Roan Asks Strong Drive For City Hall

City Manager Peter F. Roan said Thursday night that an organization is needed to lead the campaign for a new city hall.

"If there had been an organized effort last summer, it (the $300,000 bond issue) would have carried easily," Roan said.

The city hall proposal was defeated last summer, it (the 52 per cent of the Iowa City voters approved it). A 60 per cent approval was needed.

Association Meeting

Roan spoke at a meeting of the Council-Manager association in the dining room of the Hotel Jefferson. The group promotes city manager government in Iowa City and nominates candidates for the city council.

"The city council does not have the money to carry on the type of campaign needed," Roan said.

Roan said that a proposed city hall-recreation building would cost between $600,000 and $700,000. The city's Community center, which housed recreational facilities, was destroyed by fire January 28.

Roan said that he did not think either of the proposed sites for the building would be adequate.

"I would say that both were of inadequate size for a one-story building and parking," Roan said.

Site Committee

"The council would like to appoint a site committee to decide where the building should be before we go ahead with plans."

The sites being considered are the Musser parking lot and the site of the destroyed Community center. Both are on Gilbert street.

Roan said the city council has made a rough survey of the space needed for a new city hall; which would house the city government, police, fire department and recreational facilities.

Building Inadequate

City officials have termed the present city hall building inadequate. It was built in 1881.

Roan spoke and answered questions on several other Iowa City problems. They were:

Taxes: — Roan said that city taxes for the individual home owner have not been raised since the city manager system was inaugurated in 1951. He claimed that increasing county and school district taxes have placed the extra burdens on city taxpayers.

Parking Lot: — Roan called the Clinton street parking lot the city purchased for $45,000 "a good investment."

"It will pay for itself in nine years," Roan said. "I wish we had 10 more like it."

Iowa-Madison intersection: — A system of four-light signals will be installed this summer at the Iowa avenue-Madison street intersection. He said the intersection would be widened. The project will start within 60 days.

Traffic Signals: — The city council is considering four-light signals that would give pedestrians a crossing time in which all cars would be halted, Roan said. The system would cost about $3,000 per intersection.

City councilman Robert Stevenson, an early supporter of city manager government, said the system had lived up to its expectations.

Eleven new members were elected to the board of representatives, which conducts the association's business.

Elected: — W. J. Jackson, Mrs. Alyn Lemme, Thomas Farrell Jr., Sidney Winter, Charles Barker, Mrs. Frank Fischer, Alfred Henriksen, Mrs. Robert Turnbull, Mrs. Donald Guthrie, Mrs. Walter Dewey and Mrs. W. R. Wicks.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The house Thursday night passed a $31,488,206,000 military appropriation bill after upholding President Eisenhower's plans to reduce armed service strength.

The roll call vote was 382-0.

As the measure went to the senate it provided for a cut of 107,300 in the army, navy and marine corps during the 12 months starting July 1. The air force would be increased by 5,000, from 970,000 to 975,000, during the same period, leaving the over-all reduction at 102,300.

Total Amount

With money left over from previous appropriations, the new bill would give the defense department $43,081,000,000 for the coming fiscal year.

Amendments designed to prevent the manpower cuts were shouted down in a rapid series of voice votes.

President Eisenhower's military program calls for a total armed force of 2,859,000 by June 30, 1956, compared with 2,961,300 this June 30.

The army would take the brunt of this cut — 87,000 men.

The amendments offered would have kept the army at its projected June 30, 1955, level of 1,114,000, the navy at 672,000 and the marines at 215,000.

The Senate's plan calls for an army of 1,027,000, a navy of 664,000 and a marine corps of 193,000 at the end of the new fiscal year.

In all, the defeated amendments would have added $413,793,500 to the bill.

Allotments

The measure makes these allotments:

Army: $7,329,818,000, about $290,000,000 less than was provided this year.

Navy: $9,071,834,000, about $640,000,000 less than this year.

Variation on an Old Theme—

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Ia.) offered a new variation on an old theme last week, when he reportedly proposed a compromise for the controversial Bricker amendment.

The proposal was reported to have a good chance of being accepted by the Eisenhower administration and Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio). It would do two things:

1. It would leave the President's treaty-making powers alone and thus avoid the charge that the President's hands were being tied in this field.

2. It would require the President to obtain a treaty, or at least follow treaty procedure, in all cases where an executive agreement would affect the internal laws of any of the 48 states.

Hickenlooper has voted for the Bricker amendment in the past. However, he has said that he does not approve the provision in the amendment that would restrict the President's treaty-making power.

His concern over the power of the President to make executive agreements is shared by many people. Executive agreements may alter the internal law of a state, and have the full force of a treaty, but do not require the two-thirds senate vote required on treaties.

This has proved an attractive argument to win backers for the Bricker amendment. The argument would be a sound one were it not that there is already power in the hands of congress to handle abuse of this presidential privilege.

