Ike Asks Vaccine Subsidy for Needy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Monday asked congress for 30 million dollars to carry forward the polio program, 28 million of it to insure that poor children get Salk vaccine.

The other two million dollars would go to take precaution against blackmarketing of the vaccine and for the hiring of more health personnel to test the product "for safety and potency."

Eisenhower acted after putting his approval on a report by Secretary of Welfare Oveta Culp Hobby, asking for financial aid and for reliance on a voluntary system of distributing the vaccine.

Critical Questioning

After presenting her report to the President, Mrs. Hobby went before the senate labor and public welfare committee, where she ran into some critical questioning from Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-N.Y.).

Lehman told her the administration should have been ready with a distribution plan April 12 when the vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas Salk was approved.

"I think you are a long way as yet, even now, from having adopted something that will be really effective," the New Yorker told her.

Free Inoculations

Mrs. Hobby replied that all vaccine now available is going to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, for use in its program of free inoculations of first and second graders.

She said the voluntary plan will take over when additional vaccine is on hand, and insisted that "there is no other system that could be devised that could do the job as fairly and effectively." The shortage of vaccine now, she said, is "tremendous." Mrs. Hobby testified at a standing-room-only hearing called by the committee to get her advice on the advisability of mandatory controls or federal standby powers over distribution of the vaccine.

Tells Over-all Total

Dr. Chester Keefer, Mrs. Hobby's special aide on the vaccination program, told the committee the over-all total of vaccine shipped from manufacturers as of now is 7,361,690 cubic centimeters.

Mrs. Hobby said 180 million cc's are needed to inoculate all children 1 to 19 years old, and expectant mothers.

First priority goes to children 5 to 9 years old.

The senate interstate commerce committee also discussed the polio vaccine problem, at a closed-door session. Chairman Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.) said afterward he feared there was a "considerable black market in this thing."

28 Million Shots

He said the NFIP had at first ordered 28 million shots but had returned 9 million not needed at once in the vaccination program for first and second graders.

This returned portion was put out for general use by drug houses, Magnuson said, adding it was pretty well established some of it had been used for adults and others outside the most susceptible age groups.

The senator said his committee stood ready to provide legislative penalties if requested by the administration to try to assure equitable distribution of the vaccine.

Present Program

Under the administration plan, the NFIP would continue its present program of free vaccinations for all first-and-second grade school children.

After that, Mrs. Hobby would split the supply among the states on the basis of the number of children aged 5 to 9, and each state would supervise distribution within its own boundaries. Additional priority groups would be announced from time to time on the basis of recommendation of the National Advisory committee on polio vaccine.

SUI Student Appointed To Air Academy

Patrick Louis Musmaker, A1, Greenfield, Monday was named to the first class of the U.S. Air Force academy.

Musmaker was 1 of 301 cadets named to the academy which will open classes July 11 at Lowry air base, Denver, Colo.

The group was selected by the air force from more than 6,000 men nominated by members of congress to take the entrance exams. Five Iowans were included.

Other Iowans receiving appointments: James O. Bartholomew, Burlington; Craig V. Miller, Ames; Roger H. Peterson, Indianola, and Gerald Elsbernd, Galmar.

The academy will operate at Lowry air base until its $125 million home at Colorado Springs, Colo., is ready for use in the fall of 1957.

"I'm pretty happy about it," said Musmaker Monday. "Pretty lucky, too, I guess."

"I entered and hoped. I thought I did well on my tests, but I knew that quite a few others were taking them," he related.

The tests included a thorough physical examination and two days of academic tests.

They included questions on physics, English, social science, engineering, and mechanics.

Musmaker received his nomination for the tests from Rep. Ben Jensen, Exira Republican who represents the seventh district.

Musmaker doesn't know Jensen. "I just wrote him, telling him that I wanted to take the tests," he said.

Musmaker is in army ROTC at SUI. He is a pre-commerce student.

The Air Force academy was set up to train career officers. Musmaker, however, isn't sure he wants to make the air force his career.

"I'll serve the three years after graduation," he said, "before I make my decision."

Dulles Sees Hope In Big 4 Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, returning from historic conferences in Europe, declared hopefully Monday he sees "some promise of constructive accomplishment" in the Big Four meeting he helped arrange for President Eisenhower to attend.

Setting up the meeting of top government leaders was listed by Dulles as one of several "great events" during an eventful week in Europe.

In his airport talk, Dulles listed what may turn out to be an outline of his radio and television report to the nation tonight.

'Great Events'

"We have seen great events," Dulles said, "entry of Germany into NATO, the actual beginnings of European unity, good talks about China and about Indochina, the signing of the Austrian state treaty and agreement of the western powers upon an invitation to the Soviet Union for a meeting of the four heads of government under conditions which will, I believe, hold some promise of constructive accomplishment."

The Big Four meeting will bring Eisenhower together with the prime ministers of Britain, France and Russia. The President has viewed it as a possible means of doing little more than clearing the air and defining the issues so work can then begin to ease world tensions.

Dulles went immediately to the White House and conferred for some time with President Eisenhower, who has taken a cautious attitude toward the Big Four session expected to be held some time in July.

Talk to Nation Tonight

Arrangements have been made for Dulles to make a half-hour report to the nation by radio and television tonight from 5:30 p.m. (CST). The broadcast will go out "live" from the President's office over the American, Columbia, Dumont and NBC television networks. Radio broadcasts will follow this schedule: American 6 p.m. (CST), Mutual 7:30 p.m., National and Columbia 8:30 p.m.

Dulles had gone to Paris to attend a NATO meeting. Over the weekend he went to Vienna to sign the Austrian independence treaty and wrap up the Big Four meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, British Foreign Minister Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay.

Jets Engaged Over Matsus

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Red China Monday sent two of its latest MIG jets down to the Matsus area for the second straight day, touching off a dog fight, the air force reported.

For 11 minutes, the two MIG's and two Nationalist propeller planes exchanged fire high over the sea 20 miles north of the Matsus, officials said. There was no mention of damage on either side.

It was the closest approach the MIG's have yet made to Matsus. It also was the third pass made by MIG's this month in the area of the Matsus, at the north end of Formosa Strait 120 miles northwest of Formosa.

Four MIG's tangled with four Nationalist Thunderjets Sunday, 70 miles north of the Matsus. It was the first time Nationalist jets had fought MIG's.

The MIG's probably came from Lukiao, new and big Red air base 220 miles north of Formosa.

Churchill Suggests War Not Inevitable

WOODFORD, England (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill suggested Monday night that a group in the Kremlin backed by "powerful forces" may be swinging Russian policy on a tack that will make possible real East-West co-existence.

The 80-year-old British statesman did not identify the group or explain what he meant by the forces behind these men.

His statement could be interpreted as meaning that the Soviet army under Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov has assumed a strong policy-making hand in the Soviet Union and is vetoing projects that might touch off a general war.

Churchill spoke at an election meeting in his home district.

Scientist Says Radiation Will Affect Future Life

Chou En-Lai Renews Offer To Negotiate

TOKYO (Tuesday) (AP) — Premier Chou En-Lai of Red China renewed his offer to negotiate over the tough Formosa issue but charged that the United States is taking an "evasive and equivocal stand," Peiping radio said Monday.

The Communist leader said nations and peoples who are concerned about world peace are urging the negotiations.

President Eisenhower said at a news conference Apr. 27 that the U.S. would be glad to meet and talk with the Chinese Communists about a Formosa ceasefire.

Chou repeated the proposal—first made at the height of the Asian-African conference last month at Bandung—in a report on the meeting to Red China's National congress.

Chou said, however, that "at no time" would Red China agree to sit down with the Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-shek. The Red China Premier also repeated that any talks with the United States on the Formosa issue would not affect Red China's claim to the area.

"The Chinese people are willing to strive for the liberation of Taiwan by peaceful means as far as possible," Chou said.

He said that "the liberation of Taiwan by the Chinese people is a question of China's domestic affairs. The U.S. occupation of Taiwan has created tension in the Taiwan area and this constitutes an international issue between China and the U.S."

Beyond the Call of Duty

RECEIVING THE MEDAL OF HONOR for his son, Pfc. Charles H. Barker who sacrificed his life so that a patrol of his unit could withdraw from intense infantry fire in Korea, was Norvin N. Barker, Six Mile, S.C., Monday. The soldier's act of heroism came in the final weeks of fighting in Korea. Gen. Matthew Ridgway, left, retiring army chief of staff, attended the Washington ceremonies.

But A-Tests Are Justified, He Notes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Radiation already released by atomic tests will adversely affect thousands of yet unborn Americans, but the free world's security "does justify" continuing the experiments, a noted geneticist said Monday night.

