Big 4 Meeting Still In 'If' Stage: Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday the proposed at-the-summit Big Four meeting could clear the air somewhat and show whether the Russians sincerely want to ease tensions "around the world."

The President told a news conference, however, the whole thing still is in an exploratory and experimental stage.

He cautioned against a "stubborn" refusal to expect any good from the idea, but he added in tones that suggested little enthusiasm:

"There is no expectation on my part that in a few hours, a

NATO Asks End Of Hot, Cold Wars

PARIS (AP)—The 15 nations of the Atlantic Alliance called Wednesday for a truce in the Far East and a Big Four agreement on European problems to end the threat of World War III.

They solemnly warned that further fighting in Asia will "clearly endanger the peace of the world."

The dispute over Formosa obviously was uppermost in their minds, though that issue was not spelled out in their final statement.

The ministers, in their final communique, hailed the addition of West Germany's 50-million people to the Atlantic community and the formation of the seven-nation West European Union as steps which will promote peace.

A few days, a few weeks this world is going to be turned around — by no means. And I am not going, if I do go, under any such thought."

'If' Note

This "if" note cropped up several times as the President answered questions stemming from Tuesday's call by the Western powers for a meeting of Mr. Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Eden, French Premier Faure and Soviet Premier Bulganin in an effort to remove "sources of conflict."

The Soviets have not yet replied to the Anglo-American-French bid, which represented a change in American policy. Previously the President had opposed any early top level meeting—at least until after the four foreign ministers had laid the groundwork.

Three-Day Conference

Eisenhower said he thought a Big Four conference shouldn't take more than about three days. And he said he thought such a meeting "if held at all" should be held in "one of the so-called neutral countries."

Reports from Europe suggested Switzerland was a likely choice, probably in July.

The Big Four parley idea and the Salk vaccine situation dominated Eisenhower's meeting with newsmen.

Salk Vaccine

As for the vaccine, Eisenhower said medical authorities have been under "great pressure" to get it in use as soon as possible and that "probably they tried to short-cut a little bit" in testing it.

He had no criticism of federal health authorities, however, and in fact commended them for halting vaccinations pending a recheck. He voiced firm faith the vaccine ultimately will wipe out polio in this country.

Other Matters

On other matters the President:

1. Refused comment on a statement that the administration had given cruel treatment to Federal Trade Commissioner James M. Mead, who is being replaced when his term expires.

2. Said that the Pentagon might be right in stockpiling the 60-year supply of hamburger as an emergency reserve.

3. Laughingly said that he didn't know where Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.) got the idea that he would not run for re-election in 1956.

Bulganin Says Russia Wants End of Crisis

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Premier Nikolai Bulganin told leaders of Soviet bloc countries Wednesday that Moscow wants an end to the cold war, with a Big Four conference, German reunification and world disarmament.

But he made it clear Russia and its seven European allies, whose representatives are gathered here, will go through with plans to pool their armed forces under one command.

They will negotiate a treaty of mutual security and aid to off-set West Germany's admission to NATO.

At the same time Bulganin called for sweeping governmental controls over newspapers, radio and other mass communications media in all UN countries—West as well as East—to head off any "utterances urging war and fomenting hostility among nations."

Correspondents were not admitted to conference sessions. A Soviet spokesman told the newsmen what Bulganin said. His speech also was broadcast by Moscow radio.

Represented here by their premiers, foreign and defense ministers are Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Bulgaria, East Germany, Hungary and Albania. Peiping sent its defense minister as observer.

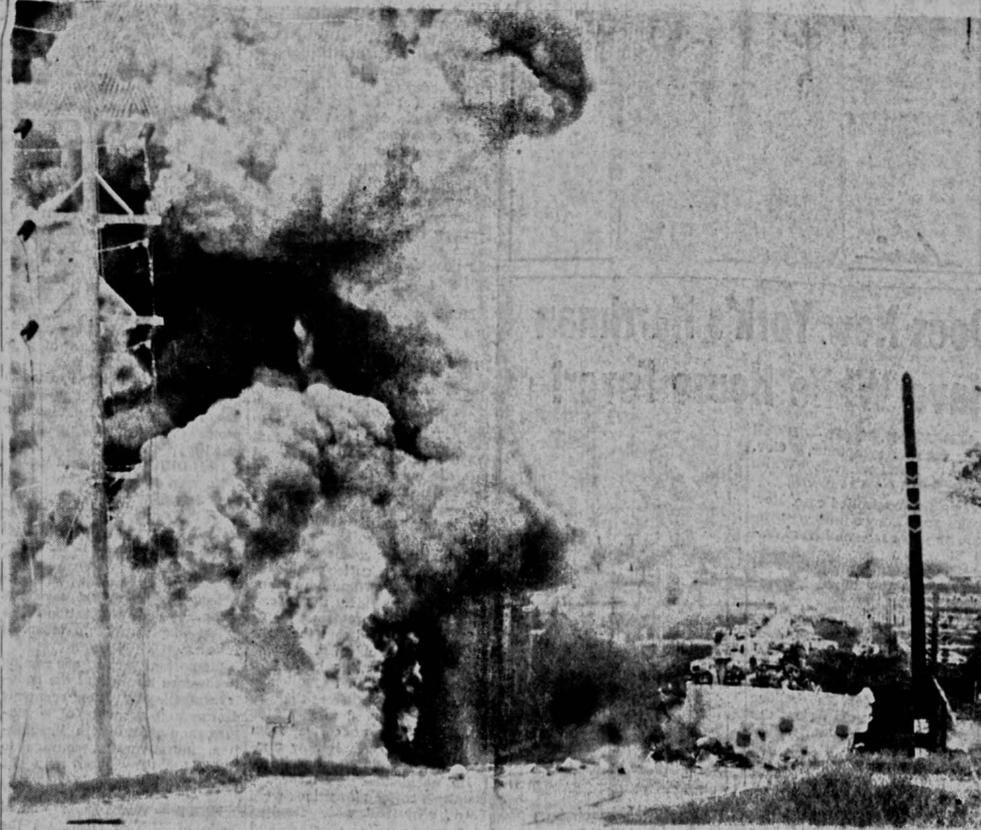

Bulganin said repeatedly that West Germany's emergence as a NATO power created a new situation, and that letting the Bonn regime rearm is a major obstacle to German reunification.

Declaring Russia is ready to support any acceptable proposal for this reunification, he suggested the occupying powers withdraw most of their troops from Germany, leaving only skeleton forces until that country is united and free.

Regarding a Western invitation to him to meet with President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Eden and French Premier Faure, Bulganin promised his government will study the proposal carefully.

Bulganin said radical measures are necessary to reduce international tension and that the first step should be an end to the cold war.

Then he declared all countries should impose tight surveillance over communications media to prevent any "pro-war propaganda."