Prof. Kirk H. Porter, head of the SUI political science department, pinpointed the problem in an article for the Des Moines Register last fall. He wrote:

"The President makes a great many agreements with representatives of foreign countries relative to the details of administering commercial treaties, coastal and port regulations, and the treatment of aliens. They are applied as law in the United States. Thus the President does indeed have power to make law on his own responsibility and enforce it."

"Is that a terrifying thought? Add this: Congress has full, complete, unquestioned power to over-ride and nullify any single one of these 'laws' by a simple majority vote, at any time, and the President's executive agreement falls flat."

"Practical circumstances, moral obligations and face-saving may make it exceedingly awkward for congress thus to repudiate the President. But let there be no doubt about the constitutional aspects of the case."

Porter concludes that there is no need to amend the Constitution in order to deal with the executive agreements as domestic law. If abuses do exist, congress has abundant power to deal with them.

Porter recognizes that it may be awkward for congress to act against a president. Reviewing the records of congresses of recent years, it seems unlikely that a congress would come along that would be timid about taking a stand against the President.

Moreover, would it be any more embarrassing for congress to exercise its control over executive agreements, than for the President to enter into negotiations with foreign powers with the codes of 48 states under his arm?

Unfortunately, Hickenlooper's compromise resembles Bricker's proposed amendment in two ways. Both are efforts to amend the Constitution needlessly. In both cases the cure these men are offering is more dangerous than the alleged disease.

How About the Editors?—

We applaud the action of the State department in its decision Wednesday to regard the proposed delegation of Russian farmers as an "official" group, thereby removing the necessity of fingerprinting to which the Russians objected.

In the United States, fingerprinting is not regarded as much more than incidental in our way of life. In Russia, it is regarded as a weapon of the secret police which is reserved for political deviationists and criminals. The State department was wise not to let such a minor point disrupt the visit.

Since the group will travel as a closely knit delegation and under the guidance of our officials, fingerprinting as a way of keeping track of the members is not necessary.

This visit may well benefit us. And perhaps the stories of these Russian delegates on their return home may dispel some of the rumors and cause some grass-roots questioning of the Red line among the farmers of Russia.

Now that the State department has established this precedent with the farm group, we would suggest that it extend the same policy to the delegation of student editors who have also objected to the fingerprinting requirement.

Perhaps the exchange of such groups will have no great influence on Soviet-American relations. But a better understanding between the peoples of the two countries must surely be a start — however small — toward the end of cold war conditions.

U.S., Mexico Solving Wetback Problem: Tello

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the ninth of 12 interviews by Central Press correspondent Mark Leonard with foreign ambassadors to the United States.

By MARK LEONARD

WASHINGTON — Mexico's ambassador to the United States, Manuel Tello, says that "to imagine that" the Wetback problem "can cease completely from one day to the next is to ignore reality."

The envoy from "South of the Border" emphasized that the "border between Mexico and the United States is extremely long and, consequently, very difficult to control completely."

(Immigration Commissioner Joseph M. Swig said recently that the "Wetback invasion" across the Mexican border has been stemmed for the first time since before World War II. He said that the number of Wetbacks apprehended had been cut from 3,000 to 300 a day. The term "Wetbacks" refers to Mexican farm laborers who swim across the Rio Grande river to get into the United States.)

683,377 in 1954

Tello, noting that "the vigilance of the border patrol is more active than ever before," said that as late as 1954 there were 683,377 known illegal entrants from his country.

"Time must pass," he added, "before we stop seeing persons on both sides of the border interested in evading the vigilance of the authorities."

NEXT — Ambassador Arnold Heeneen of Canada stresses better understanding between U.S. and his country.

of 1954 amounted to more than $1 million a day, the reserves of the Bank of Mexico diminished to the point that the government of Mexico, after consulting with the International Monetary Fund, was obliged to fix a new exchange between the peso and the dollar.

"The new peso-dollar exchange rate, as all measures of this nature, must have economic repercussions. The latest statistics, however, reveal that the situation has improved," Tello said.

"In his message to congress on Sept. 1, 1954, the president (Ruiz Cortines) reiterated the firm decision of the government of Mexico to maintain the actual exchange and the absolute convertibility of the peso."

Better Trade Balance

"Since then, the balance of trade has improved and Mexico's monetary reserves have already reached the amount foreseen by Mexican authorities."

"From May to October, 1954, imports were only $388 million, while during the same period of 1953 they were $429 million. Exports during the same period went from $214 million in 1953 to $227 million in 1954."

"Tourist trade has also improved and the cost of living has not increased in the proportion feared by some."

"In short, I believe that the devaluation of the peso will place Mexico's trade and her national finances on a more solid, and consequently, more stable basis."

The party above all, in all things.

That, in substance, is the current Communist party line for the satellite states of Europe, as directed by Moscow.

It means the "new course" sponsored by the deposed Soviet Premier Georgi M. Malenkov not only has ground to hold but is being steadily reversed to fit the old Stalinist way of life.

All leaders and assistants are required to attend the training school. Excused absences must be obtained by contacting Jane Hoopes, 2186, before Monday.

