Senate Group Voted Draft Extension

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate armed services committee late Monday tentatively approved a four-year extension of the regular draft and voted to continue the controversial special doctors' draft another two years.

But final action was delayed to give Eisenhower administration officials another chance to argue that the draft bill should be tied in with their plan for a four-fold increase in the active military reserves.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), committee chairman, said defense officials have been "insistent" that the senate pass the draft and reserve programs in the same package. He added some committee members feel "that might jeopardize the whole bill."

The reserve program has been stalled in the house after house members approved an amendment to bar racial segregation in the national guard and reserve units. President Eisenhower recently urged action on the reserve bill as a major point in his defense program. He indicated disapproval of the segregation "rider," saying major legislation should be considered on its own merits.

The draft bill is designed to keep U.S. military manpower at a long-haul level of about 2,850,000. The senate committee approved several amendments to the bill, already passed separately by the house.

One important change would exempt from the doctors' draft any doctor 35 or older whose application for a commission is turned down for physical reasons. Doctors' liability now extends through age 50.

GM Gives Guaranteed Wage Plan

DETROIT (AP)—CIO auto workers Monday obtained from General Motors the same guaranteed wage plan they got a week ago from Ford. Today the union turns to first 1955 bargaining with a member of the auto industry's "Little Three"—American Motors corporation.

Walter P. Reuther, president of both the CIO and UAW, said a similar guaranteed wage plan would be the union's No. 1 demand on Chrysler, last of the "Big Three" unsigned. He declined to say about American Motors, Studebaker-Packard, and Kaiser.

However, Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice-president in charge of its American Motors department, told newsmen "yes, we are" going to ask the same of American Motors.

With his new three-year GM agreement, Reuther again established the principle of employer-paid benefits to supplement unemployment compensation of laid off workers. From this important auto beachhead he hopes to spread it to other industries.

The CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, IUE, which an hour later won a similar guaranteed wage package for its 35,000 GM employees, quickly proclaimed it "provides a splendid objective" for bargaining later this year with General Electric and Westinghouse.

Both still must be ratified by UAW local unions, as must that with Ford, to become effective.

Dissatisfaction was expressed at many GM plants, with wildcat strikes. Walkouts were blamed on local issues, and international headquarters began applying pressure to local leaders to get men back to work. Similar pressure ended Ford wildcats within three days.

At one time Monday, GM estimated approximately 140,000 employees were idle at 50 of its 118 plants across the country.

The new GM-UAW agreement came at the end of more than 37 hours of bargaining broken only by short recesses.

GM's pact closely parallels that between the UAW and Ford. Reuther estimated it would cost the corporation $600 million over its three-year life.

Besides the guaranteed wage plan, it carries improvements in pay, pensions, vacations and holidays.

GM, like Ford, agreed to guarantee laid-off workers 60 to 65 per cent of regular take-home pay, including unemployment compensation, for a period of 26 weeks—half a year.

Neither the GM nor Ford guarantee becomes effective until June 1, 1956.

Dean Phillips Honored

TWO FORMER STUDENTS of Dean Emeritus Chester A. Phillips (right), of the SUI college of commerce, traveled many miles to be present at the Saturday alumni reunion held in honor of the former dean. Joe Bishop (left) a 1923 graduate who now lives in Long Beach, Calif., and Mrs. F. O. Larrabee, a 1936 graduate now living in Memphis, Tenn., were both present. Sidney Winter, present dean of the SUI college of commerce, is second from left.

Adenauer, Ike Talk; Reject Russian Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer arrived Monday for talks with President Eisenhower and quickly turned down an expected Soviet move to neutralize West Germany in the cold war.

"My countrymen are convinced," he said, "that a close and loyal partnership with the peoples of the free world on the basis of the treaties which have recently come into force is the best means of maintaining peace and freedom."

Adenauer, looking tanned and vigorous despite his 79 years, said his people consider their newly ratified Atlantic Pact alliance with the West as "the best means of obtaining the peaceful reunification of Germany in freedom."

Adenauer's arrival aboard a German commercial airliner coincided with Russia's formal acceptance of plans for a meeting of big four heads of government in Geneva July 18.

This Big Four conference, as well as a Russian invitation for Adenauer to visit Moscow, are scheduled to be the prime topics of conversation when he meets officially this morning with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles. Later in New York Adenauer will confer with the Western Big Three foreign ministers.

Top American officials reported afterwards they are fully confident Adenauer will stand by the West firmly during any visit he might make to Moscow to talk with Russia's leaders.

They said they would leave the timing of any such Moscow visit completely up to the German chancellor, confident he would handle it in a manner best calculated to help the free world.

The main purpose of Adenauer's talks with Eisenhower and Dulles, they said, would be to exchange estimates on what new proposals involving Germany the Russians might spring at the Geneva conference.

Announcing the acceptance of the time and place, the Russians accused the United States of bringing up such questions in an effort to torpedo the conference.

The aim of the meeting, they said, should be primarily to "lessen international tensions."

Soviet Note
A Soviet note strongly indicated the Kremlin wants the conference of Premier Nikolai Bulganin, Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, Premier Edgar Faure and President Eisenhower to last more than the three or four days suggested by the West. It is assumed here that Soviet Foreign Minister Vladimir Molotov will discuss this point when he meets in San Francisco next week with U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay.

Toward Solutions
Dulles in a television report to the nation last month said the summit conference might set up processes toward solution of such problems as German reunification, arms limitations, the problem of satellite Communist nations dominated by Moscow and problems "created by international communism, which is such a pest all around the world."

"It should be clear to all," the statement said, "that no problem of the countries of Eastern Europe exists, since the people of these countries, having overthrown the rule of the exploiters and established people's democracies, will not allow anyone to interfere in their internal affairs."

Pillsbury Award Winners

Peron Accuses Church Of Lies

Registration For Summer School Today

Summer session students at SUI will register today in the Iowa Fieldhouse from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

They will attend the opening of the 56th summer session classes Wednesday.

SUI this summer will offer courses for those classified as beginning freshmen to graduate students.

Workshops for teachers of English, geography, journalism, Latin, music and speech, will also be offered. A workshop in human relations and mental health will be open to school administrators, teachers, advisers and research workers, June 20 through July 1.

All courses and workshops carry academic credit.

Fees for the summer session must be paid on June 23 or 24 at the SUI treasurer's office in University hall.

Students who expect to receive degrees at summer commencement exercises August 10 must make applications at the SUI registrar's office before June 29.

The summer session will run eight full weeks, closing on August 10. The only vacation will be the July 4 holiday, which falls on a Monday.

Registration for the 1954 summer session was 3,571. The record enrollment is 5,135, set in 1947.

An independent study unit for graduate students will be held August 11 through September 7. Graduate students can earn up to four hours of credit during the term.

The Fine Arts festival will be a feature of the summer session. It will include a presentation of the opera "The Marriage of Figaro" July 26-28, five plays by the University theater, summer session lectures and a 34-painting exhibit of works of contemporary artists.

Today's registration schedule:
8 a.m., M-Met; 8:30 a.m., M-N; 9 a.m., O-Q; 9:30 a.m., R-Sav; 10 a.m., Saw-Sn; 10:30 a.m., So-Tim; 11 a.m., Tin-Wil; 11:30 a.m., Wim-Bak; 12 noon, Bal-Broo; 12:30 p.m., Brop-Coo; 1 p.m., Cop-Dz; 1:30 p.m., E-Fz; 2 p.m., G-Har; 2:30 p.m., Has-I; 3 p.m., J-Kir; 3:30 p.m., Kis-Lev, and 4 p.m., Lew-Lz.

