5 Candidates Unopposed For Office

A total of 28 offices will be filled today in the SUI all-campus elections.

A light vote is expected, although there are contests for 23 of the 28 offices.

None of the candidates has carried on an extensive campaign. A few have used campaign posters.

Small 1954 Vote

Only 1,330 students voted in last year's elections, while 1,990 voted in 1953.

Winners in the races for men's and some women's offices will be announced in Thursday's Daily Iowan. Women winners will be announced at the University Women's Association's Recognition Day program Thursday afternoon in the River room in Iowa Memorial Union.

Polling Places

Voting booths for the election will be set up at University hall, Iowa Memorial Union, Schaeffer hall and the Medical Laboratories, Westlawn, Currier, Hillcrest and Quadrangle.

They will be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Students must show their identification cards before they will be allowed to vote.

Unopposed candidates include: Herbert Hedge, D3, Hedrick, and Robert Blitz, A2, Chicago, Ill., who are unopposed for two-year terms on the board of student publications. The board controls The Daily Iowan and Hawkeye, the SUI student annual.

Edith Blot, C3, Waterloo, is unopposed for the woman's commerce position on the union board.

Town Men Positions

Mark Putney, L1, Gladbrook and Frank Navarra, C3, Marshalltown, have no opponents in the bid for town men positions on the student council, but there will be a write-in.

Only three positions will be voted on by all SUI students, regardless of classification.

They include: a one-year term on the board of student publications, where Dwight Jensen, A4, former editor of The Daily Iowan, faces Ivars R. Liepens, A3, Iowa City and two positions on the Panacea board, where Rita Burney, A4, Mt. Kisco, N. Y., Joan Fymba, A3, Sergeant Bluff, and Barbara Oliver, A3, Des Moines, are the candidates.

Two candidates filed papers late Tuesday night for the town women's post on the student council.

Jean Parker, A2, Oskaloosa, and Mary Jean Davis, A2, Iowa City, had been chosen earlier by the town women's organization, but had not filed their nomination papers.

The pictures, activities and platform of the 64 candidates appeared Tuesday and today in The Daily Iowan.

Would Remove Present 12:30 p. m. Lunch Hour

SUI Considers Class Schedule Changes

SUI is considering two major changes in the scheduling of classes. Prof. Dewey Stuit, dean of the college of liberal arts, said Tuesday.

The two changes are (1) the removal of the customary 12:30 p.m. lunch hour, (2) the starting of classes on the half hour from 7:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

Under the present system, afternoon classes do not begin until 1:10 p.m., which allows the students 50 minutes for lunch. If the new schedule is adopted, it will be up to each student to schedule his classes so as to in-

Iowa Senate Votes To Boost Taxes on Cigarettes, Beer

The state senate Tuesday voted to collect another cent of tax for the state on a bottle of beer or a package of cigarettes.

This would be done by applying the state sales tax to beer and cigarettes, which have hitherto been exempt because they are subject to special taxes.

If the house of representatives and the governor agree with the bill, it is planned to collect $2.8 million to $3 million a year for increased state revenue in this manner.

The sales tax would be effective on July 1. Since an average price on a package of cigarettes or a bottle of beer is 25 cents, the purchase would fall in the lowest sales tax bracket and would be taxed one cent.

The law requires a seller to pass on the sales tax to the customer so the price of the articles would be raised in each case.

The bill was sent to the house by a vote of 30 to 14 with six members absent or not voting. Democrats voted against the bill unanimously. They were joined by Republicans from river cities on the state's borders.

The votes against the bill were cast by Burton, Butler, Byers, Dailey, McManus, Miller, O'Malley, Schroeder, Shaff, Shoeman, Stewart of Mahaska, Utzig, Watson of Pottawattamie, and Weiss.

Absent or not voting were Clark, Dewel, McFarlane, Putney, Risk and Sayre.

The other 30 members of the senate voted for the bill.

Symphony, Chorus To Present 'Elijah'

Felix Mendelssohn's "Elijah" will be presented by the combined SUI chorus and symphony orchestra tonight at 8 in the Iowa Memorial Union.

Prof. Herald Stark, of the SUI department of music and conductor of the chorus, will direct the combined groups in the dramatic oratorio, last presented at SUI in 1948, also under Stark's direction.

Approximately 210 chorus members and 80 members of the orchestra, will participate in the Lenten oratorio, which will be sung in English. Harry Morrison Jr., graduate assistant in music, will sing the part of the prophet Elijah, challenged by the Israelites to prove his God more powerful than the deity of the ancient Semitic peoples.

Other soloists will include Wade Raridon, A4, Ainsworth; Stephen Hobson, SUI music instructor; Corrine Hamilton, G, Iowa City; Rosemary Raridon, A3, Ainsworth, and Carolyn Jacobsen, A2, Iowa City.

Clearing Skies Elsewhere Fatal to 24

Skies cleared in Iowa City Tuesday, following the first day of spring that dropped several inches of snow on the ground.

Through Sunday, however, temperatures are expected to average five to 10 degrees below normal.

Meanwhile, a blizzard was blamed for six deaths in Ohio, four deaths each in Illinois and Nebraska, two each in Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Mississippi and Kansas and one in Michigan. At least one child drowned in a northeast Tennessee flood.

Four persons were injured in a tornado which rocked the Boardman-Poland village area of northern Ohio.