UWA Plans Veterans' Party

Patients at the Veterans hospital will be entertained by members of the University Women's association service committee at an all-hospital party Sunday at 6:45 p.m., chairman Barbara Behrens, A4, Oelwein, has announced.

A variety show consisting of individual and group acts from Currier hall and 13 social sororities will be presented in the third floor, Veterans hospital.

A carnival theme will be carried out by the refreshments, purchased by the American Red Cross, and by the decorations. Individual invitations in the form of clowns were made by UWA and were passed out to the veterans individually Thursday.

The carnival atmosphere will prevail in the games to be played in the recreation lounge after the variety show. Booths of ring toss, scrabble, cards, and magnetic dart baseball will be set up and prizes will be awarded.

Cubs' Jones Flips No-Hitter Against Pirates

Fans 3 in 9th After Loading Bags on Walks

CHICAGO (AP) — Sam (Toothpick) Jones, towering Chicago Cub righthander, hurled a no-hitter against the Pittsburgh Pirates Thursday, striking out the Pirate side in the ninth inning after walking the bases full.

The Cubs won, 4-0.

Jones faced 31 batters, walking 7, as he fashioned the first no-hitter at Wrigley Field in 38 years. He struck out six.

In pitching the season's first no-hitter, Jones also became the first Negro to hurl one in the majors.

Standing before television cameras immediately after the game, Jones said:

"I was just out there throwing fast balls and curves. Clyde

McCullough, catcher, deserves all the credit. He knows all the batters and kept telling me how to pitch to them. I just threw what he told me."

McCullough, a good hander of pitchers, who returned to the Cubs after a stint with the Pirates two years ago, said:

"No, I can't take the credit. Sam was just superlative on the mound. And I don't think that he is wild, although Sam himself thinks he is. It certainly was a great thrill for both of us."

The fast-ball Negro, former Cleveland chisel, gave the crowd of 2,918 a thrill when — after walking the first three

Pirates in the ninth — he struck out Dick Groat on three pitches, flamed Roberto Clemente on a

0-2 and whiffed Frank Thomas on a called third strike with a 1-2 count.

Jones, 29, 6-feet-4, 200-pounder, had left one Pirate stranded before the ninth-inning. That occurred in the third inning when Toby Atwell walked.

Chances appeared slim that

Jones would get away scoreless

when he seemed to lose his control in the ninth, walking Ed

Freese, pinch hitter Preston

Ward and Tom Saffell.

Manager Stan Hack and the Cub infield clustered about Jones

after the bases were loaded.

Big Sam, who munches toothpicks while he pitches, began pouring in strikes when Groat stepped up.

Not since the famous double no-hitter between Fred Toney of Cincinnati and Jim Vaughn of the Cubs May 2, 1917, had a National League no-hitter been pitched in Chicago.

That game, played at Weegh-man Field, the Cubs' former playing site, went 10 innings with the Reds winning 1-0 on two hits in the 10th.

Jones threw 136 pitches, but his wildness was offset by some brilliant Cub plays, including two twin killings.

In the Cub dressing room,

Jones said "I didn't know it was a no-hitter until the game was over." The rangy native of Mon-ongah, W. Va., said that his curve ball at the end of the game started to "come around."

After Jones had walked the first three in the ninth, he was unaware that he would be taken out had he walked another man.

Manager Stan Hack said "certainly, I would have yanked him had he walked one more man."

It was the season's fourth triumph against three defeats for

Jones, who last season won 15 and lost 8 for Indianapolis in the American association, and was second high in the league in strikeouts with 178.

in 1949.

Jones never had pitched a professional no-hitter, but had three

in 1949.

Jones said he chewed only one toothpick Thursday and it was a tiny splinter at the end of the game.

The unnoticed loser was Pittsburgh starter Nelson King, who left for a pinch hitter in the second, trailing 2-0. The Cubs raked

15 hits off King and reliever

Vern Law, who yielded a home to rookie Ted Tappé in the seventh.

Says Cockell Must Improve When He Fights Marciano

By JACK HAND

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — If Don Cockell doesn't show more against Rocky Marciano than he does in the gym, the little fat man will be just another horizontal British heavyweight Monday night at Kegar Stadium.

"He's a horrible gym fighter," you are warned before he climbs through the ropes at his training camp in suburban San Rafael. After it's over, you are advised to pay no attention to what you saw.

Jack Solomons, the British promoter, shrugs off Cockell's workouts.

"In London, I can't even get the boxing writers to bother to look at him in training," he said.

New Bonus Rule Asked By Dressen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chuck Dressen complaining that some fine baseball potential is being wasted by lack of experience, came up Thursday with an idea for changing the bonus rule.

Under Dressen's plan, a team could send a bonus player to the minors for training but would be required to carry him on its player roster, which is limited to 25.

"Let's change the rule so we can send those kids down to the minors for seasoning," the Washington Senators' manager said. "It hurts baseball when these kids have to learn the game sitting on the bench of a big league team."

