Hoegh Asks $1 Million More For SUI

French Cabinet's Future Rides on Vote Today

$12,530,086
Raised to $13,557,750

PARIS (AP) — Premier Pierre Mendes-France, facing what appeared to be almost certain defeat, challenged the French National assembly Thursday night to approve his policy in North Africa or throw him out.

The Assembly will vote on the question of confidence in the government today.

Although the vote would be on Mendes-France's policy of negotiating for democratic reforms to give North Africans more say in their government and undercut the nationalistic terror campaign there, many deputies hoped for his fall because he has put on pressure for the rearmament of West Germany.

Although the premier, heading France's 20th government in a little over 10 years since liberation, appealed Thursday night "with all my force and conviction" for the support of the assembly, he appeared not to have helped his cause.

The fate of the government has been extremely doubtful for a week because many deputies have grown disgruntled. But it seemed to have been sealed Thursday afternoon when former premier Rene Mayer broke with Mendes-France and came out against the government.

Right Wing Leader

Mayer is the leader of the right wing of the Radical Socialists, and Mendes-France is a spokesman for the left wing of the same party.

Many deputies expected 20 or 30 members of the party, which has 76 seats in the assembly, would follow Mayer. If they did, Mendes-France, premier just a little over seven months, would be out.

He declared Thursday night he would go ahead with his policies of negotiating with North African nationalists to relax tension there "even if it means reprisals and vengeance" from his political enemies.

He told the deputies only two policies were possible in Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco. One, he said, was his policy of undertaking reforms in the direction of self-government and relaxing the tensions with North African nationalists who have been carrying on terroristic activities for years.

Alternate Policy

The alternate policy, he said, was one of police repression to put down all violence and discontent.

He told the assembly he had thoroughly explained his policy on three previous debates and won its consent. There has been no development since the last debate on Dec. 11, he declared, and hence no reason for the Assembly to change its mind now.

Boy Dies After Beating

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A plucky 5-year-old boy, beaten, stomped and burned, died Thursday of multiple injuries which a frail, childless aunt said she administered because the boy "was possessed of the devil."

The aunt, Mrs. Virginia Thompson, 29, and her husband, Lawrence, 32-year-old unemployed oil field worker, were charged with murder at Pauls Valley, Okla., the victim's home. Prosecutors said they would seek the death penalty for Mrs. Thompson in the fatal beating of blond Lloyd George Stanley Jr.

Lloyd and a 3-year-old brother, James Edward, hospitalized after less serious beating, had been in the care of the Thompsons along with a sister since the parents became estranged in November.

Mrs. Thompson, of Whitehead, Okla., near Pauls Valley, admitted whipping James and abusing Lloyd over a two-week period before their rescue nine days ago. She said Lloyd "bothered us and wouldn't eat."

The Thompsons pleaded innocent and were returned to Garvin county jail pending preliminary hearing Feb. 10.

Princess Margaret Gets Royal Welcome

PRINCESS MARGARET EXTENDS HER HAND in greeting as a woman curtsies during the official reception at City Hall, Port of Spain, Trinidad, Thursday. Mayor John Hutchinson stands by to make presentations. A crowd of about 80,000 turned out to see and hear the princess as she made an hour tour of the city's colorful streets.

Nationalist Planes Attack Red Ships

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Nationalist warplanes destroyed two Communist ships Thursday night and probably sank two others north of the Tachens, official reports said Friday.

Three waves of bombers later pounded Yikiangshan island with excellent results, the reports added.

The two vessels destroyed were hit near Nantien island 30 miles north of the Tachens, the Nationalists said. Ninety minutes later, a second flight of Nationalist planes bombed two Communist vessels six miles southeast of Tungchi island, causing explosions and fires, the reports said.

Tungchi is 14 miles north of the Tachens, which are 200 miles north of Formosa.

The reports said all planes returned to base.

Withdrawal Menaced

A Nationalist withdrawal from the menaced Tachens appeared to be snaggled Friday in diplomatic maneuvering far from this area.

The United States was reluctant to give a clear-cut guarantee to help protect Matsu and Quemoy, the most important Nationalist offshore islands, after a Tachen withdrawal.

No Activity

For the second straight day no Communist activity was reported in the Tachen area except for the usual shuttling of supply ships.

Nationalist officials discounted some published reports that the Red ships were an invasion fleet.

The Nationalists may ask to reconsider the whole Tachen question if the United States gives no guarantee for Matsu and Quemoy.

Nationalist quarters indicated there was no agreement reached at a long meeting Wednesday between President Chiang Kai-shek and U.S. Ambassador Karl L. Rankin. They were believed to have discussed the wording of a pronouncement on the Tachens issue.

Chiang's Position

The Nationalists position appeared to be that Chiang did not think he could afford to pull out of the Tachens without an open U.S. assurance of help in defending Quemoy and Matsu. Another shipload of refugees was due in from the Tachens, but so far the civilian withdrawal is only a dribble. There are 15,000 civilians on the islands.

The U.S. 7th Fleet was still somewhere around Formosa waiting orders to help in any withdrawal of the 15,000-man garrison.

U.S. Commander

Gen. Earle E. Partridge, commander of U.S. Far East Air Forces, flew in from Tokyo Wednesday and met with Chiang and Gen. Wang Shu-ming, head of the Nationalist air force.

U.S. Sabrejets from Okinawa and the Philippines are based on Formosa now and flying patrols over Formosa strait.

TOKYO (Friday) (AP) — Red China today rejected the United Nations invitation to participate in talks on a cease-fire for Formosa strait.

Premier Chou En-lai informed the UN he will not send a spokesman to New York unless Nationalist China is ousted from the UN Security Council. And in any case, Chou said, he would send a representative only to discuss Soviet charges that the United States is guilty of aggression against China.

Votes in the UN have shown it is not prepared to pay such a price for Red China's participation in discussions. Only last Monday the Security Council overwhelmingly voted down a Soviet demand that Chiang Kai-shek's ambassador be excluded from the Formosa debate.

Two Questions

Two questions are before the council:

1. A New Zealand proposal that the UN end hostilities on certain islands off the Chinese mainland. This refers to the Tachens and other islands in Formosa strait, but not to Formosa itself.
2. A Soviet proposal which charges the United States with aggression against China and calls for withdrawal of all U.S. forces from the China area.

U.S. Deplors

The U.S. Thursday night deplored Red China's rejection of the bid to United Nations cease-fire talks as "further flouting" of the UN.

A state department spokesman, press officer Henry Cuydam, announced that the U.S. will consult with other members of the UN Security Council about a Council meeting to consider the Red Chinese turnaround.

Police Check Hotel Death's Odd Details

BALTIMORE (AP) — Police are checking into the death here of a New Yorker who apparently called his wife 17 minutes after a telegram was sent announcing he was dead.

The body of a man who registered as Dr. Edward James Phillips was found Wednesday afternoon sprawled across the bed in a room of the Lord Baltimore hotel.

Hotel officials found the body after getting a call from Dr. Erna Gutenstein, a New York dentist.

She said she had been invited to a testimonial dinner Wednesday night in New York for Phillips but Wednesday morning received a telegram from Baltimore saying:

"It is with sincere regret that I must inform you that dinner will be canceled Wednesday evening due to sudden death of Edward James Phillips from heart attack in Baltimore."

The wire was signed "Robert Ritter."

An autopsy late Thursday showed Phillips died of "barbiturate poisoning," instead of a heart attack as previously had been suspected.

Western Union records showed the telegram originated at a pay station in the hotel lobby at 12:25 a.m. Wednesday.

Hotel records showed Phillips called his wife in New York from his room at 12:42 a.m.

L. Klemmick reported Mrs. Phillips said her husband called her to tell her that the testimonial dinner might have to be canceled because of the death of the guest speaker.

Dr. Gutenstein said it was her understanding a retired army colonel, Robert Ritter, was to be guest speaker.

She also said she had known Phillips and his wife about two years and Phillips was a brigadier general in the army stationed at Ft. Jay in New York harbor. No such officer is listed or known by officials at either Ft. Jay or the Pentagon in Washington. New York medical directories list no Dr. Edward James Phillips.

