

Opponents Are Jubilant At Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower abandoned the Dixon-Yates contract Monday and his cancellation orders touched off some verbal victory fireworks by Democrats in the Senate.

Jubilant opponents of the big private power project poured it on the President, calling the contract cancellation a "surrender."

Democrats have been fighting the Dixon-Yates project in and out of Congress for more than a year, but it was the City of Memphis that delivered the clinching blow.

Memphis Will Build Cancellation of the $107 million undertaking was ordered after Mayor Frank Tobey of Memphis personally assured Eisenhower that his city will build a generating plant of its own to furnish the electric power the federal government has contracted for from the Dixon-Yates interests.

Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. announced the President's actions at a White House news conference a few minutes after Tobey had seen Eisenhower. In the light of Monday's developments, Brownell said, "The federal government will immediately take steps to terminate the Dixon-Yates contract."

Tobey called it "unquestionably a victory for public power." Asked what Eisenhower's reaction was, the mayor smiled and said, "The President is very happy about it."

Election Issue The public vs. private power fight boiling around the Dixon-Yates contract was an issue in the congressional elections last year and Democrats have threatened to take it into the presidential campaign of 1956.

Opponents of the project contended it posed a grave threat to the public power system built up over the years by the Tennessee Valley Authority. The President defended it repeatedly as private enterprise in the public interest.

He supported the plan staunchly until Memphis offered its own municipal plant as a substitute. The Dixon-Yates interests hold a contract with the Atomic Energy Commission to build a generating plant at West Memphis, Ark.

Replaces AEC Power Power from this plant was to have been fed into TVA lines to replace electricity being furnished by TVA to AEC installations.

But after Memphis officials announced they would refuse to buy Dixon-Yates power and would build their own plant instead, government engineers said the Dixon-Yates plant would be unnecessary. The plan had been for Memphis to absorb most of the additional power.

Edgar H. Dixon, head of the private utility group, said he presumed his company would halt construction at West Memphis immediately.

Presidential Directive "We entered into the contract as a consequence of a directive by the President of the United States," he said in a statement issued in Washington. "The President's policy has governed our actions from beginning to end."

Dixon is president of Middle South Utilities, which would have been the majority stockholder in the Dixon-Yates plant.

School Board To Consider New Budget The finance committee of the Iowa City School Board will present the tentative budget for the coming school year at the board's meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Junior High School.

Also on the agenda will be approval of teacher appointments and resignations, and the opening of bids for the tennis court, football field fencing and Junior High School roof repair projects, Buford Garner, superintendent of schools, said Monday.

The proposed budget will have final hearing at the August 9 meeting of the board.

In the last four years the city school budget has increased from $715,168 in 1951 to $1,039,000 in 1954. The 1954 figure is an increase of $84,000 over the previous year's budget.

During this four-year period, a new grade school has been built and teachers' salaries have been increased.

Sioux City Child Murdered

Seek Kidnap-Slayer Of 2-Year-Old Girl

SIoux CITY (AP) — The body of curly haired Donna Sue Davis, her pink pajama tops wound around her neck, was found crumpled at the edge of a cornfield late Monday.

The two-year-old girl had been snatched from her crib within minutes after being tucked in bed by her mother Sunday night. Police Chief James O'Keefe said the child "definitely had been raped."

DONNA SUE DAVIS, 2, whose body was found in a ditch near South Sioux City, Neb., late Monday night.

Beating The body, which bore marks of a beating about the head, was discovered on the Ernest Oehlerking farm, about a mile south of South Sioux City, Neb., across the Missouri River from here.

The child's pajama bottoms, a diaper and rubber pants, which police said were bloodstained, were picked up by Oehlerking about three-fourths of a mile from where the body was found.

Prowler Neighbors of the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Davis, a family of modest means, reported seeing a man prowling about the Davis duplex Sunday night but didn't get a good look at him. Another neighbor said he pursued a man running with a bundle down an alley near the Davis home but failed to catch him.

Oehlerking said a nearby farmer told of hearing a car on the road by his farm about midnight Sunday night. But again the occupant was not seen.

Blow on Head Dr. Thomas L. Coriden, Woodbury County coroner, said Donna Sue was killed by a severe blow on the head, causing a massive brain hemorrhage. He confirmed the girl had been sexually assaulted.

Little Donna, who weighed only 21 pounds, was helped into her thin summer pajamas at 9:30 Sunday night by her mother and as Mrs. Davis tucked her into the crib she repeated the familiar saying:

"Three to get ready and four to go—to bed."

Family at Home Then Mrs. Davis turned off the bedroom light and went into the kitchen to read the paper. The Davises' other children (Mary Claire, 11, and Timmy, 7) were asleep in another room. Davis, a railroad clerk, was in the parlor watching television.

About 30 minutes later, the father ready to retire, had gone to the bedroom, which they shared with Donna, and found the crib empty except for a teddy bear and rubber doll which always went to bed with the child.

Where's Donna? "Where's Donna?" Davis asked. "Even before Mrs. Davis hurried to his side he said, he saw the window screen gone and knew the answer. The window of the first floor bedroom is only four feet from the ground."