Plane Crash Kills Iowan

EAGLE GROVE (AP)—Merle Stackland, 28, Eagle Grove, was killed and Ben Willey, 42, Eagle Grove attorney and real estate operator, was injured Monday afternoon in the crash of their light airplane.

The plane, an old open type Waco, crashed about 300 feet from the take-off point, in a cornfield, near here. It did not burn.

Willey, who was found sitting a short distance from the wreckage, was taken to a Fort Dodge hospital where he was reported in fair condition.

Stackland, the pilot, had taken off from a dirt landing strip constructed only a few months ago by a group of Eagle Grove aviation enthusiasts. The strip is just west of the Country Club here.

Witnesses at the Country Club said they heard the plane's engine sputter, then fall. The pilot apparently was banking to get back to the field when the plane struck some trees.

Pharmacy Board Exams Start Today

The state pharmacy board examinations will begin today for graduating SUI senior pharmacy students.

Written examinations will be held in room 300 at the chemistry building, Dean Louis Zopf said. The tests will continue through Thursday.

All pharmacy students must pass these examinations to become fully registered pharmacists in Iowa, Zopf said.

State pharmacy examiners: John F. Rabe, secretary; Oscar G. Stadt, Oscar B. Johnson, and Charles F. Griffin.

Cancer Day Program Set

The latest developments in the research war against cancer will be disclosed here Sunday at the Iowa Cancer Research Day program at University hospitals.

Dr. Charles S. Cameron of New York, scientific director of the American Cancer society, will be the main speaker.

Twenty-nine Iowa scientists who are being aided in research work by the ACS will give short talks on their projects.

More than 250 volunteer workers in the Iowa division of ACS are expected to attend the program, which is held every other year.

Gets 7 Years on Bad Check Charge

Lyle Buell, 53, of Denver, Colo., Monday was sentenced to not more than seven years in the Iowa state penitentiary for writing a false check for $20.

Judge Harold D. Evans gave him the maximum sentence possible in Johnson county district court after he switched his plea from innocent to guilty.

Buell allegedly wrote the check at an Iowa City department store.

Says Catholic Heads Attacked Him, Wife

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Juan Peron Monday night charged the Roman Catholic clergy with waging a systematic campaign of lies against him and his late wife, and threatened to put down "with all energy" disorders growing out of his feud with the church.

Peron spoke in a 25-minute broadcast from his residence in Palermo after a weekend of riots between his followers and supporters of the Roman Catholic church, the state church of Argentina. Twenty-nine persons were hurt in the disorders and hundreds were arrested.

Vatican Paper Says Catholics Can't Defend

VATICAN CITY (AP)—L'Osservatore Romano declared Monday Roman Catholics in Argentina "are in the position of accused persons who have no possibility of defending themselves even from the most odious lies."

The Vatican newspaper said President Juan D. Peron's government has "an almost total monopoly" of information and is the only agency in a position to appeal to Argentine public opinion.

News that federal police invaded the episcopal palace at Buenos Aires and arrested 430 men seeking refuge after a Catholic-Peronist clash caused grave concern here.

Some of the Vatican sources feared that more such developments could lead to a diplomatic break between the Vatican and predominantly Catholic Argentina.

Russians OK July 18 Big Four Talks

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union agreed Monday to a Big Four meeting at Geneva July 18, but sharply denied that either the status of East European Communist nations or the role of international communism was a matter for the summit conference.

Announcing the acceptance of the time and place, the Russians accused the United States of bringing up such questions in an effort to torpedo the conference.

The aim of the meeting, they said, should be primarily to "lessen international tensions."

Self-Defeating Advantage—

Industry comes to colleges and universities in the spring. It goes after the best students. And it outbids teaching as a life career by such a huge financial margin that for many the prospects of rewards from other satisfactions are swept aside.

This has been going on for quite a few years. What would happen if it kept up much longer? Would industry find that it had recruited so many potentially good teachers that there were too few good teachers left to turn out any more well-qualified graduates for industry to recruit?

That would be a ridiculous and a vicious circle. One educator at a recent conference on the school manpower crisis called it "killing the goose that lays the golden eggs." Another speaker at the Toledo, Ohio, meeting, a college president, characterized this competition as "serious." Still another brought the problem into even harsher focus:

"You want good teachers? Don't you know there are not enough poor teachers to go around?"

It is utterly unrealistic, of course, to expect industry to lower its inducements to the level of teachers' salaries. And it is utterly unfair and unkind for a rich nation to expect indefinitely that those who are fitted and wish to become teachers and research scholars should make this choice at the current sacrifice demanded of themselves and their future families.

Here, for industry, is the answer of enlightened self-interest: Help the colleges to pay their faculties better salaries so they can continue to turn out good material for industry to recruit—but not with so self-defeating an advantage.

Say Ford Forced GM Into Agreement with CIO

DETROIT (AP)—Ford, unwilling to risk a newly gained competitive position, probably forced a reluctant General Motors into its newest agreement with the CIO United Auto Workers.

That's the view of numerous auto industry analysts of the outcome of the history-making jobless pay contracts just completed between Ford and General Motors with the big labor union.

For most of the last two decades — the period during which GM's big Chevrolet division topped Ford in production and sales — it generally had been said that as General Motors went, so went the auto industry. In other words General Motors set the pattern in car pricing and in labor relations.

General Motors First There has been no recent price schedule test. It is true, however, that the UAW-CIO usually has dealt first with the huge General Motors corporation in matters concerning labor. C. E. Wilson, then president of General Motors, conceived the now-expired five-year contracts with the UAW-CIO.

But the UAW strategy this time was to deal first with Ford. Some sources said this was based on the idea that if a strike became necessary it would be less costly to the union membership and the union's strike fund if Ford's 140,000 workers were idled rather than GM's 375,000.

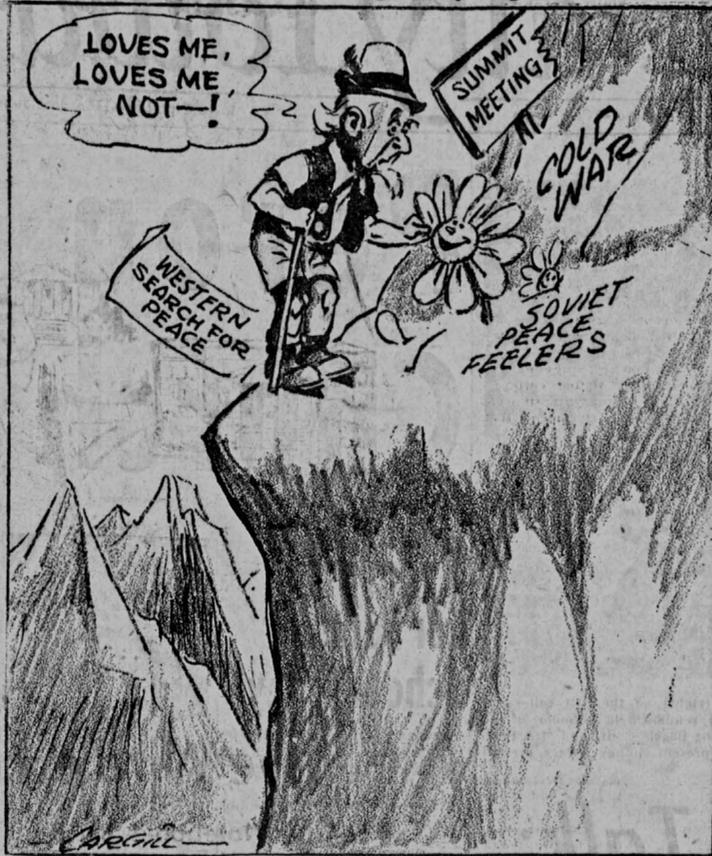

Whatever the accuracy of this speculation, the UAW-CIO top command chose to deal first with Ford. To do this it twice extended the GM contract for a total of 15 days beyond its expiration date. The GM contract originally was scheduled to run out May 29, the Ford agreement June 1.

