Ike Pushes For Liberation Of 13 American 'Spies'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower gave assurance Wednesday that the government is doing everything "humanly possible within peaceful means" to liberate 13 Americans sent to prison by the Chinese Communists as "spies."

The President's pledge was sent to Mrs. Hurley L. Baumer of Lewisburg, Pa., mother of one of the prisoners. Mrs. Baumer had complained about "dilly-dallying," and had told a reporter it was high time "we really get to doing something about those boys over there."

After receiving the White

House telephone call, Mrs. Baumer told newsmen: "This satisfies me. I feel that the President got my message or he wouldn't have had a call made to me. That's about all I can do."

Peiping radio, meanwhile, boasted the Chinese Reds have caught 230 American and Chinese Nationalist agents since 1951 and that 106 of them were killed.

The broadcast, monitored in London, said 18 of the 230 alleged agents were Americans and that five of them were killed when their planes were shot down. The remaining 13 apparently were those whose sentences were announced by Peiping radio Tuesday.

The state department received the latest Red broadcast with expressions of mistrust.

"It seems quite evident that the Red Chinese will pump out all the propaganda they can to try and justify their action yesterday," said press officer Lincoln White.

Mrs. Baumer is the mother of Maj. William H. Baumer, 32, one of 11 American airmen and two civilians who received sentences ranging from four years to life. Baumer got eight years.

James C. Hagerly, the President's press secretary, said he had been instructed to telephone Mrs. Baumer after Eisenhower learned she had tried unsuccessfully to talk to some one in the White House about the fate of her son.

"I told her that the President had received word of her telephone calls and I gave her the personal assurance of the President that everything is being done by her own government that is humanly possible with peaceful means to get our boys back," Hagerly said.

Tuesday night the state department ordered its consul general at Geneva, Switzerland, Franklin C. Gowen, to lodge the "strongest possible protest" with Red Chinese authorities there against the imprisonment of the Americans on what it described as "trumped up" charges.

Gowen reported Wednesday he has demanded a face-to-face meeting with his Chinese opposite number, Weng Peng-chiu, and that he expects a reply within two or three days. Gowen will ask for further details about the imprisoned Americans and the charges against them.

The United States does not recognize the Communist Chinese government, but during the Far Eastern conference at Geneva last June arrangements were made to exchange information about Americans still held in China.

Mrs. Baumer had complained she tried unsuccessfully to reach Eisenhower by telephone to ask his aid in behalf of her son. "I can't even talk to one of his secretaries," she said, "yet some little child sends him a charm and he calls the child up."

She said she was determined to keep on trying to reach the President "until either my son comes home or the President personally assures me all possible is being done to save him."

Congressional indignation over the detention of the 13 Americans was marked Wednesday by a demand from Rep. Thomas J. Lane (D-Mass.) that the state department serve notice on the Reds that they have a week to fly the men out to freedom.

"If this demand is not complied with," Lane proposed, "we shall inform the Chinese Reds that we shall step up our aid to Chiang Kai-shek and permit him to engage in counteroffensive action against the Chinese mainland — effectively sealing off all Red commerce."

Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese forces are based mainly on the island of Formosa off the Chinese coast.

Lane's congressional district includes Lynn, Mass., the home of Richard George Fecteau, one of the two civilians sentenced by the Reds.

MRS. HURLEY BAUMER, mother of Maj. William H. Baumer, an American pilot sentenced to prison by the Chinese Communists, holds a picture of her son and poses with a telephone after she received a call from James Hagerly, President Eisenhower's press secretary, who said everything "humanly possible within peaceful means" is being done to release her son.

500 Attend Beardsley Burial

NEW VIRGINIA (AP) — Gov. William Shane Beardsley was laid to rest Wednesday afternoon on a windswept knoll of a country cemetery in this — his hometown.

Interment followed brief last rites in the tiny New Virginia Methodist church of which he became a member before he was inaugurated in 1949 for the first of three consecutive terms.

The services were attended by about 500 persons who came to the village from far and near. State government officials, the governor's associates and friends had filled the church more than an hour before the services began at 2:30 p.m.

MOURNERS FILE PAST the casket to view the body of Gov. William S. Beardsley preceding funeral services in the tiny Methodist church in New Virginia, Ia., Wednesday. The casket was flanked by two National Guardsmen.

Still in Hospital

Mrs. Beardsley, who was injured seriously in the traffic accident near Des Moines Sunday night, which claimed the governor's life, still was in a Des Moines hospital and was unable to attend the rites.

Her two sons and two daughters and other relatives sat near the front of the flower-banked church. Just ahead of them lay the late governor in a brown walnut casket covered only with a blanket of red roses from the family.

Widow Says, 'Was Victim Of the Times'

NEW YORK (AP) — The young widow of slain William W. Remington said bitterly Wednesday he was "a victim of the times."

Word that he had died in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., from a beating administered by other inmates came to her by telephone at her Levittown, L. I., home from the institution's Protestant chaplain.

She has been living at Levittown under her maiden name, with her identity known only to a few close friends and neighbors.

2 Convicts Charged In Remington Death

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — William Walter Remington, 37, a convicted perjurer who denied he gave government secrets to the Communists, died Wednesday of a skull fracture in the federal penitentiary here and the FBI accused two auto thieves of killing him.

Remington's head was bashed in and his face badly cut, when he was set upon Monday morning as he slept in a prison dormitory.

Emergency surgery was performed Tuesday on Remington but he died 16 hours later.

Court Judgment Asked In Utility Rate Dispute

The Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company Wednesday asked the city council to join in seeking a declaratory judgment from the courts to determine the value of the utility's electric property.

The utility is seeking a 14.3 percent increase in its electric rates here. The valuation figure has been a main stumbling block since a consulting firm hired by the company and one hired by the city have reported two different valuations. From the disputed figure will come the basis for a rate increase, or "fair return."

John Bauer, a consultant hired by the city, had said that a "fair return" should be based on a net investment standard of $3,124,567. The firm of Black and Veatch contends that $4,800,000 should be used as the base.

C. P. Conrad, chairman of the utility firm, made the suggestion that the courts should make a declaratory judgment at a meeting of the Elks club attended by 60 civic leaders of Iowa City, Coarville and University Heights.

At the meeting was Iowa City Mayor Leroy S. Mercer who said the matter would be considered if formally brought before the council.

Conrad pointed out that reports compiled by Bauer for the city and Black and Veatch for the company disagree only on the value of the property used in furnishing electrical service here.

