

Today Marks Centennial Of First SUI Classes

Lack of Funds Delayed Start For 8 Years

By Betty Tucker

Founders' day, today, has a special meaning this year. It was 100 years ago in March that the first students entered classes at SUI.

Actually, today marks the 108th anniversary of the creation of SUI by the Iowa legislature. Eight years elapsed between passage of an act "to locate and establish a state university" and the opening of its doors.

Lack of money to support the institution, absence of a building to house it, difficulty in securing a president and faculty — all these blocked realization of the venture.

Old Capitol

The legislature donated Old Capitol to the university in 1847, but it was not available for classroom use until 1858. The building was temporarily reserved for state officers until the removal of the state capitol from Iowa City to Des Moines.

Gradually, the obstacles were hurdled. The Mechanics academy was obtained on a rental basis of $300 a year. It stood on the site of the present East hall.

Prof. Amos Dean of Albany, N.Y., lawyer and educator, accepted the presidency of the new university. Three faculty members were hired: Abel Beach, Alexander Johnston and E. M. Griffin. In March, 1855, SUI opened for the first 16-week term.

40 to 100

No record has survived of the number of students at the first session. Estimates have ranged from 40 to 100.

By September, 1855, when the first university circular was published, there were 124 students—83 males and 41 females. SUI was first among state institutions of higher learning to provide for admission of women on equal terms with men.

By now there were nine departments, including ancient languages, modern languages, intellectual philosophy, moral philosophy, natural philosophy, history, natural history, chemistry, and mathematics.

6 Instructors

The President, or Chancellor, was also head of the department of history. The faculty expanded to six instructors.

To promote punctual attendance at classes, trustees purchased a bell from the Constitutional Presbyterian church in April, 1855, and had it installed in the belfry of the Mechanics' academy.

The 1856-57 catalog reveals interesting sidelights on early campus life. Tuition was $10 per term for each student. There were no other charges.

$3 a Week

Board was available in private families from $2 to $3 per week and "it is hoped . . . it may be had at still lower rates," the catalog stated.

Value of books and apparatus was listed as $26,000. About 500 volumes were said to be in the library.

"The business of each day opens with chapel exercises . . . attended by all students. Great care is taken to shield students from the inroads of temptation and vice, and to train them in the principles and habits of virtue and morality," the catalog said.

Bracing Atmosphere

"The university is . . . accessible by railroad from the east (this event was celebrated on New Year's day, 1856); surrounded by forests and rolling prairies; possessing a fine bracing atmosphere and climate which has ever proved mild and healthy," according to the catalog.

Smoking on the campus or about university buildings was prohibited. At one time, the student paper accused a prominent professor of having made himself offensive to ladies in the library and elsewhere by "the odor of tobacco around his person."

In 1858, Old Capitol became the center of campus life. A typical classroom was lined with desks for two. Along one side was a raised platform for recitation. The class not reciting listened to the others. If a student could take the final test over the material covered, he was credited for taking that course.

First Graduate

That same year, the first person was graduated from the new university, Dexter Edison Smith, who received a bachelor of science degree, was the only member of the class of 1858.

Today, 88,103 have received degrees from SUI. The alumni office estimates that its living alumni number more than 50,000.

From an area of 10 acres surrounding Old Capitol and a rented building for classrooms, the campus has grown to more than 700 acres and more than 50 buildings.

Lodge Asks For World Disarmament

LONDON (AP) — The United States Thursday challenged the Russians to enter into "workable" agreement for world disarmament. It would apply both to nuclear and conventional weapons like tanks and planes.

"We will leave no stone unturned to develop an honest workable disarmament scheme," said Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., American delegate to the secret five-power arms talks opening here Friday, but he added in a news conference statement:

"We recognize that there has not been much ground for optimism. But that is not going to prevent us from hoping and trying."

The five powers — the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Russia — resume disarmament talks as the UN Disarmament commission subcommittee.

Western hopes for an understanding with Russia were dampened on the eve of the conference by an attack on the organization of the committee made by Pravda, the official newspaper of the Russian Communist party.

Hits at Serecy
Pravda demanded the inclusion of Red China, India and Communist Czechoslovakia. The newspaper also complained against what it termed Western insistence to keep the parity secret.

U.S. and British officials pointed out that the UN resolution arranging the talks specified who would take part and that the parity would be secret. Previous open disarmament debates, these officials said, usually degenerated into just a propaganda battle.

American officials said Lodge would renew U.S. support for the Anglo-French disarmament plan. This calls for step-by-step scrapping of atomic and hydrogen weapons tied in with steep cuts in conventional armament.

New Organ Installed By City Church

Installation of a Kilgen organ in the Trinity Episcopal church was completed Thursday in time for the Iowa City observance of World Day of Prayer which begins today.

The new electric model replaces a 60-year-old tracker action organ which was used by the Iowa City church for nearly 30 years.

The electric organ is a two-manual instrument (has two keyboards) and includes a great, a swell and a pedal organ. All but 305 of the 854 pipes of the old organ are still in good condition and were retained for use in the new organ system.

Cost was $12,000, almost seven times the cost of the 1894 organ which was purchased for $1,775. This is still far below the cost of an entirely new instrument. The 500-member congregation donated the funds.

Crowd Appreciates Brubeck

Jazz on the Piano Is Polite, Quiet, Loaded With Invention

The progressive jazz offerings presented by the Dave Brubeck quartet at the Iowa Memorial Union Thursday night received a respectful hearing by a near-capacity crowd.

Politely applause following the Brubeck offerings gave evidence that at least most of the crowd was familiar with the innovations of modern music.

Brubeck's music affected a modest extemporaneous quality that seems to specialize in the understanding of the familiar. Fear of boring the audience seemed to load the quiet music with invention. At the same time, it was polite, and in the last analysis, very proud.

In all selections the driving rhythms of jazz and swing had been civilized and in many numbers, such as "Lady Be Good," the object was to free Brubeck's piano inventions without losing their rhythmic support.

The Brubeck quartet plays jazz, and in jazz, the solid beat is still home base.

Other melodies that received the Brubeck treatment at least once during the evening were "These Foolish Things," "Christopher Columbus," "Jeepers Creepers," "Here Lies Love," and "Brother, Can You Spare a Dime."

Solo chores were shared by Brubeck on piano and Paul Desmond on alto saxophone. Joe Dodge on the drums and Bob Bates, the bass, rounded out the well-known group.

British Raise Credit Rates

LONDON (AP) — The Churchill government made it tougher Thursday for Britons to borrow money and to buy on time. The announced aim is to prevent any run-away inflation threatening the nation's prosperity boom.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Richard A. Butler boosted the nationalized Bank of England's interest rate on loans from 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 per cent.