Dressen had taken a good look Wednesday at what the rule can do to bonus player Harmon Killebrew, for whom the Senators reportedly paid $30,000.

The 18-year-old Idaho youth's errors at third base, which Dressen attributed to inexperience, were costly to Washington against the Detroit Tigers. The Tigers won, 7-0. Killebrew subbed for ailing Ed Yost.

The present bonus rule requires that any player signed for a big cash bonus must remain with his major league club for two seasons.

Production Engine Auto May Qualify In 500-Mile Race

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — National AAA driving champion Jimmy Bryan, who drove a Dodge-powered race car around the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Thursday at 133.3 miles an hour, indicating a production engine may make the 500-mile race lineup for the first time in eight years.

The car was the same Dean Van Lines special the Phoenix pilot drove to second place in the 1954 race, when it had an Offenhauser engine.

"They say he never shows them anything. He just practices his moves but never executes them."

Dislikes Public Workouts

The challenger's manager, John Simpson, hastens to explain that Don dislikes public workouts, feels it's "a bit rotten" to show up his sparring partners.

American observers who never have seen Cockell fight must draw their conclusions from what they see. To put it mildly, there has been no rush to climb on the invader's band wagon.

Obviously ill at ease in a head guard, Cockell has a disturbing habit of walking in with his head in the air. Harry Mathews found out what happened when he made the same mistake against Marciano.

Cockell holds his left hand low, inviting the right hand bombs that the heavyweight champion throws. He shows little ability at fighting on the inside and tying up his man. A left jab is Don's best weapon and he has a tendency to counterpunch to the body after he has drawn a lead.

On the credit side, Cockell appears to be a strong young fellow with quick arms and fair speed for a man of his roly poly build. The strength of his chin must remain a doubtful factor until Rocky tees off on it.

If Cockell's jab can cut Marciano's nose or open a gash around one of his eyes in an early round he might turn out to be the man England has been waiting for since the days of Bob Fitzsimmons. But that's a big "if."

Rocky hits too hard and Cockell is too easy to hit. It should be all over inside of seven rounds.

Three Young Golfers Lead in Tournament At Sulphur Springs

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — Three of golf's youngsters, Mike Souchak, Dow Finsterwald and Peter Thomson, each knocked six strokes off par 70 Thursday to get a first-round jump on the field of 48 in the White Sulphur Springs Open.

The under-30-year-old trio took a one-stroke lead over two of the game's oldest active players, 44-year-old Johnny Revolta and 48-year-old Henry Picard. Revolta won the PGA in 1935 and Picard was the winner in 1939 when the 25-year-old Finsterwald and Thomson weren't old enough to swing a golf club. Souchak is 28.

Sam Snead and Ben Hogan, both 43, were in a bunch of nine tied at 69 for sixth place.

The field scrambling for $10,000 in prizes during the 72 holes spread over four days were in a par-breaking mood as 27 of the 47 beat the standard mark of 70 for the Old White course.

'Petunia City of America'

ONE OF THE GROUPS that have planted more than 4,000 petunias in Iowa City public grounds Wednesday and Thursday is shown above as it finished the last bed on Iowa avenue Thursday morning. The petunias were planted by the Iowa City Women's club in cooperation with the city park board. They are, standing, from left to right, Mrs. Bion Hunter, Mrs. L. O. Bender, Mrs. Sadie Seagrave, Mrs. J. W. Howe and George Turecek, park superintendent. Those kneeling, from left, Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. Howard Crew, Francis Suepple, park board member, Mrs. C. E. Tanberg, Mrs. G. E. Grunewald and Mrs. G. W. Adams. Mrs. Grunewald has been chairman of the project for seven years. The Women's club's work has earned Iowa City the name of the petunia city of America.

2 SUI Professors To Attend Meeting In New York City

Two SUI professors, Frank R. Kennedy, college of law, and Lloyd A. Knowler, college of mathematics and astronomy, will take part in the Ninth Annual Convention of the American Society for Quality Control, May 23-25, at the hotels, Statler and New Yorker, in New York City.

Kennedy will discuss "Some Legal Aspects of Sampling" in a special general interest program scheduled for May 23.

Knowler will serve as moderator of a program prepared by the convention's applied methodology steering committee, scheduled for May 24. During this program, the discussion will be on the topic, "Multiple Decision Procedures for Ranking Means."

Both professors, alumni of SUI, will be 2 of 3,000 delegates from all sections of the country expected to attend the convention.

Ex-Skid Row Resident 'Slips' To Old Life

CHICAGO (AP) — William G. Wood, who drank away a law practice and detoured off Skid Row toward reform, has fallen off the water wagon.

Cleanly shaven and neatly dressed, the 65-year-old lawyer stood out Thursday among the morning collection of W. Madison street-bums in Monroe street police court where he appeared on a disorderly conduct charge.

It was in this same court last winter that Judge Hyman Feldman recognized one of the bums as Wood and recalled that he once was a talented attorney and law college instructor. Judge Feldman personally undertook Wood's rehabilitation.

"Good morning, judge," Wood said. "I'm sorry to be here now."

