Ike's Policy Makes Airmen Change Tale?

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet air force got built up and then cut down Friday in a swift change of words by another U.S. air force officer. Administration policy may have been behind the alteration.

Lt. Gen. Thomas S. Power, in a speech prepared for a Boston air power conference, said the Soviet Union now has the world's largest air force and "resources in manpower and material we could not possibly match."

Before delivering the speech, however, Power changed his text to credit the Reds with only "a large air force" and to say "the Soviets have impressive resources in manpower and material," without stating that this country's couldn't match them.

Other 'Change' Told

The Russians suffered similar casualties Thursday when Brig. Gen. Woodbury M. Burgess was reported to have told a Detroit audience: "The Russian air force is currently at least as good as ours, possibly better."

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, air force chief of staff, subsequently told newsmen here that Burgess "did not tell the truth" and had "exaggerated" in his speech. Burgess entered a claim that he had been misquoted. Administration policy seemed to be asserting itself, since Burgess' Detroit statements did not exactly square with President Eisenhower's assessment of the situation.

At his news conference Wednesday, Mr. Eisenhower rejected any view that the U.S. has lost control of the air to Russia. "It is just not true," he said.

May Day 'Might'

The fears that maybe Russia had got ahead stemmed from an air force release last week telling of powerful planes the Russians paraded over Moscow on May day. Some skeptical legislators felt maybe the release was designed to impress congress, where the air force budget is pending, but that it misled and scared the citizenry. The air force insisted it was just being frank with the taxpayers.

Burgess is chief of intelligence for the continental air command. Power is commanding general of the U.S. air force research development command.

A Pentagon spokesman said Power did not change his speech at the request of Washington. A new amendment to be careful in speech-making went out to officers after the Burgess incident, however, and Power may have been guided by this. He did not say.

Many Make Speeches

Today is Armed Forces day, and many military men are making speeches around the country.

In New York, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther said the Red air force is "quite a long way behind ours" in long-range bombers. The supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe spoke at a West Point society luncheon.

Without naming the person to whom he referred, Gruenther said he did not agree with "a certain person of importance in the world" that we should reach agreement with Russia because her long range air force may soon surpass ours.

Boy, 3, Killed In Plow Accident

LONE TREE — Douglas Galloway, 3, was fatally injured in an accident on his father's farm, two miles south of here Thursday night.

The boy had been riding the plow pulled by a tractor which his father, Elmer Galloway, was driving. When the tractor was stopped the boy jumped down and the momentum of the wheel carried the wheel of the plow over him.

Douglas was taken to Mercy hospital where he died of internal injuries.

Services will be held in St. Mary's church at 9 a.m. today. Burial will be in the Lone Tree cemetery.

Today would have been the boy's fourth birthday.

GETTING READY FOR A unique flight, First Lt. John M. Conroy of the California National Guard, will attempt today to be the first pilot to make a round-trip coast-to-coast flight between sunrise and sunset. He plans to have breakfast in Los Angeles, lunch in New York city and dinner in Los Angeles. Designed to stimulate interest in Armed Forces day, the flight is expected to last 11 hours. Conroy will fly a slightly different course on the return flight.

Putney Raps Athletics Board On Student Seating Request

Mark Putney, LI, Gladbrook, SUI Student Council president, Friday criticized the athletics board of control for lack of action on the council's request for a change in student seating at athletic contests.

The council earlier this month asked for two changes:

1. Increase student seating at football games by 600 seats to 9,000. This figure would include seating for the Scottish Highlanders and the SUI band.
2. Revise the student spouse ticket program. The proposal is to sell semester tickets to the wives of students for $5. At present the athletic passes cost $17 for two semesters.

Dr. George S. Easton, chairman of the athletic board said of the recommendations:

"No action has yet been taken and it is not known whether any will be taken before the summer recess."

"To Proper Committee"

Easton reportedly told Student Council members that the suggestions would be referred to the proper council committee.

This action left the council members far from pleased, Putney said.

"The council feels," said Putney, "that if no action is taken before the summer vacation, it will be impossible to find a remedy by the next football season, and the same problem will present itself next year."

Expect More Students

The council's recommendations to the board noted that the registrar's office expects an increase in student enrollment next fall at SUI.

"On three occasions during the 1954 home football season," the report said, "students were forced to sit in the aisles or stand in the tunnels."

The council also advocated selling semester tickets to the wives of students.

The report said: "Many of the

Iowa Falls Canoe Flotilla Starts Trip to Iowa City

A flotilla of ten canoes left Iowa Falls at 9 a.m. Friday for a week's journey down the Iowa River to Iowa City.

The trip was planned as part of an Iowa Falls centennial celebration. Gov. Leo A. Hoegh will greet the flotilla in Iowa City at 4 p.m. on May 27.

Members of the flotilla will extend an invitation to Hoegh to attend Iowa Falls centennial events next month.

Iowa Students Offered Week In Washington

Twelve Iowa college students will have an opportunity to spend a week in Washington, D.C., under a political internship program announced Friday by the Iowa Citizenship Clearing House, whose headquarters are at SUI.

Sponsors of the program are the clearing house, the Democratic and Republican parties in Iowa and Rep. Fred Schwengel, congressman from the first Iowa district.

Young men and women who are residents of Iowa and who are attending any college or university in the state are eligible to receive the "Week in Washington" internships. An equal number of Democrats and Republicans will be chosen.

Meet Political Leaders

As guests of Representative and Mrs. Schwengel, the students will observe sessions of congress, visit the national headquarters of the political party of their choice and meet with governmental and political leaders.

Robert F. Ray, director of the Iowa Citizenship Clearing House, said that students will be selected for the trips to Washington on the basis of scholarship and interest and activity in politics and other activities on their campuses.

Students will be chosen for the trips by the advisory board of the clearing house, which is composed of administrators and instructors in Iowa colleges and representatives of the two political parties.

Purpose Is Stimulation

Ray described the purpose of the internship program as an attempt to give a selected group of student leaders an insight into national political proceedings and to stimulate them to become active in politics after they are graduated from college.

Application forms for the internships have been sent to political science instructors in all four-year colleges in Iowa. Application forms must be returned to the clearing house headquarters by June 7.

Each student must be recommended by his instructor and his application must be approved by the president of his college. Also, students are asked to name local leaders of their political party with whom they are acquainted.

Identified with Party

Ray stressed that in order for a student to be selected for one of the trips he must have identified himself with either the Republican or Democratic party. Students who have taken part in political activities will be given preference.