The interest rate affects credit in the sterling area—which includes most of the British Commonwealth nations—as well as Britain.

Britons for months have been on a spending spree for items regarded here as luxuries. The country is riding high with full employment and jobs going begging.

Butler's new orders require a down payment of 15 per cent of the cash prices under which a wide range of consumer goods can be bought on time.

The maximum time allowed to complete payments is 24 months on most goods affected and 48 months on the others. Restrictions on installment buying had been removed only last July.

Investigation of Dog Poisoning Continues

Iowa City police Thursday continued investigation of the "malicious" poisoning of two dogs.

Two cases of dog poisoning within a six-block area were reported Tuesday. Both dogs died of strychnine poisoning.

One of the dogs, an English shepherd, was owned by State Rep. Scott Swisher, 917 Bowers st. The other, a part-wire haired terrier, was owned by Francis Collins, 334 S. Dodge st.

Ate Meat
Both dogs apparently ate pieces of meat that contained large amounts of strychnine.

Plane Struck Hill

Officers said the plane rested on a snow covered knoll in fairly open country. They said the plane had first struck the hill, tearing off part of the undercarriage, then bounced for about 300 feet before coming to rest against a woven wire fence separating the farms of Laverty and Everett McKee.

R. E. Stover of Marshalltown, owner of the Nebraska Flying Service, said the plane was a total loss. He put its value at about $8,500.

Stover said that the Neitfelt brothers had been taking flying lessons in Grand Island and had gone to Pennsylvania to look at planes.

DES MOINES (AP) — Its gasoline tanks dry, a single-engine private plane was found a crumpled wreck Thursday in a farm field south of here. Its pilot and two passengers were dead.

All of Grand Island, Neb., they were identified by officials and relatives as:

Thomas G. Hulme, 48, pilot of the plane.

Edward Neitfelt, 35.

Peter Lawrence Neitfelt, 38.

Lost Radio Contact

The plane, a Piper Tri-pacer, had been missing since 8:50 p.m., Wednesday, when its radio contact with Des Moines Municipal airport was broken.

Hulme was flying the new four-place machine, bought by the Nebraska Flying Service from Lock Haven, Pa., to Grand Island.

He and the Neitfelt brothers, flying enthusiasts who were considering buying a plane, had left Joliet, Ill., at 5:36 p.m. Wednesday. Their flight plan estimated they would reach the Des Moines airport in three hours. The plane had about four hours fuel.

Low Ceiling

It was snowing when the plane neared Des Moines. The ceiling was only about 500 feet. Once the pilot told the airport he had the beacon in sight, but he reported a few seconds later that he had lost it. Radio contact between plane and airport ended at 8:50 p.m.

At daylight, officers from Des Moines and other nearby communities started looking for the plane. Six civil air patrol planes also joined in the search.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and house conferees Thursday agreed on a $8,750 salary increase for members of congress, including a new $1,250 tax-free expense allowance.

Compromise Offered On Congressional Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and house conferees Thursday agreed on a $8,750 salary increase for members of congress, including a new $1,250 tax-free expense allowance.

The agreement would raise the annual pay of senators and representatives from $15,000 to $23,750, including the tax-free allowance, effective March 1. It is subject to ratification by both houses. They are expected to act today.

A conference group of five senators and three representatives worked out the compromise arrangement after the house voted a straight increase in salaries to $25,000 a year and the senate voted to raise them to $22,500.

By inserting the tax-free expense provision, the conferees wound up with a figure which seemed calculated to give members a net income after taxes closely approximating what they would have had under the $25,000 voted by the house.

In addition, each member is allowed a $3,000 business expense deduction for income tax purposes to pay the expense of maintaining a home in Washington.

The legislation also carries salary increases for federal judges, and officials of the justice department, and raises the pay scale ceilings for U.S. attorneys and their assistants.

Nanchishan Evacuated

TAIPEI, Formosa (Friday) (AP) — Nationalist China has abandoned tiny Nanchishan Island to the Reds, informed sources said.

Ships carrying the last of civilian inhabitants and the garrison of 5,000 regulars and guerrillas were reported enroute to Keelung Harbor under a protective umbrella of war planes.

The evacuation was not officially confirmed, but a communique was expected when the convoy reached the Formosa "safety zone" or Keelung itself. Nanchishan is 140 miles north of Keelung, and 23 miles off the Red mainland.

It was not disclosed whether the United States assisted in the operation as it did in the Tachen evacuation earlier this month.

Air force headquarters said more than 70 warplanes Thursday bombed Communist-held islands north and south of Nanchishan.

An air force communique said the Nationalist raiders destroyed 11 barracks and other military targets in attacks on the Tachans, 30 miles south of Nanchishan, and the islet of Peilungshan, 12 miles north.

Inside the Bundestag, deputies quarreled over the Paris treaties to raise 500,000 German troops for the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

House Vote Due Today On Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic drive to cut income taxes rocked the House with name-calling debate Thursday.

"Blackjacking . . . cheap politics . . . monkey business . . . cruel injustice" — these were the epithets flung in an old-fashioned party-line scrap between Republicans and Democrats.

Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) and his lieutenants voiced strong confidence that in showdown voting, postponed to Friday, they would push through their plan for a $20-a-person tax cut starting next Jan. 1.

Republicans Optimistic

But Republican Leader Joe Martin (R-Mass.) said President Eisenhower's "strong personal fight against the cut was having a tremendous impact." Republicans showed optimism they could kill the tax-cutting move.

The Democratic bill would provide a $20 annual tax cut for each taxpayer and each dependent. It would slice about $2.2 billion from federal revenues over a full year.

Representative Charles Halleck (R-Ind.) said he didn't like to use such harsh words, but Democrats plainly were guilty of a "blackjacking operation."

Package Bill

He referred to the fact that the tax cut was wrapped into a package bill also carrying out Mr. Eisenhower's request to postpone about three billion dollars in corporation income and excise tax cuts, now set for April 1. To kill the reduction, Mr. Eisenhower would have to veto the whole bill.

Democratic Leader John McCormack (Mass.) said Halleck was "an able master of blackjacking — we're only copying a page from your book."

McCormack referred to the fact that congressional Republicans last year tacked a billion dollars in excise tax cuts onto an administration bill continuing other excise rates.

McCormack took note of repeated GOP accusations that Democrats were "irresponsible" in trying to cut taxes in the face of an estimated federal deficit of $2,400,000,000.

Altogether, he said, Republicans pushed through three billion dollars in tax cuts last year when the deficit was estimated at almost five billion dollars.

To this, Leader Martin asked: "Do two wrongs make a right?"

McCormack snapped, pointing a quivering finger at Martin: "Then you admit you were wrong last year?"