Furthermore the Waldorf-Astoria dinner to which both the telegram and the telephone call referred apparently was not even scheduled.

Hoegh Requests Largest Budget

The biggest state budget in Iowa's history, with expenditures totaling $146 million a year, was requested Thursday by Gov. Leo A. Hoegh.

The $30 million increase in the budget represents $23 million more than present appropriations. But Hoegh said the $146 million budget could be reduced by one million dollars a year through governmental reorganization and by tightening the homestead credit law.

The biggest portion of the added expense would be about $19 million more a year slated for education.

Speaking before a joint session of the house and senate, the governor said that $20 million of the $30 million increase requested could be raised by extending the present two per cent sales tax to cover all services excluding health services.

If such a tax were put into operation it might include such services as television and radio repairs, haircuts, home repairs and other services.

Hoegh also recommended applying the sales and use tax to beer and cigars, to other items not already taxed, to property used in interstate commerce and extending the income tax to include capital gains.

He said increased revenue could be raised by changes in the insurance law, by plugging loopholes in the income and sales tax collections and by giving the general fund the five per cent of gross liquor sales revenue now used to offset veterans' property tax exemptions.

In explaining the largest increase in the budget which was for education, Hoegh said, "The future prosperity of Iowa to a great extent depends upon our investment in education today. The number of students in our schools and state supported colleges and university is expanding at an unprecedented rate."

That's The Long And Short Of It

CHICAGO (AP) — A short robber with a small caliber revolver and a tall robber with a large caliber revolver staged a holdup Thursday. They took $800 from the Lad and Dad store.

A more than one million dollar increase in SUI's annual budget was recommended by Gov. Leo Hoegh Thursday before the Iowa legislature.

The SUI budget recommended by the governor totals $13,557,750 as compared to the previous budget of $12,530,086.

The increase recommended by Hoegh is still approximately one million dollars short of the budget requested for the university by the state board of education. The board requested annual appropriations for SUI totaling $14,424,755.

A breakdown of the budget for SUI as recommended by Hoegh is at left.

The biggest increase of $464,838 was recommended for the general University which Hoegh recommended to receive $8,391,038 as compared to the previous budget of $7,826,200.

The second largest recommended increase of $249,522 was for the University hospital. Its previous budget was $3,832,700 as compared to Hoegh's present recommendation for $4,082,222. Hoegh requested an increase in the Psychopathic hospital budget by $52,000; the bacteriology laboratory by $20,640 and the Hospital School for Handicapped Children by $141,650.

The University Lakeside laboratory located at Okoboji lake in Dickinson county was the only department of the University to receive a cutback in Hoegh's recommendations. He slashed the Lakeside budget from $3,300 to $3,000.

These recommendations by Hoegh are for operating expenses, replacement of equipment, alterations and for repairs. The amount recommended by the governor for capital improvements at SUI is not yet available.

The board of education has requested $4,340,000 for University capital improvements and $1,221,400 for Oakdale sanatorium.

Board Suggests School Aid Limit

DES MOINES (AP) — The executive board of the Iowa State Education association Thursday recommended that the association "hold to a program of approximately $35 million in state aid to schools."

State aid to schools now totals approximately $19 million.

The board further recommended that the plan proposed by the new State Board of Public Instruction for distribution of these funds be followed.

Union Recreation Area To Open Feb. 14

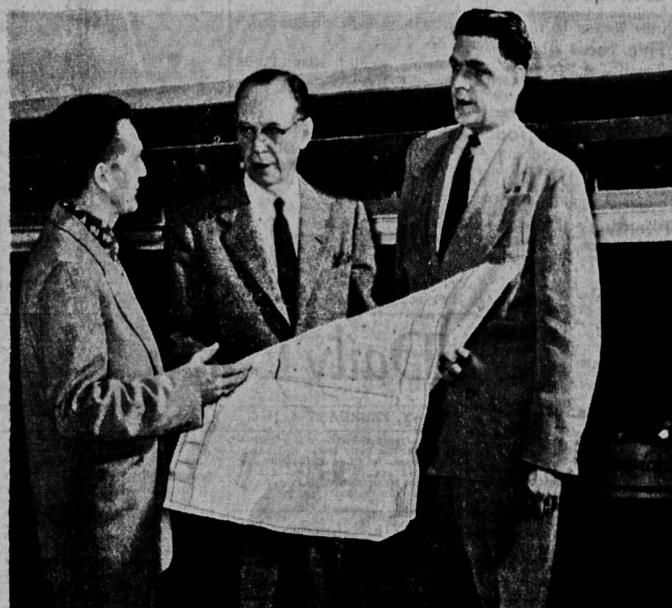

The first part of the new addition to the SUI Memorial Union will open Feb. 14, providing students with 16 bowling alleys, 10 billiard and four ping-pong tables for after-class recreation and exercise.

According to Union Director Earl E. Harper, the new facilities could be used by as many as 1,000 students daily, if each were to use them an average of one hour apiece. SUI will be the fourth Big Ten school to provide comparable bowling facilities for its students, Harper said.

Financed wholly through student fees and income from such union operations as the cafeteria and soda fountain, the 187 by 205-foot, two story addition will also house a large lounge, informal rumpus room, soda fountain and snack bar, music room, library, offices and meeting rooms.

These facilities are expected to be ready for use in April, when the addition will be formally dedicated.

Although the new music room will be located on the floor above the bowling alley, sounds of falling timber will not disturb the music lovers, Harper said. Both through design and heavy insulation, the alley's ridge-surfaced ceiling is expected to trap most noise within the lower floor.

ROBERT FROESCHLE, left, newly appointed manager of the recreational area, confers with Earl E. Harper, center, SUI Union director, and George Stevens, right, assistant Union director, about the new 16 lane bowling alley's lighting arrangement.

Thank You, Governor —

Gov. Leo Hoegh's askings in his budget message Thursday undoubtedly will run up against strong opposition in the legislature.

How much, no one knows. However, we hardly think legislators can disagree with his asking for SUI.

The State Board of Education asked $9,061,538 for SUI and the governor, for reasons as yet unexplained, cut this to $8,391,038. SUI is now operating on $7,187,000.

An additional $4,340,000 was asked by Hoegh and the Board for capital improvements.

The governor's emphasis upon education is pointed up by looking at the difference of what the board asked and what Hoegh is asking. The governor, contrary to those in the past years, cut the board's figure very little.

However, we must point out here that the board's figure was not "padded." Usually, a higher figure is presented with the understanding that it will be cut a little. But not this time. The board said this is what we need, not what we desire.

Here is a partial list of proposed increased appropriations.

1. New mortuary science program.
2. Operating funds for new buildings.
3. Salary and wage adjustments.
4. Operating funds for the third addition to the Iowa Memorial Union.
5. Research for the graduate college.
6. Medical research.
7. Additional staff.

The $4,340,000 asked for capital improvements breaks down this way:

1. Television — no amount listed.
2. To adapt and equip Eastlawn for music—$100,000.
3. Rehabilitation of Macbride auditorium — $110,000.
4. Laundry (building and equipment) — $150,000.
5. Law center building and equipment — $500,000.
6. Utilities — $950,000.
7. Pharmacy (building and equipment) — $1,200,000.
8. Library (additions and equipment)—$1,200,000.
9. Remodeling vacated space and land purchases within campus boundaries — $100,000.
10. Lakeside laboratory improvements — $30,000.

The governor could have asked for a smaller SUI appropriation and made a lot of friends in the state. There are many who think the state institution is receiving too much anyway.

But, we are thankful that the governor is a friend of education and one who keeps his eye on the educational institutions as the key to a more progressive Iowa.

The money asked by the governor will expand the facilities of SUI to better serve the state's needs.

Hopeful Signs—

Encouraging word comes from Iowa City councilmen who are making plans, as yet only in the discussion stage, about erecting a combination community center and city hall.

A big "if," upon which hinges the success of the project is the feelings of Iowa City citizens who probably will be asked to vote on a bond issue to finance construction of the building.

