Elthon Sworn As Governor; Beardsley Rites Wednesday

DES MOINES (AP) — The governorship of Iowa changed swiftly Monday, a few hours after Gov. William S. Beardsley was killed in a traffic accident near Des Moines.

Lt. Gov. Leo Elthon, 56, farmer and quarry operator near Fertile, was sworn in as the state's 33d chief executive in the first of a series of rapid developments.

"The sudden death of Governor Beardsley has saddened me and all of Iowa," Elthon said after becoming governor and before taking up his new duties.

Funeral Services

Members of the Beardsley family announced that funeral services for the 53-year-old chief executive will be held at the Methodist church in their home town of New Virginia at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday. Burial will be in the cemetery of the community where Beardsley had an interest in a drug store and near which he operated a 900-acre farm.

The family had not yet selected the active and honorary pallbearers, and an honor guard of National Guard officers for the funeral.

Hancher's Statement

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher said Monday concerning Beardsley's death:

"It is shocking that Governor Beardsley, who had made many pleas for safe conditions on our highways, should be himself the victim of a highway accident. The University joins in mourning for his tragic and untimely death. Governor Beardsley had given many years of public service to his state, and was still young enough to look forward to further service to both state and nation. Our sympathy goes out to Mrs. Beardsley and her family in their great loss."

Elthon Issues Proclamation

Elthon issued a proclamation directing that "to commemorate his (Beardsley's) devotion to the service of this state and its citizens, his high respect for his office and his fidelity to the obligation thereof," the governor's office remain open Tuesday afternoon.

The body will lie in state beside the chief executive's desk from 2 to 4 p.m., after which there will be a brief service in the statehouse corridor.

Statehouse Closed

The statehouse and surrounding state office buildings will be closed from Tuesday noon until Wednesday night. Thursday is Thanksgiving Day, when the buildings always are closed.

The body will lie in state at New Virginia church from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Beardsley, who was with her husband Sunday night on their return from a fruitless trip to visit their son, Dan, at Iowa State college, was hospitalized. Her injuries were believed not critical.

Car Hits Pickup

The Beardsley car ran into the rear of a pickup truck which was slowing down at the signal for help from a stalled motorist.

Elthon will serve as governor until Jan. 13, when Republican Atty. Gen. Leo A. Hoegh will take over the reins of the state government as a result of his election at the November general election.

Elthon then will resume his lieutenant governor post, to which he was re-elected earlier this month.

Honor Guards

A National Guard airman and a ground force man began standing as honor guards in relays at the funeral parlor at Truro, near New Virginia, where the body was taken.

One of the Beardsley's two sons and one of their two daughters were with their mother.

ONE OF THE LAST pictures taken of Gov. William S. Beardsley, killed Sunday evening in a car-truck collision near Des Moines, is this one taken Friday and intended for release Monday. Governor Beardsley is shown signing a proclamation naming Nov. 25-26 as Muscular Dystrophy week in Iowa. In wheelchair is John Wyatt, 8, Des Moines, a muscular dystrophy patient. Des Moines firemen are: left to right, Lyle Cass, secretary-treasurer of the Iowa Association of Fire Fighters, and John C. Connors, president of the Des Moines Association of Fire Fighters. Firemen all over the nation will pick up muscular dystrophy donations during the special week.

They are Mrs. Doyle E. Stieckel, whose husband operates the family drug store in the 350-population town of New Virginia, and Dan, a junior veterinary medicine student at Iowa State. The other daughter, Mrs. Henry F. Schieg, Appleton, Wis., and the other son, Blaine, of Hillsboro, Ore., were expected to arrive in Des Moines late Monday.

Served in Iowa Senate

Beardsley had served two four-year terms in the state senate, and one term in the Iowa house. He won the Republican nomination for governor in 1948.

He was re-elected in 1950 and 1952, but did not seek any office this year. Beardsley was a member of the executive committee of the National Conference of Governors, a member of the Methodist church, Masonic bodies, Odd Fellows Lodge, and the American Academy of Political Science.

Les Brown Band Versatile, Proves Swing Music Not Dead

By DRAKE MABRY

Les Brown brought eight musicians dressed in pink coats and black trousers into the main lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union Monday night and proceeded to prove to a small but enthusiastic crowd that it is still possible to play music that swings.

Les Brown's band is versatile. It plays show tunes (American in Paris), popular tunes (Don't Worry About Me) or tunes with a jazz flavor (Midnight Sun) with equal abandon, and a swinging tempo.

The band features some fine instrumentalists in Don Fagerquist on trumpet, Ray Sims on trombone, and Dave Pell on tenor saxophone. And Brown knows enough to feature these men on such tunes as "It's Wonderful," "Crazy-Legs" and "Love Is Here To Stay."

The sidemen with Brown do more than just play music. They clown, talk, and generally make themselves at home on the bandstand. And the crowd loved it.

"Butch" Stone is the humor ringleader. During an extended mambo number he alternately tossed pennies at the saxophone soloist, rattled a tamborine, beat on the floor and made an attempt to take up a collection from the crowd for the benefit of the harassed soloist.

JoAnn Greer, the female vocalist, was introduced via the old Brown favorite, "Sentimental Journey," and stayed to sing "Lullaby of Birdland" and "It's Wonderful."

The show ended with a comical routine between Stone and Brown's younger brother "Stumpy."

Between concerts Brown relaxed in the Union library and talked of the future of the big bands.

