15 Die in 2-Plane Crash Over North Kentucky Hills

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Fifteen persons died Wednesday on bleak, snow-covered northern Kentucky hillsides as a TWA Martin Skyliner and a privately owned DC3 collided in the air and crashed a half mile apart.

There were no survivors to explain the accident. The TWA plane had left the Greater Cincinnati airport only minutes before, bound for Dayton and Cleveland, O. It carried 10 persons and a crew of 3.

The DC3, with two aboard, was being flown from Battle Creek, Mich., and was to have picked up Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Van Lennep, wealthy Detroit race horse owners, in Lexington. Mrs. Van Lennep is the former Frances Dodge.

Cause Unknown
Just what happened no one seemed to know. Tower control officials said they had no word that the DC3 was in the area.

C. Woodrow McKay, chief controller at the tower, said he saw the transport plane head southwest for about two minutes, make a right turn and then disappear. Seconds later he saw a flash and then smoke.

Charles Rising, Cincinnati supervising agent for the CAA, said he knew of no reason for the DC3 to be flying in the area. Another CAA official, who declined use of his name, said marks on the wreckage made it appear that the planes were approaching each other as at the apex of a triangle and that their wings apparently hit first.

Crashes in Gully
The TWA plane crashed into the side of a gully approximately a half mile from the nearest road. Wreckage was strewn for 150 yards.

The DC3 appeared to have hit nose first about a half mile away. There were few actual eye witnesses.

Mrs. Betty Dallwick, sister of the man on whose farm the TWA plane fell, said she heard the terrific blast "which shook the whole house" and then saw the plane smash into the side of a ravine.

Other persons said they heard the explosion as far as four and five miles away.

Rescuers had to prod down a farm lane, ankle deep in mud, and then cross a snow covered field to reach the wooded ravine where the plane crashed.

Fire Chief Tells Of Plane Disaster

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP)—"When I heard their motors up there in the fog, I knew they were too close for comfort. I had a feeling that something would happen and, by golly, it did!"

Thus, Earl M. Aylor, fire chief of Hebron, Ky., described the impending airplane disaster which wiped out 15 lives Wednesday.

"The next thing I heard," he continued, "was a b-r-rump, like two automobiles bumping together. A few seconds later there was a big explosion, then a second explosion."

That was when a TWA airliner carrying 13 persons and a DC3, carrying two, hit the ground a half a mile away.

The two-engine TWA Martin Skyliner had taken off two minutes earlier from the Greater Cincinnati airport, a mile and a half from Hebron, a community of 450.

Aylor was standing in his yard when he heard the planes roaring toward each other overhead. "After the collision," he continued, "the TWA pilot gunned his motors in a desperate effort to keep her up. I never heard such a roar. Then at the last second he must have cut his motors, because I heard them sputtering."

The TWA plane, apparently gliding, crashed into a heavily wooded ravine.

"The other fellow," Aylor related, "must have fallen straight down. The DC3 crashed a half mile from the TWA plane.

Aylor called out the Hebron fire department and sped to the crash sites.

No human voice came from the wreckage, he said. There was only the noise of the gasoline flames crackling.

POLICE SEIZE CAR
DES MOINES (AP)—Police here Wednesday seized a 1940 auto owned by Randy Duncan, Roosevelt high school football and basketball star, because the car "has not been inspected since April of 1953."

THIS GIANT CRATER, with a section of the plane still burning in the center of the picture, shows the remains of the DC3 private plane that collided in midair Wednesday near Burlington, Ky. The pilot and co-pilot of the plane, its sole occupants, were killed and 15 persons, including 12 passengers were killed in the TWA passenger liner with which it collided. The wreckage fell more than three-fourths of a mile apart.

Ike Upholds Stassen's Right To Hire Ousted Ladejinsky

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Wednesday upheld the right of officials to reach conflicting decisions in the Wolf Ladejinsky case — a case in which he said he himself has formed no judgment.

Eisenhower also told a news conference that without inquiring into all the circumstances or studying the other side of the question, he once remarked to Secretary of Agriculture Benson that a summary of the case would serve him.

Upholds Stassen
Yet he said he would uphold the right of Harold E. Stassen, foreign operations administrator, to hire Ladejinsky after Benson turned him down as a security risk. Stassen, he said, will be held responsible if his judgment turns out to be wrong.

Ladejinsky is a 55-year-old Russian who became a naturalized American.

Says Fields Asked Asylum

WASHINGTON (AP)—The state department said Wednesday it has received confirmation from Noel Field that he and his wife, Herta, have requested asylum in Communist Hungary.

Press officer Henry Suydam said U. S. Minister Christian M. Ravndal at Budapest had received a hand written letter "reporting to be from Noel Field."

In the letter, Suydam said, Field confirmed Hungarian press and radio reports that he and his wife had been granted asylum at their request.

The Fields were released last Nov. 17 after five years in a Hungarian jail on charges of being American spies.

Suydam said that U. S. officials are still in the dark as to the Fields' whereabouts.

Jan. 21 Deadline Set by Hawkeye

The deadline for students to order a copy of the 1955 Hawkeye is Friday, Jan. 21.

Students may reserve copies at the information desk in the business office, University hall; publications office Close hall; or the Hawkeye office or school of journalism office in the Communications Center.

The price of the yearbook is $5 and should be paid before picking up second semester registration materials. Books will not be sold at the time of distribution in May.

Educator Hits Faculty Raids By Colleges

WASHINGTON (AP)—There's such a shortage of college teachers that some colleges actually are raiding the faculties of rival institutions.

The Association of American Colleges adopted a report Wednesday deploring the practice. Submitted by the association's commission on academic freedom and tenure, the report said:

"No institution should appoint a person to its faculty before there has been full clearance at top level between the respective institutions."

Undercover hiring of teachers, described by commission chairman Louis T. Benezet in an interview as "raiding," may backfire too, the commission warned. "It suggests to the faculty member that he may freely leave his new institution in the same manner."

The commission also cited a "distressing" tendency on the part of college students and teachers to avoid expressing themselves on controversial issues—not for fear they will be expelled or fired but for fear it will keep them from getting good jobs later.

The commission report said: "It would seem that our own college communities may need encouragement from us to stand by their posts as scholars and teachers in search of truth. There is nothing wrong with 'academic freedom' that common sense, consideration and, above all, a little courage won't cure."

The association, meeting here, includes some 600 colleges and universities, most of them small liberal arts schools.

UN Chief Heads Home After Talks

HONOLULU (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold flew into Honolulu Wednesday on his homeward trip from Peiping as signs mounted that his mission to free prisoners held in Red China was not in vain.

While the United Nations secretary general remained silent, a personal aide, Per Lind, told reporters in Tokyo that the families of 11 U.S. fliers jailed as "spies" must "have a little more patience."

And in London, the British foreign office endorsed a UN spokesman's statement that Hammarskjold had not failed in his talks with Premier Chou En-lai of Red China.