LOOKING NORTH TOWARD Iowa City (Hills in background) the flaming wreckage of a gasoline trailer-truck is shown shortly after hitting broadside a car towing a trailer. Both the woman and a dog in the car were burned to death. The wreckage on the highway is that of the trailer which was dislodged from the car after the impact. Intense heat prevented firemen and workers from clearing debris. Traffic was blocked for about two hours. (Other picture: page 6)

Car, Gasoline Truck Crash South of City

A Florida woman was killed in the flaming wreckage of her car and a gasoline transport on highway 218 seven miles south of here Wednesday.

Mrs. Amanda Mayman, 43, of Miami, Fla., was burned to death by fire that started immediately after the crash about 12:15 p.m.

George M. Parris, 32, Ft. Madison, driver of the Eldon Miller, Inc., transport, escaped from the truck cab with minor burns. He was not hospitalized.

Treated for Shock

Mrs. Mayman's husband, Gilbert, was driving a truck ahead of the car-trailer unit. He was released from University hospitals late Wednesday night after treatment for shock.

Parris told highway patrolmen that Mrs. Mayman's northbound car veered in front of his transport an instant before the crash.

The transport hit the car broadside, rolling it into a ditch to the west side of the highway.

The transport rolled into the ditch near the car and caught on fire.

Narrow Escape

Parris' foot was caught in the cab after the crash, but Parris managed to free himself and escape.

Parris told highway patrolmen he saw Mrs. Mayman in her car just after the crash.

Her body, however, was found about 30 feet from the car and 10 feet from a small creek.

Fire Blocks Removal

Mrs. Mayman's only passenger, a dog, was also killed in the fire.

The trailer stayed on the highway. Intense fire and smoke prevented the removal of the trailer, which blocked traffic for about two hours.

The smoke was seen in Iowa City. About 200 people watched the fire.

Relatives of Mrs. Mayman will take the remains to Hannibal, Mo., today for funeral services.

Intense fire and smoke billow from the wreckage of the gasoline truck crash in which one woman was killed south of Iowa City Wednesday.

Democrats Ignored Rackets, Brownell Tells Iowa GOP's

DES MOINES (AP)—U.S. Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., contrasted Wednesday night the previous national administration's record of five racketeering indictments in eight years and the present administration's 56 in a little more than two years.

"Twenty years of virtual toleration by the federal government of violence and extortion in the relations between business and labor had brought its inevitable results," Brownell declared in an address.

He added, "The lack of law enforcement in this area was an open invitation to hoodlums and gangsters to infiltrate and to capture control of the business on the one hand or of the labor organization on the other, or both."

Extortion

"Whenever and wherever this happened it was accompanied by ruthless extortions from businesses and exploitation of the union rank and file for the personal enrichment of those in control," he said.

Brownell, in addressing the annual Iowa Republican $25-a-plate fund raising dinner meeting, especially mentioned four persons, describing them as racketeers.

Names Four

They are:
1. Evan Dale, convicted in East St. Louis, Ill., last December of "conspiring and attempting to commit the largest extortion on record."

2. Orell B. Soucie, who pleaded guilty in southern district of Illinois last March to a racketeering charge.

3. Paul Hulihan, St. Louis, convicted in 1954 of conspiring to obstruct interstate commerce by attempting extortion.

4. A man "named Callanan" of St. Louis, convicted last July on a charge of conspiracy and extortion from a contractor.

Weapons

He said "the principal weapons in the armory of the department of justice in combatting this kind of racketeering are the anti-racketeering law or Hobbs act, the labor-management relations or Taft-Hartley act, and the federal income tax law.

The previous administration obtained only six convictions in eight years, as against 39 by the present administration with 35 cases still pending, the attorney general said.

Johnson Gets State Tax Post

DES MOINES (AP)—Gov. Leo A. Hoegh Wednesday appointed Robert H. Johnson, SUI economic professor, to the Iowa Tax Study Committee.

The appointment of Johnson and three other men completed the personnel of the 12-man committee, which held its first meeting Wednesday.

The other members are: Sen. Henry Heideman (R-Rockwell City), Rep. Jay Colburn (R-Harlan) and Lewis Boudreaux, Cedar Rapids industrialist.

The committee, which was created by legislative action of the 1955 Iowa legislature, is to make a thorough study of the state's tax structure. After the study, it is scheduled to make a report and to draft tax legislation for the 1957 legislature.

The committee elected Sen. X. T. Prentiss (R-Mount Ayr) chairman Wednesday. Rep. Edward Oppedahl (R-Renwick) was chosen vice-chairman and Sen. Herman Knudson (R-Clear Lake) was named secretary.

The committee is now composed of 10 legislators, Johnson and Boudreaux.

FINALISTS CHOSEN

Three finalists in the Greek Week skit were chosen Wednesday night. They are: Alpha Chi Omega-Delta Tau Delta, Phi Epsilon Pi-Delta Gamma and Phi Kappa-Zeta Tau Alpha. The finals will be held at 10 p.m. Saturday in the south parking lot near SUI fieldhouse.

Russia Stalls On Austrian Independence

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Russia refused to budge Wednesday on the deadlocked issue of a reparations clause in the Austrian independence treaty. This clouded the prospects of formal signing of the pact here Sunday by the Big Four foreign ministers.

Ambassadors of the Soviet Union, Britain, France and the United States will meet again today, however, in the hope of reaching a last-minute settlement. They have been negotiating since May 2 to bring up to date the treaty draft worked out in 1949.

Moscow radio said Wednesday Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov will arrive Saturday for an unofficial talk with the Western Big Three foreign ministers and signing of the Austrian treaty on Sunday—"providing everything is ready by that time."

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Britain's Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Secretary Antoine Pinay are expected here Friday.

Plan Tests of Core Requisite Courses

Several SUI students will take tests this month to determine the value of core courses and their substitutes. Prof. Robert L. Ebel, examining service director, said Wednesday.

The test dates will be announced by instructors of the courses, Prof. Ebel said.

Students who are taking core courses or core course substitutes will take 90 minute tests in each area.

The core areas: literature, western civilization, physical science, biological science and social science.

The Ford Foundation granted SUI the money with which to finance the tests, Ebel said.

SUI students were permitted to enroll in either core courses or substitutes during the past academic year.

"We have few doubts about the effectiveness of the cores or their substitutes," Prof. Ebel said. "We are going this to assess their value."

Garner New Lions Club President

Burford W. Garner, superintendent of Iowa City schools, was elected president of the Iowa City Lions club at the club meeting Wednesday.

Also elected were Ray J. Phillips, first vice-president; Harold Roberts, second vice-president, and Alva Oathout, third vice-president.

Re-elections included those of Glen Eckard as secretary and Robert Munn as treasurer.

O. N. Riggs and Lawrence T. Wade were elected to the board of directors of the club.

The office of lion tamer went to Dr. G. F. Spielhagen; Ed Breese was named tail twister.

