Twisters Kill 99, Injure Hundreds

7,000 Attend Berlioz Requiem

THREE HUNDRED FIFTY SUI STUDENTS and guest musicians under the direction of Dimitri Mitropoulos are shown as they presented the "Requiem" Thursday night in the field house to an audience of approximately 7,000. In the background are shown two of the four brass choirs used to swell the chorus and orchestra.

Mitropoulos, Musicians Paid Standing Ovation

About 7,000 persons, overwhelmed by the impact of the Berlioz "Requiem," paid tribute to the performance of the SUI Symphony Orchestra and Chorus, and to the genius of Dimitri Mitropoulos, with a standing ovation at the field house Thursday night.

The beauty of the performance was equal to the heroic proportions of the piece.

Mitropoulos was magnificent as he coordinated and conducted the 350 members of the Symphony, Chorus and four brass choirs used in the undertaking.

The "Requiem" is a work which requires considerable skill to be presented successfully. It does not have a number of soloists or a great variety of themes to keep the attention of the audience.

Instead, it relies on a solemn and impressive beauty; a combination of spiritual richness and tremendous power.

The extreme difficulty in staging it and the great amount of executing necessary to organize and present it make it a rarely performed work.

First U.S. Performance This was the first time Mitropoulos has conducted the Berlioz "Requiem" in the United States, and the first time he has conducted it since 1938 when he presented it at Naples, Italy.

For weeks prior to Mitropoulos' arrival in Iowa City for final rehearsals, the university musicians had been learning and rehearsing the difficult parts. Prof. Herald Stark of the SUI music department directed choral rehearsals, and the orchestra practiced under the baton of James Dixon, its regular conductor and a protégé of Mitropoulos.

tion of the Day of Judgement, and several now-rare instruments were sought and found for use by these groups.

After the last note had been played, the audience started to applaud enthusiastically.

Mitropoulos acknowledged the applause and then presented Stark, Dixon and the soloist, Tenor David Lloyd.

After this, in tribute to the chorus, he walked up the benches of the bleachers on which the chorus was sitting, and called for recognition of their fine work.

Kansas, Oklahoma Suffer Worst Loss

UDALL, Kan. (AP)—Tornadoes twisting through four midcontinent states killed 99, left more than 700 injured and ran property damage into the millions.

Promise of federal relief and rehabilitation was seen as Kansas and Oklahoma were declared disaster areas Thursday. The deadly twisters started in Texas Wednesday night and were still threatening Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri late Thursday.

The storms left 63 dead in Kansas, 20 in Oklahoma, 15 in Texas and 1 in Missouri. The Kansas City weather bureau warned tornado conditions would continue until 8 p.m. (CST).

Town Hit Hard This community of 500 in south central Kansas was virtually obliterated. Mortuaries had received bodies of 58 victims and a civil defense spokesman said eight more had been found. Search for others was still under way. More than 200 injured were in hospitals and relief centers.

Blackwell, Okla., 80 miles south of here, counted 18 dead and more than 500 injured. The tornado there demolished a 36-square-block residential and factory area.

Most of the damage was done Wednesday night. Early Thursday the twisters began popping again and Missouri counted its first fatality when a farmer was crushed to death in his barn near Paris in the northeast section of the state. Other Missouri areas reporting tornado damage but no casualties were Salisbury, Tipton and Gilman City.

Five members of one family were killed by a small twister that struck the little community of Oxford, Kan., 10 miles south of Udall. Five others in the family were injured.

B36 Crashes Two persons were killed and one critically injured by a tornado that struck Sweetwater, Okla., 140 miles west of Oklahoma City.

Fifteen airmen died in the flaming crash of a B36 bomber in rugged territory 60 miles from San Angelo, Tex. Air force spokesmen said apparently the big craft was wrecked by a tornado.

The devastating tornadoes sprang from a squall line that started pushing thunderstorms and heavy rain northeastward from the Texas Panhandle late Wednesday.

The rain continued in most areas. Rescue efforts were hampered by mud, tangled communication lines, wreckage-jammed streets and loss of power facilities.

Throughout Thursday morning, teams of rescuers dug into the piles of rubble hunting additional victims.

High Winds, Rain, Sweep Southern Iowa

DES MOINES (AP)—High winds and severe thunderstorms accompanied by weather bureau warnings of possible tornado activity, swept over portions of southern Iowa Thursday night.

A wind storm of tornadic force dipped into a rural area near Carbon, five miles northwest of Corning in Adams county about 7:15 p.m.

It struck four farms, causing considerable damage to homes and outbuildings but no one was reported injured.

Roof Damages The roof was blown off the house at the Verlin Houck farm, one and one-half miles northeast of Carbon. The barn was unroofed, several chicken houses were blown down and trees were uprooted.

Members of the Houck family, who saw the storm approaching, took to the basement. Household furnishings were soaked in a two-inch rain which accompanied the wind.

Windows were blown out and other damage was caused at the nearby farm of Clifford Houck, brother of Verlin and at the Cleve Johannes and Leo Morris farms.

Telephone and light service in the Carbon area failed.

Two Thirds The weather bureau said that scattered, severe thunderstorms were developing over the southern two-thirds of Iowa.

