Robertson Pays Visit To Quemoy

TAIPEH, Formosa (Wednesday AP)—Walter Robertson, assistant U.S. secretary of state, made a surprise visit to Quemoy Tuesday.

The visit bolstered belief that his visit is to get facts, not to urge further Chinese Nationalist withdrawals.

Once back from the Nationalist stronghold across Formosa strait, Robertson conferred with Chiang Kai-shek.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, did not go to Quemoy because of a cold. However, he joined Robertson, his companion on the mission, to Formosa, in his talks with Chiang.

Informed Source

An informed Nationalist source said the Radford-Robertson mission was "positive, not negative." He hinted they had not flown here to ask Chiang to give up Quemoy and the Matsu islands, 120 miles northwest of Formosa.

The Nationalists are determined to defend the offshore islands.

Three Indications

There were three indications of continued U.S. cooperation with the Nationalists.

1. The U.S. military assistance advisory group, which trains Chiang's armed forces, announced that its strength was being substantially increased.

2. Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, whose 7th fleet guards Formosa, announced that a center had been established in Taipei for liaison and coordination between U.S. and Chinese military authorities.

3. U.S. and Nationalist military coordinators signed an agreement covering training, intelligence, communications and logistics under the mutual defense pact. No details were given.

Benson Tours Great Plains Drought Area

LAMAR, Colo. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson encountered occasional gusts of soil-blowing Tuesday as he toured eastern Colorado in search of ideas on how to combat destructive soil erosion in the great plains.

Benson toured Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico to hear suggestions on how the federal government might best help farmers distressed by crop failures and soil loss.

"We witnessed today," he said, "a lack of uniformity among farmers in conservation methods. Some methods are working and some are not."

"There is need for a tremendous educational campaign on soil conservation in the great plains."

Benson found no lack of confidence in the future of this area. Farmers generally agreed the region would come back again when rains return.

The present problem, they said, was how to hold on until that time. Many looked to the federal government for financial aid, chiefly easy credit and crop insurance, to tide them over.

Benson, on the other hand, was seeking long range measures that would make periodic emergency measures unnecessary.

Parking Space—No Trouble at All

SHOWING SKILL on unicycles Tuesday before the Iowa City police station are Lyle Ware, El, (left) and Dick George, Al, both of Iowa City. They obtained 25 cent bicycle licenses after some discussion as to whether the fee ought to be split in view of the nature of the vehicles. Police doubted that licenses were required at all under city ordinances.

Students Find 'Answer' To Parking Problem

Two 18-year-old SUI students braved noon-traffic Tuesday to ride downtown on an unusual type of vehicle—the unicycle—and stumbled on a sure-fire "solution" to the parking problem.

Dick George, Al, and Lyle Ware, El, both of Iowa City, rode about nine blocks from their homes to the Iowa City police station.

The unicycle, normally featured in acrobatic shows, has pedals attached to a single wheel with the seat placed on a fork over the hub.

Both vehicles were made by the youths from spare bicycle parts. George said that he made special hubs to fit a standard 26-inch wheel and welded the fork to special clamps.

He said that they started assembling the first unicycle about a year ago and began learning to ride the apparatus. Frequent spills and mechanical breakdowns, he said, led to slow progress.

Tuesday's trip, the youth said, was their first long ride.

Ware said that he and George practiced about five weeks before either of them could manage a 15-foot ride and about twice that long before they could steer a straight line. They claimed about nine months experience before attempting to negotiate traffic.

The youths said that the vehicles cost about $15 to build. Ware said that he also owned an auto and that both he and George had bicycles.

Both of the unicycles carry Iowa City bicycle licenses, but police officials doubted that the devices could be classed under the bicycle ordinance.

George lives at 809 Iowa ave. and is planning to study geology. Ware lives at 925 E. Washington and works part-time in a cycle shop where he said he obtained some of the parts for the unicycles.

Rider Says Senate Wants To Rule Board

FORT DODGE (AP)—Judge Dwight Rider Tuesday accused the Iowa Senate of trying to bring state schools under political domination.

The senate Monday refused to confirm Judge Rider's re-appointment to the state board of education. He currently is president of the board.

The senate voted not to confirm Rider in a closed session. Senate members said the action was final.

Rider said Tuesday that his firing was the result of a feud between the board and the state interim committee.

His statement said: "It brings out again very clearly the mandate of these men that the price of confirmation is the surrender of principles and the adoption of their views."

"It is my belief that the rejection... will be of real benefit to free education, in that it brings out clearly, as perhaps nothing else could have done, the plan of these men to attain bring state schools under political domination, after 45 years of freedom from such under the board of education."

"... the destruction of free government of our state schools must not continue."

The senate also refused to confirm V. B. Hamilton of Hampton to the board, despite Gov. Leo Hoegh's recommendation. Some senators said that this may be reconsidered.

Governor Hoegh Tuesday stood behind Rider. Hoegh said that Rider "is to be commended for his leadership in improving state supported colleges."

The senate has also turned down Hoegh's appointment of his 1954 campaign manager, Russell Lundy, to the state highway commission.

Hoegh Monday re-submitted Lundy's name to the senate. Senators said that Lundy might be approved on a second vote.

Blast Kills 5 At Navy Base

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Five civilian workers were killed Tuesday in an earth-shaking explosion at the underwater ordnance station on the sprawling Newport naval base.

Five other civilian employees were hospitalized and several others required first aid for minor injuries.

Witnesses said some of the dead were blown to bits by the blast, heard clearly on Jamestown Island nine miles away.

A cement building about 150 feet long and 40 to 50 feet wide was shattered. It housed a dynamometer room used for testing torpedo parts, particularly propulsion units.

About 20 persons were working in the building at the time. The workers hospitalized suffered fractures, cuts, bruises and concussion, but none was injured critically.

The navy said the blast was caused by compressed air and fluid used in the testing apparatus.

The dead: Daniel J. Sullivan, 62, of Newport, an engineering aide; Anthony C. Zimon, 39, and Peter Lada, 37, both of New Bedford, Mass.; Howard Staats, 34, of Newport, and John Lavender, 36, of Fall River, Mass.

Chiang May Be Excluded From Cease-Fire Talks

Harper, Fadiman Chat Before Lecture

CLIFTON FADIMAN, RIGHT, literary critic and radio and TV personality, chats with Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the Iowa Memorial Union, just before he talked on "Looking and Listening." He spoke in the main lounge in conjunction with the Dedication week ceremonies for the Union addition.

Fadiman Tells Of Excesses in Information

The implications of mass communications, "the new phenomena in the history of the human race," were explored by Clifton Fadiman in a lecture entitled "Looking and Listening," delivered at the Iowa Memorial Union Tuesday night.

A slight case of laryngitis prevented him from delivering a series of readings as planned. Fadiman analyzed the present problems which mass communications faces.

The first part of the lecture was devoted to giving a picture of the city dweller's torment, an ever present mass communications.

He depicted the city dweller as represented by a being who is bombarded with news, television, radio, and music who spends his waking hours blotting up the various products of mass communications.