2 Iowa Men Hurt In Plane Crash

NORTHWOOD (AP)—Two Des Moines men were injured Wednesday afternoon in the crash of a private plane during takeoff from a farm 11 miles west of here.

Joseph Wright, 44, owner and pilot of the plane, was reported in critical condition at a Mason City hospital. William N. Uzum, 30, also was admitted to the hospital. His condition was not determined immediately.

During the takeoff the plane apparently failed to clear a grove of trees at the end of a field. A neighboring farmer reported the accident.

PROTEST ATTACK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Wednesday protested that an attack by Red Chinese jet planes on eight U.S. air force fighters off Korea was "unwarranted and illegal."

Set Exchange Of Russian, U.S. Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP)—With President Eisenhower's approval, a plan to swap farmers with Russia will go through.

Under the plan, a group of Americans would inspect Russian collective farms, and a Russian group would take a look at U.S. farming methods.

Eisenhower told his news conference he still favors the exchange, as he did early in March.

Decision Made

The President said he thought a decision already had been made.

A check at the State Department developed that all but the technical details had been settled.

The big hurdle—Russian objection to being fingerprinted for entry permits—was removed last week.

That was when Moscow radio reported the Russian delegation would have official status. As such, the delegates would not be required by U.S. immigration laws to be fingerprinted.

This provision applies only to unofficial visitors.

Will Pick Delegates

The State Department is expected to announce by week's end a detailed plan for picking a U.S. farm delegation. It is expected to number about 12, the same estimated for the Soviet group.

No information was available on when the Russians might arrive.

However, officials noted that the corn growing season gets going good about mid-June and the big harvests are in late August and early September.

The American delegation would go to Russia under present plans, only after the Russians' visit.

Khrushchev Backs Plan
Russia's Nikita Khrushchev, secretary general of the Communist party, started the farm visit idea going in earnest after it was suggested last March by the Des Moines Register.

With Khrushchev's backing the idea caught fire in the Soviet and American press.

STRIKERS BACK

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Striking Louisville & Nashville railroad workers returned to their jobs throughout the 14-state system Wednesday, ending a 58-day walkout. Passenger service was suspended along the 4,737-mile line during the strike. It will be resumed Monday. Freight service, curbed during one of the nation's longest railroad strikes, was moving again.

When You're Hunting Them You Can't Find Them

'Twas AN UNPLEASANT PHEASANT that tried to hitch-hike a ride to Iowa City Wednesday noon when Hal Schimmelpfennig, P.4, Sigourney, Schimmelpfennig was driving north on highway 218 when the bird flew across the road into the windshield of his 1950 auto. He reported that he received a minor cut on the right cheek.

Anyone for LACEDELMNP?—

We notice a few posters, evidently planted by a brave publicity man, in local business places proclaiming that this weekend is VEISHEA time at Iowa State college.

For ununiformed outlanders who might not already know, VEISHEA (V for veterinary medicine, E for engineering, IS for industrial science, HE for home economics and A for agriculture, the five divisions of the school) is in the words of its publicists "the largest student managed festival in the world."

Some idealists once started this event as a festival in honor of higher education. The principal attractions were educational open houses sponsored by the various divisions, departments and activity groups of the school.

But the three-ring circus type of promotion has long since outdistanced these events. Open houses are still staged, but few VEISHEA visitors know of them.

Parade, vaudeville acts, musical show, horse show and dances crowd their schedules a little too much.

The latest VEISHEA event is a wild west rodeo, a little difficult to figure as an educational affair.

Iowa State is on the quarter system instead of semesters. The school offers fall, winter and VEISHEA quarters.

Of course, the VEISHEA people will say we are just jealous of their frantic weekend.

After all, SUI students have nothing to do in the spring but get an education.

But in case anyone wants to get up a big celebration, we could call it LACEDELMNP—You know, LA for the college of liberal arts, C for the college of commerce, etc.

Interpreting the News—

Cold War Takes New Turn

BY J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst
World diplomatic developments have taken on a vastly changed aspect in the last 72 hours.

1. Russia has stated she wants to end the cold war. That must be taken with salt, Russia's concept of what the cold war is and how it can be ended is probably worlds from the western concept. Otherwise that would mean what the world has so devoutly hoped for — that something would happen to change Russia and that international communism as an entity would be dead. The day has not yet come.

Change of Tactics

What Premier Nikolai Bulganin really meant is that Russia wants to change tactics for awhile.

2. President Eisenhower and the North Atlantic council both have lumped Asiatic and European peace together for the first time. The action of the NATO council in issuing a statement about the Far Eastern situation was unusual, taking it far outside its normal field.

The President's statement suggested that the impending Big Four meeting, which suddenly took on a concrete aspect when he decided it was time for it, can become a world peace conference. He said he thought the top level meeting might last only a few days, but that the foreign ministers could thereafter work for months, if necessary on the issues which would be laid before them.

Old Capitol Remembers

One Year Ago Today

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said he favored a south-east Asian alliance which would authorize member countries to put down attacks by Communist forces in Indochina.

3. Fred Wentz, 81, Cedar Rapids, was reported by Cedar Rapids police to have admitted severely beating 4½-year-old Roger Allen White with an iron bar because the child tracked up a newly planted garden.

Five Years Ago Today

The senate killed two of President Truman's government reorganization plans. One item would have reshuffled authority in the national labor relations board; the other was for reorganization of the treasury department.

The SUI Student Council voted to support a resolution to abolish questions concerning race, color and religion from student admission application forms at SUI.

Ten Years Ago Today

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay were named to head the American part of a "stern" military government in Germany.

The Johnson county grand jury reported the jail at the Iowa City police station was not suited for housing prisoners and recommended that city authorities meet to discuss joint use of the county jail or the improvement of the city jail.

Twenty Years Ago Today

The newly created rural electrification administration was tentatively allotted $50 million by executive order of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Groups of midwestern and southern farmers moved toward Washington in cars, buses and trains to urge that the agricultural adjustment act be continued.

Eventual Meeting at the Summit

Does New York's Harriman Have White House Fever?

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — By all recognizable symptoms, Gov. Averell Harriman has White House fever.

It's a self-controlled case. New York's first Democratic governor in 12 years says he favors Adlai Stevenson for the party's presidential nomination next year — and few doubt his sincerity.

But political observers are convinced that Harriman is preparing to try to grab the nomination if Stevenson should count himself out or be counted out. The same observers believe that Harriman would accept the vice-presidential nomination, but only as Stevenson's running mate.

New York Governors

Albany political experts have seen White House fever develop in a number of New York governors, among them Alfred E. Smith, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Thomas E. Dewey.

Two of the most common symptoms are a keen interest — expressed publicly and often — in national and international affairs and an oblique demonstration of rugged good health. Harriman has marked himself with both.