Funnel clouds were reported over Ames in the central section and Maquoketa in the extreme eastern area below Dubuque but they were riding high in the sky and did not touch ground.

The weather bureau said that nearly one and one-half inches of rain fell in about 27 minutes at Shenandoah in southwest Iowa and hail stones, some measuring two-thirds of an inch in diameter covered the ground in the southern part of the city.

The storm center which passed over the southwest and southern sections moved northeastward at a rate of about 30 miles an hour.

THE SIGHT OF HIS GRANDPARENT'S HOME crumbled by a tornado brings tears to Warren Bickford IV, 5, Blackwell, Okla. The tornado killed 18 and injured more than 500 when it struck a 36 square block residential and factory area in Blackwell Wednesday night. Warren's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Crandle, were hospitalized with serious injuries.

Conservatives Win in Britain

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Anthony Eden and the Conservative party scored a smashing victory in Thursday's election.

They won a new five-year term with an indicated house of commons majority of 50 or more seats, against the scant 17-seat margin they had in the last parliament.

Morgan Phillips, secretary of the opposition Labor party, conceded the party's defeat at 3:15 a.m. today.

Severe Blow The voters dealt a severe blow to Clement Attlee's Labor forces, who won the popular vote in the 1951 election but lost out in the tabulation of house of commons seats. This time the Conservatives ran ahead in popular vote, as well.

The result is a vote of confidence for Eden on the eve of four-power talks where he will represent Britain.

When counting stopped for the night the Conservatives had scored a net gain of 10 house of commons seats, with good prospects of winding up with an overall majority of perhaps 59 to 30. Conservative officials confidently spoke of a 70 seat majority.

630 Seats The election was for 630 seats in the house of commons.

Returns from 353 districts gave the Conservatives and allied parties 174 seats, the Laborites 177 and the Liberals 2.

The Conservatives had victory in sight because most districts which will report later today are strongholds of that party and because of the trend in popular voting.

Election Returns Returns from 350 districts gave this popular vote:

Conservatives, 7,444,472—49.68 per cent.
Labor, 7,159,885—47.78 per cent.
Liberals, 283,736—1.89 per cent.
Others, 97,183—.85 per cent.

Sir Winston Churchill also won handily in his own Woodford district, defeating a Laborite 25,069 to 9,621.

15 Killed In Air Crash

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP)—A B36 bomber plowed into a tornado-spawning thunderstorm Wednesday night, lost four jet engines and crashed in flames, killing 15.

There were no survivors. Walker air force base at Roswell, N.M., said the 10-engine plane was on a routine training flight.

A cowboy watched the big plane fall burning during the violent hail and rainstorm. It hit in rugged ranch country 80 miles west of this west Texas sheep ranching center, then was ripped by two explosions that scattered wreckage over eight acres.

The four jet engines of the bomber were found 10 miles from Sterling City, Tex., about 25 miles from where the plane hit.

U.S. Steps-Up B52 Output

WASHINGTON (AP)—Spurred by Russia's growing air power, the U.S. air force Thursday announced a 35 per cent step-up in B52 bomber production.

These are the new all-jet, long-range bombers, designed to carry atomic or hydrogen bombs, to almost any point on the globe.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), a former secretary of the air force in the Truman administration, called the decision to speed up production of the big bombers "a recognition of the fact that Soviet air power is considerably greater than has been recognized in the past."

Air Force Secretary Harold Talbot said the Boeing Aircraft Co.'s B52 production lines at both Seattle, Wash. and Wichita, Kan. "will be boosted approximately 35 per cent above the present program."

"This acceleration will permit the air force to complete the replacement of B36s in its heavy bombardment and strategic reconnaissance wings well ahead of the present schedule," he said.

While production figures are secret, it was understood the B52 program now calls for a total of about 500 of the new bombers. They cost about $8 million apiece when turned out in quantity.

SUI To Get $22,000 For Seminar

The finance committee of the State Board of Education Wednesday accepted a $22,000 Ford foundation grant for an eight week summer seminar on teaching international relations to be held at SUI June 15 to Aug. 10, SUI President Virgil M. Hancher announced Thursday.

Prof. Vernon Van Dyke of the political science department will be director of the seminar. His assistant will be Prof. James Murray, also of the political science department.

The twelve seminar participants were chosen from applicants from all over the United States. Each participant will be awarded a $1,000 fellowship and traveling expenses to and from Iowa City.

The seminar program will call for full-time work. Group meetings and work will consume less than half of the time. The remainder of the participants' time will be devoted to study and research relevant to the seminar.

An examination of selected topics relevant to introductory international relations courses will also be made by the group. Individual members' research projects will be subject to consideration and criticism by the entire group.

The seminar participants were chosen from applicants who are teaching international relations courses in American colleges and universities and who have a ready received Ph. D. degrees.

Russia OK's Big Four Conference

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union agreed formally Thursday to a top-level meeting of the Big Four. But it said the United States' attitude toward the summit meeting was hurting chances to improve international relations.

Notes handed the Western ambassadors—with special sections directed only to Britain and France—indicated the USSR would object violently to any attempt to discuss the status of the Communist countries in Eastern Europe.

Suggest Vienna Moscow suggested Vienna as the most convenient meeting place, with the time to be set by the four powers. The Western powers take the stand that Vienna is unsatisfactory so long as occupation troops remain in Austria, and want the meeting held in Switzerland or Sweden.