Last fall, a bond issue of $330,000 to finance construction of a new city hall failed to receive a 60 per cent margin from Iowa City voters.

Now, Iowa City is without the facilities of a community center since the fire last Friday.

The decision not to go ahead with plans for a new building would be disastrous. The decision whether Iowa City builds a combination center and city hall, will in no small way determine whether Iowa City will remain a small city or continue to grow.

The old community center was the hub of many activities for youths as well as adults. Its value in community spirit and as a cohesive force made it an invaluable asset.

We feel that the citizens of Iowa City will realize the need for a community center as well as the need for more adequate quarters for city offices.

We feel confident that Iowa City will back the council all the way in its plan to restore the city with a building which will do itself proud.

Interpreting the News—

Reds Still Value UN Seat

By J. M. Roberts

Associated Press News Analyst

Red China's refusal to send representatives to the United Nations does not necessarily close the door on further negotiations to stop the fighting around Formosa.

It does establish United Nations membership as an important goal for the Peiping regime. Heretofore the value placed on membership has not been fully revealed.

Until very recently the Reds had seemed to pay little attention to relations with the non-Communist world, even with Britain which had recognized them diplomatically.

The demands for membership had come mostly from Russia and there was some speculation that she might have her tongue in her cheek.

Now the Reds say flatly that the UN means nothing as long as the Nationalists are members while the rulers of the mainland are not.

End Warlike Moves The United States says they will not be admitted until they stop throwing their military weight around. That means not only an end to warlike moves against Formosa, but also to the type of thing they did in Indochina and might attempt elsewhere.

It seems now that some attempt must be made to negotiate with the Reds outside the United Nations. It also seems time for a reappraisal of the United States stand about membership.

That is not to say that the policy should be changed. But if the granting of membership has become an alternative to war, then its relationship to the entire picture takes on added significance. Many would call it appeasement.

Won't Change Goals An argument against it can be well sustained by the fact that no appeasement is going to change the goals of the Communists. But, if it meets even temporarily the problem of today's prospect of war, nobody can afford to be intransigent about it.

This column suggested in 1949 that the problem might be met by recognition of two Chinas, an idea at which the UN delegates of the leading nations scoffed but which, faced with an actual war threat, they are now considering. Very serious difficulties would be involved, since the United States can hardly throw over the Nationalists by ousting them from the Security Council, and Peiping would not be satisfied with anything less than a seat there. There couldn't be two Chinas on the Security Council.

The most realistic next step

U.S. System Tips Off Foes

There are occasions when the American political system, which frequently requires the executive branch to be more specific about its intentions than is good for its relations with other countries, actually produces information of benefit to an enemy.

One of the things the Eisenhower administration has been trying to do is to retain its flexibility in dealing with the Far Eastern situation. It is trying to go as far as necessary in warning the Chinese Reds without tying itself to too many automatic actions in the future.

This time, however, the cause of eventual lessening of the tension over Formosa may be served by the senate-debate which forced clarification of the preventive war issue.

Red propaganda has been playing that angle, trying to make it appear the United States, instead of merely intending to defend Formosa, is preparing warlike positions. This occurred before the subject was raised in the senate.

The explanation that no such idea is entertained — even that retaliation against the Chinese mainland is still not to be an automatic reaction by field commanders but remains strictly under presidential authority — was which the United States can take to join with the British in obtaining the help of Soviet Russia. Some close observers feel that Moscow is concerned over the tough line that Peiping is taking, and that her intervention against war is quite possible. Without Russian military support, the Reds almost certainly would have to fall back into a less active attitude.

It would have been better, of course, for the cause of a unified front, if the doubtful senators could have obtained publication of the information without first making it a point of open attack.

There has never been any great danger that Chiang Kai-shek or Syngman Rhee, or both, would draw the United States into war against her will. They are too dependent, and even their combined forces would soon stop rolling if they sent them against the Reds without prior guarantees that the United States would back them up.

One of the major points in the present American position, however, is that Formosa and South Korea do have forces in being, which, if the Reds made a break demanding American intervention, could make important contributions.

The British government's support of the American stand, though not without strong opposition in Parliament, also is highly important to the new position. Although there is no commitment for any participation, the end of the long-time British tolerance of Red China's actions would add considerably to the deterring powers of the Eisenhower program.

Nation Endangered By Scientist Shortage

By Donald A. Quarles, Assistant Secretary of Defense

The critical shortage of engineers and scientists in America is potentially a greater threat to our national security than are any weapons known to be in the arsenals of aggressor nations. Since 1950, there has been a steady decrease in the number of technical graduates from U.S. schools which has now leveled off at less than half the 1950 figure. This alarming decline has occurred at a time when advances in technology have imposed mounting requirements for technical personnel in industry and national defense.

Aviation Requirements Increase The need for engineers, scientists and technicians has been particularly serious in aviation, where research and development demands have multiplied at an almost unbelievable rate, and where design and production have become infinitely complex operations.

Because the aircraft industry is the backbone of our air power, the present and prospective future shortages of skilled personnel in this industry constitute a grave threat to our continuing air leadership.

As a matter of national policy, the United States has embarked upon an air power program designed to assure qualitative superiority over an indefinite period of years. Reliance will be placed upon our possession of better air power, more effective air power, rather than upon vast numbers of aircraft.

Face Major Problems It is obvious that this effort

Early Drug Mentioned in Bible, Now A Cosmetic

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — One of man's first drugs, mentioned in the Bible, is being duplicated or bettered by chemical research.

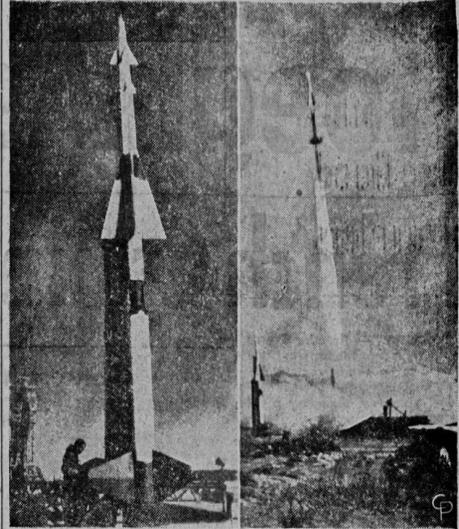

It is gum tragacanth, a sap from a bush in the Middle East. Humans once used it as a throat lozenge, to ease scratchy throat or perhaps the sore throat of the old common cold.

It's no longer used as a medicine, but you probably have used it in a toothpaste, skin cream or other cosmetic. For this gum can thicken water to make pastes or jellies out of watery chemical mixtures.

Now scientists have produced a series of amazing synthetic gums to do a host of important but little-known duties in your everyday products. These synthetics to replace natural gums or secretions from trees, roots and vines stemmed from discovery of a process to make acrylic acid, which can attract and hold large volumes of water together.

Gum tragacanth, is imported from the Middle East at a cost of about $2.75 a pound. Natives collect it by injuring the tragacanth bush, allowing sap to well forth to close the wound, then later pick off the buds of sap.

A lot of this gum is used in toothpastes and cosmetics. It first has to be sterilized, and it varies in quality. The synthetic gum is free of these handicaps. It will even jell materials containing a little salt.

ONE OF THE RECENT ADVANCES in weapons is the Nike, shown at left. The guided missile with booster rocket is in launching position. At right, the Nike is being launched. The shortage of engineers and scientists will hinder the development of inventions similar to the Nike, and is a major problem facing the nation.

to maintain our qualitative superiority in the air will require the efforts of tremendous numbers of scientists and engineers. We face many problems involved in the design and production of aircraft which will, in the not too distant future, fly and fight at multiples of the speed of sound.

There are problems of heat, of control, of materials, of electronics and many others. As yet, we have barely started the exploration of the aeronautical sciences.

The only way we can find the answers to these knotty problems is to assure that America has adequate numbers of scientific and engineering personnel, and that their energies are devoted to this end.