No, Martin replied, he didn't admit that. He added softly: "But apparently you admit you are wrong this year."

A New Place for Religion—

Rev. William G. Pollard's discussion on the SUI campus of the increasing challenge of religion to men of science offers a different—though increasingly widespread—concept of the place of religion in our society.

In one sense his views are the completion of a cycle; in another sense he represents a whole new concept in the relationship of science to religion.

Perhaps for the first time in the history of our civilization science is turning to religion for help and guidance.

It seems that there is a need in all primitive societies for worship. In pagan Rome, for instance, practically all of the natural phenomena were deified. There were gods of war, gods of love and gods of fertility as well as the gods of the sea, land, sun and moon.

The less that was known scientifically about a natural force, the stronger was the human urge to give that force "holy" powers and to seek to satisfy that "god" for human protection from its wrath.

Roger Bacon, with his experiments with gunpowder and optics in 13th century England, found himself damned by many religious groups as being in league with the devil. For getting ahead of his contemporaries in science, he found his laboratories smashed by "God-fearing" men.

By the beginning of our own 20th century, science seemed destined to disprove the need for religion. There was a widespread belief that all of the secrets of man and nature would be explainable in purely scientific terms.

The Rev. Mr. Pollard is in the vanguard of a renewed wave of thought on the relationship of man and religion. He and many others who have swelled the religious revival in this country have seen in religion the answer to questions that science cannot answer.

Like the primitive man, modern man is realizing that answers to many problems are in the hands of a greater power beside which the power of man is insignificant.

One important distinction, however, should be noted. Primitive man approached his gods in a spirit of fear and appeasement; modern man's approach is one of hope and inquiry.

Science is nearing the end of the knowledge that can be reached in the laboratory. It must turn elsewhere to find the answers to human experience.

Research Group Needed—

The bill to give Iowa lawmakers a reliable source of information on legislative problems this week hurdled the first obstacle in a long and muddy track.

The house departmental affairs committee put on the house calendar, without recommendation, a bill to create a permanent interim legislative research committee.

Under the bill, the legislators would have access to the services of the SUI institute of public affairs.

The Iowa lawmakers, like the members of legislatures in other states, do not lack material on which to base their decisions during legislative sessions. Rather, they are deluged by pamphlets, studies, statistics, surveys, et cetera.

However, the source of material affects its reliability. It is the need for an unbiased source of information that has led civic groups and individuals to urge the creation of a legislative research committee.

There are 32 states which have research committees composed of legislators.

Briefly, the research committee would be composed of legislators chosen from the house and senate to meet between sessions and consider legislative problems which require accurate and comprehensive investigation.

Such a committee would take the place of the many study groups created by the legislature during each session. Taken together, these individual committees, such as the recent toll road committee, consume larger appropriations than a single research body would require, yet cover only small parts of the larger legislative picture.

The recommendation that the legislative research committee use the facilities of the SUI institute of public affairs is a tribute to work the institute has done in the field of government. It recognizes that Iowa already has a research body which has proved its capability in investigating state problems. Here, too, is a measure of economy. The many study committees have generally called in outside experts to formulate surveys. The present bill calls for the utilization of existing facilities—a considerable saving to taxpayers.

Although the house committee failed to recommend the legislative research committee bill, it should be commended for putting the bill in a position where it will be considered by the entire membership of the house.

We hope that the representatives will recognize the measure as a step towards better, broader and more economical legislation.

Your Own Back Yard—

The observance of Brotherhood week which ends Sunday probably will be marked by a feeling of "Oh, that doesn't affect us in Iowa."

Brotherhood and its ramifications in daily life is not necessarily a nebulous phrase, suspended in space without meaning.

This was pointed out recently at a luncheon held in Des Moines attended by several newspaper publishers of the state. Publishers from Mason City and Atlantic said that their cities were relatively free from any racial discrimination.

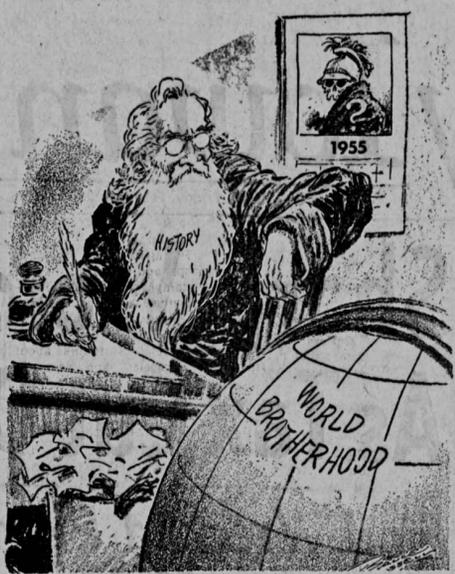

But J. B. Morris, publisher of the Iowa Bystander in Des Moines, said that Iowa is not entirely free of the blot of discrimination.

Morris cited Davenport as an example where the spirit of brotherhood could be improved. He said that 90 per cent of the Negro population is working in Illinois, unable to find jobs in Davenport.

Obviously the other Quad Cities have more jobs to offer than Davenport alone. Yet, there is a good chance that many workers are turned down for reasons which are not in keeping with the spirit of brotherhood.

It would be wise to appraise the situation in Iowa, in Iowa City, and in one's own neighborhood. Chances are, human relationships could be improved. The best place to start is in your own back yard.

Interpreting the News—

Asians Want Military Force

By J. M. Roberts
Associated Press News Analyst

When the Manila pact for defense of Southeast Asia was drawn up it was admitted that its provisions represented no very concrete barrier to Communist expansion and that its value would ultimately depend on the firmness of intent which went into its development.

Under it there was and is to be no international striking force ready to meet aggression, as there is in Europe.

That's something the Asiatic members wanted. Next to that they would like to have American forces with in their countries or just offshore.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has said no to that.

Clarifies Intent
But he has gone even further than most observers, expected, in clarifying American intent and specifying her military ability to back it up.

The United States, he said firmly, will go to the assistance of any allied nation threatened with aggression.

Standing by, for that purpose, he said, is a great force of planes, men and ships, more powerful than the force deployed against Japan in World War II.

Lists Forces
Lest anyone think this was just talk, he listed them:

A fleet of 400 warships including carriers manned by 300,000 men.

Ground forces of five divisions—350,000 men.

Thirty squadrons of jet bombers and interceptors and other strategic air forces.

He listed maintenance of Chiang Kai-shek's 300,000 men and South Korea's 20 divisions as part of the American program.

Forces Ready
The American force is highly mobile and ready for use wherever needed, under the policy of swift and sharp retaliation against aggression. It is not to be broken up so that it cannot deliver power where needed.