"This valuation," Conrad said, "can best be determined by a friendly suit in the form of declaratory judgment action. Lawyers we have consulted say that a declaratory judgment action can determine the rights and obligations of parties as they are affected by statutes, ordinances and franchises as well as contracts."

A court may refuse to take a matter of this kind under consideration if the decision it makes will not dispose of the issue. And such a decision is not binding.

Bauer says the company is entitled to a five per cent rate increase while the utility firm asks a 14.3 per cent increase. The company's franchise expired Sept. 27, but the city council has taken no action on renewal pending outcome of the rate dispute.

Jailed for Perjury

Remington, a former government official, was serving a three-year sentence for perjury in denying he passed government secrets to Communists.

The New York Journal-American quoted the widow as crying in a telephone interview: "They killed him. They killed him because they thought he was a Communist. Oh, God! Oh, my God! No matter what they thought he never was a Communist."

Unprovoked

But she quoted Wilkinson as telling her "the attack appeared to be completely unprovoked and was an impersonal thing."

Charles R. Prewitt, a Richmond, Va., man released from the penitentiary Wednesday after serving 27 months on a stolen car charge, said he found little "anti-Communist feeling" among Lewisburg prisoners.

Prewitt said he also knew the two men accused of the slaying and said they were the "hoodlum type."

Talbott Says Jets Useless Against Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air Secretary Harold Talbott said Wednesday the fastest jet interceptors would be useless as defense against V2 missiles.

But he also predicted that "we will have defense against missiles" ultimately, utilizing weapons systems based on electronic devices in process of development.

In a National Press club speech the secretary of the Air Force was gloomy and optimistic, by turns. He expressed misgivings about the ability of present anti-aircraft guided missiles to cope with modern jet bombers and about the degree of efficiency of jet interceptor planes pitted against an invading jet bomber fleet.

Leaves Son

The young woman, mother of an 18-month-old son, was quoted further as saying: "It was murder. What will happen to our baby? Must he be crucified, too?"

"The poor little thing is crawling around right now, bawling his head off. He knows something is wrong."

The New York Post quoted her as saying further: "Country's Tragedy"

"Bill was a victim of the times. His only error was that he was a human being. It's a simple person's tragedy. It's the country's tragedy. I've seen statements by prosecutors and Sen. McCarthy that practically invited people to murder anyone accused of being a Communist."

Resigned Job

Remington resigned a $10,000-a-year job with the U.S. commerce department in 1950 to defend himself against the charge of perjury. His first conviction was set aside by the U.S. Supreme Court, and he was convicted a second time on Jan. 27, 1953. He started to serve a three-year jail term in April, 1953.

Remington, father of three children, married his second wife between his two perjury trials.

Brownell Asks Decentralized Desegregation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Wednesday suggested to the supreme court that racial desegregation in public schools be carried out on the local level under the direction of the federal district courts in the areas involved.

The plan, advanced in a brief Brownell filed with the court, appeared to be in line with what President Eisenhower suggested Tuesday at a news conference. Eisenhower said the matter of decentralizing desegregation was being explored.

The court ruled out "separate but equal" facilities for white and Negro pupils in the public schools in a decision early last summer. It now has before it the matter of setting up the actual procedure for edging segregation.

Tandy Orders Inquiry Into Guardsman Death

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP) — Maj. Gen. Fred Tandy, Iowa adjutant general, Wednesday ordered an inquiry into the death of James Harger, 20, Iowa national guardsman from Cedar Rapids.

Harger died at University hospitals in Iowa City Wednesday of injuries he received Sunday in an accident at the National Guard armory here.

He fell 25 feet to the bottom of an open elevator shaft. Harger was stringing wires in a simulated practice routine when he apparently backed into the shaft.

Tandy ordered Robert Vernon, Cedar Rapids, commander of the 133rd Infantry division, to begin the inquiry Wednesday night.

Cedar Rapids detectives said they found no evidence of foul play in the accident.

Local Districts

The attorney general, in suggesting that the actual procedure be handled in the local districts, rather than by a general supreme court mandate, "emphasized his belief that the supreme court should retain jurisdiction in the matter "for the purpose of making such further orders, if any, as may become necessary."

Brownell proposed these steps: A supreme court decree declaring racial segregation is unconstitutional and that all laws requiring or permitting such segregation are invalid.

Lower Courts

A return of the test cases to lower courts where they were first heard for further action in line with the high court's decision. These cases came to the supreme court from South Carolina, Virginia, Kansas, Delaware and the District of Columbia.

The entry of orders in the lower courts directing the defendant school boards to submit within 90 days a plan for ending segregation in their districts "as soon as feasible."

Entry of Order

Unless a satisfactory desegregation program is submitted to and approved by the lower court, the entry of an order by that court directing that nonsegregated schools be operated at the beginning of the next school term.

Upon submission of a desegregation plan, the conduct of hearings by the lower court to determine whether it provides for the transition "as expeditiously as the circumstances permit."

Brownell's proposal that the cases be returned to the lower courts is in line with suggestions made to the supreme court by the states of Texas, Maryland, the school board of Clarendon county, S. C., and attorneys for Negro parents who are principals in the original cases.

editorials Democrats And Dixon-Yates —

Senate Democratic leader Lyndon Johnson announced recently that "We expect that . . . the Dixon-Yates thing can be given a quiet burial."

Johnson was speaking about the power contract signed by the Atomic Energy Commission with Dixon-Yates, who will supply the government needed power in the Tennessee valley area.

The Democrats could not prevent the signing of the contract, but Johnson's words are indicative of opposition that Dixon-Yates have to face.

The Democrats have little support for their argument against Dixon-Yates, but one of these, a statement by AE Commissioner Thomas Murray, was strong enough to win some important concessions from the Dixon-Yates faction in the controversy.

Murray, the lone Truman appointee on the commission, told the AEC joint committee that some aspects of the contract do not serve the best interests of the U.S. and that some changes were needed.

AE Chairman Lewis Strauss realized that Murray was useful in pacifying the Democrats and argued for several changes that Murray wanted.

He got them. Most important of these is the right of the U.S. to "recapture" the Dixon-Yates plant within the first three years (if a Democratic congress so orders.)

Under the terms of the Dixon-Yates contract, they are limited to $600,000 annual earnings, or 10.9 per cent return on their investment.

Dixon-Yates also won a point in their own right. If they fail to get Security and Exchange commission authority to float the necessary bond issue to build the West Memphis, Ark., power plant, they have the right to cancel the contract.