Today we have little justification for complacency regarding our relative capabilities as compared with those of Russia. We must face the fact that technological advantages which we so long enjoyed could be lost through apathy or through lack of long-range planning designed to meet our scientific needs. The element of time, which favored us in the past emergencies by giving us many months to mobilize our resources and train our personnel, already has been nullified by the ability of enemy nations to launch all-out attacks against our homeland without warning.

Reports on the Soviet Union indicate that the Reds are exerting intensive efforts to channel the interests of Communist youth toward science and engineering. Elementary and secondary schools stress science and mathematics. Incentives are provided for advanced students in engineering and science; and liberal rewards are given to their working scientists and engineers.

It has been estimated that this year the Russians will graduate approximately 50,000 engineers more than double the number who will receive degrees from U.S. colleges and universities. An estimated additional 50,000 Russians will be graduated as sub-professional engineers, and trained and highly qualified technicians.

New Suits Are Good Travelers

It's not the trend — it's the fashion. The fashion is the "Traveling Suit" which has been growing in importance as annual travel statistics mount, soar and swell.

Today more people are traveling more months of the year than at any previous time in America's wanderlust history.

Recent surveys show that 90 per cent of the women shoppers today eye their fashion purchases for their travel potential. Hence the phenomenal growth of the traveling suits.

Prime among the examples for 1955 is the Palm Beach suit. These suits were conceived as traveling suits, and really deserve the name. Their fabric, Palm Beach cloth, was especially woven to be cool for warm weather, to be lightweight and comfortable in coat climates, and to resist wrinkles, wilting and signs of wear.

The styling is fresh and new, soft and feminine, and as befits a seasoned traveller, ready to make a big impression at any hour of the day or night.

The suits are available in the new, long-look — long jackets with slender skirts.

Man, That's a Lot Of Flapjacks

EL DORADO, Kan. (AP)—The Junior Chamber of Commerce has a hearty respect for its fellow citizens' pancake appetites and some money for youth work.

The JayCees' pancake sale resulted in consumption of enough flapjacks, they report, that stacked up they'd equal the height of a 25-story building.

Busy Housemother's Specialty, Menu Plans

A housemother who began her duties as a "sub" last Easter is completing her first year at the Alpha Delta Pi sorority house. Mrs. William Bauer, an Iowa City resident for many years, enjoys her interesting job but also confesses that it's "a very busy life."

Before she became housemother, however, Mrs. Bauer also led an active life. She received her grade and high school education in Iowa City and later attended SU where she met her husband, a 1933 graduate of the college of medicine. Her three children grew up in Iowa City and all are SU graduates.

Children

William, the oldest, received his PhD in hydraulic engineering with highest distinction and is employed by an engineering firm in Chicago. He is married and has three children. James is a 1950 graduate of the SU college of medicine and is a resident physician in radiology at Veteran's hospital. He also is married and has three children. Joanne, a 1954 graduate, is on the nursing staff of University hospitals.

At the Alpha Delta Pi house, Mrs. Bauer is usually busiest when she is planning menus for social activities, which include rushing parties, holiday dinners, football open house and special teas. Menu planning and ordering is done in advance by Mrs. Bauer who considers food preferences of the girls and also the work schedule of the cook.

"You really have to keep everyone happy," Mrs. Bauer admitted with a smile.

Specialty

Salads and desserts are a specialty for the busy housemother who is already preparing for Easter and Mother's Day events. During exam week Mrs. Bauer has planned for "midnight snacks" to be fixed for the girls who will be up late studying.

Besides visiting her many friends in Iowa City, Mrs. Bauer participates in Congregational church activities. Her special campus interests are the monthly meetings of the Chaperones club and football and basketball. She attributes her interest in these sports to the "spouse" ticket given to her by the sorority. Mrs. Bauer attends most of the home games with the girls but enjoys football slightly more than basketball. She also knits and likes to play bridge.

"My only real hobbies," Mrs. Bauer smiled, "are my six adorable grandchildren."

Ham Loaf Dinner

Tempting and nutritious food is an asset to every menu and Mrs. Bauer's ham loaf is a favorite at the Alpha Delta Pi house. The ham loaf recipe is Mrs. Bauer's own and is served with twice baked potatoes, butter broccoli, waldorf salad, rolls, coffee or milk and ice cream meringues with chocolate sauce.

"I can usually be found in the kitchen just before dinner arranging a salad which doesn't look just right," added Mrs. Bauer.

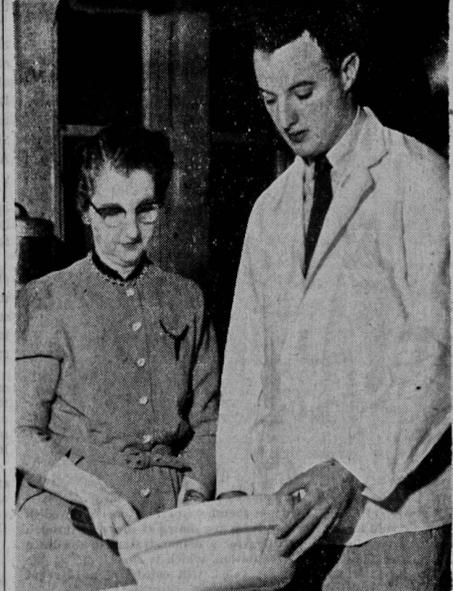

Here is Mrs. Bauer's ham loaf recipe:

2 lbs. lean pork and 1 lb. smoked ham ground together. Add 3/4 cup milk, 2 eggs, dash of pepper and 1 cup bread crumbs; 1/2 cup minced celery leaves (fresh) and 1 tsp. onion juice may also be added for extra flavor.

Mix ingredients and pour over loaf 3/4 cup bread crumbs which have been soaking in cup of tomato juice and 1 tsp. sugar. Bake slowly for two hours at 325 degrees. Do not overbake. Serves ten to twelve.

Speedy Spot Remover, Scrub with A Comb

A tricky way to remove stains when you're washing clothes is to apply soapsuds to the stain, fold the wet fabric over your first two fingers and rub the spot briskly across the flat side of a comb. This is like using a miniature washboard and will chase the spot away quickly.

MIXING UP THE INGREDIENTS for a ham loaf are Mrs. William Bauer, Alpha Delta Pi housemother, and Tom Laughlin, A4, Des Moines. Mrs. Bauer plans all menus for the meals and parties which the sorority has, and orders all food. Although her housemother's duties keep her busy, Mrs. Bauer finds time to enjoy an active social life including attending SU sports events and the monthly meetings of the Chaperones club.

Fish Chowder—Make It New England Style

You don't have to be sitting in old Arundel, Maine, listening to a cold northeaster, to appreciate a hot fish chowder.

This dish, a symbol of warmth and satisfaction to Maine lobstermen, can be made easily in your own kitchen. Make it New England style, with milk, vary it according to this recipe and use whatever flaked fish is in good supply. Serve it hot for lunch—one of these cold, windy days.

FISH CHOWDER

1/4 lb. salt pork, diced
1/4 cup finely chopped onions
2 tbs. flour
1 cup water drained from vegetables
3 cups milk
2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1/2 cup diced, cooked potatoes
1 cup peas and diced carrots, cooked
1/2 lb. flaked cooked fish
1 cup oven-popped rice cereal

Cook salt pork in frying pan until brown and crisp. Lift from drippings and drain, saving drippings. Measure 3 tbs. drippings into soup kettle; add onions and cook until tender. Stir in flour to make a paste. Add vegetable liquid and milk slowly, stirring constantly; cook until thickened, stirring occasionally. Stir in seasonings, vegetables and fish. Cook gently about 15 minutes.

Combine rice cereal with 1 tbs. salt pork drippings; heat thoroughly. Combine with salt pork cubes. Serve hot chowder in heated bowls; sprinkle with cereal mixture.

The recipe makes about 6 servings, about 1 cup each.

Tips to Improve Portraits Suggestions From Models

By Vivian Brown

NEW YORK (AP) — If you plan to give that man in your life your portrait for Valentine's Day, be sure it looks like you before you present him with it. One way you can get a good resemblance is to observe a few makeup pointers. Another way is to avoid trying to look like your favorite movie star.

