Iowa House Passes Tentative Income Tax Hike

Davis Receives Recording at Game

McKINLEY (DEACON) DAVIS, Iowa basketball starter for four years and co-captain the past season, receives a special memorial recording from radio station WSUI sports director Bob Zenger, Wednesday night. The recording included Iowa's final home game with Michigan, the second Iowa-Minnesota game, which gave the Big Ten title to the Hawks and a tribute to Davis by Frank (Bucky) O'Connor, Iowa coach. Davis was given the award at the halftime of the College All-Star-Harlem Globetrotter game.

Ridgway Still Opposes Military Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Chief of Staff Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, testified Wednesday he bowed to the decision to cut army manpower but said that the reasoning on which he originally opposed the cut "has not altered."

Ridgway told a senate appropriations subcommittee the reduction was not recommended or approved by the joint chiefs of staff.

The army had about 1,300,000 men at the start of this year. It is down to around 1,270,000 now, and is scheduled to drop to 1,027,000 by the middle of 1956.

Asked 1.3 Million

Under questioning, Ridgway said he had recommended that the force be held at 1,300,000.

"My recommendations, while this was in the debate stage," the general said, "were of course made from the military point of view. I recognize fully that the civilian authorities of the government who make the final decision have many factors other than the military to consider. It was their decision that reduced manpower to the figures you have before you."

The subcommittee is considering the $34 billion defense budget for the 1956 fiscal year beginning July 1. The army's share of the budget is around seven billions.

The air force would get the biggest part — more than 14½ billions. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, air force chief of staff, said that will be adequate to meet air force needs, "although Russia has made notable and surprising advances in planes and weapons in the last year that definitely threaten American security."

Ahead of Schedule

Twining also said the U.S. air force is being built up ahead of schedule and "should stay ahead" — with emphasis on quality, nuclear weapons and guided missiles.

He said Russia is known to be working on intercontinental guided missiles and has developed a new heavy jet bomber "aimed squarely in our direction."

Projected Outbacks

The projected outbacks in the army have stirred up more controversy over the defense budget than any other issue.

Acting Secretary of the Army Charles Finucane staunchly upheld them — with Ridgway sitting beside him. Finucane complimented the general as "one of the greatest combat leaders and one of the most competent chiefs of staff in our time."

Stassen Balks In FOA Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold E. Stassen, head of the foreign operations administration, declined Wednesday to hand over 10 documents to the senate investigations subcommittee until he has a chance to review them. He said they were confidential exchanges within the executive branch. He thus tangled again with senators who say they are determined to get all the facts on an FOA project to build some grain elevators in Pakistan.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), an old Stassen antagonist, at one point accused the foreign aid chief of lying under oath and demanded he be called before a grand jury.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) said he wouldn't interrupt the hearing for a side issue.

In all, McClellan asked Stassen for 21 documents. The witness agreed to produce 11 of them. Stassen said that he would start all over on the Pakistan project, calling for new bids in order to protect the FOA's record.

McClellan commented that "none of us would be here now" if FOA had, in the first place, rejected the original bids after changing specifications for the project.

The investigation got started because of complaints that FOA picked the highest of the original bidders, the Agricultural Construction Co. of Los Angeles, to do the job.

Hoegh Greeted at Iowa City Airport

GOV. LEO A. HOEGH, right, is greeted at the Iowa City airport Wednesday by Mayor LeRoy S. Mercer, second from right, and other members of the committee who are going to Cincinnati with Hoegh to talk with Procter and Gamble Co. officials. The 16-member group, including SUI President Virgil M. Hancher, city officials and businessmen, will discuss the possibility of the company building a drug plant in Iowa City.

Eden Lauds Churchill In House Speech

LONDON (AP) — Sir Anthony Eden confidently shouldered complex new burdens Wednesday as Britain's 42nd Prime Minister.

Cheers echoed for them both, but those for Churchill carried the emotional impact of sentiment and sorrow.

Eden devoted his first speech in the house of commons as prime minister to praise of the 80-year-old statesman who guided him to the political heights.

Shortly After Mandate

He made the speech less than four hours after receiving from Queen Elizabeth II the mandate to form a government in succession to Churchill's.

The new premier — at 57 the youngest in three decades — reminded the house that Churchill is "still a dominant figure among us."

Churchill remains a member of the house, but he did not attend the session Wednesday.

Stays Home

He stayed at No. 10 Downing st., the official home of prime ministers that has been the scene of his triumphs and worries in war and peace, and then made his farewell, his lips quivering and his eyes brimming with tears.

The old warrior intends to stay on as an elder statesman in the house of commons, the center of his life for 55 years.

In a letter to his constituents at Woodford, Essex, he said he will run again for his place in parliament at the next general election.

Kerr Asks Atom Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert Kerr (D-Okla.) appealed publicly to President Eisenhower Wednesday to ban the use of atomic weapons in any defense of Quemoy and Matsu.

Kerr said that the employment of other than conventional weapons in stopping any Red Chinese attack on the islands "could provoke massive retaliation against American families and American homes."

Eisenhower has said that precision atomic weapons may be used on military targets in any hostilities larger than a mere police action.

Churchill Leaves 10 Downing St.

LONDON (AP) — Old Winston Churchill said farewell to No. 10 Downing st. Wednesday, his lips quivering and his eyes choked with tears.

Leaving the residence of British prime ministers — for the last time, proved too much for the tough old warrior. He just stood there on the door step and cried.

"Good old Winnie," and "God bless you Winnie" came in shouts from the crowd that jammed the narrow dead-end street.

Churchill stood there on the steps of No. 10, bareheaded and hiding from no one that his last act of resignation wrung at his heart.

He looked for a moment as if he were going to speak, but then he blinked his tear-swollen eyes, and slowly raised a long cigar to his trembling lips.

The crowd let loose another tremendous roar and the Old Man stuck up two fingers in the famous V-for-Victory sign.

Then slowly the 80-year-old statesman shuffled to his waiting automobile. The crowd's cheering swelled into another great roar and the car rolled off to Chautauk, Churchill's country home.

Would Raise Base To 100 Per Cent

DES MOINES (AP) — The house voted 55-45 late Wednesday, on a tentative basis, to increase the state individual income tax base from the present 75 per cent to 100 per cent.

The increased base rate would mean the full amount of income would be taxed instead of the present 75 per cent.

The proposed increase was estimated to produce an additional $7 million a year in state revenue.

Senate OK's Toll Road Board Bill

DES MOINES (AP) — The state senate after a day long debate passed 42-6 and sent to the house a bill to create a state toll road authority which would have power to issue bonds to construct a four-lane turnpike across the state.

The bill was the only business considered by the senate Wednesday. The debate lasted through both morning and afternoon sessions.

The measure provides for an authority of five members, including three to be appointed by the governor and confirmed by a two-thirds vote of the senate; one member of the state highway commission and the governor.