The body was located about 4:45 p.m. Monday 200 feet from the Oehlerking farm home. Stalks of the waist high corn were broken as though the body had been thrown into the field.

Mrs. Oehlerking, her sister-in-law and the seven daughters of the two women discovered the body.

Search Area Police, Iowa National Guard members, Boy Scouts and volunteers had searched the Sioux City area Sunday night and Monday for the missing girl.

Police files were checked for sex deviates in a search for possible leads. Police said they have nothing definite to go on yet.

George Berger, a next door neighbor, saw a man cross through a hedge near the Davis duplex. Nearby the dog of Mr. and Mrs. Lait Fjeldos barked loudly.

They saw a man in a white T-shirt, carrying a bundle, run away when Fjeldos turned on a back-yard light. Fjeldos chased the man but didn't catch him.

He later described the man to police as white, about 30 years old, 5-11 in height and weighing about 170 pounds.

Graduate Talk

Prof. Quintus Wilson

Wilson To Talk Tonight On Japan

"What the Japanese Are Told About the United States" will be the topic of the Graduate College lecture tonight at 8 in the house chamber of Old Capitol by Prof. Quintus C. Wilson, head of the department of journalism at the University of Utah.

Wilson's lecture will be based on his observations and study while in Japan for six months in 1954. He arrived in Japan just after the "Lucky Dragon" incident, in which Japanese fishermen were injured by radioactive fallout from a U.S. H-bomb explosion. He will talk on this incident as well as about fallout from a Russian H-bomb in the Nagate area — a comparatively little discussed event.

Wilson studied the operations of the Japanese daily press and served as a consultant to schools of journalism while in Japan on a Fulbright Research Scholarship.

He recently talked to the Iowa City Kiwanis Club about Japan's need for trade expansion.

He has been head of the Utah Department of Journalism since 1948, and is teaching editorial journalism at the State University of Iowa this summer.

Previously he was night editor for the St. Paul Pioneer-Press. He has earned a B.S. in agricultural economics, an M.A. in journalism and a Ph.D. in history at the University of Minnesota.

CRESTON VOTES BONDS CRESTON (AP) — A proposed $670,000 school bond issue carried by more than 74 per cent at a special election here Monday. The vote was 1,721 yes and 579 no. The funds are to be used to finance construction of a new junior high and elementary school buildings.

O'Neill Play To Open At Theatre Tonight

Sights and sounds of a West Indies jungle will be reproduced in the State University of Iowa Theatre tonight through Thursday as the theatre presents Eugene O'Neill's "The Emperor Jones" under the direction of William Rector.

Intricate lighting called for by the play is under the direction of Walter Dewey, settings were designed by Richard Knaub, and costumes are by Elizabeth Hall.

Curtain time for each performance is 8 p.m. Tickets are available at $1.25 at the Theatre Box Office, room 8A, Schaeffer Hall, from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 1 to 4:30 p.m. during the run of the play.

Students may obtain reserved seat tickets by presenting identification cards at the box office.

Theatrical To Stage Chinese Fantasy The quaint traditions of Chinese staging will be utilized in "The Yellow Jacket," a Chinese fantasy by George C. Hazelton and Benrimo, which will be presented July 19-21 by the University Theatre.

The cast for the play has been selected, according to Edward C. Matic, head of the Dramatic Arts Department.

The colorful and romantic drama of a young man's life adventures, beginning at birth and passing through all the critical periods of his development, is the substance of the play. It will be presented in Chinese manner, using the conventions of the Chinese stage.

The play is directed by Dorothy Colonius, a visiting instructor from Alton, Ill. The settings are by John Paul, supervised by Prof. Arnold S. Gillette. The production staff also includes Prof. Walter Dewey, lights, and Janet Loring, costumes.

Members of the cast are: Property Man — Bernard Hesse; Asst. Property Man — Don Larrow; Wu Sin Yin — Richard Briggie; Due Jung Fah — Nancy Clark; To — Marianne Bullis, Theora Kurt; Tai Fah Min — William Weack; Chee Moo — Glee Pierce, Betty Woodall; Lee Sin — Gien Hockee; Sui Sin Fah — Joan Moore; Ling Wolf — Ann Wolf; Wo Hoo Git — John Shirk; Wu Fah Din — Michael Dooley; Yia Suiy Gong — Leo Penny; Mow Dan Fah — Naida Worton; Yung Sui Kow — Helen Henderson; Chow Wan — Diane Dickerson; Moy Fah Loy — Jeanne Sebers; See Noi — Leila Mae Meyers; Tai Char Shong — Les Gluspey; Widow Ching — Gail Camp; See Quee Fah — Gail Vesley; Loy Hok Gar — Jim Crelise; Goy Gong — Tony Gercken; Kom Lai — Margaret Lockore; Musicians — Frances Pundt, Pat Tiarcks, Justine Stewart

Roan Offers Plan for City Ambulance City Manager Peter F. Roan told the city council Monday that the city should operate an emergency ambulance service. Roan advocated trading in two of the city police's four-door sedans for two station wagons, which could be used as patrol cars and ambulances.