That reason is that he will make no statement until his report to the United Nations general assembly, which sent him to Peiping, possibly later this week. Hammarskjold told reporters, however, he had not yet set any definite time for making the report.

Hammarskjold declined all comment to reporters on his one-hour stopover in Tokyo, just as he did when he left Hong Kong Tuesday. Hammarskjold is due in New York today.

SUI Student Grooms Stranded Tots in New York

WILLIAM E. LUCHT, 32-YEAR-OLD graduate student at SUI, joyfully greets his children, Wendy, 5, and Alex, 4, aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth following the youngsters' arrival here Wednesday. The Lucht children were enroute home from Europe aboard the vessel with their mother, Valeria, 29, after a visit with her parents in North Wales. While aboard ship she suffered an attack of appendicitis and had to be taken from the liner at Cherbourg, France.

Creamery To Tear Down Fire-Gutted Warehouse

FIREMEN BATTLE A BLAZE which gutted the warehouse of the Johnson County Creamery Co. Wednesday afternoon. Unable at first to find the center of the blaze, firemen used ladders to direct water into the structure. The blaze was brought under control by 1:30 p.m. Approximately 700 cases of eggs stored in the building were destroyed. (MORE PHOTOS ON PAGE 6).

Damage Set At $10,000 By Officials

The warehouse of the Johnson County Creamery Co., gutted by fire Wednesday, will be torn down "as soon as possible," company officials said.

Damage was estimated last Wednesday at between $5,000 and $10,000 by Ed Myers, company manager. The loss is covered by insurance.

The fire was Iowa City's worst since the $300,000 SUI Chemistry building fire of October, 1953.

Cracked by Fire
The building's north and east walls, both cracked by the fire, could crumble at any time, Myers said. The west wall is also in dangerous condition.

The alley running behind the building has been roped off to traffic.

Robert Hein, Iowa City fireman, was the only casualty of the fire. He was overcome by smoke, but released after treatment at Mercy hospital.

About 700 cases of eggs worth $3,600 were in the warehouse. Some of them may be unharmed, Myers said.

Two dozen chickens were in the garage adjoining the warehouse to the west. They were well-smoked, but otherwise uninjured.

Once Was Brewery
The building, which was once a brewery, was the scene of two costly fires during the early 1900's.

Welders using acetylene torches to cut pipes in the warehouse Wednesday morning are believed to have started the fire.

The alarm was turned in at 12:05 p.m. by a worker at a nearby auto store, who saw flames coming from the building.

Iowa City firemen arrived, then sent for off-duty firemen, volunteer reserve firemen and off-duty policemen. Within an hour about 40 men were fighting the blaze.

Unable To Find Start
Firemen were at first unable to locate the heart of the fire through the clouds of smoke.

They were soon driven back from the building by the smoke and danger of collapsing walls.

The north and east walls cracked by 12:45 p.m. and the pent-up pressure of the fire burst the roof shortly thereafter, sending sparks and burning debris over the area.

Firemen by then had little hope that the walls would hold up.

Retreat to Roof
They retreated to the roof of the one-story Hutchinson Ice Cream Co. building and trained four lines on the creamery warehouse windows.

The pressure released through the roof and the two doors axed open, however, enabled the walls to stand through the fire.

When the roof and second floor collapsed, the aerial ladder was extended above the building and firemen hosed water into the heart of the blaze. By 1:45 p.m. the fire was under control.

All fire trucks except a pump were off the scene by 3 p.m.

SUI To Present Concert Jan. 26

The SUI symphony orchestra, under the direction of James Dixon, conductor, will present its third concert of the season at 8 p.m. Jan. 26, in Iowa Memorial Union.

The program will feature the performance of Act I from Puccini's opera "Tosca." This work will include soloists and a chorus from the music department.

Other selections on the program will consist of "Overture to Der Freischutz" by Weber, and Symphony No. 38 (The Prague) by Mozart.

SET COFFEE HOUR
Foreign students will be honored at a student-faculty coffee hour at 4 p.m. in the lounge of the general library today. The coffee hour is being sponsored by University Women's association.

Costa Rica Fighting Spreads

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States announced Wednesday night it will "make aircraft immediately available to carry out Pacific observation flights" over Costa Rica, as requested by the Organization of American States.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—Costa Rica's spreading warfare cracked at half a dozen points over the country Wednesday.

Mystery planes attacked four towns, including the capital where President Jose Figueres declared: "We don't scare with the splattering of bullets."

Addressing the people in a nationwide broadcast, Figueres charged that Gen. Anastasio Somoza, Nicaragua's strongman president, had "decided to unleash the men he had in his ates and is now throwing them into Costa Rica through various points."

A rebel band was reported moving down the Inter-American highway from La Cruz, only 10 miles from Nicaragua.

Fighter Straps Capital
A lone fighter, described by the Civil Guard as "Venezuelan plane which came from Nicaragua," carried the fight to this capital city with blasts of .50 caliber machine gun bullets not far from Figueres' residence. Fleeing to the north, the plane was later reported shot down.

Observers here said the plane was an old P47 type of World War II vintage. No casualties were reported here, but there was some damage to buildings.

After the attack the President suspended civil rights in order to cope with the emergency. Airlines canceled flights out of San Jose, and planes bound for the capital were diverted elsewhere.

Says Liberia Raided
A government communique said planes also raided Liberia, in northwestern Costa Rica, and Cartago and Turrialba in the central part of the country south of San Jose.

Government troops attacked rebel forces who Tuesday seized the Villa Quesada area on an important highway about 40 miles northwest of the capital. A communique said two rebels were killed and two soldiers were wounded in the fighting.

Referring to Somoza, with whom Figueres has been at odds

Nicaraguan President Challenges Foe To Duel
MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza Wednesday night challenged Costa Rican President Jose Figueres to a duel at the border of the two quarreling Central American nations.

"There is no need for bloodshed just because Figueres has such a personal hate for me," Somoza said. "I will fight a duel at the frontier with Figueres. Why won't he be man enough to do that?"

for nearly seven years, Figueres said.

"Our democracy hinders General Somoza. It hinders all those who have been saying freedom and democracy are not adequate regimes for Latin America."

Tuesday Costa Rica called for military aid from the nations of the Western Hemisphere to "repel the forces of invasion." The Organization of American States, which has headquarters in Washington, Wednesday hurried a five-nation commission, including U.S. representatives, by plane to his country to investigate the situation.

Nicaragua has officially denied any connection with the trouble in Costa Rica.

Army To Summon 11,000 During March
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army Wednesday issued a draft call for 11,000 men in March, the same number previously announced.

The Pentagon cut the calls for these two months as part of an over-all reduction in military manpower. Previously the monthly quotas had been for about 20,000 men. Secretary of Defense Wilson said last month the 11,000 level would be continued at least through June.