There are tricks to the photography trade as any Hollywood makeup man or photographic model will tell you. The important thing is to emphasize your best points and play down minor flaws which are likely to seem major when harsh lights and shadows capture your image.

Foundation Cream

One thing to keep in mind is that you use a dark foundation cream to play down a feature and lighter cream to play it up. This is particularly important in the case of a large nose or too chubby face which can be emphasized out of all proportion in a photograph.

Here are some pointers that might help you look better in a photograph:

A too-large nose might be made to look smaller by using a light foundation cream down the bridge of the nose and a darker cream around the surrounding area. This must be blended in perfectly before powder is applied. (Powder should be at least a shade darker than darkest foundation cream.)

Small Nose

A small nose may be made to look larger by using the light foundation cream overall and using a darker foundation cream over the rest of the face.

A chubby face might be made to appear slimmer by using darker foundation cream at the outside of the face at the cheekbone area and using a lighter foundation cream below the chin and up around the nose area.

If your lips usually photograph too large, you might create an illusion of smallness by

Town Can Spend Money, It Doesn't

MONTEPELLIER, Vt. (AP) — Vermonters traditionally are self-reliant, and in economic independence the 132 citizens of Brookline are tops.

Social Welfare Commissioner W. Arthur Simpson has reported not a cent of last year's $5,220,653.83 state welfare expenditures to children, aged, blind or disabled went to Brookline's residents.

Brookline was the only community of the state's 245 with such a record.

EAT PROTEIN

Nutritionists recommend that some animal protein be included in each meal. The following foods give about the same amount of animal protein: 1/2 cup cottage cheese; 3 ounces cheddar cheese; 2 1/4 cups milk; 3 ounces of cooked lean meat, poultry or fish; 3 medium-sized eggs.

AVOID MELTED BUTTER

When you are making sandwiches for the lunch box, never use melted butter for spreading the bread before adding the spread. Melted butter has a tendency to make the bread soggy; use creamed butter or margarine instead.

using your dark foundation cream over the face and lip area. After powdering, draw in a smaller lip line with your lipstick brush. Fill in the lip with your lipstick.

Eyebrows

If your eyebrows are dark and heavy, do not use eyebrow pencil at all. Be sure to tweeze them properly. One way to get the proper width between the nose area is to hold a pencil straight up from the outside of your nostril to your eyebrow. Take out all hair at the outside of the pencil between eyebrows.

If eyebrows are thin, you can emphasize them with a brown (never black) eye pencil. Use feather-like strokes to sketch in the brow to proper fullness. Tweeze out lashes below the brow, but never above at the arch.

Eyes

You can emphasize your eyes with an eye liner but use it carefully or results will not be good. Take the pencil with a good point and work a light line in along the lower lashes, extending the line out at the corner about one-quarter of an inch. Line the upper lid to the corner.

Be sure to do your makeup in good bright light that will be similar to that used at the studio.

Never use rouge unless you strive for hollows in your cheeks.

A sophisticated hairdo is usually not so flattering as the more casual one which is easier for the photographer to highlight.

Voigts Resigns As Northwestern Grid Coach

Contract Had 20 Months Remaining

By Jerry Liska
EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Bob Voigts, the "old grad" who tried to make good for eight seasons, resigned Thursday as Northwestern's head football coach. The name of another ex-Northwestern star, Otto Graham, immediately bobbed up as Voigts' successor.

Ranking behind only Illinois' Ray Elliot in point of Big Ten coaching service, the 39-year-old Voigts said that because of criticism of his coaching he was quitting "for the good of the university."

His contract was to expire in September, 1956.

Club Criticizes
The criticism came from Northwestern's lettermen group, the "N" club, which as long as a month ago began hunting for Voigts' scalp. One "N" club officer had predicted then "We'll have a new coach by spring football practice."

Voigts' eight-season stay at Northwestern is matched in the Big Ten only by Stu Holcomb at Purdue, and surpassed by Illinois' Elliot, who has been boss since 1942.

It was reported that the "N" club had boosted Voigts for the Dartmouth coaching job, now filled, to ease his resignation.

Although Voigts' teams had a 33-39-1 record since he succeeded his former coach, Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf, in 1947, the Wildcats won only 1 of their last 12 Big Ten games.

Director "Surprised"
Athletic Director Ted Payeur said he was surprised by Voigts' resignation and would have to begin a search for a successor.

It was known, however, that the "N" club is anxious to have Voigts' job presented to Graham, a Northwestern product who became a brilliant pro star quarterback for the Cleveland Browns.

Graham announced his retirement as a player after a sensational performance in guiding the Browns to a National Football League title over the Detroit Lions last December.

Northwestern Player
Voigts made his collegiate debut as a Northwestern tackle under Waldorf in the 1936 Wildcat team which won the school's first undisputed Big Ten title.

The high point in Voigts' career came with his 1948 team which fashioned an 8-2 record and then defeated California in the Rose Bowl 20-14.

He had two other winning seasons, in 1950 with a 6-3 mark and 1951 with 5-4. In 1952, the Wildcats finished with 2-6-1; in 1953 with 3-6, and last season with 2-7.

Yale, Army To Send Track Teams Abroad

LONDON (AP)—Yale University and the U.S. Military Academy will send a combined team of 28 track and field men to compete against Oxford and Cambridge in London June 11.

It will be a standard 14-event dual meet, British officials announced Thursday.

BOB VOIGTS, Northwestern university's head football coach, says goodbye as he clears his desk after announcing his resignation. Voigts, who succeeded Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf in 1947, said he resigned because of criticism of his coaching and that he was quitting "for the good of the university."

Tests Reveal Baseball Flaws

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Don't blame a hitter if he gets a three-bagger instead of a home run—the difference might be in the ball he tried to slug out of the park.

That is the view of Arthur (Dynie) Mansfield, University of Wisconsin baseball coach, and Robert Francis, professor of physical education at Wisconsin, who recently completed a two-year scientific study on official major league baseballs.

The study was made for the American association of College Baseball Coaches. Mansfield and Francis reported their findings Thursday.

Need Standardization
"Our findings show there should be standardized specifications for baseballs designated as official," they pointed out.

"Only two rules exist now. These apply to size and weight, and a large percentage of the balls we tested do not even meet these requirements. There have been no rule changes regarding official ball specifications since 1872."

Wrong Size
Thirty-nine of 86 baseballs were found too large and one too small. Of 404 balls weighed, 25 were either too light or too heavy.

Mansfield and Francis said there were no regulations relating to resiliency, thickness or strength of leather cover, height of stitching, character of wool yarn used or rebounding performance.

The experts made the following recommendations:

Specifications should be set for acceptable breaking limit strength of covers.

Cover Thickness
Further study on effect of cover thickness on rebounding or hitting performance of the balls. Select standards for twist characteristics of yarn used.

Weight and size standards should be rigidly enforced.

Specifications for selection and curing of leather should be established to insure uniformity in resistive qualities and toughness.

A study should be made of seam rise and width, and effect on amount of "stuff" a pitcher can put on the ball and variations in "hop" when the ball rebounds from the ground.

more height." Hank Iba, veteran coach at Oklahoma A&M, said elevator shoes, while adding height, are impractical.

"It seems the shoes would make a boy clumsy," said Iba. "A boy would have to be awfully careful or he'd sprain his ankles."

This is not the first time Elliott had broken into the spotlight with an experiment.

A couple of years ago he got fed up reading of the scoring exploits of Bevo Francis of Rio Grande, and set out to prove any man could score like that given weak opposition and full emphasis on offense.

So he brought in a Chapman college jayvee team, beat them, 208-82, and let one of his players, John Barber, score 188 points.

Another time he equipped his men with portable oxygen tanks on the floor to facilitate breathing.

Cage Star Denies Asking Reinstatement

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—A first-string guard on the University of Kentucky's top ranked basketball team, who quit after criticizing Coach Adolph Rupp's tactics, denied Thursday he had asked reinstatement.