After these adjustments, Murray decided the contract was now "in the public interest" and voted to go ahead with the signing.

But the Democrats will keep fighting Dixon-Yates. Johnson cried that the next congress (Democratic) would "expose Dixon-Yates. . . ."

President Eisenhower is still behind the contract. He wants private power to have the opportunity to work for the government. He thinks the question goes beyond a mere contract. Ike thinks the question is not merely Dixon-Yates but should the Federal government assume the responsibility in perpetuating and expanding its own role in the power industry?

Eisenhower thinks not and is ready to give the Democrats stiff opposition if they try and sidetrack the Dixon-Yates contract in the next session of congress.

Pay As You Go Roads —

The traveling public wants better highways, naturally and logically. The automobile seems to be here to stay and it has been proved over and over again that good surfaced highways are actually economical to the car owner.

As a result he has shown a willingness to pay for better roads and what is fairer than to let him — the user of the roads — pay the bill? Much fairer, wouldn't it be? — than a state bond issue which would hit the pocketbooks of all citizens, whether they own cars or not.

Going in debt is much easier than getting out of it, as most of us know by hard experience. Let's pay as we go. Our children and our children's children are likely to have more debt than they can handle as it is.

Interpreting the News

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
Foreign Staff
Associated Press

Regardless of the usual protestations, there is a fairly general acceptance behind the scenes in American official circles that cases such as those of the fliers imprisoned in Red China are inevitable in dealing with the type of enemies "America faces.

As the President says, everything possible will be done to effect their release. The effort promises to be as long as it is likely to be fruitless. The case of William N. Oatis in Czechoslovakia, most civilized of all the Communist sphere countries, testifies to that.

It is to be assumed that the 11 fliers sentenced as spies were on a military mission in uniform, since there is no information on the mission of the two civilian employees of the Army whose cases may be different.

Rules of War

Under the rules of war to which many countries adhere, captured uniformed fliers, whether on reconnaissance or in combat, would be entitled to the same treatment as captured members of a ground patrol which had infiltrated enemy lines — they should become prisoners of war and treated, in the matters of food, clothing and housing, as the capturing army treats its own men.

To imprison them, after the war, as spies, is to violate every Western concept. By this one act the Chinese Reds have strengthened the already-strong American belief that they are not entitled to acceptance as an upstanding nation which might conform to the United Nations charter.

Not Realistic

Nevertheless, to talk about going to war with them over such a case is not realistic. Regardless of sympathy for the men and their families, regardless of the feeling of outrage, war with Red China would neither free them nor be in the national interest.

Provocative incidents of this class have often gone into the history books as the fuses of wars. Actually, when war has followed them, it is because the stage was set and an excuse needed.

The Peiping announcement that 230 other American and Nationalist Chinese agents had been caught and 106 of them killed in the process, comes a day after word of the prison sentences, and obviously is designed to carry the implication that the fliers have been treated judicially.

Won't Get Away With It

They won't get away with it, except in the most pro-Red minds. Nor will the extent of the provocation give them any excuse. Instead, they stand convicted of hypocrisy in all their recent protestations of sweetness and light.

This, if taken notice of by Soviet Russia, might provide one chance of getting the men out. If it considers the act as sufficiently undermining of the current Communist line, the Kremlin might be persuaded to do something.

Iowa JP's Favor Highway Speed Limit

DAVENPORT (AP) — The Iowa Justices of the Peace and Constables association recently reiterated its stand in favor of Iowa highway speed limits of 65 miles per hour in the daytime and 55 miles an hour at night.

A resolution urging adoption of the speed limits was adopted at the group's state convention. The association previously had asked such speed limits last April.

TO THE EDITOR:

Read Wednesday's Iowan, including the interesting letter from Clinton Berryhill (about Notre Dame.)

Mr. Berryhill undoubtedly wrote the letter under the strain of disappointment of loss, but he still makes some statements that are not only sheer untrue, but unreasonable as well.

I am an SUI student, and was as disappointed as anyone over the Notre Dame loss.

But I want to take issue with this letter, because I think it is a shame to allow the sour-grapes attitude to come to SUI's campus.

Mr. Berryhill speaks of the "win-or-else" spirit at Notre Dame. He says that this gives other schools such a handicap that the smart ones refuse to play Notre Dame, and that Iowa should not play the school either. Hogwash. Unless Mr. Berryhill gets a lot closer to ND's team than the 37th row of the grandstand I fail to understand how he can perceive the line between a will to win, such as the one Iowa used to fight off Wisconsin and Purdue, and the mysterious "win-or-else" doctrine.

Iowa was beaten by a team which, on that particular day, was a better one. The papers have been full of the story of how Hawkeye morale. It would seem more logical to Mr. Berryhill to find his reason for defeat there than to revert to such a hackneyed untruth about one of Iowa's most respected and admired football opponents.

Reds Training More Pilots Than U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Aeronautical Training Society reported recently that Russia is training pilots and airplane mechanics at a greater rate than the United States.

Beverly Bevo Howard of Charleston, S.C., ATS president, said in a speech prepared for the Aero Club of Washington that U.S. civilian flying schools are turning out about 7,200 Air Force pilots a year, a number "quite small compared with those being trained behind the Iron Curtain."

The U.S. Navy produces about 3,000 pilots a year. Wayne Wieshaar, treasurer, in reply to a question said the best informed estimates are that Soviet Russia is training 15,000 pilots annually.

Weishaar added that Russia also is training 100,000 aeronautical engineers and skilled aircraft technicians annually, compared with 25,000 to 30,000 for the United States.

The ATS is composed of eight of the nine civilian flying schools which carry on, under contract, primary flight training of all Air Force cadets and student officers.

Iowa National Guard Increases In Strength

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa National Guard air and ground forces have been building up so steadily that their actual strength now puts them 14th among states, Maj. Gen. Fred C. Tandy said recently.

"In the over-all, we've had a substantial gain every month for almost a year," said Tandy, Iowa's adjutant general. "And we haven't shown a net loss in any month for a long time."

Military regulations still ban making actual figures public, but the ground force amounts to about 6,000 men and the air guard consists of about 1,000 men. There are 82 ground units scattered over the state and 11 air units here and at Sioux City.

Tandy said that although there is a "tremendous turnover" each month, Iowa ranks well above the average among the states in actual strength.