Gale force winds caused an estimated million dollars damage and left 400 homeless in Michigan's lower Peninsula. In Detroit, five pedestrians were injured as winds hurled them to the pavement. Four others were hurt by flying glass.

Wind damage also was reported in Indiana.

HOT FISH SANDWICH

ATLANTA (AP) — An odor reminiscent of a fish-wharf in July crept through the Fulton county courthouse and sent a maintenance man on an investigation. He found a fish sandwich taped to a light bulb. The heat had burned through the wrapper and into the fish. It was the maid's idea of keeping her lunch warm.

Highway Plan Sound, Says Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey defended his administration's vast highway program before critical senators Tuesday as sound, responsible and devoid of dishonesty or tricks.

Yet on a major point of controversy, as to whether the plan actually would add billions to the national debt, Humphrey said he would welcome a redefinition of the debt to include the program.

The secretary conceded there are objections to the plan. And he said "if somebody has a better one, I'd like to see it go forward."

Members of a senate public works subcommittee, before whom Humphrey testified, indicated that they think they can come up with something better, particularly on financing.

The big dispute isn't over the idea of building more and better roads, but over the financing.

The administration plan calls for federal government, states and localities to spend 101 billions for setting up a federal corporation in charge of building a 40,000-mile network of interstate highways.

Thirty-year bonds would be issued to finance the interstate system and would be paid off, in effect, from taxes on gasoline and motor fuels. Technically these bonds would not be part of the regular public debt.

Proposes Investigating Of Yalta Papers 'Leak'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.), proposed in the senate Tuesday night that an investigation be undertaken to determine who "leaked" the Yalta papers.

Knowledge said any copies of the national committee did have copies but that senators could not get them.

Knowledge said any copies of the national committee had come either from the New York Times or the Chicago Tribune, the only two newspapers, Knowledge said, which published the documents in full.

Lehman had charged the national committee did have copies but that senators could not get them.

Knowledge said any copies of the national committee had come either from the New York Times or the Chicago Tribune, the only two newspapers, Knowledge said, which published the documents in full.

What kind of security system do we have in the state department?" he demanded. "Who is the spy in the state department?"

Earlier Tuesday Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.), shouted to the senate that publication of the papers on the 1945 conference of President Roosevelt, Joseph Stalin and Winston Churchill seemed to have been engineered in a maneuver aimed at the Democrats.

"Suggest Collusion" Johnson said the circumstances under which the documents got out of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' department and into print "strongly suggest official collusion."

The New York Times obtained a copy of the Yalta papers from undisclosed sources early last week.

On Wednesday, at the urgent request of some Republican senators, Secretary of State Dulles reversed a previous decision and made the documents available to all reporters.

"Unauthorized Disclosure" Humphrey said the "leak" of the documents to the New York Times was "an unauthorized disclosure of classified material."

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH), chairman of the senate GOP policy committee, said he agreed there "must have been an unauthorized leak." He added he personally would be delighted to join in an effort to "ferret out" the person responsible.

Humphrey suggested that he, Bridges and Sen. William Knowland of California, the senate Republican leader, constitute a committee of three to investigate.

Knowledge told the senate he didn't condone the leaking of documents.

Denies Lehman's Statement Knowledge also delivered a speech in which he denied statements in an earlier one by Sen. Herbert Lehman (D, Lib-NY).

Knowledge said "I deny" that the Republican National committee had copies of the Yalta pa-

Neuberger Asks Fund for Squirrels

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard Neuberger (D-Ore.) pledged $25 Tuesday toward a fund to "save the White House squirrels."

He said he was inspired by news reports the squirrels at 1600 Pennsylvania ave. are being exiled to suburban woodlands because they damaged the President's putting green.

"I don't resent this as a United States senator," Neuberger told the senate.

Illinois Toll Road Idea Losing Out, Bliss Says

CHARLES CITY (AP) — A proposed free four-lane highway connecting Moline and Aurora, Ill., would eliminate the possibility of a turnpike connecting with Iowa from the east, Robert L. Bliss, executive secretary of the Iowa Free Roads Assn., said Tuesday night.

Speaking to the Charles City Kiwanis club, Bliss said the chances for an Illinois toll road "are appearing more remote."

The Illinois House Roads committee has given approval to a bill to build a four-lane free access highway across most of the state — on the same route as a proposed turnpike, Bliss said.

Original Illinois toll road plans toward Iowa called for a turnpike to the Davenport area, but were reduced to extend only to Aurora on one route and Rockford on another, Bliss said. Both cities are more than 100 miles from Iowa.

"Many delays in marketing a $400 million bond issue for 191 miles of proposed toll roads, plus a staggering $748,000 debt run up by the Illinois Toll Road commission without getting a single mile of turnpike built has apparently dimmed that state's overall toll road prospects," he said.

Bliss urged the Iowa legislature to move cautiously before appropriating $75,000 for a toll road authority.

"It would seem wiser," he said, "to let the State Highway commission continue making the additional feasibility studies even the toll road supporters say are necessary before rushing into a toll road authority situation which might be similar to Illinois."

Ensign Observes Vigorous Birthday

Forest C. Ensign, professor-emeritus of the SUI college of education, didn't celebrate his 88th birthday Tuesday from a rocking-chair.

Ensign, who lives at 10 Bella Vista place, shoveled snow from his sidewalk. Then, for good measure, he shoveled a path for the mailman between his home and that of Dr. M. Willard Lampe, former director of the SUI school of religion.