Linville Puckett, 6-foot junior, took exception to a Rupp statement that he had asked to be reinstated and had been turned down.

Rupp said he told Puckett the situation had gone too far to take him back.

"I broke training, but I'm not the only one," said the 21-year-old player. He refused to elaborate.

When he announced his resignation Wednesday night, Puckett was quoted as saying he was leaving because basketball at Kentucky "isn't regarded as a game, but as a matter of life or death with resemblance of one going to war."

'Good Morale'
Rupp, meanwhile, pronounced squad morale "very excellent." Puckett, of Winchester, Ky., missed practice Wednesday after a squad meeting at which, Rupp said, training rules were restated.

The coach said the players' absence could be interpreted only as meaning he chose not to observe regulations.

Rupp declined to say whether Puckett was charged with breaking training.

High Scorer
Puckett was the team's fifth leading scorer with an average of nearly 10 points a game.

Puckett said no specific incident caused him to leave the squad.

Asked if he would enroll at another school, Puckett said he probably would go somewhere but was not certain. He majored in agriculture at Kentucky.

Kentucky, first nationally in The AP poll, has lost twice recently to lightly regarded Georgia Tech.

Hawkeye Cagers Drill Hard As Boilermaker Game Looms

Hustle was the keynote as the Iowa Hawkeyes went through a hard drill Thursday in preparation for their TV basketball game with Purdue Saturday.

Bill Schoof, forward and center, was limping slightly from a knee injury earlier in the week, but it is believed that he will be ready for action by Saturday.

In Purdue, the Hawkeyes face a team which forced Minnesota into six overtimes before falling Saturday night on the Purdue basketball floor. Purdue is currently in the Big Ten basement, while the Gophers lead the pack.

A victory for Iowa Saturday would shoot the Hawkeyes into a tie with Minnesota for the conference lead, pending the outcome of the Gophers' game with Ohio State Monday night. Minnesota is idle Saturday.

LYONS TO SCOUT CHICAGO (P)—Ted Lyons, recently named to baseball's Hall of Fame, Thursday was sited as a scout for the Chicago White Sox whom he managed from mid-1946 through 1948.

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (P)—Halfback Joe Heap and tackle Frank Varrichione of Notre Dame have signed contracts respectively with the New York Giants and Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football league.

This was disclosed Thursday by Julius Tucker, South Bend businessman who served as negotiator for Irish stars turning pro. Presumably both contracts were for one year.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (P)—Lanky Jack Fleck of Davenport took an early lead Thursday in the first round of the $15,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament with a three-under-par 67.

The 33-year-old head pro of municipal courses in his home city sank putts of 8 feet, 10 feet and two of 20 during the 34-33 round.

With more than half of the field still on the course, the par 34-36-70 of the Arizona country club was holding up against the onslaught.

At 69, among the early finishers, came Cary Middlecoff of Kiamasha Lake, N.Y., former National Open champion.

Fleck said he wasn't hitting the ball too well, but "the putting made up for a lot of sins."

Among the first to finish was Shelley Mayfield of Chicopee, Mass., winner of the playoff, in the Palm Springs tournament Monday. He posted a 35-36-71.

Jimmy Demaret, Kiamasha Lake, N.Y., twice winner of the Phoenix Open, slipped three-over-par with a 37-38-73.

FOUR OF THE FIVE women members of the touring Swedish Olympic gold medal winning team are shown as they run through a short exercise in preparation for a demonstration in the Iowa field house Tuesday. The exhibition, which is considered as one of the finest in this exacting sport, will consist of a 10-event program starting at 8 p.m.

Charges Pressure From 2 Teams

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (P)—Umpire Jim Duffy quit baseball Thursday, charging "pressure" from two teams. American League President Will Harridge immediately tabbed the charge "utterly ridiculous and completely untrue."

Duffy says he was "fired" by Harridge because of "pressure" from the Boston Red Sox and the Chicago White Sox.

A resident here who works as an automobile salesman in the off-season and referees National Basketball association games, Duffy, 32, was sent to the International league to umpire last year after three seasons in the American league.

Deny Pressure
General managers Joe Cronin of Boston and Frank Lane of Chicago said their organizations had no part in any "pressure."

The umpire said he was "just about assured" he would return to the American league when sent to the International league last season. Instead, the American league dropped his option.

"I asked Mr. Harridge about my status for 1955 and learned that I am now a free agent. Evidently there's no possibility of my returning to the major leagues, so I am quitting . . ."

"I conclude that it was pressure from the Boston Red Sox and Chicago White Sox that caused Harridge to fire me," Duffy continued.

'Confused'
In Chicago, Harridge said: "He is a bit confused as to why he was not re-employed by the American league."

"He was a member of our umpire staff through 1951, 1952 and 1953. Because we felt he did not measure up to the standards of the American league he was optioned out to the International league for the season of 1954."

Dropped Option
"We did not exercise his option because of the rapid development of our staff."

" . . . as regards the charge of pressure by clubs, I must make this statement: His contentions that pressure by two clubs resulted in his release is utterly ridiculous and completely untrue . . ."

"It was my own personal judgment that Duffy should not be recalled."

Preserves Evidence
Photography is the best museum known for preserving evidence of rare diseases or conditions. A collection of slides gathered over a period of many years may finally lead to a better understanding of an unusual malady.

Pictures are also used a great deal in the teaching of techniques, such as surgical procedures, isolation measures, therapeutic and laboratory methods.

Albums of photographs in the libraries of various departments in the college medicine exemplify the use of photography in the college's study programs.

Slide Collections
Nearly every department has an extensive collection of slides of patients and specimens, diseases and irregularities, a viewer available to students at all times. Pictures of fresh specimens have almost replaced the specimen museum in the medical college.

The need and value of photographs in exhibitions, conferences, seminars and research reports cannot be minimized, says Dr. Kent. They play a major role in telling others of the progress made at SUU.

Several leading medical books are illustrated with pictures made here, he said.

Latest Basketball Fashion: 6-Inch Elevator Shoes!

By Will Grimsley
NEW YORK (AP)—College basketball bigwigs at first grinned, then winced and finally frowned Thursday at the game's newest gimmick—elevator shoes.

"The next thing you know they'll be putting springs on shoes," wryly commented Bruce Drake, University of Oklahoma coach who heads the rules committee.

"It's against the spirit of the rules," added Manhattan's Ken Norton, a rules committee member.

The elevator shoes were introduced in a game Wednesday night by Sax Elliott, research-minded coach of Los Angeles State college, who is renowned for other departures from the routine.

Saxton put shoes with six-inch rubber soles on one of his players, Glen Abney, making a seven-footer of the boy.

Abney clumped around under the goal for about five minutes. He didn't make a basket or do any rebounding, and Los Angeles State lost to Utah, 77-38. But Elliott had his fun and proved his point, if any.

"There's no rule against these shoes," said Drake. "Basketball always will be a big man's game and I guess it's one way to get fed up reading of the scoring exploits of Bevo Francis of Rio Grande, and set out to prove any man could score like that given weak opposition and full emphasis on offense.

So he brought in a Chapman college jayvee team, beat them, 208-82, and let one of his players, John Barber, score 188 points.

Another time he equipped his men with portable oxygen tanks on the floor to facilitate breathing.

more height." Hank Iba, veteran coach at Oklahoma A&M, said elevator shoes, while adding height, are impractical.

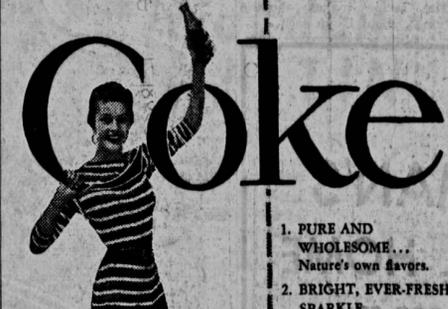

"It seems the shoes would make a boy clumsy," said Iba. "A boy would have to be awfully careful or he'd sprain his ankles."

This is not the first time Elliott had broken into the spotlight with an experiment.