Would Issue Bonds

Bonds issued for construction of a toll road would have to be paid out of tolls and other revenue from the road. They could bear interests of up to 4 per cent.

Senator Van Eaton (R-Sioux City) said Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio now have toll road projects in various stages and that Pennsylvania and New Jersey already have such highways.

He scoffed at suggestions that a toll road in Iowa would not draw enough traffic to be feasible.

Other states have found, he said, that tolls run considerably higher than engineering estimates indicate.

Measure Opposed

Senator Prentiss (R-Mount Airy), opposed the measure, declaring that a toll road is "unnecessary at this time."

He said that Iowa now has ten east-west roads which adequately handle traffic and that a toll road would take much good farmland out of production.

The senate voted down an amendment by Prentiss which would have set requirements for the state highway commission to continue making surveys and studies.

The senate voted down three other amendments which would have outlined rules for the authority.

Add 2 Amendments

Two amendments were adopted by a voice vote. They would:

1. Require the authority to pay reasonable attorney fees for persons who go to court to protest the authority's appraisal of their land.

2. Reduce from 5 to 4 per cent the amount of interest toll road bonds could bear.

A motion to increase the corporation tax from 2 to 3 per cent was defeated 46-48. Also voted down, 57-36, was a proposed amendment to boost the corporation tax from 2 to 4 per cent.

Subject to Change

These were the highlights of most of a day's work by the house while acting as a committee on an omnibus income tax bill. An omnibus bill has a miscellaneous number of provisions.

The actions of the day are subject to change after the house completes action as a committee and takes up the measure again for a full review before final action.

The house adjourned for the day without completing action on a number of amendments, including one to tack onto the bill a proposal to levy the 2 per cent sales tax on about 50 services.

Not for Record

After the vote on increasing the individual income tax, some members noticed that newsmen were getting copies of the roll-calls. Attention was called to the fact that inasmuch as the house was acting as a committee, the rollcalls were not record votes.

The newsmen pooled their efforts to get the votes themselves as recorded on the electric voting machine.

Rep. Ernest Kosek (R-Cedar Rapids) sought to invoke a rule in connection with the vote on the full rate individual income tax calling for every member present to vote. He was told this rule did not apply since the house was acting as a committee.

Rollcalls Furnished

Then Rep. W. H. Tate (R-Mason City) called attention to the rollcalls furnished the newsmen, and Rep. Wendell Pendleton (R-Storm Lake), who was serving as chairman, ruled the vote was not for the record.

Next Rep. Vere Watson (R-Indianola) asked whether the newsmen should be excluded from the chamber. There the matter dropped, and the newsmen continued making their own record of the rollcalls, although Rep. Henry Stevens (R-Jefferson) called that to the attention of the house.

Altogether, during the day's consideration of the bill the house adopted three amendments and defeated four. The original bill had three main points:

$3 Filing Fee

1. To charge a filing fee of $3 on each return whether any tax is due or not.

2. To lower the point of income at which a taxpayer is required to file a return.

3. To reduce the rates of exemptions for single and married persons.

As the bill stood at the end of the day's work, it contains these provisions, in addition to the $3 filing fee:

1. The rate of payment for individuals would go from 75 to 100 per cent, effective next July 4 and on returns covering 1955 income.

Corporations Untouched

2. Leave the corporation rate at 2 per cent.

3. Increase the exemption for a dependent child from $7.50 to $10. Decrease the exemption for a single person from $15 to $10, and decrease the exemption for a married person from $30 to $20.

4. Reduce the point at which a married person must file a return from an income of $2,350 to $2,000.

Amendments still to be acted on include:

1. To keep the return filing requirements at their present income levels, except for married persons.

2. To apply the sales tax to certain services.

3. To increase the sales tax from 2 to 2½ per cent.

$305,000 Holdup At New York Bank

NEW YORK (AP) — Four cocksure bandits, schooled to fine precision by six months of rehearsal, Wednesday pulled history's biggest cash bank holdup. They took $305,243, mostly in small bills.

The job went off as smooth as clockwork. Not a shot was fired, not an outcry raised.

"Don't do anything foolish," the victims were warned.

The robbers had painstakingly cased the bank, a Chase Manhattan branch in Queens. They remarked to one employee they had studied the layout for six months.

They knew the names and working habits of 11 employees. They even knew first names of the people under their guns.

In an unrelated holdup in Lower Manhattan, miles away from the bank, three masked men robbed a jewelry firm of $75,000 to $100,000 in uninsured diamonds.

Interception Fails

A hastily set up FBI and police diagnet failed to intercept the bank bandits.

The loot in no way approached the record $1,219,000 taken in the Brinks Express company stickup in Boston five years ago. But it was easily the largest cash strike ever made against an American bank.

The drama of precise, split-second timing began at 8:35 a.m. as teller Henry Bardenhagen, 24, left his home about 16 blocks from the bank. He was stepping into his car when a man appeared with a gun and quietly ordered him to get in.

At the bank, the driver stepped from the car and spotted Manager William Downing, chatting on the sidewalk with a business acquaintance.

Confronted at Gunpoint

By order of the gunmen, Bardenhagen called Downing over. The manager was confronted with a gun. The two bank employees were forced to unlock the front door.

The holdup men helped themselves to bundles of cash resting on a dolly — a small, four-wheeled flatcar. It had been taken from the vault minutes before.

Hawkeye Applicants To File by Monday

Deadline for filing applications for editor and business manager of the 1956 Hawkeye, student yearbook, is 5 p.m. Monday. Applications should be filed in the SUI school of journalism office, 205 Communications center.

Applications must include a written summary of publications experience, an outline of a suggested program, and be accompanied by a letter from the registrar certifying good scholastic standing and giving cumulative grade point average through the first semester.

Applicants need not be journalism students, nor have had experience on SUI publications. Interviews and election by the Board of Trustees of Student Publications, Inc. will be held Tuesday.

Carney Declines Further Comment; Dispute Continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — The dispute rolled on Wednesday whether Adm. Robert B. Carney did, or did not, tell a group of correspondents the Chinese Reds might launch a war assault by an attack on Matsu in mid-April.

Robert L. Riggs, Washington correspondent for the Louisville Courier-Journal, said his notes show Carney said that the Chinese Reds "probably will initiate an attack on Matsu in mid-April."

Carney, chief of naval operations, told a senate appropriations subcommittee Tuesday that "I never made such a statement." He declined all comment Wednesday.

Paul R. Leach, head of the Washington Bureau of the Chicago Daily News, said Carney was "technically correct" in saying he did not predict an attack on Matsu April 15.

"My notes do not have Carney saying the Reds would make the attack on the Matsus by mid-April," Leach wrote, "but that they could be 'able' to initiate an attack, perhaps that early."

Toll Road Authority Important—

The Iowa senate Wednesday afternoon passed by a vote of 42-6 a bill which would establish an Iowa toll road authority. The bill was passed after long debate and will now go to the house.