Students who are selected for the trips will travel in groups of two—one Republican and one Democrat. The trips will take place this summer. Dates will be arranged to fit Representative Schwengel's and the students' schedules.

While in Washington the students will be the guests of Representative and Mrs. Schwengel. They will stay at the Schwengels' home and have their morning and evening meals with them.

Each student will receive $50 from the clearing house and $25 from his political party to help meet his travel and other expenses.

Board Meets June 14

The clearing house advisory board will meet in Iowa City June 14 to make the final selections for the internships. Members of the advisory board include: Don Pierson, Republican state chairman; Jake More, Democratic state chairman; Harlan Scott Swisher, Democratic and state representative; Iowa City and Donald B. Johnson, State University of Iowa, Iowa City.

Schwengel said that he insisted the program be entirely bipartisan, that an equal number of young Democrats and young Republicans be selected.

Funds to support the clearing house program are supplied by a grant from the Maurice and Laura Falk foundation of Pittsburgh.

Boyd Receives Prize

Kirk Boyd, A1, Davenport, received the J. Hamilton Johnson Memorial Awards first prize for news writing. His prize winning story, written after a political science trip to visit the Iowa capitol, was on the killing of a bill in a secret committee meeting of the Iowa legislature which would have allowed state supported educational institutions to erect buildings to be paid out of future tuition income.

Tied for second prize in the J. Hamilton Johnson Memorial Awards were Ira Kapenstein and Barbara Work, A3, Homewood, Ill. Joe Moran, A3, Cherokee, received third prize in the same awards.

Photography Award

Jerry Mosey, A1, Lake Forest, Ill., won the Cedar Rapids Gazette News Photography Cup for a picture of a little girl and Santa Claus.

Gene Ingle, Daily Iowan editor, was presented a production department citation for cooperation during the year.

The WMT Radio Award was tied for by Ted Nielson, A4, Chicago, and David Carter, A1, Manchester. The prize will be divided equally between the two WSUI newscasters.

Still Question When Others Can Get Shots

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government Friday night decided against reducing dosages of the Salk anti-polio vaccine in an attempt to stretch out the scarce supplies.

This threw into further doubt as to just how soon millions of still unvaccinated children can receive the treatment.

A team of experts met all day Friday here to consider whether smaller dosages, possibly injected just into the skin rather than into the muscles, would be advisable.

Advise Same Dosage

Eut Friday Surgeon Gen. Leonard A. Scheele of the public health service announced that the advisory committee has recommended that the present generally accepted schedule of three doses of one cubic centimeter each of the vaccine be continued.

He said this and other recommendations are being immediately transmitted to medical and public health authorities over the nation for their guidance. This meant that they had the government's OK.

Experts recommended that the vaccination continue to be injected into the muscles rather than just into the skin.

Suspend Campaign Later?

The team of experts also took up another question Friday: whether the vaccination campaign should be suspended in late summer, the height of the polio season, out of fear the injection might provoke a type of paralysis.

On this score, the experts recommended:

1. In areas and periods where polio is prevalent, the first shot should be given "only after evaluation of all the circumstances."
2. But the second shots can be given in such areas and periods "without appreciable concern for the phenomenon of provocation."

The experts explained that slight immunity resulting from the first dose of vaccine will most likely provide protection against any such effect.

Seen as Preventive

The committee expressed the opinion that use of the vaccine during an outbreak of polio has its place in preventive medicine.

Members of the advisory committee were: Dr. David Bodian, Johns Hopkins University; Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., University of Michigan; Dr. W. McD. Hammond, University of Pittsburgh; Dr. Robert Korns, New York state health department; Dr. John R. Paul, Yale University medical school; Dr. Thomas Rivers, Rockefeller Foundation; Dr. Albert Sabin, University of Cincinnati; Dr. Jonas E. Salk, University of Pittsburgh and discoverer of the vaccine; Dr. Joseph Smadel, Walter Reed Army Medical Center; Dr. Thomas Turner, Johns Hopkins University, and Dr. Hart Van Riper, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Possible Delay

Another development came during the day when two manufacturers of the vaccine confirmed reports that manufacturers' experts have been summoned to Washington for a conference Monday on new safety standards. This may mean a new delay in distribution of the vaccine.

Informants say the manufacturers have been told the new standards may be adopted for all vaccine approved hereafter by the government for the nationwide immunization campaign.

If they are, the informants added, an extra three to five days of testing may be in prospect. Complete re-testing of vaccine already made would require between 28 and 35 days, they said, but a new operation under consideration would cut the time down considerably.

DOG BITES BOY'S NOSE

Michael Cilek, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cilek, 420 N. Gilbert st., was reported in good condition Friday night after he was bitten on the nose by a dog. He was treated and released at University hospitals. Police said they would like to find the dog, which is bushy-haired and black and white spotted, for a rabies test.

To Set Base For Sales Tax

DES MOINES (AP)—The Iowa tax commission plans to decide by May 27 the basis on which the new two and one-half per cent state sales tax shall be collected by retailers.

The commission took the matter under advisement Friday at the close of a two-hour hearing for retail groups. Chairman Martin Lauterbach said the commission's decision will be presented at another meeting next Friday.

The 1955 legislature raised the sales tax rate from two to two and one-half per cent, effective July 1, thus requiring a revision of the present collection system.

Lauterbach told the retailers the commission will look into their contention that they should devise the new collection plan to be used.

At present the rate is one cent on sales over 15 cents, 2 cents on purchases over 65 cents and thereafter two cents on the dollar. Retailers collect on this basis and then remit quarterly to the state on the basis of their gross business.

The commission groups asked the commission Friday to approve the new plan they had drawn up which calls for: one cent on purchases of 15 to 50 cents and an additional cent for each 40 cents of sales over 50 cents.

Our Obligation—

SUI has grown to an enrollment of slightly more than 8,000 students in 100 years. Fifteen years from now the student body probably will have doubled in size.

SUI can reasonably expect 16,000 students to enroll for the 1970-1971 school year according to the results of research in Iowa college enrollment trends carried out by SUI Registrar Ted McCarrel and the registrars of Iowa State college and Iowa State Teachers college for the state board of education.

This estimate is based on the prediction that by 1970 at least 30 per cent of the Iowans of college age will be attending Iowa colleges. The college age group considered in this research includes persons 18-21 years old.