'Wheels Get Together' Long before the actual negotiations between Ford and the UAW-CIO began, industry analysts frequently were asked:

"Do the big wheels in the auto industry ever get together to decide what they will agree upon in their labor contracts?"

Whether they do or not never has been disclosed, but they certainly did not in the just-concluded agreements.

Interpreting the News—

Praises Ike's Suggestion For World Atomic Reactors

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst

President Eisenhower's suggestion of a worldwide string of atomic reactors, partially financed by the United States for the benefit of the free nations, promises to back the American propaganda programs with deeds.

Americans are prone to assume that, because they are so advanced technically, and because they have no designs on the liberties of others, everyone should want to be on their side.

Actually the U.S. has been seeking to attract a large number of nations whose peoples have little knowledge of the one and little belief in the other.

'A Crass People'

Some of them who do have knowledge of American technological advancement attribute it to a crass people, strictly interested in selfish material development. To some of these people, even such an offer appears to be a trap, by which their economies would eventually be so tied up with those of the U.S. that they would become vassal states.

Because of its connection with defense, atomic energy even for peaceful purposes has been developed in great secrecy. In one respect, this can now turn out to have been fortuitous. The greater the secret, the more valuable the sharing.

Atomic reactors can mean a great deal where normal fuel sources are absent, and where people are trying to make the jump from mere suppliers of raw materials to masters of their own economies.

Stability and Peace

Certainly the U.S. expects to benefit. A more stable world would be a more peaceful world. More stable nations would mean more customers.

But the most practical thing in the long run, even though it may be the least material thing now, would be the demonstration by such sensational means that the U.S. really does have both the ability and the will to help others in such fashion.

British UN Delegate Tells Graduates of UN Achievements

MT. VERNON, Ia. —

Great Britain's United Nations representative Monday predicted that the UN would become more valuable.

Sir Pierson Dixon gave the commencement speech to 84 Cornell college seniors in exercises here.

"Though we may be disappointed at times with what the United Nations has so far achieved," Dixon said, "it may well be that in 50 years time, historians will marvel that so much was done."

Dixon said that the UN will be a great help in the search for security and peace in future years.

"The modern world needs a new form of international organization and the United Nations is basically a sound blueprint for coping with the problems of the new world," Dixon said.

"Even if we have not been able to sleep together quietly in our beds, we have been able to sleep there and not in the cellars," Dixon said.

Statehouse Janitor Reduces Capitol Pigeon Population

DES MOINES (AP) —

Elmer Barker, a janitor at the statehouse, is cutting down the population of pigeons which roost high on the structure's exterior, and saving the state a possible expenditure of $1,920 a year.

"But we won't get rid of those birds," said custodian Fred Willis Monday. "Barker is using a small shotgun and he's doing the job because he's the best shot we have."

"However, he's just scaring them away after he gets one shot early each morning. We probably won't ever get rid of them entirely. It's just one shot and they are gone for the day."

A Des Moines man recently offered the State Executive Council a contract for $1,920 a year to get rid of pigeons. State Auditor C. B. Akers suggested the shotgun method would be just as effective and less costly.

To Explore Resources For Schools

Activities which bind a community together will be explored and charted for use in public school instruction during a two-week workshop to be held at SUI this summer.

Participants in the Community Geography workshop June 20-July 1 should return to their communities with a set of teachable materials and a plan for using them, said George W. Hartman, SUI geography professor and workshop director.

The community approach to geography, he points out, starts with what the child knows best and works out toward a better understanding of the state, the nation and the world. This approach also takes advantage of the normal child's ready interest in such graphically visual materials as maps and charts, he says.

In the workshop an elementary teacher, for instance, might start with a grocery store as a focal point of the child's experience. From such information as is on can labels the pupil then can trace the food back to its source. In the procedure he learns something of the article's production, distribution and consumption and the transportation system which brought it to the grocer's shelves.

Other chartable and teachable community activities include communication, protection of life and property, conservation practices, the educational system and recreational activities.

Spinster from Holland Buys 192-Acre Farm

MILLVILLE, N. S. (AP) — Miss Jacopa Bregman has started life on the "many things to be done right away" on the 192-acre farm she bought sight unseen. The 47-year-old spinster purchased the farm after deciding to leave her native Holland to get away from government red tape.

She rode the 35 miles from Sydney to Millville in the back of a truck to get her first look at her farm.

TO THE EDITOR:

A situation has developed here at the University of Southern California which we feel is of importance to you and your school as well. Greatly oversimplified, this is a summary of the events of the last two weeks:

On May 23, the administration of U.S.C. announced the graduation commencement speaker to be Governor Allan Shivers of Texas. There were a number of students who were disappointed by this choice. As you may well know, Governor Shivers has long been a harsh-spoken opponent of desegregation. Also — certain people have expressed their concern about Governor Shivers position in the huge land-grant swindles of the past few years in Texas.

For these reasons, a number of students acted quickly to oppose Governor Shivers invitation to USC (and the honorary degree customarily accompanying this invitation). The student senate met two days after the announcement of the invitation and moved by a 35-0 vote, to request that the invitation be recalled. In answer, the school president, Fred D. Fagg, called a special senate meeting, where he criticized the student action, advising the students that the invitation would stand. The undaunted senate replied by re-affirming, again unanimously, their first vote.

Faculty Sign By this time, the attention of the faculty had been directed on the issue. A group of the faculty backed the students by signing 136 names to a petition. The administration chose to ignore this action as well. This is far too typical of administration policies in our universities. There are grave questions forcefully brought to mind by this example.

How much voice do students have in their education? If they choose not to be herded through their college years, what can they do about it? Do American students have courage to organize and protest, as at USC?

Council Discussion We believe that American students should consider this case, the better to consider what they can do in their own schools to resist dictation by their own administrators.

We also think that a discussion of this by your student council may prove enlightening.

William Van Aestyn, President Associated Students of University of Southern California

TO THE EDITOR:

This statement appeared in Friday's Iowan editorial: "Automatic household appliances have given women more opportunity for club work and political party activities." I don't agree.

The assumption that modern appliances have made housework automatic and "easier" is an oft-repeated fallacy. Only men make such statements. Any thinking woman knows that modern conveniences have added to her work, not cut it down. Women being women, I think grandmother spent about the same amount of time at quilting parties and ladies aids that her granddaughter spends on club work and party activities. But the modern woman has the added work of modern appliances.

Obvious Examples Some of the more obvious examples are freezers and washing machines, cake mixers and paint-it-yourself kits.

The addition of the deep freeze to home equipment has added the problem of keeping it filled. Grandmother did an enormous volume of canning; her daughter just bought canned goods, probably with a concealed sigh of relief; but granddaughter "can" an enormous volume of plastic cartons to fill the freezer.

The convenience of an automatic washing machine means the housewife does laundry every fourth day instead of once in two weeks. And in this day and age, the convenience of buying ready-made clothing is offset by the extra time needed to keep up an expanded wardrobe.