The Soviet note apparently envisioned a conference of President Eisenhower, Premier Bulganin and the British and French premiers. It said the meeting should aim at "the lessening of international tension and the strengthening of confidence among nations."

U.S. Declarations But, the Russians added, declarations by U.S. officials reflect "a desire to exert inadmissible pressure on the conference" and to discredit the idea of the conference in advance. The note asserted: "The said officials went so far as to mention the necessity of interference in the internal affairs of other states, making attacks on East European Communist states which are defending the freedom of their people."

In his May 18 television report, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said the conference might set up some new processes toward a solution of problems such as unification of Germany, limitation of armaments, atomic weapons, "the problem of the satellite countries, the problem created by international communism, which is such a pest all around the world."

In the special sections given Britain and France—paragraphs which did not appear in the note to Washington—the Soviet Union sought support against American views.

Iowa Falls 'Fleet' Due At 4 P.M.

The flotilla of canoes and small boats from Iowa Falls is scheduled to arrive at the boat dock behind the Iowa Memorial Union today at 4 p.m., ending a seven-day trip down 150 miles of the Iowa river.

On hand to greet the weather-beaten party will be Gov. Leo A. Hoegh, SUI President Virgil M. Hancher, Mayor LeRoy S. Mercer and Keith Kafer, Chamber of Commerce secretary.

The party's seven canoes and five boats, carrying 27 men, landed near the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company's power plant in Coralville at 3:10 p.m. Thursday. Today they will round the last two curves in the river and enter Iowa City.

Slept at Gun Club The flotilla left Curtis' bridge Thursday morning at 10 after spending the night at the Green-Castle gun club. It is 22 miles downstream to Coralville.

About eight of the men slept in the power plant yard Thursday night. Pup tents were pitched to shield the men from the rain that fell during the night.

The remainder of the party chose the comforts of modern civilization and headed for motels near Coralville. Shower and toilet facilities in the utility company's power house were offered to the weary "Lewises and Clarks."

Today's events will feature the presentation of a century-old rifle to Hoegh. The rifle is handmade and was carried by the flotilla until it was decided that the everyday spills into the river would eventually hit the canoe in which it was carried.

The rifle was returned by car to Iowa Falls and will be brought to Iowa City today by a motorized delegation from Iowa Falls.

Old Gun Described Emerson Calkins, one of seven men who have stayed with the party all the way, described the rifle as one built by an English doctor who came to Iowa Falls in the early 1800's.

Calkins told this story: The doctor incorporated into the rifle good features of American and English firearms of the day. Only one was built.

For the past several years the rifle has been kept in the Iowa Falls museum. The museum is stocked with old firearms from the collection of Mat Kiekles of Iowa Falls, from which the rifle comes. It is being donated by the late Mr. Kiekles' daughter, Mrs. Sumner Osgood.

The trip's purpose is to publicize Iowa Falls' centennial celebration to be held June 16-18. Also with the party are some men from Steamboat Rock which is having a 100th year event June 24 and 25.

The seven men who started with the flotilla and are still with it are: Calkins and his son, Kent; group leader Paul Hodgson, Hardin county sheriff; Don Klaaren; Art Schmacker; Dallas Alldredge, and Gilbert Cuplin. Cuplin's great-grandfather was one of the first two settlers in the Iowa Falls area, Calkins said. Hodgson's son, Jerry, is a sophomore at SUI.

Since the party left one week ago many "part time" outdoorsmen have joined it for a day. They drove back to Iowa Falls in cars brought down by persons joining up for the next day's journey.

The trip has been wet, not only from rainstorms but from accidental tumbles into the river. Perhaps the most spectacular and best remembered incident resulted when one man stepped backward from a canoe into nine feet of water—while lugging an outboard motor. Both man and machine were rescued.

NOT COMPLETELY DEPENDENT on water travel, the Iowa Falls centennial canoe caravan carries their supplies overland in a truck supplied by the Iowa national guard. Art Schmacker, one of the caravan members, catches a duffel bag as he prepares to help load the truck. The canoes will dock in Iowa City today at 4 p.m. and be met by a welcoming committee which will include Mayor LeRoy Mercer and Governor Leo A. Hoegh.

A Fitting Climax—

Thursday night's performance of the Berlioz "Requiem" in the field house was a fitting climax to a successful concert season by SUI's symphony orchestra and chorus.

A masterpiece of 19th century sacred music, the "Requiem" is seldom performed in this country, due to technical difficulties. It requires hundreds of musicians, a large building and countless hours of preparation.

The thousands who witnessed the performance paid their tribute to the SUI musicians by offering a prolonged ovation. But the greatest tribute came from Dmitri Mitropoulos, dynamic conductor of the New York Philharmonic symphony, who came to SUI to direct the stirring performance.

That Mitropoulos would come here to aid in the Berlioz performance is an indication of the esteem in which the SUI music department is held throughout the United States. The state of Iowa can take pride in the department's accomplishments.

Says Better Roads May Cut Auto Mishap Rate by 47%

Improved Iowa highways may cut accidents as much as 47 per cent according to a recent survey of the Iowa Engineering society.