The other nations can add their force to it, Dulles said, probably meaning as adjuncts, not as incorporated units.

Definite indications came from the Bangkok conference that Japan, South Korea and the Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa would eventually become members of SEATO. Dulles said they should be in.

There are difficulties in this, especially because of relationships between the Koreans and their former Japanese overlords.

Atom Scientist Predicts Bigger Weapon—

Declares H-Bomb Should Unite Scientists

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Atomic scientist Edward Teller protested Thursday that he had been given "too much credit and perhaps too much blame" for what happened in the development of the hydrogen bomb.

Dr. Teller said development of the "super" weapon "should not divide those in the past who have argued about it, but rather unite all of us who in a close or distant way, by work or by criticism, have contributed toward its completion."

Disunity of the scientists, he said, "is one of the greatest dangers to our country."

Incidentally, Dr. Teller, who has been generally credited with supplying an idea which eventually made the H-bomb the terrible thing that it is, said the "super" weapon may not be the ultimate in atomic energy achievement.

The next thing, he said, "may not be just another still bigger bomb; it might be something in the way of a surprise.

Anyway, he said, the great array of learning and skills which produced the atom bomb and the "super" should be kept working in new directions.

"We shall fail if we rest upon our accomplishments," he said.

Dr. Teller's statement was prepared for publication in "Science," official publication of the nation's scientists. It was described by his associates at the University of California as containing "everything he is at liberty to disclose" about H-bomb affairs.

The statement named more than a score of scientists not heretofore in the limelight as deserving of credit.

It reiterates also that Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, who headed the Los Alamos laboratory that made the A-bomb, encouraged Teller to keep going when scientific opinion was in doubt as to whether a "super" bomb could be made.

Praise is also given to Dr. Norris Bradbury, Oppenheimer's successor at Los Alamos.

"Without his dedicated work," Teller's statement said, "the Russians would now be ahead of us in the atomic race."

Less than a year ago Dr. Teller testified at an Atomic Energy commission hearing that Oppenheimer, after the A-bomb was completed, "acted in a way which was for me exceedingly hard to understand."

At that time Teller said he preferred to see "the vital interests of this country in hands which I understand better and therefore trust more."

Oppenheimer was accused of associating with Communists. As the result of the hearing, the AEC canceled Oppenheimer's security clearance and denied him access to any further secret material because of "fundamental defects in his character."

Edward Teller
'Too Much Credit'

Subsequently, a book published by James R. Shapley and Clay Blair Jr. asserted that the United States lagged four years behind Russia in developing the H-bomb, mainly because of Oppenheimer.

The book said the bulk of the fruitful work on the "super" was done at Los Alamos only because it was stimulated by a rival laboratory set up by the University of California at Livermore, where Teller now works part time. Los Alamos then, as now, was under the direction of Dr. Bradbury.

Bradbury issued a statement denying he had made an effort to prevent publication of the book.

Among people not hitherto prominently mentioned as contributors to the H-bomb, Dr. Teller named these:

Dr. Emil Konopinski, in the metallurgical laboratory of the A-bomb at Chicago, who is credited with making an "inspired guess" about the effectiveness of tritium, or triple-weight hydrogen, in an H-bomb reaction.

Henry Hurwitz, Cornell student, and Geoffrey Chew and Harold Argo, students from George Washington University. Teller cited these to illustrate that the achievement of the H-bomb was a long, uphill job that was finished only because the persistent work of all these people finally "clicked."

Pacific Power

The Dulles estimate that the United States is more powerful in the Pacific than ever obviously is based on the availability of modern-atomic-weapons which he mentioned.

There is some doubt about the value of these weapons in wars of the type to which the Reds have committed themselves so far—doubt intensified by the fact that they have not been used. One thing Dulles will have to remember—that the other pact members will not let him forget—is that power consists of what you are willing to use, and situations in which it is useful.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

He figures for the future

It's James Kirchhoff's job to look ahead. As a Plant Engineer with Illinois Bell Telephone Company, he helps estimate telephone equipment needs years in advance.

For example... when a new real estate development is in the planning stage, Jim figures how much telephone equipment it will need when it reaches its full growth. His estimate is based on his knowledge of the equipment's potential plus forecasts provided him of the area's rate of development. He then makes a complete report that becomes the basis of plans for the future.

Jim can take a look at his own future, too. In telephone engineering he can see a great many opportunities opening up in the next five years... ten years. He can pick the one he wants and start working toward it.

Jim graduated from Northwestern University as an E.E., class of 1952. His progress since then is typical of college men who have chosen telephone careers. If you'd be interested in a similar opportunity, see your Placement Officer for full details. There are also openings with other Bell telephone companies, with Bell Telephone Laboratories, or Western Electric and the Sandia Corporation.

It's highway robbery!

For sheer fun out on the road, Chevrolet's stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars!

Up to this year, maybe there were reasons for wanting one of the higher-priced cars. If you demanded something really special in the way of driving fun, you simply had to pay a premium to get it.

Not any more! The Motoramic Chevrolet has changed all that. Who could wish for more excitement than the new 162-h.p. "Turbo-Fire V8" delivers? (For those who do, 180-h.p. is optional at extra cost in all V8 models.) Chevrolet also offers the two highest powered sixes in its field.

Iowa-Minnesota Cage Game To Be Televised

Cedar Rapids, Davenport To Carry It

According to reports Thursday night, at least two television stations which are received in the Iowa City area will carry the important Iowa-Minnesota basketball game in Minneapolis Monday night starting at 8.

After receiving word earlier that WHO-TV in Des Moines and KGLD-TV in Mason City would carry the game through WCCO-TV in Minneapolis, The Daily Iowan learned through a call to Rock Island, Ill., that WHBF-TV in that city would also telecast the game.

WMTV-TV in Cedar Rapids in a late news cast Thursday night also announced plans to carry the game.

Apparently plans to televise the game in Iowa were last-minute decisions based on the intense interest which has developed since Iowa defeated two very tough opponents, Michigan State and Illinois, on their home courts last weekend.

Prior to the Hawkeye invasion, Michigan State had compiled a five-game victory string on their home floor, and the Illini had been undefeated at home since an early season loss to Wisconsin.

If the Hawkeyes defeat Michigan Saturday afternoon in the nationally televised Game of the Week from the Iowa field house, Iowa and Minnesota will go into Monday night's game tied for the conference lead. The Gophers, who currently lead the conference with a 10-2 record will be idle Saturday.

No tickets are available for the game which is expected to draw a record crowd of 19,000.

After the Monday night game, each team will have one more contest to finish the season. Minnesota has a home game with Wisconsin, a team they beat by only one point on the Madison court. Iowa must play a return game with Michigan.