With the current legislative rush to close the session, we were afraid the bill would get lost in the shuffle. We know that legislators have to contend with so many proposals — important and insignificant — that not all of them can be considered.

But we feel that this proposal is in the "important" class. We cannot jump to conclusions and take for granted that the establishment of such an authority would necessarily bring a turnpike to Iowa. But this is the first — and the biggest — step at this time.

We think the house should realize that this proposal, in the long run, could mean more to Iowa than many proposals now being considered.

Illinois is going to build toll roads. There may be obstacles — big obstacles — but they are going to be built. States to the west of us are thinking about it.

But if Iowa balks, the east-west toll road link would go by way of St. Louis and Kansas City instead of Davenport and Omaha.

The authority would certainly get off to a good start because of the results of many eastern states' experience with toll roads.

And some proposals for actual toll roads in Iowa are very inviting.

One provides that the road would be built and maintained at no cost to the state. This cannot be stressed too much. It's important because more money would be available for Iowa's behind-the-times conventional highways.

Revenue from gasoline taxes would increase because the road would attract trucks usually not traveling in Iowa.

The proposal now in the legislature carries a $75,000 appropriation. But this would be returned to state tills from the collection of tolls.

Eastern states have found that a toll road attracts industry, which naturally brings money into state coffers from taxes.

In point of time, it would bring great markets closer — a prime objective — and in that regard, would also aid agriculture as it reduced transportation costs on farm products.

Beware the Educated Angler—

It has come to our attention that one of the strongholds of the independent-thinking American has been invaded. One of our basic folkways, an essential part of the American way of life, is being threatened with extinction.

The problem is this: Fishing has been adopted as a regular credit course at Florida's three big universities. The three — University of Florida, Florida State university and the University of Miami — have recognized fishing as a science.

The chaos which will result is obvious. Thundering herds of undergraduates, even candidates for higher degrees, will descend on the lakes and streams of this country. Lethargic fishermen will be awakened from a peaceful doze.

Or, perhaps they will try to bluff it out by keeping one eye open.

But the result is apparent. These dreamers, stronghold of American country philosophy, can: 1. Go home and forget about fishing; or, 2. Try to compete with their specialized brethren.

A fisherman being a fisherman will naturally stick to his fishing.

He will buy a new-fangled rod and reel. To equip them he will need plugs and flies (dry and wet) and special lines. He will spend years learning to operate them, and, finally, try his luck with the "experts."

Sure, he'll catch a fish now and then. He may even win a prize with a record catch. But gone will be the basic purpose of the average fisherman — philosophy.

Then, where will you get such stand-bys as:

1. When angry, count four; when very angry, swear — Mark Twain.
2. There is nothing so stupid as an educated man, if you get off the thing that he was educated in — Will Rogers.
3. There are three faithful friends: an old wife, an old dog, and ready money — Ben Franklin.
4. The highway death toll is way under predictions; some of you folks just ain't trying — George Gobel.

Think it over. If the trend continues, their kind is gone forever.

Interpreting the News—
Dulles Proposal Amounts to World 'Mutual Handcuffing'

BY J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst
As a means of allaying suspicion between strange bedfellows united for purposes of defense against an over-all threat, the arms control features of Western European union represent one thing.

Using such machinery as the basis of general European disarmament, as suggested by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, would be something entirely different. The control provisions of the Paris accords were initiated by France to insure that a rearmament Germany would not run away with the new organization, perhaps involving it in a war to regain her lost territories or, perhaps at some later date, reassume her former militaristic attitudes.

Under the agreement, a governing council will place limits on the power of each member, and control disposal of its arms. Inspection will be maintained, and the council will have power to punish violations. This is an internal protective device.

President Eisenhower has said any sign of defection by any member would bring into play the section of the North Atlantic Treaty organization which calls a threat to any member a threat to all. In other words, if one nation made hostile gestures toward any of the others, or started to pull out under circumstances which threatened others the rest would unite against that nation, under the terms of another broader treaty to which all subscribe, and under which the power of the United States and Britain can be invoked.

All these arrangements are based on an overriding mutuality of interest in one respect — defense against possible Communist attack — regardless of divergencies of interests in other respects.

There is no such mutuality of interest between the west and the Red bloc as long as the latter proclaims itself an enemy. There is no common enemy except one, and that is war itself. Arms control between these two blocs, then, becomes not a mutual front with internal security arrangements, but a mutual handcuffing with neither side able to surrender the keys to its own cuffs.

So far, Western European union is merely a part of an ancient contrivance, an attempt to prevent anyone from starting a war by establishing a balance of power which would make its outcome uncertain.

Perhaps the prevention of war will eventually become an overriding mutuality of interest requiring that every nation's security be guaranteed by all of the others.

That is the idea behind League of Nations and United Nations organizations. There can be no regional aspects to any such idea.

In Battle for Minds—Who Is Winning?

The most deadly weapons in this age of the undropped bomb and the unfired gun are the spoken word and the expressed idea.

Who is winning the battle for men's minds? According to a survey by Associated Press bureaus throughout Europe and the Far East, the issue is very much in doubt. Each side has made sharp gains and suffered severe losses.

Vigorous Campaign
Russia has tremendously stepped up her propaganda campaign. Propaganda radio broadcasts by Russia and her satellites have increased during the past six years from 512 to 1,435 hours per week.

The Soviet offensive also has been extended to industrial fairs, athletic fields, cultural activities and every other stage which can be used to promote the Russian point of view.

How effective is such propaganda? No one pretends to know the exact answer. People cross boundaries, accept new ways of life for reasons too varied, often too intangible for measurement. But certain new trends in the flow of refugees in and out of the Iron Curtain have been noted.

Leave West
For example, 6,000 to 7,000 persons now leave democratic West Germany to settle in Communist East Germany every month. Last December, 9,028 came West and 7,000 went East. But in mid-1953, only 1,000 a month were going East. The figures are from the West German ministry at Bonn.

Over the past four years an estimated 10,000 Chinese students have abandoned democratic zones of the Far East, leaving homes and families, to live in Red China.

Both of these areas, of course, have been prime targets in the Soviet propaganda offensive. But the ideological war is worldwide, and the United States itself has become a direct target.

Propaganda to U.S.
A total of 168 hours of propaganda is beamed to this country by short-wave transmitters each week. Tons of Communist books, pamphlets and magazines pour in at every port of entry, creating a massive problem for postal officials.