Dean Francis M. Dawson of the college of engineering said that a study of six stretches of improved Iowa highways showed an average of 33 per cent improvement in the accident rate. The study, conducted by a committee of the society headed by Dawson, was concerned with the decrease in accidents and the increase of the number of cars on the road.

The accident rate was lowered in the improved areas even though the traffic increased about 50 per cent in the last several years. The survey used accident figures provided by the state highway commission.

"Sight Distances" Highway improvement is primarily a matter of "sight distance," Dawson said. Such improvements were made as widening of pavements, elimination of curbs, straightening of curves and lower grading on hills.

He said that the study cannot take into account the effect of safety training in driver training courses. The survey included all types of accidents whether fatal, personal injury or property damage mishaps.

Besides reducing the rate of accidents, the rebuilding of the roadway has speeded up traffic, Dawson said. There is evidence that speed has increased an average of 10 miles per hour on the improved roads, he added.

Defines "Vehicle Mile" Comparison of accident rates are made in "vehicle mile." One car traveling one mile is defined as a "vehicle mile."

The latest figures on reduction of accidents per million vehicle miles are as follows: Accident Reduction Figures Highway 6 for 6 miles between Grinnell and west junction of 63, 47 per cent.

Highway 6 for 9.19 miles between Colfax and Newton, 40 per cent.

Highway 18 for 10.37 miles between Garner and Clear Lake, 38 per cent.

Highway 69 for 12.74 miles between Indianola and Des Moines, 24 per cent.

Highway 30 for 15 miles between DeWitt and Clinton, 24 per cent.

Highway 69 for 24.15 miles between Des Moines and Ames, 22 per cent.

Cub Scout Course To Begin May 31

Three SUI professors will assist in the leadership training program for Cub Scouts, to be held in Macbride Hall May 31-June 3.

Robert Gregg, instructor in the SUI speech department, is chairman of the course, to be held in four sessions.

James Osburn, associate professor of chemical engineering, and Sherwood Tuttle, assistant professor of geology, also will assist in the program.

Cub masters, den mothers, committee members, and other interested persons may attend the meetings, which will begin at 8 p.m.

ON DISPLAY

An exhibition of original etchings by Goya and Rembrandt is on display in the north corridor of the Art building. Four portraits by Rembrandt, and prints from the series "Los Caprichos" and "The Disasters of War" by Goya are included. The prints, from the collection of Don Humphrey of the art department, University of Oklahoma, will be on display until the beginning of the summer session.

Iowa Senate Actions Questioned by Editor

By FRANK NYE
Associate Editor,
Cedar Rapids GAZETTE

Sen. Duane E. Dewel of Algona, a favorite of ours, was floor leader of the Republican majority in the 1955 senate. As such he was, and is, the official party spokesman for Republican senators.

Dewel also is a newspaperman of note. He edits and publishes the Algona Kossuth County Advance. So, when he writes his legislative impressions it is well to take heed.

In a recent editorial he questioned the advisability of Gov. Hoegh's action in reappointing Dwight G. Rider of Ft. Dodge and V. B. Hamilton of Hampton to the state board of regents (formerly board of education) after each had been refused confirmation by the senate.

'No Secret'

"In Mr. Hamilton's case," Dewel wrote, "it's no secret three separate ballots were taken — on two different days. In Rider's case there were two ballots. In all instances the vote to refuse confirmation was rather conclusive."

"The law says confirmation must be had. Both men were rejected. Naming the same men as interim appointments raises the question as to the legality of every action the board may take."

"This writer was a member of the recent senate. In each case he voted for confirmation. Rider is a personal friend, Hamilton is an acquaintance. Despite that there is serious doubt of the wisdom of renaming them after the senate, in its wisdom, had rejected them."

Confirmation A Check "The system of checks and balances in the American form of government is important. Confirmation is one of those checks."

"Perhaps the senate was wrong. Nevertheless, the senate has the power of confirmation, and the governor in renaming the men puts himself above that body."

"It's no particular secret why the men were rejected. In the six years they have been in office many senators believed they had gotten a bit too big for their britches. From personal knowledge this writer can see where that impression might exist, though further acquaintance with the two men would show that is more a 'front' than a fact."

Political Pressure Dewel told of the statewide dinners sponsored by the board to "generate political pressure to get what the board wanted in the way of funds and easier laws to live with."

He said while appeals were made to get more money, the board always said it was up to the legislature to determine how to get it — "to take the heat"

Library Workshop To Be Held Here

Faculty members from several departments of SUI will join librarians from SUI and other libraries throughout the state to conduct the fourth annual library workshop in the Iowa Center for Continuation Study June 13-17.

The five-day workshop is designed to provide an opportunity for school and public librarians alike to discuss their problems with experts and learn new library techniques, Louane L. Newsome, director of the workshop, said.

One semester of university credit will be awarded to those who successfully complete the program.

Student Art Guild Plans Reorganization Meeting

A reorganization meeting of the SUI Student Art guild will be held today at 4 p.m. in the Art building auditorium, according to guild president R. W. Carpenter, 41, Jacksonville, Ill.

