Fly Cross-Country in Less Than 4 Hours

COAST-TO-COAST AIR SPEED RECORD WAS BROKEN Wednesday by three air force pilots, Lt. Col. Robert R. Scott, 34, Des Moines; Maj. Robert C. Ruby, 32, Des Moines, and Capt. Charles T. Hudson, 33, Gulfport, Miss. The three streaked across the country from Los Angeles, Calif., to Farmingdale, N.Y., in their Thunderstreak jet fighters, in less than four hours.

2 Des Moines Pilots Break Speed Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Two air force pilots from Des Moines broke the speed record from Los Angeles to New York Wednesday, making a nonstop flight in less than four hours.

Lt. Col. Robert R. Scott, 34, flying a Republic F-84F Thunderstreak jet fighter, turned in the fastest time — 3 hours 46 minutes and 33 seconds. He averaged 649 miles an hour.

Just one minute behind him was another Des Moines pilot, Maj. Robert C. Ruby, 32. His time was 3:47:33.

The old mark for the 2,445-mile route was 4:06:16, set Jan. 2, 1954, by an air national guard pilot.

Refueling Slow
The pilots said they could have made faster time except for slow and obsolete in-flight refueling tanker planes.

A third pilot who shattered the old mark was Capt. Charles T. Hudson, 33, of Gulfport, Miss., who made the flight in 3:49:53.

Eight air force Thunderstreaks left Los Angeles in a mass assault on the record. Five dropped out through failure to make contact with refueling planes or other reasons. All reportedly landed safely.

While setting a Los Angeles-New York record, Scott failed to beat the navy's time from San Diego, Calif., to New York — 2,438 miles, or seven miles shorter than Wednesday's run.

Flew Cougar Jet
Lt. Comdr. Francis X. Brady, 33, of Virginia Beach, Va., flew from San Diego in 3:45:30 on April 1, 1954, flying a Grumman F-9F Cougar.

The air force planes flew at about 40,000 feet.

"The tankers used for refueling are much too obsolete and too old," Scott commented on landing.

The jets had to slow to 200 m.p.h. from almost 650 to take on fuel.

Scott said he refueled twice — once near La Junta, Colo., and once near Rantoul, Ill.

Others Agree
Ruby and Hudson also said they could have made faster time if the tank planes were more modern.

Wednesday's eight starters flew under different fuel situations, apparently to test which was best.

Hudson and Ruby carried extra gas tanks and made one in-flight refueling each. Scott carried no extra gas and had two in-flight refuelings.

Mr. Eisenhower first submitted the nomination last November, shortly after Jackson's death. The senate was in special session then, but the judiciary committee deferred action at Sen. James O. Eastland's (D-Miss.) request.

As to whether stock prices in general have gone too high, Smith said he doesn't know, adding, "And I don't believe anybody knows."

Whether there is too much speculation in the stock market, Smith said, is a matter of opinion.

"I don't grant yet that there is too much," he said.

The suggestion that the Federal Reserve board take steps to put the stock market on a "100 per cent margin" basis, meaning the buyer must put up all cash, came Tuesday from John Kenneth Galbraith, professor of economics at Harvard university.

'Precautionary Measure'
Galbraith, a historian on the 1929 market crash, urged this action as a "precautionary measure" to prevent a similar bust at the end of the present boom. The present cash requirement is 60 per cent.

Smith said he doubted that the committee hearings of Galbraith's testimony had anything to do with Tuesday's sharp decline in market prices.

Brokers and underwriters of security issues, Smith testified, "have played only a minor role" in the rise of the stock market, and said "this is as it should be."

Garner Says Teachers' Pay Hike Needed

"An across-the-board" pay raise for Iowa City teachers may be presented to the board of education at its special election reorganization meeting March 21," Mrs. Irvin P. Irwin, chairman of the board's committee on employment, said Wednesday.

The committee and a liaison group for the city teachers are studying teacher pay throughout Iowa now.

"We are going to be in trouble on the teacher market this fall with our beginning salary of $3,150," Superintendent of Schools Buford W. Garner told the board of education at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

Garner reported that many school superintendents disclosed at a recent meeting he attended in St. Louis, that their systems would top the Iowa City beginning salary.

Garner asked the board to give the teacher-pay question serious consideration, as "Iowa City is going to need to hire 30 to 40 teachers, and several cities in Iowa, such as Cedar Rapids and Davenport are definitely going to outbid Iowa City for teachers next fall."

Cites 'Serious Gap' In Industry Security

WASHINGTON (AP)—The defense department asked congress Wednesday to plug a "serious gap" through which it said potential spies and saboteurs are filtering into key industries.

Wilber M. Bruecker, defense department general counsel, said the gap could be closed by enactment of the defense facilities bill.

Testing before a senate government operations subcommittee, Bruecker said the bill would bar subversive individuals from plants not now engaged in defense work but which would be needed in time of war. Present law does not afford this protection.

The subcommittee is investigating the administration's security program. Chairman Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) thinks it should possibly be reorganized.

Senate Names Dawson To Resources Council

Dean Francis M. Dawson, head of SUI's college of engineering, and H. Garland Hershey, director of the Iowa geological survey, were among four appointees to the Iowa natural resources council confirmed Wednesday by the state senate.

Flood control and water conservation and development are the major charges of the council.

Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.), a senior Democratic member of the senate finance committee, told a reporter shortly after announcement of the substitute that "it's better than the house bill," but added, "I do not think it is likely it will change my position" against any income tax cut at this time.

The chairman of the finance committee, Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), also greeted the plan coldly. "I do not think it will change things on the senate floor," he commented.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) foresaw "a bit of a floor fight." Dirksen voted for Harlan in committee.

The senate confirmed Harlan more than a year ago as a judge of the 2d U.S. circuit court of appeals in New York.

The controversy over Harlan raged mainly over his views on world government. Critics raised the question whether he would hold treaties paramount to the Constitution and domestic law. They noted he was a member of the National Advisory Council of Atlantic Union.

Senale Group Gives Harlan Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nomination of Circuit Judge John Marshall Harlan for the supreme court was approved by the senate judiciary committee Wednesday.

A 10-4 vote, with one member abstaining, ended a controversy within the committee over President Eisenhower's nominee to replace the late Justice Robert H. Jackson.