Ads Stress 'Ease'

Because all the mouth-watering ads stress the "ease" of cakes which come out of a cake mix box, the family expects a cake a week whereas grandmother baked a cake only for special occasions. The waffle iron means that many "extra" batters are beaten up, and the mixer means more elaborate recipes, more often prepared. Great-grandmother would be surprised at the amount of time the modern woman spends in the kitchen, even though she doesn't need to scoop cobs to keep the cookstove going. Because the oven now flicks on with a twist of the wrist doesn't mean that it is less work making a lemon meringue pie.

Roll-on paint kits have forced women to do painting and decorating, something grandma was content to let the painter do. And four-color ads now tell men that garden hose is so lightweight "your wife can handle it easily" (she will).

And, they add, even a mere woman can start a power lawn mower. That adds lawn mowing to her chores.

Grandma Drove Buggy

Great-grandma drove the horse and buggy, and I'll bet great-grandma just let him think she couldn't harness up the team; then she didn't have to do it! But today's woman is not only the chauffeur, but also has to see that the equipment is greased and filled with gas. Her husband says: "All you have to do is take the car to the garage." Can you imagine grandma riding the horse to town to have it shod?

You can see what I'm getting at. Things have not been made automatic by any means. At the rate we are going, women will soon be working 24 hours a day to keep up with the "ease of modern appliances." (Oh, and another thing, great-grandma didn't have to contend with the steady stream of repairmen to keep appliances going.)

The fact that modern woman accomplishes what she does in daylight hours is one of the minor miracles of this century. Sometimes it is even rather fun, but please don't stand there and smugly say that "automatic household appliances have given" etc.

Iowa To Host 4 Classical Talks

Four classical meetings will be held in Iowa from June 23 to July 16. The SUI classics department will be host to three of these meetings.

Latin Institute The American Classical League Latin institute for high school and college students throughout the U.S. will be held here June 23-25.

This convention, the eighth national annual convention of the group, will be held at the Iowa Center for Continuation Study. A reception will be held in the Iowa Memorial union by the members of the alumni association.

The evening of June 23, the SUI graduate college and the Iowa Society of the Archeological Institute of America will present a lecture — "Early Roman Colonies in Italy and Recent Explorations of Them" by Prof. Paul L. MacKendrick of the University of Wisconsin.

Musical Program The SUI classical department will present a musical program by the SUI faculty string quartet and the Collegium Musicum directed by Prof. Albert. The musical program will include ancient Greek music, modern settings of classical poetry, and extracts from 17th century works based on classical themes.

During the convention there will be an exhibit of coins, works of art and other objects from the collections of the SUI classics department and members of the SUI faculty.

The Junior Classical League convention for Latin students from high schools throughout the United States will be held at Cedar Falls, June 27-30. Miss Edna O. Miller of the Iowa State Teachers College classical languages department will be in charge of arrangements for that convention.

Many of the high school and college instructors who attend the American Classical League convention here are expected to attend the convention in Cedar Falls, Prof. Gerald F. Else of the SUI classics department said.

Sponsored by SUI "What Needs To Be Done?" is the title of a one-day conference, sponsored by the SUI classics department, to be held June 27 at the SUI Continuation Center.

Prof. Casper Kraemer Jr., New York University, will be one of the speakers at the one day event. Kraemer has an historical television program on a New York station. The program is called "This Is the Past." On June 28, Kraemer will be on the program of the television conference to be held at the SUI television center.

Latin Workshop The fifth annual Iowa Latin Workshop will be held June 28 through July 16. Prof. Else said the Iowa Latin Workshop serves to bring new information to Latin teachers. The course may be taken for three hours credit.

On the staff of the workshop: Prof. Else; Prof. Myra L. Uhfelder of the SUI department of classics; Miss Anna A. Goldsberry, Latin teacher, Alton, Ill., senior high school; and Miss Edith M. A. Kovach, Latin teacher, Mumford high school, Detroit.

The Iowa Latin Workshop, the second to be founded in this country, has been attended by persons from 18 states and Canada.

Since the Iowa Latin Workshop was established in 1949, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, and Michigan have also held similar sessions. SUI recently suggested that the 10 Western Conference schools establish a joint workshop to be held at one of the conference schools each year.

Bride Should Decide What She Can Afford—

Shop for Quality and Style in Linens

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 14th in a series of articles to help the bride with her wedding plans).

By JEAN LEINHAUSER
Shopping for linens can be one of the most enjoyable duties on the bride's long list of things to do. Bed, bath and table linens come in a whole palette of colors and gay patterns, and here the bride can use her imagination and flair for color in coordinating her home with accessories.

But quality is important in linens as well as style, so before starting on her shopping trip the bride should decide just what she can afford, and what quality she wants.

Combed percale is the highest quality available in bed linens. To be called percale, a sheet must have 180 threads or more to the inch. The more threads to the inch, the higher the quality. And the greatest wear is obtained from high quality linens.

Muslin Linens
Muslin linens are cheaper and will not wear as well, but they should have a thread count of at least 140 per inch.

The bride should know the exact size of her beds, as mattresses vary greatly in length and width. Sheets usually are sold marked "torn size," which means the size before hemming. Standard sizes for sheets are twin, 72 inches by 108 inches; three quarter, 81 inches by 108 inches, and double, 90 inches by 108 inches.

Pillow cases come in 42 or 45 inches by 38 1/2 inches. Foam rubber mattresses and pillows may require special sizes in linens.

The bride may choose her sheets in fitted or flat styles, in white, pastel or deep tones, plaids, polka dots or flower strewn patterns.

Minimum Sheets
Three pairs of sheets and three pillowcases are considered the minimum for each bed.

Blankets may be of pure wool, synthetic fibres or a combination of wool and the man-made fibres. The long wearing, more expensive blankets are more closely woven and very soft.

Two winter blankets and one light summer blanket should be purchased for each bed.

A close weave indicates quality in bath linen too. To check the weave, hold the piece up to a good light, and see how firm and close the weave seems.

Cheaper towels will have a loose weave and will be smaller than the average size.

Average sizes for bath linens are: bath towels, 25 by 48 inches; hand towels, 16 by 28 inches; wash cloths, 13 by 13 inches and oversize towels, 28 by 52 inches.

Bath Linens
The bride should plan on a dozen each of bath towels, hand towels and wash cloths, two bath mats, and six guest towels.

For the kitchen, a dozen dish towels and dish cloths, plus six hand towels should provide a good start.

The type of entertaining the couple plans to do will determine the quality and quantity of table linens needed. Two or three sets of linen or plastic place mats can be used for breakfast and luncheons, and at least two luncheon cloths and napkins will be needed. One fine linen cloth and napkins for formal dinners should be purchased if possible, as should cocktail napkins, linen or lace doilies and bridge sets.

About The Servicemen

James R. Goss, seaman, USN, will stay aboard the escort aircraft carrier, USS Kula Gulf, to help return the ship to "mothballs" this summer.

The USS Kula Gulf served as flagship for Commander Anti-Submarine Force, Atlantic, since its reactivation at the outbreak of the Korean hostilities.

Goss is the son of Mrs. Evelyn Goss, 2029 N. Summit st.

Marine Cpl. Ronald L. Connell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Connell, S. Van Buren st., was promoted to his present rank in May while serving in Japan with the 3rd shore party battalion. The battalion is located in southern Honshu near the Yokosuka Naval base.

Second Lt. Charles L. Arndt, 1954 SUI commerce graduate, has completed a training course as an aircraft observer-navigator at Ellington Air Force base, Texas.

Arndt, who received an Air Force ROTC commission from SUI, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Chrisman, Des Moines.

Cpl. Elmer F. Pirkel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pirkel, Swisher, was promoted in May to his present rank while serving with the 4th Marine regiment at Kaneohe Bay, T. H.

