on the proving ground tracks. Every car producer appears convinced they are sound.

Will Be Relieved

At the same time each will feel a great deal relieved after his new models have been on the highways for a couple of months.

Production for the 1954 calendar year apparently will go well over earlier forecasts of 5,400,000 cars. Most predictions regarding next year's prospects already range upward of 5,600,000. Some sources even say the total may reach that of 1950 when the industry set its record at 6 1/2 million units.

General Motors and Ford, which accounted for more than 80 percent of 1954 income, continue to insist they did not over-produce in 1954. Yet the "blitz" sales developed only in areas where the dealers had more cars than customers.

Ford Expects First Place

Whether the "blitz" sales—sales regardless of profit—will harass the retailers in 1955 is anybody's guess.

A hint of the kind of competition that lies ahead for the industry was given by Henry Ford II, president of Ford Motor company, at a recent news conference. He said he would be "greatly surprised if we do not oust Chevrolet from first place" in sales and production next year. Then he added:

"If we don't, a lot of people are going to have to answer a lot of embarrassing questions."

Reds May Hold Own Conference

MOSCOW (AP)—Izvestia hinted Tuesday that, if the West won't come to Moscow's short notice conference on all-European security, Moscow likely will have a security conference of its own with East European countries and any neutrals who want to attend.

The Soviet government newspaper warned that if the Western Allies go ahead with their agreements to rearm West Germany and ignore the Soviet bid for talks Nov. 29, "the peace-loving Communist states will be forced to take steps of their own with the aim of discussing measures which will guarantee their own security."

Off on 'Business,' Deputy Still Missing

SIoux CITY (AP)—Sheriff Edwin Lundie said Tuesday night that Deputy John Maiso, 40, Sioux City, had been missing more than 24 hours on "official business" and he feared "foul play."

The Woodbury county sheriff enlisted the aid of law enforcement officers of Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota to be on the lookout for Maiso.

Lundie said Maiso apparently was last seen near a grocery store in the Greenville section of Sioux City about 7 p.m. Monday, just before he left on "official business." The sheriff declined to say what the "business" concerned.

Maiso was driving a squad car, a 1954 blue Ford sedan, bearing Iowa license plates 97-37808. The car which also is missing, had a large aerial on the left rear fender.

The sheriff described his deputy as 5 feet 11, weighing 150 pounds, dark brown hair and eyes and wearing glasses. Maiso was armed with a pistol.