"You are no more sorry than I am to see you this way," the judge replied, and continued:

"You were the first case to hit me when I came here. I felt that you could stage a comeback. I still think you can do it."

"When a man has fought a problem like you have, and has done what you have done, he deserves credit. You have done an admirable job."

The judge referred to Wood's work at the law since the morning Feldman found him in the lineup of derelicts. Feldman per-

Ex-FBI Men Plan Anti-U.S. Library Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two retired high-ranking FBI officials and two lawyers who used to be FBI agents unveiled Thursday a plan to make all available data on totalitarianism readily accessible to the public.

The project calls for a free library to be financed by public contributions.

"We felt there was a need for a public library where people could get full and complete information on totalitarian groups—groups whose activities are inimical to the interests of the U.S.," said Stanley J. Tracy. Tracy retired last year as an assistant FBI director.

Foundation Incorporated

Papers incorporating the "Foundation of American Research," as it will be known officially, were filed Thursday in U.S. District Court.

The incorporators are D. Milton Ladd, who retired last year as assistant to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, and Washington attorneys Daniel L. O'Connor and Aaron W. Jacobson.

Tracy, who served as spokesman for the group and probably will head it, said officers will be elected in the near future. He said the organizing committee included one high-ranking government official, but he declined to name him.

Both 'Pro and Con'

Tracy said there will be "an objective approach to the whole question of totalitarian groups," and that the library will contain material "both pro and con."

The idea, Tracy stressed, is to put under one roof, and open to the public, all available material on individuals and organizations whose activities are considered totalitarian.

Argentina Moves To Apply Taxes To Catholic Schools

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Peron's supporters introduced a bill in the Argentine senate Thursday to end the Roman Catholic church's exemption from taxation. The Peronista party holds all the Senate seats.

The senate Wednesday passed a bill abolishing Catholic religious education in public schools. Congress also is considering a Peronista plan to eliminate Roman Catholicism as the state church.

The dispute between Peron and the church came into the open when he charged last November that some clergymen were trying to subvert his regime. Argentina is 90 per cent Catholic.

Traditionally all Argentine churches are exempt from taxation. Most private Catholic schools also pay no taxes because they give free education to poor children. Private schools that charge tuition pay real estate taxes ranging from a third to two-thirds of normal taxes.

Separating state and church would cost the church 80 million pesos—$5.7 million—annually in government subsidies to Catholic schools and several million pesos more in state salaries to 900 of 16,000 Catholic priests.

sonally paid Wood $5 a day to assist him as an adviser to the court. When Wood carried out those duties satisfactorily for several weeks, Feldman got him a job as librarian in the state's attorney's office.

"You have been a symbol to this street, Bill," the judge went on. "The men felt that if Bill Wood could do it, so could they. If what you did has helped one man, it's done some good."

Wood was the last defendant called before the bench. The few stragglers in the courtroom watched through eyes bleary from Wednesday's drinking. They were waiting mainly for a free lunch as guests of the Salvation Army.

The court ordered Wood examined by a psychiatrist and set bond high enough to keep Wood in custody. The next hearing will be May 26.

Asked by newsmen how he happened to be found drunk in front of 641 W. Madison st., Wood said simply, "I slipped."

Mountaineers Plan Membership Drive Kick-Off Meeting

The SUI Mountaineers spring travelogue membership drive will begin Monday with a kick-off meeting at 7:30 p.m. at the clubhouse.

With a goal of 900 new members, the drive will end June 15. Student and children memberships will be limited to 200 at the reduced rate of $2 for eight programs. The adult price for eight programs is $4.

A change in the membership cards this year entitles the holder to attend any 8 of the 18 programs to be presented. The tickets may be used by a friend.

Those joining before June 15 are entitled to a bonus program.

The film-lecture series will start Oct. 2. They are held on Sundays with six scheduled for the afternoon and 12 for the evening.

All programs will be held in MacBride hall auditorium.

Persons interested in membership should write Post Office Box 163 or call Mrs. S. John Ebert, 7418.

Report MIGs Outnumbered Sabre Pilots

KUNSAN, Korea (AP) — U.S. Sabre Jet pilots, who turned the cold war hot for a few minutes Tuesday, said Thursday the Chinese Communist MIG force from which the attackers came, outnumbered them four to one.

They said there were at least 32 MIGs in the force. From 12 to 17 MIGs attacked the 8 Sabres off the west coast of North Korea while the rest of the Chinese Reds flew high cover.

The air force said the MIGs attacked the Sabres on a patrol flight. It reported the Sabres knocked down two MIGs, probably bagged two more, and returned to base without a scratch.

Orders Protest

In Tokyo, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, U.S. Far East commander, ordered a strong protest laid before the military armistice commission against "the hostile and illegal attack."

In Peiping, the official Chinese People's Daily asserted U.S. Sabres invaded China's territorial air. It called this "part of the criminal plan of U.S. aggression to prevent the liberation of Formosa by intimidating the Chinese people."