The election of officers will be held, along with the planning of next year's program of activities. All interested students are invited to attend.

as he put it. He continued:

"Legislators have long felt the educators and board members have 'looked down their nose' at the legislature with a 'mother knows best' attitude, and being on the political 'spot' they resented it. . . . Some legislators were a bit dictatorial and too anxious to control the board. It all led to bad feeling. There was a definite lack of diplomacy on both sides."

Additional Questions

These are interesting observations that deserve close inspection because they afford us the opportunity to ask additional questions — questions to which no senator yet has provided satisfactory answers.

Example: Gov. Hoegh reappointed not two but three members to the board: Rider, Hamilton and Richard H. Plock of Burlington. In our opinion all are among the finest citizens ever to sit on this particular board.

Iowa is fortunate to have men of their high caliber on the board. Each was as much involved in the statewide meetings (which Dewel assures us led to the rejection of Hamilton and Rider) as the next fellow. He turned the gavel over to Hamilton who was master of ceremonies. Plock presented an interesting and detailed legal and historical background of the board and its institutions. The senate confirmed Plock. It rejected Rider and Hamilton.

Equal Role

Question: Why were two men rejected and one confirmed when each played an equal role in the meetings?

Example: Dewel writes that interim reappointment of men rejected by the senate "raises the question as to the legality of every action the board may take." In this conception it is interesting to note that membership of the senate is not composed as called for in the mandate laid down in Art. III, Sec. 34 of the state constitution.

Question No. 1: What about the legality of confirmation actions and all others by a senate that is not constitutionally composed?

Question No. 2: If doubt exists as to the legality of reappointed appointees serving as interim appointees, why wasn't this question raised in the past when a rejected appointee served on a state board?

"Dead Wrong" Our belief is that a minority of the senate (only 17 votes are required to block confirmation, fewer if there are absentees) was wrong, dead wrong, in rejecting Rider and Hamilton.

Our further belief is that this senate minority was led by a handful of senators who had it in personally for these two men because they refused to bow down and take orders from the overly-powerful legislative and budget financial control committee of which one senate ring-leader was a member.

Just as the legislature has the right to override a governor's veto, so does a governor have the privilege to override a wrongful act by a minority of a senate that is not constitutionally composed. There is nothing in the law that denies him that privilege and it is known that an effort to put such a provision into the law died aborning in the senate's judiciary 2 committee at the recent session.

One Condition While waiting for the answers to our questions, we'll gladly subscribe to Dewel's conclusion, on one condition: "Developing better educational institutions is much more important than the personal pique of board members or legislators. . . . Rider and Hamilton have the opportunity of proving the senate wrong. Let them do it."

Strike the words "the senate" and insert in lieu thereof the words "a minority of a senate that is not constitutionally composed."

Play Shows Struggle TO THE EDITOR:

Miss Clift and Miss Thompson might well reconsider those considered opinions so eloquently expressed in Tuesday's Daily Iowan "Letters to the Editor" column, even if that might lead them from whatever heights reflect average enthusiasms. The university's — even the University theater's — job is still production of the better than average.

"Mr. Roberts" is not about "the varying reactions of a group of men in a particular war situation." It is selling the second World War, and so needs to show that the struggle against an arbitrary and repressive authority (the captain) is worthwhile and successful and, second, that sex-starvation is an amusing discomfort, no more.

War with Frustration If we ignore history and ethics — dusty, embarrassing matters — this settles most objections to that war, especially when a little obscenity will release the audience from their own war with authority and frustration.

"To depict realistically masculine high spirits" is no part of the play's aim — it means to picture a group of sex-deprived men as a gang of 10-year-olds, a sort of mass Mickey Rooney.

Realism might add something. A group of enlisted men caught our executive officer — an ensign oddly like Pulver — on the beach in the sex act with a nurse. He recovered; the last I heard, she was still in the hospital.

Sub-Machine Gun A month or so later another pair, similarly caught, were killed with the full drum of a sub-machine gun, after the mass raping. Very high spirits indeed, and very real.

Stage sailors are not so spirited — e.g., they talk of nurses, girls and women. My experience is that men long overseas refer to all human females in several terms referent to a single anatomical organ, and always spoken with a curious loathing fascination.

Realism might require a little such unpleasantness, not only cute obscenities, so handy to trigger a laugh in a repressed audience.

'Window-Peeping' Scenes The play's window-peeping scenes clearly mean to build a fantasy in the audience, then present the embodiment of that fantasy, clothed, to tell them that she has the red label upon her very own buttocks, then strut off the stage.

I submit for the august consideration of theater students that something besides fate and technique comes between actor and audience here. One gains respect for any age that took their bawdry without the crocheted fig-leaf of noble meaning.

I further submit that "Mr. Roberts" distorts wartime navy life exactly as a soap opera distorts our peacetime life, while preserving all the trappings of reality. It has exactly the same purpose as the Mickey Rooney-Henry Aldrich movies had — to say that adolescents, or servicemen, have no real problems, are no real problem to us, and, finally, are not real.

'Educational Films' TO THE EDITOR:

Have you seen the educational movie entitled "Examine Yourself for Well-Roundedness?" It is the sequel to "Examine Yourself for Well-Roundedness." The latter is mainly for the consumption of high school seniors. The purpose of the former is for the use of college seniors just prior to applying for graduation.