"But let us pray and work that no more than tests will ever be necessary," said Dr. George W. Beadle, president of the American association for the advancement of science. An atomic war, he declared, would "risk the evolutionary future of mankind."

Beadle said radiation "is known to produce changes in the heredity of all experimental plants and animals" and probably 99 per cent of the changes are for the worse.

Permanent Effect

"There is no recovery from damage to the hereditary material. The effect is permanent and is transmitted from generation to generation until removed by the slow process of natural selection . . .

"Many genetic deaths in later generations will occur early in development and will be expressed as miscarriages, some will result in stillbirths. Others will reduce the efficiency of individuals only slightly and in ways that will not be obvious."

The California Institute of Technology scientist quoted Nobel Laureate H. J. Muller, a zoologist, as estimating "that as a result of the test bomb radiation to date there will be something like 80,000 hereditary changes among the descendants of the present population of the U.S."

Damage Largely Hidden

"If the bomb testing program continues at its present level," Beadle said in a speech to the Medical Research association of California, "it is possible that each individual will receive by the time of reproduction two roentgens of radiation over and above that from natural causes, such as cosmic rays."

He explained that one roentgen, or the equivalent radiation from 10 tooth x-rays, "will almost surely increase hereditary damage by a very small amount."

Genetic damage is "largely hidden" and "does not show in the exposed individual and is not likely to in his children or even in his grandchildren."

Solon Man Sent To Mental Ward

Ronald W. Uhlenberg, 24, Solon, Monday was committed to the state psychopathic hospital here after pleading innocent to charges of larceny in Johnson county district court.

Judge James P. Gaffney committed Uhlenberg on the request of his counsel, A. C. Cahill. The case had been continued from May 14.

Uhlenberg was charged with the theft of clothes, a rifle, and $6 in cash from the home of Carl Roup, farming near Solon, on whose farm Uhlenberg had been working for about a week.

The theft took place Feb. 19.

Fieldhouse Audience Hears —

Bob Hope Benefit

— For Marengo Hospital

About 2,000 people showed up for the Marengo Memorial hospital benefit show at the SUI field house Monday night.

The Cycling Villanaves, a French acrobatic and cycling act, led off the program, although they didn't seem too enthused about it.

They were followed by Tom Leonetti, a young recording star, who sang an assortment of songs in a uniformly off-key voice. In a medley, designed to satisfy all nationalities in the audience, he sang: "Danny Boy," "Look Down, Look Down," "My Yiddish Mama," and "Come Back to Sorrento."

Next came Billie Mahoney, a one-time baton-twirling champion, who twirls for the circus in the winter. She is also a dancer and performed one number entitled "The Battle of the Tempos," with the aid of a metronome. In this battle, the metronome won, the band came in second and Billie third.

Jimmy Mahoney and Dorothy Ryan, who followed, brought back some of the famous jokes of antiquity for the benefit of the youngsters in the audience. But they did not over their songs well, and Mahoney's old time, honky-tonk piano playing was really fine.

The Burns Twins and Evelyn, a tap dancing team, preceded the inimitable Bob Hope.

Hope was obviously discomforted by the size of the crowd, but he was still excellent. He joked, sang and introduced an attractive red-haired singer named Betsy Duncan whom he brought along as an added attraction.

Hope gave the audience a lesson about the French in a spicy number entitled "La Vie en Rose." He said that in France the people follow the birds and bees around with notebooks.

He ended his act with a parody on "Buttons and Bows," interspersed with a few jokes and wisecracks. About 80 patients of the VA hospital attended the show.

Earlier in the day, Hope displayed the kind of good humor that no team of writers could provide.

Having just arrived by overnight plane from California, Hope told visitors at the Hotel Jefferson that his first tour of Iowa City would have to wait until late afternoon before performance time.

Although wearied from lack of sleep he was nevertheless patient and relaxed while answering questions, and said, "I love the pace I keep."

And it's quite a pace, Hope said he has traveled some 3

MAP SHOWS HOW Austria has been divided into United States, British, Soviet and French occupation zones. As explained in the editorial below, troops will be pulled out of these zones as soon as Big Four parliaments have ratified the treaty restoring sovereignty to the Vienna government.

After 17 Years—Freedom!

There was dancing in the streets of Vienna over the weekend. And Sunday, church bells throughout Austria joyously proclaimed the signing and sealing of the Austrian state treaty.

The treaty, which returns to Austria the freedom she lost 17 years ago, still must be ratified by the parliaments of the Big Four — the United States, Great Britain, the Soviet Union and France — and by the Austrian parliament. This is merely a formality.

Within 90 days after ratification by the five parliaments, the approximately 70,000 troops which the Big Four have stationed in Austria will pack up and leave. And Austria will assume a neutral role like Switzerland, her Alpine neighbor to the west.

The treaty marks the end of almost two decades of occupation for this small country of seven million people. Adolph Hitler, bent on Anschluss, sent his Panzers into Austria the night of March 11, 1938. From that time to the present foreign troops have been garrisoned on the Austrian soil.

When the allies marched into Austria in 1945, a provisional government was established and the Big Four divided the country into four occupation zones. There were hopes of an early peace treaty. But all Western attempts to negotiate a treaty were met by Soviet delaying tactics. And by May, 1951, when Austria held her first post-war popular presidential election, hopes of early freedom had all but vanished.

That's how the situation stood when the Soviet Union first announced its willingness to conclude a treaty with Austria. From then on events moved rapidly. The Western powers were more than willing to negotiate. Most of the more critical points in the treaty had already been hashed and rehashed many times. By Sunday the Big Four were in agreement as to terms and the treaty was signed.

Just why the Soviet Union finally acquiesced is not known. One of her purposes seems to have been a dying effort to prevent West German admission to the North Atlantic Treaty organization. Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov indicated Sunday in a speech following the Austrian treaty-signing that the price of German unification would be German neutralization.

Whatever the Soviet intentions, signing of an Austrian treaty comes as a victory for the West, which has tried for years to work out a compromise with the Russians.

It is even more of a victory for the Austrian people, who spent seven years under Nazi domination, then ten more as victims of the East-West cold war.

A Fitting Tribute to Helser of ISC—

We congratulate the student body and friends of Iowa State college on their gesture of appreciation to Dean of Student Affairs M. D. Helser, one of the truly great educators of this state.

The gift automobile has recently come to be the accepted symbol of appreciation. But the monetary and prestige value of such a present is of little consequence.

The important thing is that a gift such as this comes truly from the heart — from the hearts of many who have known Dean Helser in his 39 years of valuable service to his college.

It is even more heartening to hear that a scholarship fund has been set up in Helser's name.

This recognition comes not for any great commercial achievement, nor from any special interest group.

It comes as a well-deserved tribute to a man who has made thousands of friends in 22 years as a college administrator.

In spite of having to deal with unpleasant problems of student discipline and similar situations in his positions as dean of junior college and dean of student affairs, Helser has built a reputation as a just administrator and a true friend of students with troubles — financial, scholastic or otherwise.

This surprise tribute is fitting for a man who has indeed furthered the cause of education in Iowa.

France Needs Atomic Weapons: de Murville

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 11th of 12 interviews by Central Press correspondent Mark Leonard with foreign ambassadors to the United States.)

WASHINGTON — France's ambassador to the United States, Maurice Couve de Murville, said today it is a question of time as to when France can have its own nuclear weapons.

This reporter reminded the envoy that Premier Edgar Faure only recently announced that France would not make the hydrogen bomb after asserting a month earlier that it would. He said at the time that without the bomb France was condemned to remain a second-class power.

"It is necessary to have such a weapon if you want to have effective military power," De Murville said. "We must have this weapon. However, we must have atomic industry before we can have the weapon."

No Time Set The ambassador declined to predict when the bomb or "industry" would come into being but expressed a strong conviction that France will one day be able to stamp "made in France" on the super-weapon.

Turning to the tense Far Eastern situation, the envoy stressed the need for a unified free world policy on the Formosa question and pointed to the Korean war as an example of an agreement to resist aggression and work for peace.

De Murville pointed to Indochina as another example of a united front, saying the United States and France are working together there to organize and consolidate south Vietnam in order to guarantee its people freedom and independence.

Loose Prestige As far as his own country is concerned, the ambassador conceded that internal problems, such as France's 21 governments since the end of World War II, have done much to lessen French prestige in the eyes of the world.

He added, however, "During this time — this same period — we have had but one foreign policy." The diplomat declared that before France could have a government of stability it might be necessary to change the French constitution. He said there is a strong movement in the country which is pressing for a constitutional change.