The council voted to authorize Roan to negotiate with automobile dealers for the purchase of the two station wagons. The city is now prepared to use the fire chief's car, which has a removable rear seat and rear door, as an ambulance. It has not been used so far.

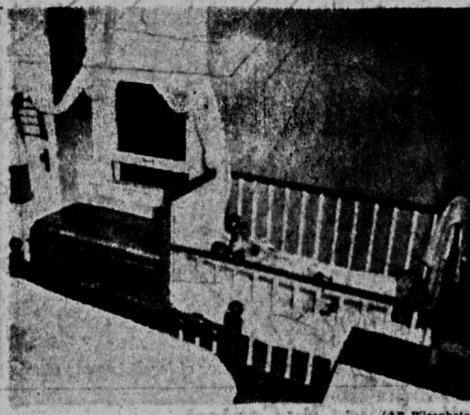

Roan said that a city-run ambulance service should not be used outside of city limits. Newton Weller Sunday discontinued his emergency ambulance service, claiming that he was operating at a loss. He suggested that the city subsidize his ambulance service as do the city governments of Davenport and Cedar Rapids.

Roan told councilmen that Weller needed $600 per month as a subsidy.

American Farm Group To Leave Today

Turncoats Sail, 'Willing To Pay'

HONG KONG (AP) — The three turncoat former U.S. soldiers who found life in Communist China "hellish" sailed for home Monday night, each carrying a supply of comic books.

William Cowart, 23, Lewis Griggs, 22, and Otho G. Bell, 24, expect to face prosecution when they reach the United States. They have acknowledged committing acts as prisoners during the Korean War which, in Cowart's words, were "contradictory to what an American should do."

Bell said "We are willing to pay for what we did." The three men boarded the liner President Cleveland just before it left at midnight, walking hurriedly by several jeering American crew members.

They were escorted to their third-class bunks by U.S. consulate officers who refused to let reporters and photographers follow them.

Cowart, Griggs and Bell had their passage paid by the consulate. The State Department ordered them confined to the President Cleveland until it docks at San Francisco, where it is due on July 29.

The U.S. government has not indicated what is in store for the trio except to state they will be "responsible for any acts they committed." A court-martial is unlikely because all have been dishonorably discharged from the Army.

Cowart remarked that he was sailing home five years to the day after he was captured by the Communists in Korea. He said he was taken prisoner just before noon on July 11, 1950, when he had been in combat only two days.

Hoegh Tells New Liquor Control Plan DES MOINES (AP) — Plans for a "team job" of liquor law enforcement in Iowa with the state department of public safety assuming greater initiative were endorsed Monday by Gov. Leo Hoegh.

Over the week-end Clinton Moyer, the new safety commissioner, announced his department—in cooperation with Atty. Gen. Dayton Countryman—would "assume its statutory duties with regard to enforcement of the law."

In a nutshell, it appeared that for the first time in nearly a decade the department of public safety rather than the attorney general will "carry the ball" so far as liquor and gambling raids by state agents are concerned.

The attorney general's office, which under both Robert L. Larson and Hoegh, was the enforcement spearhead, will continue to be a part of the broad picture but now will give primary attention to prosecution of cases when its help is needed.

The governor told his news conference today he believed that "The commissioner of public safety and the attorney general can work together as a team to accomplish law enforcement."

Moyer, in announcing a more active enforcement role for his office in connection with its jurisdiction over the state bureau of criminal investigation, said he doesn't expect any trouble in getting help from local officials "wherever it is needed."

He said one of the chief areas in which he intends to exercise greater initiative will be in carrying out his office's responsibility for assignment of state agents.

Senate Urged To Give Hope To Enslaved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate was asked Monday — with the approval of President Eisenhower — to pass a resolution proclaiming the hope that Red satellite countries shall regain their freedom.

The resolution would formally record the wish "that the peoples who have been subjected to the captivity of alien despotism shall again enjoy the right of self-determination . . . shall again have the right to choose their own form of government."

It was offered by Sen. William F. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, on behalf of himself, Sen. Earle Clements of Kentucky, the acting Democratic leader; Chairman Walter George (D-Ga.), and Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.), of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Knowland said he was presenting the resolution "with the full knowledge and approval of the Department of State and of President Eisenhower."

Eisenhower, who leaves Friday for Big Four talks with Russia, Great Britain and France at Geneva, told a news conference June 29, in discussing a possible resolution dealing with Red-dominated countries:

"Until such states as these have a right themselves, by their own free will, to determine their own form of government and destiny, there could be no real peace in the world."

Speed Analyzer Is Returned to Duty Iowa City police put a mechanical speed analyzer back into use Monday, but failed to catch any speeders.

The analyzer was set up from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Monday on Dodge Street just south of the Burlington Street intersection. Not a speeder was found in the noon-hour traffic.

Police Chief Oliver A. White said the analyzer, which has not been used for more than a year, will be in use day and night during the next few weeks.

The analyzer will be set up mostly in districts where residents have complained of speeding cars, White said.

'A Sense of Relief'

"It is with a sense of personal relief that I note some other individual will be called upon to carry the heavy burden of responsibility."

