

'Cars To College?' Problem Stumps Officials

Seek Student Suggestions On Parking

SUI Registrar Ted McCarrel, a member of the university parking committee, said Wednesday that the committee would welcome any suggestions or plans on how to alleviate the student parking problem and whether students should bring cars to college.

"We're in the same situation as many other universities," he said, "but relatively better off than those in some cities."

Need More Space

He said, "We have to get more parking space, of course, but it's easier to talk about than to do."

He said he didn't think it is wise to tell students "you can't bring cars" because it would be difficult to get those over 21 to comply. "And if you can't get them to do so," he said, "a major part of the problem remains."

Small Problem

Prof. Walter Daykin of the SUI college of commerce and also a city councilman, doesn't think the problem of student cars is "so great."

Mayor Leroy S. Mercer said, "The student has the same right as any citizen. The university could make regulations restricting student ownership of cars," he added, "but the city could not do anything of that sort."

Contribute to Economy

City Manager Peter F. Roan pointed out that "student automobiles are a good part of the city's economy and mean a lot to auto dealers, garages and service stations." He said he was "not surprised to find that 44 per cent of the students own autos. The traffic survey showed that." But, he said, "limitation of student autos is strictly a university policy matter."

Police Chief O. A. White declined to comment on the problem.

Tom Choules, L3, Idaho Falls, Idaho, Student Council president, "wouldn't like to see students kept from having cars here, but the problem may be so great that that will be necessary." He said he would wait to comment further until the university parking committee has made a full report on the question.

3,362 Drove Cars

A survey of student cars released Tuesday showed that approximately half of the SUI students drove a car for more than one month during last semester. The total was 3,362. Almost half the single undergraduates who drove cars were under 21.

L. Dale Faunce, dean of students and chairman of the parking committee, cited examples of car restriction and its possible

Friendliness to Negro Recognized—

Waverly Awarded $10,000

WAVERLY (AP) — Because of its "neighborly friendliness" in solving the housing problems of a Negro air force captain, this city of about 5,000 was $10,000 richer Wednesday.

A check for that amount and a citation was presented to a Chamber of Commerce committee by Paul G. Hoffman, chairman of the Ford foundation, at ceremonies attended by about 1,000 citizens at the high school auditorium.

The award is from the Fund for the Republic, an organization endowed by the Ford foundation to advance civil liberty. It will be administered by the Chamber of Commerce for "civic betterment."

Sherman Spear, Waverly businessman who was instrumental in calling the plight of Capt. Virgil Daniels and his family to the public's attention, accepted the award for the city.

Grateful

"We feel we little deserve such generosity for only trying to be courteous and helpful to someone in difficulty," Spear said in accepting the award and citation. "But," he added, "this feeling does not lessen our gratitude a bit."

Gov. Leo Hoegh Wednesday sent a telegram to Spear which said, "The entire state is tremendously proud of Waverly and its citizens for the award bestowed upon it by the Fund for the Republic. Please accept my sincere regrets that I cannot be with you today. My congratulations to all of you for providing us with a dynamic example of democracy in action at the community level."

The award was made to Waverly because of the way townspeople rallied to find housing for the Daniels family, stationed at a nearby radar installation.

Daniels, a brother of singer Billy Daniels, had said he encountered "racial pressures" when he sought to move into an apartment here.

The citation, said to be the first of its kind in any American city, read: "Your prompt action in extending the hand of neighborly friendliness brings honor to Waverly and makes it an example to the country. Efforts such as yours give life and meaning to our Constitution and Bill of Rights."

Signed by Hoffman

The citation was signed by Hoffman, Robert M. Hutchins, president of the Fund for the Republic, and Mrs. Eleanor B. Stevenson, chairman of the fund's award committee. Mrs. Stevenson, wife of the president of Oberlin college, Oberlin, Ohio, was present at the ceremony and introduced Hoffman.

Daniels, his wife and 2-year-old daughter also attended. The Daniels said their two older sons told them they would rather stay in school for the afternoon.

THE CITY OF WAVERLY received a check for $10,000 Wednesday from Paul G. Hoffman, second from right, representing the Ford foundation Fund for the Republic. The award was made for the city's "friendliness" in solving the housing problems of Capt. Virgil Daniels, left, with wife and daughter, Mrs. Eleanor B. Finance Plan Reported Shelved

State Schools Loan Plan Pigeon-Holed

By KIRK BOYD

DES MOINES — A joint Iowa legislative committee has pigeon-holed a plan to borrow money for new buildings at the three state institutions of higher learning.

The plan, proposed by the state board of education, was to pledge half of the colleges' income from tuition and fees toward retiring the debt on the buildings.

It would be similar to the method by which dormitories and the Iowa Memorial Union are financed by their earnings.

Asked To Borrow

The board asked March 22 for authority to borrow the money.

The joint educational appropriations subcommittee laid the plan aside last week in a secret session, it was learned Wednesday.

All important committee meetings in the Iowa state legislature are held behind closed doors. Some members recently have moved to open them.

No Time

"We didn't have time to consider the plan," one influential committee member said. "It was thrown at us too fast."

"We just laid it aside for this session. It may be considered at the next one."

The next state legislature will meet in January, 1957.

State college buildings can be constructed now only on a cash basis.

Board members said the borrowing would permit long-term planning and eliminate the ups and downs of asking appropriations for new buildings from each legislature.

Possible Federal Aid

The plan also would make it possible to get the federal aid expected in the future for college building projects, board members claimed.

Rep. Wendell Pendleton (R-Storm Lake) offered a compromise amendment raising the tax to 5 1/2 cents. He said: "If you don't vote for a raise to 5 1/2 cents, you'll get one to six cents." His proposal was defeated, 66-32.

An amendment by Rep. William Freed (D-Gowrie) to leave the gas tax at five cents was also voted down before the bill was passed.

Rep. Scott Swisher (D-Iowa City) bolted party lines to vote for the bill. The Democratic party platform called for improvements to be financed by a bond issue.

"I'm not very happy about it," Swisher said. "But it is the only gas tax measure that will come before the legislature. I can't take a chance when human lives are concerned."

Swisher added, "If this doesn't bring improvement and safety as proponents say it will, we are going to see a lot of new faces here in 1957."

Ike Rebukes Carney For War Prediction

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower administered an oblique rebuke to Adm. Robert B. Carney Wednesday with a declaration that too much speculation about war does not serve world peace and tranquility.

Carney, chief of naval operations, has been named as the source of predictions that war may start in the Formosa Strait around April 15.

To prophesy when a war is going to break out, Mr. Eisenhower told a news conference, is to assume an accuracy of information never yet attained by a country that was to be attacked.

The President said he cannot say, because he doesn't know, that there will not be an attack from April 15 onward on the Nationalist-held Matsu islands off the Chinese mainland.

Mr. Eisenhower told a news conference that Carney will not be reprimanded "by me."

The President upheld the right of a subordinate to hold personal opinions. But the subordinate doesn't belong on the administration team, he said, if he is going to create difficulty for the administration or his commander in chief or violate announced administration policy.