Communism Declines Communism in France, said the envoy, is on the decline. He compared the elections held 10 years ago, when the Communist vote was 30 per cent of the ballots cast, to the last election when it was down to 21 per cent.

The reason for this, he explained, is that the people are apparently convinced that communism is not the answer for them. The increased standard of French living is yet another factor which accounts for the dwindling Communist vote, said De Murville.

"The problem now," the envoy said, "is no longer to protect our economy but to attempt to develop it so as to fulfill its ever increasing needs."

De Murville asserted that "France is regaining its youth," and added that "although it has lost much of its past wealth, the development of its industrial production through modernization is growing steadily."

ANIMAL AMBULANCE

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit now provides its animals with an emergency ambulance service approximating that given humans. The animal service includes five cruising ambulances, all connected by two-way radio with the Michigan Humane society's station. Central dispatcher is Alfred Keppen, a retired police lieutenant.

Keppen speeds an ambulance to an animal injury scene. The animals is taken to one of Detroit's 38 neighborhood veterinary clinics and then to the Michigan Humane society hospital. Members of the Southeastern Michigan Veterinary Medicine association agreed to provide the emergency service free. Keppen's calls often total 225 or more a day. Not all of his emergency calls involve injuries. For instance the radio recently carried this: "Dispatcher to ambulance — a robin in a chimney at 920 Hyacinth. This is urgent."

SILENT SERVICE

MIDDLEBURG, Va. (AP) — There was no howl of protest here when Mrs. Newell J. Ward Jr., sought permission to build and operate a dog kennel just outside town. She raises Basenjis, the dogs from Africa which cannot bark.

Interpreting the News—

Russians Seek Neutral Zone Between East, West Europe

BY J. M. ROBERTS Associated Press News Analyst

Yugoslav President Tito's announcement that he intends to maintain something very close to neutrality in the East-West conflict probably anticipates what the Russians will ask of him.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, in his unexpected speech at Vienna, made it clear that a neutral strip in Central Europe is very much on the Russian mind these days.

Neutral zones have never been effective in keeping the nations of Europe from one another's throats, but Russia seems to think it better than nothing as the strength of the West rises. At least a neutralized Yugoslavia adjoining a neutralized Austria would give Russia a position from which to argue in connection with Germany.

No German Neutrality The signs from Germany indicate that, since alliance with the West has become a fact, neutrality cannot be made to work for such a powerful nation, and is a price she would be unwilling to pay for reunification.

For Tito, however, with Yugoslavia's natural orientation toward Eastern Europe, and with her intent to develop as an independent Communist state, neutrality would be an advancement from his recent position of cold war with the Soviet Union and her satellites.

Tito may find it difficult to make such a position work, despite his announced determination to keep his relatively new friendship with the West, with its economic aid.

Russia's determination to end the long conflict with Tito is not necessarily tied to any single factor of her policy. The spectacle of a Communist state doing pretty well without being connected with international communism is a dangerous example to other states and a constantly galling challenge to Moscow.

Tito says he told them clearly, however, that they needn't come to Belgrade expecting to get their fingers back in the Yugoslav pie, or to separate her from new Western friends, and that they agreed.

This, along with the fact that Molotov, who helped Stalin kick Yugoslavia out of the Cominform, is not included in the Russian negotiating party, shows the Russian visit is by no means merely a courtesy call.

THE GREAT CAP and GOWN CONTROVERSY

The cap and gown season is upon us, and with it comes the perennial question: which side of the cap should the tassel hang on?

This is an argument that arises every year to roil the academic world, and it is, alas, no closer to solution today than it was in 1604 when Fred Tassel invented the troublesome ornament.

Fred Tassel, incidentally, never made a penny from his invention. The sad fact is he never took out a patent on it. This tragic oversight becomes understandable, however, when one considers that patents were not invented till 1851 by Fred Patent, himself a pitiable figure. A compulsive handwasher, he died in his fourteenth year, leaving behind a wife and five spotless children.

But I digress. We were discussing which side of the cap the tassel should hang on.

For many years the universally accepted practice was to hang the tassel over the front of the cap. This practice was abandoned in 1942 when the entire graduating class of Northwestern University, blinded by tassels hanging in their eyes, made a wrong turn during commencement exercises and ended up at the Great Lakes Training Center where, all unwitting, they were inducted into the Navy for five year hitch.

There is one school of thought—large and growing daily larger—which holds that the tassel should be worn on the same side you carry your Philip Morris cigarettes. Thus a quick glance will show you where your Philip Morris are and save much time and fumbling.

This makes a good deal of sense because when one wants a Philip Morris, one wants one with a minimum of delay. One does not relish being kept, even for a second, from the clean, delicate flavor of Philip Morris, so artfully blended, so subtly concocted to please the keen and alert taste buds of young smokers. One chafes at any obstacle, however small, that is put in the way of enjoying this most edifying of cigarettes, so pleasing to the perceptive palate. Here, in king size or regular, at prices that do no violence to the slimmest of budgets, is a firm white cylinder of balm and pure, abiding content.

There is another group, small but vocal, that insists the tassel should hang over the back of the cap. The tassel, they say, is a symbol like the bullfighter's pigtail, signifying honor and courage.

They are wrong. Bullfighters wear pigtails for only one reason: to keep the backs of their necks warm. Do you have any idea what a draft a bull makes when he rushes past you? A plenty big one, you may be sure.

In fact, upper respiratory infections, contracted in the wake of passing bulls, are the largest single cause of bulling fatalities. I have this interesting statistic from the Bullfighters Mutual Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Connecticut, one of the few insurance companies in Hartford, Connecticut, which writes insurance exclusively for bullfighters. Incidentally, Hartford, the insurance capital of America, is a most interesting city and well worth a visit if you are ever in New England, as north-eastern United States is, for some reason, called. Hartford can be reached by bus, train, plane, and the Humboldt Current. Try to make your visit in spring, when the actuaries are in bloom.

But I digress. We were talking about what side to wear the tassel on. An ingenious solution to this troubling problem was proposed a few years ago by Fred Sigafoos, perhaps better known as "The Quoit King of Delaware." An early forerunner of Mr. Sigafoos, Humboldt Sigafoos (who later invented the current which bears his name) was granted a monopoly by King George III on all quoits manufactured in Delaware. Somehow the royal appointment was never rescinded and from that day to this, every quoit made in Delaware has been a Sigafoos Quoit.

Well, sir, Fred Sigafoos once suggested that an equitable settlement to the great tassel controversy would be to starch the tassels so they stood upright and hung on no side of the cap at all. Mr. Sigafoos was, of course, only seeking to broaden his market, because after graduation, what can you do with an upright tassel but hurl quoits at it?

The makers of PHILIP MORRIS who bring you this column make no recommendation about what side to hang the tassel on. But with cigarettes they say: Stay on the gentle, tasty, vintage side—with PHILIP MORRIS, of course.

Annual 'Code for Coeds' Goes to Printer

Copy and illustrations for the 1935 "Code for Coeds" are in the hands of the printer, according to Editor Janice Barnes, A2, Iowa City.

The booklet is prepared annually by a three-member staff, and is sent to all new women students. It contains information concerning dormitory life, campus organizations and activities, customs, and advice of a general interest to new students.

General content of the booklet remains the same each year, but the articles are rewritten yearly to include new data and to conform to the theme.

"Out of This World"
This year's theme, "Out of This World," will be carried out in drawings and articles in the 32-page booklet. About 2,200 copies will be printed by the SUI publication service in preparation for the summer mailing.

The 1935 edition will include the following articles: "New World" — an introduction; "Strictly Terrestrial" — describing Iowa City; "Second Cloud on the Left" — explaining dormitory life, its furnishings and facilities; "Swinging on a Star" — friendships; "Keys to the Kingdom" — orientation information; "Wings and Halos" — advice on what to wear when and where; "Keep Your Feet on the Ground" — study guides, registration, the adviser system and classes.

Lists Campus Groups
"Shining Star" — honorary groups on campus; "Stardust" — dances and parties; "Shower of Stars" — information on campus groups, how to become active in them and how to choose the right ones. "Higher Hemispheres" lists the religious groups, and the booklet concludes with "Hitch Your Wagon to a Star."

The publication is a UWA activity. Miss Barnes was assisted this year by Barbara Work, A3, Homewood, Ill., assistant editor, and Katharine Hefner, G, Lincolnton, N.C., art editor. The art work carries out the "heavenly" theme with drawings of fiendish-looking angels in appropriate settings. The cover will be pink with gray lettering.

Published Since 1937
Publication began in 1937 as a mimeographed booklet of do's and don'ts for new students, published by the freshman orientation council. The next year's edition was a 29-page printed booklet about the campus and activities, illustrated by photographs.