Allen Whitfield, Des Moines attorney, Friday expressed the same sentiment that many men who are called upon to enter public service must feel when they decide to pass up public service to continue with their private practice. Whitfield asked President Eisenhower to withdraw his nomination to the Atomic Energy Commission.

White House sources expected the President to grant this request "with regret."

Cases such as Whitfield's offer a real danger to American administration. Because of the four month's investigation by Senate-Atomic Energy Committee agents who were delving into his handling of an estate for which he acted as a trustee, Whitfield felt the pressure was too much and asked to withdraw. Because the committee felt this investigation should be so long and intensive, the nation lost the services of a man who could have been an able public administrator.

We wonder how many other able men have felt that intensive investigations and personal sacrifices were just too great a price to pay for the "privilege" of serving on a governmental committee or commission? We would guess that there are a great many — Whitfield is not alone.

Differences in pay between private and public jobs with the same responsibility often has been cited as the prime reason men use in passing up government work. But many men are willing to ignore this to perform service for their government. Whitfield, at least, did not allow this consideration to stop him in accepting the nomination.

Another factor which discourages private administrators is the fact that under our system, the moment they accept appointment they become subjected to political criticism on any public statements or actions they may take.

Whitfield clearly felt that his confirmation was being held up more for political reasons by the Democratic controlled committee than because of any expected results from an investigation of his handling an estate in the course of his private business.

The lag between the time when he consented to his nomination and the time of his confirmation by the committee was clearly a real reason for his withdrawal.

A man does not completely wind up his private affairs on an expectation that his appointment will be confirmed. After four months of waiting it does seem reasonable that a man should withdraw completely and with relief. The consequences of this waiting must have shown in his business and social plans. Certainly the easiest way was to withdraw.

We do not mean to suggest that persons should be appointed indiscriminately to government posts. Investigations are necessary of course, to be sure of the reliability of persons to fill important positions.

But it does seem reasonable to suppose that it shouldn't take a congressional committee, with all of the power and investigative resources at its disposal, four months time before coming to some conclusion.

The wheels of government must of necessity move much slower than private industry. Perhaps the pressure of time should not be so great on a governmental body to make decisions. But in the meantime, our government is losing the services of many of its able and willing citizens who could do a good job for our nation.

Better Iowa City Contest—

Residents Should Promote 'Talking Points' About City

(Editor's Note: This letter is the third prize winner in the rural division of the Better Iowa City contest. The other winning letters will be printed in subsequent issues of The Daily Iowan.)

To the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce:

I believe Iowa City would be a better place if the people who live in Iowa City and the surrounding area knew enough about Iowa City so they could talk with pride to others.

This is what I believe should be done: Make people aware of Iowa City's virtues. Too often you and I are painfully aware of our shortcomings; in our conversations with others we take isolated bits of information (or misinformation) and, in discussing them, give a totally distorted picture of our city.

So, why not a once-a-week article about the real advantages Iowa City has to offer all of us? Each can be written by a different person who would be competent to do the job in his area. It's that simple!

- Advantages:
1. This costs nothing.
 2. In the process, all of us will discover what we need to know; in salesman's terms, we'll find out the "talking points" about Iowa City.
 3. Also in the process, people will develop a lot of loyalty. And if you have loyal people those people will build the community.

4. Those who are asked to write the articles (maybe 250 words each) will, themselves, become more aware of the virtues of living in Iowa City.

5. When you finish the job—if, indeed, the job is ever finished—you'll have something of value not only to the city, but also some real data to give non-residents who are interested in living in Iowa City.

The way to build a better city is to start out by giving its citizens opportunity to become identified with the city. When they feel it's theirs, the other things that make for goodness-of-life will come naturally.

Translated SUI Placement Tests To Be Used in Cuba

A Cuban university will use Spanish translations of the Iowa Placement Examinations to aid new college students this fall. Robert L. Ebel, acting director of the Bureau of Education and Research, said Friday.

Permission for the translation of four tests in the series has been granted for the first time, to Eduardo Casas, Havana.

Casas, a professor at the Universidad Catolica Santo Tomas de Villanueva, Havana, is the first person to ask for translation rights.

Ebel said Casas was given permission by the bureau to produce translations in mimeograph form. The exams to be translated are in the fields of foreign language, chemistry, mathematics and physics.

The Iowa Placement Examinations, which are prepared by the bureau, are sold by catalogue in the United States and foreign countries. The exams are designed to:

1. Discover special aptitudes of college students.
2. Determine the effect of preliminary training in the field.
3. Measure the factors which contribute to subsequent success in a subject.
4. Measure previous training in subjects which are considered essential preliminaries to the work at hand.

The examinations require no special training in the subject being tested. Tests assume one high school year or one college semester of training.

Soth Tells Obstacles To Iowa's Progress

"Costly and inefficient local government is a big reason why Iowa is not making as rapid economic growth as the rest of the country," Des Moines newspaperman Lauren Soth charges in the new issue of the Iowa Business Digest, published Monday.

Soth discusses tax and other obstacles to Iowa's industrial growth in the monthly publication of the State University of Iowa's bureau of business and economic research. He is editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune editorial page.