Maher Drives In

DAVID MAHER, St. Mary's forward, dribbles in for a layup shot with the Ramblers leading, 45-43, with about three minutes remaining. Two Kalona players were unable to stop the lithe forward who scored 16 points as St. Mary's won, 55-53.

Ramblers Win Finals; Down Kalona, 55-53

St. Mary's 14 14 14 13—55
Kalona 10 14 13 16—53

St. Mary's of Iowa City won its final game of the District tournament Thursday night by defeating Kalona, 55-53, but had to fight down a third-quarter Kub rally to do it.

The Ramblers held a 4-6 point lead through much of the game until Kalona went ahead, 37-35, with 2:33 remaining, on a field goal by John Allensworth.

The game remained close to the end and was tied, 48-48, with about two minutes remaining. St. Mary's spurted ahead, 51-48, but two free-throws by Kalona's Jim Miller closed the gap to 51-50. Kenneth Klein followed with a pair of charity tosses for the Ramblers to make it 53-50, but Kalona retaliated with a field goal by Butcher Reber.

With :37 remaining, Dennis Walljasper sank two free-throws for what proved to be the winning points. Miller sank a free-throw for the final score of the game with :11 to go. The Ramblers followed by missing twice from the charity line, and the gun went off as Kalona put the ball in play.

David Maher and Walljasper were high for the Ramblers with 16 each. Miller led Kalona with 20, followed by Reber with 16.

Travel to Arizona for Series in April—

Baseball Team Practicing for Opener

By Bob Hooker

Despite the fact that winter is still very much in evidence, baseball season is lurking just around the proverbial corner.

Just five weeks from Saturday Iowa's baseball team leaves for Tucson, Ariz., where they will play a six-game series, April 4-9, against Arizona's Wildcats, defending District 7 NCAA champion.

Coach Otto Vogel, embarking upon his 28th season at the Hawk baseball helm, has been rounding his club into shape via daily practices in the field house. Again it appears Iowa will present a formidable club composed of some experienced upperclassmen and several promising sophomores.

First Base Problem
Perhaps the biggest task facing Vogel, who played two years with the Chicago Cubs during the '20s, is to find a replacement for the ineligible Bob Miller at first base. "Right now we are experimenting with Ted Jensen, Don Reich and Kirby Smith at first," Vogel said Thursday night. Jensen is also working at the other infield positions.

Players trying out for the other infield positions are headed by a pair of seniors, co-captain Ron Capps and Don Waldron. Of Waldron, Vogel asserts, "He has won three letters, and undoubtedly he will be our regular shortstop, barring the unforeseen." Capps, a two-year letterman, Jensen, junior Ken Kurtz and sophomore Ron Michaelson are practicing at second base, third base and shortstop.

By Joe Mosby

Easy winners in two dual meets at home, the Iowa Hawkeye cinder squad will get its toughest test of the young track season Saturday at Champaign, Ill.

Iowa will meet Illinois and Ohio State in a triangular affair which should shed light on two questions: How good are the improving Hawkeyes, and is Illinois strong enough for a fifth straight Big Ten crown?

Good Meet
Hawk Coach Francis Cretzmeier said, "If everything works out, it will be a good, close meet." Iowa may be hurt by injuries to a couple of key men—John Oakley and Earl Smith. Oakley, a sprint man, pulled a thigh muscle in Tuesday's meet with Minnesota, while Smith has been bothered by an ailing leg and has been below par in the broad jump and 60-yard dash.

Both would be point-winners for Iowa if they were at top shape, and Smith, defending Big Ten broad jump king, will probably be near the top of the field in that event despite his hurt leg.

Saturday's meet will throw together four of the top hurdlers in the Midwest—Willie Thomson and Abe Woodson of Illinois and Les Stevens and Jack Mathews of Iowa.

Thomson Is Good
Thomson has proven his mettle and was last year's NCAA king in the outdoor highs. Woodson, who also cuts capers on the gridiron for Illinois, is a busy man at track meets, usually competing in the hurdles, sprints, high and broad jumps.

For Iowa, Stevens has the conference's best times in both the highs and lows, with his 7.9 in the lows against Wisconsin being just a tenth-second off the American record. Stevens has four victories in as many starts over the barriers this year, but in all four Mathews has been just a short step behind. And should any of these four ace faster, Iowa soph Kenny Ploen may step in for points.

Another close event is in the pole vault. Illinois' Dale Foster was co-champ of the conference outdoors last year at 13-8, but Iowa's Nick Piper has gone 13-9 and Hawkeye Gardner Van Dyke 13-6 in competition this year.

Fessenden Fast
In the middle distances, Illinois' Ralph Fessenden seems to be the best of the 440 men. Fessenden has run 49 flat indoors this year, and went 47.4 last summer.

A top-notch race is in the offing for the 880. Back from service is Illinois' great Henry Cryer who has times as low as 1:51.5. Cryer's best this year has been around 1:58, while Hawk Murray Keatinge has done 1:55.9 and should get lower with Cryer running with him.

Iowa's Rich Ferguson should take the mile, but in the two-mile he is due for a stiff test from Sweden's gift to the Illini, Karl Jonsson.

In the shot, Illinois' Don Wood and Larry Staff, the latter a 280-pound behemoth and only a sophomore, look to be a shade ahead of Iowa's Jim Freeman, Dick Deasy and Roger Swedberg.

Close High Jump
The high jump will probably be close, also. Illinois has good men in James Nagel, Richard Wham and Woodson, while Stevens and Paul Kitch have each leaped 6-4.

Ohio State lacks the first-place winners possessed by Illinois and Iowa, but the Buckeyes are due to cut in for a large share of points. With Smith below his peak, Ohio's Williams may take the broad jump. The Hawkeyes will leave for Champaign today by bus, and the meet will probably give Cretzmeier a good idea of how far his squad has come since last March, when Iowa finished sixth in the Big Ten indoor meet.

Iowa Rifle Team Ties with Badgers

The Iowa rifle team tied Wisconsin last Saturday, turning in a performance that may be good enough for the Big Ten conference lead.

The Iowa team led the Big Ten by 20 points after the first two of four rounds. The Wisconsin score was 1,382 to 1,382.

The total scores of the Big Ten teams will not be known until last week's results are obtained from Ohio State.

Capt. John Warner, director of marksmanship at SUI, said that Saturday's score should be good enough to keep Iowa in first place.

The Iowa individual scores Saturday (300 possible): James Bell 284, Roy Eberline, 278, John Westwick, 276, Bernard Slofer 274, Thomas Carson 272 and Charles Griffith 269.