Commenting on the situation, he said:

"The reasons for the steady gains are pretty hard to put down. Earlier in the year it seemed that enlistments were increasing because of the an-

Red China Not Taboo To SUI Debate Team

SUI's debate team will not shy away from the question "Should the U.S. extend diplomatic recognition to the Communist government of China?"

The topic, chosen as 1954 intercollegiate debate subject, has been branded off limits to cadet debate teams at Annapolis and West Point academies. The question also has been excluded from the debate schedules of several midwestern schools.

SUI's policy was expressed by Prof. Orville A. Hitchcock, director of the debate team. He said, "There is not a doubt that we will debate this matter. The question of Red China's recognition will come up in our schedule, and we will discuss it freely."

Military Explanation
In explaining the West Point and Annapolis bans, military sources said it was not their policy to have cadets "involved in debate on such a controversial subject, on which national policy has already been established."

Hitchcock said that he "would hate to see the people of the U.S. get into a position where we accepted policies as irrevocable, and would not therefore debate or discuss any issue on which governmental policy has been established."

Shortly before the release last week of the news that the army and navy had clamped down on the topic "several months ago," president Eisenhower made an applicable statement at a press conference. He said that the U.S. system can stand firmly on its own feet in the face of exhaustive examination, and that people should tolerate the discussion of new ideas.

Others Refuse
In October several small college presidents in Nebraska decided not to permit debate of the Red China question by their teams.

But the question of debating or not is really an issue, Hitchcock explained. Whether Red China should be recognized is hotly contested by world powers. Great Britain, France, and most Asiatic countries already have extended recognition — whereas the U.S. has not. There is, then,

Could Never Happen In Kitchen Today

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sounds impossible, but two policemen say:

A water-thin water glass fell from an 8th floor window of the snazzy Terrace Plaza Hotel struck a fender of parked automobile, denting it, then bounced off into the street, and didn't break.

It was not even chipped, said break.

Policemen Ralph Adams and Joseph McCarthy, who were summoned following the incident. They could not find out who dropped the glass.

Choose Accessories for Your Individual Type

The word "fashion" has grown to have many meanings today, but most of us still associate it principally with the dress, the jewelry, the hat or the pair of shoes which go to make up the over-all good looks and grooming which make a woman well dressed.
Taste is a personal thing. Some women achieve a fashionable appearance by wearing extremely individual clothes. Some achieve it by emphasizing simplicity.
Basic Rules
Whatever means a woman uses to achieve fashion success in her dress, there are some basic rules which, because of her physical makeup, it is well to follow. Certain lines compliment or detract from her natural figure, certain colors do nice things for her eyes, the shade of her complexion, or the tint of her hair.
And the jewelry she chooses, for example, can do much to add to the beauty of her face, her hands or the contour of her neck.

Oval Face
If you are one of those fortunate individuals who has the ideal oval face, you may go the limit in choosing earrings that are big or small, dramatic or simple, long or short.
Actually, unless you have a "problem face," a too-heavy throat line or unusually large wrists, you will not find yourself very restricted in the selection of jewelry. Much can be done, for instance, to elongate the hand by wearing the nails longer, and study of hair arrangements can frequently do away with the look of a too square jaw or a too-high brow.
Jewelry
The rules for furthering your good looks with jewelry are very simple because almost any jewelry makes a woman prettier. However, if your face is on the long and narrow side, remember that you should wear earrings or necklaces that have a tendency to round out rather than elongate your features.

Big buttons, clusters or large flowers bunched together are your best bet. The necklace that rides high on the throat will be better for you, too, and you are one of the fortunate who can wear necklaces of numerous strands.
Long Hand
The long, slender hand welcomes the extreme ring and the new design with the stones set crosswise is especially becoming. This is the type of hand and arm which can also take the multitude of bracelets which are fashions favorites right now.
The more rounded face is likely to be flattered by earrings and necklaces which have an up and down line. The slender drop or the contour earring which swings upward on the ear are typically good lines. In the case of necklaces, the same idea of line holds true.

New Necklaces
The new matinee length necklace is more becoming to this throatline since it falls away from the throat in a longer line. The choker, which fits low on the base of the throat, is prettier than the collar type in this instance, because the line of the neck tends to look longer when it is bejeweled in this way.
The thicker, broader hand will naturally look prettier with an oval shaped ring or one that follows the lengthwise line of the fingers. And if your wrist is inclined to be on the chubby side, don't wear your bracelets or watch too tight, as that tends to emphasize the broad look.
Brooches
Clips and brooches are the type of jewelry which a woman may choose more freely, but as in anything else, things in good proportion are the most beautiful.
If you are a tiny girl, choose your clips or other jewelry in dainty proportion. On the other hand, if you are a larger woman, be smart enough to know that you can dramatize your good looks with bold, striking jewelry.

Luscious Chiffon Pie for Holiday Weekend

How about a wine-flavored dessert to go with your after-dinner cup of coffee? Here's something unusual in the pie world — sherry chiffon pie flavored with almond and sprinkled with grated chocolate.

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
  - 1/4 cup cold water
  - 2 eggs, separated
  - 6 tablespoons sugar
  - 1 1/2 cups hot milk
  - 1/2 teaspoon almond extract
  - 1/4 cup sweet sherry
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 cup whipping cream
  - 1 9-inch baked pie shell
- Soften gelatin in cold water. Beat egg yolks and stir in 2 tablespoons sugar. Stir in hot milk. Cook over hot water, stirring, until mixture will coat a metal spoon. Remove from heat. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add almond extract and sherry. Chill until slightly thickened.

The firmness or softness is controlled by regulating the air pressure through a valve at the foot of the bed.

EGGPLANT
There's a quick and delicious way of preparing eggplant. Wash and dry the vegetable but do not peel; then slice about 1/4 inch thick. Dip slices in flour and cook in a skillet in hot butter.

Big Ten Approves Iowa Basketball TV

CHICAGO (AP) — At least one and possibly more of Iowa's basketball games this season will be televised over the Columbia Broadcasting System, the Big Ten announced Wednesday.

Conference officials did not designate which game or games would be televised. The exact schedule will be announced after details on clearance for pickups have been arranged. Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson said.

Arkansas Coach Gets Salary Hike

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The University of Arkansas Wednesday raised the salary of the coach of its Cotton Bowl-bound Razorbacks from $12,000 to $15,000 a year.

University President John T. Caldwell said he notified Bowen Wyatt of the increase, effective Jan. 1.

Dr. Caldwell said the university Board of Trustees several weeks ago gave him authority to pay Wyatt's salary as head football coach from the $12,000 set out in a five-year contract, which still has three years to run. The amount was left to Caldwell.