This pattern was followed with minor variations until 1945, when the booklet was designed to resemble newspaper pages. Since then each edition has had a theme, and drawings have replaced photographs.

Flowers Add Beauty To Wedding Service

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth in a series of articles to help brides with their wedding plans.)

As decorations or parts of your bridal outfit, flowers can lend dignity and warmth to your most memorable day.

Although white still is the favorite color, there is a trend toward delicate and skillful use of color in brides' and bridesmaids' bouquets.

Your florist can personalize your bouquet to complement your dress, carry out an overall color pattern, capitalize on the time or season of your wedding.

Florists classify bouquets into five different categories. Of course a bouquet can be a mixture of types, flowers and colors.

Styles of Bouquets
First the round, French or old-fashioned bouquet, flowers tightly packed in concentric circles, the traditional pattern. Then there is the loose old-fashioned bouquet more freely fastened. In the cascade, flowers just seem to fall lazily from the center. The flowers can be shaped into a crescent, perhaps into the same natural way in which they grow. And the newest addition, the basket, is a bouquet in a basket.

Foliage is being used again with reserve and careful selection, and bouquets made completely of it can be ordered. Coronets and tiaras of blossoms and foliage are popular, especially during the summer.

The flowers chosen should complement the gown. For a very lacy, fussy dress, a flower with some weight might be used, such as camellia, orchid or gardenia, with a touch of their own foliage. For satin, a light flower like lily of the valley or stephanotis is preferred.

Colors To Complement Gown
If the bridal dress has a slight tint of pink or blue in it, that color might be delicately placed in the bouquet. A pink bridesmaid's dress could have red roses of just the right color. A lavender gown might go with some violets mixed with white flowers.

The florists prefer that the bride bring samples of the dress material when she comes to choose flowers. About two weeks before the wedding is all the time needed for the bouquets. Start planning about one month before the wedding the overall floral decorations.

Church decorations may be governed by the preferences of the clergyman, the size of the church, the elaborateness of the affair and the number of guests.

Decorations, be they floral or candelabra, should lead the eye to the altar. Sections may be walled off if there are only a small number of guests in a very large church.

Altar Is the Center

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young scientist works on new ways to handle "hot" radioactive fuel

Whenever uranium is "burned" in an atomic reactor, certain valuable elements such as plutonium are left behind in the "ash."

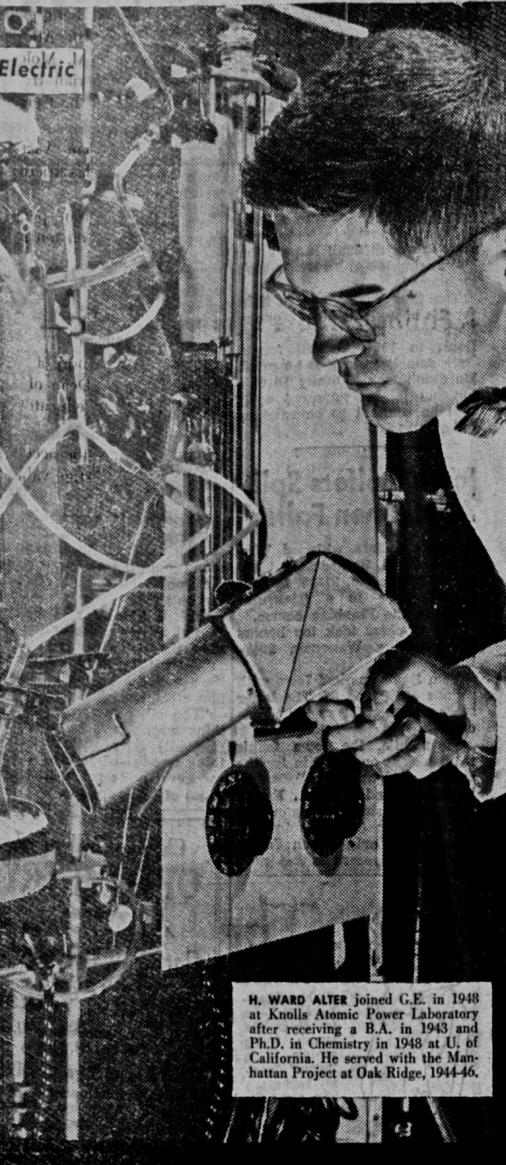

These products are highly radioactive, but they must be recovered because of their great value to the atomic energy program.

Alter's Work Is Vital, Important
Alter is doing his job well. He has already received the Coffin Award, General Electric's highest honor, for developing an apparatus that makes possible faster, safer, and more efficient recovery of the valuable elements in the "ash."

The work done by Alter and his group helps lower costs, increase efficiency and expand our knowledge of the chemical processing of spent radioactive fuels.

25,000 College Graduates at General Electric
When Alter came to General Electric in 1943, he already knew the work he wanted to do. Like each of the 25,000 college-graduate employees, he was given his chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: When fresh young minds are given freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the company, and the country.

H. WARD ALTER joined G.E. in 1943 at Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory after receiving a B.A. in 1943 and Ph.D. in Chemistry in 1948 at U. of California. He served with the Manhattan Project at Oak Ridge, 1944-46.

Marciano Retains Crown On TKO In Ninth

Cockell Cut Up As Early As 4th Round

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rocky Marciano sent courageous Don Cockell home to England on his shield Monday night, a blood-spattered technical knockout victim, in 54 seconds of the ninth round in the fifth defense of his world heavyweight title.

Referee Frankie Brown enfolded the fat-hog farmer in his arms to stop him from further punishment after he reeled drunkenly toward the ropes.

Cockell had been knocked through the ropes for a count of two when the bell rang ending the eighth round. Out for the kill the unbeaten 30-year-old Brockton, Mass., slugger swarmed over game Don with all the fury of his animal attack in the ninth.

Bitter Blows

A terrific right to the jaw, following up bitter punishment, dropped Cockell early in the ninth.

He got up and Marciano cut loose with a furious barrage that sent him down once more. This time he got up at five only to back off, weaving as he went, to bring the merciful ending from the referee.

While he lasted, the beefy Briton put up a whale of a scrap, belying his horrible performances in the gym. He just didn't have the punch to match Rocky's or the ability to keep on taking those wild swings. In the last few rounds he was an open target that always kept coming back for more.

Bloody Don

Cockell bled from a gash on his forehead as early as the fourth round and blood spurted from his nose at the same time. There was a red mark on his right cheek in the fifth.

Referee Brown scored it 49½-38½. Judge Jack Downey and Judge John Bassanelli both had it, 49-39, all with Marciano out in front. The Associated Press also had it, 49-39.

Cockell at 205 pounds was his lightest in many fights and Marciano at 189 was his heaviest ever as a champ. The Englishman was in shape for the battle of his life and went down swinging to earn the respect of the customers.

Crowd Applauds

As the battered sea blimp left the ring, he drew a loud salvo from the crowd of close to 25,000 that had gathered in the chill twilight at Kezar stadium.

If the 16½ foot ring bothered Cockell it didn't show. At times he outboxed the champion with his sharp left. Once in the sixth round he crashed home beautifully right on Marciano's chin when Rocky surged in wildly.

After the Bell

Twice Marciano pounded home a body punch after the bell—in the third and sixth rounds—as Cockell was backed into a neutral corner under a body barrage. It was difficult to hear the bell at ringside so Rocky couldn't be blamed.

The first Englishman to fight for the heavy title since Tommy Farr went 15 rounds with Joe Louis in 1937, Cockell fought back gamely as long as he could. He didn't look like any 10 to 1 bet but it was apparent early that he couldn't go on catching all night.