As the demand for well-rounded personalities has risen much faster than means to measure and compute the degree of this phenomenon as it occurs in the individual have been developed, society is having to depend for the time being upon an honor system of self-evaluation by the college students and hope-

Interpreting the News—

'Economic NATO' Tie-Up Advocated for Democracies

BY J. M. ROBERTS
AP News Analyst

Researchers for the National Planning council and the Woodrow Wilson foundation, in their advocacy of something like an economic NATO, are adopting an idea which has been kicking around Europe for several years. Antoine Pinay, present French foreign minister, spread the idea during an informal visit to the United States nearly two years ago. It was also discussed by the British.

The current suggestion is for formal association of the United States and Canada with a new organization encompassing what are now the Organization for European Economic Cooperation and the European Payments union.

Japan As Member Japan would be brought in as an associate member.

Over and above the strong American emphasis on supporting sound economies in the free world, the United States also has an important selfish interest. A good many of the countries, while realizing that it is not a healthy long-term attitude, have felt themselves forced to limit imports from the United States because of their inability to collect enough dollars to pay for it.

The nations have several times seemed on the verge of currency convertibility, but have never quite made it. All sorts of proposals have been made, frequently revolving around American willingness to express confidence in the other nations by taking payments in foreign currency. This has been applied, in a relatively small way, under circumstances where the funds could be used to pay American expenses abroad.

Interesting Thought

I have just had from Robert K. Pepper, news editor of the Fort Myers, Fla., News-Press a suggestion that the United States might expand this process by using funds saved by reduction in defense expenditures. It's an interesting thought, though it would have to be weighed against the underlying purposes of the defense cuts, which is to insure that taxes will not interfere with America's own dynamic economy.

Whether Sterling, Plate or Stainless Steel—

Silverware Keys Table Appointments

By JEAN LEINHAUSER
(Editor's Note: This is the 11th in a series of articles to help brides with their wedding plans).
When a bride begins making plans for furnishing her home, one of the first items she chooses is her silverware. The silver is very important, as it is a large investment, and all other table appointments must be kept around it.
Modern brides may choose their silverware from a variety of attractive traditional or modern patterns, and in sterling silver, silver plate or stainless steel.
Sterling silver will usually be the first choice of any bride who can afford it, because it lasts indefinitely and can become a treasured heirloom in any family. Sterling is required by law to contain 92.5 per cent pure silver, with copper which is added to increase the wearing qualities and to harden the silver.
Check Qualities
When buying sterling, the bride should remember that she is making a lifetime investment, and besides choosing a pattern which she will never tire of, should check the wearing qualities of the individual pieces.

Fork tines should be checked for strength and smoothness; spoons should be tested for strength at the narrowest part of the handle; knives at the joining place of the blade and the handle, and all pieces should be tested for balance and "feel" in the hand. A six piece place setting (luncheon knife and fork, soup spoon, teaspoon, salad fork and butter spreader) in sterling will cost from about $24 to $40.
Use Sterling
The beauty of sterling silver increases with use, so it should never be put away to be used "just for best." The more it is used, the sooner it will acquire the soft, glowing patina that is the indelible mark of fine sterling.
A coating of pure silver is bonded to a nickel alloy by electrolysis to form silver plate. The heavier the coating of silver, the better the quality. Some fine silver plate is reinforced with extra silver at the points of wear and table contact.
Good silver plate wears well, but it is not in the heirloom class.
The best quality silver plate should last up to 30 years, while the less expensive ware may last 10 years. A six piece place setting will cost from $7 to $12.

Stainless Steel
Stainless steel, which is becoming more and more popular for all but the most formal occasions, is rust proof, stain resistant, strong and easy to take care of. It is available in many attractive modern patterns, and ranges from $10 on up to as high as sterling.
Sterling and plated hollow ware pieces should be added as they can be afforded.

The bride will want to start housekeeping with four place settings and two serving spoons. As soon as possible she will want to add additional teaspoons, sugar spoon, butter knife, gravy ladle, ice tea spoons, cold meat fork, salad forks and dessert spoons.
Whether she chooses sterling, plate or stainless steel, today's new homemaker can expect quality, beauty and practicality in her chosen silverware.

12 of 14 for Yanks; Top Senators Twice

NEW YORK (AP)—Young Johnny Kucks and Bob Wiesler, with the help of veteran Jim Konstanty, provided at least a temporary answer to the New York Yankees' search for a No. 4 pitcher Thursday as the American league leaders swept a doubleheader from the Washington Senators, 8-4 and 7-3.

Wiesler and Konstanty made it 12 victories in the last 14 games for the Yanks by setting down the Nats on five hits in the nightcap. The 24-year-old lefty allowed just one hit before fanning two in the fifth when he fanned two but walked five to force in two Washington runs.

Konstanty picked up his second victory without defeat in relief after replacing Wiesler. He granted the other four hits, only one for extra bases, the rest of the way while getting tagged for one run.

By the time Wiesler went wild, the Yanks had a 5-0 lead, and picked up two more in the bottom of the fifth to chase starter Dean Stone. The Washington southpaw was smacked for nine hits—one of them Yogi Berra's three-run homer in the first.

Bob Lemon, pinchhitting after being charged with the pitching loss in the opener, singled in the Tribe's winning run in the last of the eighth after Dave Philley doubled and was sacrificed to third.