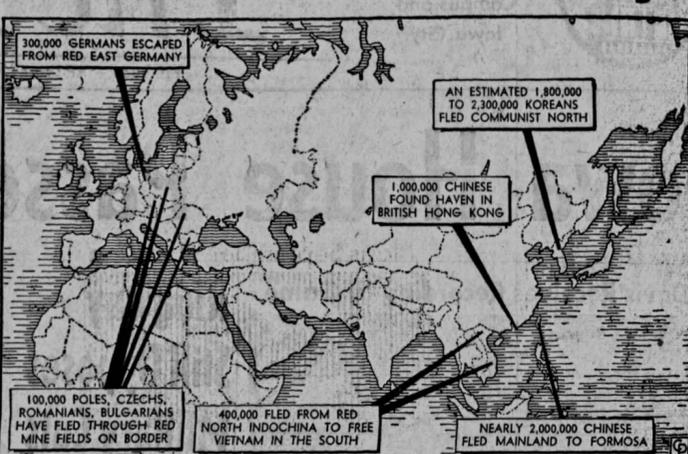

The Reds' global assault has brought expressions of concern from many observers that this country's counter-campaign has failed to meet the challenge.

These sources call attention to the fact that the Voice of America, pinched by economy measures, has had to cut its broadcasts from a peak of 349 hours in 1951 to 222 hours a week last January.

The United States Information Agency (USIA), which operates the Voice of America, admits that it is having the toughest sort of battle, despite extensive assistance from private agencies, in its program of promoting American ideas abroad.

For one thing, the USIA must rely on truth — calm, dignified and strictly factual — to counter boasts, threats, distortions and accusations.

Grave Quilms
President Eisenhower sketched American strategy by saying: "In the words of Milton, 'Let truth and falsehood grapple; who ever knew truth put to the MAP LOCATES where roughly 5 million persons have fled their homelands to escape communism. However, the stepped-up Red propaganda campaign has reduced the numbers fleeing Red nations and increased the flow of persons deserting the free world for life in Communist countries.

worse in a free and open encounter?"

But some members of congress have grave qualms about the way the battle is going. And USIA officials are extremely reluctant to venture an opinion.

American officials say the fight is far from one-sided and claim:

1. Straightforward, factual U.S. "information" — not propaganda, which they regard as an ugly word — is winning the United States a reputation for truth far outweighing the most devious Communist distortions.

2. The effectiveness of U.S. technique is graphically illustrated by Moscow's prodigious efforts to jam or blot out our broadcasts and by frenzied Soviet blasts against the Voice of America.

TO THE EDITOR:
I am completely fed up with all the so-called students griping about their parking problems.

I call them "so-called students" because judging from the content of their letters they just live here between weekends and go to class between dates. I believe many of them would be genuinely pleased if the library or chemistry building were torn down and the space used for a parking lot.

When I was in pre-med up at Cow Tech I heard this place referred to as the Country club. I used to think that was a joke.

Overgrown juveniles who refuse to tolerate the slightest pain, discomfort or inconvenience, and are preoccupied with concern for their own personal safety and comfort are the curse of our modern society.

Such were the people who brought down Greece and Rome.

The World Is Mine

Today, upon a bus, I saw a man with golden hair.

I envied him, he seemed so gay, and wished I were as fair; When suddenly he rose to leave, I saw him hobble down the aisle;

He had one leg, and wore a crutch — and as he passed, a smile . . .

O God forgive me when I whine. I have two legs. The world is mine.

And then I stopped to buy some sweets, The lad who sold them had such charm, I talked with him — he seemed so glad —

If I were late, 'twould do no harm. And as I left he said to me: "I thank you. You have been so kind.

"It's nice to talk with folks like you. "You see," he said, "I'm blind."

O God, forgive me when I whine. I have two eyes. The world is mine.

Later, walking down the street, I saw a child with eyes of blue.

He stood and watched the others play; it seemed he knew not what to do.

I stopped a moment, then I said: "Why don't you join the others, dear?"

He looked ahead without a word, and then I knew — he could not hear.

O God, forgive me when I whine. I have two ears. The world is mine.

With legs to take me where I'd go —

With eyes to see the sunsets glow —

With ears to hear what I would know —

O God, forgive me when I whine. I'm blessed indeed. The world is mine!

The Inter-Dormitory Social board is sponsoring the event. Eastlawn, Westlawn, Currier hall, Quadrangle, South Quadrange and Hillcrest will participate. Refreshments will be served. August Gerdes, A2, Clinton, will be master of ceremonies. Committee members are Geraldine Hanson, A1, Cherokee, publicity; Gwendlyn Chestnut, N4, Waverly; events; Helen Wandling, A4, Marengo; and Imogene Denker, A2, Denison, food.

New Products

Gauge on Watch Tells When To Rewind

NEW YORK (AP)—There are a lot of useful new products on the market this week—including a watch with a time reserve gauge, an alarm clock that makes tea, and a triple lamination fabric-plastic decorator combination for your home.

The watch—a Swiss timepiece from the Zodiac Watch agency, New York—has two features. When it is fully wound, the winding mechanism disengages from the mainspring automatically so that nothing gets broken. And a reserve power gauge tells at a glance just how long the watch will run before it has to be wound again.

Combination Clock, Tea Kettle

Smith English Clocks Ltd., London, makes tea with an alarm clock. It is a combination alarm clock, tea kettle, tea pot, and bedside lamp. You set it at night, and in the morning here is what happens—the water boils, the tea is combined with hot water to make a good old English brew, the alarm rings, you wake up, turn on the light and say to yourself: "One lump or two, old boy?"

A new decorator fabric is being made of two layers of krene plastic laminated on a fabric backing. The backing may be silk, synthetics or canvas. On it is placed a krene film on which is printed any of a wide range of colors and patterns. On top of that is a clear protective krene film.

Named Filmtex

The resultant product is known as Filmtex and is made by Toscony Fabrics, New York. It won't crack or peel, and it sews, tufts and drapes. It can be used for upholstery outdoors, play pens, indoor furniture, curtains, tablecloths, and for luggage. It wipes clean with a damp cloth.

Olin Mathieson Chemical corporation, Baltimore, has developed a chemical preparation that loosens "frozen" metal parts like nuts and bolts. The company says it isn't oily, won't burn and is odorless.

Spring Cotton

THIS PRETTY MISS is ready for spring in a man-tailored, but feminine dress. It is a fresh new cotton in tone-on-tone print. Helen Whiting designs this youthful cotton with short sleeves and mandarin collar. The shirt front buttons down to the waistline and meets with a flurry of unpressed pleats.

MEAT FLAVORINGS

Wondering how to give that economical cut of meat savory flavor? Here's a list of seasonings, all good with meat, to choose from: catchup, chili sauce, bay leaf, all spice berries, garlic, onion, paprika, soy sauce, Tabasco sauce, Worcestershire sauce, oregano, basil.

Ham and Pineapple Skillet

Ham and Pineapple Skillet is sure to rate a special niche in your file of favorite recipes. Ground ham and beef patties—half and half—combined with sweet potatoes, glamorized with golden pineapple is one of those easy-on-the-cook family dinners that's complete when you add a tossed green salad, rolls, and a beverage and a simple dessert.