'Little Kingdoms'
In comparison with other states Iowa is paying too much in local taxes to "maintain small, inefficient schools" and the "old-fashioned 'little kingdoms' of country government," Soth points out in "Prospects for Individual Growth in Iowa," the Digest's feature article of the month.

The average cost of local government in the United States was $81 per person in 1953. But in Iowa, it was $98. Whereas the national average cost per pupil in public schools was $235, the cost per pupil in Iowa was $280, he observes.

The nation's county and township governments averaged 95 full-time employees, not including school employees, per 10,000 persons in 1952. Iowa, however, had 104 such employees, Soth continues.

Main Handicaps
He finds such unfavorable comparisons on the local government level to be "main handicaps" to an "individual expansion which would raise average income in the state."

But to help Iowans reap more of the advantages of the state's "strategic position," in respect to food processing particularly, a state government, revitalized by legislative reapportionment of representation, must "take the lead" in a basic reorganization of school districts and county government, he suggests.

"It is not enough simply to put pressure on government agencies to keep taxes down. We will not get anywhere just by trying to reduce present governmental services. They are poor enough as it is."

Fundamental Approach
"The problem has to be approached in a much more fundamental way if Iowa is to make the kind of economic progress we all want to see. What we must do is undertake a basic reorganization of schools and local government . . . And with local government a creature of the state government, the necessary action must come from the Iowa State Legislature."

"This means, first of all, a reapportionment of representation in the state legislature. It should be obvious by this time that the legislature as presently constituted will not move vigorously to attack the inefficiencies of local governments. It clings to the status quo. It bows to the pressure of rural areas . . ."

Discussing some of Iowa's industrial prospects, Soth says that Iowa should be able "to capitalize on the rising demand from the American consumer for more highly processed foods, for more packaging of food products and for more services in marketing

Food Demand Inelastic
"Or to use the economists' terms, demand for food is inelastic, while demand for non-food products and services is elastic. So from the standpoint of total economic efficiency, it pays to pull people out of agriculture and put them to work at making all the other things that go into a higher level of living," he concludes.

Soth's articles is based on a speech he gave May 20 at a meeting of the Iowa Manufacturers Association.

Laboratory Told of Best Palsy Work

Although the cerebral palsied individual often wants to work in education and other fields with others having his own affliction, he should be steered away from such positions, Director R. R. Rembolt of the Hospital-School for Severely Handicapped Children said Monday.

Addressing 20 members of a three-week Cerebral Palsy Workshop now in progress at the State University of Iowa, Rembolt explained that the cerebral palsied individual will tend to interpret the problems of other victims as being just like his own, and fail to see the important details of how their cases differ.

Many cerebral palsied persons will find they can be most successful in work such as horticulture, truck farming, livestock and chicken raising, the physician suggested, where speech defects and physical handicaps will not cause difficulty in contacts with other people. Such jobs give the person a chance to contribute to his community and at the same time be largely self-sufficient, Rembolt said.

Rembolt emphasized the need for professional workers to guide parents in avoiding overprotection, helping the cerebral palsied child develop some independence so he can face reality.

Such progress as the cerebral palsied can make depends upon such factors as the extent and degree of their physical disability, intellectual potential, emotional equilibrium, related defects such as problems of vision and hearing, and the attitude of the patient's parents, he said.

Pointing out that cerebral palsy is a condition rather than a disease, Rembolt explained that it may include several symptoms of brain damage. Besides muscular, nerve and psychological dysfunction, these may include convulsions, behavior disorders and other sensory or perceptual problems.

Lend-Lease Ships Stripped by Soviets

BREMERHAVEN, Germany (AP) — The 35 lend-lease American warships finally returned by the Soviets earlier this month "are in bad shape" and probably will be sold as junk, a U.S. naval officer said Monday.

"Everything of value in them, such as instruments and equipment, was removed before they were returned," the officer told newsmen. "The Soviets apparently beached them immediately after the war."

The vessels include 30 patrol torpedo boats and 5 subchasers. They were handed over to American officials recently by Soviet sailors who brought them to the German Baltic port of Kiel.

The American officer said the patrol torpedo boats which originally cost $250,000 each are now obsolete. The craft are being transferred via the Kiel Canal to the U.S. naval commander here.

Coffee Shop Is Opened At Hospital

After an 18-month delay, the coffee shop in the Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children opened Monday morning.

Although included in the original plans for the building, which began operating in January, 1954, lack of funds and time necessary to procure equipment delayed opening of the coffee shop and cafeteria.

"We need the shop not only for the convenience of the staff, but for out-of-town parents who bring their children to the school," said hospital school principal, Mrs. Grace A. Orr.

"The shop will be particularly useful in the winter when weather conditions make transportation across the river difficult."

The coffee shop, open from 9:15 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, is serving sandwiches, salads, beverages, ice cream, pies and rolls.

"The coffee shop is sort of an addition to our cafeteria," Mrs. Orr added. The cafeteria, which didn't open until last April, prepares meals for approximately 50 children.

Quartet by Turner To Be Premiered

Premiere performance of the "Quartet in E Minor" by Prof. Thomas Turner of the State University of Iowa Department of Music will be a feature of a concert of chamber music to be presented at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Iowa Memorial Union by the SUI Faculty String Quartet.