The emphasis on the possibility and timing of war in the Far East stemmed from this sequence of events:

After Carney held a dinner discussion with several newsmen, stories were published last week that the United States has reason to believe the Chinese Communists might move against the Matsu and Quemoy island about April 15.

More stories appeared Tuesday that Mr. Eisenhower did not believe an attack was likely by April 15. Several newspapers named presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty as the man who gave out this information.

Mrs. Squirrel Is Mum

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Excuse me, Mrs. Squirrel. I am a reporter and I would like to ask you—"

"No comment, sonny. Us White House squirrels don't talk to just anybody. See my press secretary."

"But I have the President's permission to interview you. We asked him at his news conference today about the squirrel controversy, and he advised us to consult the squirrels. Now my question is: 'Are you unhappy?'"

"Nuts."

"I hardly consider that a responsive answer, Mrs. Squirrel."

"Who's answering? Nuts is what I asked you for. You give me nuts, you get an interview."

"Well, I did happen to bring along a small bag of peanuts. Help yourself. Now what about it? Some of you squirrels have been deported for digging up the White House putting green. What do you think about it?"

"Smrgt furdrrsk megrant. 'I beg your pardon?'"

"Sorry, mouth full. Good nuts. What I said was: 'No comment but don't quote me.'"

"Why not?"

"Because us squirrels are non-political, sonny. And we want to keep it that way."

"But I don't see what politician has to do with—"

"Wise up, buster. Suppose I say I'm happy. That means I like Ike. So what happens to me if the Democrats get back in? All right, suppose I say I'm not happy. That means I've broken with the administration. Then what? Squirrel traps? Deportation?"

"What you're saying then, is—"

"No squirrel ever got into trouble by keeping his mouth shut."

"One last question: What do you think about this whole squirrel controversy?"

"Nuts."

Countryman Stops in Iowa City

IOWA ATTORNEY GENERAL Dayton Countryman, left, is welcomed to SUI's Center for Continuation Study Wednesday by Prof. Richard Holcomb, chief of the SUI bureau of police science. Countryman came to Iowa City to speak to the annual police officer's conference held at the Continuation Center.

Countryman Defends Kruse Appointment

Iowa Attorney General Dayton Countryman said here Wednesday that the appointment of Kermit Kruse of Clinton as special assistant attorney general in charge of liquor law enforcement is a "big step in the right direction" toward uniform enforcement.

Countryman came to Iowa City from Clinton where he made the appointment in the morning. He spoke Wednesday afternoon at the annual police officers' conference held at the Iowa Center for Continuation Study.

The attorney general said he felt that observance of liquor laws in river towns has improved noticeably. "If what I heard in Clinton this morning is any indication."

Statewide Basis

Kruse said he would operate on a statewide basis. But Countryman accompanied the appointment with a statement asserting law enforcement had "broken down" in Clinton county.

Warren Johnson, Clinton county attorney who has been feuding with Countryman, promptly denied the attorney general's assertion. He called the appointment a waste of money and "an affront to the entire structure of... law enforcement."

Johnson, Countryman and Kruse all are Republicans. State Democratic chairman Jake More, Harlan, declared Countryman himself "is responsible if a situation exists in Clinton county such as he describes."

'Never Cracker Dry'

Another Democrat, Rep. John Carlsen (D-Clinton), declared "Clinton county never has been 'cracker dry' and probably never will be 'cracker dry.'"

Countryman said Kruse would "direct the investigation of liquor law violations and prosecute violators, when found, to the limit of the law."

Kruse was Clinton county attorney from 1951 to 1954. He was defeated by Johnson in the Republican primary last June. In the 1950 election, Kruse won by 35 votes over Carlsen, the present Clinton county representative.

'Never Again'

Carlsen said in Des Moines he hoped that Countryman never again would take Clinton's "entire police department for a raid or any other legal action." He said if Countryman fails to make a pledge to this effect, legislation should be passed "to prevent removal of the force."

Carlsen's reference was to surprise raids the night of March 19 in which state agents and Clinton police seized 176 bottles of liquor in eight taverns. Clinton officials said Countryman commandeered all members of the police department on duty that night, except a desk sergeant, to carry out the raids.

It was this raid which apparently heightened the feud between Johnson and Countryman. Johnson's office was not consulted about the raids, Johnson said Countryman's action in bypassing the county attorney's office was the kind of thing which "invites anarchy."

Return of Liquor

On March 22, Justice of Peace Don Sagers, DeWitt, entered an order returning all the seized liquor to the tavern owners. Johnson said later he had advised Sagers there were no legal grounds to resist the move for return of the liquor.

Countryman referred to this development in his statement Wednesday. He said the raids were "without a single flaw." He declared "there were no legal grounds whatever for the release of the liquor."

Sen. David Shaff (R-Clinton) declined to comment Wednesday on Countryman's latest move. Gov. Leo Hoegh also declined comment.

Brando, Miss Kelly Win Top Acting Oscars

Marlon Brando Best Actor

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Grace Kelly, the long suffering wife of the drinking actor in "The Country Girl," and Marlon Brando, the punchy ex-fighter in "On The Waterfront," Wednesday night were named the top screen performers of 1954 in the 27th annual Academy awards.

"On The Waterfront" swept top honors among productions, winning seven Oscars, including best picture.

Among the picture's awards are Brando, picturing actress Eva Marie Saint, director Elia Kazan, and writer Budd Schulberg.

Edmond O'Brien, the hard-pressed publicity man of "The Barefoot Contessa," was chosen the best supporting actor of the year.

Miss Kelly, 26, and Brando, 30, are the youngest pair of top nominees to win Hollywood's highest honor.

"I can only say, with all my heart, thanks to all those who made this possible," said the smiling Philadelphia millionnaire's daughter.

"It is a wonderful moment and a rare one," said the grinning Brando, "and I'm certainly grateful."

Miss Saint, who urged Brando into the path of law in "Waterfront" accepted her award in New York because she is expecting a baby soon. When she took the Oscar she remarked to the Pantages theater television audience, "I might have the baby right here."

A television veteran, she made the top award for her first movie.

Not the Answer—

Judge James P. Gaffney Monday objected to the ownership and operation of automobiles by students attending SUI. In his opinion, cars on campus should be limited only to persons physically unable to walk and to married couples with families.

Certainly the removal of all student cars except those owned by the 1,454 married students at SUI would help alleviate some of Iowa City's traffic and parking problems. But we feel that his idea should not be looked upon by city or university officials as a cure-all to end these problems.

The university has recognized the problems involved in the number of student cars on campus. It has conducted a survey of the student body to find how many cars are used on campus and who the owners are.

As a partial solution, the university maintains nearly 3,000 off-street parking stalls in addition to the 730 spaces reserved for faculty use.

The university has required that all student cars be registered with the university and has prescribed penalties for parking and traffic violations.

The situation is being studied by the university parking committee. But to date it has not felt justified in prohibiting students from owning and operating cars or in offering other concrete recommendations.

We prefer to wait for the recommendations of the university committee before grasping at straws for the solution.

We do not hold any brief for the most often heard argument of students that they have a "right" to own and operate a car. This is a privilege that is extended to them by the university.