You'll notice, too, by combining the patties, sweet potatoes and pineapple, you're saving all the delicious flavor of the fruit. The pineapple slices also lend an excellent texture contrast.

Here's the tested recipe:

Nutritionist Says Good Breakfast Needed by Dieters

A sound plan for reducing serves as a permanent guide to good eating in addition to keeping calories in check. "Like all balanced meal plans, the reducing diet begins with breakfast—a good breakfast," says Dr. Charles Glen King, scientific director of the nutrition foundation, New York city.

"Besides contributing all the protective nutrients, a good breakfast tastes good, too. Its energy content should keep the body and mind alert until lunch time. Key items are citrus fruits, tomato juice, berries, melon, or other vitamin C-rich fruit; cereal and milk combinations, eggs, ham, or other breakfast meat with whole grain or enriched toast, roll, or muffin; and a favorite beverage."

Suggest Meal Content

The next two meals, lunch and dinner or supper, can be just as varied and attractive. They can include (1) a main dish from the protein foods, meat, poultry, eggs, milk, or cheese, (2) at least one leafy and snacks within reason. You fats and sweets in moderation.

Too much food? No! But keep the total intake, repeat orders, green or yellow vegetable, (3) a serving of salad or other vegetable and potato, (4) enriched or whole grain bread or roll, (5) a fruit or other light dessert, (6) won't fool your doctor or the bathroom scales by using allis. An ideal body weight adds enjoyment as well as years to your living.

If snacks are eaten, either for entertainment or to alleviate hunger, recognize them not as entertainment only, but as part of a balanced intake. Soups, milk, fruit, and fruit juices can be used to advantage by most individuals concerned with overweight.

ADPi's Hold Awards Dinner

Alpha Delta Pi social sorority held its annual scholarship banquet recently at the chapter house. Awards were presented to members having the highest grade points of the past semester.

Joanne Snider, A4, Walnut, Ill., received the active award for highest scholastic standing. The pledge receiving the highest scholastic award was Jo Matthews, A2, Iowa City.

Other scholarship awards were presented to Adelle Davis, A1, Davenport; Beverly Henschen, A1, Davenport; Connie Palmer, A2, Webb, and Ann Fellows, A1, Houston, Texas.

Connie Palmer received the outstanding pledge trophy, and Joyce Garber, A2, Randolph, was presented an award for her essays written on "What Alpha Delta Pi Means to Me."

Suds Rug Fabric First, Tear Strips While Wet

If you like hooking rugs, but don't like the lint that results when you tear or cut materials into strips for hooking, here's how to eliminate the lint: Wash the materials you plan to use in warm soapy water, rinse, and while wet, cut or tear strips in desired widths.

Fabrics usually tear easily when wet and this saves cutting time and wear and tear on your hands from scissors.

Kits Available For Making Own Jewelry

Would you like to make some new spring jewelry in the pretty new pastel shades you're hearing so much about? The delicate look of pink, blue and other light shades is this season's news in costume jewelry.

Just in time for "do-it-yourself-ers" to keep up with the latest fashion trends, new motifs have been introduced to use for making jewelry that's up to the minute in style and most unusual, too.

Making your own earrings must be fun, as well as money saving, because so many women are doing it. You'll have just as much pleasure and profit (in compliments in addition to money) when you make earrings and necklaces with the new materials mentioned.

Swiss Straw Motifs

Some motifs are made in Switzerland of fine Swiss straw, and imported to the U.S. That means all the most delicate work has been done, so it's simple to do the finishing work to make your new jewelry.

You can choose the Swoop, a pretty, shell-like shape; the Starburst, a seven-pointed star shape; the Pinwheel, with lots of smaller circles inside a big hoop; the Bamboo Fan, with its slightly Oriental look, or the Lace Cone, which is, in fact, like a small, lacy pine cone.

Pastel Shades

All five come in pink, blue or creamy-white natural—just the colors you want for spring and summer. And, being of straw, naturally they give the light and airy effect that's the current fashion.

Mencel Leads All-Americans In 76-72 Win

Globetrotter Press Fails In 4th Period

By DAVE STEVENS

A Globetrotter press started in the third quarter could not overcome an early deficit as the College All-Americans beat the Harlem team, 76-72, Wednesday night at the Iowa field house.

Two mid-westerners—Minnesota's Chuck Mencel and Notre Dame's Jack Stephens— took turns in a scoring assault that could not be matched by the chilly Trotters. Both Mencel and Stephens scored 23 points.

Deacon Davis, Iowa's representative on the all-Americans, contributed seven points in the 24 minutes that he played. His faking was sharp and his speed brought him two fast-break baskets.

The Trotters, who were throwing bad passes and missing easy shots in the first quarter, fell behind too far to catch up. They scored only one field and two free throws in the first seven and one-half minutes.

Tom Gola, the LaSalle lad who helped beat Iowa in the National Collegiate finals this season, was held to only one field goal and five charity tosses. However, he and center Dick Hemric controlled the boards effectively for the collegians.

Mencel, who was voted the most outstanding player of the game by the press, gave the fans a sample of what was to come with his opening long jump shot that swished the net.

The Trotters took a brief 3-2 lead, but the collegians came back with 14 straight points.

Trotter forward Walter Dukes squeezed a free throw in between Davis' first basket and another Mencel long shot as the All-Americans raced to their biggest lead, 20-4, with two and one-half minutes left in the first quarter.

The 16-point Globetrotter deficit was the biggest recorded in recent years, said a Trotter representative after the game.

In the second quarter the Harlem quintet started to hit and it tightened its defense, but the college boys led by little Mencel kept their 10 point margin.

Davis bagged a long shot and a stretching lay in shot to help his team to a 13 point lead midway through the second quarter. Mencel's 16 first half points gave the all-Americans a 41-31 lead at intermission.

Then Notre Dame's Stephens took over. Big, but a clever dribbler, the Irish ace made the last 10 points in the third frame for the collegians. Five of them came on free throws.

Late in the third quarter the Trotters put on a mild press, which had little effect. By the time the fourth quarter had got underway, they began to get desperate.

Trailing by 12 points at the three-way mark, the Trotters' full court press brought them up to 70-66 with two minutes remaining. Meanwhile the all-Americans were trying to stall without the benefit of the bonus free throw.

The all-Americans made two short field goals in the first half of the last quarter, but they had to rely on 10 free throws in the waning minutes to preserve the victory.

High scorer for the Trotters was Walter Dukes with 17 points. Sweetwater Clifton had 14. The series record gives the Trotters nine victories to the all-Americans' five.