Chairman Harley M. Kilgore (D-W.Va.) said he hoped to get the nomination up on the senate floor quickly, but acknowledged it would take several days. Odds appeared to favor confirmation, but not without challenge.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) foresaw "a bit of a floor fight." Dirksen voted for Harlan in committee.

Gasoline Truck Demolished

AN ELDON MILLER, INC., gasoline truck was demolished late Tuesday night when it left highway 151 and overturned three miles south of Monticello. Arnold Burkhalter, of Platteville, Wis., the driver, was treated at Monticello hospital for minor injuries. The truck cab (left) was torn from the trailer. The rear wheels of the trailer (right) came off and landed in a nearby creek. The truck was bound for Wisconsin. It had been loaded earlier in the evening at the Coralville pipe line terminal.

Broker Opposes Proposal For All-Cash Stock Buying

WASHINGTON (AP) — The world's biggest broker disagreed sharply Wednesday with a recommendation that stock buying be put on an all-cash basis.

Such a step, Winthrop H. Smith told the senate banking committee would be discriminatory and block the issuance of new securities.

Countryman Maps Plans For Counties

DES MOINES (AP) — Atty. Gen. Dayton Countryman said Wednesday he and law enforcement officials of six counties "have worked out a procedure" for a renewed campaign against taverns which obtain federal retail liquor dealer licenses.

Countryman, called into the conference Wednesday afternoon by the county attorneys of Clinton, Dubuque, Scott, Harrison, and Polk counties and an assistant county attorney from Woodbury county.

Also attending were Chief R. W. Nebergall of the State Bureau of Criminal Investigation and three members of Countryman's staff.

'Going To Work'
After a discussion lasting more than an hour and a half Countryman said, "We are going to work. We are going to raid the places which have obtained federal permits since Jan. 6."

He said that since Jan. 6 three federal permits each have been issued for taverns in Dubuque and Woodbury counties and one each in Clinton, Harrison, Polk, and Scott counties.

"We were all agreed that anyone who buys such a permit buys it for the purpose of selling liquor illegally under Iowa law," Countryman told newsmen.

Had 'Healthy Discussion'
He related that, although he called the county officials into the conference, "they were all happy and willing to come. We had a very healthy discussion."

Last Jan. 6, Countryman directed the county attorneys and sheriffs of 78 of the state's 99 counties to conduct intermittent raids on taverns which had obtained federal permits.

At that time he said about 2,000 permits had been purchased for taverns in the 78 counties since last July 1.

A banquet also is being planned by the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce and the Monday Morning Quarterback club for March 26, probably at the Elk's club in honor of SUI's Big Ten champions.

Because plans for the dinner are incomplete, ticket information and arrangements will be announced later.

The Quarterback club also said Wednesday that plans to set up an alumni ticket office in Evanston are being made.

A block of tickets for this area is on sale here.

TALK SLATED
Prof. Elizabeth Halsey, head of SUI's department of physical education for women, will speak to the Physical Education club at Illinois Normal university, Normal, Ill., this evening.

Dog Bites Adult, 2 Children in City

Two small children and an adult were bitten Wednesday by a black cocker spaniel in the Templin-Riverside park area. The wounds were not serious.

Police took the dog to University hospitals for a rabies test.

Bitten were: Mrs. Robert Seiber, 218 Templin park; Jane Wheeler, 4, 133 Templin park, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wheeler, and Gary Appleby, 3, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Appleby, 448 N. Riverside drive.

The Wheelers called Iowa City police after the dog bit their child. Police found the dog standing on the Wheeler porch.

Democrats Submit Revised Tax Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leaders came up Wednesday with a new tax plan they said would cut the income taxes of low income families by $900 million a year while actually increasing federal revenue.

Taxes on stockholders and corporations would be boosted.

Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas claimed that if congress accepted the plan and the Eisenhower administration followed a "reasonably prudent" course the budget could be balanced in fiscal 1957.

The new proposal would be substituted for a bill passed by the house to cut income taxes $20 a year for every taxpayer and dependent beginning next Jan. 1.

$10 For Dependent
The new plan would give each head of a household a $20 cut plus $10 for each dependent other than a spouse.

Johnson explained to newsmen that this provision could be used, however, only to the extent that it exceeds the advantages of income tax splitting now enjoyed by married couples, and that the general effect would be to limit the reduction to families with incomes below $5,000.

Revenue gains would be achieved by repealing tax benefits voted last year for corporations and stockholders.

Corporate Tax Extension
It also would extend for 27 months,

A Definite Policy—at Last—

Our reaction to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' foreign policy speech Tuesday night was exactly that expressed by Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.).

Sparkman said he hoped Dulles' address "means that we are stating a policy and standing on it."

This is what we've been waiting for. A definite policy—and a policy that makes few or no concessions.

Dulles said, in his usual diplomatic manner, "We must, if occasion offers, make it clear that we are prepared to stand firm, and, if necessary, meet hostile force with the greater force that we possess."

Now that's talkin'. However, our fears are the same as Sparkman's. He pointed out that the administration indicated early last year "in no uncertain terms" that no part of Indochina would be allowed to go Communist.

The facts speak for themselves. One-half of Indochina is now Communist.

Sparkman said, and we agree, "I hope that we are not engaging in a bluff as we did in Indochina. I hope that we are not going to change our stand but are going to do whatever necessary to defend Formosa and the Pescadores."

Opposition from the Old Guard—

Judge John Marshall Harlan has passed the first hurdle toward being named an associate justice of the supreme court.

The senate judiciary committee passed on Harlan's qualifications, 10 to 4. It appears that before Harlan takes the oath of office, there will be a "warm" debate on the senate floor.

The "old guard" faction of the Republican party previously voiced disapproval of Harlan when he testified before the senate committee which considered Harlan's qualification for the high court.

Headed by Senators William Langer (R-N.D.) and Herman Welker (R-Idaho), the reactionaries hit upon Harlan's affiliation with the Atlantic Union committee as basis for their attack.

The Atlantic Union committee favors political union with some foreign nations with a common defense establishment and common foreign policy as its main tenets.