It is rather parallel to the situation where the state of Iowa — or any other state — grants the motorist the privilege of operating a car on the public highways. A drivers license in this case is not a right of every citizen — it is a privilege extended to him to use under the terms of specified regulations.

It may become necessary for the university to prohibit some students from having and operating cars on campus. Many schools and universities including several in the Big Ten have found this to be necessary.

But until the university finds that no other solutions such as increased off-street parking or other regulations can control the situation, let us not frantically pounce on the idea of banning student cars as being the panacea to end all of Iowa City's traffic problems.

Toward World Peace—

President Eisenhower's creation of a new cabinet post — a presidential assistant for disarmament — is perhaps the most far-seeing move he has made on the world political stage since his celebrated 1953 proposal for a world sharing of atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

We Americans know that we are not war-mongers and have never been. But constant stress on military preparedness against the undiminished threat of communism appears to have given many foreigners the wrong impression.

The Reds have fostered this impression by shouting to the world that they are peaceful and we are bent on war.

Mr. Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan had about it the kind of bold imagination that is the mark of real statesmanship. It struck the world with terrific moral impact, and showed many millions what America is actually like. Even Russia could not ignore it, but gave lip-service to the idea.

Yet the notion persists that this country is pursuing a course toward war. The president has, in recent months, repeatedly stressed the idea that the world must avoid war.

Realizing the need for fresh and important thinking in this field, Eisenhower has created the new cabinet-rank post. Harold Stassen has the tremendous assignment of developing broad studies and conclusions which will become new, basic American policy on disarmament.

Student's View

TO THE EDITOR:

With regard to Johnson County District Judge Gaffney's opinions about student car ownership (March 30, The Daily Iowan), I believe the students' point of view should also be expounded.

The main purpose of a student owning a car is that of transportation. The vast majority of the student body at this school are Iowa residents.

Almost all of that majority spend some of their weekends at home. The cheapest and most convenient way for them to do this, is by operating their own cars.

Dating Privacy

Another reason for having a car on this campus, is the lack of facilities for privacy of dating couples. Many frown on the traditional Saturday night necking scene in front of women's housing units.

The only way to prevent this, and similar situations at the Union and other places, is to provide a place where a couple can be alone. Cars, on this campus, are the only solution that seems satisfactory.

Iowa City's facilities are, to a certain extent, limited. Cedar Rapids, and other neighboring towns can make up for this deficiency if the students can get to them. To do this they need cars.

Free Use

A great many of the undergraduate students here have had the free use of cars in high school. It seems only normal, that when they go to college, and are older, they should be allowed to retain this privilege.

A few abuse it by childishness or carelessness is not a valid reason for punishing the many who drive daily with safety.

The overcrowding of parking facilities and the streets themselves is definitely a problem. With more students coming to the university next year it will be an even greater problem.

There are two possible answers in view. The first is to expand the existing facilities to meet the problem, and the second is to restrict the number of cars on the streets by rules or laws.

Seems Remote

Since the former solution seems remote, the latter should be examined.

A rule such as Judge Gaffney suggests would solve the problem, all right, but step on the rights of the students in an unfair and unwarranted way. We, the students, are the "foreigners" in this town.

Yet we are the backbone of the town, and its major source of income. We demand no better treatment than Iowa City residents, but it seems at times that the town wants to give us less than that.

Other Schools

Other universities have coped with traffic problems of a similar nature by restricting the use or ownership of automobiles to sophomores and higher. This plan would be reasonable.

But I can't help wondering why the high school students in Iowa City should be allowed cars (which they don't need to get home to see their parents) when the university students, who are older and therefore more capable, can't have them.

I urge Judge Gaffney to reconsider his opinion.

Common Sense

TO THE EDITOR:

Monday night in Currier's north dining room a girl suddenly became ill and headed for the nearest exit. She ran against the doors, which open outward, but because they were locked she struck her head against a pane of glass, shattering it.

North and south dining rooms each have one double door at the top of a short flight of stairs. Additional exits are provided by a service doorway on the north, half a flight below the main floor level, and by French doors on the courtyard side.

The windows and doors have very small panes, too small to permit escape in the event of a fire.

Whatever the reason for locking the doors, it would seem insignificant indeed in comparison to the tragedy which could occur if a fire broke out during a meal.

The Code of Iowa (sec. 103) specifically forbids the fastening of exit doors in college buildings. But the responsibility rests not so much on the law as on plain common sense.

Ode To The Judge

TO THE EDITOR:

The poem below was written after reading in Wednesday's Daily Iowan the comment of a district court judge here on SUI students who have cars on campus:

I think that I might safely say
That autos now are here to stay.

But our anachronistic city

considers it to be a pity
That students should be mobilized.

So they start to verbalize
About the 44 per cent or so

Who own a car to come and go
Across the bumpy cobblestones,

Which rattle drivers to their bones.

Now and then when on a bender
A student rumples up a fender

A judge who sits omnipotent,
Self-righteous and so competent,

Forgetting all the older folks
When at his finger pokes

To tell all of us other punks
We are a bunch of thoughtless drunks,

Devoid of the ability,
Without responsibility,

To operate successfully
Our up-to-date motility.

Now judges and most businessmen
Just drive to work and back again.

Just twice a day they have to drive,
Just down to work and back at five.

Of students they are ignorant,
Of their rapid transient

From field house to East hall:
They have ten minutes, judge,

That's all.
Then back for dinner at twelve-thirty,

Hot and panting, tired and dirty.

Then off to class they rush again
To be on time for their one-ten.

Now, judge, you tell me straight and true:
Who needs a car most, me or you?

I think there is a point to this,
One which most of us seem to miss:

To park there is no place downtown.
You have to drive around and round.

The city should build parking ramps,
But their purse has got the cramps.

They won't dig down for one thin dime,
They charge the students with the crime

Of causing all the parking thunder
So they can wiggle out from under

The blame which now is solely theirs,
Of which they are the only heirs.

So now I'm telling you, stern

Time Has Come

TO THE EDITOR:

The time has come to speak. To discuss all the injustices shown to university students by city officials and certain city residents would require an entire issue of The Daily Iowan.

But the suggestion that all students, except those persons physically unable to walk or married students with families, should not be allowed to own or operate a motor vehicle while attending the university cannot be taken with a dry pen.

First, automobiles are here to stay. For some this should be repeated. Automobiles are here to stay. Most people like them. Some people even own (this will make somebody cringe) two.

Most Obey

Students are people. (Bitter, bitter cringe.) And most of them obey the laws of ownership and operation of a motor vehicle.

I see, therefore, no grounds on which a student should be discriminated against in operating a motor vehicle in Iowa City.

Second, car ownership regulations by some schools are sighted as justification for regulation by all schools — regardless of the ecological situation.

Student car ownership or operation regulations may be defensible in schools with sizable enrollments where the physical plant is located in a crowded urban area.

Space Restricted

In such areas space is restricted and competed for by the local residents or commercial establishments as well as by students. But that need not be the situation in this community.

Some of the present parking problem is due to the excessive parking areas surrounding many of the principal buildings. No student wishes to, or should have to, leave classroom buildings every hour or two to feed a parking meter.

