Nationwide Steel Strike Begins

Talks End at 1 a.m. Without Settlement

PITTSBURGH (Friday—1:25 a.m. EDT) (AP) — A nationwide strike of 600,000 men in the basic steel industry began early today as top negotiators for the CIO United Steelworkers and pace setting U.S. Steel Corporation broke up a five-hour meeting at 1 a.m. without word of agreement.

The negotiators said only that "we are continuing our meetings."

Picket lines appeared at steel mills across the country.

The union had made it clear it would not work without a contract and the rank and file wasted no time going into action.

Partial Agreement

It appeared quite likely that partial agreement had been reached but that details still needed to be ironed out.

The union summoned its secondary negotiators and wage-policy committee into session. This union group was standing by for an expected appearance of union president David J. McDonald, of the CIO United Steelworkers.

McDonald and John A. Stephens, vice president and chief negotiator for U.S. Steel, declined to clarify the situation as they emerged from their long private negotiating huddle in a downtown hotel.

Both apparently agreed with reporters' statements that a nationwide steel strike was on, an hour after the midnight deadline for the walkout.

Stand By

From time to time McDonald had sent word to secondary union negotiators, assembled in a ballroom of the William Penn Hotel nearby, telling them to stand by for further word about his personal bargaining with Stephens.

It was expected that any deal worked out between McDonald and Stephens for the union and U.S. Steel would be a pattern for the rest of the steel industry, as has been the traditional procedure in the past.

Restless steelworkers throughout the nation began walking off the job hours before midnight. Steelmen began Wednesday to bank their expensive blast furnaces to avoid any possibility of the equipment being damaged by work stoppages.

Battle over Pay

Backgrounded by such a picture, McDonald and Stephens battled over how much of a pay increase workers are entitled to receive.

Reports persisted that the corporation had made several offers in the day-long negotiations. No figures were quoted by the top officials.

McDonald is pressing 96 basic steel and iron ore mining companies for a wage increase which would benefit 600,000 union members. They now earn an average of $2.33 an hour.

Last Thursday McDonald rejected as completely inadequate an offer by Big Steel to increase workers' wages an average of 10 cents an hour. Several other big steel companies made similar offers and received like replies from McDonald.

Year's Hottest Day Thursday

A layer of hot, humid air followed the rain across Iowa Thursday, bringing the highest temperature of the year to Iowa City.

The mercury hit 90 at 2 p.m. and stayed there until 5:30 p.m. The previous high of the season was an 89-degree reading reached June 20.

Temperatures are expected to drop a little today, then take a nose-dive tonight as a cool front moves from the west, the Iowa Weather Bureau said Thursday.

The cool front will bring with it a possibility of thunderstorms for Iowa City.

Moisture from Wednesday's 1.35-inch rainfall joined the warm air Thursday to keep Iowa City residents uncomfortable. Gusts of wind whipped up the warm air.

Persecuted?

OWEN LATTIMORE, against whom the government dropped perjury charges Wednesday, told reporters in Stockholm, Sweden, Thursday that it was a "simple admission that this was a case of political persecution." Lattimore had been accused of lying when he denied that he had been a follower of the communist line. He is on leave as a Johns Hopkins University lecturer.

Dixon-Yates Contract Might Be Canceled

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower opened the way Thursday night to scrap the Dixon-Yates contract, a private power project his administration had vigorously backed despite hot protests from public power advocates.

Eisenhower ordered a study to determine whether the contract should be canceled or continued in view of the announced decision of Memphis, Tenn., to build its own plant instead of taking Dixon-Yates power.

The President didn't say the contract would be abandoned. But one of his chief aides, Budget Director Rowland Hughes, said "one of the probable consequences" of the Memphis decision is that the Dixon-Yates plant won't be needed.

Hughes was ordered by Eisenhower to make the new study in conjunction with the Atomic Energy Commission and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Hughes appeared Thursday night at a hearing before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee on Dixon-Yates. Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), subcommittee chairman and bitter foe of Dixon-Yates, placed the White House announcement in the record.

Hughes commented: "As you can see, we've got a job to do promptly. We'll begin on that Monday morning."

'Pretty Solid' He added that all he could say was that "this looks pretty solid."

Kefauver asked him what he meant by that, and Hughes said he meant to have Memphis take on the job of supplying its power needs.

Kefauver asked if he meant it was pretty solid that the Dixon-Yates plant won't be needed.

"I'd say that's one of the probable consequences," Hughes replied, but he added he couldn't say finally what will work out.

The President acted after the TVA reported, in view of the Memphis action, it could not send Dixon-Yates power into the Memphis area. TVA added it would be "impracticable" to send the private power elsewhere in its system.

Abandonment?

Eisenhower's action thus opened the way for possible abandonment of a contract his administration has been championing in the face of angry protests from many Democrats, especially from the Tennessee Valley area.

The contract calls for private utilities to build a 107 million dollar generating plant at West Memphis, Ark., to feed power into the government's TVA system to replace energy consumed by atomic plants elsewhere. The TVA planned to send Dixon-Yates power into the Memphis area.

The utilities companies, headed by Edgar Dixon and Eugene Yates, already have broken ground on the plant under their contract with the AEC. The contract calls for the government to reimburse the companies for their actual outlays if it is canceled.

Eisenhower acted after a letter from TVA chairman Herbert D. Vogel, dated Thursday, confirmed plans by Memphis to build its own plant. The letter to Hughes said the city's action "eliminates the possibility of using Dixon-Yates output in the Memphis area."

Congress Passes Defense Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise $31,882,815,726 defense appropriations bill sailed through the House and Senate without debate Thursday and went to President Eisenhower for his expected signature.

It includes his proposals for cutting Army and Navy manpower while boosting men, materials and money for the Air Force.

Sockman at Union

DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN, pastor of New York's Christ Church and the National Radio Pulpit, addressing a lecture audience Thursday night at the Iowa Memorial Union. He urged that factual methods be used in teaching the principles of freedom that have "made America great."

Convince, Don't Coerce Youth, Sockman Urges

By STU HOPKINS

"In teaching our youth the principles which make for freedom, we must convince, not coerce," Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, minister of New York's Christ Church and the National Radio Pulpit, told an SUI lecture audience of about 500 Thursday night.

The clergyman, speaking in the Iowa Memorial Union, outlined four steps in eliminating the fear that "will do more damage than the war that we fear."

1. "We must develop attitudes and disciplines which make for peace."

Dr. Sockman likened the methods in developing these attitudes and disciplines to the way a parent teaches a child to walk or talk.

"The child already has the impulse, all that is needed is the discipline — the practice," he said.

2. "These (attitudes and disciplines) must be developed in ways which will appeal to free minds."

"We must convince our youth that the ideals which America is proud of are right, we cannot coerce them," he urged. "We must teach them why our way of life is better than the Russian way of life."

3. "We must develop them (the attitudes and disciplines) on the community level."

Dr. Sockman pointed out that what we do on the community level is watched as much by people of other nations as what happens in Congress and the White House.

"The spirit of community is our best defense against communism," he asserted.

4. "All these things must be carried out, not only in this country, but in a 'world community'."

Dr. Sockman spoke of the United Nations as an "imperfect machine" but one which "is becoming more useful, more workable."

He said America should recognize that we live in a world community.