Quartet members are Stuart Canin and John Ferrill, violins; Claude Carlson, viola, and Hans Koelbel, violoncello.

Other numbers on the program are "Quartet in D major, Op. 64, No. 5" by Haydn and "Quartet in F major, Op. 96" by Anton Dvorak.

Experimental Big-Screen TV To Be Displayed at Union

Some of the educational possibilities of large-screen television will be demonstrated today for State University of Iowa teachers and administrators.

Vice-president John A. Hurst of the Fleetwood Corporation of Toledo, O., will demonstrate a TV projector for staff members from 10-12 a.m. and 1-4 p.m. at the Iowa Memorial Union. Anyone interested is invited to attend the demonstrations, according to Director Lee W. Cochran of SUI bureau of audio-visual instruction.

Hurst said the projector, which is manufactured by his firm, enlarges and projects the television picture to sizes up to 9 by 12 feet. It is this size that will be projected at the Union today.

Speech Clinic Work Shown
At 8:30 p.m. the equipment will be used for a free public showing of "The Search," a CBS-TV production showing the work of the SUI speech clinic. Tonight's program will launch a summer re-run of eight of the award-winning programs concerning research at 25 major American universities.

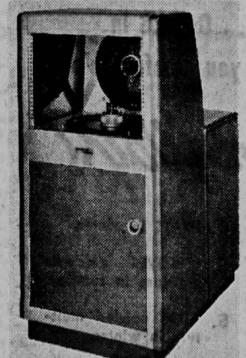

The SUI speech clinic will point out in its program that there is no organic basis for stuttering and will warn parents that they are most frequently to blame for tomorrow's stutterers.

Used in Operating Rooms

According to Hurst, the large-screen TV projection equipment is presently being used in some hospital operating rooms to enable internes and medical students to watch operations "close-up," in classrooms to permit students to observe equipments in larger-than-life size, for sales and other conventions and for various industrial applications.

In another situation 700 New York teachers simultaneously took an examination for a principal's certificate after all had watched a problem teacher and class via large-screen TV, without being in the classroom or interrupting class work.

For tonight's showing of "The Search," the equipment will be set up in the main lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union. The public is invited to attend the showing, Cochran says.

THIS LARGE-SCREEN PROJECTOR will be used to bring the national telecast of "The Search" to viewers in the Main Lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union. The Fleetwood Corporation of Toledo, O., has provided the unit for demonstration on the SUI campus.

Business Teachers' Conference Today

About 60 teachers of commercial subjects and Iowa office workers will take part in the Conference for Business Teachers at the State University of Iowa today through Thursday.

Madeline S. Strony, educational director for the Gregg Publishing Company, will be the conference's first visiting specialist. She will discuss shorthand teaching techniques.

Lois M. Corbeel, educational manager for the A. B. Dick Company, Chicago, will take over the instruction Wednesday. She will demonstrate mimeographs and other duplicating equipment.

Marilyn Brown, speed typist with the International Business Machines Corporation, will demonstrate the electric typewriter and discuss teaching procedures Thursday.

The President and the Mayor

MAYOR FRANK TOBEY of Memphis, Tenn., stands with his arm around the shoulder of President Eisenhower in the President's White House office Monday. The mayor called on the chief executive to discuss his city's plans to build its own power plant. A short time later the President ordered cancellation of the controversial Dixon-Yates contract. Lacked Professional Polish —

All-State's 'Pop' Concert

— Pleasant Listening

They might have more polish in Boston, but the All State "Pops" Concert Sunday in the Iowa Memorial Union proved that the Iowa youth can turn out a pleasant performance. The music camp orchestra and choruses gave a five group concert.

A selected program for mixed chorus, string orchestra, girls' chorus, boys' chorus, and orchestra, gave the audience a performance which varied from Mozart to Negro spirituals.

Maurice C. Whitney served as guest conductor, leading the orchestra, mixed chorus, and girls' chorus. The boys' chorus was led by Lee Kjelson, and Dallas Tjaden conducted the string orchestra.

The performance began with the mixed chorus showing their adeptness in several types of singing. Accompanied by Marceline James they performed a hymn, "Gloria in Excelsis Deo" by Maurice C. Whitney; a romantic melody, "Ah, Love But a Day" by Mrs. H.H.A. Beach; and a gay rollicking tune "With a Voice of Singing" by Martin Shaw.

The Adagio and Allegro from Mozart's "Sinfonietta in D," played by the string orchestra were pleasingly and creditably performed, despite the lack of professional polish and precision.

Connie Davis accompanied the girls' chorus in "Through the Silent Night" by Serge Rachmaninoff, their single number of the concert. In "Passing By" and "Rock-a My Soul," the a cappella

Pre-School Clinic To Be July 14-15

The needs of preschool children will be the subject of a workshop for staffs of day-care centers, play schools and preschools in this area July 14 and 15 at the Sunshine Mission in Cedar Rapids.

Sponsored by the State Department of Social Welfare in cooperation with the State University of Iowa Child Welfare Research Station and the Division of Child Development, Iowa State College, the workshop will focus on understanding the development and needs of preschool children.