Metered parking space, then, is the last to be taken. This overloads non-metered street parking areas and "open" lot areas.

Expand Areas

If necessary, present open areas could be expanded even more than the tripled space of the last five years. Much additional space is available west of the main library, adjacent to the present parking area.

Also an attractive parking area could be made in the space between Iowa avenue and Market street west of East hall, without removing the few trees in the west space.

With proper utilization of foresight in planning for the future automobile parking and traffic "problems" there can be room for everyone who wishes to use this modern Dobbin while in Iowa City.

At times, however, there seems to be more empty space in Iowa City than foresight — and not all that space is on the ground.

Pastel Shades Appeal to Coeds—

New Colors, Fabrics Highlight Flat Shoes

Coeds have discovered the usefulness of flats. These low-heeled shoes range from the popular Capezio to the ballet slipper, and are worn with spring and summer outfits.

This spring there is an almost limitless choice. Flats seem to be the shoe picture for keeps, and the variety of new materials and trims, plus firmer soles and better fit makes them both more practical and more appealing to the coed.

For casual and weekend wear, flats are seen in summer shades, in shag, suede, smooth leather and fabrics.

Variety of Shades New pastels in calf, kidskin or reptile are just the thing to wear with cottons, batistes, dimities and lawns — to class or to a party.

Tiny heels add greatly to the chic of many of the new flats. Baby heels, either pancake or miniature French, are very popular, especially with a slim platform to match.

A typical example is the dress flat of palest mauve pink kidskin, with a narrow platform and baby Louis heel of black patent. Sparkling jet nailheads on the vamp pick up the theme.

Strawcloth for Summer For midsummer wear the strawcloth flats in white, black or natural straw with square vamp, narrow contrasting sole and straw flower heel.

A brilliant harlequin Basque cloth on rubber sole, one of the new washable flats just introduced, is for all-around sports wear. Flats in gay terry cloth, spattered with big white polka dots, come with matching carry-all bags for the sea shore or patio.

Colorful fruit is another popular trim for casual wear. The dressier shoes have pearl ornaments, clusters of fabric or plastic flowers, or embroidered motifs.

Sophisticated Flats

For city wear, coeds have discovered sophisticated flats that pick up the tricks of more formal shoes, including backless designs, T-straps and cut-out vamp treatments. Linings are colored, striped or printed.

These city flats come in suedes, polished leather and reptile or in combinations of these materials. Interest is provided with the heel and sole offering contrast in color or material with the shoe itself.

Classic black and navy polished leathers are popular as is grey suede. Added interest comes from the honey or ginger browns or beiges with a smart touch of black patent leather. Red, including the new "spring flame," is a basic again, often with a black touch.

PEAR HALVES

SPRITZ COOKIES

It's always a good idea to keep a supply of cookies on hand for filling the school lunchbox and for light refreshments when the youngsters bring home friends after school. Your house will be a popular gathering place when your cookie box is filled with these yummy spritz cookies!

The necessary ingredients for four dozen cookies are:

- 1/2 cup margarine
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1/2 lbs. cream
2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/4 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted.

Cream margarine. Add sugar gradually, creaming until light and fluffy. Add eggs and beat well. Stir in vanilla extract and cream. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and nutmeg. Add to margarine mixture, about one-fourth at a time, mixing well after each addition.

Divide dough in halves. Leave one half plain. To other half add cooled melted chocolate and mix well. Fill cookie press and form cookies on ungreased baking sheets. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) 8 to 10 minutes. If desired, decorate cookies with colored sugar before baking. Or the baked cookies may be decorated with confectioners' sugar icing and coconut, nuts, or candied fruits.

Tips for Freezing Combination Dishes

Many homemakers are pretty much up on their ABC's of meat freezing but often do not know too much about freezing cooked combination meat dishes. Here are some tips which may be helpful:

- 1. Stews, soups, casseroles, and spaghetti sauces — all may be frozen for use later. When freezing stews, slightly undercook the vegetables as they will soften further during cooking and reheating later. It is preferable to omit potatoes and add these when reheating as they tend to become mushy when frozen.
2. Cool the cooked dish as quickly as possible, then pack in a freezer carton.
3. Meat sandwiches may be frozen. Wrap each sandwich in-

Greek Week Scheduled for May 11-15

Greek Week, discontinued on the SUI campus two years ago, will be revived this spring, May 11 through 15. The week is set aside for a united effort by all the SUI fraternities and sororities on projects and other activities.

Exchange dinners throughout the whole Greek system will be held May 11 and 12. Instructors and Iowa City businessmen will be invited by the various houses.

Several public service projects, involving approximately 800 SUI fraternity men and 600 sorority women, will be held May 14. A picnic will be held that noon for the whole group and field events will take up the afternoon. The picnic and games will probably be held at City park.

Outside Dance

That evening an outside dance will be held. During the evening, the one best fraternity and sorority skit will be selected.

The skit will be picked from a field of 20 to be presented by the groups. The Greek Week committee will pick five from an earlier presentation, and those five will be presented May 14, when the best one will be chosen.

Greek Week will be climaxed the afternoon of May 15 with an outside gathering of all Greek members. A General Motors educational consultant will speak on a topic concerned with the ideals of fraternity living.

Also on that afternoon the most outstanding fraternity man will be presented.

East Germans To Up Road Tax to Berlin

BERLIN (P) — The East German Communist regime said Wednesday it will increase taxes on highway traffic between West Germany and Berlin. West German authorities expressed fears the new levies would seriously impair the isolated city's lifeline to the West.

The East Zone government announcement said tolls on trucks, passenger cars and other vehicles using the 110-mile superhighway between Berlin and the West will be drastically increased Friday.

The Communists said the Western traffic is so heavy the extra funds are needed to keep the Soviet Zone roads in repair.

Hangs on Cross 23 Minutes

KRISHNA VENTA, leader of the Fountain of the World religious order, hangs from a hilltop cross where his followers placed him early this morning. The group said it was reenacting the passion and death of Jesus Christ. Venta, who describes himself as the son of God, carried the cross up the hillside as his followers tormented him, then hung on it for 23 minutes. His wrists were secured with rope. The group regards March 30 as the true date of the crucifixion. Initials above his head represent Roman words for "Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews."

8 Rebel Convicts End 3-Day Revolt

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A 65-hour revolt by eight Nebraska penitentiary convicts ended quietly Wednesday, on terms laid down by the governor.

Released unharmed and little the worse for nearly three days of detention at knife point were two guards and a hostage convict.

Since Sunday morning, convicts and captives had been barricaded in the square, three-story prison "jail" building used to house recalcitrant prisoners.

The wind-up to the war of nerves began about 11 p.m. Tuesday when the hungry rebels telephoned to ask for interviews. Gov. Victor E. Anderson talked with four of the men, one at a time.

15 Days

He told them what punishment they would get — 15 days in the "hole" and 60 days in solitary confinement.

The "hole" is the name given the first floor of the holdout building, containing small, barren cells. The upper two floors have confinement cells.