"America is not rich enough to be Santa Claus to the rest of the world, nor powerful enough to be policemen on the globe — but we are Christian enough to be partners with other nations," he emphasized.

GERMAN-RED TALKS

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government Thursday accepted the Soviet proposal to discuss the establishment of diplomatic, trade and cultural relations between West Germany and Russia. But, in a businesslike note to the Kremlin, the government sidestepped the Soviet invitation of June 7 for Adenauer to visit Moscow "in the near future."

House Authorizes Ike's Aid Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a major victory for President Eisenhower the House Thursday night voted 273-128 to authorize a $3,285,800,000 foreign aid program for the fiscal year starting Friday.

In the showdown vote, after two days of debate, 159 Democrats and 114 Republicans backed the bill. Eighty Republicans and 48 Democrats opposed it.

In Better Iowa City Contest

Mrs. Leslie Moeller Wins Grand Prize

Mrs. Leslie G. Moeller, 623 E. College St., Thursday was awarded the $500 grand prize in the Better Iowa City Contest.

The prize-winning letter outlined a plan for an integrated Iowa City health, welfare and recreation council.

Mrs. Moeller is the wife of the director of the State University of Iowa School of Journalism.

First prizes were awarded in four divisions of the contest: city, rural, university and high school. Lavonne Oetjen, nursing student from Sac City, won the university division first prize of $100. She advocated an annual spring clean-up campaign for Iowa City.

The other SUI winners were, W. A. Coonfield, G. Iowa City, second prize, $75; and Allen G. Farley, G. Sioux Falls, S. D., third prize, $50.

Coonfield wrote on better SUI-city relations. Farley advocated uniform bus stops and delivery areas in each block where trucks would unload their freight.

The letters were judged by the 18 members of the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors. The letters were identified only by code number.

After the winners were selected, they were matched up with the name of the writer.

Harry Dunlap, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said Wednesday that winners may pick up their prizes at the chamber offices, 104 S. Linn St.

The contestants were limited to 500 words or less and were instructed to describe a plan for improving Iowa City.

Prof. Robert Ray, contest chairman, said that letters entered in the contest will be turned over to local agencies directly concerned with their topics.

A total of $1,650 in United States Savings Bonds will be awarded to the 13 prize winners. All 13 prize-winning letters will be run in The Daily Iowan.

Other prize winners: City Division — Lauren Housel, 702 Grant St., first prize, $250; Margaret Seemuth, 924 E. Bloomington St., second prize, $100, and Mrs. E. T. Hubbard, 1218 Kirkwood Ave., third prize, $50.

Rural Division — Mrs. Charles S. Bush, Wellman, first prize,

$250; Frank E. Vogel, R.R. 4, second prize, $100, and C. A. Gerken, North Liberty, third prize, $50.

High School Division — Katy Johnson, 508 Melrose Court, first prize, $100; Dave Haristock, R.R. 6, second prize, $75, and Allen Rouse, 701 Templin Road, third prize, $50.

By KIRK BOYD

The City Council Thursday night passed the five-block Burlington Street widening project by a 3-2 vote.

Mayor LeRoy S. Mercer and Councilmen Robert Stevenson and Ansel Chapman voted for the project.

Councilmen Walter Daykin and Clarence Parizek voted against it.

The resolution calls for widening the street from 40 to 50 feet from Madison Avenue to Gilbert Street. The street will also be resurfaced.

Completion Date The project must be completed by Sept. 15, 10 days prior to the first Iowa football game, Sept. 24, under terms of the resolution.

The vote marked the first council split since last August, when a 3-2 vote defeated the consideration of a new franchise for the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company.

The project will cost an estimated $20,000. The city and the state highway commission will divide the cost equally. The city's share of the cost will come from the state road use tax fund, City Manager Peter F. Roan has said.

Tax Issue The councilmen issued a statement following the meeting in an "attempt to clarify the tax issues."

Attorney Edward O'Connor, spokesman for the property owners, had told a protest meeting of Burlington Street property owners earlier this month that city taxes had gone up $212,000 since the city manager form of government took charge here in 1951.

The council statement said that, based on 1951 tax rates, the average property owner's taxes had been raised only 5.67 per cent annually.

For this raise, the statement said, city manager government had accomplished the following:

(1) Paid off $131,000 on the $573,000 debt left by mayor-council government; (2) raised policemen and firemen salaries 31 per cent; (3) increased recreation facilities 40 per cent, and (4) saved citizens $125,000 yearly by refusing Iowa-Illinois' request for an electric rate increase.

Hour Hearing The decision came after a 3½ hour hearing was climaxed by speeches from councilmen of opposing views. Chapman spoke first for the project.

"This is nothing the City Council has dreamed up," he said. "The plans were developed before 1950, before the city manager form of government."

"They were almost approved by the state highway commission at that time. However, due to lack of money and a change of personnel on the commission, they did not go through," he said.

Point of View Chapman said the council had to approach improvement projects either from the view of what was best for Iowa City or the view of the least amount of damage to individual property owners.

"There hasn't been a controversy before the city council that hasn't hurt someone," Chapman told the 45 persons at the hearing.

Twice The Traffic Chapman pointed out that Burlington Street is carrying twice as much traffic today as it did in 1947. He added that it would never carry less traffic, even if Highway 6 were rerouted to the south of Iowa City.

The section of the street to be widened carries highways 6, 218 and 1 through Iowa City.

"This project," concluded Chapman, "is only one of a number of things Iowa City is going to have to face if it is to recognize that it is in the automobile age."

Daykin Asks Deferment Daykin suggested that the Council defer action on the project until more time had been given to the study of it. Then, when the motion was made to approve the project, he asked for the floor to speak against it.

"In handling of traffic problems," he said, "we must also function in the fields of human rights and property rights."

"I would be in favor of it if there were intelligent reasons for it. But, I can't visualize how widening a street for five blocks will solve any problem."

"If its purpose is merely to make left turns easier I can't go along with it," Daykin declared.

July Fourth Murder—

By late this afternoon the University campus will be practically deserted. The roads, trains, buses, will be loaded and the nation's July 4th weekend will have begun.

By late this afternoon murder on the highways will be in full swing and it is estimated that 10 people will die in Iowa motor deaths this weekend, with another 300 scheduled to be injured.

Across the country, the National Safety Council has predicted that more than 380 people will die in car deaths.

If the statistics of the recent Memorial Day weekend are a criteria, we are likely to see this record number of people dead in traffic accidents by midnight Monday.

Iowa City for the last several days has been doing its share in attempting to caution Iowa Citizens and the University family of the great dangers of holiday driving and the ways to prevent accidents.

The National Safety Council for weeks has been publicizing the need for careful driving on this weekend.

But no matter how much space is given in newspapers, on radio and television, by mail, the only way to cut down the heavy traffic deaths is for every driver to realize his own responsibility when on the highways.

The safety council has come up with six points of safe driving rules for "a safe and sane Fourth." The rules make sense for driving not only for this weekend but throughout the year. But they take on added meaning with the prediction that more people may lose their lives on American highways this weekend than during any other weekend in our country's history.

Here are the rules:
1. During the holiday, drive about 10 miles per hour below normal speed. High speed gives you less time to react in an emergency, and you are more likely to be killed or badly hurt if you do have an accident.