POLICE COURT

Glen F. Beltz, R.R. 1, North Liberty, Thursday received a $12,500 suspended fine on a charge of operating a motor vehicle with defective equipment.

Gary A. Murray, 1209 Kirkwood ave., Thursday pleaded guilty to operating a motor vehicle in violation of an instruction permit. Judge Roger Ivie recommended suspension of Murray's permit.

Impossible

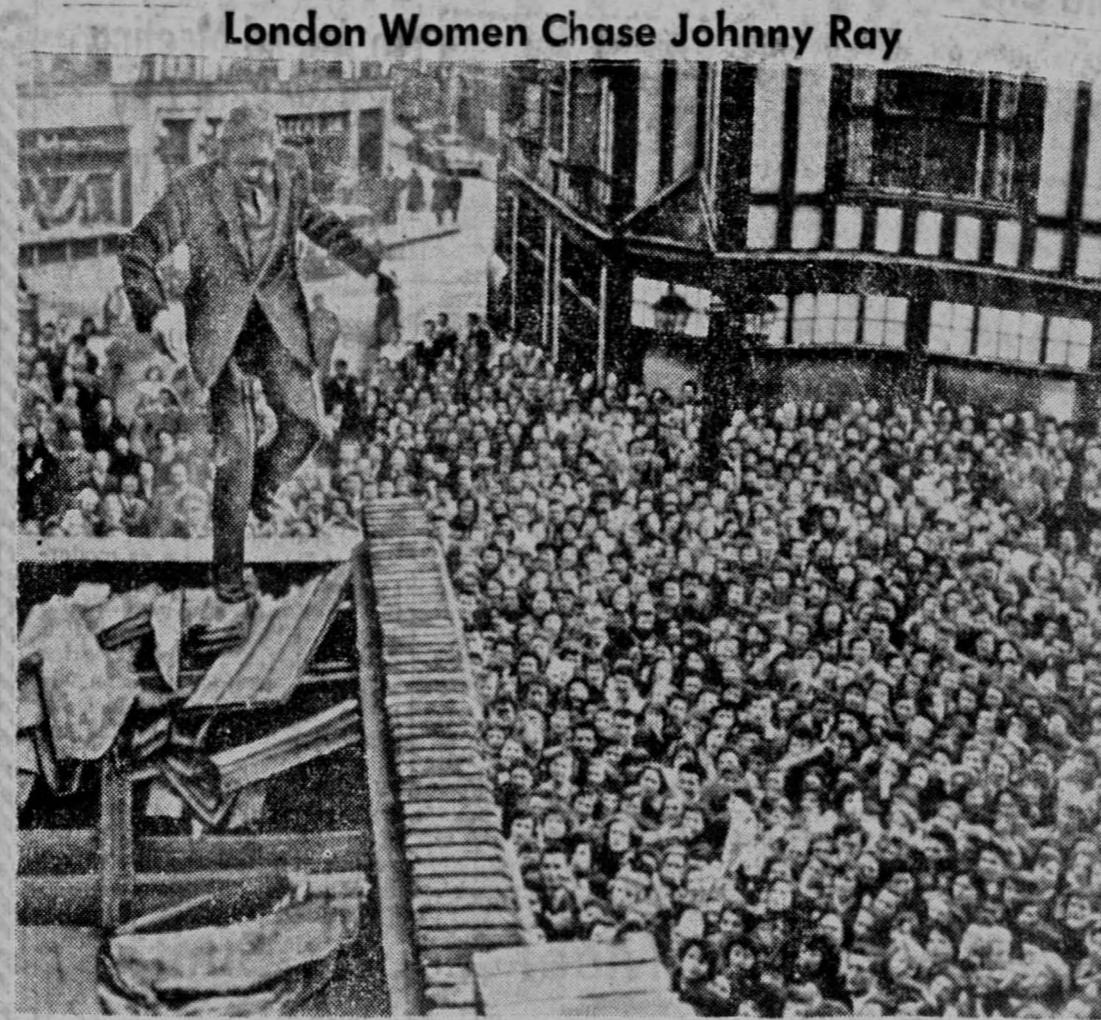

"It was impossible for us to make a hostile act toward them," he said. "They were above us. But if they're going to come down and shoot at us and think it's for fun, they're just plain crazy."

Capt. Robert J. Fulton, Berndsville, N.J., and Lt. Bert C. Phythyon, Wadsworth, Ohio, were credited with positive kills. Lt. James E. McInerney Jr., Gardner City, Long Island, had a probable kill.

Dawson said Lt. Robert M. Donahue, Montgomery, Ala., also was credited belatedly with a probable. Donahue ran out of ammunition, lost radio contact, and landed at a different base.

McInerney said of the MIG he shot up:

"They overshot us and I chased him for five minutes. I hit him with three different bursts and he started to smoke. I shot up his tail bringing blue smoke. He was on fire. Capt. Fulton reported seeing a para-

SUI TV Lab To Film Movie Saturday

The SUI television laboratories are completing final preparations for a movie which will be filmed in kinescope Saturday at 8 a.m.