All eight rebels accepted the punishment order and at 3:15 a.m., the two guards walked out of the captive building into the glare of floodlights.

Thirteen minutes later the convicts began to emerge. They walked unescorted to the office of Deputy Warden John Greenholtz.

Hot Meals

Hot meals went to the famished captors and captives alike. The only food they had eaten since breakfast Sunday was a loaf of bread, some sugar and grapefruit rinds.

The happy guards, Eugene Swanson, 34, and Warren B. Miller, 43, told newsmen they were well treated. The meager food supply was shared with scrupulous fairness among all, they said.

The rebels were "pretty cocky" and "could have stayed two weeks if they wanted to," said Swanson. "They were a determined bunch." They gave up when they realized "the futility of their situation," he added.

John S. Ward, one of the 12

convicts in the jail building, sawed out a cell bar. He captured Miller, at knife point Sunday morning when the guard went into the building to deliver tobacco to a prisoner. Swanson was seized shortly thereafter.

Notes twice were exchanged between the governor and the prisoners.

Nine grievances dealing with the handling of jail prisoners were listed by the rebels. The governor termed some of the demands reasonable and said some already had received attention. But he insisted that there would be no compromises and no discussion until guards were released.

Newsmen and photographers were denied access to the prisoners, even after the revolt ended.

Congress OK's Servicemen's Pay Raise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, moving rapidly and without objection, Wednesday voted a pay raise averaging about 12 per cent for personnel in the armed forces.

Passing by voice vote on both sides of the Capitol, the measure went to President Eisenhower for signature. If he acts today, the increases for nearly 1,700,000 officers and men will become effective the next day.

The administration-backed bill was designed to keep personnel with experience and specialized talents from dropping out of service, thereby trimming their training costs and operate more effectively in the face of projected cuts in authorized strength. They are slated to go down from slightly more than three million men to about 2,850,000 in another 15 months.

Only enlisted men and warrant officers with at least two years in uniform and commissioned officers with three years' service will benefit from major features of the legislation. They are ordinarily obligated for that much time anyway.

Russel said the aim was to boost the rate of reenlistments to about 50 per cent.

Personnel in the lower grades would receive the largest percentage boost. In the bottom rungs, a private's monthly pay would jump 8.57 per cent to $98.80 after two years. A second lieutenant or ensign would receive $296.40 after three years, a 25 per cent hike.

To Stay Out of Wage Dispute Mitchell Says

NEW YORK (AP) — Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell said Wednesday the government will not interfere in bargaining on the guaranteed annual wage unless there is a national emergency.

"Issues that develop between the employer and the union are a matter for the employer and the union to settle," Mitchell said in a radio interview.

WINS CONTEST

DES MOINES (AP) — Joe Draugh, 17, Purcell, Okla., won the regional contest in the American Legion oratorical contest Wednesday in competition with winners from three other states.

Mosse: Democracy Needs 'True Liberals'

DES MOINES (AP) — Prof. George L. Mosse said he disagreed as a historian with "those who believe that power will not be a despotic power if it is a popular power."

Mosse spoke at a session of the Iowa conference on individual freedom discussing the proper balance between national security and individual freedom.

He said "the only defense against despotism is a strong government which is democratic." He added that a good democracy also must contain "true liberals" who are not afraid to "stand against the criticism which develops from their failure to conform."

Iowa Ball Club Starting To Jell As Trip Nears

WHITNEY MARTIN'S —

Sports Trail

NEW YORK (AP) — A quick sizeup of some of the major league managers and their problems:

Birdie Tebbetts, Reds—Astute and capable, and perhaps the most realistic of them all in sizing up his assets and liabilities. Well aware that pitching is a major problem, and that the terrifying power in his lineup could be offset by a feeble mound staff.

Mayo Smith, Phillies—A serene and affable fellow who has stepped up to a major league job without letting it awe him. Will tell you he needs a real power hitter to help Del Ennis, and that if Curt Simmons fails to deliver, there will be real pitching trouble.

Walter Alton, Dodgers—Cautious and uncommunicative. Probably will have same team as last year, only a year older, which might hurt in some spots. Won't say, but probably aware the pennant hopes hinge on recovery of Roy Campanella and possible improvement in Don Newcome.

Charley Grimm, Braves—Jovial and well-adjusted, and everybody's pal. Pretty well satisfied but admits the lack of first-class catching to back up Del Crandall is something of a problem. If Crandall should be out of the lineup it would mean real trouble.

Charley Dressen, Senators—Effervescent and personable, and talkative beyond the call of duty. His problem is to do better with practically the same team Bucky Harris had last year, and it isn't going to be easy.

Casey Stengel, Yankees—A positive man who speaks out, but behind his quips is a keen baseball mind. Has lineup worries, uncertain pitching, and realizes that with the fading of Phil Rizzuto the team is losing more than a little fellow at shortstop. On something of a spot, as this team is almost entirely his own, with few holdovers from the Bucky Harris era.

Lou Boudreau, Kansas City—Dapper and handsome and pleasant. Has dubious task of trying to make the woeful A's into a better team with only a change of uniforms, as there are few new faces.

Stan Hack, Cubs—Popular everywhere. But when you have a chronic second division club you don't know where to start worrying.

Al Lopez, Indians—Poised and affable. Not too many problems with a team that won 111 games and has added still more power and pitching.

Leo Durocher, Giants—Cocky and manager of the world champions. Problems? What problems?

Willie Pep Loses Split Decision to Cadilli

PARKS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Young Gil Cadilli, opening a cut over Willie Pep's right eye in the fourth round, slowed the veteran featherweight down Wednesday night to win a split decision in their 10-round nationally televised fight before 3,800 Air Force men at this base.

Judges Eddie James and Tony Bosnich scored it the same, 56-54 for Cadilli. Referee Jack Downey had it 58-52 for Pep.

Coach Otto Vogel Looking Ahead

By BOB HOOKER

Nothing but earnest work lies ahead for Iowa's baseball squad which Saturday departs for Tucson, Arizona and an opening six-game series next week against Arizona's Wildcats.

After stiff workouts Wednesday night, tonight and Friday night, Coach Otto Vogel will pick his traveling squad for the trip. Then on Monday through Saturday mornings next week a team practice will be held before the game each afternoon.

Vogel apparently wants to take advantage of the fine Arizona weather as the Hawks get ready for the Big Ten season which opens April 22 against Purdue.

Many Games

For more than one month the temperature in Arizona has been above 80 degrees. Through Tuesday the Wildcats had played 18 games and had swept four games from Utah last week.

In lining up his team, Vogel has Don Boek and Jerry Leber available to do the catching. Experienced pitchers Ron Schaeffer, co-captain Merle Jensen, Bill Dugan and Bill Schoof, a recent addition from the basketball team, will do much of the hurling in the opening series, although other pitchers will make the trip to be on hand when needed.

In the infield, which could be Iowa's strongest asset at present since all the indoor work during the bad weather did not hamper its work, Ted Jensen and Kirby Smith are still battling for the first base job.

Capps, Waldron at Keystone—Ron Capps, co-captain with Merle Jensen, likely will get the call at second base. Don Waldron will be shortstop, teaming with Capps around the keystone. Third base duties probably will go to Ken Kurtz.