"There is a definite uptrend in instrumental music," he said. "Small combos like Brubeck's and Mulligan's are placing more

Cash, Watch Stolen From 4 Fraternities

More than $100 in cash and a $100 wrist watch were taken from bedrooms at four SUI fraternity houses early Sunday morning while the occupants slept, police said.

Fraternities burglarized were Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu and Sigma Phi Epsilon.

The burglar apparently entered through the unlocked front doors of the houses, police said. Locks were picked on bedroom doors in two of the houses.

Detective Harland Sprinkle said Monday that the break-ins may have been made by the young man who broke into the Keith Parizek home at 318 E. Jefferson st., early Sunday morning and took change from two purses.

Court Delays Desegregation Arguments

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court decided Monday to wait until it has a full membership of nine justices before hearing arguments on how and when to end segregation in public schools.

Arguments scheduled to begin Dec. 6 were called off "in view of the absence of a full court."

A vacancy was created by the death of Justice Robert H. Jackson Oct. 9. President Eisenhower has named Judge John Marshall Harlan of the U.S. Court of Appeals in New York to fill the vacancy but the Senate will not act on the nomination before January.

The court has no new date for the argument. This will be done after the ninth justice takes his place on the bench.

In a unanimous decision last May 17, the court ruled that segregation in public schools is unconstitutional. The decision, however, left unanswered; the question of how and when desegregation must be carried out.

In other cases today, the court said federal and state legislatures have almost unlimited powers to order redevelopment of slum areas and refused to pass on validity of an Alabama law making marriage of a Negro and a white person a crime.

CHANGE CONCERT DATE

The University Symphony orchestra's concert, originally scheduled for Wednesday, Dec. 1, will be held Thursday, Dec. 2 at 8 p.m. in the Iowa Memorial Union. The concert date was changed because of the conflict with Iowa's opening basketball game with the University of Washington of St. Louis, scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Dec. 1. The orchestra's concert will be the second in the concert course series.

U.S. Jets to Panama In 'Routine Transfer'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state department said Monday six jet planes were flown to Panama, next door to Costa Rica, where rumors about plots against the government were rife, in a "routine transfer of equipment."

This was the first official Washington statement of the move. However, it was reported last Saturday by anonymous officials that the shift of jet planes was a peace-keeping gesture.

The idea, they said, was that the move was in line with U.S. commitments to maintain peace in the Western Hemisphere.

These tours kinda break the monotony," said singer JoAnn Greer. "And besides they give me time to finish the socks I'm knitting. Do you know anything about knitting? I'm having an awful time getting these argyles right."

She hopes to have them finished by the time they return to California. And they're not for Bob Hope.

Uniform Rules Upheld RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Police Chief O. D. Garton has ruled that police may not wear military or naval uniforms while doing undercover work in the vice squad. Naval authorities objected to a policeman wearing a navy uniform during an investigation in which a hotel proprietor was fatally wounded.

U.S. Jets to Panama In 'Routine Transfer'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign Aid Director Harold Stassen suggested Monday the time has come for the free nations of Europe to help the United States build up the free nations of Asia.

Such a program of economic development, Stassen told a news conference, would be of "great world significance."

He said Western European countries have recovered sufficiently from the effects of World War II to join this country in improving living conditions in friendly Asian lands, expanding their power and transportation facilities and generally making the area safe against possible subversion.

The head of the Foreign Operations administration made it clear he was not inviting European participation with any idea of cutting back American aid to Asia, but because the need for aid in Asia has increased.

Vishinsky, 70, Soviet Delegate To U.N., Dies Of Heart Attack

Spent Last Hour's Work On Atom Talk

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Andrei Y. Vishinsky died of a heart attack Monday while preparing one of the most important debates in his career as the Soviet Union's leading orator. His blistering voice and brilliant mind had lifted him from the role of obscure bureaucrat to world fame in the East-West cold war.

Vishinsky was 70. He died at 8:30 a.m. CST, the Soviet delegation to the U.N. announced, at its headquarters on Park Avenue here. He had collapsed earlier, after attending a dinner given Sunday night by the French delegation.

"No Man of U.N."

He was the Soviet Union's first deputy foreign minister, with permanent assignment as chief delegate to the U.N. He had spent some of his last working hours getting ready for a renewal of the debate on the atom-for-peace plan with which President Eisenhower challenged the Soviet Union to prove its peaceful intentions to the world. The debate was postponed, as were all other U.N. sessions except a meeting of tribute to the colleague known as the "no" man of the U.N.

The Soviet delegation said Vishinsky was attended by a Russian physician — in common with the Soviet custom of shunning Western contacts except when necessary. A funeral announcement is expected later.

N.Y. Police Called

New York police were called, and Lt. John McCarthy was admitted to a room where Vishinsky lay fully clothed on a bed. The Soviet delegation announced he died of an acute stenocardiac attack. This is angina pectoris, a suffocation of the heart.

Speculation began immediately on Vishinsky's successor. One possibility mentioned was Andrei Gromyko, deputy USSR foreign minister who formerly headed Moscow's UN delegation.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U.S. delegate to the UN saw Vishinsky just before midnight Sunday at a dinner given by the French to visiting Premier Pierre Mendes-France. Vishinsky was "in fine good humor, laughing and talkative as always," Lodge said.

Lodge Extends Sympathy "Mr. Vishinsky represented one of the world's greatest powers with extraordinary energy and resourcefulness," Lodge stated. "We who vigorously disagreed with him respected his forensic talent. The sympathy of the U.S. delegation goes out to his widow, his daughter and the Soviet delegation."