The organization is similar in doctrine to the World Federalists, or for that matter, is not too dissimilar from the UN organization.

But Langer and crew found the organization abhorrent to their fervent desire to be watchdogs of U.S. sovereignty. Thus, strong objection to Harlan's appointment was raised.

What was not considered by the Republican "old guard" were Harlan's merits as a qualified lawyer, and his fine reputation as judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals in New York.

The senate should approve Harlan on the basis of his ability as a judge. To find a man whose views on a subject were not contradictory to at least some factions of government would be an impossible task.

We have faith in Harlan as a man who will act on judicial matters in accordance with the best interests of the country.

His record is clean in spite of the fears and qualms of the ever-fearful, "old guard."

Fine Reputation—

All Iowans take pride in their State University, now 100 years old, and educating—at the moment—8,264 students.

The institution was founded a century ago Saturday with 40 students and with courses, for the most part, offered only in the school prospectus.

The University's first president hung onto his job as dean of a law school in Albany, N.Y., and was present on the Iowa campus only three times in the four years he held the position.

From 1858 to 1860, except for the normal school, the institution had to suspend operations for lack of finances.

Iowa, however, has a long record of interest in education and while the University has never been rolling in money, its progress has been steady until today it comprises an organization of 10 colleges, four schools and 100 departments. In contrast with the single building in which it was first housed, the University now has 90 permanent buildings.

The state university has a reputation for turning out well educated graduates. Evidence is seen in the demand "in the market place" and in the call of the professions for those who complete its courses.

It is a prime asset to Iowa and must never be permitted to slip or stand still. Appropriations, of course, are the principal factor in determining the university's progress. For the welfare of Iowa, the legislature can never afford to be niggardly in its attitude toward the university.

Assault with Intent To Kill

Scene of Lincoln's Murder May Be Restored In Detail

WASHINGTON (P)—One thing visitors to historic Ford's theater want—and at last may get—is realism.

They expect to see the flag-draped balcony box where John Wilkes Booth, a deranged actor with flashing black eyes and murder in his heart, assassinated Lincoln.

And they expect to see the stage where Booth fell and broke his leg after catching a spur in the colors of the Treasury Guards that night when the Civil War President was viewing a farewell performance of the celebrated comedy, "Our American Cousin," starring Laura Keane.

People are disappointed when they don't find the stage just as it was on the night of April 14, 1865, when Lincoln was shot," says Randle B. Truett, long-time chief custodian of the Lincoln museum.

When they find that all the theatrical trappings have disappeared—the stages, boxes, chairs and so on—they want to know what happened.

"What they don't realize is that while the theater building itself still stands, the inside was ripped out a few months after the assassination to make room for government offices."

Preserving Sites Truett and others interested in preserving historic sites are hoping

Interpreting the News—

Efforts Seem Futile Against Red China

By J. M. Roberts Associated Press News Analyst

An atmosphere of futility is growing up around the American effort to face Red China with a sufficiently united front of Asiatic-Western strength to deter her from starting a war.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles didn't say a great deal more in his Tuesday night address than he had already said in his opening speech at the Bangkok conference. The warning to Red China that she faced a three-front war if she made a break was clearly defined then. The promise to meet force with greater force has been made from time to time over a period of a year.

But the impression got around immediately after the secretary's return that he expects the Reds to make some military move soon, probably against Quemoy and Matsu.

The big question remained whether the United States would send air and sea forces to the defense of these islands.

Red action, at least in its early stages, presumably would be a test of American intentions.

Failure to deter Quemoy and Matsu at this point would go far toward convincing free Asian peoples that the United States will not risk a big war to stop nibbles, and that they are all subject to nibbling until it will be too late to stop the big bite.

By making the three fronts—Korea, Formosa and Southeast Asia—interdependent in his policy, which he did to counter any idea at Bangkok that American forces could be divided among the various fronts, Dulles has given an attack on any front the status of an attack on the whole.

There is a strong question now whether indecision, or refusal to announce a decision, over Quemoy and Matsu may not be inviting a military test by the Reds. And if so, is the value of the current flexible policy worth the future cost?

Arab States Move To Unite Apart from West

NEWEST MOVE of the ever restive Arab states (lined) is plan of Egypt and Syria, quickly joined by Saudi Arabia, to unite Arab states apart from the west in a pact which would exclude other foreign alliances. Arab nations are urged to send officials to an Arab conference. A defense plan would set up a joint army command based at Damascus, capital of Syria. An Arab economic council would have power to issue currency, encourage industrial, aviation, navigation and insurance enterprises.

TO THE EDITOR:

My husband and I greatly appreciated the cartoon "Peaceful Co-Existence" in the Friday issue of The Daily Iowan. We don't agree with the idea that our legislators and congressmen must be "bought."

The argument seems to be that we cannot expect to get good men unless we are willing to pay them the same amount of money they could make in business—the assumption being that the more we pay, the better quality we are going to get, which, as any wise shopper knows, is not always necessarily true, and perhaps even especially so in the realm of human nature.

I think it is about time we stopped thinking about human personalities in terms of dollar signs.

I hope it is still true that our legislators are motivated by an intense interest in what is best for the United States of America; and that they feel they can make a unique contribution to that welfare.

If this interest is not intense enough to keep them from taking better paying professional jobs, then I say they are not the men we want.

Families like us, living on $169 per month, and trying to pay bills and save money for next semester's tuition out of it, (we are not complaining, as I'm sure there are many thousands of people with a much lower standard of living) wonder just what our congressmen do with $15,000 per year plus an expense account.

Surely anyone who knows something of the management of money can live very comfortably, and even luxuriously on that amount, and if they can't, then, with such blundering in their personal expenses, no wonder they can't do something with the national budget.

The bill has already passed, but something is wrong if there aren't some red faces when the income tax deduction bills come up. Such a fabulous raise in pay for congress and a $20 deduction for the taxpayers—the difference is going to come out somewhere.

But then that's another story and your guess is as good as mine.

A Cup of Coffee Is Not Breakfast!

Were you one of thirty million people who skipped or skimmed breakfast this morning? Were you expecting the "coffee break" to take care of your nutritional needs?

A cup of coffee will not do it. No, not even if you add a whole handful of vitamin pills.