NEED SCHOOL FUNDS
WASHINGTON (AP)—The president of the National Educational association urged Wednesday that while considering a 101-billion-dollar highway program the nation dig up 30 billion for new schools. Miss Waurine Walker, speaking at a NEA staff reception, said education needs the same attention as road building.

Big 10 Objects—

Playing in a poker game with hundreds of players and millions of dollars at stake, the Big 10 has maneuvered the NCAA into a spot where it must consider the desires of the Big 10 or have its national TV program wrecked.

The powerful conference opposes the NCAA ruling which requires that only one Big 10 football game be telecast during the season. The Big 10 wants a plan whereby one home and one away game will be telecast.

But, at their convention last week, the NCAA stuck to their guns despite a Big 10 boycott, and proposed a resolution stating that there shall be a national TV program for 1955, its format to be decided after appropriate information has been secured.

This leaves the Big 10 in a position of doubt, because the exact details of the national plan has not been revealed and probably won't for several months.

Opposition has been mounting in Big 10 schools ever since 1951 when the NCAA came out with its TV ruling. The national plan makes it possible for many schools to be televised during the season—including many small schools.

The small colleges are all for the plan because it puts them in the spotlight for one week. Usually the calibre of play is inferior to the Big 10 or the Pacific conference. National advertisers realize this and they are reluctant to foot the bill for a "game-of-the-week" which people won't watch.

The fact is, the "game-of-the-week" usually isn't much of a game at all. This attested by a game which ended in a 50 point rout.

Until now, fighting the NCAA meant expulsion and consequently no athletic program since all the other NCAA members are forbidden to compete against expelled schools.

Now the Big 10 has come up with an include-us-or-else attitude.

If the Big 10 drops out, chances are strong that Pacific Coast members will also fall out. Notre Dame also favors the Big 10's idea of two televised games.

If such a cessation of conferences occurs, the NCAA will have to undergo an "agonizing reappraisal" of their TV plan.

The Big 10 holds an ace and the NCAA definitely does not want it played. If the Big 10 is fervent, it may force the plan through.

Shorter Political Campaigns—

In planning shorter presidential campaigns for 1956 both the Republican and the Democratic parties have taken a step long advocated by many political scientists as beneficial to candidates, parties, and the public.

Last week the Democratic national committee announced plans to meet in August, 1956 and the Republicans laid tentative plans to meet in September, 1956.

This will cut about two months off the presidential campaigns. However, both candidates will have almost two months to present their views to the public. In a day of radio and television when a nationwide audience can be reached with a single speech, this should be long enough.

A presidential campaign is a strain on the health and nerves of the strongest candidates and with the campaign cut in half the winner should be in better physical condition to lay plans for administration.

The shorter campaign will be a shot in the arm for the party treasuries which take a beating in a three to four month race.

The shorter campaign will also make candidates better able to stay on the issues, rather than stray into a "mud-slinging" personality battle.

Critics of the short campaign contend that a candidate will not have time to become well-known outside of his own state, but not since the Democrats nominated John W. Davis in 1924 has a candidate entered a presidential campaign as a truly unknown.

The benefits as weighed in greater respect for both candidates and parties from a cleaner campaign will be welcomed wholeheartedly.

Confused on GI Bill—

Since President Eisenhower came out with his proclamation ending educational benefits to G.I.'s, a rash of speculations and snap judgments were made.

One of the big questions the students wanted to know was whether by joining before January 31—the termination date—a person could still receive the G.I. bill.

You can, but if you enlist now you are only entitled to about 20 days of benefits or 30 days of "free" college. And that is all.

So great was the doubt on this point that protestors in the dormitories placed announcements on bulletin boards, informing the residents of the correct interpretation of the proclamation.

Another point raised was whether a person already in the service would have his educational benefits shortened. The answer is "yes." The Veterans Administration says: "It is clear that under this proclamation, terms of which were dictated in large part by provisions in P. L. 550 itself, many persons now in uniform will receive substantially less educational benefits than they had been led to expect when they entered the Armed Forces."

So, the advice given is this: "Unless you feel a definite reason for enlisting, don't enlist because you feel you may get under the G.I. Bill deadline—it just is not so!"

Interpreting the News

By J. M. Roberts

AP Foreign News Analyst

The estimate made at the close of the last congress, that if the Democrats regained control President Eisenhower would have a better chance of putting through his liberalized foreign trade program, now seems about to prove out.

Comment on the President's trade message, plus the traditional Democratic antipathy toward high tariffs, has brought predictions that Eisenhower will get his three-year extension of the reciprocal trade laws and increased authority to relax trade barriers.

There will be a bitter fight, however, representing interests which might be directly affected. A nationwide organization of these industries was formed last year to offset the activities of large exporters and the American members of the International Chamber of Commerce.

Not Expensive Program One thing the administration has failed to do which might make its road easier is to make it clear that the idea is not merely designed as another expensive aid program for America's allies.

Because of the British "Trade Not Aid" program, pressure from Latin America and virtually all countries which have been urged by the United States to build up their strength in the battle to deer communism, the trade program falls into the aid category in many American minds.

Actually, while the long-dragged-out aid programs have gotten a bad name, they haven't been as unselfish as Winston Churchill would make them appear, being tied directly to American defense.

Different Kind of Selfishness There is a different kind of selfishness connected with the trade program, too.

As the postwar dollar shortage abroad persisted, even when economic and military aid programs were reaching their peak other countries found themselves unable to do business with the United States. They imposed quotas on buying in America at every point where they could do it and still not violate existing reciprocal trade agreements.

This, coupled with America's own reduction in the amount of credit or grants extended, has resulted in a reduction in her overall foreign trade. The silver bloc headed by British and encompassing the entire Commonwealth plus its traditional trade area, has led this trend.

After learning that Mr. Ecker took a train part of the way and then gained publicity by claiming to have been kissed by Miss South Carolina, I'd like to ask him if he really WENT to South Carolina at all. Since I lost money on the bet, I think I have a right to know.

Comments on Drinking

TO THE EDITOR:

Yes, Iowa will someday be "cracker-dry."

The Gazette editorial (reprinted in Tuesday's Iowan) stated: "The theory underlying the Iowa liquor laws is that some people are going to drink liquor, come what may, but that the well-known evils of the liquor trade traffic can be held within tolerable limits through state control of the sale of liquor and laws restricting the consumption of liquor to private places."

It is plain that this argument, which becomes more disgusting with each repetition, is a moral compromise.

The average person's morals are a reflection of the expectations of society. Laws also embody society's expectations for the average citizen. Conversely, laws help shape society's idea of moral right and wrong. Therefore, if liquor laws are based upon an expectation that some will always drink, then some always will drink.

"... the well-known evils of the liquor traffic can be held within tolerable limits..." What! Evil can be tolerated?

The writer might just as reasonably have said: "The theory underlying the Iowa homicide laws is that some people are going to commit murder, come what may, but that the well-known evils of murder can be held within tolerable limits through state control of murder licenses and laws restricting murder to private places."