Vishinsky had been a spectacular performer on the world stage since he prosecuted Stalin's blood purge two decades ago. He was a master of withering scorn and searing satire. His rapier-like wit won the admiration, however grudging, of his colleagues.

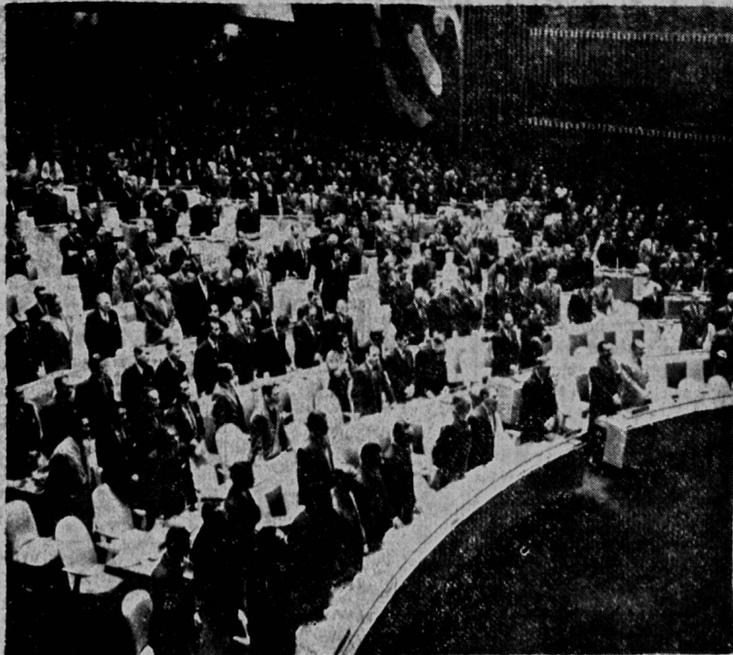

Followed Kremlin Orders Vishinsky's death, while it removes a colorful figure from the cold war, can have little effect upon the course of Moscow's relations with the Western world. Vishinsky, however brilliant his performance, consistently carried out orders from the Kremlin to the letter. No Western observers credited him with any decisive voice in Soviet policy.

He was the mouthpiece abroad of the regime of Premier Gaorgi M. Malenkov, just as he was the mouthpiece of the Stalin regime, relaying Soviet policy in speeches laced with fiery invective.

Order of Lenin On his 70th birthday last December he received the Order of Lenin, highest award of the Soviet system.

But in the past four years his health was declining. In 1950 he had to recuperate at a Czechoslovak spa. His health was so bad before the opening of the current UN session there had been some doubt of his return, but he was on hand as usual in September.

Vishinsky is survived by his wife and a daughter, Zena, who has been an attorney and a Moscow University law professor.

Divorce Talk By Sheppard, Witness Says

CLEVELAND (AP) — An old school chum testified Monday Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard spoke twice within three years of divorcing his slain wife, Marilyn. The osteopath is on trial for her murder July 4.

On the second occasion, said Dr. Lester Hoversten, he warned Sheppard that his wife was a tolerant woman and that "he might actually be jumping from the frying pan into the fire."

During less than half a day on the witness stand, Hoversten also testified:

1. He saw no sign of unhappiness or discontent as a guest in the Sheppard home.

2. When he saw Sheppard a day after the murder, the defendant wept and told him, "Why couldn't they have killed me instead of Marilyn, because Chip — his son — would need Marilyn more than he would need me."

3. During this same conversation, Sheppard's elder brother Stephen advised the defendant, "You should review in your mind several times a day the sequence of events as they happened so that you will have your story straight when questioned."

The defense apparently saw little harmful in Hoversten's testimony. He was under cross-examination less than 10 minutes — the shortest period of any state witness thus far in the trial, now in its sixth week.

Hoversten was a guest in the Sheppard home for three days just before July 4, when Marilyn, 31 and pregnant, was beaten to death in her bed. Sheppard says a bushy-haired prowler killed her.

Auditor Sulek Dies at 80; Rites Friday

William L. Kanak, assistant auditor to Edward Sulek for 38 years, was sworn in as Johnson county auditor at 11 a.m. Monday following the death of Sulek at 7:10 a.m. Monday.

Kanak was elected auditor in the general election earlier this month and would have taken office Jan. 1. Sulek did not run for re-nomination in the June primary.

Sulek, 80, died at his home at 729 N. Kimball ave. five weeks before the expiration of his 19th term as county auditor. Cause of death has not been determined.

Burial will follow at the Oakland cemetery. The body will lie in state at Oathout chapel.

Sulek, a native of Johnson county, was born July 29, 1874, the son of Antone and Anna Sulek.

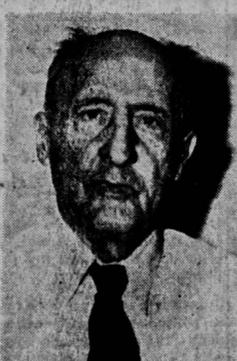

After being graduated from the SUI law school in 1906, he practiced law for 10 years in Johnson and Linn counties.

Sulek was married to Stella Novak on Nov. 1, 1910, and they have lived in Iowa City since that time.

He joined the Eureka Lodge No. 44, of the Odd Fellows and was a member of the Z.C.B.J. lodge.

His survivors include his widow; a daughter, Mrs. Guy E. Moore, Iowa City, a son, Dr. Emil B. Sulek, Big Spring, Tex., and one grandson, James Sulek, also of Big Spring.