Six Dormitories To Hold Field Day

Nail-driving contests, tug-of-war, and a tire relay race will be featured events on the program of the second annual SUI Inte.-Dorm Field Day to be held April 16.

Purpose of the field day, sponsored by the social boards of six SUI dormitories, is to provide members of the different dormitories with a chance to become better acquainted and to "jet off steam" before studying for final examinations.

The six dormitories participating in the field day are Westlawn, Currier hall, Hillcrest, Quadrangle, South Quadrangle, and Eastlawn. Some 2,500 SUI students live in the six dormitories.

Describes 4th Worst Air Disaster

By Roy Essoyan

LULUALAI, Oahu (AP) — The smell of death clung to a mountain peak Tuesday as ground crews clawed their way to the spot where 66 persons died in a navy transport plane crash.

Death and desolation was on the steep barren slopes.

Thirty bodies were counted in the still burning wreckage. The side of the almost perpendicular mountain — called Pali Kea — was strewn with debris and slick black oil for hundreds of yards around.

One of the plane's four engines was 300 yards down the slope. It had torn a path through the underbrush. A hundred yards away another engine lay smoking.

Rescue workers stood around helplessly — shock written on their faces. They had to wait for the wreckage to cool before they could begin removing bodies.

One rescue worker said the body of the plane had been intact with the wings sheared off on impact. Four hours after the crash, roaring flames had consumed everything but a piece of the tail.

Flames still licked the black remains as rain started falling again about 8 a.m.

Apparently all the 66 bodies still were in the plane.

The plane stopped after the impact in a slight cleft of the mountainside.

There was little to see that was recognizable.

Exploded On Hitting Mountain

HONOLULU (AP) — A navy transport plane crashed into a mountain top Tuesday and exploded with a roar "like a thunderclap," killing all 66 persons aboard.

It was the most disastrous airplane accident in Hawaii's history and one of the worst in aviation records.

Victims included a woman, her child and 64 service men, including the 9-man navy crew, 17 air force passengers, 22 army men, 12 marines and 4 navy men.

Enroute to California

The R6D four-engine transport was ferrying the passengers — including a serviceman with his wife and three-year-old daughter — from Tokyo to California.

Iowa Marine Among Victims

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defense department said Tuesday night that marine corps Cpl. Dale L. Lake of R.R. 1, Jolley, Iowa, was among those killed Tuesday in the crash of a navy transport on a Hawaiian mountain top.

Lake was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Lake, who farm near Jolley in Calhoun county.

A relative said the young corporal, about 26, was to be discharged from the marine corps this fall. Lake entered the marines upon his graduation from Lytton high school about two years ago.

Survivors include his parents and two younger brothers at home.

Hickam Field at Honolulu on the last leg of the flight because of trouble.

Eight miles off course and in a heavy rainstorm the big plane plowed into Pali Kea peak, about 15 miles northwest of Honolulu at the southern end of Waianae range. It was 6:03 a.m. (CST).

Tried Turning Away

The pilot turned on his landing lights just before the crash, witnesses said. He apparently saw the mountain looming up in front and tried to bank away. It was too late.

The plane hit the bare face of the mountain 200 feet from the top, and exploded.

"It sounded like a hundred gasoline drums exploding," said Clarence Hoop, civilian employe of the Lualalai naval ammunition depot 2,000 yards from the crash scene on the west coast of Oahu Island.

Wings Sheared Off

Hoop, first to reach the scene, said the wings were sheared off but the body of the plane fell in one flaming piece to the bottom of a gully. The heat was so intense rescuers could not approach for hours.

The whole sky was red for more than two hours, said policeman Philo Owen, who was five miles away. He said the plane blew up in "one big explosion like a thunderclap."

The transport, based at Moffett Field in California, took off from Hickam Field for the mainland at 6:06 last night.

It was loaded to capacity. Four hours and 20 minutes later it turned back because of radio trouble.

Residents Awakened

Residents of the area near the naval depot were awakened by the roar of engines as it returned, apparently off course.

Ground crews and ambulances were rushed to the scene from the naval station immediately, but could do nothing for those aboard. The plane was still burning when they arrived.

The tragedy was the fourth worst disaster in aviation history.

The worst air crash in history was when a C124 Globemaster crashed and burned near Tokyo June 18, 1952, killing 129 American servicemen.

Get Out and Vote!

This is it. This is your chance to help remedy all the "evils" you complain about. This is your chance to get out and vote.

You complain you have an inactive student council. Today Town Men, Town Women, Married Students and Currier Hall representatives will be chosen. If you want representatives who will command authority, get out and vote for those individuals who will.

Perhaps you don't like Hawkeye or The Daily Iowan. Every person enrolled in SUI is eligible to vote for members of the board of trustees of Student Publications, Inc. If you think John Smith should and would dictate a firmer editorial policy for The Iowan, get out and vote for John Smith.

Then maybe you're one of those students who believes also that there could and should have been a Panacea this year. Find the person who will ensure there being a show next year and get out and vote for him.

Whatever your complaint is about the student leaders at SUI, remember you can do something about it.

Quit your griping and get out and vote!

Capehart's 'Witch-Hunt'

Sen. Homer Capehart (R-Ind.), in attempting to discredit the senate's stock market inquiry, has adopted a method right out of Sen. Joe McCarthy's book of tactics.