Red China To U. N.?

There is a growing feeling that, before anything concrete can be approached regarding the Far East, the Peiping regime will have to be represented in some way in the United Nations. There is nothing to indicate this is even the beginning of the end of the East-West struggle.

Hopes for fundamental agreements should not be allowed to get too high. But there is no denying that a new chapter in the conflict is opening.

Man With A Background

He speaks with a background of experience in national and international affairs. He was ambassador to London and Moscow in World War II and took part in the Tehran and Yalta conferences. After the war he was secretary of commerce.

Some of Harriman's remarks have been critical of President Eisenhower.

In a recent speech in New York, for example, he said the Eisenhower administration's policy on the Formosa Strait disregarded "the sensibilities of either our Asian or our European friends and allies."

Knows Top Men

Although deeply immersed in the affairs of New York state, Harriman has found time to receive and talk things over with many nationally and internationally prominent figures. In the health department: On a cold, snowy day last month Harriman went to the Adirondacks for a few hours of skiing. State Commerce department photographers accompanied him and gave the press pictures of him skiing, although an aide denied that the expedition was planned to show that Harriman, at 63, was in excellent health.

Still another sign is Harriman's relations with the press. Before his election last fall, he was quite critical of newspapers. He since has cultivated news-men and enjoys friendly relations with state capital writers and their bosses.

Convention Lever

Harriman will go to the Democratic convention in Chicago next year with a lever that has often been used to pry open the door to nomination — New York state's 90-plus delegate votes. If he does not win the nomination he will at least be a "king-maker" by reason of the number of delegate votes he will control.

Averell Harriman
Favors Adlai, But —

He had the initial support of most of the New York delegation when he sought the presidential nomination in 1952. This strength evaporated when the trend toward Stevenson became unmistakable.

Odds-makers now would undoubtedly list Harriman as a long shot in the presidential sweepstakes. But that would not bother the tall, lean, wealthy son of the railroad empire builder E. H. Harriman.

Odds Improving

A year ago today you could have obtained long odds that Harriman would not be nominated for governor and elected.

Yet with Tammany Hall support, the dedicated New Dealer-Fair Dealer won the nomination from Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

Then he went on to upset U.S. Sen. Irving M. Ives, retiring Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's personal choice for the Republican nomination. True, Harriman was elected by only 11,000 votes, but they put him into office.

By nature Harriman is shy and aloof. Since becoming governor, however, he has overcome these political handicaps to a large extent. Moreover, he has greatly improved his public speaking ability, which was graded as poor no less than a year ago.

Muniz Says Brazil Will Be World Power

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the eighth of 12 interviews by Central Press correspondent Mark Leonard with foreign ambassadors to the United States.)

By MARK LEONARD
WASHINGTON—Brazil's ambassador to the United States predicts that within 20 to 25 years his country will have completed its economic expansion and development to make it one of the world's great powers.

Ambassador Joao Carlos Muniz pointed out in an interview that Brazil is already one of the world's largest countries, with an area exceeding that of the U.S., and said that at Brazil's present rate of development, it will "very definitely" emerge as a great power during the next quarter of a century.

He pointed out that his countrymen are tapping Brazil's vast underground wealth at an increasing rate and said that because of the progressiveness of the people, a new era of prosperity is in the making.

Atomic Power
Muniz predicted vast strides in the field of atomic power for peacetime uses and said that Brazil will probably have a sizable atomic power plant within six or seven years.

He pointed to the "great need" in Brazil for a source of cheap electrical power and said that when atomic energy is brought into use on a wide scale it will revolutionize the country.

The ambassador, whose country is the world's greatest coffee producer, also expressed belief that "at present prices to U.S. importers, coffee should be five cents a cup," and not a dime or more as it is widely the case.

Coffee Problem
Muniz conceded that the Brazilian coffee problem of reduced markets is "creating havoc" in his country. As an example, he pointed out that whereas the U.S. coffee market used to buy $100 million worth of coffee from Brazil each month it now purchases only $20 million worth.

He noted that last year his country's coffee plantations were hard hit by frost, which resulted in a severe coffee shortage and higher prices for the beverage in the U.S., but said that "now Brazil can supply all the market needs for coffee throughout the world."

He explained that while coffee is imported duty-free in this country, it is taxed heavily in Europe and consequently does not enjoy the popular favor experienced in the U.S.

Seeks Investors

He also said that he would like to see in every larger exporter to Brazil a prospective investor in the country as well.

He stressed that the main obstacle to Brazilian development have been overcome and that the republic has reached "an advanced state of industrialization."

Muniz stressed that Brazil's greatest need in its current phase of expansion is that of capital. He pointed out that nearly all investments in industrial expansion have come from domestic sources, whereas foreign capital has been of a modest amount in comparison.

He also pointed out that Brazil's fuel shortage is acute and said that it imports fuel oil at the rate of $300 million worth annually, and is one of the largest drains on the country's economy. However, he hopes that within a short time the country will tap new oil sources.

Joao Muniz
Coffee 5¢ a Cup

Inflation, Muniz asserted, is one result of Brazil's fast rate of development, despite all attempts to abate it. He said that the supply of capital for economic development constitutes "the first direct cause of inflationary pressure as well as of the critical position of the balance of payments."

He remarked that the crises in his country's balance of payments has often obscured from view the progress Brazil is making entirely with its own resources.

Difficulties Ahead

He said the expansion since 1940 has been very significant from the standpoint of the country's future, but added that great difficulties are still to be overcome.

In spite of the obstacles, Muniz said, his people are revealing a capacity for organization and a quick adaptability to technical training.

"Important groups are coming to the fore throughout the country, impelled by strong economic desires and a spirit of adventure, and gifted with imagination, initiative and courage to face whatever rigors may lie ahead," he concluded.

Hopes for 'Soft' Red Policy Die

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Delegates from Soviet Russia and its seven European satellites are currently meeting to set up a unified military command. This is the second of three articles by William J. Ryan on life in the Iron Curtain countries and the potential strength of those nations.)

By WILLIAM J. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

For almost a year there was a glimmer of hope in the little Moscovs of eastern Europe. Stalin was dead. Beria, his secret police boss, was dead, too. The apparatus of cold terror seemed to be breaking down.

A new Soviet premier, Georgi Malenkov, was seeking to buttress himself by promising the Soviet population shoes as well as guns, iceboxes and television as well as tanks and warplanes.

Leave Collectives

Whatever happens in the Soviet Union is reflected at once in the captive countries, and throughout satellite Europe the reversal was on. Farmers, under the much-advertised "new course," were freely leaving the hated collectives, a concession the governments hoped would spur their production. In the heavy industrial factories, there was an indication of lessening pressure on the workers.

The hope is fading today, and the little Malenkovs—any who remain—walk in dread. They seem to be on the short end of a struggle for power that is a reflection of what goes on in the Kremlin.