Mrs. Bertha Sisler, a sister, and two brothers, Frank and Aldrick, all of Cedar Rapids, also survive.

Mendes Asks For Meeting Of Big Four

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Premier Pierre Mendes-France Monday suggested a Big Four conference on outstanding problems — but only after the Western European nations and the United States have ratified the London and Paris agreements to free and rearm West Germany.

The French Premier told the of United States, Britain, France held next May in Paris. He said the agreements should be ratified by that time and added that an agreement on an Austrian treaty would be a happy prelude to such a session.

Rejecting the recent Soviet proposals for a security conference of 20 to 25 countries, Mendes-France praised President Eisenhower's atom-for-peace program and said France would cooperate in it and in measures being pursued in the Disarmament commission to limit armaments.

In Washington, a state department spokesman in effect backed up Mendes-France. He said the United States is prepared to meet with Russia whenever it seems probable that such a meeting would be fruitful and after adequate preparation.

His survivors include his widow; a daughter, Mrs. Guy E. Moore, Iowa City, a son, Dr. Emil B. Sulek, Big Spring, Tex., and one grandson, James Sulek, also of Big Spring.

Mrs. Bertha Sisler, a sister, and two brothers, Frank and Aldrick, all of Cedar Rapids, also survive.

editorials Gov. William S. Beardsley—

Gov. William Shane Beardsley, Iowa's 566th highway fatality of the year, will be buried Wednesday afternoon in his hometown of New Virginia. Today, flags fly at half-staff all over the state and highway patrolmen wear black armbands in tribute to him.

The tragedy of Governor Beardsley's death in an automobile accident Sunday night is intensified by the irony of the fact that he had campaigned more vigorously for highway safety than any of his predecessors.

The accident, termed unavoidable by the patrolman who investigated it, again demonstrates that death is no respecter of persons on Iowa highways.

In line with his campaign for safety on the highways, Governor Beardsley had formed the governor's official Traffic Safety committee and had promoted a state-wide meeting of Iowa teen-agers last April to draw up a safety program for young people.

William Shane Beardsley was a good administrator and a successful governor. His three terms in office were progressive at times, conservative at other times. His administration was notably free of partisan political attacks.

It seems particularly untimely that his death should have come just two months before he planned to retire to his southern Iowa farm after 22 years in public life.

Only 53 at the time of his death, Governor Beardsley was comparatively young as a public official and, even in political retirement, would have had many years to devote to the service of his community and state.

We join all other residents of Iowa in mourning the death of Governor Beardsley.

Interpreting the News

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
Foreign Staff
Associated Press

You could never listen to Andrei Visinsky under any circumstances without wondering what was actually going on in the mind behind the words.

Visinsky was an educated man. Yet he parroted some of the most unintelligent drivel at times.

He had the presence of a polished gentleman, was suave as long as he was presenting his carefully prepared statements. When questioning became too pointed, however, he was inclined to resort to angry personalities. I have seen him break up a news conference in red-faced confusion when pressed too hard by reporters.

He did his best to conceal the fact that, even as deputy foreign minister and chief of the Russian delegation to the U. N., he could not comment on even the most innocuous new matter without consulting the Kremlin.

He was a man out of place. He was one of Russia's greatest lawyers, both in knowledge of the law, on which he wrote probably that nation's most famous book, and adroitness of procedure. He concealed some of the most notorious purge trials before the war, yet concealed their true nature for a long time even from experienced foreign observers.

He was not one of the old revolutionaries. In fact, he was almost caught off base politically when Stalin came to full power. But he managed to catch the bandwagon and never let go, although he appeared to be skating on thin ice at times.

All this points to very high intelligence, regardless of what you may think of the character that went with it. He was thoroughly capable of absorbing what he saw and thinking things out in his mind.

DECEMBER AND MAY: ACT I

Of all the creatures that inhabit the earth, none is so fair, so warm, so toothsome, as a coed.

This is a simple fact, well-known to every campus male, and, to most campus males, a source of rejoicing. But not to all. To some, the creamy brows and twinkling limbs of coeds are a bane and a burden. To whom? To professors, that's whom.

Professors, according to latest scientific advice, are human. Stick them and they bleed, pinch them and they hurt, ring a dinner bell and they salivate, confront them with a round young coed and their ears go back, even as yours and mine.

But, by and large, they contain themselves. After all, they are men of high principle and decorum, and besides, the board of regents has got stinked all over. So, by and large, they contain themselves. But not always. Every now and then a coed will come along who is just too gorgeous to resist, and a professor—his clutch worn out from years of struggle—will slip and fall. White though his hair, multitudinous though his degrees, Phi Beta Kappa though his key, he is as lovesick, moonstruck, and impaled as any freshman.

But he's far worse off than any freshman. After all, a freshman can thump his leg, put on his linen duster, and take out after the coed with mad abandon. But what can the poor smitten prof do? How, in his position, can he go courting a young girl undergraduate? In this column and the next one, I am going to deal with this difficult question. I will relate to you, in the form of a two act play, an account of a professor's attempt to woo a coed.

The scene is a typical office in a typical liberal arts building on a typical campus. In this shabby setting, we find two men, Professors Twonkey and Phipps. They are lumpy and bent, in the manner of English lit professors.

PHIPPS: Twonkey, a terrible thing has happened to me. A terrible, ghastly thing! I've fallen in love with a coed.

TWONKEY: Now, now, that's not so terrible.

PHIPPS: Oh, but it is. Miss McPetridge—for that is her name—is a student, a girl of nineteen. How would her parents feel if they knew I was gawking at her and refusing my food and writing her name on frosty windowpanes with my fingernail?