He deliberately made this parable amusing, so as to present the picture more graphically. He described this being as one who "listens to the cataclysms of the past hours on radio, then buys two papers to get some more, is exposed to outdoor billboards, sky writing, subway car cards, the telephone, mail, wired music in restaurants, chatter from the barber, magazines, and telephone pollsters."

"Privacy doesn't seem to exist anymore," he said, "in this day of televised weddings, juke boxes, jet planes, church solicitors, tapped wires, portable radios or picture windows."

Shows Impact
Fadiman quoted some statistics which explicitly show the impact which mass communications has made on our society and our time.

Fifty-six per cent of the people spend five to ten per cent of their time reading papers and magazines, children five to six spend four hours a day watching TV, and students spend as much time watching TV as they do at school work.

The three biggest dangers of present day mass communications, according to Fadiman, are, "a lowering of quality so as to appeal to the masses, encouragement of passivity on the part of the audience, and disguising reality by over-simplification."

Growing Pains
But Fadiman said that all the excesses of mass communications he listed were probably only "growing pains."

He stated that he had great faith in the future of mass communications, a tool as vast in its implications as the wheel or fire. "Mass communications," he said, "is the concrete symbol of the revolution of consciousness, or the democratization of culture. It is a mighty instrument in the liberation of mankind."

Senate Passes Joint Tax Bill

DES MOINES (AP)—The senate Tuesday passed the combination house-senate bill to increase the Iowa sales tax and the state income tax. The bill now goes to the governor, who is expected to sign it.

The vote on whether to accept the house-senate conference committee report on the measure was 26-20. This was followed by a 26-20 vote for final passage. It required the 26 votes to pass.

The bill will increase the sales tax from two to two-and-a-half percent. It will similarly increase the use tax, with certain exemptions. The measure also boosts the state income tax collection rate from 75 to 80 percent.

Advocates of the bill said it would yield about $16 million a year in additional state revenue. If signed into law by the governor, as expected, the bill becomes effective July 1.

The bill was a compromise between the house, which favored an income tax increase, and the senate, which wanted the sales tax boost. The house passed the combination measure 59-46 late Monday.

Including previously passed revenue measures, such as an increase in the cigarette tax, the current legislature now has provided for an estimated $22 million a year in new revenue for the state general fund.

The additional revenue is needed because it is estimated state appropriations for the next biennium will run about $137 million a year. Present taxes would yield only about $115 million a year.

The bill, besides raising the income and sales tax rates would:

Increase the corporation tax from two to three percent;

Permit a single person filing an income tax return a deduction of $12 instead of the present $15 from his computed tax;

Permit a married couple filing a joint income tax return $24 instead of the present $30 deduction;

Raise the deduction for children from the present $7.50 per child under 18 to $12 per child;

Lower the point at which a single person would be required to file a return from the present $1,500 net income to $1,125;

Lower the point at which married couples would be required to file a return from $2,350 net income to $1,750.

ATTENDING CONFERENCE
Prof. Edward F. Mielnik, of the SUI mechanical engineering department, will attend a three-day conference on metallography at the University of Wisconsin Engineering Institute today through Friday.

Reverses Ike Approved China Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States opened the door Tuesday for cease-fire talks with Red China and backed away from its insistence that Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists be present at any meeting.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles took the position that this country wants a cease-fire in the Formosa area and doesn't care how it is obtained.

He said that Nationalist China would not have to be present at any negotiations on a cease-fire. But he said the Nationalists certainly would be brought in as equal participants in any talks which sought to dispose of territory in the area.

Propaganda Game
Dulles said the U.S. intends to try to find out whether Premier Chou En-lai of Red China is sincere in wanting a peaceful Formosa settlement or is "merely playing a propaganda game."

Dulles' remarks at a news conference contrasted with a statement put out Saturday by Under Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr., with the approval of President Eisenhower.

That statement, issued in response to Chou's bid for talks with the U.S. to relax tensions in the Far East, said that the U.S. would insist on free China participating as an equal in any discussions concerning the Formosa area.

Sen. Walter George (D-Ga.) said the absence of Nationalist China from the conference table should not prevent American peace talks with the Communists. The Nationalist regime has turned thumbs down on the idea of meeting with the Reds.

Discuss Other Problems
George, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, said Chou had offered to discuss other problems in the Far East besides Formosa.

Saying that several of these, including Viet Nam, are pressing, George added, "I don't think we ought to rebuff the proposals he has made for a meeting. If we were to turn them down or impose unreasonable conditions, that would have a bad effect on our position in the Far East, where we are not too popular as it is."

WSUI Will Begin Series About SUI

A new series of half-hour programs dealing with the operation of SUI's various colleges and departments will begin at 7:30 p.m. today over radio station WSUI.

The Wednesday evening series, entitled "Your University," is designed to acquaint Iowans in the WSUI listening area with their university's functions, Tom Koehler, coordinator of continuity at WSUI, said.

SUI Students, Grad Awarded Fulbrights

Two more SUI students and an SUI graduate have received Fulbright awards for foreign study. All of the most recent grants are for study in Austria.

Alice Bruns, A4, Waterloo, will study German at the University of Innsbruck, Innsbruck, Austria. She will be 1 of 48 such scholars in Austria during the 1955-56 academic year.

Studying at the University of Vienna will be Barbara Jean Balsiger, G, Rixford, Pa., and Mary E. Swensen, Decorah, an SUI graduate. Miss Balsiger will study history of art. Miss Swensen will also study history.

Candidates for Kinnick Scholarships Visit Campus

TWO BUSY DAYS faced these 14 candidates for Nile Kinnick Memorial scholarships at SUI when they arrived on campus Tuesday morning. The group of high school seniors found examinations, interviews, a look at spring football practice and several social events were planned for them. Names of winners of the $750 scholarships will be announced within the next month. In the front row are (left to right) Bill Louscher, Paulina; Tom Burrows, Belle Plaine; Art Andrews, Iowa City, and Dave Chickering, Ottumwa. Middle row (left to right) are Richard Harring, De Witt; Carl Egger, Monticello; Bill Scott, Iowa City; Herbert Marske, Clinton, and Boake Sells, Ft. Dodge. Back row (left to right) are Floyd Wilkins, Carroll; Dennis Blanchard, Belle Plaine; Tom Caulkins, Panora; Grant Wright, Clear Lake, and Gary Grouwinkel, Columbus Junction.

SUI Dental Clinic Studies Detection of Mouth Cancer

Progress is being made at the SUI dental clinic in the detection and study of cancer of the mouth. The college of dentistry, aided by federal funds, is instructing dental students to recognize cancerous tissue in the mouths of their patients.

Commenting in connection with the "Examination for Students of Dentistry in the Subject Matter of Cancer," which was given Tuesday to all SUI dental students, Dr. Alton K. Fisher, head of the oral pathology department, said the test is designed to measure the progress made by dental schools under federal grants.

He said these funds are allocated to schools of dentistry by the National Cancer Institute, a sub-division of the department of health, education and welfare.