Hawkeyes' Fall, Winter Teams Set New School Mark

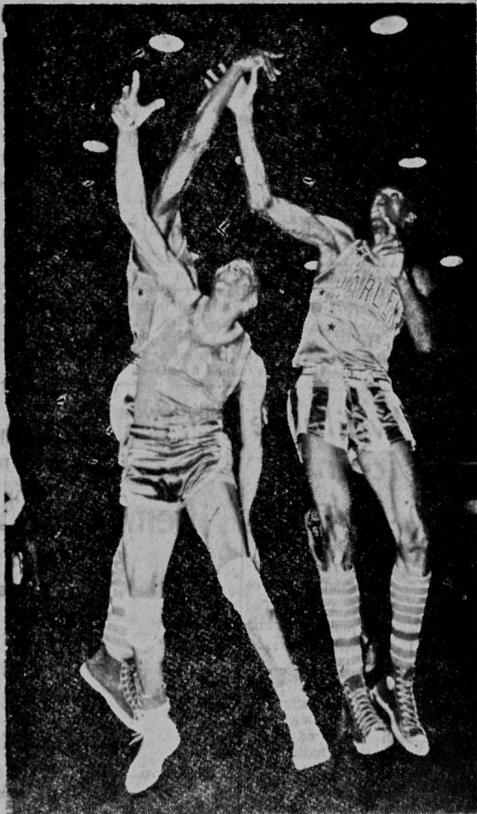

Iowa's fall and winter sports teams compiled their best dual meet record in history by winning over two-thirds of their contests.

The overall Hawkeye record was 56-26-1 for a .680 percentage. In Big Ten play Iowa marked up a 34-18 record for .654. The top rankings in the conference included first place in basketball, second in wrestling and third in swimming and gymnastics.

In the National Collegiate tournaments the cagers rated fourth, the wrestlers and gymnasts sixth and the swimmers a tie for seventh.

Records in dual contests:

	W	L	T	Pct.
Indoor Track	2	0	1,000
Gymnastics	8	2	300
Wrestling	9	2	300
Basketball	10	1	731

Hawkeyes Lose, 3-2

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—The Arizona Wildcats survived a ninth inning rally Wednesday and defeated Iowa, 3-2.

The victory was Arizona's third straight over the Hawkeyes. The clubs continue their six-game series today.

Iowa's ninth inning rally was halted after Don Waldon tripled with one man on base and scored on an outfield fly.

Waldon's triple was one of three hits allowed by Benny Rincon, who scored Arizona's first run in the sixth after doubling.

WHITNEY MARTIN'S — Sports Trail

NEW YORK (AP)—Golf fans who believe the annual switching of the Masters championship from Sam Snead to Ben Hogan, and vice versa, will be continued this year will have to pick Ben in the tournament starting today at Augusta. The alternate pattern leaves them no alternative, you might say.

Since 1949 Hogan and Snead have taken turns winning the event except for one year, Jimmy Demaret horned-in in 1950.

Snead won in 1949, Hogan in 1951, Snead in 1952, Hogan in 1953, and Snead again last year in one of the most notable play-offs in golf history, in that by his victory he snapped Hogan's remarkable chain of major triumphs. Ben had won the British Open and the National Open in addition to the Masters in 1953.

It's not going to be easy for either Snead or Hogan to win at Augusta this year. Both have been comparatively idle from a tournament standpoint and they will be up against a bunch of tournament-tough youngsters, not to speak of some well-established veterans who have been following the tournament trail.

The one precedent in their favor is that, with two exceptions, the Masters has been won by a player who currently was a hot shot, playing such good golf that his victory was not regarded as that of a dark horse.

The two exceptions were Herman Keiser in 1946, who never had done much before, and didn't afterward, and Claude Harmon, winner in 1948. Harmon was not an unknown, and under ordinary circumstances wouldn't have been considered a dark horse. It was just that he hadn't been playing on the winter tour. He was down at the Seminole club, where he is winter pro, minding his own business, and came to Augusta just for the ride, with no thought of being a serious contender.

In fact, of the 18 Masters tournaments, 12 of the victories have been split among five players—Horton Smith, Byron Nelson, Demaret, Snead and Hogan.

That would seem to bode ill for the comparative unknowns, but you can't very well consider fellows such as Lloyd Mangrum, Cary Middlecoff, Lew Worsham, Julius Boros and Ed Furgol, all of whom have won the National Open, as unknowns.

Then there are the hot-shots of the current tournament tour who have been shooting golf comparable to that of their predecessors.

Fellows such as Gene Littler, and Bob Toski, and Mike Souchak, and Tommy Bolt, and Shelley Mayfield. Their drawback might be that they have youth working against them. The average age of Masters winners must be close to 40 years.

And leave us not forget Billy Joe Patton, the charming and effervescent young man who was the darling of the galleries last year and came mighty close to going home with all the marbles, an eventuality which would have killed the exciting playoff. Billy Joe finished just one stroke behind Snead and Hogan with 290.

Whether or not Hogan's record score of 274, registered in 1953, can be touched this year is problematical, but we have the idea if anyone ties or betters it Snead will be the man. We're picking Sammy, although we realize it isn't his turn, to win.

Dropo's 2 Homers Insure Sox Victory

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Wall Dropo powered two bonus-run homers Wednesday, one off Vic Raschi and the other off southpaw Harvey Haddix, to lead the Chicago White Sox to a 13-3 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The victory was the third for the White Sox in eight meetings with the Redbirds in their spring series.

Dropo smashed a two-run homer in the sixth off the 36-year-old Raschi who relieved Haddix in the fifth. In the third Dropo socked a three-run homer off Haddix. It was the first exhibition game for Raschi who has been having back trouble.

Rip Repulski sparked the Cardinals' attack, connecting for his fourth exhibition homer in the fifth and getting three safeties in all for his afternoon's work.

Iowa Cagers Elect Three As Captains

Iowa's basketball team came up with something new when it voted for the 1955-56 captain. They elected three captains next year.

The tri-captains will be juniors Bill Seaberg, Carl Cain and Bill Logan.

Seaberg, voted the most valuable player by his teammates this season, was the co-captain with Deacon Davis in 1954-55.

Cain, the most valuable Hawk in 1953-54, was a first team choice on the NCAA tournament squad. Logan has been high scorer for the last two years.

All three were named to the NCAA regional all-tournament team at Evanston, Ill.

The announcement came as a surprise at a dinner Tuesday in Davenport honoring the Big Ten champions.

Seaberg was placed on the third all-American team of the Helms Athletic foundation of Los Angeles. Ten men were selected for each team.

Three other Big Ten players named were Don Schlundt of Indiana and Dick Garmaker of Minnesota on the first team and Frank Ehmman of Northwestern on the second.

Plan First Annual 'I' Club Day Here

The first annual "I" men's day, sponsored by the Hawkeye lettermen on the campus, will be scheduled for May 7. The public is invited.

The affair will cost $5. This includes a ticket to the spring intrasquad football game, a dinner at the Iowa Memorial Union and a dance that evening.

Committee members announced Wednesday that Coach Bud Wilkinson of the University of Oklahoma, here for the two-day Iowa coaching school, will be the speaker at the dinner.