2 Camps

At the moment, Soviet communism seems split into two camps. On one side is the left—or Stalinist—wing representing a hard line. On the other is the so-called "new course" or right wing representing a softer line. At the moment, the hard-line revolutionary Communists of the left seem to be winning, but the issue is not finally decided.

For Western observers in Europe, the satellites represent a convenient mirror for what goes on inside the Soviet Union. The mirror seems to show:

- 1. The whole terror apparatus constructed over the postwar years of Stalinism in the satellites has been disrupted.

Political Indecision
2. Political indecision at high levels has been induced by uncertainty over the outcome in Moscow.

3. Agriculture, the cancer tumor of the Communist world, is in a state of near anarchy. The chaos was aggravated by the fact that under Maenkov, brief concessions were made to the farmers. The concessions cannot be yanked back too suddenly. But gradually and cautiously, the hard-line leadership is beginning to pull the reins.

The reconstruction of the terror system already has begun throughout the satellites. Today, highly nervous Communist leaders—Boleslaw Bierut of Poland, Rakosi, Vuklo Chervenkov of Bulgaria, Vilem Siroky of Czechoslovakia, Gheorghiu-Dej of Romania—nervously eye the news from Moscow. They have a big stake — perhaps their lives — in the outcome.

Too Early

It may still have been a bit too early for Rakosi to act in Hungary. The leaders of the other satellite countries were more cautious. Malenkov still had powerful support in Moscow. Before the group headed by the Soviet party boss, N. S. Krushchev, and the new premier, Marshal N. A. Bulganin, could be sure of victory, they would have to win over or relegate gradually to some sort of oblivion those in high places who still supported Malenkov. The latter, personifying for the population the dream of a flow of consumer goods, remained more generally popular than Krushchev.

When heads begin to roll again in the satellites, it will be a firm indication for the Western world of the outcome in Moscow.

The final article in this series will appear in Friday's Daily Iowan.

SUI Greek Week To Begin Today

Greek week activities will begin this evening with exchange dinners for the 19 social fraternities and 13 sororities. Dinners will be served at 5:45 p.m. Exchange dinners also will be held at 12:45 p.m. Sunday.

Highlighting the Greek week activities will be a dance on the tennis courts south of the field house from 8 p.m. until midnight Saturday.

To Present 3 Skits
Each sorority is working with a fraternity on a skit, three of which will be presented during the dance intermission. The best skit will be selected at this time and the winners will receive trophies at convocation Sunday afternoon. Tryouts for the three finalists are being held this week.

Each group attending the dance is asked to wear distinguishing gimmicks peculiar to its organization. It is a non-date affair. Fraternities which are working on skits with sororities may arrange to take the sorority members to the dance.

Other Activities
Other activities include a picnic Saturday noon and convocation Sunday afternoon.
The picnic will follow completion of work projects, and will be held at noon on the east football field of the City park. Each group will furnish its own food. Relay races will begin at 1 p.m.

Awards will be presented at the convocation at 2 p.m. Sunday in the main lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Advantages of Hiring Wedding Caterer

Once you decide to have a wedding reception — and most brides do — the next most important question is: to hire a caterer or do it yourself.
You should consider several factors before making a decision: how much money do you want to spend; how many people will be invited; where will reception be held; what time of day; do you want it to be formal or informal; how much time will you have to plan it.

out of fashion. silverware. Perhaps a hired maid If the reception is at home, will help out in the kitchen, and you probably will need extra one or two servants will aid in chairs, dishes, glassware and the serving.

First and foremost is the question of money. Estimate approximately the amount you want to spend—and keep in mind that where food and rental costs are involved even the most scrupulously prepared budget is bound to be expanded.

How To Cut Costs
If you want to keep costs down, you will perhaps limit the number of reception guests and hold the party at your own home. It is best to economize on the quantity of persons rather than on the quality of the reception. Try to picture your home as the setting — will there be enough room for all?

Another point to remember is that the time and type of the wedding dictate the time and type of reception—a breakfast, an afternoon stand-up buffet, or an evening dinner.

After you have thrashed out these details, stop to consider who would be doing most of the work. Do you feel that you and your mother can successfully handle the guests, food preparations and plans? Will you have enough time until the wedding day to work out the details carefully and as calmly as possible?

Figuring on a Caterer
The answer to these questions will determine if you are to enlist the help of a caterer. As far as costs are concerned, some hold that a caterer would be more expensive, since 15 per cent gratuities should be paid to him. But caterers contend they save money for the bride's family in the long run, because they know exactly how much food to buy and from whom to get it.

In addition to the plans for the food and liquid refreshments, do not forget the most important part of a reception—the wedding cake. At more elaborate affairs there also may be boxed bridegroom's cake given to the guests, but this is expensive and is rapidly going

Cubs' 10-8 Victory Breaks Brooklyn Streak

Bums Beaten After Eleven Straight Wins

CHICAGO (AP) — A grand slam homer by Ernie Banks and a three-run homer by Dee Fondy enabled the Chicago Cubs to shatter a Russ Meyer pitching jinx and an 11-game Brooklyn Dodger winning streak, 10-8 Wednesday.

Meyer, who lasted only the first inning, had won 17 straight of the Cubs.

It was Meyer's first loss to Chicago since July 16, 1950. For the high-flying Dodgers, it was their first defeat since a 10-inning, 11-0 reversal by the New York Giants April 24 and only their third setback in 25 games this season.

Meyer was followed by five Dodger pitchers, including Billy Loes who yielded a single to 40-year-old pinch hitter Walker Cooper in the seventh which provided the ninth and decisive Cub run.

The 10th Chicago run also came in the seventh on Peeewe Reese's throwing error on Banks' grounder which scored Ransom Jackson from second.

Rookie John Andre started for the Cubs, but left for Hal Jeffcoat in the fourth. Jeffcoat in turn needed help from Jim Davis in the seventh.

Davis was credited with the victory, his third against one defeat. He forced Jackie Robinson to hit into a game-ending double play after Dixie Howell had doubled and Gil Hodges singled with one out in the ninth.

Milwaukee Whips Bucs with Power

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves nipped a budding jinx Wednesday by trimming the Pittsburgh Pirates, 8-3, on the batting power of Ed Matthews and Joe Adcock.

Matthews slammed a three-run homer in the third and Adcock poked a two-run seventh inning double.

Chet Nichols, Milwaukee's only unbeaten starting hurler, gave up eight hits and started two double plays as he won his third game.

After three straight walks by Pittsburgh starter and loser Ron Kline in the second, Henry Aaron scored Milwaukee's first run on Danny O'Connell's high bouncer to short. It became 4-0 in the third when Matthews homered after singles by Billy Burton and Johnny Logan.