The show, an experiment, is the first of its kind at SUI. It is being sponsored by the Iowa Pharmaceutical association.

The play, entitled "Herman's Tough Customer," portrays the life of a pharmacist. His daily work problems and how he solves daily problems.

The show, designed to aid the public in becoming more familiar with pharmacists and pharmacy, is being directed by James Lynch, instructor at the TV laboratories.

The play features a large cast, many of whom have never had any dramatic experience. Most of the players are from Iowa City; while some are students in

Four Seniors Get 'Outstanding' Award At Commerce Dinner

Robert M. Warner, Casey; Carol Zadnick, Cedar Rapids; Vivian Hochstetler, Kalona, and Jack Toedt, Laurel, were named outstanding SUI senior commerce students of the year Wednesday at the annual Awards' dinner of the collegiate chamber of commerce.

Warner's scholarship and service activities earned him the award key of the Delta Sigma Pi honorary fraternity of the Iowa college of commerce. Miss Zadnick's and Miss Hochstetler's records brought them joint awards of the Phi Gamma Nu scholastic honorary, and Toedt's won the award of Alpha Kappa Psi honorary fraternity.

Speaker of the occasion was Lee T. Flatley, '28, who is now a partner in a South Bend, Ind., firm of public accountants.

Addressing the diners on the topic "Knowledge, Ability, enthusiasm," Flatley stressed that "success comes from knowledge, the ability to put knowledge to work and the force of enthusiasm behind that ability."

Success should be measured by other than monetary rewards, by such "satisfactions" as knowing your job to be well done," he continued. However, he expressed concern over "increasing threats to individual incentive as represented by higher federal income taxes."

John F. Ferguson, G, Ames, served as master of ceremonies at the annual dinner in Iowa Memorial Union. President of the sponsoring Collegiate Chamber of Commerce is Ray Sommerfeld, C4, Woden.

The election closed the annual convention of the organization. Also adopted at the closing session was a resolution providing for the creation of a committee to study labor-management laws of other states and recommend one for Iowa.

Such a law would provide state bargaining machinery for firms not under National Labor Relations board jurisdiction.

Los Angeles Under 2-Day Smog 'Lid'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Smog plagued the Los Angeles area Thursday for the second straight day.

The weather bureau indicated the eye-irritating attack will continue at least through Saturday.

Meteorologists foresee no immediate break in the weather to lift the temperature inversion "lid" which is preventing air pollutants from escaping the mountain-rimmed Los Angeles basin.

When the normal temperature pattern is inverted certain layers of air above the city are hotter than the air at ground level.

This prevents smog-laden air from rising and dispersing.

The smog is worst in Pasadena.

PENSIONER'S BILL TO GOV.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois senate Thursday passed and sent to Gov. Stratton a bill allowing old age pensioners to earn up to $50 a month without reducing their grant, providing the federal law is changed to permit it.

Life-Saving Blood Came by Jet

DR. WALTER J. HAMILTON Thursday said Denise Louise Robertson, being held by her mother, Nadine, was saved by two complete blood replacements since birth a week ago. The blood was flown to Redwood City, Calif., from Canada by a Canadian air force jet. Mrs. Robertson has a rare type blood.

Florida Man Starts Term For His Daughter's Death

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Russell Tongay began serving a 10-year term in jail Thursday for causing the death of his aquatot daughter, Kathy, by ordering her to dive from a 33-foot diving board in 1953. Medical examiners said the high dive resulted in injuries that killed her.

The former Coast Guardsman surrendered at the county jail Thursday morning and was placed behind bars to wait for transfer to the state prison at Raiford, Fla.

Tongay, 39, coached his children, Kathy, then 5, and Bubba, 9, in swimming performances that made them famous. He was convicted of causing

46 AFROTC Cadets To Attend Camp

Forty-six air force Reserve Officer Training corps cadets from SUI are scheduled to receive four weeks of practical training at three air force bases this summer, according to Col. Charles G. Kirk, professor and head of air science at SUI.

Purpose of the air force summer camp is to give the cadets an opportunity to experience through practice and demonstration the theory learned during the school year, Kirk says.

Practical problems which commonly confront junior air force officers will be encountered by the students, and plane flights will be scheduled to stimulate interest in flight training, Kirk says.

Twenty-eight cadets will report to the Eglin air force base at Rapid City, S. D., on June 19. A detachment of 10 more cadets will report to the Ellsworth base on July 24. Six cadets will report June 19 to the Geiger air force base at Spokane, Wash., and the remaining two cadets will report Aug. 7 to the Eglin air force base at Panama City, Fla.

Names of the students and which base they will report to follow:

Student Gets DAR Award

Helen Richmann, A4, Marion, has received the $50 scholarship offered annually by the Iowa chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution to an outstanding student majoring in home economics.

Also a feature of the dinner to be held on the sun porch of the Iowa Memorial Union will be presentation of the Sudhindra Bose award to the foreign student or students who have done the most during the year to foster good will and international understanding.