In reporting the results of its research, the committee of registrars states, "Thirty per cent of the (Iowa) college age population enrolled in college by 1970 seems very reasonable and may even be on the conservative side. Much can be said in support of a 35 per cent figure."

Approximately 23.8 per cent of the college age group is now attending Iowa colleges. The committee estimates that this percentage will rise about 0.4 per cent each year with about 0.6 rise in 1968 over 1967.

The expected increase in college enrollments will result partially from this increase in percentage of persons attending college.

A more important factor, however, will be the great increase in number of persons of college age. The thousands of children born during the post war "baby boom" and now taxing the facilities of our elementary school system will soon begin to reach college age.

At present this age group is estimated to include 158,652 persons. The number expected by 1970 is 242,051.

Private colleges and public junior colleges usually accommodate about 47 per cent of the persons attending colleges. The three state schools must furnish facilities for the remainder of the prospective students.

SUI and Iowa State college are expected to keep pace with one another and maintain a similar enrollment size, an estimated 16,000 students in each school by 1970, while the Iowa State Teachers college enrollment is expected to soar to about 6,500 by 1970.

The predicted enrollment rises based on present enrollments in Iowa secondary schools show that there will be a steady increase in enrollment from this year hence, although the increase of 1955 fall enrollment over that of 1954 will be slight.

SUI's predicted 1964 enrollment is 10,900. By 1966 an increase to some 13,200 students is seen by the committee of registrars.

SUI has made progress in growth and development in recent years. But these steps are only a beginning if our university is to meet its share of the educational obligations of this state.

In spite of recent growth, the university is already short of classroom space and unable to furnish or locate suitable housing for all students who wish to study here. Twice as many must be provided for 15 years from now.

Students as well as all other persons connected with SUI can aid in informing the people of the state of the situation. The next few years will be crucial ones in the history of education in Iowa.

The committee of registrars summarizes the challenge well in reporting the results of their research:

"These estimates are based on the assumption ways will be found for the Iowa colleges to provide adequate staffs, physical facilities, living facilities and opportunities for the college education of the increasing number of college-bound youths. It is also based on the belief that opportunities for college education will not be denied qualified youths, and that the right of youths to choose a college and a career will be preserved."

We have a major share as students and friends of SUI and citizens of this state in the obligation to prove these assumptions justified.

The Unusual Is Normal for Lee of Utah

By FRANK WETZEL

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—When Gov. J. Bracken Lee recently suggested formation of a third national political party, the reaction among Utah voters was: "That's Brack."

From Lee they have come to expect the unusual.

Lee called for a third party in a Lincoln Day speech in Chicago. Sharing the platform with Sen. Joe McCarthy (R-Wis.), he accused the Eisenhower administration of going "farther to the left... than in any two-year period in the history of our country."

Unless existing parties could be "recaptured," said Lee, "we LEE should immediately call a third major political convention composed of people who believe in government by law and not by men."

It was not the first time Lee had made national headlines by speaking out on controversial subjects. He had previously gone on record against federal aid to states; for withdrawal of the United States from the United Nations; and for abolition of the income tax by repealing the 16th amendment.

Primarily, Lee's career has been politics, although to him the term politician is an epithet. He has held public office since 1936. Throughout his career he has maintained that politicians are to be distrusted. He also holds as major premises that power tends to corrupt and that government lends itself to economy and efficiency as well as any private business.

No Religious Tie

Lee was born Jan. 7, 1899, in Price, Utah, a coal-mining community with a population now of about 6,000. His parents were pioneer Utah settlers and members of the Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) church. Lee has no religious affiliation. That sets him apart, since most Utah officials are Mormons.

He enlisted in the army in April 1917 while a senior in high school. He was discharged as a second lieutenant, and became an insurance and real estate man in Price. In 1936 he was elected mayor of Price by a margin of two votes. He held the post for the next dozen years, although during this time he was a candidate for higher office on several occasions.

Republican Governor

In 1948, he became the first Republican to be elected governor of Utah in 24 years. He was re-elected in 1952.

Since becoming governor, he has balanced the budget through such measures as slashing the number of state employees by 10 per cent. With the money saved, he claims, Utah was able to spend more on public building construction in 2½ years than during the previous 20-year period.

SO BAD IT'S EASY

BATH, England (AP)—Sir Thomas Becham, Britain's noted conductor, Friday called modern music a cinch to play.

There's so much discord in it, he explained, that no one notices when you sound off with a wrong note.

He said, "In old music you stand alone, alone and naked, and every note you play has got to be perfect. No one notices in modern music how many wrong notes you play."

Interpreting the News—

Ike, Dulles Hope To Win Freedom for Red Satellites

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles have chosen the occasion of the Austrian treaty and the projected Big Four conference to re-emphasize their interest in Russia's satellite states.

Dulles said Tuesday night that the satellites have now seen the Red army start rolling back, for the first time in 10 years. "It is going to create a desire, a mounting desire, on the part of these people to get the same freedom from this type of occupation."

Dulles has stressed, since long before he was secretary of state, the importance of keeping the idea of eventual liberty alive among the peoples of Eastern

U. S. Ambition

Wednesday morning the premise returned to the theme, indicating that the United States might go into a Big Four conference with the idea of trying to roll back the Iron Curtain.

One of the important and so far insoluble factors of the Allied position in Europe is that, no matter how negotiations might go, the Western democracies cannot just walk off and forget the subjugated nations.

There have even been suggestions that they might agree to some sort of neutral zone in Europe, including Germany, if Russia would throw in the satellites under some arrangement which would truly free them from the interference of international communism.

This business of international communism is, of course, the one concrete, lasting fact at the bottom of all efforts to arrange settlements. As long as it remains a prime weapon of Russian policy, so long will it be impossible to consider Russia anything except an enemy.

That means any settlements will be temporary, subject to constant Communist maneuvering, with the fear that Russia will revert to force generating perpetual new tensions.

That is why Eisenhower and Dulles have presented their new hopefulness for some break in the cold war with repeated qualifications. The theme of keeping strong, keeping alert, hoping for the best but determined not to be surprised by the worst, has been made more important than ever by the new situation.

33 Counties Pass 4 Months Without Traffic Fatalities

DES MOINES (AP)—Thirty-three of Iowa's 99 counties — one third — got by the first four months of this year without a traffic fatality.

However, eight other counties had six or more highway deaths since last Jan. 1. For the state as a whole, the toll has been running slightly below the total for the corresponding period last year.