Caldwell said he arrived at the $15,000 figure after conferring with Athletic Director John Barnhill.

25 and Jan. 1 — through Mar. 5. Big Ten basketball games usually are played Monday and Saturday nights.

Wilson said each conference member will make at least one television appearance.

Colorado Star Wins 'Back Of Week' Vote

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Tailback Carroll Hardy of Colorado University, "surprised and happy" over his selection Wednesday as Associated Press back of the week, said Wednesday his No. 1 ambition now is to play in the East-West football game at San Francisco New Year's Day.

"I hope that Frank Bernardi and I can play together in that game," said the Sturgis, S. D., senior. Hardy, wingback Bernardi and fullback John Bayuk have formed a talented offense unit for Colorado all season.

Hardy's performance in CU's final game against Kansas State netted him 238 yards in 10 tries for an amazing 23.8 average.

That was one of the feats which sparked his selection as AP back of the week.

He also dashed K-State's Orange Bowl hopes by scoring three touchdowns, kicking one extra point, and streaking 79 and 36 yards for two of his scores, and 49 yards to set up his third. The game climaxed Hardy's college football career.

Lion Passer May Hit 'Century' Mark Today

DETROIT (AP) — Bobby Layne, quarterback of the Detroit Lions, could join Sammy Baugh and Sid Luckman in pro football's exclusive "Century Club" Thursday when the Lions meet the Green Bay Packers in their annual Thanksgiving Day game in Briggs Stadium.

The contest, which starts at 11 a.m. CST, will be televised coast to coast. A victory for the Lions would give them an 8-1 record and clinch at least a tie for the western division championship.

In past years, only Baugh and Luckman ever completed 100 or more touchdown passes in their National Football League careers. Baugh, pass master of the Washington Redskins, pitched 187 touchdown strikes, while Luckman, key of the great Chicago Bear teams of the early 40s, accounted for 139.

Layne, with 99, needs only one

Holiday Sport Schedule Slim

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Thanksgiving holiday college football pickin' will be slim today as several traditional rivals and a scattering of other games make up the gridiron fare.

Turkey day traditional hovers over such games as Cornell and Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, Texas A & M and Texas at Austin, Utah and Utah State at Salt Lake City and Colgate and Brown at Providence.

However, the national college television games of the day ABC will be Missouri against Maryland at College Park, Md., starting at 12:55 p.m. CTS. The Missourians have yet to win in four meetings with the Terrapins.

Most of the major fireworks will be reserved for Saturday, with the great army-navy service spectacle scheduled for a sellout crowd of some 100,000 at Philadelphia.

Southern California, the Pacific Coast's representative in the Jan. 1 Rose Bowl, plays at Notre Dame, Duke is at North Carolina, Mississippi State at Mississippi, and Rice at Baylor in other grade A Saturday contests.

Maryland, hoping to convince Atlantic Coast Conference fathers it should go to the Orange Bowl again, must make a red hot showing against Missouri. Even that may not be enough, for Duke could get the bowl nod by scoring a decisive victory Saturday over North Carolina, which hasn't beaten the Blue Devils since 1949.

Other conference titles that could be clinched Thursday are the Missouri Valley and Skyline. Wichita can clinch the Missouri Valley by winning at Tulsa, while a Denver victory over Colorado A & M at Denver would give the Pioneers the Skyline title.

A Friday night game at Honolulu between Nebraska and Hawaii Bridges the gap between Thursday and the Saturday grand finale.

Other games Saturday include: Auburn vs. Alabama at Birmingham, Miami at Florida, Georgia, LSU at Tulane, Tennessee at Vanderbilt, West Virginia at Virginia, Wyoming at Arizona, Arkansas at Houston, Oklahoma at Oklahoma A & M, TCU at Southern Methodist.

Calvin Jones, Iowa's mighty guard, has been chosen on the United Press all-American football team.

The Hawkeye lineman was one of three Big Ten players on the team picked by 308 sports writers and broadcasts throughout the nation.

Alan (The Horse) Ameche, Wisconsin fullback, led the balloting with 2,753 points of a possible total of 3,388. He was chosen for a first or second team berth on all except 35 of the ballots.

Cassady Third
In third place was halfback Howard (Hopalong) Cassady of Ohio State. UCLA's tackle Jack Ellena was runnerup in the balloting with 2,697.

Ralph Guglielmi, Notre Dame's quarterback, rounds out the midwestern contingent. Oklahoma's end Max Boydston and center Kurt Burris were other selections.

Third for Jones
It was the third all-American honor for Jones, a 223-pound junior whose home is Stubeenville, Ohio. He was honored by NBC-TV last season as an all-American and a few days ago, was named to the National Editorial association's All-America team. Monday, he was named to the United Press' and Associated Press' all-Big Ten team. United Press' all-America teams:

UCLA Official Says Sanders To Stay

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA Athletic Director Wilbur Johns Wednesday said Red Sanders had told him he plans to remain as the title-winning Bruins' football coach.

There has been conjecture that other schools might try to hire Sanders away from UCLA after his team's undefeated, untied season and second straight Pacific Coast Conference championship.

When he came here in 1949, Sanders had a five-year contract with an option for another five at a salary believed to be about $18,000 annually.

Cup Squad Asks Pro Practice Aid

MELBOURNE (AP) — America's Davis cup squad has sent an SOS to professional stars Pancho Gonzales and Pancho Segura to help it regain the cup from Australia next month.

Tony Trabert, acting captain of the American team, announced Wednesday night he had sought the services of the two players, who are here on professional tour.

Trabert told a newsman: "The U. S. Lawn Tennis association has not instructed us to hire Gonzales and Segura, but they will help us, out of patriotism. If they can work out with us, they will not only test our games to the utmost, but will give a terrific boost to our morale."

Army Option Play May Sink Navy

By FRANK ECK

AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — Army, with terrific backfield speed, could very well do to Navy what the West Point Cadets have done to most of their other football opponents — smother them!

This is the opinion of a noted football coach who shall remain anonymous. What then will be the play that is supposed to sink the Navy?

"It's the optional keep or give off the 'belly' series," says our scout.

Before going further, the 'belly' series entails the use of a tricky quarterback, a fellow who is short of being a magician. Army has such a man in Pete Vann.

Quarterback Fakes
The 'belly' play is called such because the quarterback fakes the ball into another player's mid-section. Sometimes this procedure is worked on two men, and the quarterback, still carrying the ball well hidden, can do a number of things with it. He can throw a pass far downfield, carry the ball himself, hand off or lateral to another back. Even the television cameras have been having a hard time following this play.