Iowa Golfers Split As Netmen Falter

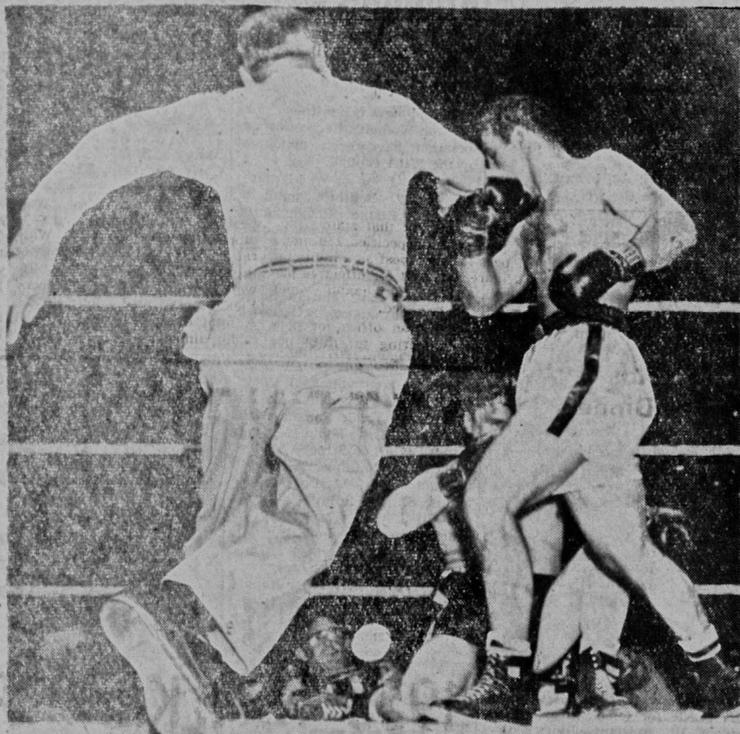

Iowa's golfers whipped Wisconsin, 28-14, Saturday, but fell before Minnesota, 31-29, to take second place in a triangular meet on the Finkbine course.

The Gophers took top honors by trouncing Wisconsin 26½-15½.

Tom Davis sparked Iowa with rounds of 68 and 67. The latter score was good for medalist honors.

Meanwhile, the Iowa tennis team took it on the chin for the second straight meet Saturday, bowing to Indiana, 8-1, Friday at lost to Western Michigan, 9-0.

No. 2 man Gene Nadig won the Hawks' only match Saturday. Iowa's record is 2-4 now.

REFeree FRANK BROWN RUSHES IN to stop champion Rocky Marciano after challenger Don Cockell goes down in the ninth round of their title bout in Kezar stadium at San Francisco Monday night. Marciano was awarded a technical knockout.

Rocky, Manager Praise Cockell's Courage

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rocky Marciano fingered his supposedly tender nose in the Kezar stadium dressing room Monday night after stopping England's Don Cockell in the 9th round of their heavyweight championship fight.

"He's got a lot of guts," Marciano told a crowd of newsmen who besieged him.

"He took it, he took everything I had, and he kept standing up. He's an underrated fighter."

Cockell's Manager Cries 'Raw Deal'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Don Cockell said a "raw deal" by champion Rocky Marciano, Referee Frankie Brown and California's Athletic commission cost him his main chance at the world heavyweight title Monday.

However, in the next breath, the sullen Englishman said he gladly would fight Marciano again any place, including California, if such a bout were arranged.

Marciano's manager, Al Weill, virtually had assured Cockell of such a chance when he came to Don's dressing room and congratulated him for "a terrific fight."

"Go out and win one of two," Weill told Cockell, "and we'll fight you again."

Cockell said he would resume training in four months and would look forward to another chance at Marciano.

Most of the "raw deal" charges were made by Cockell's manager, John Simpson, and members of the British press.

Cockell, sullen and very reluctant to talk, said only that he had received a raw deal and parried further questions as he left with his wife.

"There'll be tomorrow," he said.

Simpson said repeatedly that Marciano butted Cockell high on the forehead in the second round and "it took three rounds for Don to clear his head after the butt."

Cockell himself said he was "dazed for one and a half rounds after the butt."

"Cockell landed one little low blow and the referee cautioned him right away," Simpson said. "The other guy can do anything wrong here but when he (Cockell) does just one little thing wrong—whoosh!" Simpson never quite got to finish because of interruptions.

Hawks End Dual Contests on Road

The final dual contests of 1954-55, with all four spring sports teams active, are next on the Iowa sports schedule.

Seven events are booked between Wednesday and next Monday, including three baseball games, two golf meets, a tennis match and a track meet. Only the tennis meet with Notre Dame Saturday is at home.

The track team, picking up strength as it goes along, takes on Minnesota at Minneapolis Wednesday in its last dual meet. Iowa has beaten Wisconsin and Ft. Leonard Wood and lost to Missouri.

In baseball, the Hawkeyes end their season with a three-game road trip. They are at Northwestern for a single game Friday and at Wisconsin Saturday for a double-header. Iowa, now sharing last place with Indiana on a 3-7 record, has raised its hopes of climbing out of the cellar after winning from Indiana and Ohio State last weekend.

Iowa's golf team, winner of six of eight meets, plays Notre Dame there Saturday and follows Monday with a meet at Purdue. Hawkeyes have beaten Indiana, Illinois, Northwestern and Wisconsin of the Big Ten, losing only to Minnesota.

Doc Says Minoso Injury Not Bad

NEW YORK (AP)—Minnie Minoso, Chicago White Sox star outfielder who was injured at Washington Sunday, suffered strained ligaments in his right foot and not a fracture, an attending physician said Monday.

Minoso was hurt in a needless slide into third base during a game with the Senators. He was examined in a New York hospital after the Sox arrived for their series opening tonight with the Yankees. It was not known whether Minoso would be able to play in the series.

Unmarried Woman Names Sox Hurler In Paternity Suit

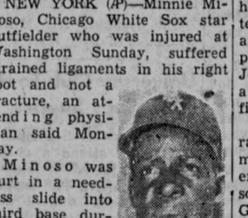

CHICAGO (AP)—A Louisville, Ky., woman named Virgil Trucks, White Sox pitching star, as the father of her 7-year-old son in a suit filed in U.S. District Court Monday.

The woman, Lillian Dobbs Priddy, asked the court to direct Trucks to pay her $24,300 for support of the boy, Michael Hale Trucks.

She set forth in the suit that Trucks, 36, acknowledged paternity of the boy and contributed to his support until Oct. 1952 when Trucks married his present wife. Miss Priddy said she and Trucks never married, and that the pitcher asked her not to name him the father because it would endanger his baseball career.

Harold Johnson, Handlers Accused in 'Faked' Match

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Boxer Harold Johnson, No. 1 light heavyweight contender, three handlers and matchmaker Pete Moran Monday were accused of covering up a "fake" boxing match.

The charges were leveled by the Pennsylvania State Athletic commission at the second session of an investigation into boxing ordered by Gov. George M. Leader. The governor last week suspended boxing in the state for 90 days following the Johnson-Julio bout May 6.

Johnson collapsed after two rounds of the nationally televised bout and Mederos, a Cuban heavyweight, was awarded a technical knockout victory. Examination by physicians and a police investigation disclosed Johnson was drugged. Traces of a barbiturate were found in the fighter's system.

Named with Johnson and Moran in the commission's indictment were the fighter's handlers, Clarence (Skinny) Davidson, Joseph Roland and Lou Gross. Johnson's manager of record, Tommy Loughrey, was not listed in the indictment.

Two commission physicians were the first to testify. Dr. Alfred Ayella said he did not believe Johnson administered to himself the barbiturate drug which caused his collapse.

"The type of drug used on Johnson is not one he would have taken himself before a fight," Dr. Ayella said. "He would have taken a stimulant, not a barbiturate. Johnson would be attempting suicide to take a barbiturate before a fight with a slugger like Mederos."

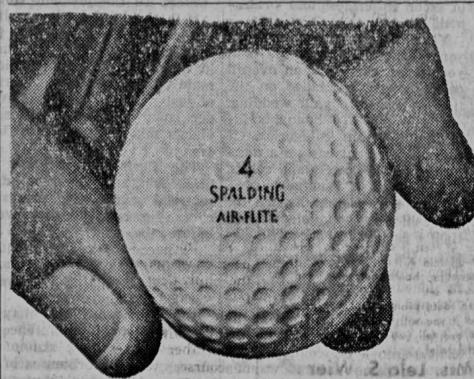

Dr. Wilbur Strickland testified to a conversation he had with Johnson at Hahnemann hospital after the fighter had been removed from the arena on a stretcher.

"I asked Harold a number of questions and the only thing he kept saying was, 'This orange is bitter, Skinny. This orange is bitter, Skinny. This is the bitterest orange I have ever tasted in my life, Skinny.'"

Johnson complained before the fight of eating an orange that tasted "bitter." The fighter reportedly became dizzy and nauseous. But he claimed to be all right and was allowed to go on with the fight.

Because of Pennsylvania's primary election Tuesday, the hearing was recessed until Wednesday.

Newly-Traded Ball Players Not Faring Well This Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Except for fireballer Bob Turley and a couple of lesser lights, players traded by one major league club to another since the end of last season are not faring too well, a check showed Monday.

Turley is pitching just about the best ball in the American league. The strong-armed right-hander, one of the eighteen players who figured in the gigantic winter deal between Baltimore and New York, has won six of seven for the Yankees.