2. Start in plenty of time so you won't have to hurry to reach your destination.

3. Stay alert. Don't let distractions take your mind off the serious business of driving.

4. Don't compete with the other fellow. Let him have the right-of-way.

5. Pass cars one at a time, and be sure you have a clear margin of safety. Don't change lanes without looking, and leave plenty of room between you and the car ahead.

6. Slow down at sun down so you can stop in the range of your headlights. Avoid driving when sleepy or overtired.

The July Fourth weekend is a welcomed vacation from work and study in the summer's heat. Let's make it one we can enjoy without tragedy and death.

Sikhs' Nationalist Demands Promise Unrest for India

NEW DELHI (AP)—A fiery schoolmaster is determined to create an autonomous state for Sikhs—the "sons" of India. He is causing some anxious moments for government officials.

The six million Sikhs, a warrior sect within the Hindu religion, are concentrated in Punjab state but are a minority there. Some of the more extreme Sikh nationalists want a new state, with a Sikh majority, carved out of the Punjab and neighboring states.

The Sikh demands carry potential dynamite in an India where religious tensions sometimes explode into bloody rioting. The Sikh nationalist agitation last year resulted in riots in Amritsar and Ludhiana, this spring Punjab officials banned the shouting of slogans in organized processions.

The ban was a signal for the Sikh extremist organization; the Shiromani Akali Dal, to launch a "morchha"—literally, an agitation. It started with Sikhs first going to their temples, then walking into the streets shouting slogans in open defiance of the government ban. The "morchha" still is going strong although thousands of Sikhs have been arrested, including the Akali Dal leader, Master Tara Singh.

His title of "master" derives from his former schoolmaster career. His flowing white beard matches his white robes and white turban. He does not hesitate to talk in terms of revolution, bloodshed and "direct action" to achieve his objective.

The word "Singh," meaning lion, is part of every Sikh's name. It designates him as a fearless warrior. The Sikh was established in 1675, partly as a reform movement with Hinduism, partly as a militant brotherhood aimed at the Moslem Moghul invaders of India.

Orthodox Sikhs do not cut their hair or beards, for they refuse to let a knife touch their skin—unless it happens in battle. Turbans cover their long hair. Their religion requires each to carry a dagger.

Interpreting the News— Danish King, Haakon VII, Retains Country's Support

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst
Fifty years ago Norway declared her independence of Sweden and in a plebiscite "elected" a Danish prince, son-in-law of King Edward of England, to be her king.
After this long trial period, they say today that if Norway should become a republic, Haakon VII could certainly be elected president.
That should give you some idea about how the Norwegians feel when they hear their 82-year-old national father—to them he is more a father than a ruler—has broken his thigh in a bathtub accident. His condition doesn't seem to be too serious, as things like that go, but broken bones seldom knit for people of that age. They are a solemn reminder of the short time left, at best, for the aged hero.

Legislative Reviews Sent to Cities

The laws recently passed by the Iowa legislature affecting local government are reviewed in a booklet now being distributed by the Institute of Public Affairs of the State University of Iowa and the League of Iowa Municipalities.
Copies of the booklet are being sent to state, county, city, town and school officials to advise them of changes in the laws that affect their work.
In addition to the summaries of laws affecting local government, the booklet contains a descriptive list of all laws passed by the Iowa legislature this year.
Robert F. Ray, director of the Institute of Public Affairs, explained that the booklet calls attention of local officials to the general subject matter of the laws. Local officials are thus provided a convenient reference to new laws that concern their duties.
Similar legislative reviews were published in 1951 and 1953 by the institute and the league as a service to local officials.

Better Iowa City Contest—

'Community Council' Would Assist Groups

(Editor's Note: This letter is the grand prize winner in the Better Iowa City contest. The three top letters in each of the four divisions will be printed in subsequent issues of The Daily Iowan.)

To the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce:
I believe Iowa City would be a better place to live if there were coordination and planning among the various groups which carry on community service projects.

This is what I believe should be done:
The Community Chest, because it represents a cross-section of the community, should be developed into a Community Council. It would retain its present responsibilities of budget review and fund raising but would add the new responsibility of community planning in the fields of health, welfare and recreation.

(These seem to be the big three in social welfare but of course, if there are others, they would be included.)
By using the Chest corporation as the starter, the Community Council would have a ready-made organizational setup. A general town meeting could be called by the Chest Board. This meeting would probably not be too different from the annual Chest meeting since membership in that corporation already is open to all groups (both organizations and agencies) interested in the welfare of the Community.

At this town meeting, committees could be named and a general procedure decided upon. A pattern for part of the procedure has already been worked out in the health area with the formation, this past winter, of a Health Council. The same kind of grouping could be done by those in the areas of welfare, recreation and any others. The Chest itself would have something to offer too because for at least the past three years it has called attention at its annual meeting to the increasing need for information about the community in its job of budget review and fund raising. It has started to explore the possibility of working up a community inventory of resources and needs.

Mrs. Leslie Moeller

After the groups had come together for discussion and planning in each area, their findings could be pooled through the Council. Then a priority list could be set up for the needs which were found. First things could be tackled first, the various jobs being parcelled out to the groups most interested and best fitted to do them.

Individuals and organizations wanting to do short-term community projects could check with the Council to see what was needed. Then their work could help to fill in the chinks between the continuing projects.

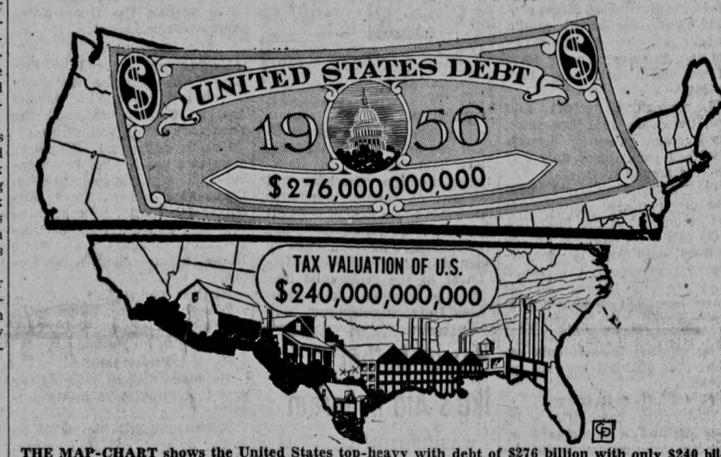

This Community Council could be thought of as having a Community position parallel to that of the City Council. The Community Council would be concerned with the social problems of the community on as broad a basis as the City Council is concerned with the governmental problems of the municipality.

And these two councils could keep in touch to make sure that volunteer efforts were dovetailing with those of governmental agencies, and vice versa.

It would seem that a Community Council would make better use of what we already have... and bring better returns for what we already are giving.

Part of Fine Arts Festival—

Crafts, Ceramics Display at Art Building

About 100 examples of work in crafts and ceramics are now on display in the exhibition lounge of the Art Building. One other project, just completed, may soon be added to the exhibition, which is a part of the seventeenth annual Fine Arts Festival at the State University of Iowa.

The project is a unique work in stained glass, constructed by John Cook, graduate student at SUI. Cook, who started his project in April, completed it in the Art Building Crafts Studio. It required about 200 hours of work.