Volunteers To Salvage Corn For State Society's Funds

Volunteer laborers and farmers will salvage corn from farm fields this fall to gain funds for the State Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Teams of laborers, farmers, and youths will pick up the corn after the fields have been harvested by mechanical pickers. Ordinarily much of this corn is lost because of insufficient farm help, the society said.

The A. F. of L. and C.I.O. union leaders have agreed to assume responsibility for organization of the necessary work force. It is estimated 100,000 workers will be needed. This will include volunteers outside of the labor unions.

George Buechler, Johnson county chairman of the society, is awaiting instructions for an organizational meeting between county farm and union representatives. July 15th is the deadline set for the county meetings to allow sufficient time for recruiting volunteers to conduct the program.

Money obtained from sale of the corn will be shared equally by the society and the farmer. The society hopes to make this program, called "Harvest of Hope," an annual event.

Barmen on Strike; Irish Throats Dry

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Irish throats were dusty in the heats Monday, and a couple thousand hard-hearted bartenders wouldn't draw a pint of beer, not even for your grandmother.

The barmen of the town went on strike Saturday. They stood outside the pubs and picketed the taverns. Few were brave enough to cross their lines at the places where the boss and his missus tried to carry on.

The barmen demand an increase in pay, which at present is $20.02 a week.

City-SUI Group See Vet's Hospital

A tour of the Veteran's Hospital was the highlight of the City-University Committee meeting Monday.

Fourteen members of the committee viewed a typical 40-bed unit, surgical floor. They also observed operating rooms, labs, dining facilities and patient conveniences.

A 10-minute meeting was held following the tour. Committee member Dale W. Welt proposed that members of the City-University Committee make suggestions to the City Manager Association concerning city council candidates for the November elections.

Robert Stevenson, chairman of the City-University Committee, stated the next meeting would be held Aug. 1, in the Chamber of Commerce office.

Pierce To Open Against Robert's

NL Favored To Defeat AL In 22d Game

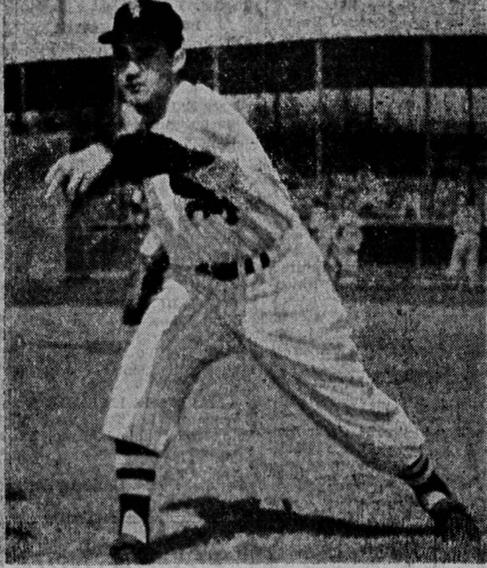

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Robin Roberts ties a record by starting his fifth All-Star game for the National League today against Chicago's Billy Pierce, a surprise choice by Manager Al Lopez of the American League.

Impressed by the lefthanded batting power on the National squad that has hit 288 home runs to 183 by the American, Lopez decided to call on Pierce, the 28-year-old lefthander who has been pitching fine ball in recent weeks after a slow start. His record is 5-6.

Manager Leo Durocher of the Nationals by-passed Don Newcombe, Brooklyn's pitcher-slugger with his 14-1 record and five home runs. The 28-year-old Phil-

ROBIN ROBERTS, left, of the Philadelphia Phillies, and Billy Pierce, Chicago White Sox hurler, will be the opposing pitchers at the start of the All-Star game today in Milwaukee. Pierce was a surprise American League choice. Roberts' start will be his fifth in the All-Star game and will tie a record by Lefty Gomez of the American League. Roberts started in 1950, '51, '53 and '54. His teammate Curt Simmons started in 1952.

Andrews Wins Two Hawkeye Tennis Crowns

Art Andrews, Iowa City, won the men's and junior boy's singles in the Hawkeye Open Tennis Tournament at Des Moines Sunday.

He will head a quartet from those divisions which will move on to the Junior Chamber of Commerce National Tournament at San Antonio, Tex., August 4-9.

Andrews, top-seeded in both classes, defeated Ken Boyum, Minneapolis, 6-3, 6-0, in the men's finals and downed Don Middlebrook, Des Moines, 6-0, 6-1, for the junior boy's crown.

Roger Kroth, Cedar Rapids, and Andrews lost the men's doubles finals to Boyum and Dr. Bill Widen, Minneapolis, 4-6, 6-3, 3-6.

Three other Iowa City players reached final play before they were defeated.

Facts, Figures

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Facts and figures on the 22d All-Star baseball game today at County Stadium:

Contestants — National League All-Stars vs. American League All-Stars.

Standing of Series — American leads 13-8.

Game time — 7 p.m. (CST).

Probable attendance — 45,000.

Broadcast — Mutual Broadcasting System.

Television — National Broadcasting Co.

Favorite — National 13 to 10.

Starting pitchers — Billy Pierce, Chicago (13-7), American League, and Robin Roberts, Philadelphia (13-7), National League.