You won't get a rash on the first morning you join the "never-mind-breakfast" club. But about 90 days later, the symptoms may show up.

The evidence indicates that a poor breakfast is a bad pattern for nutritional health. And malnutrition, even of a minor sort, produces a multitude of symptoms — physical, mental, and emotional.

A good breakfast should comprise about one-fourth of your total food for the day. It should consist of a variety of wholesome foods: fruit (cooked, canned, raw) or juice, cereal, eggs or meat, enriched bread or toast, milk, and coffee or tea if you wish it.

Such a breakfast obviously cannot be eaten on the way to the bus or while sprinting for a 7:30 class.

What can a good breakfast do? It can help an adolescent (who needs more of most foods than his or her parents) get enough calories and essential nutrients for growth and to withstand the rigors of active teenage life without depending too much on candy bars and soda pop. Teenagers need not only more calories but also more protein.

Without a doubt, a good breakfast not only contributes to better nutritional health, but is a family morale builder as well.

tein, such as they can get abundantly in bread and milk, meat and eggs.

Constant Nibbling 2. It can help an expectant mother or nursing mother to meet her unique nutritional needs without slipping into the habit of constant nibbling.

Nibbling is a notoriously bad eating practice. Frequently it is one of the causes of excessive weight gain during pregnancy. A good breakfast, making for better food distribution over the day, helps to avoid or stop nibbling.

When breakfast is the important meal it should be, it establishes a family eating pattern from which growing children will profit all their lives.

Studies at SUI indicate that a good breakfast tends to reduce late morning fatigue. This may help to prevent industrial accidents in the before-noon hour; the period when accidents in industrial plants are most frequent.

Reducing Diets 5. People on weight maintaining or reducing diets will find that calorie restriction is easier to take when one-fourth of the daily food allowance is eaten at breakfast. A reducing diet, no matter what food faddists may say to the contrary, should start with a good breakfast — one containing fruit or juice, an egg, or breakfast meat, bread or toast with a small amount of butter or margarine and a beverage.

Without a doubt, a good breakfast not only contributes to better nutritional health, but is a family morale builder as well.

Fashion Tips

Clothes Must Receive Regular Care

Good lines, correct fit and proper coordination of an outfit are the foundation upon which a man's good appearance stands. His clothes must receive regular care, however, if they are to look their best at all times and give full wearing value.

Here are 10 important tips on the right care of clothes, suggested by men's wear specialists of the made-to-measure build:

1. Don't wear the same suit two days in a row. Rotate the suits in your wardrobe. 2. Hang clothes carefully between wearings using a good hanger. This will enable clothes to retain their good lines and lose wrinkles readily.

Overloaded Pockets 3. Don't overload suit pockets. Pockets crammed full spoil the silhouette and lines of a suit and help wear it out.

Be sure your suits are made to your measurements, are properly proportioned and fit correctly, thus providing full freedom and ease of movement without binding or constriction.

Brush your clothes regularly to remove loose dust. Be sure to include inside of trouser cuffs and pockets.

Go over your suits thoroughly with the upholstery nozzle of a vacuum cleaner every week or two to remove imbedded dust and dirt.

Air Clothes 7. Air clothes between wearings to remove tobacco, perspiration and any other odors.

When suits are cleaned or pressed, be sure coat sleeves are pressed round.

Shoes should always be kept well-shined, not only because shoe care is a part of being well dressed, but because polish helps preserve shoe leather.

A hat should be brushed thoroughly before each wearing. Dust discolors a hat, detracts from a wearer's appearance and will ruin the hat felt in a short time.

Ingredients of Good Grooming Rest and regular rotation in wearing every article in a wardrobe, plus regular and meticulous care keep a man looking his best at all times and lengthen the wearing life of clothes.

It's suggested that every man annually add to his wardrobe a minimum of three suits made to his measurements. This will extend the number of possible combinations and changes and also help make clothes last longer.

Men save time and wear and tear on their wardrobe by constantly keeping clothes in good shape. A few minutes care every day is the best insurance a man can give his wardrobe.

Hawk Cagers To Leave Today For NCAA Meet

Club To Face Penn State In Regional

By Bob Hooker

Iowa's Big Ten basketball champs, after first assembling at the field house, will enroute at 9:15 a.m. today for Evanston, Ill., where the National Collegiate Athletic association's regional tournament opens Friday night.

Regional Pairings For Friday Set

Here are the National Collegiate Athletic association's pairings for the four regional tournaments' opening games Friday.

At Evanston, Ill.:
7:30 p.m. — Kentucky vs. Marquette
9:30 p.m. — IOWA vs. Penn State

At Philadelphia:
LaSalle vs. Princeton
Villanova vs. Canisus

At Manhattan, Kan.:
Southern Methodist vs. Bradley
Colorado vs. Tulsa

At Corvallis, Ore.:
Oregon State vs. Seattle
San Francisco vs. Utah

Friday's winners at each regional site will play Saturday (after the losers play for the right to enter the four-team NCAA finals at Kansas City, March 18-19).

At Kansas City on Friday, March 18, the Evanston and Philadelphia regional winners will play for the Eastern NCAA title in one game. In the other game the Manhattan and Corvallis winners will vie for the Western crown. On Saturday, March 19, the East-West final for the national championship will follow a consolation game between the March 18 losers.

gional meet last year when it was held in the Iowa field house, is the Hawks' first challenger at 9:30 p.m. as national title play opens Friday night at four fronts throughout the country.

This marks Iowa's first appearance in quest of the NCAA title, as the Hawks of 1945 refused to enter the meet after taking all the Big Ten marbles. The Nittany Lions of Coach John Egli, in his first year at Penn State, have won 18 of 26 games and have tallied over 105 points three times. Tuesday Penn State qualified for the Evanston joust by disposing of Memphis State, 59-55.

Arnelle on Hand

Center Jesse Arnelle is back again to spark the Nittany Lions. Last year Arnelle, 6-5, was voted the most valuable player after his team won the Iowa City regional by topping Louisiana State, 78-70, and Notre Dame, 71-63. A week later Penn State took third in the NCAA finals at Kansas City. This year Arnelle averaged 27.3 points per game to place ninth nationally in scoring.