The Braves put over four more in the seventh at the expense of Elroy Face, third Pirate hurler.

A's Shantz Stops Orioles in Relief

BALTIMORE (AP) — Holding the Orioles to two singles over the last six innings in relief of starter Alex Kellner, Bobby Shantz picked up his second victory of the season as the Athletics blanked Baltimore, 2-0, Wednesday.

Kellner and Shantz together limited the Orioles to five singles.

Shantz came on in the fourth after Kellner developed a catch in his back.

The A's scored twice in the third inning on back-to-back singles by Gus Zernial and Jim Finigan. Zernial's brought in Joe DeMaestri and Finigan's single drove in Dick Kryhoski.

Turley Wild as Tribe Nudges New York, 4-3

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cleveland Indians cashed in on Bob Turley's wildness for a 4-3 victory over the Yankees Wednesday, scoring three runs in the fourth inning on two of their three hits of the game.

Turley yielded three hits and eight walks.

He gave a breath-stopping performance during the early part of the game, then he settled down and made it a real duel against Early Wynn. Wynn allowed the Yanks only five hits, including homers by Andy Carey and Mickey Mantle, as he won his third straight.

Turley's wildness manifested itself in the first inning when he walked the first three men he faced and fanned three in the same inning. After Ralph Kiner struck out, Al Smith scored on a wild pitch. Turley then got Dave Pope and Larry Doby on strikes.

The Yanks got that run back in the same inning.

In the fourth the Indians put together two hits with four more walks for three runs and that decided the ball game.

Giants Defeat Cincinnati, 6-3

CINCINNATI (AP) — The New York Giants' Jim Hearn posted his fifth triumph of 1953 Wednesday night, a 6-3 job at the expense of the Cincinnati Redlegs. Monte Irvin and Whitey Lockman homered to power the righthander to the victory.

Hearn, charged with one defeat, gave up eight hits, including Wally Post's ninth inning homer.

Both clubs went hitless for the first three frames. But with two out in the fourth, starter-loser Joe Nuxhall walked Irvin. Hank Thompson and Bobby Hofman hit back-to-back singles to score Irvin.

Ted Williams Reports Back To Boston After Divorce

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams, one of baseball's greatest hitters, ended his retirement Wednesday with a phone call to the Boston Red Sox that he would arrive Friday.

He called General Manager Joe Cronin from Miami where the final settlement of his divorce was recorded Wednesday morning.

Made Mind Up
"I'm not going to wait any longer," Ted told Cronin. "I've spent two days with my daughter. I'd made up my mind to play baseball again before the settlement was completed."

Although Williams never has explained his now discarded decision to quit baseball, friends said his marital difficulties were the principal reason.

Under terms of the decision handed down in the Miami court, Williams must pay his divorced wife $50,000 within two years, giving her at least $125 weekly.

He also must pay $100 monthly for support of their daughter, Barbara, 7.

Bosox Slumping
The arrival of the long ball hitting lefthander, with 366 home runs and a .348 lifetime batting average in over 12 years of major league play, comes at the right moment psychologically for the slumping Sox. Boston lost five straight and 11 of its last 12 games prior to Wednesday's game.

"I'm very pleased," echoed Manager Mike Higgins. "I'm anxious to see what condition he's in and how soon he can play."

As usual, contract terms were not announced by the Red Sox. However, Williams will not be getting a full year's salary because of reporting late.

Williams received an amount reported between $80,000 and $100,000 annually over the past several seasons.

Training Needed
"I've been fooling around with a heavy lead bat," Cronin quoted Williams as saying about his conditioning. However, Cronin cautioned that Ted wouldn't be able to get in the lineup right away.

Trainer Jack Fadden said all Ted needs is to callous his hands, sharpen up his reflexes and he'll be ready to play.

"That's no more than two weeks," Fadden said.

Satterfield Loses Split Decision.

CHICAGO (AP) — Archie McBride, 26, a "methodical" boxer from Trenton, N.J., thumped out a split 10-round decision over hard-swinging, but inaccurate Bob Satterfield of Chicago in a televised heavyweight bout at the Chicago stadium Wednesday night.

McBride received the votes of Referee Frank Sikora at 95 to 94 and Judge McManus at 96 to 94, while Judge John Bray voted for Satterfield, 95-90.

A 2 to 1 favorite, McBride simply out-stabbed Satterfield with a quick left jab most of the fight and weathered the storm when the Chicagoan exploded his best punches.

Ike Bernstein, Satterfield's 78-year-old manager, said his fighter broke his left hand in the second round.

From the training room right after the fight came a report that Satterfield's left hand had swollen to extreme size when his gloves were doffed.

Iowa Nine Plays Last Home Tilts

Iowa's baseball team will attempt to climb out of the Big Ten cellar in its last home games this weekend.

Friday the Hawkeyes (1-6) will meet Indiana (3-4) and Saturday they entertain Ohio State (4-2) in a doubleheader. Ohio State is in third place and the Hoosiers are tied for sixth.

Bill Schoof (2-3) will start for Iowa Friday, Coach Otto Vogel said. Ron Schaefer and Bill Dugan will pitch for the Hawks Saturday.

$40,000 Suit Filed Against Robinson

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A $40,000 damage suit has been filed in federal court against Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn Dodgers first baseman, and the Brooklyn ball club, by a Milwaukee husband and wife who claimed they were hit by a bat thrown by Robinson June 2, 1954.

The couple, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wolinski, charged they were both struck on the head when Robinson, returned to the bench after being evicted from the game at County stadium, tossed his bat over the top of the Brooklyn dugout and into the box seats.

The Wolinskis claimed both suffered brain concussions, severe headaches and cuts and bruises. Mrs. Wolinski said she was confined to bed for several weeks and Wolinski was unable to work.

Marks Fall as Iowa Track Team Beats Soldiers, 81-51

Iowa's track team defeated Ft. Leonard Wood, 81-51, here Wednesday despite three record-breaking performances by the soldiers.

Coach Ted Wheeler, former Hawkeye star, broke the mile record with a 4:13.3 timing and tied the 880-yard run mark of 1:54.3.

Broad jumper John Bennett of the army team shattered the old Iowa track record by 10 inches with a leap of 24 feet 8 3/4 inches. Teammate Willie Stevens shaved a tenth of a second off the old track record of 14.5.

However, Coach Francis Cretzmeier had more depth and balance. The Hawkeyes captured eight first places to Ft. Leonard Wood's six.

Wheeler cracked his own mile record that he set as a Hawkeye in 1953. The long-legged runner will enroll at Iowa next fall upon completion of his military duty.

Wheeler appeared to be running easily in both the half and the mile runs but he won them by only a few feet with his superior stretch kick.

In the mile Rich Ferguson of Iowa set the pace until the last 100 yards when Wheeler spurred ahead. Ferguson was also clocked in a time better than the old record. It was the first time this year that Ferguson has run under 4:15 in mile competition.