In an effort to stay that way Gov. Leo Hoegh has enrolled Iowa in a "Slow Down and Live" nationwide campaign to run from Memorial day through Labor day.

The State Safety department records show these counties were fatality free during the first four months of this year:

Lee looks the small-town businessman and mayor he once was. He is 5 feet 11 inches and wears glasses. He likes double-breasted suits and subdued neckties. He says "gonna" and drops his G's when emphasizing a point.

Four Children

He had a daughter by his first wife, who died, and a daughter and two sons, one a West Point graduate, by his second wife, the former Margaret Draper, of Price.

He once played semipro baseball and five years ago was Utah's Class B trapshooting champion. He likes to paint — using oils — and to carve intricate figures from wood. He also hunts and fishes.

He has a reputation in Utah as a politician who keeps his promises and as an official who never sidesteps a hot issue.

Two Kinds of Rule

"There are just two types of government," he said in a recent interview. "One is where the people are master and the elected officials are the servants. All others — Communist, Socialist, collectivist and so on — are governments where the officials are masters and the people are servants. There you have a ruling class."

Lee's distrust of power is involved in his desire for the United States to withdraw from the United Nations. Says he:

"You will never make the UN work until it is given power. That means an army and navy. Then it would have too much power and we couldn't trust it."

He would also discontinue foreign aid, because: "Our foreign aid is making us enemies, not friends. Everywhere they're saying 'Yankee, go home.' We aren't doing with our money what we set out to do, and that was help the poor."

Bombers Going Up, Up, Up

PROGRESS OF BOMBING planes to a ceiling of 50,000 feet in the past 16 years is illustrated by this chart. The first squadron of B-52 Stratofortresses, jet craft in the 600-miles-per-hour range is being formed. Such planes could carry atomic or hydrogen bombs to any part of the world.

Churches Get New Life In Youthful Suburban America

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The church has taken on a new and youthful look in the suburbs of America. It's a place to worship, learn and play.

Swiftly turned cotton patches into communities in a year's time has brought a corresponding growth in the number of churches and church membership.

"It seems to me that young people are assuming the responsibility of running the churches in the suburbs."

Executive director of the urban church department of the National Council of Churches, the Rev. Mr. Merchant says the youthful deacons and elders of the suburban church reflect the character of the community.

Heights Christian church in Dallas. "Take financing. All suburban churches are in debt. But they whittle down what they owe, borrow some more and build an addition to the church."

Church officials in New York, Los Angeles, Detroit and Atlanta agreed on a survey that suburban churches were far more focal points of community interest than older, established churches in downtown areas.

area tend to become metropolitan churches, drawing their membership from a wide and scattered geographical area.

"The majority of your suburban dwellers are young people. They've bought their first home. They've put down their roots and want to become a part of the community. So they take an active role in the church, assume the responsibility of church leadership. They make it a place for the whole family."

4 from Iowa City Attend Convention At Sioux City

The Rev. and Mrs. George T. L. Jacobsen, Mrs. H. W. Neumann and Mrs. M. H. Taylor represented First English Lutheran church of Iowa City at the 101st annual convention of the United Lutheran Synod of Iowa. The convention, held in Sioux City, opened Monday and closed Thursday.

A program designed to increase church membership, boost Sunday school attendance and result in a 10 per cent increase in contributions annually in every church was outlined Monday for the synod. The Rev. Alfred J. Bell, of Des Moines, president of the synod, prepared the report and urged that the program be continued through 1961.

Among the Rev. Mr. Bell's recommendations were: more in-person sermons, lay evangelism training to win unchurched and win back lapsed members, urging members to become tithers or per cent givers, organizing new congregations and strengthening smaller ones, and conducting week-day school in every church.

Bach, speaking to Iowa Chamber of Commerce executives opening a three day convention in Mason City Thursday, made three points:

One, there is a growing tendency to recognize spiritual experience of individuals, two, regardless of type of religion people will find more comfort because of acquiring the will to believe, and three, more people believe that God's miracles can happen in all walks of life.

Each group represented has four delegates on the council. The four include the president of the group, the adviser or minister, and two student representatives. The organization meets once a month.

Miss Nancy Forsberg, minister to students at the Congregational church and adviser to the SCC, explained that the council plans one united student program each semester.

First semester the SCC presents its annual Christmas Vespers. About 100 students took part in the program held this year in the Methodist Church. Money received at this function was given to a scholarship fund at the Japanese Christian university.

A second united project which the SCC sponsors at SUI is the Universal Day of Prayer for Students. SUI President Virgil M. Hancher spoke at the service, which was held this year at the Presbyterian church. The day of prayer program is held in conjunction with the World's Student Christian Federation.

A Palm Sunday morning service is sponsored annually by the council. The Baptist Church was host to the service this year. The offering taken at the service was used to purchase new hymn books for the SCC.

The council assists with a religious emphasis program each year on campus. The program this year consisted of organizing a group of campus leaders to speak on request in the various housing units at SUI. This year 20 units requested religious speakers.

The 44 member council is supported by dues from the member groups.

Although the SCC is not directly affiliated with the United Student Christian Council or the World Student Christian Federation, it supports them with contributions and through local SCC member groups.

Elect Moeller Chairman of Wesley Board

Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the SUI school of journalism, was re-elected chairman of the Wesley foundation board at the annual election of officers held at Wesley house Wednesday.

Others re-elected to the board were: Harold Spencer, vice chairman; M. L. Huit, counselor to men at SUI, secretary and J. A. Swisher, treasurer. Mrs. Forest Evashevski was elected a new member of the board.

Harold W. Ludvigson, A3, Rock Rapids, is a new representative of single students. Representing married students is Charles E. Dickerman, G, Carbondale, Ill.

Among the freshmen, 36.4 per cent would like to see more emphasis on religion in school, while only 21.6 per cent of the juniors wanted more religious emphasis.

In spite of the large freshman church attendance, only 16 per cent of the senior class felt that there is a trend that people younger than themselves are becoming more religious than their own age group. 28.3 per cent of the freshman said they noted a growth of religious feeling in younger people.

Class votes were split almost down the middle over the question, "Do most college students fail to realize the importance of religion?" Percentage of "yes" answers ranged from 48.9 per cent for the juniors to 57.7 per cent for the freshmen.

Although the freshmen already spend more time in church than the other students, 79.4 per cent of the class feels that college students should personally devote more time and energy to religion, with only 48 per cent of the seniors advocating increased participation.