Possibly Friday's opener at 7:30 p.m. between Kentucky (22-2) and Marquette (23-2) will take the spotlight at Northwestern's McGaw Memorial Hall which is the site of the four-team "knock out" to see who goes to Kansas City for the finals, Mar. 18-19.

Thus, the Hawks will face either Marquette or Kentucky Saturday no matter what happens Friday. A consolation game at 7 p.m. opens Saturday's program.

4 Records Impressive

Iowa at 17-5 gives the four Evanston entries a combined record of 80 wins in 97 outings. For the season the Hawks averaged 80.7 points per game while giving up 70.8.

Kentucky has just won its 10th Southeastern conference crown in 25 years under Coach Adolph Rupp. After losing its season's opener to Michigan State, Marquette won 22 straight before Notre Dame tripped the Hilltoppers, 85-64, last Saturday. However, Coach Jack Nagle's club Tuesday streaked away in an overtime tilt to eliminate Miami of Ohio, 90-79.

In his 25 years Rupp has won

518 games against 84 reversals at Kentucky. Both Wildcat losses this year were to Georgia Tech's "Cinderella" club, but Kentucky gained much prestige from winning December games over LaSalle, defending NCAA king and back to hold the throne this time, and Utah, the best in the Rocky mountains.

'Limber Up' Today

As for Iowa's plans, Coach Bucky O'Connor's Hawks will work out at 3 p.m. today "to limber up for the meet." Perhaps Iowa can become better acquainted with the McGaw surroundings. On Jan. 22 Northwestern tore a stunned Hawk club apart, 93-73. The team will set up headquarters at Evanston's Orrington hotel.

Wednesday night a stiff practice was held to get ready for Penn State. Assistant athletic director Rollie Williams turned over his scout report of the Penn State - Memphis State game to O'Connor.

However, Bucky pointed out, "Nothing new is planned. There was not enough time to make

WSUI To Carry Evanston Games

Hawkeye basketball action in the NCAA regional tournament Friday and Saturday will be broadcast by several Iowa stations, including WSUI, the SUI station.

Stations KWFC, Muscatine; KRIB, Mason City; KWBG, Boone, and KVFD, Fort Dodge, will carry the play-by-play accounts originated at Evanston, Ill., by WSUI Sports Director Bob Zenner.

They will broadcast the Iowa-Penn State game beginning at 9:25 p.m. Friday and, on Saturday, either the regional championship play at 8:55 p.m. or the consolation game at 6:55 p.m. any vast changes for this tournament. In fact," he continued, "Friday will be the first time that we'll see either Kentucky or Marquette play."

Still 'One Game at a Time'

O'Connor, who has just coached Iowa to its second outright Big Ten title in history, asserted, "We're still playing these games one at a time. In a tournament it's foolish to look ahead as everything is so unpredictable. One poor game is often fatal."

The only thing predictable is that the school which wins four straight will be NCAA champ for 1955.

Following the 74-58 loss to Michigan Monday in the Big Ten wind up with nothing at stake — Minnesota had lost its last chance to win for the title by losing to Wisconsin Saturday — the Hawks held only an informal shooting drill Tuesday.

Bucky adequately summed up the task ahead by telling the Hawks following the Michigan setback, "Don't offer any alibis. You won the big ones and you won them when they counted. Forget this one. But don't forget. Four more games will do it."

'Bad One Out of System'

"Certainly we hope we got our last bad one (game) out of our system at Michigan Monday," O'Connor emphasized Wednesday.

"It's better to have it happen — if it had to happen — before the NCAA meet starts."

With the NCAA imposing a tournament rule which limits a team to suit up 12 men for play, Coach O'Connor Wednesday announced that the regular traveling squad of 15 players would make the trip with the final 12-man team to be picked late of early Friday.

Thus, 12 of these 15 — Carl Cain, Deacon Davis, Doug Duncan, Bob George, Babe Hawthorne, Roy Johnson, John Liston, Bill Logan, Augie Martel, Jerry Reichow, Jerry Ridley, Sharm Scheuerman, Bill Schoof, Bill Seaberg and Frank Sebolt — will carry the Iowa banner at Evanston Friday and Saturday nights.

Balance has featured Iowa's attack all year. The present starting five over the season averaged 61.2 points per game with Logan high at 15.3 on 337 points for the year and Scheuerman only 7 points back on the average at 8.2. In between are Cain and Seaberg, each at 13.4, and Davis at 10.2. In addition, Iowa can fall back on capable bench strength.

5 Trackmen, Relay Team Eye Milwaukee Journal Meet Next

Five athletes in individual events and a mile relay team will compete at the Milwaukee Journal meet in Milwaukee Saturday, Iowa track Coach Francis Cretzmeier said Wednesday.

The group includes two freshmen who will enter unattached. They are Charles (Deacon) Jones of Boystown, Neb., who has an indoor mark of 4:11.4 for the mile and Caesar Smith of Des Moines, winner of the state prep indoor and outdoor titles in the quarter mile. Smith will enter the 800-yard run.

Varsity athletes in the meet will be Murray Keatinge, runner-up for the Big Ten 1,000-yard title last Saturday, and Nick Piper and Gardner Van Dyke, pole vaulters.

Iowa's mile relay team probably will be picked from Ira Dunsworth, Keatinge, Tom Ecker, John Oakley and Les Stevens. It will run a matched relay, possibly against Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Rich Ferguson, the distance runner, was scheduled to run the two mile in an attempt to win permanent possession of a trophy which he earned in 1953 and 1954.

Ferguson, however, has decided to remain out of competition until the outdoor season in April.

Other March indoor competition for the Hawkeyes includes the Knights of Columbus meet at Cleveland, O., March 25 and the Chicago Daily News Relays in Chicago stadium March 26.

Japanese Wrestlers to Exhibit in Iowa

A team of Japanese wrestlers touring the United States won four of seven matches from the Iowa Hawks in the field house Wednesday night.

Terry McCann, 123-pound Big Ten champion, was thrown by Katsutoshi Yokoyama in a line of 4:49. The match was wrestled under Olympic rules.

Another Hawkeye champion, 123-pound 1954 National Collegiate winner Dick Govis, was beaten by Shuhei Imada in a match that was also run under Olympic rules.