Pulls Caddy Cart

SUI Med

By Dwight E. Jensen
Few of the staff members University hospitals even see an eyebrow anymore when they see an energetic young man trudging a load of photographic equipment down the corridors on a golf caddy cart.

During the past year, there have come to know him well. It is Jack Davis, SUI's medical photographer—a familiar figure in almost any department of the hospital.

His work spans the broad range of clinical and scientific activity in the field of medicine at the University—making photographs for hospital records, research, teaching and book illustrations.

Iowa City Native
The 26-year-old native Iowa City estimates that on average day he walks between 5 and 10 miles through the vast network of corridors and tunnels in the general hospital, medical laboratories to photograph as many as 30 different assignments, or as few as five.

"My job is not as glamorous as some people think," says Davis, "but I find it very interesting."

Noting the increased use of photographs and slides in medical research and teaching, he added that he thinks there is "good future" in medical photography.

Surgical Photography
One of the medical photographer's best-known tasks is operating room photography. Davis said it comprises of about 15 per cent of his job. He uses the natural operating room light to photograph surgical operations in color.

The significance of photography in the field of medicine is emphasized by F. W. Kent, manager of the SUI photographic service, under whom the medical photographer works. Kent, who pioneered in the field of medical photography at SUI said:

"In a teaching hospital this seems to be no end to the work in which photographic lantern slides, color transparencies and motion pictures may be put to work."

Volume of Work
Probably one of the gauges of the importance of medical men attach to photography is the volume of work photographic Davis is called on to produce.

Since he took over the early last February, Davis averaged more than 275 black-and-white hospital record photos, plus at least 100 color motion pictures per month.

The photographic work Davis and his two predecessors have turned out is largely used as an aid in teaching medical students and nurses. Through collection of slides they study hundreds of common cases and their variations.

SUI Medical Photographer Gets Around

The need and value of photographs in exhibitions, conferences, seminars and research reports cannot be minimized, said Kent. They play a major role in telling others of the progress made at SUI.

Several leading medical books are illustrated with pictures made here, he said.

Long History
 The history of medical photography at SUI goes back to the years immediately after World War I when Kent was taking most of the pictures for the university. As the use of photographs and slides as teaching aids increased, more and more assignments came from the hospitals.

"Photographic work in the hospitals first got heavy in the 30's," said Kent, "and by the early 40's I was spending six hours a day there."

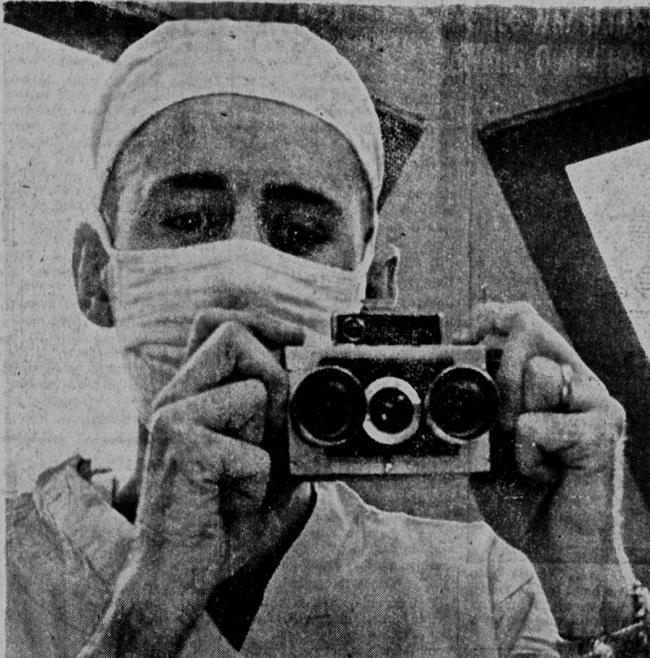

In 1942 Kent's nephew, Dick Kent, took over as the university's first full-time medical photographer. He kept the job until late in 1953 when he accepted a position taking medical motion pictures for a medical supply firm.

No Photofinishing
 Under the present setup, the medical photographer takes nearly all of the college of medicine's pictures in the hospitals and adjacent medical laboratories but does none of the photofinishing work himself. He hasn't the time.

All the black-and-white and color pictures which Davis takes are processed at the University Photographic service, 7 E. Market st., about a mile from the hospital area. Copies of X-rays and photocopies from medical books are also made there.

All medical negatives are kept in the files at Photographic service.

New Situation
 Davis said each of his assignments is likely to present a new situation because he brings pho-

5 Men Face Liquor Count

TIPTON, Ia. — The operators of four Cedar county taverns Thursday were charged with illegal possession of liquor.

The operators were arrested late Wednesday night in raids by Iowa state bureau of investigation officials and Cedar county sheriff's officers.

Sixteen bottles of liquor were seized in the raids, County Atty. William Norton said Thursday.

Owners arrested were: Arnold Rowald, Corner Cafe, Lowden; Frank Mostaert, Frank's Place, Lowden; A. F. Schukar and W. E. Schukar, Idle Hour, Durant; and C. W. Swiger, Travel Inn, Bennett.

'Price War' Dairy Wants Outlet Here

The Maquoketa Valley milk producers, who recently touched off a milk price war in Waterloo, have indicated a desire to go into retail business here.

Representatives of the Maquoketa Valley group conferred this week with Edwin N. Kennedy, city dairy inspector.

Kennedy said he would inspect the Maquoketa Valley concern's plants before it would be allowed to sell milk in Iowa City.

The firm's application may go before the city council Feb. 14.

Maquoketa Valley has processing plants at Arlington and Strawberry Point. It recently caused a price war in Waterloo, setting prices below those of other Waterloo distributors.

Ruling Sought Against Bakery

A suit for claims of $28,000 against the Swank Bakery Co., opened Wednesday in Johnson county district court.

The U.S. government, Johnson county, a landlord, seven alleged creditors and the Iowa State Bank and Trust Co., have filed claims against Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Swank.

Judge Harold D. Evans will be asked to rule on the order in which the claims are to be paid.

Industry's Sales Total $288 Billion in 1954

WASHINGTON (AP)—The commerce department reports that manufacturers' sales increased rapidly in November and December, bringing the total for 1954 to $288 billion.

The 1954 manufacturers' sales level was 5 per cent lower than the record set in 1953, but 4 per cent higher than in 1952.

The 1953-1954 decline was in sales of durable goods.

Council, Recreation Group Plan New Center

The Iowa City council and Recreation commission have agreed informally that a combination city hall-Community building should be built. The two groups agreed on the building at an informal meeting Wednesday night. The $350,000 Community building was destroyed last week by fire. It provided space for most of the city's recreation program. A combination building would house recreation, police, fire department and street department facilities, and the city administration offices. Recreation Director Robert A. Lee is preparing his space requirements for architect Henry L. Fisk. Fisk had made drawings on the proposed city hall that was defeated in a bond issue election last June. City council members mentioned the Musser parking lot and the land on which the ruined Community building stood as possible sites for the combination building. Rough guesses on the cost of a combination building ranged near $500,000. The bond issue on the previous city hall called for a $300,000 building. The city will have $75,000 in insurance on the old Community building with which to start construction. Council members suggested that the present city hall site could be turned into a metered parking lot for extra revenue. The present city council last year backed the bond issue to build a new city hall. They had expressed the desire before the Community building fire to hold another election on a bond issue this spring. The previous bond issue was voted down when only 52 per cent of the people voting approved it. A 60 per cent approval was needed for passage.

Hancher To Speak At Reunion

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher will be the principal speaker at the annual University dinner and reunion at the Hotel Jefferson in St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 27. Approximately 100 Iowa school administrators and former Iowa educators, as well as SUI alumni from the St. Louis area, are expected to attend the annual get-together. It will be held in conjunction with the meeting of the American Association of School Administrators of the National Educational association. Several SUI faculty members also plan to attend the A.A.S.A. meeting.