Certainly, murder may be worse than drinking, but if it (liquor traffic) is admittedly an evil, why tolerate it?

Social and fraternal organizations actually don't help control liquor consumption. Instead, by their approval of drinking, they increase consumption and make it harder to control.

The law restricts liquor consumption to private places, and the writer fears the problem of flask-toting drinkers. But maybe it would be better to bring liquor consumption more into the public eye so that the wishy-washy "tolerants" could better view its nasty aspects and become fervently militant against the sale of liquor.

Doubts Ecker Trip

TO THE EDITOR:

I'm one of the fellows who made a bet with Tom Ecker last October that he couldn't hitchhike to South Carolina and back in a weekend without missing any classes. As soon as he returned, I paid him. Since that time, I've learned that we were fooled—not only the bettors, but the people who believed the facts in the story. This concerns anyone who reads a newspaper or listens to a radio.

A very reliable person told me that he saw Tom Ecker get off a train in Davenport on that Sunday afternoon last October. This proves that he did NOT hitchhike the entire distance. For all we know, he may have even taken a plane part of the way.

Also, I talked recently with a young lady who worked in South Carolina last June. She was acquainted with the REAL Miss South Carolina—and her name wasn't Rankin Super.

After learning that Mr. Ecker took a train part of the way and then gained publicity by claiming to have been kissed by Miss South Carolina, I'd like to ask him if he really WENT to South Carolina at all. Since I lost money on the bet, I think I have a right to know.

Danger in Medical School Costs Told

DES MOINES (AP)—Mounting costs of medical education are threatening the future health of the American people, the president of the American Osteopathic association, said here Wednesday.

Dr. John W. Mulford of Cincinnati, who addressed the student body at Des Moines Still College of Osteopathy & Surgery, said the increasing costs "are compounding the shortage of teachers."

Speaking of the nation's six osteopathic colleges, Dr. Mulford said none is supported by tax funds and all depend "upon the profession itself for outside revenue."

Survey Lists Enrollment By Counties

Students from six Iowa counties are enrolled for the 1954-55 semester at SUI in exact proportion to the counties' population, according to a recent survey by Registrar Ted McCarrell.

Linn county is second in population in the state and in the number of students enrolled at SUI. Scott is fourth in population and enrollment, Black Hawk is fifth, Webster 13th, Osceola is 95th and Clarke 98th.

By ranking the state's 99 counties according to population and then lining them up in a second column according to the number of university students from each county, McCarrell found that a correlation of .82 exists between the two columns, indicating that Iowa counties strongly tend to contribute students to SUI in direct proportion to the county's population standing.

The figure .82 represents a ratio which is 18 points short of perfect correlation, McCarrell points out. He explains that the calculation does not take into account the distance of various counties from SUI nor the location of other colleges within the counties. "If it did, an even higher correlation would have resulted," he says.

Twelve counties contributed more than 100 students each to SUI this semester. Johnson county, ranking 11th in population, was first with 775 students. The next 11 in order of the number of students enrolled at the university are: Linn, 591; Polk, 534; Scott, 277; Clark Hawk, 213; Woodbury, 202; Clinton, 180; Lee, 147; Des Moines, 120; Wapello, 115; Cerro Gordo, 111; and Dubuque, 104.

Total enrollment for the present semester is 8,414 as compared with 7,696 a year ago. Every state in the union is represented on the campus, and there are 202 foreign students from 43 different countries.

National Dental Tests Scheduled for Friday

Eighty-seven midwestern college and university students are expected to visit the SUI campus Friday to take the national dental aptitude test.

The dental aptitude test is required of all applicants entering colleges of dentistry. It is offered twice yearly at SUI, according to R. V. Smith, professor and head of the department of prosthetic dentistry in the SUI college of dentistry. According to Smith, the aptitude test will be offered at SUI again April 29. The university is the regional testing center for the state of Iowa. Smith says.

Study of John Gay Written by Armens

By Betty Tucker

"John Gay—Social Critic," written by Sven Armens, Iowa City, (Columbia University Press, $4).

To anyone who remembers the striking presentation of "The Beggar's Opera" by the University theatre and music department several years ago—

Or who has not gotten over the shock of Laurence Olivier as a singing highwayman in the British film of the same play—

The name John Gay is not altogether unfamiliar.

As creator of the unique opera, Gay has had a resurgence to popularity.

However, it seems that the eighteenth century poet has more "credits" to his name than one engaging bit of theater. This revelation did not come by itself, but after the reading of a new study on Gay's behalf by Sven Armens, assistant professor in the SUI English department.

Armens, who joined the SUI faculty in September, 1950, chose John Gay as the subject for his doctoral dissertation at Harvard University. Interested in the field of 18th century literature, he found that the last major work on the English poet had been done about 1940.

After interesting Columbia University press in the critical study, Armens revised his dissertation. It was published in December.

"John Gay, Social Critic" is an investigation of the serious elements in the poetry and drama of Gay, who the author feels too long has been considered a "mere elegant trifler."

John Gay was a wit with a message. A town-dweller most his life, he hated the corruption and evil he saw in London society, business and professional circles, even churches. He longed for what he considered the purities of rural life and primitive societies.

Although he wrote in a jesting tone, his major works such as the "Opera," "Polly," "Rural Sports," "Trivia" and "Fables" carry recurring themes—the false values of town society, the greed for money, self-interest, lack of honor and justice, and crime among so-called civilized peoples.

Armens explores the social implications of Gay's writings at great lengths. And it is no doubt true that Gay had more serious intentions than merely bartering the manners of his times.

However, we hope the readers of "Social Critic" have enjoyed first a good belly laugh at the antics of the roguish characters of "The Beggar's Opera," before they tackle Armens' sobering study.

Thank goodness, Gay is not all message. Though his humor may be like the painted grin of a clown, the entertainment is no less enjoyable.

Bidding Opens On Utility Contract

Bids on utility improvements for steam distribution to be constructed next to the University General hospital, will be accepted up to 1:30 p.m., Jan. 25. They should be taken to the office of George Horner, SUI superintendent of planning and construction, in Old Dental building.

The contract will be awarded after the bids are publicly opened and read in Old Capitol at 2 p.m., Jan. 25. It provides for 700 feet of piping and other underground installations to bring low-pressure steam service into the medical group area on the west side of the Iowa river.

Copies of the plans and specifications may be obtained in Horner's office in Old Dental building.

TAX INCREASE OPPOSED

DES MOINES (AP)—The Retail Merchants Bureau of the Des Moines Chamber of Commerce Wednesday was on record as opposed to increasing the state retail sales tax from its present 2 per cent to 3 per cent. The bureau declared such an increase "would affect Iowa business adversely."