Wrestlers Face Purdue Here

Marion Whips Wilson, 55-51

Marion 17 12 13 13—55
CR Wilson 20 14 14 3—51

Marion's WalMac conference champions rallied to overcome Cedar Rapids Wilson, 55-51, Thursday night in the Class A district finals.

In gaining a sub-state berth, Coach Les Hipple's Indians scored 11 consecutive points in the fourth quarter to wipe out a 50-42 lead held by Coach Don Durey's Ramblers. For most of the game Marion trailed. A 29-22 margin was the Indians' only lead until Darell Faylor connected with 3:08 to play which put Marion ahead, 51-50, for keeps.

Jerry Cox and Faylor led the last period, Indian uprising with a pair of baskets. Bob Claypool tallied with 5:54 to play in starting the rally and after Cox's basket at 2:02, Dick Louvar finally broke the spell for Wilson by hitting a free throw. However, Cox led the game with a basket at 1:18 to send Marion into the sub-state tourney March 7-12 with a 21-2 record.

Wilson Leads Early
It was all Wilson at the outset of the contest as Larry Childs paced the Cedar Rapids club to a 12-2 lead after 3:18 had been played.

However, Faylor, Cox and Ron Altenberg got the favored Indians untracked, and by the end of the period Wilson, rattled by Marion's full court press, held only a shaky 20-17 edge.

After Marion's brief surge to the 23-22 lead, Wilson boomed back behind Childs, Louvar and Cliff Svoboda to take a 34-29 halftime lead.

Hold Margin
Childs took game-scoring honors with 18 points on 9 field goals, while his teammate Svoboda picked up a dozen points. For Marion Cox tallied 16, Altenberg 15 and Faylor 10.

The dual meet trail ends for the Iowa wrestlers here Saturday at 7:30 p.m. when Purdue's battered Big Ten defending champion team appears for the seventh and last contest.

Iowa has a mark of five wins and one loss in Big Ten meets, and is 8-2-1 for the season. Purdue, in trouble because of injuries and illness, is 1-4-1 in conference duals and 3-7-2 for the season.

The only Hawk loss in the conference was the 14-11 surprise by Michigan State. Earlier in the season, Purdue beat the Spartans, 15-14, by means of a forfeited heavyweight bout.

None of the Iowans has a perfect record, but Terry McCann, 123, and Ken Leuer, heavyweight, each are 10-1 in bouts and Dick Govig, 130, is 7-1-3. Govig's defeat by Colorado last Monday was his first in two seasons of dual meets, and his career mark now is 12 wins and five draws.

Marks of the other Hawkeyes include Jerry Salmon, 147, Harlan Jenkinson, 177, and John Winder, 167, each 7-3-1. The Hawkeyes, however, are not too strong in the 137-lb. class, with the injured Bill Clements still out, and in the 157 division.

Preacher Roe Quits Baseball, Says His Legs Are 'Gone'

WEST PLAINS, Mo. (AP)—Preacher Roe became strictly a small town grocer Friday.

The pithy preacher—remember Brooklyn—was glanced at the calendar on his grocery store wall to confirm a few dates and then summed up his baseball retirement with four words: "My legs are gone."

The skinny, long-legged left-hander chatted with customers at his supermarket and occasionally let his mind wander back over his baseball trail.

If the Preacher needed any prompting (which he didn't) the calendar shows that he will be 39 Saturday.

"I'm not injured," said Roe, who was Brooklyn's big pitching gun in three successful National league pennant drives. "It just reached the point that I got so tired that I hurt all over when I pitched. Sixteen years is enough for me."

Even an attractive offer—$21,000—from the Baltimore Orioles couldn't lure Roe back to the pitching wars.

The Preacher, christened Edwin Charles Roe, was sold during the winter to the Orioles, who gave up $70,000 and two minor league players for the hurler and third baseman Billy Cox.

Roe said he was afraid Brooklyn didn't take his request for voluntary retirement about the first of this year seriously enough.

Roe came out of Harding, Ark., College in 1935 to sign a $5,000 bonus contract with the St. Louis Cardinals.

In 11 years in the majors Roe had 127 victories, to 84 defeats. In his seven seasons with Brooklyn he had a 93-37 record for an amazing .715 percentage despite fading to 3-4 last year.

Preacher Roe Offered $21,000

Ed Lindsey In Dodger Tryout

tain Ron Capps and Don Waldron. Of Waldron, Vogel asserts, "He has won three letters, and undoubtedly he will be our regular shortstop, barring the unforeseen." Capps, a two-year letterman, Jensen, junior Ken Kurtz and sophomore Ron Michaelson are practicing at second base, third base and shortstop.

"They're being tried around the various spots for protection. In case of injury we want to be flexible enough to be able to adjust our club to the situation," points out Vogel, known as "Otto" to his players. Capps, a second baseman in 1954, can also be used as a first baseman, catcher or outfielder.

During the past week the squad has been concentrating on defensive play. "The team as a whole seems to be hitting better, but we'll miss (Ed) Lindsey's power," Vogel claims. After a prospect has his turn in one of the field house batting cages, he then turns his attention to defense. Incidentally, Lindsey is now participating in the Brooklyn Dodger rookie training camp at Vero Beach, Fla.

3 Seniors Lead Pitching
As for pitching, it appears not that Merle Jensen, team co-captain with Capps, southpaw Bill Dugan and Ron Schaeffer, all seniors, will lead the hurling staff. Junior Ken Meek, who had a bad knee from football last year, and sophomores Don Dobrino and Al Bean should be of help. "Dobrino shows very good promise," states Vogel, "and among the other sophomore pitchers who are improving are Duane Schipull and Jae Johnson."

Meek is also an outfielder. After basketball season, Bill Schoof, a pitcher, may join the team. Other possible additions from the basketball team are outfielders Sharm Scheuerman and Babe Hawthorne. Don Westcott, who pitched in 1953, is back and he can also catch and play in the outfield.

Catchers
In the catching department, sophomore Don Bock is a likely prospect. Junior Harold Primrose has been dividing his time between catching and learning third base. Then, too, Capps and Westcott are potential receivers.

Nothing is set yet for the outfield. However, when he doesn't pitch, Jensen, who looms as the club's leading power hitter, will probably patrol one field. All outfield spots could go to those who can't make the infield or battery.

Arizona, which won the Rocky Mountain berth to the NCAA "Little World Series" last June at Omaha, will have some 20 games under its belt when the Hawks face them in April.

3 SUI Teams At Midwest So

Three debating teams are representing SUI in forensics competition at midwestern universities this week.

As part of the annual Big Ten conference debates George Ojemann, A3, Iowa City, and James McKinney, A3, Muscatine, debated Thursday at Ohio State.

The other half of the debating team, Ida May Brendel, A2, Muscatine, and Sandra Swengel, A1, Muscatine, participated in forensics competition Thursday evening at Purdue.