"The optional keep or give," continues our expert, "works best when there's a double fake involved. For example:

Guard Pulls
"The quarterback is directly behind the center in the Split T attack used by Army. As he runs laterally behind his line the right guard pulls out to form interference. As the guard pulls out of the line the right halfback replaces him and blocks the defensive guard, but not before the quarterback fakes into the right half's belly."

"While this is going on the fullback cuts in front of the right half and also gets a fake from the quarterback.

Quarterback May Keep
"Meanwhile the quarterback continues with his right guard as a blocker and the left half almost at his heels. If the guard blocks out the defensive end, so much the better. Then it really doesn't matter whether the quarterback keeps, laterals or hands off to the left half, who by this time, also is in on the play. "While the double fake upsets the defense, Quarterback Vann has been very effective with the single fake. When only one fake is involved the quarterback often gives the ball to his fullback (Pat Uebel). And when the fullback gets the ball you are looking at one of Army's strongest plays."

"The fullback usually dashes between his tackle and right end. That's all brother, because it's a play that can go all the way."

Pro Coaches To Head College Grid All-Stars

CHICAGO (AP) — The 1955 college all-stars will be trained by professional coaches rather than college mentors for their annual football classic with the National Football League champions, the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., sponsor of the all-star game, announced Wednesday.

Tribune Sports Editor Arch Ward said Curly Lambeau, veteran pro coach, will be head coach of the collegiate squad and Hunk Anderson will be line coach. Each will choose one assistant.

AVERAGE 52,591 FANS
For six home games of the 1953 National Football League season the Detroit Lions averaged 52,591 fans. Briggs stadium's seating capacity is 52,853.

Athletics Shorten Homer Distances

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A new look in the stadium of the Kansas City Athletics will be to the advantage of the home run hitters in the American League.

To provide more seating room, home plate is being moved out 25 feet, thus shortening the distances to the outfield fence. The new field measurements will be 312 feet from home plate to the fence in left and right fields and 430 feet in center field.

Furman Football Boss, Entire Staff Quit Jobs

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP) — William A. Young has resigned as head football coach and athletic director at Furman University. The entire football coaching staff planned to follow suit.

There was no comment from the coaches or the school on the reason for the resignations.

Young had just finished his fifth football season at Furman as head coach. His team finished with a 5-5 record for the season. His over-all record shows 23 victories, 24 defeats and three ties.

WHITNEY MARTIN'S - Sports Trail

By STERLING SLAPPEY

LONDON (AP) — Tennis, a favorite with the capitalistic country club set, is one of Russia's fastest growing sports.

The sport is played extensively in Moscow, Tiflis, Leningrad, and a dozen other cities. S. B. Reay, secretary of the International Lawn Tennis Federation said Wednesday.

"They play mostly on hard courts," Reay said. "They have both indoor and outdoor games. I have talked with several Russian sports officials and they told me the game is growing rapidly."

The Russians are far below Wimbledon or Davis Cup class, say Westerners who have seen Russians playing. Most of their equipment is American or Swedish, bought in huge lots and imported into Russia after World War II.

N. Ozerov, singles champion of Russia in 1953 and now an actor and radio commentator, visited Wimbledon recently when the Sparta Soccer Club played in England.

He asked Lt. Col. Duncan Macauley, secretary of the All-England Club which operates the Wimbledon plant, if Russian players would be welcome at the world's biggest lawn tennis tournament.

Macauley told his "yes," just so long as the Russian Tennis association was a member of the international federation.

Russia, surprisingly, was a founding nation of the international federation before World War I but has not been a member for many years.

Reay said in his seven years as secretary of the federation he had not heard one word directly from Russian officials about rejoining the group and thereby qualifying for Davis Cup play as well as several of the big international tournaments such as Wimbledon.

No one but the commissars know if a Russian will show up at Wimbledon or not. However, Reay said he did not expect any next summer.

Sports Views

(This is the first in a series of three articles reprinted from the Michigan State News analyzing what has happened to football at Michigan State.)

What is behind the sudden death of King Football at Michigan State?

Co-Champions of the Big Ten and Rose Bowl winners last year, the Spartans were riding the crest of football supremacy.

This year, they are the unhappy owners of a pair of wins and six losses and are residing in eighth place in the Big Ten.

What factors have changed the team that won 32 of 33 games, a Rose Bowl and a national championship in four years, to the present mediocre team?

Pre-season polls placed the Spartans in the top seven teams in the country, with few exceptions, and some even picked them to repeat as Big Ten leaders.

Even after close losses to Iowa, Wisconsin and Notre Dame, fans and writers expressed confidence that the Spartans would regain their old form and wallop a few opponents.

But, those wallpings failed to develop — with the exception of the pasting handed the outclassed Cougars of Washington State.

With the Michigan State football fortunes heading downhill rapidly, people far and wide have begun to ask, "What's wrong with MSC football?" and many of them give their reasons.

Most often heard of those reasons is the brand new coaching staff. Following last year's successful season, Biggie Munn moved to the Athletic Director's job and two of his chief aides, Steve Sebo and Earle Edwards, moved on to head coaching jobs elsewhere.

Duffy Daugherty, Munn's line coach and No. 1 assistant, took over the head coaching reins and brought with him an entirely new staff.

A few people have accused the new staffers of not being of big league caliber, while many claim that the staff's biggest fault is their newness and resultant inexperience.

The almost complete lack of good, new sophomore talent is another oft-repeated idea. The 1952 freshman team produced a whole raft of top ballplayers, while last year's team failed to yield a single star lineman and only a few good backs.

A tough schedule is also blamed for part of the downfall. Playing Iowa, Wisconsin and Notre Dame in the space of four weeks would hamper any team. The unexpected rise of Purdue, Minnesota and Michigan also added to the Spartan woes. Of the six losses, five were at the hands of teams in the top 20 in the nation.

Injuries have played a key role in the Spartan attack this year. LeRoy Bolden was hampered during the early season with leg injuries and he had no sooner recovered than Ferris Hallmark and Randy Schreengost received crippling injuries that ended the season's play for each of them.

In addition, Rolan Dotsch, Jerry Planutis, Hank Bullough, Johnny Matsock and Joe Badaczewski have all played at least one, sometimes more, games in a sub-par physical condition.