Cook calls the project, which is his first religious theme, "Christ Mocked." The design is 12th century, but might easily be mistaken for "modern," he said. The panels, soldered together, are of blues, greens, greys and reds. It is framed in red-wood.

Followed Cartoon

Cook followed a cartoon while completing his project. The cartoon was made to size from his original design.

After cutting each individual piece of stained glass, Cook spent two weeks leading the pieces together. He made the body in three separate panels, then combined them.

"It's just like a jigsaw puzzle," he commented.

Cook became interested in stained glass while working in Phoenix, Ariz., for Lewis Maes, stained glass craftsman from Belgium.

2 Other Projects

He completed two other stained-glass projects while a student at Arizona State College, in Phoenix. One was a door-sized family scene, and the other, an abstract.

Cook credits much assistance from his wife, Dickie, '52 SUI art graduate, and from Prof. A. Raoul Delmare, of the SUI Art Department.

JOHN COOK, G. Phoenix, Ariz., puts the finishing touches on his stained glass window project "Christ Mocked." Prof. A. Raoul Delmare, State University of Iowa art instructor, advises Cook.

Simkins-Cole Vows Said At Danforth

Miss Rosemary Boulton-Simpkins, daughter of Mrs. Esther A. Boulton, 1031 E. College St., and Francis T. Cole, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis T. Cole, New York City, were married Saturday, June 23 in Danforth Chapel.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Alfred Henriksen of the Unitarian Church.

Mrs. George A. Schroeder, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. George Little, brother-in-law of the groom was best man.

The bride is a senior at the State University of Iowa. The groom is an assistant professor in the SUI Physics Department.

Professor and Mrs. Cole and her two children, Kevin and Leslie, will spend this summer in Ann Arbor, Mich. where Prof. Cole is doing research.

First 'Miss Aviation' Is Now Secretary

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Twenty eight years ago a beautiful young woman thrilled the world with her attempt to become the first aviatrix to span the Atlantic.

She missed reaching Paris by 300 miles as she and her co-pilot made a crash landing in the ocean. But Ruth Elder became the "Miss America of Aviation" and made an estimated $250,000 from personal appearances and movies.

Then came setbacks and six ill-fated marriages. Although she was one of the flashing figures of the golden '20's, Miss Elder withdrew from the limelight in later years. At one point she chose to sever all connections with her glamorous past, even to dropping her given name and adopting that of a favorite aunt, "Susan."

At 50 she has emerged somewhat from that retirement, although stating emphatically she has no desire to live a goldfish bowl existence. Last year she became secretary to an aviation company executive and says, "I just love being a working girl." She had little fear on Oct. 11, 1927, when she attempted to fly the ocean, but her most vivid memory of that flight was the crash landing she and George Haldeman made 36 hours later in the Azores, 300 miles from Le Bourget field, Paris.

They brought their plane, "The American Girl," down on the crest of a wave near an oil tanker. It was an hour before the tanker could pick them up.

University Head Debates Merit of Entrance Tests

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Can enrollment at a state-supported school be controlled by tests given high school graduates? This debatable question has been posed in trial balloons sent up by Dr. Carl McFarland, president of Montana State University. "We won't start out in too strict a manner," he said. "The first year we give these tests we don't expect to tell anyone he can't attend the university. We will just advise him not to waste his time."

Engagement Announced

Miss June Woodley

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Woodley, Doughtery, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, June Woodley, to Elwin Creese, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Creese, Charter Oak, Iowa. Miss Woodley and Creese are enrolled at the State University of Iowa this summer. Miss Woodley is a junior majoring in education and is affiliated with the Handicapped Children's Hospital. Mr. Creese is a sophomore in commerce. The wedding will be August 28.

Unoccupied Cabins at Iowa Lakes, Parks Are Scarce

DES MOINES (AP) — In the words of a currently famous comedian, "You can't hardly get them no more."

This, however, refers to the availability of cabins at Iowa Conservation Commission lakes and parks for vacationers this season.

A spokesman for the commission said the situation is partly attributable to a news article given wide publicity in Iowa a couple of years ago.

It pointed out that it is unnecessary for Iowans to go to Minnesota, Wisconsin and other farther-away states for vacation sites and fishing. There is plenty of opportunity in Iowa, the article added.

"Each year since then reservations on our facilities have been taken up earlier and earlier each season," the commission representative related. He added:

Few July Openings
"For July, there are none to very few openings in the fore part. There is room for a few reservations at some of the places in the latter part of the month."

"For August, the facilities are mostly open, to available in the latter part of the month only. For the most part the cabin season closes about Sept. 1, or on Labor Day, with some exceptions."

This discussion of the situation related to cabins at the seven most popular state lakes and parks. Camping facilities for trailers and tents, however, are practically wide open for the remainder of the season. This includes a couple of other popular places.

Burglars Take $30 From Walline Firm

Burglars took about $30 in a break-in Wednesday night at the Walline Implement Co., a quarter mile east of Iowa City on Highway 6.

The thieves broke in a back door, carried a cash register about 30 feet behind the building, and broke it open. They left about $2 in change in the register.

A safe was dragged from the office to another room, and papers from it littered about the office and yard. The safe had not been locked. It contained no money.

Home Ec Professors At National Meeting

Professors Margaret Osborn, Lu Smith, Margaret Keyes and Ruby Smith of the State University of Iowa Home Economics Department attended the National Home Economics Association meeting in Minneapolis, Minn.

The conference ended Thursday. The professors' classes will be resumed today.

City Record

DEATHS

Mrs. Francis Vinkula, 68, 431 S. Dodge St., Mercy Hospital.

POLICE COURT

Keith Christianson, Downey, was fined $23.50 on a charge of intoxication on a public highway.

William Robinson, Iowa City, State Park in Delaware County. The camping referred to also includes Lake Ahquabi in Warren County, and Clear Lake in Cerro Gordo County.

Lake or stream fishing is available at all of these places. The cabins at the seven places all have cooking and refrigeration facilities, except for cooking at Pine Lake. The occupants must furnish their own linens. The cabins are equipped for four persons each for the most part and the charge generally is $25 per week. A charge of 50 cents per group per night is made for trailer or tent campers.

Prof. Moeller Installed As Rotary President

Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the State University of Iowa School of Journalism, was installed Thursday as president of the Rotary Club.

He succeeds John T. Piper, 122 S. Dubuque St. Prof. Moeller will serve a one-year term.

Plans Late Summer Wedding

Miss Ellen Huffer

Mr. and Mrs. Ray N. Huffer, Shenandoah, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Ellen Huffer, to Donald J. Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Morrow, Iowa City. The wedding is planned for late summer.

Miss Huffer has completed two years of study at the State University of Iowa where she majored in mathematics.

Robertson, a 1952 graduate of Iowa City High School, is a radio technician in the U.S. Navy, and is stationed in Long Beach, Calif.

Shuba's Pinch-Hit In 11th Beats New York

6-5 Brooklyn Victory Drops Giants to 5th

BROOKLYN (AP) — George Shuba's pinch single scored Carl Furillo from second base in the 11th inning Thursday to give Brooklyn a 6-5 victory over the New York Giants after coming from behind three times.

The loss dumped the Giants into fifth place, 18½ games behind the Dodgers.