Outfielders, who have been getting, as Vogel says, "a lot of work since we've gone outside" are headed by Babe Hawthorne and Sharm Scheuerman from the basketball team and Bucky Walters.

Most of the practice time this week has been devoted to playing games in order to present game conditions to the players and to give the pitchers more experience.

Looking warily ahead, Vogel asserts, "We'll be as ready as we possibly can be for the conference season — if the weather holds up." Minnesota has played some games in the Southwest, and defending Big Ten champ Michigan State, Michigan, Northwestern and Ohio State are all presently in the South for games.

Inter-City Golden Glove Bouts Tonight

CHICAGO (AP) — A spirited New York squad will try for an unprecedented second straight triumph over Chicago's best amateur boxers in tonight's 28th Inter-city Golden Glove bouts. A crowd of 13,000 is expected at the Chicago Stadium event.

The Gotham battlers won, 5 to 3, in last year's competition at New York, but it was only the sixth triumph for the eastern team against 14 defeats and 7 ties.

As prevailed last year for the first time, tonight's meet will be based solely on the outcome of 8 championship bouts, instead of 16 bouts involving both champions and alternates.

Chicago's cause was weakened this week when Jess Bowdry, St. Louis' 160-pound winner in Chicago's Tournament of Champions, and 147-pound champion Dick Wall of Omaha, were lost to the Windy City squad.

Hawk Golf Team Not Set: Bucky

Iowa's golf team has not had time to round itself into shape states Coach Bucky O'Connor.

Prospective linksmen have been working on their own while O'Connor was tied up with the extended basketball season. However, Bucky points out that the golfers are now waiting for the Finkbine course to open.

Owner Dies, Then His Horse Wins

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — Samuel Park, 63-year-old Philadelphia racehorse owner, died at Bowie race track Wednesday only minutes before one of the horses won.

Brau Imp scored a 3 1/2-length victory in the eighth race, paying $12.20.

Park watched his horse saddled, then returned to his seat in the clubhouse. He died apparently of a heart attack before seeing his horse win.

Poor Weather Hits Swim Try

VICTORIA, B. C. (AP) — Unfavorable weather Wednesday night again threatened another postponement of the attempt by Janice White, Toronto, to swim the 22 miles across the Strait of Juan de Fuca to Port Angeles, Wash., today.

Gale warnings forced the 18-year-old girl to give up her scheduled 3 a.m. start Wednesday. A conference late Wednesday night was to decide whether she would try at 4 a.m. today.

Currier Honors Cagers

DiMarco Gets Dowling Job

DES MOINES (AP) — Al DiMarco, 30, a former Iowa quarterback, Wednesday was named football and baseball coach at Dowling high school here.

The Rev. Michael Schwarte, Dowling athletic director, said DiMarco would take over his duties in the fall. He succeeds Paul Schramm who has accepted a similar position at Dyersville high school.

DiMarco has coached football and baseball at Eagle Grove for five years. During the last season, his football team won all eight of its scheduled games.

Frank Carideo, former all-America quarterback at Notre Dame, and one of DiMarco's coaches at Iowa, recommended DiMarco for the Dowling job.

Carideo said recently that DiMarco "was one of the smartest quarterbacks I've ever coached."

Change of Scenery May Not Help Athletics—

Kansas City Club Faces Many Problems

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Kansas City Athletics are in a class by themselves. Unless they pull the upset of the year, they appear doomed to finish in the American league cellar.

MICKEY MANTLE OF THE NEW YORK YANKEES HOPES THIS IS THE YEAR FOR THE 23-YEARLING WITH LUCK HE'LL PUT IN HIS FIRST FULL-TIME SPRING TRAINING SEASON SINCE HE INJURED HIS KNEE IN 1951.

LAST SEASON WAS MICKEY'S BEST IN THE HOMER AND R.B.I. DEPARTMENTS WITH 27 AND 102 BUT THAT'S WAY BELOW HIS POTENTIAL — AND STRIKING OUT 107 TIMES WASN'T MUCH IMPROVEMENT ON HIS OWN CLUB RECORD OF 111.

THEN THERE'S THE PROBLEM OF IMPROVING HIS "SHOW" POSITION IN NEW YORK'S CENTER-FIELD DERBY WITH MAYS AND SNIDER.

Despite having one of the best managers in the business in Lou Boudreau, the Athletics are no more formidable in Kansas City than they were last year in Philadelphia.

With the exception of several half-promising youngsters from their Ottawa and Savannah farm clubs, these are the same Athletics who finished last in 1954 with 103 defeats, a horrendous .236 team batting average and a sickly .972 fielding percentage.

Not Enough Talent—Boudreau has no illusions. He knows he does not have enough talent to harass the better clubs of the league but he insists he is not the least bit discouraged.

Perhaps Ewell Blackwell, Tom Gorman and Dick Kryhoski, all obtained from the New York Yankees Wednesday, will be of some help to the club.

Despite their low state, the A's own two players coveted by every other club in the league. They are Jim Finigan, standout third baseman, and Arnie Portocarrero, a big right-handed pitcher. Both were freshman flashes last season. Finigan, a throw-in in an 11-player deal with the Yankees a year ago proved a bargain, batting .302 and making the league's all-star team. Portocarrero, despite a 9-18 record, impressed everybody with his ability.

Pitching Headache—Boudreau's biggest headache concerns his pitching. The continued lameness of Bobby Shantz' arm and the slow progress of Alex Kellner has the pitching staff in a state of confusion. Shantz' ear also was torn Tuesday by a line drive. Unless the two veteran southpaws come through, Boudreau will have to depend upon such mediocres as Charlie Bishop (4-6), Art DiMar (1-4), Marion Fricano (6-11), Bob Trice (4-8), John Dixon (6-9), and John Gray (3-12).

Art Ceccarelli, a draftee from the Kansas City American association club, Cloyd Boyer from Columbus and Carl Duser, a left-handed fast baller not even on the roster, have been the most impressive of the newcomers.

Zernial, Finigan—Gus Zernial's recovery from a broken shoulder received last summer has heartened Boudreau, who intends to build his attack around the slugging outfielder and Finigan. Zernial, in left, Bill Wilson in center and Bill Renna in right, appear to be the regular outfielders.

Vic Pöwer will be at first base against left-handed pitching. Don Bollweg will bat against right-handers with Power switching to the outfield. Hector Lopez, the best looking newcomer in camp, is giving holdover Spook Jacobs a terrific battle for the regular second base job. Joe Demaestri appears to have the shortstop berth all sewed up.

Boudreau will carry three catchers, Joe Astroth, Wilmer Shantz and Al Robertson. Newcomer Joe Bevan probably will be kept for utility along with holdovers Pete Suder, Elmer Valo and Lou Limmer. Right-handers Ed Burtchey, Charles Haag and Camille Van Brabant probably will handle the bullpen chores.