The annual spring banquet of the United Student Fellowship will be held in the fireplace room of the Congregational church at 6 p.m. May 22.

The banquet, the end of formal activities of the group for the year, will honor students graduating in June and August.

Prof. M. Willard Lampe, former director of the SUI school of religion, will speak on "Christian Loyalty." David L. Howard, P3, Lewis, and Phillip J. Hess, A2, Chicago, will be student speakers. David E. Adamson, A3, Des Moines, will be in charge of the music.

The worship service will be conducted by Suzanne Ball, A1, Des Moines; Marilyn R. Lyon, N2, Denison, and Shirley C. Smith, N1, Sibley.

The banquet dinner will be served by Circle Four of the women's fellowship and the Welch Missionary group.

The annual spring retreat of the Wesley foundation will be held at the Brick chapel three miles east of Iowa City at 5 p.m. today. Old and new officers of the group will attend the picnic supper and evening planning session. They will evaluate their year's program and plan a program for next year.

During the past year Wesley foundation members have been working on the Brick chapel on Saturdays as a work project.

Grinnell Poll: Frosh, Sophs Like Church

(Special to The Daily Iowan) GRINNELL — College freshmen and sophomores put more emphasis and show more outward enthusiasm for religion than do upperclassmen, according to a survey conducted recently at Grinnell college by Tom Marshall of Cedar Rapids, senior journalism student.

Returns indicated that, percentage-wise, more freshmen and sophomores attend church than upperclassmen, and that a large percentage of the underclassmen would like to see more emphasis on religion in school.

A total of 498 students of the school's 820 completed questionnaires, including 197 freshmen, 140 sophomores, 86 juniors, and 75 seniors. All of Grinnell's religious activities are voluntary.

On the Sunday surveyed in the questionnaire, 55 per cent of the freshman class attended church, while 47.8 per cent of the sophomores, 33.8 per cent of the juniors and 30.7 per cent of the seniors were in attendance.

Each class showed a larger number who went to church on Easter, but the underclassmen were still ahead percentage-wise. Sophomores were on top with 82.1 per cent; the juniors were low with 60.5 per cent.

Among the freshmen, 36.4 per cent would like to see more emphasis on religion in school, while only 21.6 per cent of the juniors wanted more religious emphasis.

SCC Projects Unite Work Of 11 Groups

Representatives from 11 student religion groups make up the Student Christian Council at SUI.

The council, which sponsors various joint religious activities on campus each year, is made up of members of the Lutheran Student association, Wesley Foundation (Methodist), Westminster Fellowship (Presbyterian), Canterbury club (Episcopal), United Student Fellowship (Congregational), Roger Williams Fellowship (Baptist), Disciples Student Fellowship (Christian), Nazarene Student Fellowship, Iowa Christian Fellowship, Young Women's Christian association and Young Men's Christian association.

Each group represented has four delegates on the council. The four include the president of the group, the adviser or minister, and two student representatives. The organization meets once a month.

Miss Nancy Forsberg, minister to students at the Congregational church and adviser to the SCC, explained that the council plans one united student program each semester.

Hancher spoke at the service, which was held this year at the Presbyterian church. The day of prayer program is held in conjunction with the World's Student Christian Federation.

A Palm Sunday morning service is sponsored annually by the council. The Baptist Church was host to the service this year. The offering taken at the service was used to purchase new hymn books for the SCC.

The council assists with a religious emphasis program each year on campus. The program this year consisted of organizing a group of campus leaders to speak on request in the various housing units at SUI. This year 20 units requested religious speakers.

Although the SCC is not directly affiliated with the United Student Christian Council or the World Student Christian Federation, it supports them with contributions and through local SCC member groups.

Livingston To Hold Service on WSUI

The Rev. Luther Livingston, a graduate student in the SUI school of religion, will conduct the WSUI Morning Chapel Monday at 8 a.m. The Rev. Allen R. Cleaton, assistant pastor of First Methodist church of Iowa City, will conduct the programs during the remainder of the week.

Miss Nancy Forsberg, minister to students at the Congregational church and adviser to the SCC, explained that the council plans one united student program each semester.

First semester the SCC presents its annual Christmas Vespers. About 100 students took part in the program held this year in the Methodist Church. Money received at this function was given to a scholarship fund at the Japanese Christian university.

A second united project which the SCC sponsors at SUI is the Universal Day of Prayer for Students. SUI President Virgil M. Hancher spoke at the service, which was held this year at the Presbyterian church. The day of prayer program is held in conjunction with the World's Student Christian Federation.

Want Good Friday A National Holiday

WASHINGTON — Rep. W. J. Bryan Dorn (R-N.Y.) has introduced in the house a resolution proposing that Good Friday be made a national legal holiday.

The resolution is similar to a measure filed earlier this session by Rep. William A. Barrett (D-Pa.) The resolutions were referred to the house judiciary committee for study.

PLAN MUSIC WORKSHOPS
Two music education workshops, for instrumental and vocal teachers, will be held at SUI this summer, according to Himie Voxman, head of the SUI music department. Dates for the workshop in instrumental music education will be June 20 through July 1. Voxman says. The vocal music education workshop will be in session from July 5 through July 15.

Collective Trend In Religion: Bach

MASON CITY (AP) — Prof. Marcus Bach of the SUI school of religion said Thursday that he believes the religion of tomorrow will be a collective religion.

Bach, speaking to Iowa Chamber of Commerce executives opening a three day convention in Mason City Thursday, made three points:

One, there is a growing tendency to recognize spiritual experience of individuals, two, regardless of type of religion people will find more comfort because of acquiring the will to believe, and three, more people believe that God's miracles can happen in all walks of life.

Each group represented has four delegates on the council. The four include the president of the group, the adviser or minister, and two student representatives. The organization meets once a month.

Miss Nancy Forsberg, minister to students at the Congregational church and adviser to the SCC, explained that the council plans one united student program each semester.

One Bible, 20 Volumes

THESE 20 BOOKS make up one Bible in Braille, on display at the 139th annual meeting of the American Bible society in New York. The girl is Pauline Noddturt, 11, a student at the New York Institute of the Blind. Since 1833 the society has furnished nearly half a million Bibles to the blind throughout the world, and since its founding in 1816 it has furnished more than 450 million Scriptures of all kinds.

Empty Lives Main Teen-Age Problem, Presbyterian Says

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A greater problem than delinquency is the "lack of character" and the "empty goal-less, irresponsible lives" which so many teenagers are leading, Presbyterians were told Tuesday.