TWONKEY: Come now, Phipps, no need to carry on. You're not the first teacher to cast warm eyes at a coed, you know.

PHIPPS: You mean it's happened to you too?

TWONKEY: But of course. Many times.

PHIPPS: What did you do about it?

TWONKEY: Looked at their knees. It never fails, Phipps. No matter how pretty a girl is, her knees are bound to be knobby and bony and the least romantic of objects.

PHIPPS: Not Miss McPetridge's—for that is her name. They are soft and round and dimpled. Also pink.

TWONKEY: Really? Well, I'll tell you something, Phipps. If I ever found a girl with pink knees, I'd marry her.

PHIPPS: It is my fondest wish, but how can I, a professor of fifty, start a courtship with a girl of 19?

TWONKEY: Very simple. Ask her to come to your office for a conference late tomorrow afternoon. When she arrives, be urbane, be charming. Ask her to sit down. Give her a cigarette.

PHIPPS: A Philip Morris?

TWONKEY: But of course.

PHIPPS: I just wanted to be sure you mentioned the name. They're paying for this column.

TWONKEY: Give her a Philip Morris.

PHIPPS: That's right.

TWONKEY: Then light her Philip Morris and light one yourself. Say some frightfully witty things about English lit. Be gay. Be insouciant. Keep her laughing for an hour or so. Then look at your watch. Cry out in surprise that you had no idea it was this late. Insist on driving her home.

PHIPPS: Yes, yes?

TWONKEY: On the way home, drive past that movie house that shows French films. Stop your car, as though on a sudden impulse. Tell her that you've heard the movie was delightfully Gallic and naughty. Ask her if she'd like to see it.

PHIPPS: Yes, yes?

TWONKEY: After the movie, say to her in a jocular, offhand way that after such a fine French movie, the only logical thing would be a fine French dinner. Take her to a funny little place you know, with candles and checked tablecloths. Ply her with burgundy and Philip Morris. Be witty. Be gay. Be Gallic. How can a nineteen year old girl resist such blandishments?

PHIPPS: Twonkey, you're a genius! This will be like shooting fish in a barrel. . . . But I wonder if it isn't taking unfair advantage of the poor little innocent.

TWONKEY: Nonsense, Phipps. All's fair in love and war.

PHIPPS: You're right, by George. I'll do it! (So ends Act I. Next week, Act II)

This column is brought to you by the makers of PHILIP MORRIS who think you would enjoy their cigarette.

Miss Ellsworth Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Ellsworth, 1206 Yewell st., announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Dorothy Lee, to Mr. Paul Carter Morgan, son of Mrs. Owen R. Morgan, Coralville.

Miss Ellsworth will be graduated from SUI in February. She is affiliated with Alpha Zeta Delta social sorority. Mr. Morgan is a junior in the SUI college of liberal arts. The wedding will be held in February at the First Methodist church in Iowa City.

Local Girl Scout Membership Increases

Iowa City Girl Scout registration has topped 1,000 for the first time, according to Mrs. Hugh Carson, executive director of Cardinal Council of Girl Scouts. Last year's total members was 989, while registrations this fall have reached 1,157, with a few names being reported by troop leaders.

Total number of registrations for the Cardinal Council area, which includes troops in Kalona, North English and Marengo in addition to Iowa City, is 1,362, the largest it has been to date.

Biggest increase in the last year in Iowa City has been in Brownie Scouts, with 543 Brownies registered this year, 132 more than a year ago. Intermediate Girl Scouts now total 374, an increase of 26 over last year. Iowa City now has 44 Senior Girl Scouts, four more than a year ago.

Pep Club Seeks Song Director

Hawk-1 Pep club has announced that a position of song and cheering director for the group is open.

The club plans to have its 250 members sit in the first balcony on the north side of the fieldhouse at the basketball games, to act as a nucleus for cheering and singing.

The applicants for director should have sufficient time to prepare songs and cheering sheets. The director will lead the training sessions following the weekly club business meetings, and direct the section during the games. He should have some musical ability and imagination.

Applications have been given to all housing units, or may be from the office of student affairs. They should be sent to David Adams, room 42, 222 E. Market, by Dec. 1.

Janice Barnes Named Code for Coeds Editor

Janice Barnes, A3, Iowa City, has been selected as editor of the UWA "Code for Coeds."

Miss Barnes will select a theme for the book, which is sent during the summer to all new women students. This theme will be followed by the UWA orientation committee in their fall plans.

The book is designed to help new students make plans and adjustments to SUI.

Jones Named All Big Ten Guard

LUNGING OUT IS CAL JONES, Iowa guard, who was named Monday to the Big Ten all-conference first team. Coach Forest Evashevski revealed Saturday after the Notre Dame game that Jones played the entire season with a broken left wrist after refusing to quit the team.

2 Hawks On All-Conference Teams

CHICAGO (AP) — Iowa guard Calvin Jones scored a repeat performance Monday as he was selected to the Associated Press all Big Ten team for the second year in a row.

Iowa halfback Eddie Vincent, who took the conference rushing crown with 566 yards in 81 trips, was placed on the second team, according to the Associated Press. Vincent's running mate, Earl Smith, Big Ten scoring champion with 48 points in Big Ten competition, was given honorable mention.

Rose Bowl-bound Ohio State, the first team to win seven Big Ten games in one season in modern history, gained three positions on the 1954 Associated Press all-conference football team.