Disposition of proceeds — Major's central fund which supports player pension plan.

Philadelphia righthander owns a fine 13-7 record. Newcombe will follow Roberts for the middle three-innings with Sam (Toothpick) Jones (9-10) of Chicago finishing.

The power-packed Nationals remain a 13 to 10 favorite although the American holds a 13-8 edge in the series. Five National leaguers — Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati, Duke Snider of Brooklyn, Willie Mays of New York, Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee and Ernie Banks of Chicago — each has hit more homers than Mickey Mantle of the Yankees whose 21 top the American.

Under the rules, no pitcher can pitch more than three innings unless the game goes into extra innings while all the other starters, selected by the votes of 6,562,064 fans, must play at least the first three innings unless injured.

Lopez expects to bring in Early Wynn (11-4) of his Cleveland staff to follow Pierce. Wynn had been "best bet" of most experts as the likely starter although baseball strategy seemed to call for a lefty. Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees (10-4) is the likely late inning pitcher.

Tickets priced from $7.50 to $15.00 are reported selling at tremendous premiums, some as high as $50. It is Milwaukee's first All-Star game. A sellout crowd of 45,000 will jam County Stadium, contributing receipts of about $175,000. Network radio (Mutual) and TV (NBC) will carry the game coast-to-coast.

The lineups, with TV numbers (players wear uniform numbers with resultant duplications):

Campanella's .335 Tops NL

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Campanella, after a 13-day layoff, found his .335 batting average tops in the National League Monday.

The Brooklyn catcher, sidelined with a knee injury, forged ahead of league leader Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia, who slipped 17 points last week to .327.

In the American League, Detroit's outfielder Al Kaline held a 45-point margin over runner-up Nellie Fox of Chicago. Kaline could not be budged despite a five-point loss during the week to .371. Fox dropped from .335 to .326.

Ashburn Slumps

Ashburn, in his worst slump of the season, has collected only 5 hits in 34 at bats to tumble from .352 to .327. Milwaukee's Hank Aaron is in third place with .322.

Duke Snider of Brooklyn leads in runs batted in with 89.

Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski leads in the National League home run derby with 29.

Mantle Leads Homers

The Yankees' Mickey Mantle leads the American with 21, two ahead of Kaline. Jackie Jensen of Boston took over the league lead in RBI's from Kaline with 71. Kaline trails with 67.

Jim Konstanty of New York was still tops in American League pitching percentages with a 6-0 record for 1,000. Cleveland's Herb Score added 11 strikeouts to hold his league leading mark at 137.

Don Newcombe of Brooklyn remained the pacesetter in the senior circuit with 14-1 and a .933 percentage. Sam Jones of Chicago maintained his knockout lead with 114.

Defending Champion Wins 1st Golf Round

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Defending champion Gene Andrews of Pacific Palisades, Calif., scrambled back from a three hole deficit and defeated Wallace Smith, Pontiac, Mich., policeman, in 19 holes Monday in the first round feature of the USGA National Public Links Tournament at Coffin Municipal Course.

Andrews, insurance salesman and amateur magician, escaped from Smith's custody after the police radio operator won three of the first four holes.

The defending champ won No. 6 with a par when Smith three-putted and captured No. 7 with an eight foot birdie putt. Andrews fell back again on No. 11, pulling his second shot, but he won No. 13 with a 10 footer good for another bird.

Race Car Driver Dies After Crash

OKLAHOMA CITY, (AP) — Jerry Hoyt, nationally known racing car driver, died in an Oklahoma City hospital Monday from injuries received Sunday night in the $5,000 big car races here.

Hoyt, a bridegroom of two weeks, was injured when his racer crashed into a retaining wall on the first lap of an early heat. The 26-year-old speedster from Indianapolis was rushed to Wesley Hospital where he underwent 3 1/2 hours of surgery. He died at 6 a.m. of brain injuries.

New Coach

Rocco Calvo, a member of Cornell's 1952 football team, will be starting his first season as a grid coach at Moravian College, Bethlehem, Pa., this fall.

Gas all-year air conditioning

THIS SUMMER!

ONE compact unit... ONE simple control

HEATS in winter... COOLS in summer... keeps you comfortable

All Seven Ways!

- VENTILATES with fresh outside air.
- CLEANS and filters the air.
- COOLS by refrigeration in summer.
- HEATS in winter.
- REMOVES excess moisture in summer.
- ADDS needed moisture in winter.
- CIRCULATES air in every room.

Installing gas all-year air conditioning is not much more of a job than putting in a new gas furnace. Considering all the advantages it provides, all-year gas air conditioning does not cost much more either!

In many ways, air conditioning helps to pay for itself. The air-conditioned home is almost dust free — carpets and draperies keep their new, fresh look longer, without continued cleaning. Walls and woodwork require less frequent washing and painting. There are no side expenses for halfway comfort measures, either, like individual room coolers, dehumidifiers, portable or window type fans.

With the wide selection of new gas air conditioning units now available, it's easier than ever to get a system installed that's "custom-tailored" to your needs. Get complete information while there's still time to enjoy the benefits of gas air conditioning this summer.