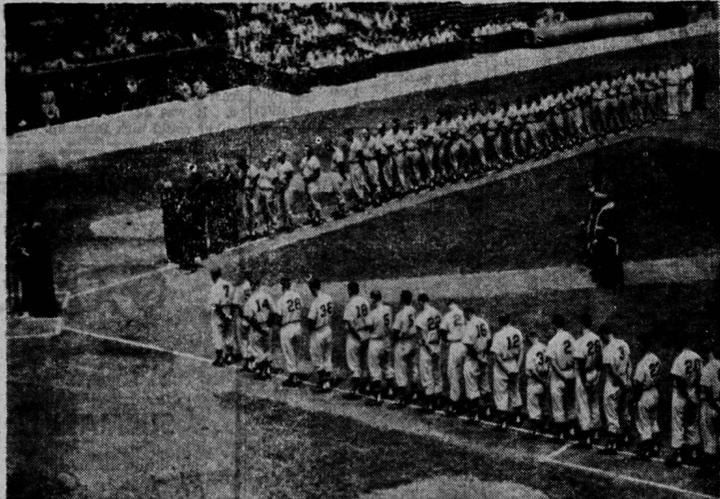

Willie Mays appeared to have sunk the Dodgers when he homered with a man on in the 10th inning but the Brooks scrambled back for two runs and a 5-5 tie.

The Dodgers lost the services of another catcher when Rube Walker was taken to a hospital for X-rays after suffering a shoulder injury in a home plate collision with Mays in the eighth inning.

Wednesday Brooklyn learned Roy Campanella, the No. 1 catcher, would be sidelined until after the All-Star game break because of a knee injury.

Andrews Wins Junior Boys Tennis Title in Valley Meet

TRIBE'S BIG WYNN-ER . . . By Alan Maver

EARLY WYNN, OF THE CLEVELAND INDIANS, TEMPORARILY SLOWED BY AN ATTACK OF PNEUMONIA EARLIER THIS SEASON, HAS ROUNDED INTO HIS BEST WINNING FORM.

SEVEN YEARS WITH WASHINGTON WAS ENOUGH

IN 1954, HIS BEST SEASON, EARLY PITCHED THE PENNANT CLINGER AND THEIR RECORD WITH WIN — AND HE'S BEEN TURNING IN HIS SHARE OF THE "BIG ONES" THIS YEAR, COMING THROUGH WITH WINS WHEN THE TRIBES SEEMED ENBARKEED ON A LOSING STREAK.

ALAN MAVER

WINFIELD, Kan. (AP) — Top-seeded Art Andrews of Iowa City won the junior boys singles champion in the Missouri Valley Tennis Tournament Thursday by beating Earl Bucholz Jr. of St. Louis. He won, 6-4, 6-4.

Bucholz earlier won the boys singles title. He played in five matches.

He defeated Rodney Susman of St. Louis 6-1 and 6-2 in the finals after shutting out Billy Buckley of Oklahoma City 6-0, 6-0 in the semis.

Bernard Barton of San Angelo, Tex., top seeded in the men's singles, had an easy second round victory over Buckley, 6-0, 6-1. Barton drew a bye for the first round.

Judy Mills of Chickasha, Okla., took the junior girls singles title by defeating Bev Teian of St. Louis, 6-1, 6-4 and Connie Cristler, Kansas City, 6-1, 6-4 for the girls' doubles crown.

Miss Tolan and Erika Puetz of St. Louis teamed up to defeat Judy Mills and Jane Booth of Chickasha, 6-4, 6-4, in the junior girls' doubles final.

Bucholz won his first round match in the men's singles 6-0, 6-1 from O. K. Turner of Wichita, Kan., then lost in the second round to Johann Kopperberger of South Africa, 6-3, 6-1.

The St. Louis youngster then was defeated for the junior boys singles championship by Andrews.

3 No. 1's
Pee Wee Reese of the Dodgers, Richie Ashburn of the Phillies and Del Crandall of the Braves are the only National Leaguers wearing No. 1 on their uniforms.

Fleck Given Cadillac, Gifts At Davenport

DAVENPORT (AP) — U.S. Open golf champion Jack Fleck of Davenport was presented a Cadillac automobile Thursday night at a dinner meeting here.

It was this city's formal recognition of his feat in winning the championship from Ben Hogan, of Fort Worth, Tex.

More than 500 persons attended the affair, which jammed the Gold Room of the Black Hawk Hotel.

The automobile was financed by contributions from the people of this area, where Fleck is the golf professional of two clubs.

Mayor Walter Beuse also presented Mr. and Mrs. Fleck a silver service from the citizens of the "Quint-Cities" — Rock Island, Moline and East Moline, Ill., and Davenport and Bettendorf, Iowa.

Other gifts to the new U.S. Open champion included a two-week expense-paid trip to Miami Beach for Fleck and his wife, luggage and a silver ice bucket.

Joseph Kimmel, president of the Davenport Chamber of Commerce, gave Fleck the city's official "scroll of achievement."

Iowa Gov. Leo Hoegh instructed Scott County Sheriff Pete Wildman to commission Fleck a colonel in the governor's military guard, and there were wires of congratulation from Ben Hogan, the golfing master from Fort Worth, Tex., and U.S. Rep. Fred Schwengel (R-Iowa).

The meeting closed out this community's official recognition of Fleck's achievement in winning the Open.

He has a date with President Eisenhower in Washington July 11, and later that same week he will play his next competitive golf in the Miller Open at Milwaukee.

U.S., Russia Lead Regatta

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England (AP) — American and Russian oarsmen took charge of the Royal Henley Regatta Thursday, turning the races into a carnival of foreigners.

Four American eights — the Pennsylvania light and heavy crews, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Dartmouth — swept aside challengers in their various heats.

The Russians scored heat victories in everything they entered. They even pulled an audacious trick, the Karsnoe Znamia Club winning a hard fought opening heat in the difficult Grand Challenge Cup event with a borrowed boat.

They had been so upset by the late arrival of their four boats because of a dock strike in Britain that they withdrew from the whole show. But they reentered when their boats were finally delivered late Wednesday night.

In Wimbledon Finals

MRS. BEVERLY BAKER FLEITZ, Santa Monica, Calif., makes a left-handed play in a match against top-seeded Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., in the semi-final round of the women's singles at Wimbledon, England. She eliminated Miss Hart, 6-3, 6-0, and will meet Louise Brough in the finals Saturday. The ball is one dropped by Mrs. Fleitz and is not the one in play.

Mrs. Fleitz Wins In Tennis Upset

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Beverly Baker Fleitz played smashing tennis with both hands to defeat Doris Hart at Wimbledon Thursday in the biggest upset in women's tennis this year.

Ambidextrous Beverly of Santa Monica, Calif., defeated her veteran opponent from Coral Gables, Fla., in the semifinals 6-3, 6-0.

This defeat of the top-seeded woman player followed the upset of America's Davis Cup doubles team in the semi-finals.

First-seeded Tony Trabert of Cincinnati and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia lost a loosely played match to one of Australia's doubles teams, Ken Rosewall and Neale Fraser.

The score throws a long shadow over forthcoming Davis Cup matches. It was 6-2, 1-6, 6-1, 6-3.

The victory for Mrs. Fleitz set up an all-California women's final to be played Saturday.