The sponsors said it provides a chance for sports fans to meet athletes and coaches personally. Streeter Shining, Waterloo, president of the campus lettermen's club, will present "I" rings to seniors.

Merle Jensen, Davenport, is chairman of the "I" day committee. Jerry Ridley, Riverside, Ill., Ed Mullahey, Des Moines, and Shining are also on the committee.

WILL SUBMIT TV PLAN NEW YORK (AP)—The National Broadcasting Co. said Wednesday it would submit to the NCAA Television Committee today a list of eight preferred dates for the fall college football telecasts. These dates would be for the nationally televised games only. The regional dates are up for open competition.

McCann, NCAA Champ, Elected Mat Captain

Terry McCann, National Collegiate and Big Ten champion, has been elected honorary captain of the 1955 Iowa wrestling team, Coach Dave McCuskey said Wednesday.

McCann, from Chicago, Ill., won the National Collegiate title at 115 pounds, throwing two of his three opponents, including his foe in the final and also took the Big Ten 123-pound crown. He won 11 of 12 dual meet bouts.

Youngsters May Tighten Up As Masters Tourney Opens

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Most golfers regard the Masters tournament, which starts today, as second in importance only to the National open championship. There's a natural tendency to tighten up in these big ones and it's sure to affect some of the brash youngsters who have been playing blithely through the lesser tournaments.

When they come face to face with the Augusta National course and with the hand-picked Masters field of 78, they're likely to find things a bit different than it was on the winter tour.

The 6,950-yard, par 36-36-72 course isn't notably tough as championship golf courses go. But it's a lot bigger than most others and every shot must be played right to produce a good score.

In 18 previous tournaments, only nine 72-hole scores of 280 or better have been turned in. Three of those were by Ben Hogan, who set the Masters record of 274 two years ago.

Whether the scores this year approach the 1953 low or the 1954 high, when scores of 280 gave Hogan and Sam Snead a tie, probably depends on the weather and where the cups are placed for the four championship rounds.

The fairways have been watered heavily, just as they were last year, to cut down the roll of shots, but there's still plenty of room for the big hitters to cut loose.

Hogan and Snead have been established as the favorites by local pricemakers, who give Ben a slight edge over the man who beat him in last year's playoff.

Snead especially has been going against him. No player ever has won the Masters four times—Snead has won three—and no Masters champion ever has defended his title successfully.

The touring pros have picked Mike Souchak, the year's leading money winner, as the most likely to win and there's a lot of sentiment favoring such other young players as Gene Littler and Bob Toski.

Canoe Renter Urges Caution

SUI students Wednesday were asked to observe safety rules in canoeing by Art Fitzgerald, owner of a canoe service that operates at the foot of Market street.

The canoes are not allowed south of the Market street foot bridge or farther north than the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Co. dam at Coralville.

That leaves a distance of about three and one-half miles in which to canoe.

Fitzgerald said that all canoe renters should be able to swim, especially in early spring when the water is cold.

Fitzgerald owns 53 canoes. All were rented last Saturday.

SUI will operate a river patrol boat again this year. It will be kept in a floating dock near the SUI filter plant.

35 Iowa Hospitals Seek Court Ruling

DES MOINES (AP) — Thirty-five Iowa hospitals are seeking to upset an Iowa attorney general's opinion that they are illegally practicing medicine if they employ X-ray and diagnostic specialists, according to documents on file at Polk county district court.

The suit aimed at upsetting the February 1953 ruling was filed January 31 by 28 Iowa hospitals. Since that time eight other hospitals have joined in the court action and one has withdrawn.

The hospitals have asked the court to declare that nonprofit hospitals have the right to operate laboratory facilities and to bill patients for the use of those facilities.

Orientation Forms Deadline Is Today

Applications for men's orientation leaders for next fall are due today, it was announced by Jim Kaster, E3, Washington, head of men's orientation.

She says she recalls nothing from Monday night until Friday.

The applications may be turned in to Jim Seitz, A3, Freeport, Ill.; Don Sherk, A1, Ida Grove; or Bill Vaughan, C3, Ottumwa, or at the office of student affairs, room 111, University hall.

The applications were distributed to dormitory and fraternity presidents last weekend. Additional applications may be picked up at the office of student affairs.

Approximately 190 men are needed for leaders and assistants. Orientation will begin Sept. 14. Leaders and assistants must be back to school by this date.

The first meeting of orientation leaders will be held during the first week of May.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A dazzling atomic anti-aircraft device was exploded Wednesday at a record height of six miles.

The tiny, powerful blast-prototype of a nuclear air-to-air missile perhaps capable of destroying an entire formation of planes — appeared brighter than the sun to observers in Las Vegas, 75 miles away.

Dropped From Plane
Dropped from an Air Force B36 bomber believed to be flying at 40,000 feet or higher, the atomic device burst at an altitude of above 30,000 feet.

The Atomic Energy commission and the Department of Defense, indicated atomic anti-aircraft weapons being developed will include missiles to be launched from interceptor planes or fired by artillery on the ground.

Small Explosion
Wednesday's device had "a relatively limited yield," the AEC said, indicating it was one of the smallest exploded in Nevada tests. The fireball blazed for only a few seconds and the cloud shaped into a doughnut, rather than a mushroom.

Little radiation fall-out was expected from the cloud which was blown slowly east southeast at an altitude of more than 50,000 feet.

The AEC emphasized that this was a "device," and not a finished weapon or missile, under scrutiny Wednesday.

Tornado Hits Texas; 1 Dead

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — One man was killed, 27 injured and damage was in the millions as tornadoes and severe windstorms smashed across a 5,000-square-mile area of north-central Texas Wednesday.

Greatest damage was in the heavily populated northern suburb of this city on the main highway leading to the nearby city of Denison.

Killed in the Sherman suburb was Lee Barnes, 60, an oil well drilling rig nightwatchman. He apparently was killed by flying debris.

Many homes here were lifted from their foundations, some were unroofed and other hundreds suffered lesser damage. Pipes carrying natural gas were broken.

Nearby Perrin air force base suffered considerable damage. Two planes were lifted and smashed into a building.

Plan Business Area Cancer Fund Drive

Two Iowa City businessmen will head a one-day Cancer Crusade fund drive among local business firms.

Robert H. Lind Jr., proprietor of a local photo studio, and William B. Ebert, attorney, will serve as co-chairmen of the drive which will cover 28 business areas.

Volunteer workers will be assigned areas including one side of each city block. Only business proprietors will be solicited.

The date for the drive has not been set, although it will take place during the week of April 11 through 16. City residential areas will be canvassed April 14 through 16.

Rembolt To Head Schools Group

Dr. R. R. Rembolt, director of the SUI Hospital-School for Severely Handicapped Children was named president of the new Central States Hospital-School association during that group's organizational meeting Tuesday at Sioux Falls.