"Juvenile delinquency is not caused by poverty," added the Rev. Richard R. Gilbert of New York, associate secretary of evangelism for the board of national missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.

He told a pre-assembly evangelism conference of the church's 167th general assembly, which opened Thursday:

"Neither is it (delinquency) caused by slums or lack of recreational facilities. There is only one factor that is present in all cases of juvenile delinquency. That is unstable family life."

The Rev. Mr. Gilbert said, "Families with a lack of total Christian commitment produce children with lack of character."

Dr. Clayton T. Griswold of New York, director of the church's department of radio and television, told a seminar:

"For the church of 1955 not to make extensive evangelistic use of radio and television would be as unthinkable as if St. Paul had refused to travel in ships or Luther and Calvin had looked down on the printing press as unworthy of their use." He said broadcasts "should be aimed at the unchurched."

Wesley Spring Retreat To Open This Evening

The annual spring retreat of the Wesley foundation will be held at the Brick chapel three miles east of Iowa City at 5 p.m. today. Old and new officers of the group will attend the picnic supper and evening planning session. They will evaluate their year's program and plan a program for next year.

During the past year Wesley foundation members have been working on the Brick chapel on Saturdays as a work project.

Cubs Win In 10 Innings, 4-2

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Rookie Bob Speake's 10th inning home run off Warren Spahn made the Chicago Cubs 4-2 victors over Milwaukee Friday night and kept the Cubs right behind the second place New York Giants.

The freshman's fifth circuit clout of the campaign gave Chicago pitcher Hal Jeffcoat his fifth straight relief victory and tagged Spahn, who came on in the eighth, with his fifth setback.

Jeffcoat relieved starter Bob Rush in the seventh after he had allowed the Braves seven hits and both their runs. The Braves got just one hit off Jeffcoat in 3 1/2 innings.

Giants Down Pirates, 6-3

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Bill Taylor hit a pinch hit homer with two men aboard in the ninth to break a tie and give the New York Giants a 6-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday night.

The blow, on the very first pitch by Max Surkont, sent the Pirates to their eighth consecutive defeat—equaling their longest losing streak of the season.

In the seventh inning the Giants scored two runs to forge a 3-3 tie.

The victory was credited to Hoyt Wilhelm, veteran knuckleball artist who relieved starter Johnny McCall in the fifth when the Pirates scored one run. Marv Grissom hurled the ninth.

The Giants took a quick lead in the second inning on Hank Thompson's homer. The Pirates bounced back in their half of the inning with two runs.

The final Pirate tally came in the fifth.

8 Drivers Set for Laps Of 140 MPH

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — At least eight drivers looked ready Friday to run in the 140-mile-an-hour bracket today in next-to-last time trials for the 39th 500-mile auto race May 30.

Only Jack McGrath, who set an Indianapolis Motor Speedway record of 142.58 last Sunday, ever passed 140 before this year.

Five drivers did it in opening trials last weekend.

Hot driver-car combinations in practice this week have included Art Cross of La Porte, Ind., former national midget champion, in the new Belanger 99, and Jim Rathmann of Miami, in the streamlined, two-way radio equipped Belong-Miracle Power Special.

Running Well
Pat O'Connor of North Vernon, Ind., in the Ansted-Rotary Special, and Bob Swickert of Indianapolis in the Zink Special, have been running well.

Others around 140 in practice include Don Freedland, Los Angeles, in the Bon Estes Special; Cal Niday, Pacoima, Calif., D-A Lubricants Special, and Pat Flaherty, Chicago, the Dunn Engineering Special.

Has Never Started
Al Herman of Allentown, Pa., who has never started in the "500," has been over 140 in the Martin Brothers Special.

A forecast of hot, dry weather today and a possibility of showers Sunday will force qualification runs by everybody who thinks he can cover the 10 miles at 138 or better.

Speedway officials expect to fill the 33 car field Saturday. Eight cars already qualified last weekend.

Brooks Lose, 5-3, As Phils Get Hot

1,535 Apply For Places In National

NEW YORK (AP) — Encouraged by broadening opportunities to qualify for the big event, approximately 1,535 golfers have entered the 1955 National Open golf championship, to be held at San Francisco's Olympic Country club, June 16-18.

Entries closed at U.S. Golf association headquarters Friday with virtually all the top-ranking professionals, including 11 former Open champions, on the list. The exact entry total won't be known until all entries have been re-checked.

The record entry for the Open was 1,928 for last year's event at Baltusrol.

This year's total will be whittled to 162 for the tournament proper at San Francisco, and all but 17 will have to win their places in the sectional qualifying rounds this year.

A change in USGA regulations this year limited the exemptions from sectional qualifying to the last five individual winners of the Open, the 10 low-scoring in the previous years — not counting the five ex-champions — and a few others.

Tigers Blast Indians, 11-4

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers routed their old nemesis, Bob Lemon, and went on to trounce the league leading Cleveland Indians, 11-4, Friday night before a wildly cheering crowd of 50,004. Five runs in the seventh broke open what had been a nip and tuck battle.

Lemon, with 23 lifetime victories over the Tigers, failed to last out the third inning and was charged with his third loss against six triumphs.

Detroit 022 001 518-11 12 1

U.S. Scores Grand Slam In Walker Cup Foursomes

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — America's young amateur golfers crushed Britain's hopes of winning the Walker Cup Friday when they swept all four of the opening day's foursome matches in the 15th international team competition.

This totally unexpected triumph sent the United States into today's singles needing to win only three of eight matches in order to retain the trophy. It was a crushing setback for the British team, regarded as the strongest of the postwar era.

Yanks Favored
Although the Americans had been slight favorites to win the Walker Cup for the 14th time, nothing like Friday's sweep was foreseen.

Only the top American team, Harvie Ward of San Francisco and Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Tex., had to go the full 36-hole distance over the windswept, 6,936-yard Old Course of St. Andrews. They rallied at the finish to down Ireland's Joe Carr and England's Ronnie White, the best of the British amateurs, one up.

The other Americans easily showed, themselves to be the masters of their opponents.

Patton, Yost Win
Billy Joe Patton, from Morgantown, N. C., and Dick Yost of Portland, Ore., turned back Gerald Micklem of England and John Llewellyn Morgan of Wales, 2 and 1.