6 Schools Honored
Six schools are represented in the Big Ten honor lineup with two each for Michigan, Purdue and Wisconsin and one each to Minnesota and Iowa.

The unbeaten Buckeyes of Coach Woody Hayes, trimming Michigan 21-7 Saturday for their first undisputed title and perfect season since 1944, landed end Dean Dugger, tackle Dick Hillinski and Howard Cassidy, sensational game-breaking halfback, on the all-Big Ten team chosen by AP staff writers in the area. Along with Cassidy, a junior

Messner center Dawson back Bettis guard Dugger end Ameche back Kramer end Hillinski tackle McNamara back Cassidy back Walker tackle in the No. 1 backfield, are sophomore quarterback Len Dawson of Purdue and two seniors, fullback Alan Ameche of Wisconsin and halfback Bob McNamara of Minnesota.

All-Conference Line
The all-conference line is rounded out by sophomore end Ron Kramer of Michigan, who has been compared with Bennie Oosterbaan, his coach, a Michigan immortal; tackle Art Walker, Michigan; guard Jones; Tom Bettis, Purdue, and center Gary Messner, Wisconsin.

Cassidy, a deadly defensive player whose runbacks of pass interception broke the back of several key opponents, scampered 472 yards from scrimmage in Ohio State's seven Big Ten triumphs — the most conference victories in one season for any team since the University of Chicago won as many in 1913.

Ameche Leads Conference
The versatile McNamara, who doubled at right half and fullback for the surprising Gophers, piled up 443 yards rushing in six league games, only one yard behind the bone-jarring Ameche. Ameche, handicapped late in the season with an ankle injury, set an all-time NCAA rushing record for total yard gained in his four-year career at Wisconsin.

Dawson's passes made Purdue a threat throughout the campaign. He completed 63 out of 124 for 1,019 yards and 7 touchdowns in six conference games.

Kramer Leads Punters
Kramer, a 6-3, 210-pounder, in addition to his defensive and pass-catching skills, also topped Big Ten punters with a 41.4 yard average in kicking 18 times.

There were two other repeaters besides Jones from the AP's 1953 team—Ameche, and Bettis. Three others fell from the top bracket of last year because of injuries or change of team for seniors. Illinois' guard, Jan Smid, slipped to the second team and halfbacks J. C. Carline of the Illini and Le Roy Bolden of Michigan State—each hampered with injuries—dropped to the honorable mention list.

ABC Approves 1st Plastic-Coated Tenpin

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The American Bowling Congress announced Monday it had approved the first plastic-coated tenpin in bowling history.

An ABC spokesman said the formula would "easily double the life of a bowling pin."

The plastic coating, the ABC said will have no effect on the scoreability of a pin but will maintain its outer dimensions for a much longer time.

Jones Plays Season with Broken Wrist—

Evy Lauds Team's Fortitude

Iowa football coach Forest Evashevski, breathing a sigh of relief after Saturday's finale with Notre Dame, lauded the Iowa players for "playing their hearts out this season."

At the same time, he revealed that Iowa's all-American guard Calvin Jones had played the entire season with a broken wrist. "Now that the season is over," Evy said, "it can be told. He played the entire season against the advice of doctors, his coaches and friends. 'We let him play only after doctors said it would not jeopardize him 10 years from now.'"

A Clean Break
Jones suffered a clean and painful break of the nebular bone, a small bone in the left wrist, in twice-a-day drills before the Michigan State game.

Dr. D. W. Paul, team physician, said it is difficult for Jones to move the wrist without pain but that it would heal with some exercise. Jones said he plans to exercise it by lifting weights.

Evy went on to say that he thought "the kids have 'guttet it out' all season."

And the injury report of Doyle Allsup, Iowa trainer, shows it.

Twenty-five players suffered at least one kind of injury, in addition to the usual knocks. Only 15 of 40 played the entire season without suffering an injury.

Meanwhile, speaking of the game, Evy said, "I worried all week long. I was afraid the kids wouldn't be up. Don't get me wrong," he went on, "I'm not allying. We lost to a better ball club today. That Guglielmi is a great passer and runner."

He added, "We were peless all week, just as we were out there today."

"I think the turning point in the game," he said, "came when Broeder fumbled at midfield at the start of the second half."

"I thought the bottom dropped out in the third quarter. We had no chance of grinding out a victory from there on."

Speaking on Tait Cummins' weekly television show in Cedar Rapids Monday night, Evy said, "I wish we could have looked a little better in the finale. You know," he said, "when you have boys out on the field playing their last game, it hurts just a little more when you don't win."

Did a Good Job
"The Iowa boys," he continued, "did a good job that anyone could do."

He pointed out that in 1952, the Iowa squad won two Big Ten games; in 1953 it won three and in 1954 it won four. He expressed the hope that in 1955, the trend would continue and the Hawkeyes would win at least five games.

The 1954 season has been filed away in the records, along with its forerunners in Iowa football, but in the huge collection of facts some stand out above the others.

The Hawkeyes finished with a 5-4 record. In the conference,

Iowa had 4-3, best mark in the league since the 4-1-1 of 1939. This brought fifth place.

12 Point Difference
In the "what-might-have-been" department is the fact that with 12 more points Iowa would have won the Big Ten title with a 7-0 mark. Michigan won by 14-13, Minnesota, 22-20, and Ohio State, the eventual unbeaten champion, 20-14 — and Iowa lost the ball on downs on the five-yard line with 1:37 to play.

The Hawkeyes defeated Michigan State, Indiana, Wisconsin and Purdue in the Big Ten, as well as Montana, but lost to Notre Dame in the last game.