Both teams will take part in the Indiana forensics tournament Friday and Saturday at Bloomington, Ind.

The topic to be discussed is: Resolved—"That the U.S. should extend diplomatic recognition to the Communist government of China." Following the debate, a discussion session will be held on how American colleges and universities can best meet the needs of society. Extemporaneous and public speeches are also part of the tournament.

Four debaters, Larry Popofsky, A1, Oskaloosa; Reed Phillips Jr., A3, Davenport; Tom O'fenburger, A3, Shenandoah, and Stephen Shadle, A1, Estherville, will participate in another forensics tournament at the University of Nebraska today and Saturday. John Ellery, of the SUI speech department, will be the SUI representative.

Iowa Rifle Team ties with Badgers

The Iowa rifle team tied Wisconsin last Saturday, turning in performance that may be good enough for the Big Ten conference lead. The Iowa team led the Big Ten by 20 points after the first two of four rounds. The Wisconsin score was 1,382 to 1,382. The total scores of the Big Ten teams will not be known until last week's results are obtained from Ohio State. Capt. John Warner, director of archery, said that Saturday's score should be good enough to keep Iowa in first place. The Iowa individual scores Saturday (300 possible): James Bell 284, Roy Eberline, 276, John Westwick, 276, Bernard ... 274, Thomas Carson 272 and Charles Griffith 269.

SEATO Conference Maps Defense Plans

BANGKOK (Friday) (AP)—The Southeast Asia defense conference set up a military committee Thursday which went swiftly to work on measures to cope with communism.

It had assurance from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles of backing by what he described as the most powerful U.S. striking force in history. His description took into consideration nuclear weapons developed since World War II.

The conference, which winds up its three-day sessions Friday, picked Bangkok for permanent headquarters of a secretariat or council of representatives with ambassadorial rank.

Dulles, Eden Confer
It also mapped plans for subcommittees which will deal with subversion and economic problems.

Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden talked over the Formosan situation at a dinner Thursday night at the U.S. Embassy. They were joined by Richard Casey, Australian minister of external af-airs.

No announcement came out of the meeting as to whether Eden and Dulles went into steps to be taken in event Red China should attack the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu, regarded as stepping-stones to Nationalist Formosa.

U.S. Contribution
Under plans being worked out by the newly created military committee, there will be no over-all commander or separate force such as is the case for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Instead, each nation would train its own troops and keep them within their home commands unless needed elsewhere to stop Communist aggression.

The United States would contribute the main force. Dulles said Thursday that 400 warships with 300,000 men, a ground force of 350,000 men and 30 squadrons of air force jet bombers and interceptors are ready to strike anywhere in the Pacific.

Senate Passes Bill Allowing Children Under 16 to Set Pins

DES MOINES (AP)—A bill to permit children under 16 to work in bowling alleys or do not have been permits was passed by the senate and sent to the house Thursday.

Vote on the measure was 31-16. Supporters of the bill hailed it as designed to combat juvenile delinquency. Opponents declared it was "cheap labor" legislation.

After the bill was passed the senate remained at ease until 4:30 p.m. for senators who wished to file bills. Thursday was the last day for individuals to file bills.

Upholds Bill
Sen. Arch McFarlane (R-Waterloo), argued for the bill, declaring that "young people must be kept busy."

He said children under the present child labor law could not work in such establishments past 6 p.m., but the bill would enable them "to earn a dollar or two in the hours after school lets out."

Sen. George O'Malley (D-Des Moines), spoke against the bill. "Encourages Absenteeism"

He contended the measure "hits right into the teeth of the recommendations made by the recent white house conference on children." He said it would encourage absenteeism from school.

"If ever there was an umbrella bill — if ever there was a cheap labor bill, this is it," O'Malley said.

Proponents of the measure said that juveniles under present labor laws must obtain a permit from the superintendent of schools before they can accept any employment. They said this would prevent any youngster from staying out of school to work in a bowling alley or any other type of establishment.

Bill Would Raise Sales Tax to 2 1/2%

DES MOINES (AP) — Rep. Henry Stevens (R-Jefferson), filed with the house Thursday a proposed amendment which would cut in half the increases in sales and use taxes approved by the senate Tuesday.

The senate bill, passed by a vote of 31-18, increased the sales and use taxes from 2 to 3 per cent each and exempt entirely certain staple foods.

Stevens proposed that each levy be boosted from two to two and one-half per cent. He would give no exemptions at all.

The House Appropriations committee filed a bill Thursday calling for an appropriation of $1,509 to pay the expenses of the inauguration of Gov. Leo A. Hoegh and of the reception which followed.

Two years ago, the inaugural ceremonies and reception cost the state $1,660.

The Conservation committee put its approval on two bills. One for $275,000 for construction of a dam in Montgomery county. The other would provide for payment of $150,000 by the state for sewer construction in cooperation with the town of Lake View.

The Agricultural committee No. 2 recommended passage of a bill to require that purchases of eggs from the producers be made on a grade basis, and that egg sales to consumers also be on a grade basis.

Oratory Contest Date Announced

Dates of the Hancher public speaking contest were announced Thursday by Prof. Orville Hitchcock of the SUI speech department.

Preliminary contest is scheduled for March 30 and the final contest will be held April 5.

A $25 cash prize will be awarded to the winner. The contest is open to undergraduate students. Subjects should be of current interest and the speeches must not be more than 10 minutes long.

Students who wish to enter should register in room 10, Schaeffer hall, by March 25. Speech department faculty members should be consulted on questions concerning subjects and material.

The winner will be eligible for competition in the Northern Oratorical League contest. The league is composed of five Western conference and Western Reserve colleges. First prize of $100 and $50 second prize will be awarded.

Drill Team To Perform At TV Game

The SUI Pershing Rifles drill team will appear before a national television audience Saturday at the half-time period of the Iowa-Michigan basketball game.

The team, an honorary military fraternity, has already performed at ROTC functions and formed an honor guard for the cadet colonel at the recent Military Ball.

On March 4 the team will fly to Champaign, Ill., drill meet with the Pershing Rifles company at the University of Illinois. Other drill meets scheduled are with Iowa State college, Coe college and the University of Minnesota.

Team members, under the command of Cadet 1st Lt. William Miner, A2, Washington, are: Joseph W. Aossey, E1, Cedar Rapids; William Skoog, A1, Newton; David E. Carter, A1, Manchester; Edward M. Beckmann, E1, Bennett; Gary G. Cox, E1, Kansas City, Mo.