DANFORTH WEDDING
Dr. Mary Beth Godfrey Horan, Oakdale, became the bride of Lee G. Dewey, Perry, in a ceremony performed Sat., June 4 at Danforth chapel. Both are graduates of SUI.

Engagement Announced

Miss Joyce YeVonne Hankins

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hankins, Mt. Pleasant, announce the engagement of their daughter, Joyce YeVonne, to Lt. Walter C. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Jones, Iowa City.

Miss Hankins is a 1955 SUI graduate. She majored in journalism. Lt. Jones is a 1954 graduate of the college of engineering. He is now stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

No wedding date has been announced.

Autos, Hats Paralleled In Trust Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Feminine pulchritude, women's hats and vice slipped into anti-trust and monopoly discussions before a senate judiciary subcommittee Friday.

George Romney, president of the American Motors corporation, used the varying subjects in support of his arguments that "sheer volume" can popularize changes in automobiles.

"Automobiles, women's hats and sin have something in common," he declared at one point. "We are in a styling industry," he told the committee, and the big three producers by their volume of production can popularize a style change or mechanical innovation that smaller companies would have a hard time selling to the public.

"It's just like women's hat styles becoming popular through wide use," he said.

Small companies, should pioneer new developments to meet competition, Romney said.

As an example, he cited American Motors' small car — the Rambler — which he said is gaining in popularity and in his opinion points the way toward more compact economical cars.

"Only in passenger cars do people still have the misconception that they have to have weight and bulk," he said.

Black Out

Dior Likes the Little Brown Number

The little black dress so dear to the hearts of American women is going to give way to the little brown dress this fall.

Brown is the new darling of the fashion designers, it appears from current previews of fall ready-to-wear. Every shade of brown, from blond to black coffee, is seen in major collections in New York's crowded garment center, now a milling melee of buyers and fashion reporters.

Dior Likes Brown
Christian Dior likes brown. So do Adele Simpson, Ben Reig, Vera Maxwell, Claire McCardell, Oleg Cassini and other top designers who help decide months in advance what American women are going to wear next season.

The new clothes are going to make a lot of women happy, and even please many husbands, because they are flattering, functional, not drastically different in line from current styles — and they will cost no more than they did last year. In some cases prices are even slightly less.

Costume Favorite
The costume stands out as the No. 1 favorite for fall. This may be a full-length coat and a matching or coordinated dress, a dress-and-jacket combination or an ensemble consisting of short top, matching skirt and blouse.

New looking and highly wearable is the straight, full-length coat with matching skirt and coordinated blouse, being shown in all fabrics, from casual tweed to sleek broadcloth.

Dior, who usually saves his fireworks for his Paris opening, has done an American collection that continues his "A-line" of spring, but calls it "alpha" instead. This is the narrow-shouldered, low-belted or jacketed outfit with skirt flaring toward the hemline, either pleated or with bell-shaped fullness.

Any Length
Suit jackets can be any length for fall. Adele Simpson shows five different suit silhouettes: The "little overcoat" suit, with three-quarter length boxy jacket and matching skirt or dress; the tunic suit; the 26-inch fitted jacket; the 26-inch loose jacket which hugs the hips, and the costume with brief curving bolero over a matching dress.

Plans August Wedding

Miss Phyllis Channer

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Channer, Oelwein, announce the engagement of their daughter, Phyllis, to Mr. Robert Powell, son of the Rev. and Mrs. V. S. Powell, Kingsley.

Miss Channer is a senior in the college of nursing. Mr. Powell received his B.S. degree from McPherson college. He is now a freshman in the SUI college of medicine.

The wedding is planned for Aug. 14 in Kingsley.

Peek's 70 Leads Qualifiers In Trans-Mississippi Meet

Clark, Bliss Trail By 2 At Wakonda

DES MOINES (AP) — Walter R. Peek, 28-year-old New Rochelle, N.Y., salesman, blasted Wakonda's hills for a two-under par 70 late Monday to take the 18-hole qualifying lead in the Trans-Mississippi golf tournament.

The former Cornell university player clipped three strokes from par on the last three holes. He was the only one of 171 competitors to dip below Wakonda's tough 72 par for the hilly 6,586-yard course.

It was Peek's second tour of the course. He and his pretty wife, June, flew in Sunday and got in what he called "a fast practice session."

Monday he equalled par on the first nine with a 36 and dropped two under on the last nine.

Those fireworks shot him two strokes ahead of George Clark, 21, Ottumwa collegian who plays for North Texas State, and Rodney Bliss, 42, Des Moines veteran.

Clark, who putted well on the first nine for a one-under-par 35, slipped to a 37 coming home. A former junior star in Iowa, Clark dropped an eight-foot putt for a birdie 4 on the fifth hole and got down a 15 footer for a birdie 3 on the seventh.

Bliss, an insurance executive performing on his home course, went out in 37 and got his tie with Clark by making a four-foot putt on the 18th green for a birdie 3 and a 35.

Bliss is a six-time Nebraska amateur champion and won the Iowa title in 1951.

Seven players were grouped with 73's. First in at that figure was Ralph Compiano, 16, Des Moines high school student. Others were Franklin Barnard, Davenport, president of the Iowa Golf Assn., Ed Hopkins, Abilene, Tex., another North Texas State player, Jim English, Topeka, Kan., the 1950 Trans-Mississippi champion, and three Minneapolis contenders — Neil Cronquist, Eddie Langert, and Kenneth Young.

At 74 were Tex Baxter, Amarillo, Tex., runnerup to Jimmy Jackson of St. Louis for the 1954 title, Vince D'Antoni, St. Louis, 1939 national collegiate winner, Orville Goens, Des Moines, and Dick Hoak, Sioux City.

Jackson, who automatically qualifies for match play Wednesday, did only a practice round Monday and did not report his score.

The 63 low scores in the 36-hole qualifying test will join Jackson in the scramble for the title.

Musial Safe at 1st In All Star Polling

CHICAGO (AP)—The Cardinals' old Stan Musial took over a familiar role in the All Star baseball poll Monday. He took the National league first base lead from Ted Kluszewski by 352 votes.

Musial, the starting National league right fielder in last year's interleague game in Cleveland, has polled 2,853 votes in the balloting by the nation's baseball fans to determine the starting lineups of the American and National league teams in the July 12 All Star game in Milwaukee County Stadium.

The nationwide balloting, which opened last Friday, will end at midnight July 1. It is being directed by the Chicago Tribune and 761 newspaper, radio and TV outlets.

Kluszewski, 30-year-old native of Argo, Ill., was elected at first base in the 1954 poll, had 2,501 votes in the third tabulation of the poll.

Little League Collections Will Help Fight Polio

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Little League baseball players throughout the nation will contribute the proceeds of collections at games today to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

No admission is ever charged to little league games — played among boys of pre-teen age — but contributions to defray the expense of operating the league teams are accepted.

Leads Junior Golf Tourney

ELDORA (AP) — Sharon Fladoos, 12-year-old Dubuque seventh grade pupil, turned in an 87 Monday to lead a record 63 contenders in the Iowa Junior Girls golf tournament.

Sharon was 13 over par for the Pine Lake Country Club course but four strokes ahead of the runnerup for medalist, Sonia Strobbridge, 17, of Waterloo, who had a 91.

The small Dubuque miss meets Marlys Klug of Mason City in the first round of match play in the championship flight Tuesday. Marlys shot a 98.

Defending Champion Andy Cohn of Waterloo came in with a 93 and will meet Judy Kimbell at Sioux City, who had 99, today.