The two biggest disappointments have been Baltimore's Gene Woodling and Cincinnati's Ray Jablonski.

Three Gone
Three of the nine players shipped by the Yankees to Baltimore are gone. Of the others, only rookie Hal Smith has given Manager Paul Richards cause to smile occasionally. The young catcher has nailed down the first string job with .313 hitting and solid receiving.

Woodling, who was expected to provide the big punch in the cleanup spot for Baltimore is hitting only .219. Gus Triandos, the big first baseman, is doing a little better with .238.

Shortstop Willie Miranda, at .242, hasn't been fielding up to expectations and pitchers Harry Byrd and Jim McDonald have knees is not causing great joy to Detroit.

Kiner in Slump
Cleveland is still marking time waiting for Ralph Kiner to break loose from the slump that has shackled him since the start of the season. The former National league home run king has hit four home runs for the Indians but he's driven in only 11 runs and he's batting only .215.

Sam Jones, whom the Indians shipped to the Chicago Cubs along with a bundle of cash for Kiner, already has distinguished himself by pitching the majors' only no-hitter—a 4-0 victory over Pittsburgh. It was Jones' fourth victory against three losses.

A change of scenery appears to have done wonders for Jim Greengrass. The outfielder, who was traded by Cincinnati to Philadelphia along with catcher Andy Seminick and outfielder Glen Gorbous for Steve Ridzik, Smoky Burgess and Stan Palys, was roaring along at a .406 pace until he was sidelined by a leg injury. He was batting a meager .105 with Cincinnati. Neither Seminick nor Gorbous has distinguished himself thus far.

Burgess Improves
Burgess, with 13 hits in 36 times at bat (.333) also has improved his batting average since the trade but Ridzik has lost both his starts in a new uniform and Palys has made only two hits in 10 times at bat.

The biggest disappointment has been Jablonski, who was traded by the St. Louis Cardinals along with Gerry Staley to Cincinnati for relief pitcher Frank Smith. Jablonski, who drove in 100 or more runs two years in a row with the Cards, is hitting .202 as a Redleg. Staley has fared better splitting six decisions while Smith sports a 1-1 record.

Hungarian Looms As Latest Threat To 4-Minute Mile

LONDON (AP)—With track and field enthusiasts debating who will be the next four-minute miler, now is as good a time as any to mention the name of Sandor Iharos.

The lean, 25-year-old Hungarian with the jet black hair will get his chance to step out of the metric world into linear dimensions May 28 at London's White City stadium. There, in the annual British Games, he will race Britain's two great mile hopes, Brian Newson and Chris Chataway.

Iharos (pronounced ee-hah-rosh) hasn't made much of a mark yet in international competition. At 22, he failed to qualify in his 1,500-meter heat in the 1952 Helsinki Olympics. He was ahead for the first three laps and then faded to finish in a slow 3:56, in sixth spot.

At 24, in the European Championships last year at Berne, Iharos wound up sixth in the 1,500-meter final won by Britain's Roger Bannister. Iharos was clocked in 3:47.

Yet, Iharos had set the European 1,500-meter record of 3:42.4, the equivalent of a 4:01 mile, a few weeks before.

The world mile mark is 3:58 by Australia's John Landy. The only other four-minute miler, of course, was Dr. Bannister 3:59.4. Both Landy and Bannister have retired.

300 Needed To Man 24-Hour Air Watch

About 300 volunteers are needed to staff the Iowa City ground observer corps post on a 24-hour basis, Leo Ruppert, county corps chairman, said Monday.

A 24-hour duty program was announced Saturday by Gov. Leo A. Hoegh. All posts in the state will go on round-the-clock duty July 14.

At present, said Ruppert, there are between 40 and 45 volunteers on the roster of the local post. The post now operates only during alerts.

Ruppert said that state headquarters had specified 150 members for each post as a minimum figure, but that for effective patrol, at least 300 men and women will be required.

A registration office for persons volunteering for duty has been set up in the Chamber of Commerce, 104 S. Linn st. Persons willing to assist in the program are asked to register there.

Major Hans Smithline, chief administrator of the Des Moines filter center, said the state currently has only about 10,000 volunteer observers. He said that a total of 60,000 will be needed to meet the new schedule.

17-Year-Old Admits Sioux City Shooting

DAKOTA CITY, Neb. (AP)— Sheriff Tony Goodsell said Monday that Roland Leroy Leedom, 17, of Sioux City, Iowa, had admitted the "puzzling shooting" of a filling station attendant at Sioux City last Saturday night.

The sheriff made his announcement following the signing of a statement by the youth, in which he said only that he fired a shot at a man in a filling station.

The injured man is E. L. Denning, 44, reported in critical condition at a Sioux City hospital.

Leedom was arrested by a Nebraska highway patrolman, who had chased him for speeding.

Pep Club To Recruit Card Section Today

The Hawk "I" Pep club opens today a drive to recruit 200 permanent card section members for the 1955 football season.

This is a step to improve the SUI card section by forming it around a nucleus of experienced members, club officers said.

Those wishing to apply for permanent membership may do so today and Wednesday at the pep club booth in the basement of Schaeffer hall.

Former members of the Hawk "I" Pep club who wish to remain in the club next year must apply at the booth. Students selected from the applications to be permanent members of the 1955-56 pep club will be notified next week.

The card section will occupy the same seats as last year. Permanent members will have first choice of seats and the rest will be allotted to housing units.

The band will also be coordinated with the card section next year during the half-time performance. A loud speaker will be used to announce the card formations.

The rules for the 1955 section as formulated by the pep club are:

1. A practice will be held in the stadium at 12:30 p.m. on the day of the game. All seats must be filled at this time. A housing unit may lose its card section seats if its area is not filled at that time.

2. Each housing unit will select a card section director to be responsible for his unit and to the executive of the club.

3. Permanent members must be in attendance at every home game.

Three To Receive Engineer's Awards

Three SUI engineering students have been awarded prizes for papers submitted in a contest sponsored by the Cedar Rapids section of the Institute of Radio Engineers.

Receiving awards are John A. Brady, E3, Tipton; Aristidis Ratanis, E4, Iowa City, and Donald R. Wilson, E4, Cedar Rapids.

The men will receive their awards Wednesday at an institute meeting in the Collins Radio company building in Cedar Rapids.

SUI Seeks Blood Substitute For Mass Transfusion Use

Blood substitutes for the mass transfusions which a major disaster could necessitate are being sought in a research project at SUI's college of medicine.

Prof. Steven M. Horvath, of the physiology department, is directing the studies, with part of the financial support coming from the medical research and development board of the army surgeon general's office.

Horvath says there are a number of temporary substances which can be used for transfusions in the event of a disaster. However, none of them is effective for long periods of time. The need, he explains, is for a solution which will replace the blood long enough for the body to make up a major portion of the blood loss.

The scientist says the problem being anticipated is one of perhaps thousands of persons needing blood when either none or an inadequate quantity is immediately available. In such a situation, one of the temporary substances, known as plasma expanders, could be used immediately if a stockpile of the material were on hand. (Plasma is the fluid in which the blood cells are suspended during their course through the body.)

If blood could be moved into a stricken area shortly after a disaster, the present expanders would serve their temporary purpose. But if blood were still unavailable after approximately six hours, transfusions of the expanders would have to be repeated.

The reason for this, Horvath explains, is that the expanders developed so far do not stay in the blood. Unlike the body's real plasma, they are lost through the kidney and in various tissues of the body.

At present, he emphasizes, there is no real substitute for blood. The need for blood donors is as great as ever, and in a disaster, the need would be even greater—regardless of how successfully expanders are used, he said.

Tribune Company Publishers Named

CHICAGO (AP) — Publishers of the Chicago Tribune and the New York News were appointed Monday at the annual meeting of directors of the Tribune company.

Chesser M. Campbell, president of the Tribune Company, was named publisher of the Tribune. The Tribune has been without a publisher since the death April 1 of Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher.

F. M. Flynn, president of the News Syndicate Co., Inc., the subsidiary which publishes the New York News, was named publisher of that newspaper.

The Tribune Company owns the Tribune, News and affiliated enterprises.

ORIENTATION MAKE-UP
A women's orientation make-up meeting will be held today at 4:10 p.m. in the Board room of Old Capitol for all leaders and assistants who missed the training school Monday. Any worker who has not attended either Monday's meeting or the make-up meeting will be cut from the program.

2 To Be Honored By Education Group

A professor of education and a state representative will be honored tonight by the SUI chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, professional educational fraternity.

Prof. Harry A. Greene, a member of the college of education since 1919, will be guest of honor at the dinner. An active member of Phi Delta Kappa for 39 years, Greene plans to retire from the university later this year.