Louise Brough of Beverly Hills — three times a Wimbledon champion — defeated the darling of the 69th Wimbledon, Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., 6-3, 6-6.

The victory of Rosewall and Fraser assured an all-Australian men's doubles final. Second-seeded Lew Hoad and Rex Hartwig filled the other final bracket, beating Mervyn Rose and George Worthington 7-9, 6-4, 6-4, 2-6, 6-1.

Trabert meets Kurt Nielsen of Denmark today for the biggest title in tennis—the men's singles at Wimbledon. Trabert is the favorite to win.

Detroit Defeat Fifth Straight Loss for Chisox

CHICAGO (AP) — Ray Boone, two-run homer in the eighth, gave the Detroit Tigers a 4-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox Thursday.

The triumph gave the Tigers a sweep of a three-game set and extended the White Sox' long losing streak to five straight.

Steve Gromek twirled seven, hit ball as the second-place White Sox dropped 5½ games behind the idle first-place New York Yankees.

The White Sox now are only 1½ games ahead of the third-place Cleveland Indians, who also were inactive Thursday.

Boone drove across three of Detroit's four runs, chipping in a one-run single in a two-run Tiger first.

Harvey Kuenn smashed a double and Bill Tuttle followed with a triple to lead off the game for the Tigers against starter Mike Fornieles.

Boston Rally Falls Short, Lose to Nats

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Senators staged a ninth-inning threat by Boston Thursday to squeeze out a 3-2 victory over the Red Sox and end a three-game losing streak.

Extra base hits by Clint Courtney, Johnny Groth and Mickey Vernon set up the Senators' winning margin. Ted Abernathy got credit for his first major league victory but needed relief in the ninth.

Reliever Frank Shea's ninth-inning strikeout of Norm Arzun with the bases loaded saved off the Boston rally.

Washington built up a 3-0 lead in six innings. But the Red Sox battled back for one run in the seventh and another in the ninth.

Abernathy, working on a five-hitter was, lifted after walking Jimmy Piersall to open the ninth. Camilo Pascual came in and got Eddie Joost to hit into a double play.

Billy Goodman singled and Billy Klaus tripled with two out to get one run and Pascual walked Gene Stephens and Jackie Jensen to fill the bases. Shea then fanned the heavy-hitting Zauchin on four pitches.

Preceding the game the two squads participated in a memorial service for Harry Agganis, Red Sox first baseman who died Monday after two bouts with pneumonia. Agganis was buried Thursday.

Braves in 2d, Top Cubs, 7-4

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Four unearned runs in the eighth inning, because of Ransom Jackson's wild throw, gave the Milwaukee Braves a 7-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs Thursday and second place in the National League.

Joe Adcock's eighth homer provided two of those unearned runs.

The Cubs who had occupied second spot in the league, dropped half a game behind the Braves.

They held a 4-3 lead in the eighth inning when Jackson, Cub third baseman, threw wild to first on lead off batter Johnny Logan's grounder. Pitcher Hal Jeffcoat got the next two batters but the Braves caught fire then.

Bobby Thomson doubled home Logan, Adcock homered for two more runs and Ray Crone, relief hurler for the Braves, singled over another.

The Cubs had piled up their 4-3 lead on Milwaukee starter Gene Conley on solo homers by Jackson in the second and catcher Harry Chiti in the fourth and Jim King's two-run single in the seventh.

Del Crandell homered in the fifth with the bases empty.

Fay Crocker Leads Open

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Fay Crocker, a game and rugged competitor from Montevideo, Uruguay, bucked a hot 45-mile-per-hour southerly wind for a 2-over-par 74 and the first round lead in the $7,500 Women's National Open Golf Tournament Thursday.

Two strokes off the leader's pace was amateur Jacqueline Yates of Honolulu, who fired a steady 38-38-76.

Patty Berg, St. Andrews, Ill., who won a sixth Women's Western Open last week, scored a 78 in the "worst weather I've ever played in."

Marilynn Smith, a home-town pro, and Polly Riley, veteran amateur from Ft. Worth, each came in with 80s.

Tied with five players at 81 was Mrs. Ann Casey Johnstone, Mason City.

Mrs. Johnstone was another of the shooters handicapped by the wind. She scored a bogey 5 on the first hole, but settled down for a birdie 4 on the 480-yard 4th, sinking a 13 foot putt on the green.

Whitney Martin's Sports Trail

NEW YORK (AP) — Haven't heard much from Charley Dressen lately, possibly because it takes quite a while for sound to travel from away back where the Senators are in the American League. Before the season started the effervescent little guy was giving sound, meaning noisy, advice on various and sundry subjects, particularly as it concerned the Brooklyn Dodgers, who were no concern of his at the moment. We haven't heard him mention them lately. It's pretty hard to give advice to a manager whose team is so far in front the other clubs need radar to locate it, and particularly when our own club currently is slumming.

Nobody has accused Charley of not knowing the score, though. Mingled in his chatter are good ideas, and we like one in particular, as reported by Bob Addie of the Washington Post. That is the suggestion to amend the rule governing trades so that the last five teams in the league standings would be able to swap players among themselves all season long, instead of being limited by the June 15 deadline now in effect.

"The idea of the cutoff date was and still is a good one," Dressen explained, "because the teams fighting for the pennant couldn't pull a fast one by getting last-minute help from other clubs not going anywhere."

Researchers Find Cheaper Polio-Virus Growth Method

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A discovery which makes it possible to grow polio virus for vaccine in large quantities without the use of expensive monkey kidneys was announced Thursday by three University of California medical researchers.

The method utilizes a part of human placental tissues as the substance in which the virus can be grown. The placenta is the sac which envelops the infant until birth. It can be salvaged in hospitals.

Use Inner Linings
The part of the placenta used for polio virus growth is the amniotic membrane, or inner lining.

The experimenters, Elsa M. Zicker, Jorgen Fogh and Thelma H. Dunneback of the university's virus laboratory, successfully cultivated all three types of polio virus with this material. They announced the results in the magazine Science.

Production of the Salk vaccine is achieved with the kidneys of monkeys which come mainly from India. These animals also are used to test the finished product for safety and its ability to produce antibodies against infantile paralysis.

Monkey Shortage
During the recent review of the safety of the vaccine medical authorities said it would be impossible to get enough monkeys to test to the limit the large quantity of vaccine turned out. That was one reason why the initial tests of the vaccine for the mass inoculation program was less stringent than that for the material used in the field trials in 1954. It takes as many as 30 monkeys to test a single lot of vaccine.

Besides the economy of the placental tissue material it has one other advantage, the researchers said. It does not pose a hazard of causing an allergic reaction due to the presence of tiny amounts of kidney tissue in the vaccine.

Wilson Will Present Grad College Talk

Prof. Quintus C. Wilson, summer faculty member in the State University of Iowa School of Journalism, will give a graduate college lecture in the house chamber of Old Capitol at 8 p.m. July 12.

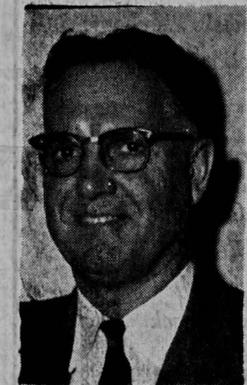

Wilson will talk on "What the Japanese Are Told About the United States."