The SUI dental school has received $35,000 federal aid in the past seven years. The money has been allotted in amounts of $5,000 annually.

The funds have been used for the development of laboratory and teaching facilities which have aided dental students in the recognition of cancer of the mouth.

Photograph Tissue
The clinic is equipped with photographic facilities which can photograph suspicious-looking tissue found in the mouths of patients.

"The student," said Fisher, "learns to look for certain signs which may indicate the presence of a cancer. These signs may be in the form of small sores or other irregularities in the mouth."

"About 7 per cent of all cancer occurs in the mouth," he commented. "Many people are unaware of small cancers in that region. We urge dental students to make a thorough examination of the mouth, head and neck of their patient."

The death rate in the United States from cancer of the mouth has decreased from 3.19 deaths per 100,000 population in 1936 to 2.0 deaths per 100,000 in 1950. Fisher attributed much of the credit for this decrease to the education of dental students in the field of cancer.

"Dentists have been detecting this type of cancer earlier," he said. "If the dentist doesn't recognize this condition, who will?"

The test is compiled and distributed by the government subsidized Cancer Research Institute of the University of California. The exams are scored by the institute and reports are made ranking the dental schools nationally according to class year.

Fisher said the SUI dental college has improved its national standing in each succeeding year since SUI began taking the cancer tests in 1952.

Don't Jump to Chou's Bait—

Behind the proposal of Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai that his country and the United States engage in direct negotiations to ease tensions in the Formosan area lies serious implications.

If the United States does not accept Chou's invitation, the Communists will use our refusal as another example of America creating tension in Asia and the Far East.

If the United States does agree to "direct" negotiations, Communists will reiterate their charge that Chiang Kai-shek is merely a pawn in our hands.

Of the two choices, the latter is the most acceptable to this country under the conditions laid down by Chou. The Reds already have accused the U.S. of every sin from trying to subvert their Peiping regime to using germ warfare in Korea; these charges have had little effect.

But direct negotiations with the Communists would provide Chou with "evidence" that Formosa is an imperialistic venture. Moreover, it would seriously impair the morale of Chiang's troops.

Under the circumstances, it would be unwise to jump at Chou's bait unless Chiang is permitted to take an active part in the negotiations.

Wake Up, Daughters!—

We note with interest the shotgun resolutions passed by the Daughters of the American Revolution Thursday in the nation's capital. Our only question is why the daughters should stop at only taking our country back to isolationism.

Why not instead a resolution to pull up stakes and take the country completely out of this planet? That would show "them foreigners" that we don't need the rest of the world in our life out here on our 1776 frontier.

Of course President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace program should be abolished. No sense at all in increasing the standards of living and helping those "other countries." Might make them better markets for our production.

Of course foreign aid ought to be abolished. Save us all kinds of money. Would make the Communists happy, too, since poverty-stricken countries are ripe for the ideas of Moscow.

Of course reciprocal trade agreements ought to expire in June. All they do is spread American dollars abroad which create buying power for our goods and keep our factories busy.

Of course the federal government ought to continue abstaining from aiding education. Surely it doesn't matter if some of the children of the country get inferior educations. They are Americans, aren't they?

Of course we ought to beware of the pitfalls of world government and the socialist state. Why, of course the post office and all those other socialist institutions ought to be abolished along with those public schools and social security programs. And contributing troops and military aid to weak countries to preserve their freedom sure smacks of world government.

Of course we ought to be against the United Nations. Why those "foreigners" are probably right now planning on seceding lower Manhattan island from the United States.

Our advice to you, Daughters, is to wake up and face the realities of the present era. None of your resolutions will take the U.S. out of the range of intercontinental bombers. But as long as a substantial part of the world is against aggression, Communist bosses will be careful about starting a world war.

Wake up daughters! It's a bigger problem today than driving off a few Redcoats from the Boston public square!

Back Down to Earth—

SUI was recently described by a national news magazine as "The Athens of the West."

All Iowa is proud of our university as a center of culture.

The sight of Old Capitol and the other majestic buildings of the Pentacrest whether in the springtime under blue skies or covered with a pure white mantle of snow is indeed an inspiring symbol of liberal education.

Even we students sometimes get rather carried away with it all.

This is why it seems wise to note — as is evidenced almost every spring evening by the crowds of little boys and student fishermen with flashlights and tin cans — that the Pentacrest is also one of the finest nightcrawler hunting spots in the city.

Iowa Union Plans Initiated In 1919

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of two articles on the planning of the Iowa Memorial Union, which was originated in 1919. This week, Unit III of the Union will be dedicated. These articles describe the "flowering of the Union idea at SUL.")

The new addition to the Iowa Memorial Union is another flowering of the Union idea — an idea that had its beginning at SUI in 1919 with the formation of the Iowa Memorial association.

In the early part of that year, the late President Walter A. Jessup was talking to members of the faculty and alumni about his idea for an alumni building to be used for student activities, particularly the literary and forensic societies.

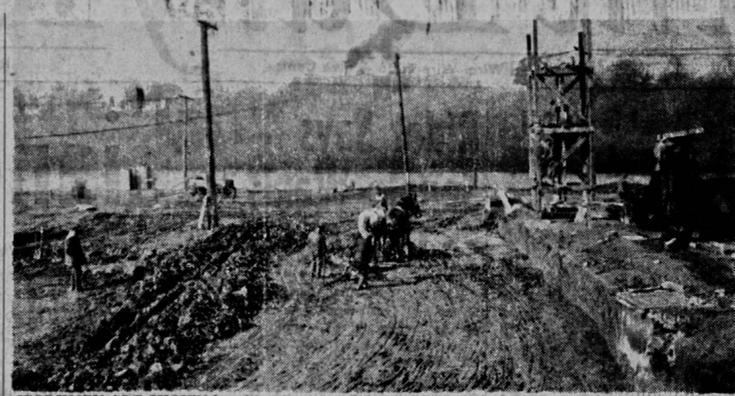

Jessup's enthusiasm was contagious. On June 1, 1919, Prof. Forest C. Ensign, now professor-emeritus of the college of education, called a meeting of those interested in promoting Jessup's idea. They met in the rooms of the late C. H. Weller, professor and head of history of art.

Plan Was Born

Out of this meeting came a plan for "a memorial building on the plan of a students' union." On June 3 the plan was submitted to the University of Iowa association and approved. The Iowa Memorial association was then created.

This non-profit corporation existed then, as it does today, solely to perform the executive function of making plans, hiring architects, and letting contracts for expanding the facilities of the union. The facilities themselves, however, are deeded back to the university upon completion. Iowa's union, unlike independent club unions on other campuses, is a part of the university.

The early activities of the association were not expansion but fund raising and campaigning for pledges. Through the years, however, the discrepancy between the amount pledged and the amount collected became too great to continue and in 1938 fund raising was discontinued. All earnings and gifts went toward paying off the debt. Beginning in 1949, a small percentage of each student's tuition was allocated for Union expansion.

Raising Money

But in 1919, the union idea was new, and it was felt that campaigns and personal pledges were the way to raise the money.