Iowa's only victory by pinning came when John Winder, 177-pound Big Ten champion, threw Toshimi Kiyotani in the time of 3:31. Winder's victory came under collegiate rules.

The Japanese squad will leave for Purdue today where they will face the Boiler-makers in an exhibition match.

Iowa Fencers To End Best Year in NCAA

Iowa's fencing team, which just finished its most outstanding season in history, is now preparing for the National Collegiate championships at East Lansing, Mar. 24-25, according to Coach Harry Hollien. Hollien said that he would pick three men to represent Iowa at the meet, but he is not sure who the three will be.

In contention are the six men who brought fourth place in the Big Ten meet last weekend. Last year's fifth place was the previous Big Ten high for the fencers.

The Hawks had one medal winner in epee man Roy Pitkin. He tied for first, but had to settle for third in a three way fence-off. James Halbach tied for fourth in the epee.

In the foil division, Ted Myers was eliminated from the finals in a fence-off, 5-4.

Hope To Substitute Outdoors for Field House

Baseball Players Work on Finer Points

Further stress on the game's finer points kept Baseball Coach Otto Vogel's prospective players busy this week as the Hawk ball club readies itself for the Arizona six-game series April 4-9 at Tucson, Ariz.

Spot pitching highlighted the work of the hurlers. "In this drill we keep a record of each pitch which is to hit a certain spot," explains Vogel. "Even if the pitch is in the strike zone, it is not marked as a successful pitch unless it hits the spot or near it. By this work we hope to make the boys control conscious."

Also getting a good share of the pitchers' attention is practice at holding men on base, covering first base and working out signals with the catchers.

Another pair of defensive measures — the pick off play and the run down — have been worked on considerably. As far as baserunning is concerned, the Hawks have practiced getting good starts and the "jump" on the pitcher plus working on the double steal.

Offensively, bunting and the hit and run are a very important aspect of the batting game practice each night. The batter tries to drive the ball behind the imaginary runner on first base to achieve the latter technique. While all drills thus far have been in the field house, which has hampered the outfielders in that they can't work on hauling in fly balls, Vogel and his men hope to move outside soon, perhaps next week, if the good weather keeps up.

Arizona has played a few games already in the 70-80 degree temperature in the Southwest. By the time the Iowa team goes west, the Wildcats, defending "district 7" NCAA champs, will have played 26 games.

3 Sub-State Cage Games Here Tonight

Another sub-state triple-header — in semi-final action — is on tap at the Iowa field house tonight.

At 6:30 p.m. City High's Little Hawks take on What Cheer for the right to oppose Keokuk. Out of this group of three teams will come one of the southeast Iowa finalists for the state meet at Des Moines March 17-19.

In the other two games tonight at the field house, St. Ambrose of Davenport and Marion collide at 8 p.m., and St. Mary's of Iowa City opposes Wheatland at 9:30 p.m. The winners of these two latter games play Saturday for the other Des Moines finals berth from this area.

Marciano-Cockell Bout Set May 16

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rocky Marciano will defend his heavyweight boxing championship against Don Cockell of England at San Francisco's Kezar Stadium the night of May 16, Promoter Jimmy Murray announced Wednesday.

Murray said he had settled the date in a telephone conversation with Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club which is co-promoting the 15-round bout.

The Monday night date apparently eliminated any national television of the fight, particularly for home viewers, but Murray declined any comment on the subject.

TV MEETING SET

Figures Show Decline In Total Employment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government said Wednesday that the number of Americans with jobs declined from January to February despite significant gains in factory employment. The commerce and labor departments reported: "Unemployment showed little change from January. Since autumn, the increase in joblessness has been a good deal smaller than usual for this time of year."

The departments estimated total employment at 59,938,000 in February, or 212,000 less than the January figure and 113,000 less than the figure reported for February, 1954.

But in the category of factory jobs, they said, there were 16,100,000 at work in February, about 120,000 more than in January.

The factory employment increase was more than offset by seasonal declines in agriculture and construction and the post-holiday decline in trade.

Unemployment in February was estimated at 3,383,000 or 36,000 higher than in January. It was 288,000 below the jobless figure for February, 1954.

Officials said this was the first time since the fall of 1953 that the count of unemployed was lower than in the corresponding month of a year earlier.

Plant To Increase Tractor Production

CHARLES CITY (AP) — The Oliver corporation plant here will, in the next four months, discontinue production of gun mounts and increase manufacture of farm tractors, George W. Bird, plant manager, said Wednesday.

Bird said a 20 per cent increase in tractor production will absorb the 200 workers who have been making gun mounts and that about 200 additional workers will be needed.

Employment of 200 more workers would bring the total close to the Charles City plant's World War II peak of 2,400. The M79 gun mounts for 106mm recoilless rifles were made here under a federal government sub-contract to Oliver's York, Pa., plant, which will take over the Charles City quota.

Prepare To 'Move' Missouri River

OMAHA (AP) — The Corps of Engineers will open bids about April 8 for the excavation of a "pilot" channel and dredging on the Missouri river near Decatur, Neb.—a key step in bringing the Missouri back under the "dry land" bridge at Decatur.

Col. Thomas J. Hayes, Omaha district engineer, said prospects now are that water will flow under the bridge sometime this fall rather than in 1956, as had been anticipated.

After the artificial channel is cut beneath the bridge, the river is expected to scour itself to full channel width in several seasons.

Communist Hungary May Oust Premier

'Could' Have Reflections In Russia

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Communist Hungary apparently prepared Wednesday to boot a premier who had urged a better life for the masses.

A new hard Red policy, reminiscent of the Stalin era, appeared to have been ushered in. It was expected to have repercussions elsewhere in Russia's East European empire. Conceivably it could mean the end of former Soviet Premier Malenkov's career.

The Central committee of the Hungarian Communist party Wednesday accused Premier Imre Nagy of "right wing deviationism." He is a 58-year-old Communist who had been front man for the policies of Malenkov. It appeared certain Nagy could not remain many days longer in office.

Wave of Arrests

As this about-face of policies was being announced, reliable reports from Budapest seeped into Vienna telling of a wave of arrests. How extensive it was could not be determined.