Portland's 21-year-old Bruce Cudd and Jim Jackson of St. Louis routed the Scottish team of David Blair and Robin Catter, 5 and 4.

And Joe Conrad, 25-year-old Air Force lieutenant from San Antonio, Tex., and Dale Morey of Indianapolis turned back Ian Caldwell and Ernest Mitchell of England, 3 and 2.

An attempt to break one of the tightest deadlocks in the world of sports will be made at 2 p.m. today when soccer teams representing the Iowa International club and the Cosmopolitan club of Iowa State college meet on the intramural field near the football stadium.

The teams, composed of foreign students on the two campuses, have met only twice previously, both games ending in ties. It will be the first appearance of the pair on the Iowa campus. Last year's games were contested at Ames.

A travelling trophy will be presented to the winner of the match. The cup was presented to the Iowa team after the first tie by Prof. Wallace Maner, Foreign Students Advisor at Iowa. The cup went to the Cosmopolitans after the second draw. And today's match will determine the cup's rightful possessor.

More than 20 countries will be represented at the game, according to Penuel Malafa, A2, Nigeria.

The soccer matches were originated by the Cosmopolitan club to "bring together the foreign students of the two institutions in an atmosphere of friendly rivalry," Malafa said. "They are intended to break the ice which at present appears to exist between the two top centers of learning in Iowa," he added.

Dr. Camille Salame Matta of Lebanon will referee.

Iowa, Notre Dame In Net Meet Today

Iowa goes outside the conference for a tennis match at 1:30 today as the Hawkeyes meet Notre Dame on the Iowa courts near the field house.

It is the only home action for Iowa teams this weekend. The baseball team is at Wisconsin for a doubleheader and the golf team is at South Bend, Ind., for a match with the Irish.

"Notre Dame doesn't appear too tough," Iowa tennis Coach Don Klotz said Friday. "They were beaten by Michigan State as badly as we were."

"Of course Notre Dame might have lost a close meet while we lost by big margins," he added.

"They have a couple of pretty good men in Wallie Clark and Morris Reidy," Klotz said. "Clark was pretty highly rated in the juniors, and Reidy is a real scrapper."

Student Is Guard At 500-Mile Race

Many people will never get a chance to see the Indianapolis 500-mile race but an SUI student will be at the race for the seventh straight year.

Bernard Heaton, A1, Iowa City, will be leaving for Indianapolis Thursday to take over his usual job — head guard at the main gate. Heaton's job is to check the passes of all the people who enter the gate, such as drivers and car owners.

"While I was in high school in West Virginia, somebody said there were openings at the race and since I needed the money, I applied — and was accepted. That was seven years ago and now I just keep going back because it sort of gets in your blood," Heaton said.

"The drivers generally fool around a lot before the race. But they do become nervous, and the night before the race it is not unusual to find one of the drivers pacing the track trying to memorize the feel of every grain of sand," Heaton commented.

The drivers usually do not own their cars. They get paid a percentage of whatever they win. They are also eligible for "lap money," which is awarded to the driver leading at the end of each lap.

"Drivers can be awful superstitious at times and maybe that's all part of the fun," Heaton smiled.

"Last year the owner of Freddie Agabashian's car went out and bought the whole crew new uniforms to make sure they looked sharp. Well, as soon as Fred put on the cap he noticed the inside was lined with green felt and he refuses to wear anything with green. The hats had to go back," said Heaton.

"I know the winner will be the person who gets around the track 200 times first," he said. "You need an awful amount of luck to win a race like this."

In 1952 Bill Vukovich, who won the race in 1953 and 1954, was leading the field all the way when a little pin broke in the motor and the car went off the track. Troy Ruttman ended up winning, Heaton explained.

"One of the most important parts of any race is the pit crew and the time spent in the pit," he said. The pit is where drivers stop during the race to fill up with gas and to change tires. Usually a driver will hit the pits about three times during a race and "many races are won and lost in the pit," he added.

"Crews have been known to fill a gas tank and change four tires in the space of 40 seconds," he said.

"We usually have about one accident a race and it is always unfortunate when it occurs," said Heaton. "These guys know they are taking a chance but they want to get all the money they can before anything happens."

"If a driver wins this race he usually makes enough money so that he doesn't have to race any more that year if he doesn't want to. Last year Vukovich made $89,000 on the race and didn't bother to race any more until this year," he said with a smile.

"It's always hard to predict just how many people will be there but it seems safe to say at least 100,000 will show up and there very well may be more. What a traffic problem we'll have," Heaton said thoughtfully.

University Schools Provide Observational Laboratories

THIS IS THE MAIN floor entrance to University high and elementary schools at the corner of Capitol and Davenport streets. The entrance is on the third floor level and opens into both high school and elementary school classrooms. The building is used as an experimental school in conjunction with the college of education. It was built in 1925 at a cost of $265,000.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles about buildings on the SU campus.)

The building on the corner of Capitol and Davenport streets houses something different than most of SU's buildings. This building houses University high school and elementary school, observational units of the laboratory units of the college of education.

The observational school functions by experimenting in the development of materials and methods of instruction, by demonstrating newer and more efficient teaching methods, and by providing observation facilities for training teachers.

The high school is located in the basement and on the first three floors. The other six floors house the elementary school.

Because the building is built on a hill, the main floor is actually the third floor, which both the elementary and high school share. The high school entrance is located at the foot of a set of stone steps leading from Capitol street.

The main floor of the high school houses the principal's office and classrooms. On the floor below, besides classrooms, there is a library and a gymnasium, also used as an auditorium.

Below this floor, on the bottom level, are the cafeteria and rooms for the home economics department.

The building is made of brick-reinforced concrete. It took three years to complete the structure at a cost of $265,000.

The school grounds cover a wide area and provide plenty of playground space and equipment. A bicycle storage room is provided near the elementary school entrance on Capitol street.

The high school was originally housed in the Physics building from 1916 to 1917. In 1917 it was moved to the Old Dental building where it remained until 1925, when the present building was completed.

There are now 271 students in grades seven through twelve, and 210 in kindergarten through sixth grade.

Enrollment is open to any child. Limitations are placed only on the size of classes because of the space available and the experimental purposes.

Tuition payments are $10 a semester in elementary school and $75 a year in high school. The tuition payments are made by parents unless the school district from which the child comes does not support either an elementary school or a high school.

Prof. Jerry N. Kuhn is principal of University elementary school and Wesley A. Erbe is the high school principal.