Nellie Fox drove in four runs with his second and third homers as the Sox tied the second game at nine-all.

Redbirds Get 12 Hits, 1 Run In 3-Tilt Series

CHICAGO (AP)—Howie Pollet, 33-year-old southpaw, scattered six singles as the Chicago Cubs beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-0, Thursday.

The victory gave the Cubs a sweep of the three-game series, in which Cub pitching allowed 12 hits and one run.

It was Pollet's 125th major league victory and his 25th shut-out of a 13-year career. Not a Cardinal advanced to third base as Pollet became the eighth Cub pitcher to go the route in the past 14 games. It was Chicago's seventh win in the past eight games as well as victory No. 13 in 16 home games at Wrigley field.

Rookie Bob Speake homered and singled to figure in both Chicago rallies in the first and third.

The loss was the Cardinals' sixth in their last seven games. Catcher Bill Sarni singled twice to lead the St. Louis hitters.

Gene Baker and Speake singled in the first before walks to Ted Tappe and Ernie Banks forced Baker across.

Baker also singled to open the third and scored when Speake hit his seventh home run of the season over the right field screen.

Reds Defeat Braves, 5-4, Move to Fifth

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Ted Kluszewski pounded his 12th home run Thursday to get Cincinnati started on a 5-4 victory over the Milwaukee Braves which carried the Redlegs one notch up the National league ladder to fifth place.

Kluszewski led off in the second inning with his blast and Gus Bell and Wally Post came through with a pair of two-run singles in a fifth inning uprising which settled the outcome.

The clubs were scheduled for a doubleheader but the second game was rained out after two outs in the last of the first inning.

By winning his second straight from Milwaukee, Cincinnati vaulted over the St. Louis Cardinals, set down by Chicago, and now trail the sagging fourth place Braves by a mere two percentage points.

Gerry Staley, helped out by Buster Freeman in the eighth, gained his fourth Cincinnati mound victory against three losses.

City Tests New Pedestrian Traffic Signal

MRS. BONNIE PORTER shows her two sons, Robert, 8, left, and Stevie, 5, the new sign put up recently by Iowa City. It is hoped the new sign will stop the walking on red lights that is so common in Iowa City.

A large illuminated sign designed to tell pedestrians when to cross the street has been installed at the corner of Washington and Dubuque streets.

City Manager Peter F. Roan, said Thursday, that the sign was placed there as a sample to test the ability of the device to stop people from walking against red traffic signals.

Attached to a traffic signal post, the sign alternately flashes "Walk" in green and "Don't Walk" in red.

Benz To Receive Achievement Plaque From Alma Mater

Lester G. Benz of the SUI school of journalism faculty has been named one of four persons to receive the Morningside College Living Endowment Achievement award honorary plaque for 1955.

Benz will receive his plaque at an alumni banquet following the Morningside commencement exercises Saturday in Sioux City. The award is given to honor Morningside alumni who best personify the ideals of their college, according to President Earl H. Roadman, who notified Benz of the award.

Benz recently was appointed publisher of The Daily Iowan, and of Hawkeye, by the board of trustees of Student Publications, Inc. The appointment will become effective July 1. Benz also is head of the community journalism sequence, and is executive secretary of the Iowa High School Press association.

5 Vaccine Makers Agree To Federal Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five of the six drug companies licensed to make Salk polio vaccine fell in line Thursday with the government's new rules for manufacturing and testing it.

Their acceptance of the revised standards improved prospects for resumption of the nationwide campaign to immunize millions of school children against infantile paralysis. However, the time of the resumption is uncertain.

The only holdout was the Pitman-Moore Co. of Zionsville, Ind., whose president, Kenneth F. Valentine, contended the new tests will mean considerably more work without assuring a safer vaccine.

Vaccine makers agree that application of the new standards may add one to several weeks to the time required for getting fresh vaccine to the state clinics. The U.S. Public Health service has not disclosed details of the revised procedures.

These companies have agreed to continue production of the vaccine under the new rules; Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit; Cutter laboratories, Berkeley, Calif.; Eli Lilly & Co., Indianapolis; Wyeth, Inc., Marietta, Pa., and Sharp & Dohme, Philadelphia.

An impelling force behind official demands for revised standards is the fact that some children have come down with polio after having received their inoculations. There have been five deaths.

The latest Public Health Service report Thursday listed 94 post-inoculation cases of polio—60 in persons who received the Cutter product, 23 among those who received the Lilly product, 10 among the Wyeth inoculations and 1 among those of Parke-Davis. About six million children have received shots.