Capehart charged that the senate committee called in a witness who was sympathetic to the Communists. He quoted, out of context, several paragraphs written by the witness, John K. Galbraith, Harvard economics professor. The writings were in a pamphlet called "Beyond the Marshall Plan," in which Galbraith analyzed the appeal factors of communism.

Capehart quoted the pamphlet as saying too little attention had been paid to "the achievements of communism." He quoted it further as saying that "these achievements have been considerable and they explain why so many millions of alert and intelligent Europeans have embraced this faith."

Not satisfied with naming Galbraith as a "Red" or at least "pinkish" on the basis of these paragraphs, Capehart also claimed that partisan politics was entering into the senate study. When he learned that Galbraith was an economic advisor to Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson in the last campaign, Capehart was quick to suggest that the stock market study was being used for political purposes.

Thus, in the same breath, Capehart is charging Galbraith with having Communist tendencies and also of being a Democrat. If anyone is guilty of partisan politics, Capehart is.

Obviously, the branding tactics so adroitly administered by McCarthy, are not working for Capehart. Instead, they are apt to cause Capehart some embarrassment.

Galbraith has an excellent defense against Capehart's wild tongue lashings, having had 28 prominent persons endorse the pamphlet which was an erudite description of Communist appeal. Among the signers were Allen W. Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence agency, and Milton Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State university and brother of President Eisenhower.

The basis for the charge is rather slim. It is also absurd, since the so-called incriminating paragraphs were taken out of context. Any discussion of an ideology is likely to dwell on that political faith's best selling points.

Capehart's assertion that Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.), chairman of the senate study, is gathering political fruit by having a Democrat as a witness is not convincing.

Galbraith told senate inquirers that the condition of the stock market was in no way comparable to the situation in 1929, but he did indicate that steps be taken now to warn the people against speculative excesses.

Galbraith is not doing a disfavor to the Republicans by telling his interpretation of stock market conditions, as Capehart believes. The facts should be known. If Galbraith can shed any light upon the situation, then he is to be commended, not condemned.

Adlai Stevenson deplored a recommendation by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) that all persons involved in his controversy with the army submit to lie detector tests.

An "impartial, non-political commission" to investigate Senator McCarthy's charges of communism in the state department was proposed by Richard M. Nixon (R-Calif.) in the house.

Ten Years Ago Today

Two U.S. armies crushed all major resistance west of the Rhine in the last phase of a battle that cost the Germans 100,000 captives.

Three Iowa colleges—Morningside, Iowa State college and SUI—have been added to the list of guidance centers to aid veterans.

Twenty Years Ago Today

Iowa City's budget for the fiscal year beginning April 1, 1935, was set at $200,071 by the city council. A double blow of veto-overriding was struck at the Franklin D. Wonders What SUI Council Does (Readers are invited to express opinions in letters to the Editor. All letters must include handwritten signatures and addresses—typewritten signatures are not acceptable. Letters become the property of The Daily Iowan. The Iowan reserves the right to shorten, select representative letters when many on the same subject are received, or withhold letters. TO THE EDITOR:

I have just finished reading your editorial on the student council elections. Many things appearing in The Daily Iowan have tempted me to write you a letter, but nothing has moved me as much as your request for voters.

As a graduate student I've had experience with several schools. These shall remain nameless lest it appear that I am boasting.

The first school was a very small junior college; the student council was a rubber stamp.

In the second school the student council was a living, vital force. It had real control over student functions. It determined budgets, had an Honor Council to enforce the student honor system

(we never had proctors in our examinations), supervised student publications, and when the time came it initiated a plan to tax the students for a student union, hired the architect and helped plan the building.

What does the SUI student council do? I've asked people who have been here longer than I and they are not quite sure.

You complain of no mass meetings, posters, or rallies.

At the second school I attended every office was hotly contested. The dormitory and town students would put up great campaigns to prevent the election of too many fraternity boys.

The frats, for their part, would fight one another for the coveted council seats.

For three weeks before the election of council and officers the campus was covered with posters and anyone who cared to listen could hear campaign speeches which stated a definite platform, loud and clear.

On the eve of the election a torch light parade was held in which candidates had one last chance at the voters. The results were eagerly awaited and much heralded.

Of course, the election was held in May under more favorable weather conditions.

SUI has four times as many students as the school in question, and this is undoubtedly a factor. However, the smaller school I first attended was 40 times smaller than SUI and it had no participation.

Except for the interest in athletics one would hardly recognize SUI as "the Athens of the West."

Ask and answer these three questions:

1. What does the student council do?
2. Is it worth the effort to get on it? — If so:
3. Where is our sense of values?

(we never had proctors in our examinations), supervised student publications, and when the time came it initiated a plan to tax the students for a student union, hired the architect and helped plan the building.

What does the SUI student council do? I've asked people who have been here longer than I and they are not quite sure.

You complain of no mass meetings, posters, or rallies. At the second school I attended every office was hotly contested. The dormitory and town students would put up great campaigns to prevent the election of too many fraternity boys.

The frats, for their part, would fight one another for the coveted council seats.

For three weeks before the election of council and officers the campus was covered with posters and anyone who cared to listen could hear campaign speeches which stated a definite platform, loud and clear.

On the eve of the election a torch light parade was held in which candidates had one last chance at the voters. The results were eagerly awaited and much heralded.

Of course, the election was held in May under more favorable weather conditions. SUI has four times as many students as the school in question, and this is undoubtedly a factor. However, the smaller school I first attended was 40 times smaller than SUI and it had no participation.

Except for the interest in athletics one would hardly recognize SUI as "the Athens of the West."