In a ceremony after the dinner, a Phi Delta Kappa service key will be awarded to Earl A. Miller (R-Cedar Falls), an SUI alumnus. A former teacher, Miller will be the principal speaker of the evening, describing the progress of school bills through the recent session of the legislature.

He held three occupants of an upstairs apartment captive for an hour but did not harm them.

Wants Practical Ship

House Committee Head Suggests U.S. Build Atomic Powered Ship To Carry Freight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the house merchant marine committee urged Monday that the U.S. build a "practical" atomic-powered merchant ship instead of the "Mississippi river showboat" proposed by President Dwight Eisenhower.

Rep. Herbert Bonner (D-N.C.) and other members of the committee did not come out against President Eisenhower's plan to build an A-ship and send it around the world as a demonstration of how atomic energy can be put to peaceful uses.

But Bonner said the group is more interested in an experimental vessel which would be economically feasible and "actually carry some freight."

What the President apparently has in mind, Bonner said, would be some kind of an "international sideshow, carnival or Mississippi river showboat."

He announced he would introduce a bill for the construction of a second ship.

President Eisenhower hasn't asked congress for the funds to carry out his idea.

The committee received a report Monday from Dr. W. Kenneth Davis, director of the Atomic Energy Commission's reactor division, on the prospects of developing atomic power plants for merchant vessels.

Davis said the plant proposed for the Eisenhower ship would be almost the same as the one installed in the atomic submarine Nautilus. He estimated the surface ship would take 24 to 30 months to complete.

P & G Digging 90% Finished

The digging of the foundation trench for the new Procter and Gamble drug products plant south of Iowa City has started. Excavation work at the plant site has been 90 per cent completed, Barker Construction company officials said.

The excavation is now being filled with sand and gravel. The filling and grading work on the plant site is to be completed by June 20.

Construction work is scheduled to start in August.

Valiant Mail Clerk Bags 15,000 Bees

MOULTONBOROUGH, N. H. (AP) — Somewhere between here and Mississippi is an unsung railway mail clerk.

Roger Larson, beekeeper, told the story recently. Larson received via parcel post from Mississippi a shipment of bees in five-pound boxes.

One of the boxes, damaged en route, arrived a day late. Fragments of the box and a number of its 15,000 occupants were delivered in a tightly sealed, angrily buzzing mail bag.

"Imagine," said Larson, "what it must have been like when the 15,000 bees escaped in a closed railway car . . . and what mail clerk, without bee veil, smoke-pot or regard for personal safety, got those bees into the mail sack?"

SUI Named to Study Enrollment Costs Data

SUI has been named one of 11 institutions to take part in a $150,000 study of costs and operating data in the face of growing enrollments, the office of the Ford Foundation Fund for the Advancement of Education announced today.

The grant is designed to establish a uniform method of reporting cost and other factors in the instruction and research, general and administration, and physical plant areas of higher education, explains Fred W. Ambrose, SUI chief of plant utilization and additions. He and Provost H. H. Davis are the Iowa representatives in the project, which will be known as "The California and Western Conference Cost and Statistical Study."

In each of the participating institutions the data will be collected locally and sent to the program's central study staff at Purdue university. Reported so it can be processed on office machines, the data will serve as useful "yardsticks" by which to measure future operating practices, costs and needs, Ambrose points out.

The University of California will serve as fiscal agent and provide much of the leadership for the project, completion of which is expected to take at least one year. Other participating institutions include Indiana, Ohio State, Northwestern, Michigan State and Purdue universities, the universities of Illinois, Minnesota, Michigan and Wash. college of Crawfordville, Ind.

Mosse Lauds 'Scholar Teachers'

38 Initiated Into Phi Beta Kappa

Prof. George L. Mosse of the SUI history department said Monday night that having scholar-teachers on its staff makes a university great.

This, in turn, makes a great freshman program, Mosse said. Mosse spoke to members of the SUI chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary fraternity, at a banquet in the Iowa Memorial Union. The chapter initiated 38 new members before the banquet Monday night.

Mosse said that universities should be in a position to provide research leaves and publish research finds of the faculty. Mosse recently resigned his SUI position to accept one at the University of Wisconsin.

"To give the new student those challenges which are just a little above his head," Mosse said, "the professor should consistently lecture just a little above his head and assign texts and readings which need effort."

Mosse defended the core course program that is being used at SUI. He is director of the western civilization core course.

"The average freshman is not equipped to make free choices about what basic subject he should know," Mosse said.

"We have to use some compulsion to plant his feet on the road toward academic virtue, lest we lose out and the always-present non-academic side of campus life win a singular victory."

Thirty-seven students and Joanne Smiley of Bloomington, Ill., a February graduate, were initiated into the fraternity at ceremonies in Old Capitol.

FOLLOWING THE INITIATION OF 38 members into Phi Beta Kappa Monday night, the organization held a banquet in the Iowa Memorial Union River room. The speakers table is pictured above.

To be eligible for election to Phi Beta Kappa, students must have a 3.2 scholastic average and be a candidate for a bachelor of arts degree.

SUI students initiated (all are liberal arts seniors): Jacqueline Yates, Adair; Phyllis Dyer, Allerton; John F. Ferguson, Ames; David G. Rife, Anamosa; Gloria Boeck, Burlington; Zane Etes, Cedar Rapids; Marjorie Hahn, Cedar Rapids; Leonard Ross, Centerville; Sue P. Piper, Chariton; Thomas Dunk, Clinton; John R. Orr, Columbus Junction; Joelle Keizer, Council Bluffs; and Richard Thornton, Council Bluffs.

Singapore Chief Denounces Leftist Malayan Party Riots

SINGAPORE (AP) — W. A. Goode, Singapore's chief secretary, Monday denounced a leftist Malayan party "and their covert Communist supporters and backseat drivers" for the industrial unrest that led to fatal rioting here last Thursday.

Four persons were killed and 36 injured in the riots. Among the dead was an American news correspondent, Gene Symonds of Dayton, Ohio. Symonds was United Press Manager for Southeast Asia.

Goode presented a motion at an emergency meeting of the newly elected legislative assembly to return emergency powers to police to declare a curfew. The motion carried quickly.

"Horror Created" The riots show the "horror which can be created by irresponsible political leaders" who used workers and students to challenge the constituted authority, Goode said.

"We have suffered a disgrace to the reputation of Singapore throughout the world," he said, "and in particular in that great and friendly democracy which has always shown its full sympathy to peoples moving toward self-government — one of whose citizens has been savagely beaten to death by a mob of Singapore people."

Goode then fired a broadside at the extremist People's Action party.

"Wanted Violence" "The PAP and their covert Communist supporters and backseat drivers wanted violence and bloodshed and industrial unrest."

Barge Lines Make Reasonable Profit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Barge Lines, Inc., made a "reasonable profit" operating the Inland Waterways corporation which it bought from the government in July, 1953.

Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks, whose department formerly operated the barge line, told a house appropriations subcommittee the private operators held their "relative position" with competitors on the basis of first-year operations.

Weeks said the profit resulted "notwithstanding the fact" that the operators were subjected to interest payments and taxes which were not applicable to the former government operation.

Weeks testified behind closed doors on April 18. His testimony was made public by the committee.

Siamese Girls Die Monday In Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit's Siamese twin girls died at 6:20 p.m. Monday night after less than 34 hours of life.

Authorities at Mt. Carmel Mercy hospital, where the twins were born Sunday to a 27-year-old factory worker's wife, said it was believed they died of circulatory or respiratory deficiencies. The authorities added, however, that the cause could not be authoritatively determined until an autopsy is performed.

The twins, who together weighed 12 pounds and 14 ounces, had become steadily weaker through the day. They were joined at the chest from necks to abdomens.

The two brown-haired little girls were placed in an incubator immediately after birth to Mrs. Nona Herring, mother of two other normal children. They were delivered by Caesarean section at 9:40 a.m. Sunday.

Mt. Carmel hospital said preliminary examinations indicated the girls had a joint breast bone but separate hearts and lungs.

Mrs. Herring, of suburban Redford township, didn't learn until Monday that the twins she had been expecting were joined. Sadly, she told her husband, Richard: "I'm glad we have two normal children at home."

High Court Rejects Ohio Tax Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme court cited some of its earliest rulings Monday in reaffirming that federal securities are immune from state taxation.

The 8-0 decision struck down an attempt by Ohio to include federal obligations owned by mutual savings banks in computing a state intangible property tax. The banks had contended the obligations could be deducted from their assets as nontaxable items.