Many Hungarian Communists who had gained positions under Nagy and Malenkov were said to have been seized.

Many other non-Communists were reported to have been taken by secret police in a renewal of the nighttime terror which had been held in check since Moscow and the satellites adopted the better-life-for-the-people course in mid-1953.

Blasted in Revolution

Nagy, who took over the premiership in July 1953, was blasted in a resolution taken by the Central committee of the party, Budapest newspapers and radio broadcasts disclosed.

Matyas Rakosi, first secretary of the party and the opposite number in Hungary of Russia's Nikita Khrushchev, was the man who led the party debate. Western diplomats believed it showed that Rakosi, who took a back seat when the "new course" was announced, was now top man again.

Nagy, said the party resolution, was the "chief preacher of anti-Marxist ideas" which allegedly brought about a dangerous drop in production.

Accused by Party

The party accused him of supporting "opportunists and right-wing deviationists" in his own articles and speeches and claimed that, if these ideas had triumphed, "This country would have become a backward one."

Western diplomats said it was apparent that Nagy, in Hungary, was being held responsible for all the failures of the last 18 months in the same way as Malenkov in Russia.

Ike Plays Golf; Nearly Over Cold

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower went golfing Wednesday after the White House reported he was almost completely recovered from a "slight cold."

Word on the President's condition was relayed to newsmen by his physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, who also sent a message that Mrs. Eisenhower still was in bed with the flu but was feeling better.

Snyder ordered Mrs. Eisenhower to bed Monday. The President developed "slight symptoms of a cold" Tuesday. He stayed away from his office most of that day.

"The doctor told him to go out and get some exercise," said James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary.

Man Released Here On Good Behavior

Marion Dunaway, 29, sentenced to one year in county jail in November, 1954, for assault to inflict great bodily injury, Wednesday was ordered released by District Judge James P. Gaffney. Gaffney originally sentenced Dunaway, who had pleaded guilty.

Gaffney granted the release "during Dunaway's good behavior" following an attorney's oral request.

Dunaway was arrested Nov. 7, 1954, in his auto in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Picken, 654 S. Lucas st., following a fight with Picken during which a .22-caliber rifle was discharged.

County Attorney William L. Tucker did not object to Dunaway's release.

Navy Tests Seaplane Refueling by Submarine

IN A RECENT EXERCISE in the Caribbean, the U.S. navy tested refueling a seaplane in the open sea from a moving submarine. The two-week exercise was conducted by commander submarine force, Atlantic fleet. The plane is a twin-engine P5M Martin.

Marlin patrol seaplane. The submarine-oller is the USS Guavina. Seaplane-submarine refueling is an element which top navy officials are mentioning with increasing frequency in plans to implement the navy's new concept of "mobile sea bases."

SUI Given $28,600 In Gifts, Grants

Gifts and grants totaling $28,600 have been accepted by the finance committee of the state board of education for SUI. More than 90 per cent was allocated for research.

Largest of the grants, $13,808, was awarded by the National Heart institute for research to determine how inactivation of the thyroid gland benefits patients suffering from heart disease.

Physicians who will conduct the study are Drs. Richard E. Peterson and Walter M. Kirkendall. Both hold clinical appointments in the SUI department of internal medicine. Dr. Peterson is director of the radioisotope unit at the Veterans administration hospital. Dr. Kirkendall is chief of the medical service at the VA hospital.

A $6,156 grant from the scientific advisory board of the Tobacco Industry Research committee also was approved. It will support research on lung disease, with special emphasis upon pre-cancerous changes in lungs of persons who have no clinical pulmonary disease.

The research will be conducted by Dr. K. R. Cross, clinical associate professor of pathology at SUI and chief of the laboratory service at the VA hospital, in collaboration with Dr. E.D. Warner, professor and head of pathology at SUI.

Mead Johnson and Company gave $2,500 for a study of various constituents of protein which seem to be useful in counteracting diseases of bone cartilage in children. Genevieve Stearns, research professor, and Dr. I. V. Ponseti, associate professor, both in the SUI department of orthopedic surgery, will conduct the research.

Mrs. Dale Fritcher of Nashua gave $200 to University hospitals for the purchase of polio rehabilitation equipment. Mrs. Muriel Hinton of Rockwell City, in memory of her husband, the late Lester S. Hinton, gave $100 for cancer research.

The United States public health service gave $4,557 to the SUI department of zoology to investigate the physiology of flagellates, which are parasites in insects such as the mosquito and in some plants. W. B. Cosgrove, assistant professor of zoology, will conduct the study.

General Electric gave $500 to the university. An additional $250 from GE is earmarked for a scholarship to an outstanding junior student interested in specified non-technical fields such as advertising, public relations and salesmanship.

The Alcoa foundation contributed $500 to the university under an enrichment fund providing for grants to institutions with students holding Alcoa scholarships. Lisbeth Ann Fryslie, A.B. Clinton, currently holds such a scholarship.

Lawrence Roys, Moline, Ill., gave $100 to purchase equipment for prosthetic dentistry. The scholarship committee of the Women's Auxiliary of the Iowa Association of Plumbing Contractors, Inc., gave $100 to the college of nursing to be used for a senior scholarship. Under a new grant, the scholarship will be offered annually by the auxiliary.

Cash contributions totaling $29,377 were accepted for the Iowa Hospital-School for Severely Handicapped Children from Chapter HB, F. E. O., Red Oak; the Ann Ritter Circle of King's Daughters, Keokuk; Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Knoll, Adel; and the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, Washington.

Possible Presidential Candidate?

(AP Wirephotos)

PAUL BUTLER, LEFT, Democratic national committee chairman, declared on a TV program Wednesday it was "possible" Gov. Averell Harriman of New York would be the Democratic presidential candidate in 1956. Butler made the statement on Dave Garraway's "Today" program. Butler and Harriman are shown at the Waldorf Astoria hotel Tuesday night where they attended the "1956 strategy dinner" of the Nationalities Division of the Democratic national committee.

Wilson-Bontrager Suit To Open Today

A hearing on announcer Bert Wilson's suit to recover a 140-acre farm occupied by Moses Bontrager eight miles southwest of here will be held at 9:30 a.m. today in Johnson county district court.