Ask and answer these three questions:
1. What does the student council do?
2. Is it worth the effort to get on it?
3. Where is our sense of values?

Serve Cottage Cheese Patties for Lunch During Lent

Serve cottage cheese patties with the year's first fresh asparagus and carrots as an especially splendid Lenten luncheon dish. The soft, white, unripened cheese with its mildly sour flavor is an excellent meat substitute, high in nutritive value.

Cottage cheese patties are a combination of onions, green pepper, grated carrots, minced parsley, bread crumbs and cottage cheese. The mixture is carefully seasoned, then dipped in egg and corn flakes. The corn flake coating lends great appetite appeal to this enjoyable luncheon entree.

The patties require about eight minutes in a very hot oven and then are ready to serve.

COTTAGE CHEESE PATTIES

2 tbs. minced onions

2 tbs. minced green pepper
1/4 cup grated carrots
2 tbs. minced parsley
2 cups cottage cheese, creamed
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
1/2 tsp. paprika
2 cups soft bread crumbs
1 egg
2 tbs. water
2 cups corn flakes

Combine vegetables and cottage cheese, mixing thoroughly. Add seasonings and mix well. Stir in bread crumbs. Shape into six large patties or twelve small patties. Beat egg with water. Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Dip patties in egg mixture, then in corn flakes crumbs.

Place in greased shallow pan. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees F.) about eight minutes or until lightly browned and thoroughly heated. Serve at once. Yield is six servings.

Teammates Pick 'Seab' as Iowa Representative—

Seaberg Voted 'Most Valuable Player'

Bill Seaberg Named Most Valuable

Guard Bill Seaberg is Iowa's most valuable player for the 1954-55 season.

Tuesday the Chicago Tribune made the announcement after Seaberg's teammates voted him the honor on the plane trip back from the NCAA finals in Kansas City, Mo.

Each Big Ten team previously had picked its most valuable player, each of whom along with Seaberg will receive a miniature white gold basketball. In addition, one will be voted the Big Ten silver basketball award, the symbol of the conference's most valuable player.

Seaberg's consistency stood out in Iowa's attack all season. He averaged slightly over 13 points per game and was usually between 12 and 15. His outside shooting often paved the way for Iowa to show off its "inside" game.

Carl Cain won the Hawk basketball honor last year. Previous winners of the Big Ten's most valuable player award were Murray Weir, in 1948, and Chuck Darling, in 1952.

Nominees of the other Big Ten teams for this past season's most valuable player in the conference are: Don Beck, Purdue; Dick Cable, Wisconsin; Frank Ehmann, Northwestern; Al Ferreri, Michigan State; Paul Judson, Illinois; Ron Kramer, Michigan; Chuck Mencil, Minnesota; John Miller, Ohio State; and Don Schlundt, Indiana.

20 Hawk Athletes In 4 NCAA Meets

Twenty Hawkeye athletes are scheduled to compete this week in National Collegiate events in sites scattered from New York to California.

Iowa's wrestling team, which placed second in the Big Ten meet, will send eight matmen to Cornell university, Ithaca, N.Y. Seven swimmers will represent the third place swimming team at Miami university, Oxford, O.; two gymnasts will go to USC at Los Angeles; and three fencers will represent the Hawks at East Lansing, Mich.

The wrestlers, paced by Big Ten 123-pound champion Terry McCann, have a good chance for a finish close to the top. The other wrestlers making the trip are: Dick Govig, conference and NCAA 123-pound champ in 1954; John Winder, 177-pound champ who will wrestle at 157; Harlan Jenkinson, 167-pound runner-up; Jerry Salmon, 147; Bill Clements, 137; Don Kincaid, 177; and Ken Leuer, Big Ten heavyweight runner-up, in the 191 class.

Dick Pennington, unbeaten Big Ten champ in the 50-yard free style, will pace the swimming team. He should get strong help from Lincoln Hurring in the

Ohio Swim Coach Favors Buck Team

OXFORD, Ohio (P) — Mike Peppe, the dapper little man who has coached Ohio State university to eight NCAA swimming championships since 1938, declared frankly Tuesday he believed his Bucks could make it No. 9 this week — even though he carefully attached a couple of "ifs."

Ohio State, the defending NCAA champion and the 1955 Big Ten king, already is on hand for the opening Thursday night of the NCAA meet in the Miami university pool.

"I'm not going to be foolish enough to come right out and say we're going to win," said Peppe after he had sent in his team through a workout. "But I'll say this. If we swim as well as we did in the Big Ten meet and if none of our key men comes down with a cold or something, I don't see why we shouldn't win."

Sickness Problem

Little Mike pointed out that the sickness problem can be a major one. He recalled that Indiana university was badly hurt in the Big Ten meet because of illness of Bill Woolsey.

"If Ford Konno or Yoshi Oyakawa should come down with colds we'd be hurt," Peppe said.

Konno in the free style events and Oyakawa in the backstroke figure to be two of Ohio State's most potent point getters.

Brilliant Record

Peppe, who has coached at Ohio State since 1931, has built a brilliant record since he got the Bucks on the winning track in 1938. Since then his teams have accounted for eight NCAA titles, 11 Big Ten crowns, 6 indoor AAU championships and 4 outdoor AAU titles.

Washington, Yale, Michigan State and Michigan are due in Wednesday with probably some scattered entrants from other colleges.