He spent six months in Japan during 1954 studying the operations of the Japanese press under a government grant.

He is now serving as an instructor in editorial journalism at SU. He is head of the Department of Journalism at the University of Utah.

Wilson has been head of the Utah department since 1948. He was night managing editor of the St. Paul Pioneer-Press and has worked on the Des Moines Register, Cedar Rapids Republican and Mankato (Minn.) Daily Free Press.

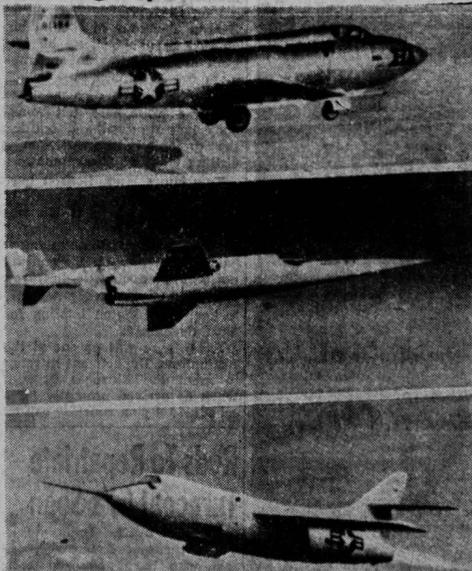

He received a B.S. in agricultural economics, an M.A. in journalism and a Ph.D. in history at the University of Minnesota while on the Pioneer-Press staff.

HOG WITH INTEREST
GILMAN CITY, Mo. (AP)—For a year a razor-back hog rampaged around these parts, eluding dogs and would-be pig hunters. The sow escaped from Virgil Warren as he attempted to unload her after a trip back from Arkansas. Finally, a dog cornered the grunter out in the woods and she was roped by the farmers at the end of a battle. When captured she had seven husky piglets running 15 pounds apiece.

High Speed Research Planes

THE BELL X1A, top, the stiletto-like Douglas X3, center, and the Douglas Skyrocket, bottom, are the three types of planes which the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics disclosed Thursday it is using for research in high speed flying at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. The Bell plane, world's fastest and highest flying craft, is testing the heat barrier at supersonic speeds. The Douglas X3 is the guinea pig for study of puzzling air behavior in transonic range. The Skyrocket is exploring means of carrying bombs or fuel tanks at supersonic speeds.

Station Log Handy, Newscaster Finds

CRESTON (AP) — When Jack Mills, KSIB newscaster, was visited by a Federal Bureau of Investigation agent recently, he was glad that his radio station kept careful records of employees' working hours.

The FBI was interested in what Jack was doing on May 7. On that day a bank in Ohio was robbed of $15,000 in daylight hours. Several witnesses saw the bandit and gave officers good descriptions, allowing an FBI man to draw a close-to-perfect sketch of the suspect. Checking the files, the FBI reported they found the picture fitted a certain individual, using the name of Frank Hurd.

The description and other facts were closer than comfort; when Jack and the FBI got together, Hurd and Jack were both 6 feet tall; weighed 158 pounds; were 31 years of age; had black hair; wore small black mustaches; had scars on the nose; liked music—both are drummers; and the suspect had a tattoo on his right arm bearing the name "Louise." That happens to be the first name of Jack Mills' wife.

That's where the good station records came in handy. By referring the FBI to the station log, Jack showed that he was back of the microphone from 7:45 a.m. to 6 p.m. with an hour off for lunch. That hardly left time, he points out, for him to galivant to Ohio for a bank job.

Court Rejects Job Claim By Service

John S. Service
Loyalty Doubt Dismissed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A finding of "reasonable doubt" as to the loyalty of John Stewart Service, fired by the State Department in 1951, Thursday was ordered stricken from government records.

U.S. District Judge Edward M. Curran ruled, however, that Service, an old "China hand" in the department's Foreign Service, was legally fired by former Secretary Dean Acheson. The court thus rejected Service's claim that he is entitled to get his job back.

Plans Appear
Service, 46, said in New York that, on the basis of information in news accounts of the decision, he plans to appeal. He withheld further comment pending study of the full decision. Service is now with the Sarcos Co., Inc., a manufacturing concern with headquarters in New York City.

Judge Curran cited the recent Supreme Court ruling in the case of Dr. John P. Peters in ordering the Civil Service Commission to expunge from its records the Loyalty Review Board's finding of reasonable doubt as to Service's loyalty.

Court Ruling
In the Peters case, the Supreme Court held the Review Board had no right to reopen, on its own motion, loyalty cases of government employees which had been decided in their favor by department and agency loyalty boards.
Service was cleared by a State Department loyalty board. The Review Board took jurisdiction — under the guise of a "post-audit review," Judge Curran said, and found there was a reasonable doubt as to Service's loyalty.

Scots Guards Band To Perform Here

The Scots Guards Regimental Band, complete with pipers and dancers, will perform at the State University of Iowa next fall during a 10-week tour of the U.S., Director Earl E. Harper of the Iowa Memorial Union announced Thursday.

Comprising 108 members of Queen Elizabeth's Household Troops, the Scots Guards will perform in the Iowa Fieldhouse Nov. 8. The group's only other Iowa performance will be in Des Moines.

Originally organized in 1685, the Scots Guards Band has become a symbol of the colorful pageantry of the Royal House of England, and for centuries has represented the pomp and ceremony surrounding the Coronation. Each year the Scots Guards' performance in the traditional Edinburgh Tattoo provides the climax to the world-famous Edinburgh Festival of Music and Drama.

Tickets for the group's performance on the Iowa campus will go on sale at a date to be announced later this summer, according to Dr. Harper.

Radio Signals Spark Hope In Search for Lost Airmen

TOKYO (Friday) (AP) — Two faint radio signals flickering out of the Pacific fog sparked slight hope in the concentrated hunt for four lost Marine airmen, in its fifth day Thursday.

A feeble international aircraft distress signal was heard at 5:40 a.m. in response to a rescue plane's call, the Air Force said, but it gave no clue on location.

A weak voice signal was heard about 11 hours later. An Air Force spokesman said it "wasn't audible enough to make out."

Previous emergency transmitter signals were attributed to either Capt. H. P. Montague, Jackson, Miss., or Lt. David Winston Bell, Minneapolis, whose disappearance Sunday night in their Marine Skyhawk jet touched off the search.

Their commander said Wednesday "the records show that they had no radios," but other officers said Marine fliers sometimes carry equipment not shown on the records.

The third missing Marine airman, Fury jet pilot Lt. Alan M. McAneny Jr. of Yonkers, N.Y., definitely had a radio in his emergency liferaft when he disappeared Tuesday night while helping search for Montague and Bell.

The fourth missing Marine was a crew member of a helicopter which crashed in the ocean on the hunt Wednesday. His name has not yet been released.

About 12 ships still are engaged in the hunt over a 20,000 square mile area of the Pacific south of Tokyo.

Budget Can Be Balanced, Hoover Contends

Final Report Stirs Storm In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover said Thursday the budget can be balanced and taxes cut if Congress and the administration adopt the reorganization plans of the second Hoover Commission.

The 80-year-old chairman stepped out of public life, but not out of controversy, as the commission expired after a two-year exploration of government organization and policies.