Throughout the state committees were organized at the state and congressional district levels. Their goal was merely several thousand dollars.

But within a month, the union idea exhibited its fundamental characteristic. It became bigger.

A building for literary and forensic societies had now become expressed as a memorial to those who died in World War I. The association enlarged their goal to a million dollars.

National Campaign Begun

State and national campaigns were begun in the expectation that a million dollars could be collected by homecoming.

It soon became evident that a union could not be built in a short time by the herculean labors of a devoted few. It would require patience and the contributions of many people over many years. The discouraged fund raisers finished their campaign with only $100,000.

In October, 1920, Ralph Grassfield, a former Daily Iowan editor, was made director of the Union association. His intensive campaigning among Iowa City businessmen during the next two years was the first big step in reaching the goal.

Bad Financial Period

The aftermath of the war made the early twenties a bad time financially for most Iowans. Generally, campaigns among alumni yielded very little. But students, on the other hand, were beginning to support the movement with great zeal.

The first student fund drive was organized in March, 1922. The meeting was held in room 118 of the Liberal Arts building. Attending were representatives of the interfraternity council, women's pan-hellenic association, university players, commerce club, Hawkeye, interdenominational board, men's forensic council, the women's forensic council and officers of the Union association.

Their slogan was "Put 'er Through In '22." Their goal was $75,000. With their contribution they expected the grand total to pass the half million mark by June.

Daily Iowan Campaign

Sparking this first student campaign was The Daily Iowan. On April 3, the paper published a special Memorial Union edition and conducted an essay contest on the theme, "What the Memorial Union Will Mean to the University." The English department, cooperating with the press, required a composition on this subject from all freshman classes.

Ten days later this campaign closed officially with a total pledge list of $219,000.

By November when the pledges were added to the funds collected by Crassfield and the association, there was a grand total of $400,756.

Decide on Unit Plan

Realizing that another two years might be required to collect the full million, the Union association decided to start building on the unit plan. The architect partnership of Boyd & Moore of Des Moines were engaged to make tentative designs.

At the close of the '22 campaign, Crassfield returned to newspaper work and was succeeded by Prof. C. H. Weller. In Student Council is obliged financially to aid Panacea in case it is not successful. For this reason the Student Council must keep in close contact with this committee and must approve its actions prior to their realization. A member of the Student Council will be appointed to sit on this committee.

Reds Wooing Overseas Chinese

June, 1923, Weller was succeeded by Rufus Fitzgerald, who was then YMCA director here.

Fitzgerald had come to SUI in 1919. When he took over responsibility for the Union, it directed its completion and guided its activities until 1938.

Still Not Built

But in April, 1924, the Union was still not built and students were becoming impatient. People talked of "Too Much Talk and not enough action." Newspaper reports said that Indiana's union fund had passed the $700,000 mark. Iowa's fund needed to get off the ground.

Bombs were the answer. Intermittently throughout the April campaign of 1924 explosions were set off to emphasize the event. Each explosion signified that $1,000 had been pledged.

This drive was formally opened by President Jessup at a pre-campaign banquet. In his talk, Jessup said:

'On Iowa' Spirit

"The people who have made Iowa have overcome opposition year in and year out to the end that they have left to us the tradition of Iowa as an institution that is going forward—they created the spirit of 'On Iowa'."

The following October saw the first clearing of ground by the river. By December the stones for the foundation were stacked in place. By April, 1925, the walls were rising.

But as the walls were rising, the vision of the Union was rising, too. That April another pre-campaign banquet was held. Another fund drive was initiated. More bombs were exploded and more $1,000 pledges, in the best campaign yet, brought the grand total to over $700,000.

But now the funds were being collected for the greater Memorial Union.

It was as Margarette Battey had said in her prize winning essay three years before: "The Iowa Memorial Union is much more than the prospect of a fine building; it is an ideal, a spirit of unity, a power which makes itself apparent in increased devotion to the University, its aims, and aspirations."

JUSTICE IN COURT

ROANOKE, Va. — Judge Beverly T. Fitzpatrick suspended sentence and told the woman prisoner: "Go home and look after those children." An attorney, who had no connection with the case, walked over and pressed a $10 bill in the woman's hand. She had been caught stealing a jar of medicine for her sick child.

SEASONAL ECONOMY

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A mild winter saved Hartford taxpayers $100,000. Only about $20,000 of the $120,000 set aside for snow removal was spent.

Applications for scholarships must be submitted by students now enrolled in the university before the close of the current semester.

THE SEVENTH ANNUAL DESIGN exhibition, entitled "The Heliotrope House — A New Design for Living," is being shown * HONG KONG (AP) — The struggle for Asia is many little struggles and one of them is the fight for the overseas Chinese. The outcome of that fight could decide the issue.

Twelve million Chinese live outside China. They stay Chinese when other immigrants are absorbed, maybe because Chinese life revolves around the family village or county in China.

Only a few go back to China, but they all intend to.

They also send millions of dollars home — as much as $7 million in one year.

They are important because in southeast Asia, they control commerce, finance, shipping, merchandising and some production.

Control Money
Their adoptive countries do not always like them. They control too much money and business to suit the natives.

They get along better when China is strong and forceful. When Peiping challenges the world, they get a fairer deal in their adoptive lands.

But they're scared of communism, which is out to eliminate their class. They like Peiping communism, but at a distance.

The Reds love them now, because the Reds need them. But in the long run Peiping will liquidate them. They are profiting-taking bourgeois.

Chinese Schools
The Reds take advantage of Asia's shortage of schools for children of overseas Chinese; give overseas children priority. Thousands go to China. Some stay. Some return. And some become party workers.

And Peiping is still sweet-talking the 12 million.

Two years ago purges and confiscations turned the overseas Chinese against Peiping. But now overseas Chinese are rather unhappily swinging back. They will vacillate more before Asia's troubles are over, but right now it looks a little smarter to be in with Peiping than against it.

The west tries to influence adoptive nations to give them a fair deal, which isn't always easy. Sometimes it looks to them as though whichever way they go, they lose.

THE UNIVERSITY COOPERATIVE Baby-sitting league book will be in charge of Mrs. C. R. Steward from April 19 to May 3. Telephone her at 8-0235 if a sitter or information about joining the group is desired.

ALL-UNIVERSITY BRIDGE tournament will be held Saturday, April 30, at 2 p.m. in the Union. Applications are due Friday, April 22, by 5 p.m. at the Union desk. Trophies will be given to the top four.

STUDENTS ADMITTED to the freshman class in the college of medicine beginning September, 1955, should report to room 119, medical laboratories, for physical examination admission cards as soon as possible.

PERSONS INTERESTED in Student Council committee membership for 1955-56 please call at Student Council office, room 113, Macbride hall, any afternoon during the week of April 25-29 and pick up a questionnaire.

PROF. RALPH FREEDMAN will speak on "The Battle of Upton and the Hermit's Cave: A Contrast in the Aesthetics of the Novel," Monday, May 2, at 8 p.m. in the senate chamber, Old Capitol. The graduate college and the Humanities society sponsor the talk.