The group includes representatives from Iowa, Illinois, North and South Dakota hospital schools. Purposes of the new organization include the encouragement of special training for personnel, the maintenance of high professional standards, development of high standards for hospital-school facilities, and the accumulation and dissemination of knowledge about care of the handicapped child.

The new association voted to hold its next annual meeting at the State University of Iowa during the spring of 1956.

Invents Split Second Lab Clock

A new electronic clock, which measures time to a thousandth of a second, is receiving finishing touches today from its inventor, Theodore A. Hunter, SUI psychology research associate.

ENDING A PROJECT WHICH will split the seconds, Theodore A. Hunter, SUI psychology research associate, completes final adjustments on an electronic clock. The instrument will be used in laboratory experiments to measure time to a thousandth of a second.

The machine can be used to measure any interval of time used in a laboratory experimental setup; for instance, the length of a shock, a tone, a light flash or any other stimulus.

Hunter, who is in charge of making special research tools for the psychology department, says the device was requested by psychologists to be used in laboratory experiments dealing with reflex speed and learning time. He is planning to build six more of the instruments within the next two months for use in the psychology department.

Many Applications
Hunter says that the uses of the timing device are not limited to psychology but may extend into many fields where precise time measurement is necessary.

Three SUI Degrees
Hunter received all of his degrees at SUI. These included a B.S. in electrical engineering, an M.S. in physics, and a professional degree in electrical engineering. He became a research associate in 1948.

In the course of his work, he has obtained several patents on inventions. He has patented an inertialess oscillator recording system in his name, several oscillators with Collins Radio company at Cedar Rapids, and several types of loudspeakers.

Red Refugee Still in West

BERLIN (AP)—U.S. High Commissioner James B. Conant has rejected another Soviet protest in the case of Valery Lysikov.

The young Russian's status as a refugee in the West has been made a subject of diplomatic exchanges at the highest level.

The U.S. high commission said Wednesday Conant's reply was delivered to Soviet High Commissioner G. M. Pushkin Tuesday—a day after Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov made a protest in the matter to U.S. Ambassador Charles Bohlen in Moscow.

Lysikov, teen-aged son of a Russian air force colonel, came to West Berlin three weeks ago and asked for asylum which was granted by U.S. authorities.

In a face-to-face meeting at U.S. headquarters here, he rejected the personal appeal of his parents to go back to them. He has since been taken to the U.S. zone of West Germany.

Nixon Greets 2,400 Visitors

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard Nixon held "open house" at his office Wednesday and greeted some 1,400 Capitol visitors.

Tourists regularly jam into Washington around this time of year.

It's cherry blossom time and the schools are out for spring vacation.

With congress also on vacation, Nixon hit on the idea of welcoming tourists with a vice presidential handshake. He greeted about 1,000 Tuesday.

Says Dental Costs Low Through Water Fluoridation

An officer of the U.S. department of public health Wednesday emphasized the low cost of dental protection through fluoridation.

"Fluoridation of public water supplies," said chief dental officer Dr. John Knutson, "costs only 10 cents per person per year."

Dr. Knutson spoke at the annual Water Works short course held in the SUI Center for Continuation Study.

Says Cost Low
He said that lifetime cost of fluoridation protection would run to only seven or eight dollars.

"A child born in a community where optimum fluoridation of public water supplies is practiced can expect to have only one-third as many dental cavities during his lifetime as a person raised in a community where there is no fluoridation," Knutson said.

He defined "optimum fluoridation" as amounting to one part fluoride per million parts of water.

25 Million Benefit
More than 25 million people in the United States, living in more than 1,000 communities, now benefit from fluoridation of public water supplies, either through the addition of fluorides at the water plant or through an abundance of "nature-placed" fluorides in the water, Knutson said.

Also speaking on the Wednesday program were Dr. Charles Henshaw, director of dental hygiene in the Iowa state department of health, and Prof. Robert L. Morris, of the hygiene and preventive medicine department.

4 To Represent SUI At Big Ten Meeting

Four students will represent SUI's sororities and fraternities at the Big Ten Panhellenic-Interfraternity council meeting at Ohio State university on April 15-16.

Martha Kay Putney, C3, Waterloo; Marilyn Ray, A3, Flossmoor, Ill.; Jerry Hargitt, A4, Burlington, and Jay Ryan, A2, Des Moines, will meet with representatives from the conference's other schools to discuss problems and goals of sororities and fraternities. SUI fraternity adviser Paul L. Griffith will also attend.

The group this year will consider such topics as discrimination, rushing, scholarship, organization and public relations.

The five will leave for Columbus, O., April 14.

Two Youths Admit Burglaries Here; Held in Davenport

Iowa City police were notified Wednesday that Davenport authorities are holding two youths who have admitted an auto theft and two burglaries here.

The youths, 16 and 13 years old, reportedly admitted break-ins at the Drug Shop, 109 S. Dubuque st., the Riverside Inn at Riverside drive and Iowa ave., and theft of an auto belonging to Clarence Hestness of the Burkley hotel.

Police said that the youths will be returned to Iowa City to face charges. They were arrested in Louisiana as runaways.

The loss of $130 in cash and a flashlight at the Drug Shop had not been reported to police. Wednesday it was learned that the pair broke a rear door window and entered through the door.

The youths said they took the Hestness auto from a parking place on E. Washington st. and abandoned it in a ditch at Keokuk.

The pair also admitted taking two cartons of cigarettes and two sandwiches from the Riverside Inn.

Election of Daley Maintains Democratic Lead in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—It may have occurred to many of the younger voters Wednesday that they've never seen a Republican mayor of Chicago.

Democrats have held the mayor's office for 24 years straight. And they renewed their lease for four additional years in Tuesday's election. That will extend their unbroken tenure to 28 years.

Richard J. Daley, chairman of the Cook county Chicago Democratic Central committee, will take over the mayor's office April 20.

He won by defeating Republican Robert E. Merriam. The complete unofficial returns gave Daley 708,660 and Merriam 581,461.

Paul Butler, Democratic national chairman, commented that the elections in Chicago and Michigan showed a "resurgence of Democratic strength."

Daley's winning margin was the smallest, except one, since the Democrats moved into Chicago's top office. The only smaller plurality was Edward J. Kelly's 114,000 in 1943.

The outcome of the Chicago mayoral election gives a lift to Adlai E. Stevenson's chances of seeking the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

Stevenson, the party's 1952 nominee, hasn't announced any political plans for next year. But his action in the Chicago mayoral primary in February may have indicated the direction of his thinking.

He endorsed Daley over Mayor Martin H. Kennelly. Daley, after he had defeated Kennelly, endorsed Stevenson for the top spot on the party's 1956 national ticket. That seems to assure Stevenson of the Chicago organization's support if he wants to make a second try for the nomination.

Daley, who was state revenue director when Stevenson was governor of Illinois, has been in politics for 28 of his 52 years.

He told newsmen he will ask the legislature for financial aid to add 2,000 policemen to the Chicago force.