TV Debut For Teenager

CHICAGO (P) — Willie Pastrano, a teen-ager who had to get special permission from his mother to fight 10 rounds, will be introduced to television's national boxing fans tonight against durable Al Andrews, 26-year-old Superior, Wis., middleweight.

Pastrano, who turned pro four years ago when he was 15, needed his mother's blessing under Illinois boxing law which prohibits a fighter not yet 20 years of age to sign for more than eight rounds without a special waiver.

The Chicago Stadium scrap makes the good-looking Pastrano's first ring appearance above the Mason-Dixon line. He is a native of New Orleans, but he has been campaigning out of Miami Beach, Fla., recently and hopes to make his home there with his wife. The couple expects a baby in July.

Pastrano has been impressive in workouts with a sneaky right and a fine left jab. Some ring-birds think Andrews has been matched with a "sleeper" and will have his hands full trying to win.

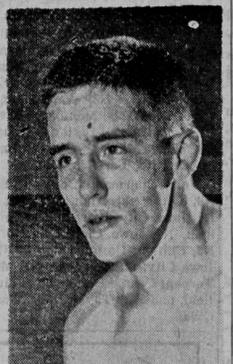

The southern youngster was signed by the International Boxing club as a replacement for Joey Giardello, convicted last week in Philadelphia of assault charges.

Andrews' only fight this year resulted in a defeat by Giardello in Norfolk, Va., Jan. 27.

Pastrano has had 35 pro bouts, winning 29, losing 4 and drawing twice. He is credited with only eight knockouts, but he has never been knocked off his feet.

backstroke and Ross Lucas in the distance events.

Big Ten champions Sam Baillie and Walt Patterson will be competing for the Hawkeye gymnastics team. Baillie is the horizontal bar champ and Patterson placed first in trampoline and tumbling events.

Hollien Flips Coin To Pick Fencers

Coach Harry Hollien had nothing but trouble when he tried to determine who would represent Iowa in the NCAA fencing championships in East Lansing, Mich., this week.

"Warren Pearson is my best sabre man," said Hollien, "but it wasn't that easy to choose in the foil and epee events.

"In the foil, Frank Craig has been a good performer over the year, but Ted Myers made a better showing in the Big Ten meet. The same was true in epee," he added. "Roy Pitkin tied for first in the Big Ten, and Jim Halbach was fourth, but Halbach had a better season record."

After weighing each man's strong points, Hollien decided that they were so even he would have to toss a coin.

The result — Craig and Pitkin leave tonight for East Lansing.

U.S. Women Sweep Diving In Games; Crowd Unruly

MEXICO CITY (P) — Olympic champion Pat McCormick of Los Angeles led a United States sweep in the women's high-board diving finals and the American base ball team clinched second place Tuesday in the Pan-American games.

Two demonstrations marred activities, however, as these Hemispheric Olympics drew near their close.

John Kobs, coach of the U.S. baseball team, disclosed that the bus transporting his team was stoned by some boys as it left the stadium after Monday's game. The windows were shattered, and fortunately no one was hurt.

Judges Heckled

At the swimming stadium late Tuesday afternoon the crowd became unruly and started heckling the judges.

Mrs. McCormick gave another of her brilliant performances from the three-meter board and won the championship with an almost unanimous vote of the various judges. Jeanne Stunyo of Detroit finished second and Emily Houghton of Lafayette, Ind., third to give the U.S. 18 points in the unofficial scoring.

This was the lone championship decided Tuesday. Two of the U.S. entries in the men's butterfly competition—Bill Zerk and John Nelson of the army—qualified for the finals, but the National AAU butterfly stroke champion, Richard Faden, formerly of North Carolina State, was eliminated.

2d in Baseball

Uncle Sam's baseball team walloped Venezuela, 13-2, in its final game to sew up the runner-up spot in the tournament it was favored to win. The championship went to the strong Dominican Republic club, which closed out with a 13-8 victory over the Dutch West Indies.

The Dominicans wound up with a 6-2 winning record, while the United States had a 5-3 mark.

Mrs. McCormick, who holds virtually every diving title available, put on a breath-taking show, closing out with a back one and a half twist for a score of 90.

One contestant, Angela Botella of Mexico, during the confusion of the crowd's heckling tactics, slipped on a difficult dive and hit her head on the board as she fell toward the water. She was not seriously injured.

After this near-serious accident, the crowd subsided.

Athletes Take Oxygen

By MURRAY ROSE

MEXICO CITY (P) — Probably never before in any major sports show such as the Pan-American games has so much oxygen been used.

An oxygen tank here is as essential to sports as the ball, bat and glove in baseball. Athletes, winners and losers alike, head for a whiff of oxygen as soon as they finish an event.

Most common complaints of the competing athletes are short breath and "heavy dead legs."

'Carry Out 4 Athletes'

That was the way Olympic champions Mal Whitfield, the runner, Jimmy McLane, the swimmer, and Chuck Logg Jr., the rower, summed it up.

"We've helped carry out four athletes on a stretcher. As soon as they were given oxygen they perked up," Whitfield said. "After helping three other fellows lug out hurdling champion Josh Culbreath, we needed a little refresher from the oxygen tank, too," he added.

The doctors and trainers as well as most athletes believe the mile and one-half high altitude and its air effects distance men primarily. But double sprint champion Rod Richard told us, "It affects the sprinters, too. It hurts our recuperative powers."