Pistons, Nats in Cage Series
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Fort Wayne will be facing a jinx, while the Syracuse Nationals will be fighting over-confidence when they meet here tonight for the first game in the final playoffs for the National Basketball association championship.
Fort Wayne never has won an NBA game in Syracuse. The Nats have whipped the Pistons 29 times, losing 8, since Al Cervi took over the Syracuse coaching duties.
This season Syracuse beat Fort Wayne seven out of nine regular season games.
The Nats beat Boston and the Pistons licked Minneapolis in the semifinals of the eastern and western divisions to bring them together in the best-of-seven "world series" of professional basketball.

A's Buy Blackwell, 2 Other Yankees

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Kansas City Athletics Wednesday bought pitchers Ewell Blackwell and Tommy Gorman and first baseman Dick Kryhoski from the New York Yankees in a straight cash deal.

The purchase price was announced as "in excess of $50,000."

Blackwell, once one of the finest righthanded pitchers in the game while with Cincinnati, was on the Yankee voluntarily retired list last year, suffering from a sore arm.

Gorman appeared in 11 games with the Yanks last year after being brought up from the Kansas City Blues of the American association. His won-lost record was 3-2 and his earned run average 3.88. He is a right-handed pitcher.

Kryhoski, a veteran lefthanded first baseman, served several years in the Yankee organization before he was traded to Detroit. He came back to the Yankees in a winter deal from the Baltimore Orioles.

The cash deal came as a surprise, as owner Arnold Johnson and his aides were believed to be hatching a trade that would send Arnold Portocarrero, the A's righthanded pitcher, to the Yankees.

Whether the cash deal was the forerunner to a trade was not immediately determined. The Athletics are in dire need of lefthanded hitting, and Kryhoski is a power swinger who never quite lived up to expectations.

Johnson, when he bought the Athletics franchise from the Macks of Philadelphia, said he had $1 million to spend in improving the club. This is the first move to acquire talent outside the organization with the exception of the draft.

Giants Tip Indians; Last Arizona Tilt

TUSCON, Ariz. (AP) — The New York Giants and Cleveland Indians bade farewell to Arizona for the 1955 spring training season Wednesday, hooking up in a free hitting game, won by the Giants, 12-11, on rookie Foster Castleman's ninth inning single.

New York entered the ninth trailing by a run, but tied it up on two singles, an error and a sacrifice fly. Castleman then singled in the winning run.

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers got to Jim Wilson for two runs in the sixth inning and a 3-2 victory Wednesday, making it two straight over the Milwaukee Braves in their homeward exhibition baseball tour.

Wilson walked four men in the sixth. Sandy Amoros chipped in a single as the Brooks broke a 1-1 tie.

Milwaukee threatened in the ninth, but Tom LaSorda fanned pinchhitter Jim Pendleton in relief after Charlie White, Bill Bruton and Ed Mathews had clipped Bob Darnell for three singles and a run.

Limping Fain of Little Help, But Tigers Banking on Him

SARASOTA, Fla. — Although he insists everything is just fine, first baseman Ferris Fain continues to hobble through the Detroit Tigers' exhibition games.

Manager Bucky Harris says: "The way he's going now, he couldn't outrun me."

Fain's right knee — injured last season and aggravated during the winter — has been the big question mark in the Tigers' training camp this season.

Key to Hopes

It is no secret that Harris is banking heavily on the 33-year-old first baseman to help lead the Tigers into the first division for the first time since 1950.

Fain says he'll be ready for the opener April 12. "I'll be all right," he muttered Tuesday after aggravating the knee in a game against the New York Yankees.

Though Fain played most of the games against the Yankees, he was clearly below par. His limp was noticeable.

Hurt In Slide

Fain has batted .222 this spring. The injury was incurred last June when he slid into catcher Sammy White of the Boston Red Sox.

The Tigers obtained Fain from the Chicago White Sox in a six-player offseason deal.

If Fain can't hold down first base this season, the Tigers will have to call on either Wayne Belardi, a veteran .236 hitter last season, or spotted Jack Phillips, who played third base for Hollywood in the Pacific Coast league last year.

Irish Gridders Start Drills

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame's spring football practice got under way Wednesday with Coach Terry Brennan refraining from pessimism despite the loss of 14 lettermen.

That loss includes six starting linemen and two star backs.

Brennan, who last season replaced retired Frank Leahy at the Irish helm, looked over 81 candidates reporting for the spring drill and asserted:

"We should have a pretty fair club. Just how good it will depend on a lot of things—hard work and solid progress, to mention the main ones."

Landry New Irish Frosh Coach

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Jack Landry, former Notre Dame fullback, Wednesday was named Irish freshman football coach by Athletic Director Edward W. Krause.

Landry, 29, who played on Notre Dame's 1948-1950 teams, succeeds Frank (Blacky) Johnston, who quit to become line coach at the University of South Carolina.

Marciano Ponders About Nose

CHICAGO (AP) — If heavy-weight champion Rocky Marciano's tender nose should cause him to lose to England's Don Cockell, he will try to regain his title.

Marciano, who defends his crown against Cockell at San Francisco May 16, made a short stopover in Chicago while en route to the West Coast city to begin training for the fight.

"I feel my nose is healing fine," said Marciano, whose beak was severely cut against Ezzard Charles last Sept. 17.

"However, if it should be hurt against Cockell to the extent of the bout being stopped, I have a rematch in the contract," said Rocky.

Injuries Hit Derby Prospects

NEW YORK (AP) — That old injury bugaboo is taking its toll of some 590 three-year-old colts again this spring.

With only about five weeks to go before the Kentucky Derby May 7, the opposition seems bent on making it easier for Nashua and Summer Tan to battle it out for three-year-old honors.

Latest to join the hospital list is Roman Patrol, flashy winner of the recent Louisiana Derby, who was declared out of the Louisville classic Wednesday because of an osselet in his left foreleg.

Roman Patrol, 4-1 second choice in the latest Derby future book behind Nashua at 2-1, is the fifth colt in the 1955 experimental handicap rankings to meet with mishap.

Other top two-year-olds of 1954 now out of action because of injuries include Royal Coinage, Royal Note, Bunny's Babe and Pyrenees.

Summer Tan, who won the Garden State Stakes, hasn't raced since because of an illness that nearly cost his life right after the rich New Jersey race. The colt is at Belmont Park, and is expected to meet Nashua in the $100,000 Wood Memorial April 23.

Nashua has won the Flamingo and Florida Derby, two $100,000 affairs.

Cockell, Now Well, Drills for Bout

EASTBOURNE, England (AP) — Don Cockell, fit again after a bout with influenza, went back to training Wednesday for his world heavyweight title fight against champion Rocky Marciano in San Francisco May 16.

"Cockell was suffering from influenza over the weekend, but he's fit again now," Manager John Simpson said.

The British heavyweight champ, rated a 5-1 underdog on the bookie lists, plans to wind up training in England April 6. He will sail for New York the next day.

Atomic Sub Ready To Join Fighting Fleet

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — The atomic submarine, Nautilus, with 3,000 miles of tests and a couple of minor mishaps behind her, is ready to join the navy's fleet of fighting ships.

Cmdr. Eugene P. Wilkinson, captain of the first nuclear submarine, said Wednesday builder's trials of the big, 3,000-ton boat are finished, and the next step will be a demonstration for a navy board of acceptance.