France Agrees To Move Saigon Troops

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem won an important victory Friday in his drive to lessen French influence in South Viet Nam. His deputy defense minister announced France had agreed to withdraw its troops from the capital city of Saigon.

The minister, Tran Trung Dung, said that eventually the entire 75,000-man French expeditionary force will be shifted from the big southern cities to two or three coastal embarkation points.

Diem's government contends the troops in their present concentrations have angered the Vietnamese people and fired up Communist propaganda.

Dung's announcement followed disclosure that Gen. Paul Ely, French commissioner general in Indochina and commander of the French armed forces here, had asked Paris to relieve him of his post.

Dung and Ely are working out details of the troops' regrouping. Ely's move came as a surprise. But it obviously was an outgrowth of his clashes with Diem on military and political policies, and of American support for Diem.

Diem asked the French government last week to move the troops northward to the border of Communist-held North Viet Nam, where they could guard against Red encroachment, or pull them out of South Viet Nam.

Announcement of the agreement on shifting the French forces to coastal embarkation points marked another success in Diem's determination to prove that South Viet Nam now is free, independent and sovereign.

The victor in the recent civil war with Binh Xuyen rebels, Diem is arranging elections of a National Assembly to set up a government on a broad basis which will decide the future status of absentee Chief of State Bao Dai. Now living on the French Riviera, Bao Dai was installed by the French in 1949.

The premier made a strong bid for top-level recognition a week ago when he invited the Western Big Three foreign ministers to come here soon to draw up with his government a common course of action against the spread of communism in Viet Nam. So far no replies have been received.

Withdrawal of French forces means Saigon will be free of French military influence for the first time in 80 years. Security of the capital will be placed in the hands of the young Vietnamese national army.

Auto Turns Over; 2 Hurt

Two Cedar Rapids teenagers received minor injuries Friday when the car in which they were riding left Highway 218 and overturned just north of Iowa City.

Passengers Barbara Osborn, 17, who suffered a broken finger, and Nancy Schrader, 16, who received a head bruise, were released from Mercy hospital after treatment.

Driver Walter Keith, 19, also of Cedar Rapids, was sentenced to 14 days in Johnson county jail when he appeared in police court on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while his license was under suspension. The charge was made by the highway patrol following the accident.

The passengers of the car said the north-bound car went off the road when Keith tried to avoid a car passing a south-bound truck.

Three other Cedar Rapids passengers, Jack Pigman, 17, Terry Melsha, 18, and Emily Hanzlik, 18, were uninjured.

The individual inspection took place at 7:30 a.m. Friday on the athletic field west of the armory, followed by an inspection of the complete military and air science departments at 8:30 a.m. Inspecting the air force facilities were Col. Charles B. Densford, Lt. Col. Robert S. Moon and Lt. Col. Len A. Smith, all from air university headquarters, Montgomery, Ala.

Files Damage Suit After Fatal Crash

A damage suit for $25,314.38 was filed in Johnson county district court Friday by an Iowa City man.

Harry Shulman, 72, 503 W. Park road, charges that his wife, Anna, was fatally injured while riding in a car driven by Lillian S. Robinson, 235 Person ave. Mrs. Robinson and her husband, Sam, are defendants in the action.

The suit charges that Mrs. Robinson carelessly drove her car over two pavement dips at the intersection of Magowan and McLean streets in Iowa City, on June 18, 1953. The car struck a tree after going out of control, and Mrs. Shulman allegedly suffered face injuries and a brain concussion.

Shulman is asking $4,314 for costs incurred in treating the injuries, and $4,800 as compensation for the loss of Mrs. Shulman as a housewife.

Shulman specified that a jury trial decide the case.

U.S. Senate Argues Rival Road Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—A hot fight over America's highways-of-the-future opened in the senate Friday, with Democrats and Republicans vying to put across rival plans.

Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.), in the first major speech of the debate, declared that a bill he offered would criss-cross the country with "magnificent" new superroads.

Republicans, scoffing that the Gore bill would not do the job, bided their time to try to substitute an Eisenhower measure, turned down by the public works committee in favor of the Gore bill. No senate votes are to be taken until next week.

The Gore bill calls for a federal-state outlay of $17,941,000,000 in the next five years on the four road systems aided by federal funds—interstate, primary, secondary and urban. Of the total about $12,750,000,000 would be federal money.

The Eisenhower plan would allot 38 billions of federal-state funds to the four systems over 10 years. Of this, 26 billions would be spent on the 40,000-mile interstate system, designed to link up all areas of the country.

A big bone of contention is the method of financing the interstate system. Under the Eisenhower plan the federal government would put up 25 billion for this, raising 21 billion of it by 30-year bonds issued by a special federal corporation, whose borrowing technically would not be counted in the federal debt. The bonds would be paid off from gasoline taxes, and other motor vehicle taxes.

Police Rescue Girl Kidnaped by Lover

DETROIT (AP)— State troopers armed with shotguns Friday caught a gun-waving, 25-year-old lover after he forced a girl friend to accompany him on a wild, night-long drive for a wedding that never was held.

Police found husky Murray Sinuk, a Detroit credit company clerk, in a motel with brunette June Dallen, 21. The 6-foot, 240-pound Sinuk was held for investigation of kidnaping the office worker.

Police said Miss Dallen told them, "He stuck a .45-caliber automatic in my back and announced I was going to Bowling Green, Ohio, with him to get married."

Sinuk had forced his way into an apartment where Miss Dallen was staying with a girl friend last night. Miss Dallen said he fired his gun out the window as they drove off "to prove it was loaded."

When they arrived at Bowling Green, Miss Dallen telephoned her home at 1 a.m., telling her stepmother she was going to be married. "She sounded nervous and frightened and talked as though she had been coached on what to say," Mrs. Michael Dallen, the stepmother, said.

The couple then went to a police station and asked where they could be married. They headed back to Michigan when told there was a five-day wait between marriage license and ceremony.

The girl said she had "ample" opportunity to escape from her abductor, but was "frightened."

Troopers said they found Sinuk's loaded gun at the motel, lying cocked on a bed stand.

Miss Dallen said Sinuk actually made two visits to the apartment. The first time, she said, he held a knife to her throat, but was chased away by passersby as he tried to force her to his car. Police were called, she said, but Sinuk returned with a gun after the officers left.

Miss Dallen's stepmother notified Detroit police after receiving the call from Bowling Green. They, in turn, asked Michigan and Ohio state patrolmen to be on the alert for Sinuk's car.