He released, at a news conference, the hitherto secret report of the commission's task force on water and power. That report urged the sale, lease or transfer of all federally owned power plants along with "town sites and related buildings."

'Monumental Work'
Although the 12-member Hoover Commission itself adopted milder recommendations to restrict government electrical development, Hoover called the task force report a "monumental work" which "deserves consideration by the whole country."

But a Democrat member of the commission, Rep. Chet Holifield (Calif.) denounced the report as amounting to a manual for "private utility propaganda."

The task force, headed by retired Adm. Ben Moreell, chairman of Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation, Pittsburgh, proposed the break-up of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Break-up of TVA
It proposed a transfer of the TVA power plants devoted to atomic use to the Atomic Energy Commission, and the shifting of TVA's "miscellaneous nonpower activities," including flood control, navigation and chemical research to "other federal or state agencies." The non-atomic electrical facilities, the Moreell report suggested, should be offered for sale or lease to private industry.

Hoover at his news conference discussed the 18 reports his commission has made on various government operations. He said that "somehow about $15 billion" could be restored to the Treasury by adoption of recommendations for turning unneeded property into cash, liquidating some lending agencies, and disposing of "federal enterprises competitive with private enterprise."

Further Savings
Various task forces had estimated possible further savings through the reorganization of federal operations adding up to $8½ billion, but Hoover said they couldn't be added up because they overlapped. But he declared:

"In any event, with all such discounts there are enough possible savings left to enable the balancing of the budget and reduction of taxes."

No Estimate
The prospective budget deficit is $2.4 billion. Hoover did not attempt a precise estimate of how much taxes could be reduced while wiping out the red ink.

The commission, the second which Hoover has headed, made some 315 recommendations in its 18 reports. Of these, 166 would require action by Congress. In his summing-up Hoover said over 40% of the others already have been adopted by government agencies.

Ruddy-faced and looking robust, Hoover parried a question as to his "retirement."

"I can't retire because I am implicated as a trustee, or in the management, of a great many educational and scientific institutions," he said.

'No Right to Refuse'
"Any man who is physically able has no right to refuse his services to the government." A spatter of applause ended

Other Projects
The city council also passed six other projects designed to improve the traffic situation. They included (1) Improved lighting on Iowa Avenue and the Iowa-Riverside intersection (2) straightening and resurfacing Newton Road (3) paving portions of Ginter Avenue, Seventh Avenue Court, Governor and Pine Streets.

(4) widening the Madison-Iowa Avenue intersection and (5) resurfacing northern portions of Dodge and Dubuque streets.

FORMER PRESIDENT Herbert Hoover, wrapping up a two-year job as head of the Hoover Commission on government reorganization, is a thoughtful listener Thursday at a news conference as the commission ended its job embroiled in controversy. Cause of the dissent was a Hoover report on "water resources and power" which urged drastic curtailment of federal power development and larger scope for private utilities. Seated beside the former chief executive is W. H. Tuck, executive director of the commission.

When asked if the clerks had been briefed on how to handle the tax, a dime-store manager replied that several meetings had been held concerning it. A final briefing will take place this morning.

Stores most affected by the new tax are those that sell cigarettes and beer. This is the first time either of these has been subject to a sales tax.

Objections have been voiced in regard to the "tax on a tax." There is already a substantial federal and state tax on cigarettes and beer. The new sales tax will be added to this. The tax is being widely discussed. "If I had been in the legislature," said one man, "I would just have raised the tax to an even three per cent and avoided all this fuss and confusion."

Everyone has a solution that he thinks would have solved the problems in a better fashion. One says liquor-by-the-drink bill would bring in more revenue than the one-half per cent increase in sales tax.

Another says the tax is "definitely unnecessary." Service stations will have the least trouble with the new tax law. The state gasoline tax was increased from 5 cents to 6 cents a gallon.

State Sales Tax Increase Brings Revenue, Problems

A midnight Iowans began paying more sales tax and gasoline tax. Today most people will meet with confusion as they attempt to adjust to the new, higher tax schedule.

Everyone agrees the new 2½ per cent sales tax will be harder to figure than the old 2 per cent.

One Iowa City grocery store owner thinks that it will be easier, saying that everything, including beer and cigarettes, will now be taxed automatically . . . most disagree.

Slow Checkout
Managers of large grocery stores are expecting the new tax to slow down their check-out processes considerably, especially during rush hours.

Figuring the tax will not be easy without the aid of a chart. Looking up the tax on each amount will require extra time.

Chain stores seem to be best prepared for problems presented by the new tax. Their companies have sent out forms and charts indicating the new tax schedule.

Clerks Briefed
When asked if the clerks had been briefed on how to handle the tax, a dime-store manager replied that several meetings had been held concerning it. A final briefing will take place this morning.

KAY GRADY, clerk in an Iowa City store, checks through a schedule of the new state 2½ per cent sales tax which went into effect at midnight Thursday. Taxes were also raised one cent on gasoline and sales tax was applied to cigarettes and beer for the first time.

on the gas machines. No sales tax is charged on gasoline.

Responsibility for determining the correct amount of tax rests with the sales personnel. For the first couple of weeks they will be referring to their charts constantly.

For the time being, as one sales girl said, "We'll have to rely on the chart and hope we have no sale over the amounts it gives."

Gas Tax Increase
Service stations will have the least trouble with the new tax law. The state gasoline tax was increased from 5 cents to 6 cents a gallon.

UNu Won't Wait

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prime Minister U Nu of Burma walked out on Secretary of Agriculture Benson Thursday in a calm but pointed rebuke because he had been kept standing in an ante-room for five minutes.

State Department protocol officials, a bit aghast, felt some body had fumbled and omitted the diplomatic niceties due a visiting chief of government.

Two hours later, Benson hurried out of his office en route to Blair House, where U Nu was staying. "To offer my apology," he said. A typewritten statement handed newsmen on the run did not seem so apologetic, however.

Here is how the affair, sure to keep Washington buzzing for days, developed:

First, there was no one at the Agriculture Department entrance to greet the Burmese Premier when he arrived promptly for a scheduled 4 p.m. courtesy call on

Reds To Repatriate Turncoat GI's Soon
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Three turncoat American soldiers who have changed their minds about living in Red China probably will be repatriated within a few days, Indian Red Cross officials predicted Thursday.

The officials announced that Washington has agreed to permit the soldiers to return to the United States and has instructed the U.S. consulate general in Hong Kong to prepare their travel documents. The Peiping radio said last week the men will depart as soon as arrangements are completed.

The Americans — all U.S. Army corporals captured by the Reds in the Korean War — are Lewis W. Griggs of Jacksonville, Tex.; O. G. Bell of Olympia, Wash., and William A. Cowart of Dalton, Ga.

MASS FLIGHT
KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — When Lt. Cmdr. Harry F. Leuck and his family were transferred from the Navy base here to a Hawaiian station they almost filled the plane. The electronics officer, his wife and their nine children, ranging in age to 13 years, took up all but three seats in the commercial plane.

The Agriculture Department has had a difference with the State Department over rice problems involving Burma, one of the world's leading rice exporters. The United States has a large rice surplus, which the State Department has tried to channel away from Asia to avoid competing with friendly Burma. The Agriculture Department has disagreed on this policy.