SUI'S SPRING PARTY, "Spring Serenade," will be held Friday, April 29, 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Charlie Spivak will play in the Union main lounge, with Leo Cortimiglia in the River room. The dance is semi-formal. Tickets go on sale at the Union desk Monday, April 25, at $3 per couple.

Bowling Champ Gives Instructions

INSTRUCTION IN HOW best to hold a bowling ball is offered two SUI coeds by Marion Ladewis, five-time national champion in the art of knocking down the timber. The coeds are (from left) Judy Connolly, A4, Cresco, and Joanna Rogers, A1, Mt. Ayr.

IAFCW Play Day Will Be Held Here

Eight Iowa colleges will be represented at the annual play day of the Iowa Athletic Federation of College Women at SUI Saturday.

"The Olympics" has been chosen as the theme for this year's event, Women from Coe college, Iowa Wesleyan college, Iowa State college, Grinnell college, Wartburg college, Luther college, Buena Vista college and SUI will attend.

Registration

Ruth Ashton, A4, Iowa City, former vice-president of the Women's Recreation association, sponsor of play day, is general chairman. Joan Barlow, A3, Clear Lake, is in charge of registration, which will begin at 9:30 a.m. Registration fees will be 25 cents for those not attending the luncheon and $1.50 for those attending the luncheon.

Games will be played from 9:30 to 11 a.m. Women will be divided into teams at registration so that various schools will be represented on each team. Softball, volleyball, and tennis will be played outside and the swimming event will be held in the pool of the Women's gymnasium. In case of rain the groups will play basketball and volleyball, use the trampoline, tumble and swim. Maxine Cowton, A3, Audubon, is in charge of setting the games schedule and teams.

Luncheon in River Room

Luncheon will begin at noon in the River room of the Iowa Memorial Union. Martha Milani, A2, Centerville, is in charge of this event. The freshman physical education class will give a skit at the luncheon.

The group will continue the games from 1:15 to 2:30 p.m. A tea will be held at 3 p.m. in the social room of the Women's gymnasium. Betty Jean Stoner, A2, West Branch, is in charge of the tea.

Convention Report

A resume of the national IAFCW convention held recently at Smith college will be given. Dorothy Schwengel, A2, Davenport, is in charge of entertainment.

The program will consist of a reading, songs by a barber shop-type quartette, and a record pantomime. Miss Barlow will give the reading and Marcia Brubaker, A1, Davenport, and Susan Wormhout, A2, Mason City, will pantomime to "Dance With Me Henry." Members of the quartette are Janet Brookman, A3, Center Point; Janet Stanzel, A3, Sac City; Donna McMahon, A4, Ft. Dodge, and Aileen Weiss, A2, Davenport.

Chemical Group Holds Initiation

Ralph Rygg, G, Kalispell, Mont., and William Deskin, G, Fayette, were initiated into Phi Lambda Upsilon, national scholastic chemical fraternity, Tuesday evening.

A banquet was held honoring the new members following initiation ceremonies. Prof. Joseph Jauch of the physics department spoke at the banquet.

Phi Lambda Upsilon award winners for outstanding scholastic record in chemistry over the past year are Judith Quinn, Ainsworth, junior award, and Mrs. Jane Etax, G, River Forest, Ill., senior award.

New President

Union Lounge To Appear as Flower Garden for Dance

A red carpet will be rolled out for couples attending "Spring Serenade," Central Party committee's first spring semi-formal dance, Friday night.

The main lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union will take on the appearance of a Victorian flower garden. Rose and palm trees and statuary will be arranged in flower beds against a backdrop of white brick paper. Members of the decorations committee have made 42 dozen pink, white and blue daisies and 86 dozen lavender, pink, white and red tulips.

Pink Lanterns, Streamers
Pink lanterns will cover the chandeliers from which light green and white streamers will go out to the walls. The bandstand will be moved to a new place in front of the balcony, which will be decorated as an old time pavilion.

The spring theme will be carried out in the River room. Plaques, baskets and bird cages filled with flowers will decorate the walls and ceiling, while a flower-covered picket fence will surround the bandstand.

Committees
David Adams, A3, Princeton, is chairman of the decoration committee. Nancy Acheson, A2, Des Moines; Kay Taylor, N2, Tulsa, Okla., and Gail Carson, A2, Sewickley, Pa., are in charge of making flowers.

Assisting them are Mary Ellen Parker, A3, Rockford, Ill.; Shirley Curtis, A2, Chariton; Kathleen Halloran, A1, Cedar Rapids;

Judith Murtagh, A2, Algona; Joan O'Hara, A2, Ottumwa; Alice Cox, A3, Hinsdale, Ill.; Cecilia Kirby, A3, Sioux Falls, S. D.; Karen Greenwood, A1, Sidney and Jeanine Hilton, A2, Sioux City.

In charge of planters and lanterns are Robert Kemis, A2, Sioux City; Richard Runke, A1, Palos Heights, Ill., and Richard Spring, A1, Madrid. Aileen Weiss, A2, Ft. Dodge, and Phyllis Half, A2, Rock Island, Ill., are in charge of River room decorations.

To Use Flowers Later
Students are asked not to take or destroy the decorations because portions of them have been borrowed and flowers will be used to decorate a part of the new addition of the Union, according to Adams.

Interested students and subcommittee members are urged to help complete the decorations between 1 and 5 p.m. and 7 and 9 p.m. today, Thursday and Friday. They will work in the Old Armory gymnasium today and Thursday and in the Union Friday.

Charlie Spivak and his orchestra will play in the main lounge and Leo Cortimiglia's band in the River room from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Friday. Tickets are on sale at the Union desk for $3 a couple. Presentation of the 12 SUI beauty queens will be featured at intermission.

Hawkeye Nine Defeats Western Illinois, 3-1

Score Twice In Sixth, Get 5-Hit Pitching

The Iowa baseball team overcame a one-run Western Illinois State lead in the sixth inning Tuesday afternoon and went on to win, 3-1, on five-hit pitching by Bill Dugan and Ron Schaefer.

The Hawkeyes were held scoreless on four scattered hits and were trailing, 1-0, after five innings.

In the sixth-inning a rally was started when Kirby Smith's fly ball to right field was bobbled. Don Waldron followed with a single which the shortstop could not hold, putting runners on first and third. Ken Meek then hit a hot grounder which the second baseman juggled long enough to let Smith score. Waldron went to second but Meek was out at first.

Waldron Scores
Waldron scored on catcher Jerry Leber's single to center field, putting the Hawkeyes ahead to stay. Ted Jensen forced Leber at second base to end the inning.

The Hawks' third run came in the eighth inning when Smith's fly ball to center field was dropped. He took second on a passed ball and scored on Meek's single along the left field foul line.

Western Illinois' run came in the third inning after the lead-off hitter Gerald Giovanini drew a base on balls and stole to second. He came home on third baseman Lanny Rudd's single to right field.