Orchestrals Members Rehearse Show

HIGHLIGHTS OF A WOMAN'S LIFE are reviewed in "Recapitulations," one of the dances to be presented at the Orchestrals modern dance show which will open tonight. Dancers are, left to right, Miriam Forbes, A4, Iowa City; Jo Lechay, A2, Iowa City, and Marilyn Falk, A4, Washington. This dance was selected as an outstanding number of last year's show, and will be repeated this year.

50 Students To Dance In Orchestrals Program

"Then and Now" will be the title of the annual dance recital to be presented by Orchestrals, modern dance organization at SUI tonight and Friday at 8 p.m. in Macbride auditorium.

Some 50 students will appear in the dances, which will follow the general style and spirit of periods throughout history but will use modern dance movement. The dances have been choreographed by members of Orchestrals.

Faculty Adviser
Miss Jean Minnis Smith, instructor in physical education for women at SUI, is faculty adviser of the club. Student director of the recital is Joan Swanson, A3, Clear Lake, president of Orchestrals.

Marylou Niebling, G, Wilmette, Ill., will present a solo dance which will depict the personality changes produced in a young southern girl by the Civil war. Four Iowa City junior high school girls who will dance "Four No," a parody on women at a bridge party, are Berthe Wilse, Sudy Harris, Gretchen Schoenbohm and Candy Kennedy.

Children's Classes
The junior high pupils have attended dance classes for children which Miss Smith teaches at the women's gymnasium on ten Saturdays during each semester of the academic year.

The recital will also include an outstanding dance presented in the 1954 dance concert, "Recapitulation," choreographed by Marilyn Falk, A4, Washington. Music for the dance was composed by Robert E. Tyndall, who was a member of the SUI music faculty last year and is now a similar position at Washington university, St. Louis.

Recital Numbers
Other recital numbers include "What Makes the World Go Round," choreographed by Miss Smith; "Psycho Saga," a "completely nonsensical" choreographical whimsy inspired by William Steig cartoons; and "The Richness of the Earth," a planting or fertility ritual danced to an Incan folk melody.

Chairmen of recital committees include Jean Ogden, A4, Cedar Rapids, lighting; Dallas Kinney, A1, Buckeye, tickets; Libby Beall, social worker at University hospital, publicity; and Marilyn Jane Coleson, A2, WHAT'S THIS?

For solution see paragraph below.

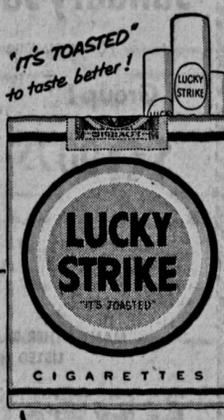

OBVIOUSLY, THE TITLE of the above Droodle is: 47 insectology students enjoying better-tasting Luckies while studying 3 fireflies. All kinds of students are bugs about Luckies. Matter of fact, college smokers prefer Luckies to all other brands—and by a wide margin—according to the latest and greatest of all college surveys. Once again, the No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better... cleaner, fresher, smoother. So, enjoy the better-tasting cigarette... NCAA Committee Eases Football Substitution Rules

NEW YORK (AP) — The NCAA Football Rules committee Wednesday eased up a trifle on the "anti-platoon" substitution rule and made some other changes in the rules for 1955.

In addition, it strongly urged coaches and officials to observe and enforce two rules now in the book with an implied threat of drastic action if "false start" violations aren't eliminated.

Accepting the recommendation of the Football Coaches association, the committee eliminated the controversial four-minute segment at the end of each half and ruled that the players who start each quarter of a game will be eligible to leave and re-enter once during that quarter. Those who don't participate in the opening down of a period can't re-enter in the same period.

The idea was to do away with the four-minute segment, which some coaches felt made football a six-period game, and to give coaches and doctors a chance to examine slightly injured players without losing them for an entire quarter.

The change also makes possible limited use of some specialists. For instance, a player can come in once to kick a conversion and the player for whom he substituted can return, but it can't happen twice in one quarter.

The other changes passed include:

Ball Holder May Run

1. A player who kneels to hold the ball for a place kick now can rise to run, pass or kick. This is an exception to the rule which makes the ball dead once the carrier touches the ground with any part of his body but the hands or feet.

2. The "tackle eligible" forward pass play is legal only if no other offensive player is stationed outside the end man when the ball is snapped. A tackle, guard or center becomes an eligible pass receiver if he is the end man on the scrimmage line. The additional provision eliminates borderline deception when an end, stationed far out, would drop back a yard to make the next man eligible.

3. The "hideout" play was outlawed by a provision that when the ball is spotted and declared ready for play, all offensive players must be within 15 yards of the ball. Afterward they can go where they please. The previous "no hideout" rule applied only when substitutes were coming in or out of the game.

Wig-Wag Abolished

4. The fair catch signal was changed to eliminate the wig-wag, which the committee felt was too difficult to perform while catching the ball. The signal now is just raising one hand clearly above the head.

On the "false start" and "sucker shift", the decision was to leave the rules alone. Instead, a new and stronger appeal will be made to adhere to the present rule in spirit and letter. Meanwhile, a special committee will make a complete and exhaustive study of the problem.

Chairman H. O. (Fritz) Crysler said the committee felt the trouble with false starts came from officials who don't enforce the rule closely and coaches who evade it, and that a change might lead to new complications, possibly even the elimination of shifts.

'Exhaust Possibilities'

"We want to exhaust the other possibilities first. But if we're not able to stop it this year, the committee is prepared to take very drastic action within a year."

The Coaches Rules committee had recommended a definite rule on false starts. It also had suggested authorization of a higher tee for kickoffs, but the committee thought the present kickoffs and returns were satisfactory.

Iowa Drops Tight Ones, 3 One-Pointers Included

The close ones seem to be going the wrong way in Iowa sports in 1954-55. Iowa has lost six contests by a total of 11 points, including three one-pointers.

Close decisions against Iowa include these losses: Minnesota football by two and basketball by one; Michigan football by one; Missouri basketball by three; Illinois swimming by one, and Wisconsin fencing by three. Total losses through Wednesday: only 11.

CLARK LOONEY, left, of Iowa, is shown fending off a lunge by Wisconsin foilman Jack Heiden during the fencing meet Saturday in the Iowa field house, as a judge looks on. Heiden won the match, 5-2. Wisconsin won the match, 15-12, although outscored by the Hawkeyes in two of three events. A lopsided score by Wisconsin in the saber event was the deciding factor. Saturday, Michigan State and Notre Dame invade the field house for a three-way match. Harry Hollien, fencing coach, is in his first season with the Iowa team.

2 Tireless Hawks Tops In Gymnastics

Two tireless sophomores on Iowa's gymnastic team last Saturday had a busy day: they competed in three meets and won a total of 15 first places.

Sam Baillie of St. Petersburg, Fla. and Walter Patterson of Nashville, Tenn., competed with the Hawkeye team against University of Chicago and the Chicago Illini in dual meets. The Hawkeyes won both affairs.