The team played before record crowds. The season's attendance was 491,658, breaking the mark of 487,752 set in 1947 and for the five home games it was 245,421, compared with the old record of 218,021 in 1949. Five of the games were sellouts.

5 Marks Broken
In addition to the attendance records, five other marks were broken. The single game records broken are: touchdown by rushing, 96 yards, by Eddie Vincent, also a Big Ten modern record; and touchdown after pass interception, 94 yards by Bobby Stearnes.

Earl Smith set an Iowa season's record for highest average gain per rush, 7.1 yards in 54 rushes, in points, 66; and in touchdowns, 11. Smith finished as the Big Ten's high scorer.

Right halfback Vincent won the Big Ten rushing title with 566 yards for a 6.9 average. He is the first Hawkeye of the modern era to achieve this distinction. His total for all games is 618 yards for a 6.5 average, tops among the Hawkeyes.

Evy to Michigan!
IOWA FOOTBALL COACH Forest Evashevski revealed Saturday something that Hawkeye football fans had not-too-anxiously been waiting for all season: He is going to Michigan. "However," Evy said, "It's not for what you think. I'm going hunting Tuesday and forget it all. I'd go sooner, but I have two television appearances to fulfill."

Iowa Riflemen Outscore Coe

In the first scheduled match of the SUI ROTC rifle league Saturday the SUI teams outpointed the Coe college team at the armory range.

The army team scored 1823 points and the air force counted 1805 points, while Coe college's team made 1730 points.

High scorer in the event was John E. Westwick, E4, Springfield, Ill., with a score of 380. Westwick also shared top honors in the high prone and high standing events.

Teams participating in the league are from SUI, Iowa State college, Drake university, Coe college and Grinnell college.

Big Ten College Sports Editors Name 1954 All-Conference Team Members

(Special to The Daily Iowan)
MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The Big Ten champion Ohio State Buckeyes place three men on the Big Ten sports editors' 1954 all-conference first team. The selections were announced here Monday by Jim Gunderson, sports editor of the sponsoring Wisconsin Daily Cardinal.

ARTHRITIS?

I have been wonderfully blessed in being restored to active life after being crippled in nearly every joint in my body and with muscular soreness from head to foot. I had Rheumatoid Arthritis and other forms of Rheumatism, hands deformed and my ankles were set.

Limited space prohibits telling you more here but if you will write me, I will reply at once and tell you how I received this wonderful relief.

Jackson 7, Mississippi

Fullback Alan (the Horse) Ameche of Wisconsin was the only unanimous choice, being named to the first team on all 10 ballots by the sports editors. End Ron Kramer of Michigan was second high with 17 of a possible 20 points (two points were given for each first team ballot and one for second). Ohio State placed end Dean Dugger and halfbacks Howard Cassidy and Bobby Watkins on the first team. Six schools were represented on the first team and an additional three on the second.

Only Northwestern failed to place anyone on either the first or second team. Wildcat center John Damore won special mention. The sports editors who voted were Bill Schaeffler, Daily Northwestern; Ron Johnson, Minnesota Daily; Bob Scott, Indiana Daily Student; Bill Sehechter, Ohio State Lantern; John Scheldrup, Daily Illini; Gene Ingle, Daily Iowan; Chuck Miller, Michigan State News; Jim McNeely, Purdue Exponent; Dave Livingston, Michigan Daily, and Gunderson. Michigan, Purdue and Wisconsin had two players each on the first team besides the Buckeyes' three; Iowa and Michigan State had one each.

CHIUAHUA, Mexico (AP) — Umberto Maglioli, a pipe smoking Italian who laughs at danger, took both of Monday's legs in the Pan American road race and knocked three minutes off his old record in doing it. Maglioli, in a flame-red Ferrari, started the fourth day with a 10-minute lead over second placer Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., also in a Ferrari and finished with a 25-minute advantage. With only today's 222-mile lap remaining, and Maglioli the record holder on it, the Italian is the apparent victor in the big sports car class in this five-day race which already has claimed six lives. Maglioli's record breaking took much of the attention from the other four classes in this five-in-one race. Lincoln stayed in front in the big stock car division, although Keith Andrews of Colorado Springs, Colo., pushed his Cadillac over the second lap of 186 miles in 1:38:34, two minutes faster than Walt Faulkner did it in a Lincoln. Faulkner, however, was first in the first lap of 251 miles from Durango to Pahraral in 2:35:26. Andrews was second in 2:36:13. Then came Ray Crawford of Pasadena, Calif., in a Lincoln with 2:36:21 and Pat Socciano of Detroit, in a Buick with 2:36:37. The second lap was from Pahraral to Chihuahua.

Slade Absolved In Patterson Bout
NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Slade of New York Monday was absolved of any wrongdoing in connection with his eight-round defeat at the hands of Floyd Patterson in Madison Square Garden Friday night. # 2 SUI Professors Receive Dystrophy Research Grants

Joint research grants from the Muscular Dystrophy associations of America have been awarded to two members of the SUI college of medicine.

Prof. H. M. Hines, head of the department of psychology, and Prof. Theodore Winnick of the radiation research laboratory are the recipients.

House-to-house solicitation for funds for the association will be conducted by the Iowa City fire department beginning Thanksgiving day. The drive will continue through the end of the month.

A study of the origin and physiological significance of certain chemical constituents of skeletal muscle and their alteration in muscular dystrophy are included in the research projects being conducted under this grant.