Charles H. Halsey, A1, Westhampton, N.Y.; Jack D. Hansen, A2, Decorah; Robert K. Whelan, A2, Des Moines; Robert L. Burns, A1, Lake Park; Lee T. Smith, A1, Iowa City, and Gerald L. Mahon, E1, Council Bluffs.

Workmen Uncover Cornerstone Box

Marcus Sutton, commander of the local American Legion post, opened the Community building cornerstone box which was uncovered Wednesday by workmen as they continued cleanup work on the building destroyed by fire a month ago.

The sealed copper box, though its exterior was blackened by smoke, had kept the papers inside in good condition. Twenty-one items were contained in the box, including Legion and Iowa City magazines and newspapers, brochures, a canceled building bond and articles of incorporation of the local Legion post.

According to papers in the box, the principal speaker at the cornerstone laying, June 11, 1928, was Dean Chester A. Phillips, now Dean-emeritus of the college of commerce. Included among the brochures was "Old Capitol," a brief review of the historic building and of SUI.

Turkey, Iraq Sign Mutual Aid Pact

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — The Turkish-Iraqi Mutual Defense pact linking a key country of the Arab world with the West was signed here Thursday night.

Egypt, a leader in the Arab League, recently threatened to withdraw from the Arab collective security setup the day Iraq signed with Turkey.

Egypt has objected that Iraq in joining Turkey, a member of the North Atlantic Treaty organization, would upset the Arab league's effort to maintain a neutral course in the cold war.

Fraternities To Take Poll On Fund Drive

Does Iowa City want a United Fund drive? The answer will be determined Saturday, March 5, when 300 SUI fraternity pledges will cover Iowa City and Coralville in a door-to-door survey.

Members of the Johnson county Community Chest board met Thursday night with representatives of the SUI Interfraternity council to discuss canvass plans.

Prof. Marion C. Boyer, of the college of engineering, chairman of the Johnson county Community Chest board, said that under the present system, the Community Chest solicits funds for eight organizations. A United Fund drive might include both community and national charities, and it would be a means of donating to all of them in a lump sum. Such a system would be entirely apart from the present Community Chest.

Plans were made to divide Iowa City and Coralville into 19 districts of about 20 blocks each, and each fraternity will be assigned one district. A mass meeting will be held Saturday morning before the survey starts.

THROWS WEIGHT
LONDON (AP) — Percy Porter, 24, was called before a judge Wednesday for throwing his weight around. The formal charge was: He "wantonly hurled a missile" in a public park.

The "missile" was a 16-pound ball attached to a wire with a handle on it. Porter is a hammer thrower. The judge let him go.

New Organ Installed

MRS. MARGARET PENDLETON, SUI music instructor, runs through a prelude, in preparation for evening meditation services, on the new Kilger organ which was recently installed in the Trinity Episcopal church. The $12,000 organ will be used in the Iowa City observance of World Day of Prayer today, and will be dedicated later in the year at a special recital program. Story: Page 1.

Union Bowling Meet To Begin March 1

Eliminations will start March 1 in the new 16-lane bowling alley in the Iowa Memorial Union to select five SUI representatives and an alternate, who will compete in the Big Ten Bowling Tournament at Columbus, O., April 23.

All tournament registrants will bowl six lines in the preliminaries, with the top eighteen scorers advancing to the semifinals. These contestants will be bracketed into six groups of three men each. An additional three lines will then be bowled to determine the six finalists.

The six finalists will bowl three lines, and the five top scorers will be named to the Iowa Union Big Ten bowling team, with the sixth man designated as an alternate.

All competition in the tournament must be completed by March 17. Campus bowling enthusiasts who wish to register for the tourney should do so before February 23, at the control counter in the Union recreation area.

SUI bowlers making the trip to Columbus for the Big Ten meet will have all expenses paid. The local tournament is sponsored by the Union Board.

Tax Bills Flood House On Last Day

DES MOINES (AP) — A series of tax bills to permit the state to levy against items declared tax free by the courts was included in the 72 new measures received by the house Friday.

The rush of new bills came on the last day of the introduction of bills by individuals. After the legislature returns March 7, after its usual spring recess, only committees will be permitted to introduce bills.

One of the tax bills, estimated to yield 3 million dollars a year in additional state revenue, would levy the sales and use taxes against equipment not readily available in Iowa; the sale of electricity, coal, gas or other fuel used in the generation of electric power or in the process of manufacturing. Sponsors of the bill are Rep. J. Henry Lucken (R-Akron) and 14 others.

Other Tax Bills
Among the other tax bills were these:

To remove the use tax exemption on tangible personal property used in interstate commerce, or in the performance of a construction project. By Rep. Henry Stevens (R-Jefferson) and 16 others.

To remove the use tax exemption on tangible personal property brought into Iowa which had not been purchased for use in Iowa. By Rep. Henry Nelson (R-Forest City) and 16 others.

Divert Liquor Money
Another of the new bills would abolish the military service tax credit fund effective next Jan. 1 and permit the approximately 2 1/2 million dollars a year the state liquor control commission has been putting into the fund to divert it to the state general fund.

War veterans, however, would still continue to get property tax exemption. The bill was introduced by Reps. Lucken and Jay C. Colburn (R-Harlan).

Another new bill would make the cigarette tax paid deductible on federal income tax return. By Rep. Jack Miller (R-Sioux City), who said the measure would mean a saving of $450,000 a year for Iowa. He added that four other states have such a law.

Gets 40 Years For Dual Killing

FORT DODGE (AP) — Dillard Brown, 48, who killed his former wife and her new husband and later boasted of the slaying, was sentenced to 40 years in prison Friday.

Earlier in the day Brown entered a plea of guilty to two charges of second degree murder in the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Anderson at the Anderson farm near Dayton Feb. 5.

Brown was given 40 year terms on each of the charges but the sentences will run concurrently. He is to be taken to the Iowa penitentiary at Fort Madison. The double slaying followed a dispute between Brown and his former wife over custody of their five children who were asleep in an upstairs room when the Andersons were slain.

Sentence was pronounced by Webster County District Judge G. R. Hill.

Brown had originally pleaded innocent to open charges of murder but changed his plea Friday when the state reduced the charges to second degree murder.

Senate Dow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate, with a wary eye on lax-paying voters back home, voted 62-7 Friday against accepting a $1,250 tax-free allowance as part of a congressional pay increase bill.

Legislation raising the salaries of senators and representatives from $15,000 to $23,750 a year was sent back to conference with the house with instructions to knock out the tax-free allowance feature.

Critics of the allowance said it would lead the man-in-the-street to "point the finger of suspicion" at all congress members. Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney (D-Okla.) called the allowance a "gimmick."

Senators Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) and Everett Dirksen (D-Ill.) defended it as a bona fide expense allowance. Former Vice-President Alben Barkley