The low qualifiers were paired in the championship flight.

Championship flight pairings: Sharon Fladoos, Dubuque (87) vs. Marlys Klug, Mason City (98).

Ann Claussen, Boone (94) vs. Susan Thompson, Des Moines (100).

Sandra Anderson, Fort Dodge (93) vs. Janice Kruger, Waukon (100).

Jeanne Ritchey, Villisca (96) vs. Ann Roeder, Waterloo (103).

Sonia Strobbridge, Waterloo (91) vs. Diane Stanley, Des Moines (99).

Judy Burns, Des Moines (95) vs. Judy Kehrer, Cedar Rapids (100).

Andy Cohn, Waterloo (93) vs. Judy Kimbell, Sioux City (99).

Mary Sackett, Spencer (97) vs. Joan Thoma, Des Moines (103).

Michigan Lady Wins Havana Air Race

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Bernice Trimble of Flint, Mich., Monday night was announced as the winner of the Washington-to-Havana women's air race. Her copilot was Joan Rhubec of Cleveland, O.

The winner received the President Batista Trophy at a banquet honoring all 26 pilots completing the race. The race was sponsored by the "99'ers," an organization of women flying enthusiasts.

The winner was picked on the basis of flying time. No time was announced for any contestant.

The next five, in the order of their standing in the race: Frances Bera, Los Angeles; Ruth Thomas, Knoxville, Tenn.; Laurien Griffin, Merriam, Kan.; Louise Smith, High Point, N.C.; and Barbara Jenison, Paris, Ill.

Originally there were 33 entries in the race, but bad weather between Washington and Florida took a toll. The final 90-mile lap from Key West to Havana was completed Monday in sunny weather.

The race started in Washington Thursday and was expected to end Saturday. Weather forced the contestants down at various points and delayed the race.

Stretch Battle at Delaware Park, Delaware, are Mono Lady (left) and Hasty Scenes. Hasty Scenes nudged ahead to win with Mono Lady winding up in second place.

Homer Pace Slackens At Kansas City Park

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The left field fence in Municipal Stadium, home of the Kansas City Athletics, is still where it was two months ago and the American league's home run records are all seemingly safe from challenge.

Which, if you listened to the storm of protests from other clubs after the first go-round in the new park, just couldn't be so.

The great silence on the subject is the result of a 18-game home stand during which only 26 four-baggers were hit. That's just about par for any course in the league with possible exception of the great expanses at Washington and Baltimore.

Sox Hit Seven During the April games here home runs came thick and fast. The climax was a bristling session April 23 during which the Chicago White Sox slapped seven out of the park. Even the Athletics themselves had piled up a total of 18 homers through April 29 and the club was carrying a lot of notoriously weak hitters.

Great walls went up around the circuit. The Kansas City left field fence—even though it is 330 feet down the foul line—was too close and too low. Everybody except the A's management insisted something must be done about it.

Gopher Balls End The A's were en route to Boston Monday after a 19-game home stand. On the won-lost side it was pretty dismal. They won six. As far as home runs went, they got just seven. The opposition collected 19.

All of the Kansas City homers were hit by three men: Gus Zernal (4), Jim Finigan (2) and Bill Shantz (1). Finigan and Shantz hardly rate as power boys.

Nashua, Swaps Match Race Out

NEW YORK (AP) — Owner William Woodward said Monday that Nashua, the Preakness and Belmont winner, positively will not be shipped to California for a match race with Swaps, his conqueror in the Kentucky Derby.

In a statement issued at Belmont Park, Woodward said he was in favor of such a match race, but that his telephone conversation with Rex Ellsworth, owner of Swaps, had been "misinterpreted."

Woodward said he would prefer to withhold a decision on the proposed race until about Aug. 1. If at that time both horses are fit to run, the race should then take place within a few weeks, Woodward said.

Woodward discussed the proposal with Ellsworth last Friday. They agreed not to mention the talk until Nashua ran in the Belmont and Swaps in the $100,000 Californian last Saturday.

After Swaps won, Ellsworth said Woodward had told him he planned a trip to California and was interested in a match race. Hollywood Park then offered to put up a $100,000 purse for a winner-take-all duel.

Woodward's statement said in part: "Nashua positively will not be shipped to California for a match race with Swaps. Although I am very much in favor of a meeting between the two horses, which the public demands, it is my belief that it would be unfair to Nashua and the public if we shipped him 3,000 miles at this time."

Cooke, in a later edition, published Busch's denial and added quotes from a telephone conversation he had with the Cardinal owner.

"Busch was asked," Cooke said, "does that denial mean the club won't be sold in the near future?"

"Not in my book," Cooke quoted Busch as replying. "But that's up to my stockholders and my board of directors."

Denies Sale Of Cardinals

ST. LOUIS (AP) — August A. Busch Jr., owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, Monday night branded as "perfectly ridiculous" a front-page story in the New York Herald-Tribune that the ball club was up for sale.

"There's no more truth to it," Busch said, "than there is a man in the moon."

Bob Cooke, sports editor of the Herald-Tribune, said in the story the club was on the block "because of the poor showing of the club, and certain deals which the club has made, are believed not to have been an asset to the sale of Budweiser beer."

Cooke, in a later edition, published Busch's denial and added quotes from a telephone conversation he had with the Cardinal owner.

"Busch was asked," Cooke said, "does that denial mean the club won't be sold in the near future?"

"Not in my book," Cooke quoted Busch as replying. "But that's up to my stockholders and my board of directors."

Nebraska Names New Track Coach

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Frank A. Seivigne, 33-year-old track coach at Georgetown university, was named new track coach at the University of Nebraska Monday.

He succeeds Jerry Lee, who resigned recently after one year on the job to return to Grand Island high school as coach and athletic director.

Oklahoma Aggies Win, Reach NCAA Semifinals

OMAHA (AP)—Oklahoma A&M moved into the NCAA baseball semifinals Monday by eliminating Colgate, 4-2.

The Aggies won their second tourney game in three starts despite being outth, 8-2.

Pirate's Long Leads National Loop Batting

NEW YORK (AP)—Pittsburgh's first baseman Dale Long, who has had a brief, but turbulent major league career, has closed in on the leaders in the National league batting race.

With 13 hits in his last 32 times at bat, Long has increased his average 24 points to .326, good for third place. He trails only Philadelphia's Richie Ashburn, the pace-setter at .351 and Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski, in second place with .322.

Duke Snider of Brooklyn and Bill Virdon of St. Louis are deadlocked for fourth. Snider and teammate Roy Campanella are tied for the home run lead with 19 apiece.

In the American league, Al Kaline of Detroit gained points to .383 in last week's games. He holds a comfortable lead over teammate Harvey Kuenn, who slumped 37 points to .341. Kuenn had 10 hits in 22 trips and Kuenn only four safeties in 29 times at bat. Vic Power of Kansas City is third with .324, followed by Sherm Lollar of Chicago with .317, Mickey Mantle of New York and Gus Zernal of Kansas City share the home run lead with 14 each.

Long, shortly after Pittsburgh drafted him from Kansas City of the American association in 1951, became the central figure in the famed Branch Rickey experiment which aimed at converting the lefty-throwing Long into a catcher. The experiment failed and Long returned to first base and was sold to the St. Louis Browns.

He was later re-acquired by Pittsburgh, who optioned him to Hollywood in 1954. He threatened to write a letter of protest to Commissioner Ford Frick. He reconsidered, however, and last winter again found himself on the Pirates' roster.