Light, fast linemen (one of the big reasons for the past success) has proved a hindrance in the era of big, durable linemen of the one-plate system. The sea-of-mud Notre Dame game was a prime example of this factor.

Many people blame a "fat cat" winner complex for part of the mental downfall. A national championship, a 28-game winning streak, a Big Ten title and a Rose Bowl win have taken most of the present team members everywhere there is to go in collegiate football. Following that, this season may have become anti-climatic to some of them.

Lady Luck, who had ridden with the Spartans in so many of the come-from-behind wins of the past year, seemingly has deserted the team.

The Spartans have been the repeated victims of bad breaks this year, although some people point out that the past years were always able to manufacture a few breaks of their own when the going got tough.

The last, and maybe the most important, of the popular theories is that the Spartans are having a tough time because they are the Spartans.

These are different players, but the same team that ran roughshod over 28 straight victims and dominated the football world for four years.

Everyone wants to beat the Spartans and everyone points for them and saves a little extra for the Michigan State game, making the job of the present team all the harder.

Last year at this time, the Spartans were preparing for the Marquette game, looking to it as the clincher for their Rose Bowl hopes.

This year, the game was a salvation game, with the hopes for a victory bordering on desperation.

Gone are the days of King Football and easy romps over out-classed opponents. The Spartans now have become an ordinary team, fighting for each victory for all it's worth and not counting their wins until the final gun has sounded.

Young Conservationists Here

ONE OF 700 YOUNG IOWA CONSERVATIONISTS who gathered on the SUI campus Wednesday is Alice Kuntz, of Martelle, who is shown as she answers questions on conservation during the "Conservation in Hawkeyeland" program over WSUI. Thanksgiving Foods Cost Less in '54

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government said Wednesday declining food prices have brought the nation's living costs down to the lowest point reached thus far in 1954. As a result, it said, the makings of Thursday's Thanksgiving dinners are cheaper.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics announced that its consumer's price index declined two tenths of 1 per cent in October to 114.5 per cent of the 1947-49 base period. It said further food price declines since then indicate a still lower living cost level in November.

Almost all the traditional Thanksgiving dinner ingredients, including turkeys, are lower than last year, generally speaking.

One result of the October index decline is that 1,300,000 workers in the auto, aircraft and farm machinery manufacturing industries will take a cent-an-hour pay cut. Their labor contracts require quarterly pay rate adjustments according to changes in the official index.

Boy Scout Council Appoints Chairmen

Prof. Ralph H. Ojemann, of the SUI child welfare research station, and Norman Shaffer, 430 Brown st., were among five sub-committee chairmen appointed Wednesday by Allin Dakin, SUI administrative dean, to the long-range planning committee of the Hawkeye Area Boy Scout council.

Ojemann will head the public relations conferences committee and Shaffer will chairmen the trust fund committee.

The long-range planning committee, under Dakin's direction, is making a study of the anticipated needs of the six-county Boy Scout council. The study was undertaken in view of the rapid growth in the last few months which has seen the council reach a record membership of more than 4,300 boys.

Speed Ace Hurt - By Taxi Door

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Umberto Maglioli, who won the Pan-American road race by driving 1,908 miles at 109 miles an hour without a scratch, mashed his hand in a taxi door Wednesday.

The Italian speed ace said, "It couldn't happen to me in the race — it had to happen in a taxi."

His hand was smashed when he got out of a taxi at police headquarters to pay a courtesy visit to police officials. A police surgeon bandaged the hand.

Seven persons were killed during the race this year.

Drawings on Exhibit in SUI Art Building

Seventy-three drawings from the collection of Winslow and Anna Ames of Springfield, Mo., are on exhibit in the main gallery of the art building. The show consists of old masters and museums done by artists such as Delacroix, Fuseli, Rivera and Rowlandson.

Ames, who is on leave from his position as director of the Springfield Art museum, has made the exhibition available to SUI for about a month.

The art building is open daily, except weekends, from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Dr. Elizabeth Holt Gets AAUW Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Elizabeth Gilmort Holt, educator and daughter of former president of SUI, Tuesday joined the staff of the American assn. of University Women as head of its program on the status of women.

Dr. Holt—in private life, Mrs. John Holt, Washington, D.C.—succeeds Dr. Winifred G. Helmes, recently named assistant director of the women's division, U.S. department of labor.

Dr. Holt spent five years in Berlin and Frankfurt, Germany, after World War II organizing the educational program of the women's affairs section of the U.S. office of military government.

In 1951 she went with her husband—then consul general in Salonika—for a three-year stay in Greece during which she studied the political attitudes and economic conditions of women in frontier villages.

She is a native of San Francisco, but was reared in Wisconsin and Iowa. Her father, the late Dr. Eugene Gilmore, once was acting governor of the Philippines.

Blood Found on Sheppard Stairs, Witness Testifies

CLEVELAND (AP) — Human blood was found on the basement stairs of her home after Marilyn Sheppard's July 4 murder, an ace crime sleuth testified Wednesday at her husband's murder trial.

In a slow and painstaking maneuver which built up the courtroom suspense, the state thus sought to demolish Dr. Samuel Sheppard's defense of his life—by questioning that a prowling murderer would take time to go into a basement with blood still dripping from him.

The testimony came from Detective Henry E. Dombrowski, a chemical expert from the scientific laboratory of Cleveland police headquarters.

Dr. Sheppard, 30-year-old osteopath, claims a bushy-haired prowler killed his 31-year-old wife and left him unconscious.

However, the state claims he beat Marilyn to death after a love affair with Susan Hayes, a 24-year-old former technician in his osteopathic hospital. Conviction carries a maximum penalty of death.

The trial was adjourned shortly after noon for a holiday recess lasting until Friday morning, when Dombrowski will resume his testimony. The state hopes to conclude most of its case then.

Ebbs, Band Members Explain 'New Look' in SUI Band

Frederick C. Ebbs
SUI Band Director

By S. KINGSLEY HOPKINS

"This was one of the most entertaining band shows we've seen," commented the American Broadcasting company sports announcer as he described the formations of the SUI marching band at the Notre Dame football game.

How did the band progress from 112 individuals to the unit that won the admiration of Iowa fans and opponents as well?

Band director Prof. Frederic C. Ebbs attributes it to "the combined efforts of a great many people—the physical plant, visual aids, and most important, the members themselves."

Members' Attitude Cited

Ebbs' right hand man, John B. Whitlock, lays the credit to the "fine attitude of the band members." He said, "They worked hard although many times it was a hardship because of the long practice sessions and unfavorable weather."