Threat Fails

The Illinois team threatened in the eighth but did not score. Pinch-hitter Mike Wayland walked. He advanced to second when no one covered first on Rudd's infield grounder. Center fielder Ron Little flew to right, advancing Wayland to third but it came to naught when Wayland was put out stealing home. Coach Wix Garner staged a ruckus but the umpire stood firm.

The victory was the second of the season for the Hawks against the losses. In league competition, Iowa has a 0-1 record, the lone game being with Purdue.

This weekend the league-leading Minnesota Gophers come to town for a three-game stand. A single game Friday afternoon starts at 3:30 and a double-header Saturday begins at 1:30. Minnesota has a 3-0 record in Big Ten action.

Moose Stops Charge—What? Got No Antlers!

ASHTON, Idaho (AP)—Trotting along a forest road in front of a ranger's pickup, a bull moose got tired of being followed, turned, lowered his head and charged.

Forest Ranger W. D. Carringer waited with a smile. It was the time of year when moose have no antlers. Finally the moose realized it, too. He stiffened his legs, slid to a stop just in front of the headlights and walked humbly away.

Waldron Scores Second Run

DON WALDRON, IOWA SHORT-STOP, crosses the plate with Iowa's second run in the sixth inning of the Iowa-Western Illinois State game Tuesday. The catcher is Lou Lupinek. Iowa won the game, 3-2.

Antonelli Holds Braves To 3 Hits; Giants Win

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Antonelli turned back his old Milwaukee mates with three hits Tuesday night as the New York Giants opened a long home stand in 40-degree temperature with a 3-2 victory.

The Giants hopped on starter Bob Buhl for all their runs in the first inning and went hitless after the second inning.

Antonelli, who lost his first two starts, struck out nine. All the Giant runs were scored before Buhl retired a batter in the first.

Milwaukee got one run in the third when Hank Aaron tripled, scoring Bill Bruton. Buhl had walked with one out and had been forced at second by Bruton.

The second Milwaukee tally came in the eighth following an error by Hank Thompson who fumbled pinch hitter Jim Pendleton's grounder. Bruton forced Pendleton and took second on Aaron's single.

After both runners advanced on a passed ball by Ray Katt, Bruton raced home while Eddie Mathews grounded out to Billy Gardner.

Buhl and relievers Dave Jolly and Warren Spahn held the Giants without a hit after Don Mueller singled in the second.

Sell All Star Game Tickets in One Day

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The major league baseball All Star game, slated for Milwaukee County Stadium July 12, was sold out Tuesday.

More than 25,000 applications, nearly all of them asking the limit of two tickets, were received by mid-afternoon. The ticket sale opened Monday.

Milwaukee County Stadium seats 43,110 and about 12,000 of the seats were taken by season ticket holders. The remaining tickets were put on public sale by mail only.

CHICAGO (AP)—The University of Oklahoma Tuesday was placed on two years' probation by the National Collegiate Athletic association for violations of the NCAA code.

The report by the committee on infractions to the council found that Oklahoma staff members offered prospective student-athletes cost-free education beyond the athletes' normal period of eligibility.

NCAA President C. P. Houston of Tufts, explaining the Oklahoma penalty, said the probation places the institution in jeopardy and the university must immediately correct all procedures which violate NCAA requirements.

"Recommend Expulsion"
In event such action is not taken, I feel certain the council would recommend expulsion to the association's annual convention," he said.

Oklahoma, at Norman, also was accused of paying medical expenses for the wives and children of athletes.

Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, said Oklahoma's probation is a notice to the university that its athletic policies are under surveillance and "one more mistake implies serious trouble."

"Fringe Benefits"
Byers explained that probation is a penalty in that no school wants the publicity of being put on probation and all that have been put on probation fight to get off.

The council also said university patrons have provided student-athletes university "fringe benefits" in the form of clothes, miscellaneous gifts of cash and other gifts of relatively nominal value, and, in the case of two athletes, paid the charges for their periodic use of a rent-a-car vehicle.

The action against Oklahoma will not prevent Sooner football teams from participating in the Orange Bowl to which the Big Seven champion is committed.

Perennial Power
Oklahoma, a perennial power in the Big Seven and voted in the associated press poll among the top 10 teams for the last seven years, won the Orange Bowl in 1954 by beating Maryland 7-0.

Oklahoma won the conference championship last year but could not go to the 1955 bowl because Big Seven teams are not allowed to go two successive years.

Dr. George L. Cross, president of the University of Oklahoma, issued a statement saying the probationary action vindicated the Sooner athletic program.

No "Dishonesty"
He said the NCAA investigation failed to show "a single case of fraud or dishonesty."

In another case the council placed the University of Cincinnati on probation for one year for athletic code violations.

The council said Cincinnati offered prospective athletes aid in excess of that permitted and provided transportation for prospective football players to visit the campus during the years 1951 through 1953.

Also, Cincinnati
Further, the University of Cincinnati was ruled ineligible to enter athletes or teams in national collegiate championship events sponsored by the NCAA during the period of its probation.

The council found the University of Cincinnati had conducted an off-campus employment program for student-athletes in football and jobs were arranged by members of the football coaching staff for certain rates of pay.

Neither the university authorities nor the employers were "reasonably diligent in determining whether the work was performed," the report said.

Other Schools
The council also reprimanded the University of Dayton, Bethune-Cookman college of Daytona Beach, Fla., and Virginia Union University.

Dayton was found to have been conducting a basketball coaching clinic involving participation of prospective athletes. The council said this represented a tryout.

Turley Flips One-Hitter; Yanks in First

CHICAGO (AP)—Bob Turley hurled a one-hitter to give New York a 5-0 victory over Chicago and move the Yankees into first place over the White Sox Tuesday.

Dave Smith Leads North-South Meet After First Round

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Medalist Dave Smith scrambled his way to a 1 up victory over Lt. Robert Magee of nearby Ft. Bragg and Newton, Mass., Tuesday to lead the way through the first round of the North and South Amateur Golf tournament.

Smith, 240-pound, 6-5 amateur dealer from Gastonia, N.C., shot a four over par 78 compared with his tournament record-equaling 67 in Monday's qualifying round.

U.S. Walker Cup Capt., Bill Campbell, of Huntington, W. Va., scored birdie putts on the last three holes to put out Bill Snow, two handicapper from Pinehurst. Two down through seven holes, Campbell turned even with an unimpressive 40.

Campbell's cup teammate, Dale Morey of Indianapolis, was three over par in his 5 and 4 victory over Dr. M. D. Buccella of Orange, N.J.

Finigan's Single In 11th Scores Run; Athletics Win, 8-7

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Jim Finigan singled home Spook Jacobs with two out in the 11th inning and the bases loaded to give the Kansas City Athletics an 8-7 victory over the Boston Red Sox Tuesday night.

Jacobs was running for Joe Astroth who tripled for the first hit the A's had garnered since the fourth inning.

The A's scored seven runs in the first four innings off Tom Brewer. Then they subsided before the relief pitching of Russ Kemmerer and Tom Hurd until Astroth ignited the winning rally with his three-bagger, with one out.