Baillie Wins 7 Firsts

Baillie was first on the side horse, high bar and flying rings in both meets and first against Chicago on the parallel bars. For good measure he finished second against the Chicago Illini in parallel bars and tumbling. Patterson won first on the trampoline and tumbling in both meets.

As if that were not enough exercise for one day, the pair competed that evening in the Lincoln Turners invitation meet. The team was second, one point behind the Midwest Gymnastics association—but Baillie was judged all-around champion.

Hawk Proves Versatile

The versatile Hawk placed first in free exercise, side horse and still rings, while Patterson was the champion on the trampoline. And this was against such competition was University of Minnesota, Lincoln Turners and the Chicago Illini.

The Hawkeyes will need all their skill in their own gymnasium Saturday at 7:30 p.m. when they face Minnesota, winner of six straight victories over Iowa since 1950.

'Shooting Skill Growing'

"It should be noted that skill in field goal shooting is growing, as well as skill in free throw shooting which now is a vital part of any practice," Porter said.

Porter said his office has had one suggestion that scoring might be slowed by increasing the size of the ball. This proposal points out that 20 years ago, the circumference of a ball was trimmed from a 31½-inch maximum to the present 29½-inch size "to help scoring."

Hawks Lead Big Ten In Scoring Averages

CHICAGO (AP) — Iowa's basketball Hawkeyes lead Big Ten team scoring averages with an 86.7 mark compiled in three games according to official statistics released Wednesday.

Iowa's shooting average from the floor is 44.3 per cent.

In the individual scoring race the long and short of the matter is that 6-10 Don Schlundt of Indiana is breaking records, but 5-9 Robin Freeman of Ohio State is leading the pack.

Freeman Leads Scoring

Conference statistics credit Freeman, also the nation's top scorer, with a pace-setting league average of 37 points in two games.

That's almost six points per game better than Schlundt's 31.3 mark for three games, but the towering Hoosier now in his fourth season continues to swell his career record.

For the past three conference seasons, Schlundt had a 1,082-point total. Now, it's expanded to 1,176, far ahead of the old record of 1,027, set by Ohio State's Paul Ebert in three seasons.

Shot Percentage Trails

Despite Freeman's terrific pace, his shooting accuracy is only 41.9 per cent on field goals, compared with 56 per cent for Schlundt.

Behind Freeman 74 points and Schlundt 94 points comes Minnesota forward Dick Garmaker's three-game total of 87 and a 29-point average.

The hot team race is reflected in team scoring with seven clubs averaging between 80 and 86 points per game.

Illinois, Minnesota and Northwestern have almost identical defensive records, approximating a 75-point average yield.

Sam Baillie of St. Petersburg, Fla. and Walter Patterson of Nashville, Tenn., competed with the Hawkeye team against University of Chicago and the Chicago Illini in dual meets. The Hawkeyes won both affairs.

Baillie Wins 7 Firsts

Baillie was first on the side horse, high bar and flying rings in both meets and first against Chicago on the parallel bars. For good measure he finished second against the Chicago Illini in parallel bars and tumbling. Patterson won first on the trampoline and tumbling in both meets.

As if that were not enough exercise for one day, the pair competed that evening in the Lincoln Turners invitation meet. The team was second, one point behind the Midwest Gymnastics association—but Baillie was judged all-around champion.

Hawk Proves Versatile

The versatile Hawk placed first in free exercise, side horse and still rings, while Patterson was the champion on the trampoline. And this was against such competition was University of Minnesota, Lincoln Turners and the Chicago Illini.

The Hawkeyes will need all their skill in their own gymnasium Saturday at 7:30 p.m. when they face Minnesota, winner of six straight victories over Iowa since 1950.

Iowa Teams Set 6 Home Contests

The unusual situation of five Iowa winter sports teams at home for six contests between Saturday and Monday will offer Hawkeye sports fans an opportunity to spend many hours in the field house this weekend.

In fact, fans cannot take in everything, since it was impossible to schedule the contests without time conflicts.

Here is the lineup: Saturday, 2 p.m.—Indiana, swimming, and Michigan State and Notre Dame fencing, 7:30 p.m.—Colorado A&M, wrestling, and Minnesota gymnastics, each at 7:30 p.m.; Monday, 7:30 p.m.—Illinois basketball at 7:30 p.m. Only the track team is idle, not opening its season until Feb. 11.

The swimmers, who won six of 10 first places but lost their opener to Illinois, 47-46, take on Indiana. The Hoosiers have the great Bill Woolsey, the Hawaiian who was a member of the 1952 U.S. record-breaking Olympic relay team and is the National AAU 400-meter champion.

Iowa's star men are Lincoln

Hurring, the backstroke from New Zealand who took two seconds off the pool record, lost Saturday, and Captain Dick Pennington and Ross Lucas, who each won two firsts.

The Iowa gymnasts, who whipped Chicago Illini and University of Chicago and finished second in the Midwest Gymnastics association open meet last weekend, have strong sophomores to face Minnesota, one of the few teams to defeat Iowa in recent seasons.

The wrestlers opened with a solid 20-5 win over Wisconsin last Saturday. They face a strong Colorado A&M team Saturday night, with the westerners presenting four Mountain States conference champions.

Coach Harry Hollien of the fencing team will try to strengthen his sabre squad after the 15-12 loss to Wisconsin in the first meet. Iowa won the epee and foil but lost by seven points in sabre.

No tickets remain for the Illinois basketball game Monday. It is regarded as an early key game in the conference race and a renewal of one of the liveliest rivalries in Iowa history.

Iowa City's Rossie To Fight Perrault

Bob Rossie, Iowa City boxer, who was decided by Del Flanagan Monday night in St. Paul, Minn., is scheduled to meet Jimmie Perrault of Duluth, Minn., in Duluth, Jan. 25.

Rossie rates Perrault as a "hit-and-run fighter with a good left jab."

Ameche Gets $3,212, Car in Hometown 'Day'

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP) — It was "Ameche Day", keys to the city and all in this factory town of 50,000 Wednesday as Alan (The Horse) Ameche, Wisconsin's All-America fullback, cashed in on his football career.

The big kid, who earned his nickname at Kenosha high school and went on to become the greatest ball carrier in collegiate football at Wisconsin, came home to be honored by the fans who saw him make his start. He brought with him the high school sweetheart he married, Yvonne, and their oldest son, Brian, not quite two.

The fun, in which a goody share of the townspeople took part, started with a parade headed by the Ameches aboard a fire engine. It ended with a civic banquet, attended by over 1,000 persons.

Gifts the Ameches received were many and varied. The most spectacular was the 3,212 one-dollar bills, fastened together, which Ameche and his wife reeled in from the four corners of the dining room. They represented the big fullback's yardage in 36 games for the Badgers, an NCAA all-time rushing record.

Included, too, was a 1,500-pound palomino horse, lifted to the third-floor of the Eagles club in a 2,000-pound capacity elevator.