The members themselves tell another tale. There has to be a lot of push from up above, they say, and that came from Ebbs and Whitlock in the form of original ideas for the "theme" programs and formations.

"There's something vital and sparking in the way Ebbs does his directing," one of the marchers said. "During the practice sessions he kept us striving always for perfection, and made us like it," he added.

Wanted: Snappy Band

Before Iowa launched its football season with the Michigan State game, Ebbs had commented that he had been led to believe that the football crowds wanted to see a snappy show band.

"I decided to introduce a popular style halftime band show—that was modern and in keeping with what was being done by the leaders in the marching band business," Ebbs said.

In implementing his "formula" he came up with seven "theme programs," Ebbs said, "the ideas for the themes came from a lot of places—maybe from seeing a movie, or from a TV show, or just walking down the street. They just hit you," he declared.

Among the ideas that "hit" Ebbs was the "blues" theme, featuring "Birth of the Blues," "Blue Champaign," "Sugar

THIS FORMATION BY THE SUI marching band during halftime of the Iowa-Notre Dame football game was executed as part of a parody on popular TV programs, which was the theme of the halftime show. "I Love Lucy" was the particular program to which this formation applied. The band received praise from many quarters this year as a result of the new routines it used and the "snappy" fast-stepping manner in which it performed the routines.

Blues" and "Blue Tango" with formations to match.

The opening game halftime exercises worked around the theme "Four Hats." The band formed a freshman "beanie" to "Collegiate," the graduates' mortar board while playing "Pomp and Circumstance," and a football helmet to the strains of "You Gotta be a Football Hero."

The band concluded with a formation representing the Big Ten conference "crown."

The band's presentation of a "Hit Parade" program was well received too. But it was probably the performance at the Notre Dame game, termed by Ebbs the "most mechanically perfect," that won most praise. This last was a satire of currently popular TV shows, and featured the narrative imitations by Jim Wehr, A4, Davenport.

All the musical arrangements for the band were done by Jerry Gates, professional arranger in Davenport.

Actually the band fields only

99 of its 112 members—96 players, two twirlers, and the drum major. There are 12 alternate players who act as "prop men" for the shows, and fill in for absent members, and an alternate twirler.

Ebbs said he is looking forward to some changes in the band's practice schedule next year. He pointed out that unlike other Big Ten bands, SUI's had only a week's practice before the opening game.

Many Big Ten bands register early and utilize the extra time for drill; others arrive on campus a week before the registration period.

More Practice Next Year.

"Next year," Ebbs said, "we'll be doing something along those lines."

In addition the band will not have to walk to the Brown street playground on the north side of town for practice drills. The band practices two hours a day, four days a week during the football season.

Practice time was cut considerably because we had to walk so far," Ebbs explained. "But next semester we will be able to use the parking lot west of the main library, where there is also more room."

Now that the football games are a thing of the past, the band will cease to be a "marching" band.

The members will split up to form the varsity and concert bands. The former will play at basketball games and other sports events. The concert band, which will also enlist the talents of female players, will perform at two concert sessions in the Iowa Memorial Union, playing concert band music and special arrangements of symphonic music.

Red Military Potential Increasing: Gruenther

LONDON (AP)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther said Wednesday the "military potential of the Soviet bloc is increasing constantly."

The supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization told the Constitution club the effectiveness of Soviet forces was "going up considerably," although their size still was approximately the same as when General Eisenhower took over NATO command four years ago.

Pastor Retires 2d Time; 1st Time from Bank

ASHLAND, Va. (AP)—Albert Sydney Johnstone retired seven years ago after serving 29 years as personnel officer of the Federal Reserve bank of Richmond. But retirement for Johnstone just meant dropping bank work and the start of a new career.

He entered Union Theological seminary at Richmond as a candidate for the ministry. Now at 70 he is retiring again after five years as pastor of the Ashland Presbyterian church. He plans to serve as supply for any churches in the Richmond-Ashland area where pulpits are temporarily vacated.

United States Gives $23 Million to Germany

BERLIN (AP)—The United States Foreign Operations Mission announced Wednesday an additional grant of $23,695,000 for economic aid to Allied West Berlin from the U.S. government.

The announcement said the new aid is aimed particularly at expanding West Berlin's industrial capacity and creating additional permanent places of employment.

DRY LAND FISHING

SCOTTSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Louis Duke caught a 14-inch cat, weighing five pounds, on the trotline he stretched to dry in his back yard. It was a real live kitty-type cat. The cat had leaped up and snared itself on a swaying fishhook. Neighbor Joe West rescued it.

Muscular Dystrophy Drive Begins Today

Iowa City firemen will launch their solicitation for the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America today.

Funds raised in the organization's national drive are used to ease the financial burdens of families with members afflicted by the disease as well as for research into cause, cure and treatment of the ailment.

An estimated quarter-million Americans are afflicted by the disease which results in a wasting and degeneration of muscles. The cause of the ailment is not known.

Research on the disease—under grants of the muscular dystrophy associations—is currently being conducted at University hospitals.

The firemen plan a house-to-house solicitation. The drive will continue through November 30.

Snite Leaves $50,000 Estate

CHICAGO (AP)—Frederick B. Snite Jr., who lived for 18 years in an iron lung, left an estate of $50,000.

The will of the 44-year-old polio victim who died Nov. 12 in Miami, Fla., was filed in probate court Wednesday.

A bequest of $2,500 was made to Leonard Hawkins, an iron lung technician who had attended Snite since he was stricken in 1936. The remainder of the estate went to Snite's widow, Teresa of suburban River Forest.

Three daughters also survived. They are Teresa, 14; Katherine, 11, and Mary, 9.

SUI Student Indicted By Grand Jury

A 26-year-old SUI dental student, John W. Oden, was arraigned in Johnson county district court Wednesday morning on a charge of incest.

Oden pleaded innocent and at his own request was committed by Judge Harold D. Evans to the Psychopathic hospital here. He was placed under $10,000 bond.

The charge against Oden was brought in a true bill returned Tuesday by the grand jury. Two other sealed indictments and one open charge were also brought by the jurors.

Oden's wife was granted an uncontested divorce last Thursday. The couple has two children, a girl, 8, and a 6-year-old boy.

Charged with forgery in the open indictment returned by the grand jury was Eugene V. Whitaker, 19, of Incline, Ky. He was arraigned Wednesday morning and entered a plea of innocent. He is being held in county jail in lieu of $1,000 bond.