Then Hurd passed pinch hitter Don Bollweg and Vic Power intentionally to fill the bases. Lefty Lee Kieley was brought in to pitch against lefthanded-hitting Elmer Valo and Manager Lou Boudreau sent up Bill Renna as a pinch hitter. Renna struck out. Then Finigan bashed his single into right field just in front of Jackie Jensen.

Jacobs joped home with the winning run.

Tigers Beat Orioles On Kaline's Homer

DETROIT (AP)—Al Kaline's fifth home run of the season, a ninth inning lead-off blast, gave the Detroit Tigers a 3-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Tuesday.

A frigid crowd of 1,319 saw the 20-year-old outfielder hammer a 1-1 pitch off Erv Palica.

The drive gave Ned Garver, Tiger righthander, his second victory of the season. He has lost two. It also stretched Kaline's streak of hitting in every Tiger game—14.

Palica, Brooklyn Dodger cast-off, had given up four singles before serving the home run ball to Kaline.

Charles To Fight Holman on TV Tonight

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Ezzard Charles goes after his third straight victory Wednesday night in a 10-rounder with John Holman of Chicago.

The fight will be televised nationally (CBS) starting at 8 p.m. CST.

Charles has had three chances to win back the title he lost to Jersey Joe Walcott in Pittsburgh four years ago. Walcott outpointed him in a return match in 1952 and Rocky Marciano defeated him twice last year.

Holman also is unbeaten in two starts this year. His over-all record includes 26 wins, 10 losses and one draw.

SUI Union Houses Large Art Collection

SUI students don't have to go to museums or art galleries to enjoy works of art. They have the opportunity to live and work among them every day.

The Iowa Memorial Union is the home of the university's permanent art collection. It is the scene of many special exhibitions from the SUI art department and from art centers all over the country. It has a rental reproduction collection, which is available to university offices, student housing units and religious foundations.

Dr. Earl E. Harper, director of the Union and head of the school of fine arts, feels that this closeness of good art to each student develops an appreciation, which might otherwise be neglected.

Part of Experience

There are many students who would not seek out exhibits of contemporary art, for instance. But hanging in the Union main lounge the paintings become a part of these students' everyday experience.

The permanent art collection includes 89 paintings, 13 pieces of sculpture, 13 drawings and prints and about 15 other art objects, which are drawn upon for displays throughout the building. The university also owns several old collections, which are not used.

Perhaps the most famous painting is Juan Miro's "Rosale." Its purchase from the special endowment fund, which finances the collection, set off a statewide controversy over the value of modern art.

Well-Known Artists

The scope of the collection includes many well-known contemporary artists. Max Beckmann's "Carnival," Jack Levine's "Study for a Gangster's Funeral," "Endless Voyage" by Mitchell Siporin and "St. Johannes" by Lyonel Feininger are outstanding.

The SUI art faculty and former instructors have ample representation, too. Byron Burford, James Lechay, Stuart Edie, Mauricio Lasansky, Fletcher Martin and Emil Ganso have one or more paintings in the collection.

Among the pieces of sculpture a Lincoln statuette by Loreda Taft, "Panther" by Humbert Albriizio, "Sacrifice" by Jacques Lipchitz, and "Girl Withdrawn" by Henry Kreis, are particularly prized.

Exhibitions Loaned
Occasionally exhibitions are drawn from the collection and loaned to other educational institutions and to accredited museums. The most recent loan went to Grinnell college for display on that campus.

Single paintings from the collection hang in the president's office and home, in the governor's mansion in Des Moines and in the offices of the board of education, also in Des Moines.

The entire collection is specially insured, since some of the paintings are valued between $4,000 and $5,000.

Special Storeroom
A special store room in the Union houses the art works, when they are not in use. The custodial staff does all the handling—crating, uncrating and hanging. The hostess staff assists Harper, who is curator of the collection, in cataloging the items and in arranging special shows.

Many items in the collection have been gifts to the university. Perhaps, the most valuable is the Van Epps collection, valued at more than $10,000.

The special exhibitions, which are shown in the Union from time to time, afford Harper and his staff excellent opportunity to make selections for the permanent collection. A number of purchases have been made in this way.

Sponsors Exhibits
The student Union board sponsors and finances the special exhibits through its committee on fine arts. Recently it sponsored the first one-man show by a graduate student in the history of the Union when 29 paintings and prints of Moïse Smith went on display.

The annual Fine Arts festival has been the occasion of many exhibitions. In 1950 the theme was "Contemporary Art in Iowa," and included art created and collected in Iowa.

In 1954 Dr. Lester D. Longman, head of the art department, selected American paintings from the 1930's and 1950's for a show called "Then and Now."

In 1939, the first year of the summer shows, the largest collection of Grant Wood paintings ever shown was hung in the Union. The late painter personally assisted in selecting and cataloging the exhibit.

Included 25 Paintings
Other popular exhibits have included 25 paintings by Grandma Moses, the winners in an international art competition sponsored by the Hallmark company, and works of Iowa artist George Shane, most of which were reproduced in successive issues of the Des Moines Sunday Register and Tribune.

The rental collection owned by the Union offers approximately 200 reproductions, individually framed, to approved units on campus. The fee is $1.50 per semester for each painting. However, each picture can be traded for another during the semester, without payment of an additional fee.

British Corporal Steals Plane, Kills Four

VALENCIENNES, France (AP) — A 20-year-old nearsighted British Royal Air Force corporal, unlicensed to pilot military aircraft, crashed a stolen RAF trainer on two French houses near here early Tuesday.

The crash killed four persons, including the corporal and two children. Three others were injured.

The crash came after a five-hour flying spree over England and France.

The unauthorized flight started when the heavy engine plane took off Monday night from the RAF's Thorney Island Navigation School in Hampshire, 60 miles southwest of London.

The flier was identified by the British Air Ministry as Nank Agnani, a British subject who was born in Karachi, Pakistan.

He had a student pilot license which required that he wear glasses when flying.

Agnani took off at Thorney Island about 7 p.m. Monday in the $700,000 plane.

RAF Flight Lt. Johnny Smiles of Thorney Island, took off in pursuit.

The corporal circled London, banked and dipped as low as 20 feet to buzz houses. He criss-crossed commercial airplanes and ignored Smiles' radio appeals for three hours. Then he headed toward the coast and Smiles was forced to give up the chase.

Across the channel Agnani started buzzing Vicq's houses. And just after midnight the plane hit two adjoining houses with an explosion that rattled the town and sent flames high into the sky.

Several hours after the crash, rescuers found a gloved hand in the cooling wreckage of the plane. The rest of the body was burned almost to ashes.

Journalism Students to Edit Traer Paper

Seven SUI journalism students will leave Friday on the annual field trip of community journalism students.