The title to a luxuriously-fitted, pale-blue Hudson automobile was presented, top. The car, the first finished at American Motors Corporation's new Kenosha plant, was given Ameche a week ago during ceremonies at

Student Art Gallery To Open Saturday

A student art gallery, planned by a small group of students in the School of Fine Arts, will open Saturday, with a display of the paintings and drawings of Bruce Dorfman, A. Bayside, N.Y.

The gallery, in the basement of the Arts building, will present consecutive two-week shows. They will be one man, group, or theme hangings.

The group of art students proposed the idea of a student gallery to "afford art students a chance to see their work hung while still in school and to provide an opportunity for students from other SUI departments to see our work."

Six Make Up Group
The group includes: Isabel Smith, G. Dumont, N. J.; Dorfman; Jack O'Shea, G. Kansas City, Kan.; Don Kerr, G. Saginaw, Mich.; John Maakestad, G. Northfield, Minn., and Bob Carpenter, G. Jacksonville, Ill.

This group will also act as a panel to choose the work to be hung. At present they are renovating the south basement cross-corridor which will be the gallery. The renovating includes painting, installing partitions at the ends to "make it more like a room" and hanging the paintings for the first show.

The gallery will remain open to the public 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Although at first the hangings will be mainly the work of students, the sponsoring group has expressed the hope that "at some time in the future we will be able to go outside the Fine Arts school for art to be displayed and to have resident and non-art student work on exhibiting."

The students began converting the corridors into a gallery last Saturday. The Art Guild is financing the project.

The gallery will not be limited to hangings of "canvass art," but will from time to time display the work of sculptors and photographers.

The first show will be a group of semi-abstract paintings and drawings by Bruce Dorfman, opening Jan. 15. Most of Dorfman's paintings are owned by private collections in the East, and have been shipped to Iowa City for the two-week show.

Dorfman studied under Yasuo Kuniyoshi and Arnold Blanch in the Art Students League of New York City, and the Woodstock Art Student Institute in New Jersey from 1948 to 1953, before coming to SUI.

SUI Band Plans Concert

The SUI concert band, under the direction of Frederick C. Ebbs, will present a concert in the Iowa Memorial Union Jan. 19 at 8 p.m.

Chamber Elects Officers for '55

The Iowa City chamber of commerce elected officers at its annual organization meeting of the board of directors Tuesday evening.

Harry B. Dunlap, Jr., an automobile dealer, was elected president. He succeeds Dean Jones, who becomes a board member as past president.

Norman B. Shaffer was elected first vice-president, and Prof. Robert F. Ray, director of the SUI institute of public affairs, was elected second vice-president at the dinner meeting of retiring and new directors.

William J. Holland is the civic organization's new treasurer. New board members for the next three years are Allan Arneson, Ray Bywater, A. O. Kelley, Harold J. Roberts and Professor Ray.

Iowa Building Up 33 Per Cent in '54

Iowa did approximately one-third more building in 1954 than in 1953, according to the new issue of the Iowa Business Digest.

With all but December's figures in and computed, the SUI publication reports 1954 construction to be 32.1 per cent ahead of 1953.

Other 11-months comparisons of the two years show blends of shadow and light. For instance, Iowa's manufacturing employment was 7.3 per cent under that of 1953, but weekly earnings on these jobs averaged 2.5 per cent higher in 1954.

The SUI bureau of business and economic research reports another "cloud" in a two per cent dip in 1954's department store sales, but "silver linings" appear in a 7.8 per cent rise in household appliance sales and a 3.4 per cent upward movement in bank check transactions. In fact, November this year was 21 per cent stronger than the same month last year in household appliance sales and 7.6 per cent stronger in check transfers.

The 11-months figures reveal that the building of schools and other public buildings attributed most to the great 1954 upsurge in construction. Public building went up 48.7 per cent, while business construction rose 24.7 per cent and residential building climbed 10 per cent, the digest points out.

The two major articles of the January issue consider aspects of income and outgo in both the federal and state governments. SUI Economist Clark Bloom contributes "On the 'Proper' Level of Federal Expenditures" and State Comptroller Glenn D. Sarsfield is the author of "Iowa's Fiscal Situation."

GOP Legislators In Line For Key Committee Posts

DES MOINES (AP) — Speculation on appointments to important committee chairmanships occupied more than a little of the time of Iowa house members on a slow day Wednesday.

The house was at ease most of the day while preparations went forward for a joint session this afternoon for the inauguration of Leo A. Hoegh as governor and Leo Elthon as lieutenant governor.

The senate and house members and their wives were guests of Gov.-elect and Mrs. Hoegh at a "coffee" at their home Wednesday afternoon.

Although Speaker A. C. Hanson said he probably would be unable to announce appointments to standing committee until next Monday, there was frequent discussion on the probable choices for house committee chairmanships.

It is reported to have told Hanson that he felt one of the younger members should be given the appropriations chairmanship.

Ways and Means — Rep. Dewey E. Goode (R-Blomfield), chairman of that committee last time. Also mentioned was Rep. Carl H. Ringgenberg (R-Ames).

Roads Committee — Rep. Conway E. Morris (R-Dallas Center), Rep. Howard C. Buck (R-State Center). Buck headed this group two years ago but is reported to have advised Hanson that it was up to the speaker to make a change if he desired.

Tax Revision — Ringgenberg or Rep. Edward Oppedahl (R-Renwick). Ringgenberg was chairman of tax revision in 1953.

Schools — Rep. Earl A. Miller (R-Cedar Falls). He was chairman of this group two years ago.

Rules — Rep. Wendell Pendleton (R-Storm Lake). This chairmanship usually goes to the speaker pro tem who for this session is Pendleton. Rep. Vern Lisle (R-Clarinda) was chairman in 1953.

Judiciary Post — No. 1 — Rep. Frank R. Thompson (R-Guthrie Center). L. Dee Mallonee of Audubon headed this group in 1953 but he is not a member of a legislature this year.

Labor — Rep. William N. Judd (R-Clinton) was slated to chair this group before he was stricken with a heart attack Wednesday and taken to a hospital. Rep. Roy J. Smith (R-Spirit Lake) was labor chairman three years ago.

Social Security — Rep. W. C. Hendrix (R-Letts). He would succeed Rep. A. L. Mensing (R-Lowden).

Hanson said that he would reduce the number of standing committees this year from 38 to 37 by eliminating the dairy food committee and having one of the two agriculture committees handle the extra work.

Elthon To Choose

Elthon, after becoming lieutenant governor again, will name the senate standing committee memberships. He has not indicated when he will announce his selection.

Best guesses among key house members as to important house committee chairmanships included these:

Appropriations — Rep. Russell A. Patrick (R-Hawarden), Rep. G. T. Kuester (R-Grissold), who was appropriations committee chairman in the 1953 session.