Journalism Students Name 11 Candidates For Class Officers

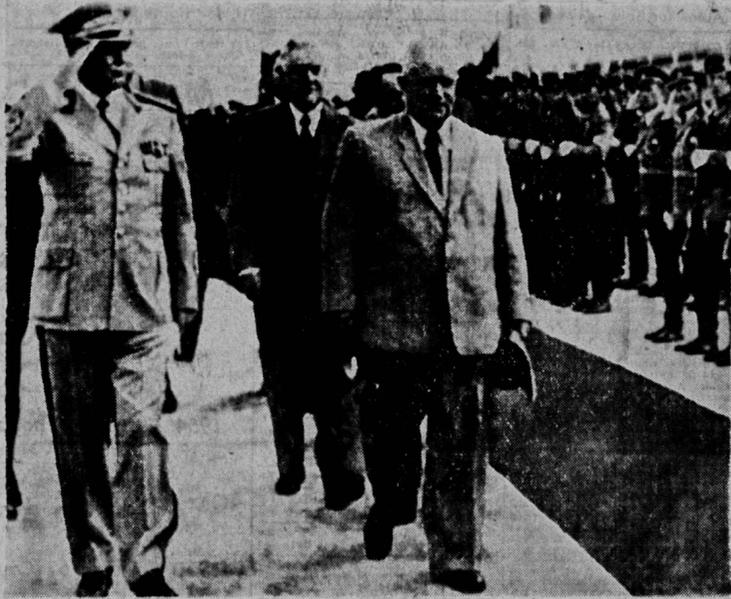

SUI students in the school of journalism, Thursday selected six juniors and five sophomores in primary elections for class officers for next year's classes.

Members of the present junior class were to select five persons from whom the class officers will be elected, but a tie in the voting placed six persons on the final ballot. They are Terry C. Bledsoe, Clinton; Edward L. Garrity, Marshalltown; Arnold S. Gore, Kankakee, Ill.; Ira Kapenstein, New York city; David R. Stevens, Dubuque, and Alan M. Waxenberg, Davenport.

Members of the sophomore class selected were: Nan Borreson, Sheldon; Loy Brooks, Des Moines; Ellen Fernandez, Milwaukee, Wis.; Sandra J. Miller, Davenport, and Dorothy K. Roudabush, Brooklyn, Ia.

The final elections will take place June 8. At that time a president, vice president, and secretary-treasurer will be elected for each class.

Ike Requests Atomic Ship Be Financed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower asked congress for $12,650,000 Thursday to start work on a 33-million-dollar atomic-powered merchant ship which has been criticized by some congress members as a "show-boat."

The funds for getting the project under way were included in a $139,334,014 request for supplemental appropriations for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Of the $12,650,000 for the atomic-powered merchant ship, the White House statement said:

"This appropriation is needed by the Maritime Administration for the design and construction of the hull, crew training, and administration of its part of the program."

The cost of building and installing the atomic power plant and propulsion machinery which has been estimated at an additional 21 million dollars, will be financed by the Atomic Energy Commission, the statement said.

the street to preserve order and prevent looting.

The scene was similar at Blackwell where the twister cut a swath eight blocks long and two and one-half blocks wide, sucking in cars, parts of buildings and small structures from either side. The death list has fluctuated as duplications were eliminated and new names added.

Federal relief was assured with announcement by the small business administration in Washington that the tornado areas in Oklahoma and Kansas had been declared disaster areas. This makes persons whose homes or businesses have been destroyed eligible for 3 per cent 20-year rehabilitation loans without a dollar ceiling.

Cites Couple's Reaction Johnny Walker, 37, and his wife were preparing to retire about 10:30 p.m. when the blow hit Udall. Their lights suddenly went out.

"I jumped up and the door blew open," Walker related. "I forced it shut. Then my wife put her arms around my waist and we crawled to the stairway.

There was an explosion, it seemed like, and all the windows went out of the house. The man living just north of us was blown out of his house. He staggered over to my place and we stayed there together."

After the tornado had passed, Walker said, he and the neighbor, Gus Buchholz, about 70, went outside. They saw bodies lying along the street.

The injured were described by nurse Merle Wheelan at a hospital at nearby Winfield, as suffering from all types of hurts from "broken bones to sticks stuck in their bodies."

Roof-Painter Gets $85 Here For Working 10 Minutes

An Iowa City widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Conley, 17 W. Prentiss st., told Thursday how she paid a man $85 for 10 minutes work in painting the roof of her home. The man was driving a car with Mississippi license plates, and gave his name as William White, Mrs. Conley said.

Mrs. Conley said that "White" called at her home at 4 p.m. Wednesday and told her that the roof of her house needed painting. She told him that she was not ready to have the work done.

"He was very persistent, however," she said, "and when he said that he was from Johns-Manville (the Home Insulation company in Iowa City) I agreed to have the work done."

"He went away and returned in about an hour and started to work."

In the meantime, Mrs. Conley became curious and called the Home Insulation company. Office personnel said that the painter did not work for them.

Mrs. Conley said that in 10 minutes "White" spray-painted all but the porch roof and came to collect his fee of $85.

"I was rather worked-up," Mrs. Conley said, "so I asked him for some sort of a guarantee. He said that he would bring the paper in the morning, and I gave him a check for $85."

"White" had not appeared at her house by 9 a.m. Thursday, so Mrs. Conley cancelled the check and reported the incident to bank officials.

Earlier, Alvin G. Rowe, E3, Dubuque, who rooms at the Conley home, discovered his car had been splattered with aluminum paint and reported the whole affair to Iowa City police. Police removed the paint from Rowe's car.

A memorial for John M. Glasgow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rolley Glasgow Jr., of 619 Finkbine park, will be established from contributions made to the family by neighbors and friends in the SUI housing area.

The fund of more than $150 will be used for the Finkbine playground, as was designated by the family.