They will take over publication of the Traer Star-Clipper, a weekly newspaper of approximately 3,400 circulation. The group, under the direction of Lester Benz, head of the community journalism sequence, will produce the May 6 issue of the paper. Students taking part in the exercise include Carol Davenport, A2, Des Moines; Russell Tokheim, A3, Eagle Grove; Jim March, G, Kingsley; Alan Abbott, A4, Osceola; Carter Pitts, G, LeMars; Joan Ridgeway, A4, New Hampton; and Richard H. Timmins, G, Ottumwa.

The group will handle all phases of the production of the paper during their visit. They will sell advertising, cover news events, take photographs, write feature stories, and devise the layout of the newspaper.

In these tasks, the SUI students will receive a minimum of general guidance from the regular staff of the paper, including editor Harry E. Taylor.

GOING OVER a copy of the Traer Star-Clipper with Lester Benz of the SUI school of journalism faculty are six journalism students who will publish the Traer weekly newspaper for May 6. They are: (left to right) Jim March, G, Kingsley; Alan Abbott, A4, Osceola; Benz; Carter Pitts, G, LeMars; Joan Ridgeway, A4, New Hampton; Russell Tokheim, A3, Eagle Grove, and Richard H. Timmins, G, Ottumwa. Not pictured is Carol Davenport, A2, Des Moines, who will also take part in the week-long field trip.

Visiting Italian Writer Seeks American Life Impressions

An Italian writer was in Iowa City Tuesday to gain impressions of American life.

Ettore Naldoni, 30, correspondent for "Epoca," a weekly illustrated magazine published in Rome, talked with Prof. Russell Whitesel of the SUI political science department Monday and a North Liberty farmer Tuesday. Naldoni said the purpose of his interviews here was to gain a picture of various occupational classes in the United States.

In obtaining what he called a "portrait" of Whitesel, Naldoni interviewed SUI president Virgil Hancher, attended one of Whitesel's classes and talked with Whitesel's family.

Naldoni also talked with Emil Novy, a farmer from near North Liberty, to learn how a midwest farmer lives. He said that he intends to interview farmers from other countries in order to draw a comparison.

The Italian correspondent, who holds a degree in optical engineering, had previously stopped in Detroit to talk with an auto worker. He hopes to schedule interviews with a physician in New York city and a chemist in Rochester, N.Y. to round out his background on American life. Along with his interviews with different types of citizens Naldoni is writing a series of articles about four American Catholic Cardinals. He will write biographical articles on the Cardinals and their ideas about the American press.

City Council Proposes Shopping Zone Hearing

The Iowa City council voted Tuesday night to hold a public hearing May 17 on a proposed shopping zone ordinance.

The ordinance regulates the type of business that could be conducted in a shopping center. Two such centers have been planned for eastern Iowa City.

The purpose of the ordinance is to maintain the residential nature of districts in which shopping centers might be located.

Provide Shops
Said City Manager Peter F. Roan: "The purpose of the ordinance is to provide shops to serve the immediate neighborhood."

At present Iowa City property can be zoned only as residential, business or industrial.

The May 17 hearing will allow amendments to be made to the ordinance or residents to protest the adoption of the statute.

Ordinance Features
Main features of the ordinance:

1. For every 100 square feet of store space, 300 square feet of parking space must be provided.
2. Structures would be limited to one story in height.
3. No manufacturing, processing or fabricating would be allowed in the shopping center.
4. Only certain businesses would be allowed to operate in these districts. They would include: bakery goods store, barber or beauty shop, book or stationery store, confectionary, custom dressmaker, drug store, dry goods store, florist, grocery, hardware store, jeweler, meat market, photographer, office, tailor, shoe repairman, bank and laundry.

Other Action
In other action Tuesday night the council:

Approved Mayor LeRoy Mercer's reappointments of H. Garland Hershey, 329 Beldon ave., and Samuel Whiting, 199 E. College st., to five year terms on the planning and zoning commission.

Approved Mayor Mercer's reappointment of B. G. Gegenheimer, 701 Oakland ave., to the board of electrical examiners.

'Bosses' To Honor Secretaries Today

Iowa City secretaries and their "bosses" will attend a coffee hour today from 9:30 to 11 a.m. at the Hotel Jefferson in observance of National Secretaries' week, April 24-30.

Sponsored by the Robert Lucas chapter of the National Secretaries' association, the coffee hour is open to all Iowa City secretaries — whether or not they belong to the association — and "bosses," according to Eleanor Schlotter, secretary of the local group.

Union Staff Keeps Busy Making Guests Welcome

Making SUI students, faculty and staff members feel at home in the Iowa Memorial Union is a round-the-clock, seven-day-a-week job for Union hostesses, clerks and secretaries.

Hours on the information desk in the Union lobby and for the hostess staff are planned so that there is always someone on duty as long as the Union is open.

During office hours the secretaries to Dr. Earl E. Harper, Union director, and George F. Stevens, assistant director, also act as receptionists. They are Mrs. Richard Smith and Mrs. Harry Shifflett.

Full-Time Hostesses
The Union has three full-time hostesses. They represent the directors in meeting the public, overseeing housekeeping and supervising public events.

One of them is on duty each hour the Union is open.

The hostess staff is responsible for the operation of the music room, including the cataloging of over 1,500 records. A weekly radio program of classical music is broadcast from the music room over WSUI.

Order Music Selections
The hostesses assist in ordering selections for the music room and for the browsing library nearby. The music room requires an attendant during the hours it is open. The library does not. It is conducted on the honor-system.

Clerks at the information desk in the main lobby are the front-line receptionists. They help the "lost" student, direct visitors and answer questions.

Lloyse Fisher is supervisor of information desk. Mrs. H. M.

Actress Susan Hayward Fails in Suicide Attempt

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Red-haired movie star Susan Hayward attempted to commit suicide Tuesday and almost succeeded.

A recent tiff with her ex-husband over their twin sons apparently had a great deal to do with her despondency.

In a hysterical telephone call to her mother, the one-time Brooklyn schoolgirl told of her intent to end her life.

Seconds after receiving the early morning call, the mother excitedly called police and told them.

Detectives G. W. Wilkerson and Ken Brondell raced through the San Fernando Valley at 75 miles an hour to the actress' Sherman Oaks mansion.

The officers raced her to North Hollywood Receiving hospital, where a doctor used a stomach pump.

An ambulance then took her to Cedars of Lebanon hospital and admitted her under the name of Mary Brennan.

Three hours later, she awakened from the coma and her condition was pronounced satisfactory.

Younkers invites you to meet "Miss Hawaii of 1952"

Miss Beverly Riviera will be here Thursday, April 28. She will model the Kamehameha Hawaiian swim suits and casual fashions in our Sportswear Department all day. Commented showing at 2 and 4 p.m.

Only from Hawaii come cottons of this character... exotic multiple-tone colors... living, vibrant shadings in authentic designs inspired by island legends. New and unusual casual fashions to wear everywhere... on your summer vacation or in your own back yard. The name ka-may'-ha-may'-ha... King Kamehameha, who first consolidated all the Hawaiian Islands, is remembered in legend and song for his great courage, fairness, and justice. His name has been adopted by the makers of Miss Hawaii sportswear. Exclusively at Younkers in Iowa City.