Recipients of the DAR award are chosen by faculty members of the SUI home economics department, with selection based on scholarship, leadership ability, aptitude for study of home economics and promise of fine citizenship and success in homemaking.

International Club To Hear Koo Talk

Speaker at the SUI International club banquet tonight at 6:30 will be Prof. T. Z. Koo, Oriental studies. Koo, who is retiring, is being honored at the banquet.

The DAR award was presented to Miss Richmann by Mrs. James Gilchrist of Iowa City, DAR state chairman of junior membership, at the annual spring meeting of the SUI home economics club honoring graduating seniors.

The Carl E. Seashore award goes to an American student performing the same service and the Hancher International award goes to the individual or the organization which has actively promoted international understanding and good will.

Brownie Hawkeye Camera — World's favorite snapshotter. Range, styling, and performance of cameras many times its modest price. Makes 12 big, sharp snaps on rolls of No. 620 film... in color as well as black-and-white, both indoors and out. No wonder it's the world's most popular snapshot camera! $6.95. Flashholder, $4. Complete Brownie Hawk-eye Flash Outfit, $13.95.

Brownie Bull's-Eye Camera — Same aim-and-shoot convenience as with the Kodet model... plus extra snapshot range when you want it. This deluxe Duaflex model has a fine, fast Kodar f/8 Lens with a focusing range from 3½ feet to infinity... and adjustable down to 4 feet for close-ups. Many other de luxe features, yet it's priced at just $12.95. Flashholder, $3.20. Complete Outfit, $17.95. (Takes No. 620 films.)

For color slides

Kodak Pony 135 Camera — Lower cost per shot. Same basic camera as the pony... and priced in the same 8-exposure No. 828 films. (Color slides, color snaps, plus black-and-white.) Fine 1/3.9 lens, 1/300 shutter, lens-coupled rangefinder. $56.75. (Kodak Town and Country Outfit, $72.75.)

Kodak Bantam RF Camera — Finest "Bantam." A quality camera with the quick results and 3-way versatility of 8-exposure No. 828 films. (Color slides, color snaps, plus black-and-white.) Fine 1/3.9 lens, 1/300 shutter, lens-coupled rangefinder. $56.75. (Kodak Town and Country Outfit, $72.75.)

Kodak Signet 35 Camera — Superb lens... superb miniature. Kodak's finest lens—the Ektar... in a camera that's capable of unsurpassed quality in color slides and black-and-white negatives. Ektar f/3.5 lens, 1/300 shutter, lens-coupled rangefinder, flawlessly smooth operation, $75. (135 films.)

Kodak Retina IIIC Camera — Greatest Retina. Finest camera... ever... in the distinguished tradition of Retina excellence. F/2.0 lens permits using interchangeable telephoto and wide-angle components. Photoelectric exposure meter, 1/500 shutter, rangefinder, $185. (No. 135 films.)

For stereo picture-taking

Kodak Stereo Camera — New horizons. Not an adaptation of standard cameras but a completely new concept of camera design, exactly suited to the requirements of stereo. New ease, new certainty, new standards of excellence. With matched f/3.5 lenses and 1/200 flash shutter, $84.50.

Kodaslide Signet 300 Projector — Super-bright projector. Outstandingly capable slide projector with fast f/3.5 lens and powerful 300-watt lamp for extra-large, extra-brilliant color shows. Price, complete with built-in case, blower, from $24.95. ("Vacation Special") — Kodaslide Pocket Viewer, $1.50.

For color movies

Brownie Movie Camera — World favorite. No wonder it's the most popular movie camera built! It's as simple to use, as sure in results... and almost as easy to afford as a snapshot camera! Only $37.50 with f/2.7 lens — yet for all-around family filming, no camera makes finer 8mm. movies. Super model, $46.75.

Cine-Kodak Magazine 8 Camera — Extra convenience... extra range. Deluxe 8mm. camera with magazine loading — handiest, quickest, surest system ever. You can load in just 3 seconds, switch film any time. Other features: f/1.9 focusing lens, slow motion, adjustable finder, takes telephotos. $149.50.

Brownie Movie Projector — New low price! Biggest buy by far in 8mm. projectors! Brilliant forward projection, still pictures, reverse action, power rewinding — all at a turn of a single control. This deluxe Brownie model with a super-fast f/1.6 "big-picture" lens is now only $62.

Rodascope Royal Projector — Finest for personal movies. Brilliance and optical quality ample for 16mm. auditorium projection as well as home shows. F/1.6 lens, 750-watt lamp (1000-watt available), reverse action, built-in-case construction, permanent pre-lubrication, and other deluxe features. $240.

Cine-Kodak Royal Magazine Camera — Moviedom's two top features: the matchless convenience of magazine loading, the matchless optical excellence of a Kodak Cine Lens — both in a luxuriously appointed camera that also provides the extra sharpness and larger screen sizes of 16mm. film. $169.50.

We also have a wide array of photo aids that provide extra range in your picture making... extra sparkle in your picture results.