Flag Flies at Half-Staff for Beardsley

THE FLAG WAS FLOWN at half-staff over the Iowa state capitol building Monday following the death Sunday night of Gov. William S. Beardsley in a car-truck collision north of Des Moines.

Work Started On Hillcrest

Ground-breaking for construction of the new addition to Hillcrest dormitory started Monday.

No date for completion of the $875,000 building has been set, the office of planning and construction said.

Construction of the five-story, 350-man capacity wing by the Viggio Jensen company, of Alberta Lea, Minn., will continue through the winter.

The architectural style of the present Hillcrest dormitory will be followed closely in the new 275 foot long and 42 foot wide addition located on the south side of the present building.

Elevator Fall Victim In Critical Condition

A Cedar Rapids man remained in critical condition Monday after a 25-foot fall down an elevator shaft about noon Sunday.

The victim, James Harger, 20, is reported by University hospitals to be suffering severe head injuries, a fractured left wrist, and possible abdominal injuries. The fall occurred at the National Guard armory in Cedar Rapids.

Harger, a member of the 556th field artillery battalion, was taking part in weekend drills when the accident occurred.

Weekend Mishaps Injure 7 Persons

Seven persons were injured in two separate accidents in the Iowa City area over the weekend. None required hospitalization.

Five were hurt in a collision about 11:30 a.m. Saturday, near the Coralville intersection.

Injured were Quinn Sweeney, 16, of Tiffin, and Mona, 15, and Donna Mitchell, 16.

Mrs. Helen Bourgeois, driver of one car, suffered chest bruises and facial lacerations. Her son, David, 17, received severe facial and head lacerations.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Zimmerli, of 203 1/2 S. Dubuque st., received shoulder and forehead injuries Sunday when the car in which they were riding collided with a vehicle driven by James Lee Anderson, 17, Des Moines.

City Council To Accept Bids on Walks, Sewers

The Iowa City council will accept bids on bonds for sewer and sidewalk projects at a special meeting at 1:30 p.m. today at the city hall.

The bonds will pay for a $3,904 sewer project on highway 1, from Riverside drive to Hudson ave., and a $3,273 sidewalk project on Court st.

Experts Seek Clues To 1935 Slaying

Specialists at SUI are studying some human bones, including a skull found near a small stream in southern Decatur county, which might be linked with a 1935 slaying.

The state bureau of criminal investigation sent the bones here for a check on clues which might be connected with two Davis City slayings, the Associated Press reported.

Robert L. McNeley and Mrs. Ella Harris were sentenced to life terms in 1938 after McNeley admitted the pair had killed Cy Arthur, 72, Davis City, after robbing him.

Decatur County Atty. Dio McGinnis, Leon, said McNeley also admitted slaying of Lindley McKay, also of Davis City.

The skull and bone fragments found recently were located by two children in tall grass near McNeley's former home, authorities said.

Red Translators Make Shaw Look Like 'Piker'

MOSCOW (P) — George Bernard Shaw was regarded in the Western world as a sharp bargainer who got top prices for his plays, but he was a piker compared to his Russian translator.

Pravda says N. Konstantinova made more than one million rubles for translating "Pygmalion." The ruble is officially quoted at four to the dollar. This, says the Communist party organ, is entirely too much for that sort of work.

The great earnings came from an unspecified percentage of the sales of books and tickets to plays which was set before the number of performances and the number of books was increased sharply, Pravda says.

Human Limitation On Designs Told

Man is still the limiting factor in the science of engineering, members of the Engineering club, Iowa City, were told Monday night.

Speaking on "Human Engineering," Dr. Steven Horvath, professor of physiology in SUI's college of medicine, said that often design has to be based upon physiological characteristics of the human being.

He said that American industry's use of machinery and equipment has helped to make it possible for man to be utilized at the rate of about six horse power per person.

Holiday dinners are a snap with a modern Automatic GAS RANGE

FOR cooking perfection to put that special light in the family's eyes — for cooking ease to make holiday dinners a treat for Mom, too — you can't beat the new AUTOMATIC gas ranges. There's a big difference between these truly modern cooking appliances and the ranges of just a few seasons ago. Self-timing, self-lighting ovens and top burners — flameless electric "pilot lights" — economical, food-saving simmer burners — these are just a few of the new features you'll enjoy with an AUTOMATIC gas range. Now — before the holiday season gets in full swing — get full information on these wonderful aids to better cooking.

"THINKS" TWO WAYS

Successful oven cooking calls for exact control of time and temperature. That's what you get — automatically — with an accurate thermostat to hold the heat and clock control to turn the oven on and off at any time you select, without your even being there.

CAPACITY — PLUS

There's more than just extra room for baking or roasting in this generously-sized oven. There's controlled heat circulation to give you perfect results with the turkey or pumpkin pie — every time. Improved insulation keeps heat in — keeps kitchen comfortable.

STYLED FOR CONVENIENCE

This staggered cooking top, one of several arrangements available, permits you to check utensils on any burner without reaching over another pot or pan. Latest burner control features include valves that click to selected heats or dial anywhere in between; color-styled knobs that tell heat at a glance; and a top burner timer that shuts off the heat after any period you select.

SUIT YOURSELF

At last, you can "tailor" cooking facilities to fit your needs. With these custom built-in units, you can place oven-and-broiler at the height and spot desired — build the surface cooking unit right into the counter top. Sleek, streamlined ranges are now available in a variety of smart, decorator colors, too — to put your kitchen in step with the times!

Modern automatic features are available on the new gas ranges of all makes.