The opinion was the first written by Justice John Marshall Harlan of New York since he was appointed to the court March 28. Justice Burton, an Ohioan, took no part.

Decision by Marshall Harlan went all the way back to a decision by Chief Justice John Marshall in 1819. In that case, the court held that Maryland could not tax a federal bank. Harlan also referred to a broader decision 10 years later immunizing federal securities from state taxation.

Harlan said the 1829 ruling, was aimed at protecting the borrowing power of the United States from state encroachment. In other actions Monday, the court:

1. Refused to rule on the convictions of three Cleveland newsmen on contempt charges for taking a courtroom picture. The court rejected the appeal without comment. This let stand a decision of the Ohio Supreme court upholding the conviction.

2. Reversed the contempt convictions of two Detroit men by the same judge before whom they appeared while he was sitting in secret as a one-man grand jury. The court, however, did not pass upon legality of Michigan's one-man grand jury which must be heard by another judge.

In judging three members of the staff of the Cleveland Press in contempt of court, Common Pleas Judge Joseph H. Silbert said they violated his instructions that no pictures be taken during the arraignment on embezzlement charges of former probate judge Nelson J. Brewer.

In asking the Supreme court to overturn the Ohio Supreme court decision the newsmen contended their convictions violated the freedom of the press guaranteed by the First Amendment. The Ohio Supreme court, in upholding the convictions, said the picture ban did not work against freedom of the press.

Judge Silbert had imposed these penalties: City Editor Louis Clifford, fined $500 and costs and ordered into custody of the sheriff for one hour; reporter Sam Gialmo, $100 and costs; photographer James Thomas, $100 and costs which were suspended.

The prizes are awarded from a fund established by the late Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, an SUI graduate.

Bao Dai Loses His Imperial Guard

DALAT, South Viet Nam (AP)—Chief of State Bao Dai lost his imperial guard Monday and his crown lands were transferred formally to control of the free Viet Nam government.

Premier Ngo Dinh Diem traveled to Dalat from Saigon for the ceremonies merging the guardsmen with the national army and giving his administration title to the mountain territories formerly ruled solely by Bao Dai, the ex-Emperor of Annam.

It was the first time since the beginning of the political-military crisis in mid-March that Diem had left the capital.

Diem Signs Order
Sunday Diem signed an order incorporating the imperial guard into the army. This act eliminated the last important independent military force in South Viet Nam. Private armies of the Hoa Hao and Cao Dai religious sects and the Binh Xuyen society have been reduced and scattered since the Binh Xuyen launched its rebellion last month. Many units of the sect armies now are in the national army.

The crown lands actually were relinquished by Bao Dai to a French administrator some time ago. They were signed over to the Vietnamese government a little over a month ago, but Monday brought ceremonial observance of the transfer and ended the last bit of French administration.

Garrisons Leave
The last of the French garrison, at Hai Phong, port of Hanoi, sailed for Saigon Sunday night, leaving the Communist Vietminh complete control of the northern half of Viet Nam.

At the same time, the last of the Vietminh troops remaining in the south when the Geneva armistice agreement was signed, about 30,000 men, departed for the north by sea.

This completes the regrouping of the former belligerents specified in the armistice agreement.

Charged with Murder

State Center Man Denies He Lied To Bank Inspector

MARSHALLTOWN (AP)—W. L. Haesemeyer, State Center banker, denied at his trial here Monday he ever told a federal bank examiner that cattle listed as security on two notes did not exist.

Haesemeyer is charged with making false entries or statements on records of the State Center bank of which he is president.

Testimony in the trial thus far has centered around two notes, one for $45,000 and another for $15,180 signed by Martin Schaper with whom Haesemeyer entered a cattle feeding partnership in 1951.

Last week Charles W. Lee, examiner for the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation (FDIC) testified for the state Haesemeyer admitted to him during a bank examination in June, 1952 that 393 head of cattle listed as security on the notes did not exist. The state charges Haesemeyer showed the notes on May 29, 1952 to State Bank Examiner E. B. Wilkinson with intent to deceive.

The defendant testified that when Wilkinson made his examination the cattle were quartered in Marshall and Jones counties.

Haesemeyer admitted telling bank examiners that he and Schaper were not in a partnership but testified he did so because he felt it was "not good business" to indiscriminately "release the private business dealings of a bank executive."

Court Holds Youth for Trial In North Carolina Slaying

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Richard Kluckhohn, charged with murder in a shooting which he insists was an "awful, dreadful accident," Monday was held for trial in superior court.

City Judge Albert Doub ruled at a preliminary hearing that there was "sufficient evidence of probable cause" to carry the case to the higher court.

Kluckhohn, 21-year-old son of two Harvard professors, will be held without bond pending the trial. The next superior court term begins June 6.

A traveling representative of a publisher, he is accused in the death of Miss Bernice Seawell, a Washington, D.C., government worker. Miss Seawell was wounded fatally in a downtown parking lot last Friday.

In his decision, Doub pointed to testimony of Patrolman G. R. Creel, Chapel Hill, Creel, who arrested Kluckhohn three and one-half hours after the shooting, quoted Kluckhohn as saying he was "dry firing" a German Lugar pistol in his hotel room when the gun fired.

Directly behind Kluckhohn were his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Clyde Kay Maben Kluckhohn, and the girl he had planned to marry in June, blonde Ellen Waldron, 21, of Chicago, Ill.

Miss Waldron, who met Richard when they were students at the University of Chicago, refused to talk to reporters.

Miss Seawell was in Raleigh on a shopping trip while visiting relatives near Sanford when the mysterious Friday-the-13th shooting snuffed out her life.

In a pouring rain, she was preparing to enter an auto with her sister, Mrs. J. H. Patterson of Sanford, when a sharp noise was heard and Miss Seawell slumped against the car fender. She died before reaching a hospital.

During the ride, zoo officials go through the cars with an assortment of animals including a hedgehog, screech owl, desecrated skunk, opossum, sparrow hawk, and the boa constrictor and alligator.

Bob Hope—

million miles during his career, and he has played all through Iowa.

"But I've never taken the narrow path to Iowa City," Hope said. "Those highways must have been built for bicycles or English cars."

Hope, who was born in England but brought up in Cleveland, said he loves the mid-west and when away from it is "nostalgic about its lush countryside."

Hope's biggest interest in the mid-west is undoubtedly the Cleveland Indians. He's a part owner.

"They'll win the pennant," he said. "They have the best team they ever had and Herb Score, their young pitcher, can be the sensation of the year."

Aside from the hectic pace, Hope said his biggest problem was the constant search for new material.

"I'm always freshening up my routine," he said. The biggest refreshers, he observed, are the newspapers. "If Godfrey doesn't fire somebody," he quipped, "I have it hard."

He said he once had as many as twelve writers working for his radio show. "They wrote enough for two hours each week and I would boil it down to one-half hour," he said. "We finished with a lot of cream."

This kind of work and editing, says Hope, has given him one of the best files of jokes in the business. Packed in clips that he can machine gun at the rate of six a minute on a radio show, the file helped to keep him and his show on the number one spot in radio for five years.

It is also partly responsible for his great success as a master of ceremonies. He has emceed nine Academy Award nights including the last one which was televised from both New York and Hollywood.

Hope is to visit the Iowa City Veterans hospital this morning. He then has an engagement in Des Moines, after which he must rush back to California for more work on a TV show scheduled for May 24.

After the TV show, Hope is going to Australia where he will make a ten day publicity tour for the Australian world premiere of "The Seven Little Foes."

Predicts Reds To Attempt To Break Pact

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sen. William Knowland (R-Calif.) predicted Monday night Russia soon will attempt to "neutralize" Yugoslavia, Germany, Norway and Denmark in an effort to break up the Western European defense alliance.

Knowland, the senate republican leader, said in a speech to the Cleveland Engineering society he believes the Soviets are aiming at a "completely neutralized Scandinavian block."

Saying the neutralization of Austria already had been accomplished through the peace treaty signed Sunday in Vienna, Knowland predicted a stepped-up drive which may make 1955 "one of the most decisive dates in world history."

He said he expects the Russians to avoid the treaty requirements.

Speed Up Mediation Efforts For Southern Bell Strike

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Stepped-up mediation efforts were planned Monday to try and work out a settlement of the 63-day-old Southern Bell Telephone company strike.

Two federal mediators who have been conducting bargaining conferences in Atlanta conferred in Washington with Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Finnegan said he reviewed developments in the strike with assistant director Clyde M. Mills and commissioner E. Marvin Sconyers and then instructed them to return immediately to Atlanta for more talks.

Spokesmen for Southern Bell and the CIO Communications Workers of America both have expressed hope that an agreement may be in sight.