Altitude No Bother

Arnie Sowell, the brilliant Pittsburgh half-miler, said after he won the 800 meter run here that the altitude didn't bother him.

"We have checked the athletes before and after their events," he said. "In the sprint and up to the 800 meters, there are no deleterious effects, such as breathing difficulty or weakness in the legs.

"But from the 800 up to the marathon, they experience trouble with their breathing and their legs because of lack of oxygen. John Kelly, the marathoner from Boston, said his legs were numb.

"That's because there is not enough oxygen in the legs—there are not enough red corpuscles in the blood stream," he said.

Court Lists Segregation Arguments

WASHINGTON (AP)—The supreme court Tuesday set aside the week of April 11 to hear arguments on when and how to order an end to racial segregation in public schools.

The arguments had been scheduled for last Dec. 6, but the death of Justice Robert H. Jackson prompted the court to order postponement until a full bench of nine judges was available.

Judge John Marshall Harlan, President Eisenhower's appointee to fill the vacancy, will take his place on the high bench next Monday. Tuesday's scheduling of the segregation arguments came through promptly to give all interested attorneys time to prepare for their April appearances.

Harold B. Willey, clerk of the supreme court, announced the new date. The tribunal is in recess until next Monday. Willey said the segregation arguments could require a full week if all of the parties interested use the full time previously allotted to them by the court.

The segregation cases on the court's docket directly involve South Carolina, Virginia, Delaware, Kansas and the District of Columbia. The tribunal last May 17 decided unanimously that racial segregation in the public schools of those states and the District of Columbia violated the Constitution.

But the court called for the new arguments in its present term on the question of how best to put the decision into effect.

Russia Fills Vishinsky Job

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet government chose Vassily V. Kuznetsov Tuesday to fill Andrei Y. Vishinsky's old job as a first deputy foreign minister.

The announcement, broadcast by the Moscow radio, came four months to the day after Vishinsky, 70, died of a heart attack in New York while heading the Soviet delegation to the United Nations.

Kuznetsov, one-time Ford Motor company worker and ex-chief of the USSR's trade unions, had been a plain deputy foreign minister. His elevation to rank with Andrei Gromyko as a first deputy was one of three high-level promotions in Foreign Minister V.M. Molotov's bailiwick.

Two other foreign office officials were raised to deputy ministers. Both previously were members of the ministry's governing board—its collegium.

One, N. O. Fedorenko, apparently has been specializing on Asian affairs. The other, V. S. Semenov, is an authority on Germany. He has been Soviet ambassador to East Germany and Soviet high commissioner.

The changes followed by 24 hours the announcement of the removal in disgrace of Georgi F. Alexandrov as minister of culture.

Kuznetsov is not a career diplomat. He ran the Soviet trade union movement from the end of World War II until Stalin's death two years ago.

He worked at Ford's sprawling Rouge plant in the Detroit area in the early 1930's as one of thousands of exchange students.

Finnish Tanker Bound for China Reverses Its Course

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—Reports reaching here Tuesday said the Finnish tanker Aruba, originally destined for Red China with a 13,000-ton cargo of jet plane fuel has turned back.

It was reported heading westward in the Indian Ocean.

The Aruba's owners here declined to confirm or deny the reports beyond saying:

"Developments depend on negotiations between the owners and the Far East Enterprise Co. at Hong Kong, charterers of the Aruba. Our problems have not been caused by a strike threat from the crew but by other difficulties to get the cargo to the port of destination in Red China."

Officials of the Seamen's Union in Helsinki said last week the crewmen would refuse to sail the tanker into "dangerous waters," meaning the area patrolled by Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese ships and planes.

There were persistent rumors Tuesday night the tanker was returning to the Black Sea port of Constanta in Red-Ruled Romania, where the Aruba took on the cargo of high test kerosene for jets.

Two Iowa Democrats Attack Proposed Tax Filing Fee

DES MOINES (AP)—Rep. Miller (R-Sioux City) issued a statement Tuesday defending a one-package income tax bill sponsored by the house tax revision committee. Two house Democrats had been critical of the measure.

Reps. Denman of Des Moines and Owen of Centerville, the Democrats, took exception particularly to a provision in the bill which would require all persons required to file a state income tax return to pay a $3 filing fee even though no tax was due.

Miller said a minimum tax or filing fee is not particularly unusual, and added that the state of Minnesota has for many years imposed a $5 flat tax on all taxpayers required to file a Minnesota return.

The Democrats contended the committee bill would greatly increase the work of processing state returns, would bring comparatively little return, and would add hundreds of thousands of dollars to the cost of administration.

Miller answered that by saying the $3 filing fee would bring in about a million dollars more than is being received now. He added that the house already has passed a bill to simplify the income tax system and that it would greatly decrease processing costs.

Denman and Owen also objected to the committee bill proposal to reduce exemptions. The reduced exemptions would return the figures to what they were prior to 1947, Miller said.

Miller said also that Denman and Owen made no suggestions along the lines of their criticisms when they and other members of the committee were deliberating on the bill.

Oklahoma Doctor Confesses Killing Wife, 3 Children

McALESTER, Okla. (AP)—A prominent young physician Tuesday described how he killed his wife and three small children and burned their bodies in the flames of their home.

Dr. Benjamin T. Galbraith, 34, bludgeoned his wife with a wine bottle and gave her an overdose of morphine, he said, then gave the children morphine and a poisonous insecticide.

County Attorney James Whyte, who announced the confession, traced the motive to Galbraith's childhood of poverty and frustration.