It was the same story in the half mile as Wheeler breasted the tape just ahead of Hawkeye Murray Keatinge. Wheeler ran the half mile for the United States in the Pan American Games this spring.

Iowa's Les Stevens won the high jump and the low hurdles but settled for second in the high hurdles to record-breaker Willie Stevens, an Illinois prep title holder before going into the service.

Larry Perry of Iowa upset Bennett in the 100-yard dash in 10.1. Perry also won the 220-yard dash.

Bosox Edge Chicago, 4-3

BOSTON (AP) — Billy Klaus' first major league home run, a two-run blast in the seventh inning, and some clutch relief work by Ellis Kinder in the ninth enabled Boston to snap a five-game losing streak with a 4-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox Wednesday.

Kinder came in for winning pitcher Frank Sullivan after a walk to pinch hitter Willard Marshall and a single by Chico Carrasquel.

Klaus, the team's shortstop after Milt Bolling and Eddie Joost were injured, followed a Sammy White single with his home run.

28 Students Get Keys and Medals—

Awards Presented at ROTC Review

Twenty-eight students in army ROTC were presented awards Wednesday at the first annual regimental parade of all units of the military department on the athletic field west of the armory.

Francis Dawson, dean of the college of engineering, presented the medals and keys to the engineering students. Dewey B. Stuit, dean of the college of liberal arts, made the presentations for the college of liberal arts.

Eight new awards of keys were included in the presentations. For commanding the army cadet regiment, a key was presented to Donald A. Westcott, E1, Omaha, Neb.

Donald C. Goetz, E4, Washington received two awards. He received a key for commanding the Pontoniers, military engineering fraternity, and the military scholastic medal.

A key was presented to Edwin D. Blinks, G, Marion for being top academic senior military student.

Keys were also presented to Regis A. Harrington, C4, Oelwein, regimental commander and James O. Hepner, A3, Cedar Rapids, company commander of Pershing Rifles, ROTC fraternity.

William L. Smart, A4, Fairfield received a key for performance on the military ball committee and John E. Westwick, E4, Springfield, Ill., a key for captain of the rifle team.

Recipient of the Johnson county reserve officer's association medal given to the outstanding army basic cadet was James M. Smith, E2, Des Moines.

John R. Wolford, A1, Newhall, received the army minute man medal given annually by the National Society of Sons of the American Revolution. This was donated by Col. J. B. Ladd, U.S. army reserve.

The following men were awarded military scholastic medals: Robert A. Krane, C4, Fairfield; James E. Houser, C3, Des Moines; Richard L. Dunlavy, E3, Salem; Thomas E. Davis, A2, Cedar Rapids; Richard E. Deasy, E1, Chicago, Ill.; Lawrence G. Focht, E2, Atlantic.

Bernard E. Hoenk, A2, Algona; Sidney C. Jones, A3, Atlantic; Lawrence L. Marshall, A2, Coalfax; James A. Percival, A3, Marshalltown; Frank O. Sebott, A2, Davenport; Robert G. Snopce, A2, Preston.

Bob Bateson, A2, Eldora, has been elected president of the 1955 Union board.

Other officers elected at an organizational meeting include John Elman, A2, Des Moines, vice-president; Ann Watkins, A2, Waterloo, secretary, and Charles Franson, C3, Story City, treasurer.

Finders Weepers; Losers Keepers

CHICAGO (AP)—The wealth of Michael Rice, 3, grew and shrank rapidly Wednesday.

Waiting outside a south side building while his father transacted business inside, Michael found a wallet containing $400. A few inquiries turned up the owner in a nearby store. The happy owner gave Michael a reward of 50 cents.

Mutual Problems In Natural Science, Radiation: Brues

Radiation research is one of the new fields at the crossroads of the natural sciences, a group of SUI scientists were told Wednesday evening.

Dr. Austin M. Brues, director of the division of biological and medical research at the Argonne National laboratory in Lemont, Ill., said the field is one in which physicists, chemists, biologists and physicians help each other with their mutual problems.

It is a field, he said, in which "the unfortunate tendency toward overspecialization reverses itself and, in fact, where the specialist finds he must broaden himself more and more to become a specialist."

Brues spoke before the annual meeting of the Iowa chapter of Sigma Xi, professional honorary science society. The meeting included special ceremonies during which 147 new members were initiated.

"Radiation research is also a field in which basic research and practical necessities run hand in hand," the scientist said. "Doctors have long been accustomed to considering both areas in their research work, but the two have drifted apart in some of the more fundamental branches of science," he continued.

"The necessary broadening of the specialist's outlook that is a consequence of the development of these inter-disciplinary, basic but practical, fields, is a very healthy aspect of modern science."

Following the ceremonies, a tea was held in honor of Louis Gallien, visiting professor of zoology from the University of Paris.

40 ATTEND LAW PARTY

Forty members of the senior class and faculty of the SUI college of law attended the annual Senior Law party Wednesday night at the Ox Yoke Inn in High Amana. Dean Mason Ladd was the featured speaker. Don Steele, L3, Sioux City, served as master of ceremonies.

Commerce Commission Sets Hearings on City Viaducts

Iowa state commerce commission hearings on two new viaducts in Iowa City have been set for June 8 at the Johnson county courthouse here.

The viaducts are the spans over the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway Co. right-of-way on south Dodge street and the Woolf avenue span over the Cedar Rapids and Iowa City Railway company tracks.

Iowa City asked the commerce commission hearing after it failed to reach agreement with the railroads concerned on the bridges.

The city contends that the present viaducts are inadequate and unsafe for modern traffic conditions.

The railroads argue that the bridges are adequate if some repair work is undertaken.

Ordinances have been passed by the city council providing for the new viaducts.

Steel and concrete spans are proposed by the city at both locations. Cost of the Dodge street viaduct is estimated at $120,000 and of the Woolf avenue viaduct at $67,500.

It has been estimated that the city's share of the Woolf avenue project would be from $25,000 to $28,000 with balance to be borne by the state highway commission and the Crandic.

The Rock Island's share of the Dodge street span has been estimated at $55,000 with the remainder to be paid by the city.

Group To Discuss Bricker Proposal

The Bricker amendment will be discussed at a public meeting sponsored by United World Federalists of Johnson county to be held at 8 p.m., May 17 in the Shambaugh lecture room.

State Senator D. C. Nolan of Iowa City will speak in support of the amendment and District Judge B. C. Wood of Waterloo will oppose it, Harold Burnham, G, Iowa City, student representative of the United World Federalists, said Tuesday.

Several Leaders Expect Veto—

Congress Sends Postal Pay Raise to Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress Wednesday sent to President Eisenhower a bill raising the pay of 500,000 postal workers by an average of 8.8 per cent. There are indications he may veto it.