Wilkinson, in a news conference held at the electric boat division of General Dynamics corporation where the Nautilus was built, said the submarine was given "tough trials," but the boat's performance was "exciting and amazing."

69 Dives

The sea trials included 69 dives and several hundred miles of travel underwater.

There was an "agonizing" moment of anxiety as the Nautilus, last Jan. 17, started backing away from her pier for the first tests.

The engineer officer telephoned the bridge to say there was a disturbing, rubbing sound in a turbine driving a propeller shaft.

Direct Steam Heat

Power was transferred quickly from direct steam drive to a slower electrical drive and the Nautilus cautiously completed her swing into the Thames river.

The noise, it was discovered, came from a plate rubbing caused by a loose screw. It was fixed promptly.

The next anxious moment came during the first dive, Jan. 20.

Small Fires

Two small fires in electrical panels smoked up. This was straightened out immediately. Then there was one day of storm when a wave bashed in a piece of outer steel sheathing on the conning tower structure and ripped up some wood planking.

Wilkinson says this is his fifth new submarine assignment "and I believe the Nautilus has developed far less than her share of troubles."

Aboard her for the first dive were Rear-Adm. H. G. Rickover, who directed much of the development work, and Rear-Adm. Frank T. Watkins, commander of submarine forces in the Atlantic.

Life Expectancy May Hit 100 Years, SUI Professor Says

Man is not prepared for the longer life span he apparently wants and probably will get in the next 50 to 75 years, Dr. Steven M. Horvath said Wednesday.

Horvath, acting director of SUI's Institute of Gerontology and professor of physiology, told the Iowa City Lions' club at their noon meeting that "Man may find his life expectancy approaching the 100-year mark in another half-century, but there are preparations which he needs to make for such a life."

"Science is making the additional years possible, but society as a whole—not just the scientists—must make the longer life worth while."

For example, Dr. Horvath asked, if a man can look with considerable hope toward living almost a hundred years, should he be required to retire at the age of 65? Even today, many of our older people find the post-retirement years pretty meaningless, he said, and "35 years of such an existence isn't too inviting to the individual."

Finance Plan—

State Teachers college. The board of education has asked $10,161,000 for capital improvements at the institutions in the next two years. Gov. Leo A. Hoegh recommended that this be cut to $6,141,000.

"We are trying to reach a compromise," a subcommittee member from the senate said. "The final figure will be in the two millions."

"We just don't have the cloth to cover the whole thing," SUI's share of the board's figure is $4,340,000 for the next two fiscal years.

New Pharmacy Building
That includes a new pharmacy building, $1,200,000; a library addition, $1,200,000; utilities improvement, $950,000; new laundry building, $150,000; Macbride auditorium remodeling, $110,000; remodel Eastlawn for music building, $100,000; addition to Law Commons for use by law college, $500,000; general remodeling $100,000 and Lakeside laboratory, $30,000.

SUI officials plan to recommend four large building projects to the 1957 legislature. The projects are new commerce building, $1,750,000; chemistry building addition, $900,000; new dentistry building, $1,600,000, and new physical plant service building, $500,000.

'Tentative'
These, however, are strictly tentative plans, SUI director of public relations, James Jordan, said Wednesday.

SUI has figured that $32 million in capital improvements will be needed between now and 1970 to meet the rising enrollment. The figure is based on current construction costs.

Included in these long range plans are five new buildings. They are for electrical engineering department, a student infirmary, a child welfare demonstration school, a law center and a women's gymnasium.

Library Addition
SUI also plans additions to the library and the Communications center.

A recent board of education statement to the legislature summed up the problem.

"It read, 'Unless we find a solution to the problem of providing the physical facilities to care for the education of these young people, we have failed in our duty to the state by depriving them of the education which is their right.'"

SUI Political Clubs Visit Legislature

By STAFF WRITER

DES MOINES — Twenty members of the SUI Young Republicans and Young Democrats went to Des Moines Wednesday to watch the Iowa legislature in action.

The bi-partisan group received a short interview with Gov. Leo Hoegh after the group's arrival in the Capitol building Wednesday morning.

When Hoegh asked for questions from the group he got the inevitable question of his stand on liquor-by-the-drink, which has been killed by the house of representatives. Hoegh answered, "I'm against it. On moral grounds."

"We sure could use the money, though," he added with a wistful smile.

As the group left his office Hoegh yelled after: "Let's get the football team to the Rose Bowl next year." Hoegh is an avid football fan.

Paul Parker, secretary to the governor, talked with the group for 10 minutes before Hoegh's interview.

Parker, like Hoegh an SUI law school graduate, suggested many constitutional amendments that would make the governor more effective in Iowa governmental affairs.

He recommended a four-year term and more executive powers for the governor's office.

Parker was state representative from Polk county (Des Moines) in the 1953 assembly. He is a former circulation manager of The Daily Iowan.

The group was introduced to the house of representatives by Rep. Scott Swisher (D-Iowa City) and to the senate by Sen. D. C. Nolan (R-Iowa City).

2 Awarded Highlander Scholarships

RUTH ASHTON, A4, Iowa City, left, and Jonne Shiley, A3, Graettinger, pose in their Highlander costumes after they were awarded Highlander scholarships Wednesday.

The scholarships cover second semester tuition and are made possible through contributions of Highlander alumni and sponsors of events at which Highlanders have appeared. Five scholarships have been awarded this year, Adamson said.

Claim Salk Polio Vaccine 100 Per Cent Effective

NEW YORK (AP)—A news story Wednesday declared the Salk polio vaccine has been found 100 per cent effective.

But polio officials said there's been no authoritative word, that only one man knows the results, and he isn't talking.

In a copyrighted story, the New York World-Telegram and Sun said it had learned from an "unimpeachable medical source" that not a single child taking the vaccine had developed polio. It said this was the gist of the report to be made officially April 12 by Dr. Thomas Francis Jr. at the University of Michigan.

But Dr. Francis replied "the official report has not been written."

The newspaper story by staff writer William Michelfelder said the medical source reported not a single case of polio among 440,000 children who received the vaccine.

Polio did occur in some other children who received harmless, useless shots of water in the tests, he said.

"The results of the test should give hope to every mother and father in the world that children will in the future never have to suffer from this crippling disease," the story said.

Indiana officials said disease thought to be clinical polio developed in 5 of 16,000 Indiana youngsters getting the vaccine.

effect on limiting the number of cars.

There were 608 single undergraduates under 21 who drove a car here more than one month last semester.

Figures Limited
Wednesday, Faunce pointed out that the committee does not have figures on the number of students in this group who live at home in Iowa City, commute from near-by towns, are physically disabled or who commute to work outside Iowa City.

He estimated this group to be "200 or 300" but he said he didn't know for sure.

He said if all single undergraduates under 21 except this "200 or 300" were prohibited from bringing cars to school, it would reduce by only about 15 per cent the number of cars on campus.

If SUI were to prohibit only single freshmen undergraduates under 21 (a few more than 200), Faunce said, it would reduce by only about three per cent the number of cars on campus.