$65 Netted By Thieves In Break-Ins

SPENCER (AP) — The bank, the post office and two other business places at nearby Gillett Grove were burglarized early Wednesday by thieves whose principal loot consisted of 30 safe deposit boxes.

The known cash loss in the robberies totaled only about $65, but chief concern was over the safe deposit boxes which contained bonds, abstracts and various securities.

Entry to the bank's cash safe inside the vault was not gained. About $8.50 in loose silver was taken, however. A spokesman said bank losses were "fully insured."

Places entered included the Gillett Grove office of the Farmers Trust & Savings Bank of Spencer; Stoermer's Store, the Quaker Oats elevator and the Gillett Grove Lumber Co.

Entry to the bank was gained by prying open the front door and then gaining entrance to the bank vault. Indications were that the vault combination had been manipulated.

At the post office, located in Stoermer's store, the safe was pried open but the loss was not itemized. Approximately $50 cash and some merchandise was taken from the store proper.

In the Quaker Oats elevator cash loss was $7 and grain samples were scattered about. A small amount of cash and a revolver were taken from the lumber yard. One shot was fired from the gun inside the lumber yard office.

Clay and O'Brien county officials, the State Bureau of Criminal Investigation and the FBI were investigating the case.

Gillett Grove, about 15 miles southeast of Spencer, has no light marshal.

Democrats Renew Attack On '54 Campaign 'Smears'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats Wednesday night resumed their attack on Vice President Richard Nixon for his 1954 campaign tactics even as President Eisenhower was defending his 1952 running mate by saying Nixon had never condemned the Democratic party as a whole.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler invited GOP Chairman Leonard Hall to inspect what Butler called a "chamber of smears" showing how Nixon and other Republican speakers "maligned and slandered the Democratic party and its candidates during the 1954 campaign."

Butler made public a letter to Hall saying the exhibit, together with "smear recordings put out by the Republican campaign committee," would be available for his inspection at 11 a.m. today at Democratic headquarters, or at some later time if that was not convenient.

Hall replied in a statement released to the press that he will be glad to exchange letters or visit with Butler whenever he is engaged in "more constructive" matters than an "untruthful campaign of personal abuse and vilification" against the vice president.

Earlier in the day the President, in response to news conference questions, said he admires Nixon, was loathe to believe he was guilty of any indiscretion, and suggested his critics probably were taking words out of context in hitting at Nixon.

He said he had assurances from Nixon that he had not attacked the Democratic party as a party of treason nor had he made any sweeping condemnation of the party, but was talking in the campaign about certain individual cases and the way they were handled administratively.

Good judgment rather than loyalty of these people was questioned, the President said Nixon explained.

Hall came to Nixon's defense

SUI Employee Retires After 32 Years

After more than 32 years of service to the university, Emil Soens, 624 4th ave., retired Wednesday from the refrigeration shop of the SUI physical plant.

Soens, 65, who started as a cable splicer in the SUI electrical shop, received his training as an apprentice at the Rock Island arsenal and worked for a number of years as a cable splicer for an electrical contractor in the Rock Island area.

While working for the physical plant he also did radio repair work.

"He'll be a hard man to replace, and we all hate to see him go," said Roy MacGinnis, foreman of the university electrical shop. "He was capable, faithful and well liked by university employees and townspeople alike, but we're glad to see him take a rest."

With his wife, Helen, Soens plans to vacation in Arizona in March and then return to Iowa City.

Married 35 years, the Soens have a daughter, Mrs. Elaine Knowles, living in Elgin, Ill.; another daughter, Mrs. Lorraine Rhoner, living in Iowa City, and a son, Lawrence, who is a priest at Victor.

Soens received a savings bond from his co-workers, and a 30-year service pin from the Electrical Workers union.

Firemen Battle Blaze—and Survey Damage

AN IOWA CITY FIREMAN TURNS his back to avoid the smoke pouring from a door on the south side of the Johnson County Creamery Co. warehouse during the height of a blaze that swept the structure Wednesday afternoon.

TWO FIREMEN VIEW the damaged interior of the structure Wednesday night. Here they inspect rubble at the base of the east wall. The wall, weakened during the fire, was expected to fall in at one time.

2 Witnesses Called In $20,000 Suit Against Iowa City

A jury was selected and two witnesses were called Wednesday in the $20,000 suit brought by Carol B. Smith against the city of Iowa City for personal injuries allegedly suffered from a fall on an icy street Jan. 2, 1953.

The trial is being held in the Johnson county district court with Judge Harold D. Evans presiding.

Smith, a resident of Iowa City, claimed Wednesday that the ice on which he fell was formed by water from a broken main and that his injuries have reduced his earning capacity. Smith said he can no longer do the heavy lifting necessary for a transmission mechanic.

An earlier witness, Dr. John S. Greenleaf, Iowa City, testified that he removed Smith's kidney in January, 1953, after Smith's fall. Under cross examination Greenleaf said that Smith's kidney trouble was a recent aggravation of a condition Smith had had since birth.

Also included as defendants are the Iowa Water Service Co. and Emma E. Hoppe, who owns the property at 310 S. Capitol where the water main was allegedly broken.

FRACTURES FOREARM

Bhaskara Rao, G. Bangalore, India, was listed in "good" condition Wednesday night in University hospitals. He fractured both bones of his left forearm in a fall Tuesday night when he slipped on a patch of ice near the SUI library.

SUI String Quartet, Singers To Perform For Inauguration

A faculty string quartet and 16 members of the University Chamber singers will supply the major portion of the music today for the inauguration of Leo A. Hoegh, Iowa's new governor.

The Chamber singers, directed by Stephen Hobson, choral instructor, will sing the Fred Waring arrangements of "No Man is an Island" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Preceding the vocal part of the program, a string quartet made up of faculty members of the school of music will present a few numbers. The group consists of Stuart Canin, head of violin instruction; John Ferrel, violin instructor; Hans Koebel, head of the cello instruction, and Claude Carlson, viola instructor.

WASH. (AP) — President Eisenhower sent congress his blueprint for maintaining "a military force that we can support for the many years that may be necessary to dispel the shadow of Communist threat."

Congressional leaders promised to give it careful study.

The President called for a four-year extension of the draft law, an increase in pay and allowances for the "experienced hard core" of regular fighting men, and a modified form of compulsory military training to create a powerful reserve of young men ready for instant mobilization.

Pay Increases

Pay increases, ranging up to more than 20 per cent, would go only to men serving longer than the minimum time on active duty—three years for officers and two for enlisted men.

"We are losing too many men trained in leadership and technical skills—the experienced hard core of a modern fighting force," the President said.

Hazards Increase

Asserting that the atomic jet age has "drawn our services into new dimensions of hazard and uncertainty," the President also proposed extra, hazardous duty pay for airmen, submariners, paratroopers, demolition crews, deep sea divers and certain other specialists. He did not go into details on the amounts.

He also urged special allowances to men forced to leave their families, better medical care and housing for service families and other benefits.