Wilson, Chicago Cubs baseball announcer, whose real name is Ralph B. Puckett, has sued to evict Bontrager from the farm which the announcer and his wife own. Wilson has asserted the farm was rented to Bontrager without his consent and that he has now sold the property to another party.

Wilson, with Bontrager's consent testified here Saturday before flying to Arizona, and will probably not appear in court today.

Pastor's Son Draws Draft Dodging Term

CHICAGO (AP)—John W. Miller, 23, son of an Amish church pastor in Bremen, Marshall county, Ind., was convicted Wednesday of refusing to submit to army induction.

The government contended that Miller requested several changes in his classification and finally contended that he needed brain surgery because of an old head injury.

The government said draft doctors examined the youth later and found the need for surgery was not imminent. Miller had been summoned for induction Jan. 12, 1954.

HURT BY OWN CAR

TEXARKANA (AP)—Ernest Graves was run over by his own car as he attempted to open a gate at his home near here. The driverless vehicle rolled down a slope. Graves was hospitalized but was not critically injured.

'Divine Calling' Inspires Driver

DETROIT (AP)—"Divine calling," said itinerant preacher Thomas Gardner, prompted him to use his car to break up a fight between two men.

Police said the Rev. Mr. Gardner knocked down the men with his car, then drove around the block to see how they were and hit four parked cars. The battlers weren't hurt by the bump but suffered knife cuts. Police said Gardner had been drinking.

SUI Band Gives Fine Performance

By Lawrence Sherman

The broad scope of band composition was amply demonstrated Wednesday night by the SUI band in a fine performance of five works, including the "Symphony No. 1 for Band" by Don Gillis.

A march, the trademark of a band, was offered first. It was the gaily strutting "Standard of St. George" by Kenneth J. Alford. As the program note stated correctly, it was an "excellent opening number for the evening's program."

There followed the "Youth Triumphant Overture" by Henry Hadley, a composition that showed a band's capacity to handle and develop a dramatic theme. This fact accounts, perhaps, for its popularity among original band compositions.

Wagner

Wagner's funeral march "Trauersinfonie" dedicated to the memory of Weber, an early romantic composer, was given next. This composition is built on two themes from a Weber opera and was composed for a wind band and had its first performance in a ceremonial procession honoring Weber.

"An Original Suite for Band" by Gordon Jacob, contemporary English composer, was a study in contrasts beginning with a march, and followed by an intermezzo which the band performed very gently. The work closed with a short but flashy piece of show music.

Gillis

"Symphony No. 1 for Band" by Don Gillis is a sparkling composition that earned a splendid performance. In its abounding descriptions of a mid-western town it labors nothing and loses nothing.

The town is Cameron Junction, Mo., and the first movement returned to 1925 and depicted the healthy vigor of moving from one delightful task to another.

Airlift of 3-Cent Mail Satisfactory

WASHINGTON (AP)—The post office department may seek to make permanent its experimental airlift of some first class mail at a three-cent rate. The regular air-mail rate is six cents.

Postmaster General Summerfield told the house appropriations committee the experiment of moving three-cent mail by air when extra space is available in the commercial airliners has proved "quite satisfactory." His testimony was made public Wednesday.

He predicted the present limited operation would save $154,000.

The trial mail airlift has been under sharp attack by the railroads.

Rumor Princess Margaret, Divorcee To Wed This Fall

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret, like her uncle Edward VIII before her, was reported ready Wednesday to surrender her royal prerogatives for the love of a divorced commoner.

The 24-year-old princess and Royal Air Force Group Capt. Peter Townsend, 40, father of two children, intend to marry this fall, an anonymous informant in touch with the royal family said.

Townsend, British air attaché in Belgium, said Wednesday,

"There can be nothing said until the time is ready or somebody else does something."

Townsend said he had been "somewhat imprisoned" in a British diplomatic post but would emerge now and meet questioners.

Sent to Brussels

Townsend was sent to Brussels in 1953 after being linked romantically with the princess.

Word that the engagement is to be announced was leaked here in London to Commonwealth newspapers.

There is every indication the people of Britain and the Commonwealth are being tested to determine how they would react to a formal announcement.

Margaret, like any young woman in love, could change her mind. And public opposition—if it develops—could alter the course of events.

But all available information points to plans for a wedding soon after Margaret observes her 25th birthday next Aug. 21.

May Renounce Right

As a prelude, the expectation is the princess will renounce her right of succession to the throne. She is now third in line behind Prince Charles and Princess Anne, the children of her sister, Queen Elizabeth II.

Marriage of the princess and Townsend would revive memories of King Edward VIII's abdication in 1936 for the love of American divorcee Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson.

British law requires members of the immediate royal family who are younger than 25 to have the consent of the sovereign for marriage.

Church Bars Remarriage

Queen Elizabeth would find it hard to give formal consent for her sister's wedding to a divorced man. The Queen is the "defender of the faith" and the Church of England bans the remarriage of a divorced person.

For this reason, the best opinion in London is that announcement of the engagement will be delayed until after Margaret's birthday.

Buckingham Palace maintained silence as rumors of the royal romance spread through London.

In Brussels, Townsend told a correspondent of the pro-royalist London Daily Sketch, "I cannot answer questions about it because I am not the prime mover in this situation. Perhaps the arbiter would be a better word."

Increasing margins deflationary, and slow construction boom would, Eccles said. To Eccles suggested:

'Tractor-Jeep' Case Ends with Sentence

District Judge James P. Gaffney Wednesday concluded Iowa City's "tractor-jeep" case by upholding an appealed police court two-day jail sentence of Sept. 11, 1953, against Allen L. Donovan.

Donovan was charged with operating a motor vehicle while his operator's license was under suspension. Gaffney sentenced Donovan to two days in Johnson county jail.

Donovan was arrested by a highway patrolman July 30, 1953, while driving a jeep carrying hay on highway 1 southwest of here.

The jeep driver asserted the vehicle was used as a farm implement, such as a tractor, and therefore state law did not require him to have an operator's license.

Gaffney ruled that under Iowa law, "operating a motor vehicle upon the highways of this state" requires the driver to have a valid operator's license. He held Donovan's defense was "immaterial."