Sudden Solution

The sudden solution to the mystery that shocked this southeastern Oklahoma city of 18,000 was hastened by the curiosity of Howard Cowan, McAlester News-Capital editor, and three McAlester officials.

They were dissatisfied with the explanation of the fire deaths of Mrs. Mary Katherine Galbraith, 35, and three children, Frank 7, Jere, 5, and Sarah Ann, 4.

The bodies were cremated hastily less than 24 hours after the fire. After his arrest at Henderson, Tenn., Monday, Galbraith attempted to kill himself by jumping from a car into the path of another.

Maintained Innocence
He maintained his innocence until Tuesday morning. Then he told Whyte how he crept to his wife's room early Thursday. She awoke and screamed, "Ben, are you crazy?"

"I hit her on the right temple with a vermouth bottle," he related. He said the blow apparently killed her but he wasn't sure so he administered an injection of morphine.

Galbraith said he then decided to kill his children and gave each one of them a shot of morphine and an insecticide containing nicotine.

Ike Lauds Reciprocal Trade Agreements

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unless the United States makes it possible for the free world to trade more freely, President Dwight Eisenhower said Tuesday, "we are not going to win the ideological contest" with communism.

He sounded this note of warning as the senate finance committee resumed hearings on his controversial proposal for a three-year extension of the reciprocal trade agreements act with expanded tariff-cutting powers.

In an informal talk to the Advertising council, a group of private businessmen who aid the government on public service programs, Eisenhower said a trade plan doesn't just mean opening American markets to people all over the globe.

Enlightened Self-Interest
"Like all other foreign policy, its genesis is the enlightened self-interest of the United States," he said.

"But it is in recognition of this fact, that if the United States itself is to prosper, it must have means by which it can sell its products, and therefore it has to buy others."

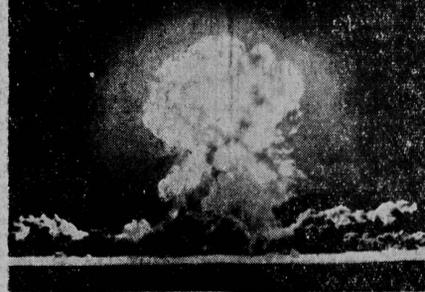

Foreign Trade Concessions
In addition to extending the Trade Agreements act to June 12, 1958, the bill pending in congress would give the President authority to cut tariffs a maximum of 15 per cent over that period in return for foreign trade concessions.

The house passed the bill 295-110 Feb. 18 after a two-day fight. An even tougher battle is shaping up in the senate.

Eisenhower told the Advertising council the "great ideological struggle going on in the world" is between the materialism of the Communists and the free world's concept that man is something more than "an educated animal."

Radioactive Dust Falls on Las Vegas

THIS IS THE ATOMIC FIREBALL as seen 10 miles away. The detonation was the sixth of the current spring series at the Nevada test site. Tuesday's shot was fired from a 500-foot tower in Yucca Flat.

LAS VEGAS (AP)—An atomic cloud sprinkled light radioactive particles on Las Vegas Tuesday but authorities said there was no danger to civilians or to marines maneuvering at the test site.

The medium-size blast, sixth of the 1955 test series on Yucca Flat, sent up a towering cloud that was blown directly over the city of 55,000. This was the first such occurrence in five years of nuclear weapons experimenting in Nevada.

From 40,000 feet, the cloud dropped invisible bits of matter that gave Geiger counter readings of 10 milliroentgens per hour at Nellis air force base in North Las Vegas.

Biggest Maneuvers
The 500 foot tower shot was used by 2,000 men of the 3rd Marine Corps Provisional Atomic Exercise Brigade, Camp Pendleton, Calif., for the most elaborate maneuvers yet held at the AEC site.

Marines ducked in six-foot trenches 3,500 yards from ground zero as molten bits of steel tower fell back to the ground.

Ten minutes after the blast, radiation safety teams gave the okay and helicopters began flying the atomic brigade forward in a simulated attack on an enemy stronghold.

Testing New Concepts
The marines were testing new tactical concepts trying to determine how fast an atomic explosion can be exploited against an enemy.

However, there was the possibility the two-day maneuvers might be cut short. The AEC said the weather forecast was favorable for another shot today. If held this would be the major blast postponed since March 14.

Officer's Son Flees From Red Zone

BERLIN (AP)—The young son of a Soviet Air Force officer has been granted political asylum in the U.S. He told a news conference Tuesday he was fed up with the Communists' "lying propaganda."

The youth, 17, identified himself as Valery A. Lysikov, son of Lt. Col. Alexander I. Lysikov, an executive officer of a Soviet air transport regiment.

Maj. Gen. George Honnen, U.S. commandant in Berlin, notified Soviet authorities of Valery's flight to the West March 18 and said a meeting with his parents would be arranged if they desired.

DETROIT (AP)—A ghost town with crumbling buildings and a legend of hidden gold is on the market for $65,000. The one-time timber and mining town of Fayette in Michigan's Upper Peninsula could be the buy of the year if the legend proved true.

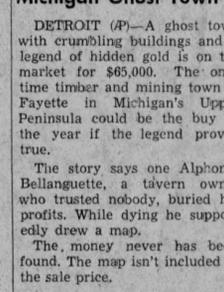

The story says one Alphonse Bellanguette, a tavern owner who trusted nobody, buried his profits. While dying he supposedly drew a map.