Senate approval completed congressional action on the measure, a compromise of differing bills passed by the senate and house earlier.

The senate vote was 63-11.

The house passed the bill Monday, 328-66.

Will Study Measure Mr. Eisenhower said at a news conference last week that he would study the postal pay measure carefully when it comes to his desk.

Nevertheless, Republican congressional leaders have said they understood the White House never would go above a 7.6 per cent pay hike. Postmaster General Summerfield has said he would urge the President to veto the 8.8 per cent bill.

Previously the senate passed a 10 per cent bill and the house an 8.3 per cent measure.

7 Per Cent Average The compromise would give each postal worker at least a 7 per cent raise. Some would get much more through reclassification to higher pay brackets. The last postal pay raise was in 1951. Last year Mr. Eisenhower declined to sign a bill varying a 5 per cent increase for both the postal and classified workers.

He withheld his approval on the grounds the bill included no postal reclassification and also no boost in postal rates to provide new revenue for the increased salaries.

The post office department had a $400 million deficit in the most recent full fiscal year.

Time To Sign Up for 1956 Hawkeye Staff

(Daily Iowan Photo)

WRITING APPLICATIONS FOR STAFF POSITIONS on the 1956 Hawkeye are Phyllis Fleming, A3, Garner, and John Randall, A2, Cedar Rapids. Applications for the editorial, photographic, art, business, office and promotion staffs are available in the journalism office, room 205, Communications Center, and at the publications office in Close hall. Barbara Work, A3, Homewood, Ill., 1956 Hawkeye editor, explains the application to Jim Witt, A2, Waterloo, while Joy Hankins, A4, Mt. Pleasant assists Miss Fleming. Miss Work said that 46 applications were received at an open house Tuesday night at the Hawkeye office. The staff will be announced by the end of May.

Homecoming Plans Begin

All SUI housing units and student organizations planning to enter floats in the 1955 Homecoming parade were urged Wednesday by the Homecoming parade committee to select float chairmen immediately.

"The reason we are requesting this," said John Reid, field secretary of the SUI Alumni association and member of the committee, "is due to the early Homecoming date (Oct. 14) next fall."

Reid said that a letter will be sent to a representative of each housing unit and student organization requesting selection of a float chairman.

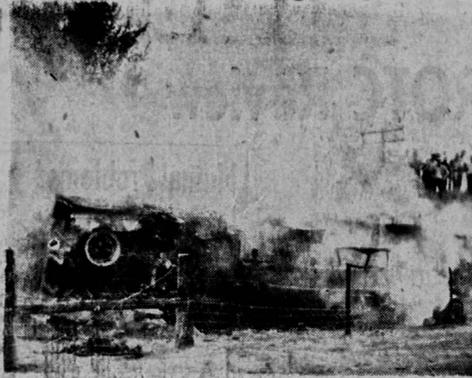

A return postcard and float entry blank will be included with the letter. The returned postcard should contain the name and summer address of the newly appointed float chairman.

Reid asked any organizations that were overlooked to contact him at the alumni office.

Three of the seven members of the parade committee are SUI students. They are Joyce Wardecker, A2, Lombard, Ill., James Cooney, A4, Houston, Tex., and Tom Offenburger, A3, Shenandoah.

Cooney and Miss Wardecker were recommended by the Student Council and formally appointed by President Virgil M. Hancher. Offenburger represents the Interfraternity council.

SUI To Invite Big Ten In '56 Queen Contest

The SUI Student Council Wednesday night voted to extend an invitation to the other Big Ten conference schools to hold the annual Big Ten Queen contest on the SUI campus in May, 1956.

The council would be co-hosts for the event with the university's Central Party committee.

Plans call for each school in the Big Ten to nominate a candidate for the queen. The coronation of the winner would be included as an event of the spring formal dance at SUI. This year's contest was held at Michigan State college.

Council President Mark Putney announced that university officials had placed orders for street lights to be erected in the main library parking lot. Putney said that the lights were being installed in response to complaints by students.

Putney told the council that the new quarters being readied in Unit III of the Memorial Union would be ready for occupancy by the organization in the fall.

He also said that Dr. Earl Harper, director of the Union, had promised that if current patronage at the newly opened Gold Feather room continues, the cafeteria would be opened earlier during the 1955-56 school year. The Gold Feather room now opens at 11:30 a.m. Putney said that many students had asked that the cafeteria be open earlier.

Propose Changes Affecting Teachers

DES MOINES (AP) — About 200 representatives of Iowa colleges and universities attended a discussion at the statehouse Tuesday of proposed changes in teacher education and certification regulations.

Decision on adopting the proposals will be up to the state board of public instruction.

Also attending were representatives of teacher training colleges from neighboring states.

Present Varied — SUI Band Concert

Lively Program

The third concert of the SUI Symphony Band on Wednesday night was quite varied in nature. In one evening there was the regular concert, including a trombone solo by Dennis Wilson, A1, Jefferson, a performance by the SUI Chamber Singers, and works from such different musical genres as Wagner and Romberg.

The first work on the program, Wagner's overture to "Die Meistersinger," was roughly done, though the band did catch some of the power in the piece. The most outstanding performance of the first half of the concert was the suite "Francaise" by Milhaud. The piece seemed better suited to the capabilities of the band than the other works played prior to it.

During the second part of the concert, the band seemed more spirited.

John B. Whitlock, the associate conductor of the band, conducted "Joyous Interlude" by Lee, and the piece fairly well lived up to its title.

Frederick C. Ebbs, who conducted the rest of the program, then led the band in a lively South American beat number, "Spaxico," by Fred.

This was followed by the SUI Chamber Singers, a mixed group of about 30 voices, led by Stephen Hobson. They sang a number of selections by Sigmund Romberg, in a piece entitled "Tribute to Romberg."

The last regular work of the concert was the traditional "Stars and Stripes Forever" by Sousa. This featured a bright piccolo solo, and a formation by some members of the band in front of the audience.

The Sousa march was spiritedly played and was well received by the audience. In response to the applause, there was one encore entitled "The Blue Jacket March."

This concert, although not as good as the other band concerts, was nevertheless enjoyable. What it lacked most of all seemed to be polish, and precision.

THIS IS ... SQUADRON LEADER FORRESTER ...

One minute ago... he almost died in it. Forrester had tasted glory in the Burma sky... now he was tasting its burning and scorching jungle. They had said he was "round the bend," crazy, taking wild chances no man would ever dare. Some said that he wanted to die... but instead he won medals... that he was a man possessed by a desperate passion. No one knew the real passion in Forrester's heart... the urge that drove him to hurl his challenge into the teeth of the jagged Burma mountains... a passion that finally loosed itself in the embrace of an exotic Burmese beauty. Now Squadron Leader Forrester was caught in the tightest spot of his reckless life... and now he wanted to live!