Dean Bruce E. Mahan of the SUI extension division will serve as master of ceremonies at the dinner. Dean E. T. Peterson of the Iowa college of education will introduce the guests, and a report on the university will be delivered by Hancher. An informal reception will precede the dinner at the Hotel Jefferson. Frances Camp, director of teacher placement at the university, is in charge of arrangements for the reception.

Ojemann, Morris To Attend Meeting

Two members of the SUI faculty will attend a regional conference on pre-medical and pre-dental education today and Saturday in Chicago. W. W. Morris, assistant dean for medical student affairs, and Ralph H. Ojemann, professor in the Iowa Child Welfare research station, will participate in a workshop of medical, dental and pre-professional educators. Sponsored by Alpha Epsilon Delta, a national pre-medical honor society, the conference is one of at least three planned for different parts of the country. Each conference will review a report recently developed from a national survey on "Preparation for Medical Education in the Liberal Arts College."

The survey was conducted by a subcommittee of the American Medical association's survey of medical education.

Austrian Pianist To Play Here

Paul Badura-Skoda, young Austrian pianist, will play Feb. 14 before the Iowa City Civic Music association in Macbride auditorium. Badura-Skoda, 26, has made recordings of Bach, Mozart, Schubert and Schumann, and played at the Bach Festival in Vienna in 1950. He started his current tour at Toronto, Canada, Nov. 1, 1954. The tour will end Feb. 21 in an appearance with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony in Carnegie Hall.

Chicago Named Site For Demo Convention
WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional source said Thursday Chicago has been chosen tentatively as the site of the 1956 Democratic national convention. The informant, who would not be quoted by name, said Chicago was selected by a site subcommittee. Its choice is subject to approval by the full national committee. Chicago and Philadelphia had bid for the convention.

The Topic Was Jovial

THE NATURE OF House Speaker Sam Rayburn's conversation was not disclosed but whatever the topic it brought a hearty laugh from Adlai Stevenson at a private capitol luncheon Thursday. Representative Rayburn (D-Texas) was host to Stevenson in the speaker's office.

On the basis of his study that a well-organized and administered county film library apparently provides the best method for developing wider use of classroom films among Iowa's schools. Teacher committees A specialist in audio-visual education at Iowa State Teachers College, Gjerde also recommends that teacher committees take responsibility for selecting films for classroom showing, since teacher-selected films apparently receive wider use and utilization than do those chosen by superintendents and principals.

'Safe Mobs' Plague Iowa

By The Associated Press
A rash of safe robberies in which the loot totaled more than $2,500 occurred in Iowa early Thursday.

R. W. Nebergall, chief of the Iowa bureau of criminal investigation, said several "safe mobs" are known to be operating in Iowa and adjacent states. Nebergall said Thursday afternoon that although assistance of the bureau had not as yet been requested in connection with the latest thefts "we are always following up leads which may help us tie some of these jobs to specific suspects."

Open Outside City
Three safe robberies occurred in northern Iowa. In each case a safe was taken from a food market, hauled outside the city, knocked open and looted. Safes in these three cases were found. The yeggs left the checks behind but took all available cash. A safe also was taken from a food market at the edge of Harlan. It had not been found. The Harlan safe was reported to have contained less than $100.

At Charles City $1,200 cash was lost when the Sunshine Market's safe was taken. Two looted in Mason City At Mason City from $1,200 to $1,500 cash was taken from a safe carted off from the Food City market. Clifton's market at Mason City lost about $100 from its safe.

Across the river from Davenport in Rock Island county, Ill., a safe at Augie's Tap was cracked and $2,500 cash was taken. There also was a $600 armed holdup at the Harmony club in East Moline.

'La Marseillaise' Found in Subway

LONDON (AP) — In the parcels room of the Baker street subway station, just a few paces from where fictional detective Sherlock Holmes is supposed to have maintained offices, real detectives found a missing manuscript. It was the original Strasbourg edition of "La Marseillaise," national anthem of France. It was stolen from the British museum, which valued it at $2,800. Detectives told the story Thursday when Thomas Bolitho, 64, who lives nowhere in particular, appeared in police court.

Bolitho, the officers said, advised them to go to the station parcels room and look into a little brown case checked in the name of "Mr. Blake." Bolitho was bound over for trial on a larceny charge. Police would not go into details of their investigation.

Diver Finds Drowned City

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — A Chicago deep sea diver said Thursday he has discovered the ruins of a submerged city in Lake Titicaca — the world's highest large lake. William Mardorf, 29, who said he learned diving with the U.S. marine corps, explored the bottom of the lake mainly in search of fabled Inca treasures. So far he has found no treasure but his report on the ruins and stone implements he brought to the surface have excited the Bolivian archaeologists. "Sacred Lake"

Mardorf descended as far as 200 feet in the waters of "The Sacred Lake" as it was called by the Incas. Its waters are frigid since the lake, although only about 15 degrees from the equator, is over 12,000 feet above sea level. Mardorf said he discovered the ruins and stone walls of the submerged city near the mouth of the Escocira river, near what is known as the Enchanted Island. Mardorf worked from a launch and wore a diving suit that protected him from the cold. He said he took photographs of the ruins with an underwater camera.

The Island of the Sun, the largest on the lake, is believed to be the cradle of the Inca civilization. However, the submerged city may have been built by the Aymaras, whose civilization had disappeared by the time the Incas emerged an estimated five centuries before the discovery of America. The Aymaras built a metropolis known as Tiahuanaco on the east shore of Lake Titicaca. Some of its ruins still exist. Some archaeologists guess that the submerged city of Lake Titicaca was originally built on a large island which disappeared below the surface during an earthquake. The ruins were found at a depth of 95 feet, Mardorf said. The diver said he would continue his exploration of the lake bottom.

Iowa Senate Heads Discuss Commerce Group Squabbles

DES MOINES (AP) — Dissension in the Iowa Commerce commission was discussed at a meeting of senate leaders in the office of Lt. Gov. Leo Elithon late Thursday afternoon. Elithon said the meeting, attended by 10 senate committee chairmen and senate officers, was held "because some of the older senators were concerned about the slow pace of the session so far, and they wanted to talk about ways of getting the wheels rolling."

Firing Discussed
But he admitted, under questioning, that the firing of six Commerce commission employees by a 2-1 vote and the continuing disagreements among the three commissioners, was discussed. Other sources also revealed that part of the discussion dealt with the Commerce commission council. Shortly after the current legislative session opened, the Commerce commission nominated Earl Smith of Des Moines as its council. Smith withdrew his name when it became apparent there was opposition in the senate to confirming the appointment.

Names Submitted
The commission then submitted the name of Ben Kubby of Des Moines for the post. This nomination has not yet been acted upon and there have been indications that some senate members also oppose him. The state Republican central

More Milk Machines Needed, Senate Says

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa senate Thursday adopted a recommendation for increased use of milk vending machines. The resolution offered by Arch McFarlane (R-Waterloo) and others urged increased use of milk vending machines in manufacturing, wholesale and retail places of business and in public buildings of all kinds in order to defeat the milk surplus. The statehouse itself has no milk vending machines, but milk is available at the cafeteria over the counter.

Trade Stamp Fees Asked for Counties

DES MOINES (AP) — Trading stamp companies would be required to obtain a license in each county where they operate, under a bill readied for introduction in the Iowa senate Thursday. The bill will be filed by the Manufacturing, Commerce and Trade committee.

Sen. Ted D. Clark (R-Mystic), committee chairman, said the measure probably would be read the first time today. The companies would be required to pay a license fee to the county treasurer of $4,000 a year in counties with 30,000 or less population. The fee would be $5,000 in counties between 30,000 and 50,000 population, $6,000 between 50,000 and 70,000 and $7,000 in counties with more than 70,000 population. Merchants who conduct their own stamp plans or other merchandise premium plans would not be required to have a license.

He added: "We are all very much concerned about the way the Commerce commission is acting." As for what Elithon termed the "main purpose" of the meeting — to expedite the session — the lieutenant governor said the only decision was to hold longer senate sessions in the afternoon, to cut down the time allotted to committee meetings.

Eden Warns Reds Against Island Attack