In 1946 the 29-year-old slugger so impressed the manager of the Milwaukee Brewers of the American association while playing on the sandlots of Green Bay, Wis., that the manager signed him to a contract.

The manager was none other than Casey Stengel.

3 Redleg Homers Beat Braves, 6-4

CINCINNATI (AP)—Good pitching was scarce as Cincinnati whacked three home runs Monday night, including big Ted Kluszewski's 18th to win 6-4 over the Milwaukee Braves. The Redlegs had lost their last three games. Both teams homered in opening frames.

Jackie Collum, who replaced starter Gerry Staley, hurled scoreless ball to boost the game's pitching performance.

Trailing until the fifth frame, Cincinnati scored four runs to take the lead. The big ammunition came from Ray Jablonski's homer which brought in two teammates. Then Wally Post walked and Gus Bell doubled, bringing Post home.

After the Reds' fifth inning uprising, the Braves never recovered.

Mathews started the home run spree when he knocked in his 13th homer of the season in the first frame. Then Klu matched it in the Reds' first inning. The Reds' Smoky Burgess also got in the act with a fourth inning drive that gave him his eighth homer this year.

Milwaukee ... 101 200 000-1 10 2 Cincinnati ... 100 140 065-0 9 1 Nichols, Spamm (6) and Crandall; Staley, Collum (4) and Burgess. W-Collum, L-Nichols.

Home runs: Milwaukee — Mathews, Cincinnati — Kluszewski, Burgess, Jablonski.

Ten Years of UN Crises Recalled

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Cold chills shook diplomats and spectators alike when Andrei Y. Gromyko pushed his chair back from the Security Council table and angrily stalked out of the room.

For old fashioned, spine-tingling drama, the short walk of the Russian delegate on March 27, 1946, still stands as one of the most memorable occasions in the life of the UN.

Forebodings

Veteran delegates, now preparing for a 10th anniversary commemorative session in San Francisco June 20-26, recall their forebodings after Gromyko's walk. It meant that the wartime coalition which had defeated the axis would not bear up under the stresses of peace.

On the positive side, old timers recall with a thrill the offer of President Eisenhower to the UN Assembly on Dec. 8, 1953, to pool atomic energy for peace. A thunder of applause roared through the hall when the President finished. Even the Russians applauded politely.

One Peak to Another

Korea, Palestine, the atomic debates and the resignation of Secretary General Trygve Lie produced high moments. The years have leaped from one diplomatic peak to another.

Gromyko took his walk because Moscow was unwilling to talk about Red troops in Iran. His move has been copied by Soviet delegates scores of times, but mainly over the issue of seating Red China. Gromyko came back and argued about everything before going home to stay in 1948. It was obvious, however, that his spirit of cooperation had walked out in 1946 and stayed out.

Malik Absent

The Red armies swept down the Korean peninsula in 1950. On Sunday, June 25, the first day of the invasion, delegates rushed to a Security Council meeting at Lake Success. Soviet Delegate Jacob A. Malik was absent because he had walked out the previous January over Red China. The Council quickly approved a resolution asking UN members to assist in restoring peace.

Two days later the Security Council approved a resolution plunging the UN into the first collective action in history against aggression.

Malik's absence was the biggest boner the Russians had pulled in the UN. Had he been present he would have vetoed the resolution. He came back on Aug. 1, 1950, and tied the Council tight in knots of Red rulings during his month as president.

Former SUI Man Gets High Award

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. — Robert F. Neff, former administrator of University hospitals, Monday received the highest alumni award of Indiana university.

He was one of five to receive the Distinguished Service award at the annual pre-commencement Alumni luncheon.

Neff was administrator of University hospitals from 1928 to 1945. He served as administrator of Indiana university hospitals from 1913 to 1928. He is a 1911 graduate of Indiana university.

French Welcome New York Mayor

NEW YORK CITY'S MAYOR, Robert F. Wagner, gets a warm French welcome as he arrives at Orly Field near Paris. The welcoming committee includes Gisele Hauchecorne, left, "Miss Paris of 1955," and Veronique Zuber, "Miss France of 1955." Mayor Wagner arrived in Paris Monday during a three-week tour of Europe.

SUI Hydraulics Conference Studies Flow Measurement

The sixth triennial Hydraulics conference opened Monday morning at SUI with an initial registration of some 190 scientists and engineers from 32 states, the District of Columbia and nine foreign countries.

Held every third year at the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research under the direction of Hunter Rouse, the three-day conference this year will study Flow Measurement. Sessions will be held in the University theatre and in Shambaugh auditorium of the University library.

Welcoming Remarks

Following welcoming remarks by Allin W. Dakin, SUI administrative dean, the conferees heard Prof. C. A. Truesdell of Indiana university's graduate institute for mathematics and mechanics speak on "Experience, Theory and Experiment."

Truesdell cited the mathematical theoretician as a pioneer far ahead of his time in the science of hydraulics. Generally, a number of years, sometimes centuries, have had to pass before the "practical" men could make use of these discoveries, he said.

Discovered in 1730

The basis of the simplest and most fundamental hydraulics is a principle discovered in 1730

Hits Wasteful U.S. Property Practices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Hoover commission Monday called on President Eisenhower to enforce reforms in "wasteful" property management practices of the government which, it said, load costs on the taxpayer and divert revenue from the states and cities.

The commission headed by former President Herbert Hoover filed the 13th report in its reorganization series with congress, but aimed many of its recommendations at the White House.

Orders issued by the General Services administration to correct mismanagement and needless purchases of land and buildings, the commission said, frequently are ignored by the 27 property-holding agencies "and no effort is made to enforce compliance."

Centralize Authority

The report asked the President and congress to centralize in GSA, the government's house-keeping agency, and authority for supervising enormous federal realty holdings. If agencies still disobey GSA rulings, it said, GSA should request the President "to direct them to comply."

Under inadequate regulation, the commission reported, the government has acquired about one-fourth the total acreage of the nation. It added the government now owns office buildings and other structures equivalent in space to 1,250 Empire State buildings, and industrial plants with an original cost as great as the nation's entire iron and steel industry.

No Complete Inventory

But there exists no complete, up-to-date inventory of these vast holdings, the report went on. It said the result is that one agency often buys new space while another holds idle space.

The report added, "the cost to the taxpayer is increased not only by wasteful acquisition and unrealized disposal of surplus property, but as the federal government is exempt from taxation, the whole status of local and state taxation is injured."

Air Raid Signals Set

DES MOINES, Ia. — A new system of air raid signals has been set up for Iowa, state civil defense director Ben Fowler said Monday.

The new system is simpler and affords greater civilian protection than the old one, Fowler said.

The new alert signal will be a steady blast on the warning siren or whistle of three to five minutes.

The public should then listen to the radio for further instructions, Fowler said.

The take-cover signal will be a series of short blasts lasting three minutes.

No all-clear signals will be given, Fowler warned.

Due to dangers from radio-active fall-out, persons will be told when to leave their shelters by radio, police and civil defense officials.

Seeks $45,000 In Damage Suit

A trial involving $45,000 in accident damage claims against the estate of Sam Fagin, Rock Island, Ill., opened Monday in Johnson county district court.

Three members of the Ralph L. Pilcher family of Moline, Ill., are asking $15,000 each for injuries allegedly received in an accident Jan. 15, 1954.

Fagin, 71, and Mrs. Tessie Schwartz, 67, a passenger in his car from Rock Island, Ill., were killed when their car collided with the Pilcher car.

Mr. and Mrs. Pilcher and their son were injured in the crash, which reportedly occurred when the Fagin car skidded on icy pavement in front of the Pilcher car.

Jury members for the trial were picked Monday.

Maybe Meters For Lovers' Lane

NEW YORK (AP) — The prospect of having parking meters in lovers' lane hangs over Brooklyn and Queens if Park Commissioner Bob Moses goes through with his plan.

Moses said couples petting in cars have jammed the parks in the two boroughs to a point where he is considering installing the meters.

64 Given Iowa Veterinary Tests

DES MOINES (AP) — Sixty-four young men from many states, including a native German and 1953 college graduate there, took examinations at the statehouse Monday for licenses to practice veterinary medicine in Iowa.

Dr. H. U. Garrett, state veterinarian, said the size of the class is about normal for a several-year period, although there were 80 candidates for licenses at the last annual test.

The candidates are recent graduates of veterinary medicine colleges in Iowa, Missouri, Illinois and Kansas, except the one who graduated in Germany.

Annexation of U-Heights Presented to City Council

The Iowa City council was asked Monday night to consider the annexation of University Heights.

The Iowa City Planning and Zoning commission made the request to the council in a report on possible annexations.

The report asked the council to "explore the mutual advantages" of adding University Heights to Iowa City.

The council placed the report on file without discussing it.

University Heights is a small municipality (population: 446) on the western city limits of Iowa City. It has a common sewer system with Iowa City and purchases the protection of the Iowa City fire department for $2,800 per year.

May Have Vote

The report also recommended the annexation of four other areas of land to Iowa City. It suggested that the annexations may be voted on in the November municipal elections. The areas:

1. The land north of highway 6 from the western limits of Iowa City to the southeastern Coralville town limits.
2. An island of land just west of the Hoover school on Court street that is not within the limits.
3. The area west of the city park and north of Park road to the Iowa river bank.
4. The platted area of the Sunnyside section not within the city limits.

Firemen Asked

Iowa City firemen made their second request for more days off in a petition signed by all 22 members of the department.

They asked for a day off every 10th day instead of the present 16th day. The petition said that

Radford Says Foreign Aid Not A 'Giveaway'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. Arthur W. Radford said Monday that the United States, by helping the free world to arm, is able to reduce its own active military manpower and yet maintain balanced forces on a global scale.

Overseas military aid, Radford said, is not a "giveaway," it is "an essential and realistic" act of self interest recognizing that this country alone can not match the Communist bloc in manpower.

The 59-year-old admiral, recently appointed to a second two-year term as chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, gave his views on President Eisenhower's

Fulbright to Staff Member

Eleanor H. Slifer, SUI associate professor of zoology, has been awarded a Fulbright grant for research in England during the academic year 1955-56. Dr. Slifer has been assigned to the Anti-Locust Research centre in London and will work at the centre's laboratory in Birmingham.

Announcement of the grant was received from the state department, according to Dean Walter F. Loehwing of the SUI graduate college. Dr. Slifer's grant is one of approximately 400 given for lecturing and research abroad for the same period. She has asked for a leave of absence from her position at SUI to accept the grant.

Dr. Slifer will be making her third post-World War II trip to England, for she spent a year at Cambridge university beginning in February, 1950, doing research through the Anti-Locust under the Marshall act, and was Research centre on a grant made in England in the spring of 1948 to address the Faraday society, distinguished scientific organization.

Says Early Vaccine Rule 'Not Precise'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Jonas E. Salk said Monday the government may have been responsible for some of the troubles with his polio vaccine because its original standard was not precise enough.

But the vaccine developer said that recently revised standards have solved the problems.

Different Interpretations

In a telegram to Surgeon Gen. Leonard Scheele, made public Monday in Pittsburgh, Salk said difficulties with some commercial lots of the vaccine may have developed "because the phrasing of the minimum government requirements allowed for differing interpretations."

The revised standards, he added, "will preclude deviation from the procedures originally intended."

Cases Decline

Meanwhile the public health service issued an announcement indicating a decline in the incidence of polio cases which might have been caused by improperly prepared vaccine.

It said it was discontinuing its daily reports on post-vaccination cases and hereafter would issue a summary once a week, on Thursdays.

"In few of the recently reported accepted or confirmed cases has the time interval between vaccination and the onset of the disease been short enough for a possible implication of the vaccine," the service said.

146 Confirmed Cases

Up to noon Thursday there were 146 confirmed cases of polio among approximately six million persons receiving the vaccine. They were covered in a report issued by the service Friday. There have been six deaths.

The anti-polio inoculation program was suspended last month when increasing numbers of children who had received the vaccine came down with infantile paralysis. All vaccine produced by one manufacturer, Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif., was withdrawn from use pending an investigation.

The program is under way again now, on a reduced scale, with supplies of vaccine cleared by the government under the revised standards. The new standards, covering manufacturing and testing procedures, were worked out by the public health service and a scientific advisory group, including Salk.

$25,000 Damage In Spencer Blaze

SPENCER (AP) — A fire of undetermined origin caused from $25,000 to $30,000 damage Monday to Carroll's Bakery here. The estimate was made by John Carroll, owner. Joe Carroll, his son, said the loss was covered by insurance.

The only person injured was a fireman who sprained an ankle getting off the fire truck.

It took the firemen about four hours to put the blaze under control. The fire started in the basement. It was confined to the bakery, except for smoke damage to adjoining business houses.

The primary damage was to the first floor and materials stored in the basement. The first floor gave way, and dropped ovens and wrapping machines into the basement.

There was only one entrance to the bakery at the rear, and that was a metal door, which the firemen had to cut through with a torch to get at the flames.

SUI To Host Audiology, Speech Pathology Parley

A Conference on Recent Developments in Speech Pathology and Audiology will be held at SUI June 24-25.

Two conference lectures, "How Language Develops in Children," and "The Results of a Cross-Sectional Normative Study of Articulation," will be presented by Mildred C. Templin of the University of Minnesota institute of child welfare. She is presently completing a large cross-sectional study of children's language development.

Featured Speakers

Other featured speakers of the conference include Samuel Pruzansky of the Cleft Palate center of the University of Illinois professional colleges, Chicago, and Robert Milisen, director of the Indiana university speech and hearing clinic.

Pruzansky will speak on "Research Implications for the Total Management of the Cleft Palate Child" while Milisen will lecture on "Diagnosis Integrated with Therapy for the Disorder of Articulation."

The author of a recent volume, "The Disorder of Articulation: A Systematic Clinical and Experimental Approach," Milisen earned his M.A. degree in 1933 and his Ph.D. degree in 1937 at SUI. He graduated from Thomas Jefferson high school in Council Bluffs in 1927 and from Simpson college in Indianola in 1931.

SUI Staff Members

SUI staff members who will participate in discussions following the lecture include Orvis C. Irwin, specialist in the development of speech sounds in infants in the Iowa Child Welfare Research station; Dr. Ernest H. Hixon, head of orthodontics in the SUI college of dentistry; Doctors William C. Huffman and William H. Olin of the department of otolaryngology and maxillofacial surgery in the Iowa college of medicine, and Leonard Goodstein, clinical counselor in the University student counseling office.

Discussion participants from the SUI program in speech pathology and audiology include Professors Wendell Johnson, James F. Curtis, Frederic L. Darley, D. C. Spriestersbach and Dorothy Sherman.

$13,000 ISC Bequest Gets State Approval

DES MOINES (AP) — The State Executive council authorized Iowa State college Monday to accept a number of gifts from the estate of the late J. P. Anderson, a former faculty member who died in 1953.

The various bequests are worth more than $13,000. Income from the bequest will finance the care of a collection of arctic plants assembled by Anderson. He was a professor of botany.
