

No Tax Raise With New Budget, Roan Says

Mill Rate May Even Be Lower

By KIRK BOYD
City Manager Peter F. Roan Monday night presented to the city council a 1956 budget that would keep city taxes at their present level.

In fact, the present millage rate of 25.11 may even be lowered a bit, Roan said.

Roan's 1956 budget calls for $1,049,335 in expenditures. This would be an increase of $40,000 over last year's budget.

The amount to be raised by taxes would be $592,914. This would be an increase of $23,432 over the 1955 levy.

Slight Increase
Roan emphasized that the slight increase in taxes will not affect the individual property owner.

In his statement to the council, he said:

"The increase in revenue will come from anticipated new assessment value on new homes and property appearing on the tax rolls for the first time. . . . The individual home owner will pay the same amount or a slightly lesser amount of city taxes during 1955."

The 1956 budget will be given a public hearing August 8. It will be approved at a later date, councilmen said.

To Be Absent
Roan and Councilman Ansel Chapman said that they would be unable to attend the budget hearing because they would be on their vacations.

Chapman, acting as mayor Monday in the absence of LeRoy S. Mercer, said he wanted city residents to understand that the city would not increase their tax burdens.

"Any increase this year in taxes will reflect on the county board of supervisors and the city school board," Chapman said.

The Iowa City District School Board July 12 proposed a 1956 budget that would mean a $302,865 increase in taxes.

School Tax
The school tax totals have increased about $90,000 in the last three years. The present mill rate for school taxes is 33.04. (Millage rate is the amount of dollars to be assessed on each $1,000 worth of taxable property.)

The school board will hold a public hearing on its budget August 9, one day after the city council's budget hearing.

The county board of supervisors has not yet announced its 1956 budget.

Salary Increase
Roan said that his 1956 budget allowed for a salary increase of up to five per cent to most city employees.

He also said that it would provide "a number of increases in our present level of services."

One example, Roan said, would be an additional summer playground in the Mark Twain school area.

Another would be the purchase of a new pumper truck for about $20,000. This Roan proposes to pay for by the sale of bonds.

The budget provides for no increase in the manpower of the 22-men fire and police forces.

A budget notation said: "The four additional men we requested are seriously needed but we cannot finance without additional help from the university."

Roan last winter asked the State University of Iowa for more money to finance the operation of the fire department. SUI currently furnishes 20 per cent of the cost.

SUI officials then said they

Red China, U.S. To Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, in a move to reduce Far East tension, agreed Monday to a special conference with Red China. It will begin Monday in Geneva, Switzerland.

The meeting announced simultaneously in Washington and Peking, will bring together special ambassadors of the two countries, for the first time, to discuss outstanding problems.

The State Department said the special conference does not "involve diplomatic recognition" of Red China.

The formal announcement said the ambassadors would discuss "repatriation of civilians" and how to "facilitate further discussions and settlements of certain other practical matters now at issue between both sides."

This wording appeared broad enough to permit face-to-face talks with the Chinese Communists for the first time on a possible ceasefire in the Formosa area.

Peace At Any Cost, Ike Says

Pledges Cooperation With Soviets in Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Monday night that as a result of the Geneva Big Four talks "there is a sharpened realization by the world that the United States will go to any length to achieve peace."

He said that to do that, we will work with the Soviets cooperatively.

Eisenhower said "there were no secret agreements made," at the Geneva meeting.

No Secrets
He added that this applied to unwritten as well as written agreements.

In a nationwide radio-TV broadcast, the President spoke of his proposal to trade military blueprints with the Russians.

He said the main purpose in bringing this forward was to convince everyone of this country's sincerity in promoting peace.

In proposing aerial inspection of arms establishments on a reciprocal basis with Russia, Eisenhower said he had in mind that this might lead to a broadened system of inspection.

'Acid Test'
The acid test should come next October when the foreign ministers of the Big Four get down to the business of translating generalities into action, he said.

The President said he believed he and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles "made crystal clear" this country's attitude toward such things as the plight of the Soviet satellites.

But the subject that took most of the delegates' attention, he said, was a full exchange of visitors between East and West.

And here, he said, there was "the greatest possible agreement."

Conciliation
Each side assured the other often, he said, of its desire for conciliation through such contacts with one another.

"I do know that the people of the world want peace," Eisenhower said.

Everyone at Geneva, Eisenhower said, felt the "great longing of mankind" for peace.

"I believe that only with prayerful patience, courage and tolerance, with eternal vigilance, can we keep alive the spark kindled at Geneva," he said.

'Lasting Peace'
But if that is done, he declared, the lamp of lasting peace at last may be ignited.

Eisenhower said at the outset that Dulles and he went to Geneva to "represent the aspirations of the American people for peace" and the principles on which it should be based.

What he described as almost unanimous bipartisan support of Congress was a big help, he said. There had been thousands of telegrams of support from ordinary people as well as business, church, labor and other organizations, he said.

"Peace and the result of peace," he said, "involves perplexing problems."

The President laid down these two general principles:

1 Principles
1. The U.S. must never be deluded into believing that a week of negotiations, however fruitful, can bridge a gulf "so wide and deep" as that between East and West.

2. There should be no discouragement because Western proposals are not necessarily accepted by the other side.

The question of European security was troublesome, Eisenhower said. On disarmament, he repeated the U.S. contention that there must be effective inspection.

Earlier, Monday, Eisenhower was reported to have told leaders of Congress that it looks like the Russians are ready to negotiate for world peace in a new "atmosphere of friendliness."

He also reportedly stressed to congressional leaders that no secret agreements of any kind were made at Geneva.

Dulles followed this up by telling newsmen: "There's nothing to conceal about this conference."

Vice President Richard Nixon and 24 members of the House and Senate gathered at the White House for the briefing. Eisenhower and Dulles talked to them for nearly an hour and a half.

House Will Debate Road Bill Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—A multi-billion dollar highway construction bill was cleared Monday for House consideration today with a fight in prospect over $12,400,000 in new automotive taxes proposed to help finance the program.

The House Rules Committee voted to send the measure to the floor as the first order of business today.

But in advance of house action, Rep. Tom Steed (D-Okla.) predicted "the bill as it now stands will not pass the House."

Steed urged the committee to permit sponsors of less heavy taxes on the trucking industry to offer amendments from the floor. But the committee turned down the request.

No Amendments Allowed
In advancing the legislation, the Rules group specified floor procedures allowing no amendments to the Democratic-sponsored tax section of the bill.

That would still permit the Republicans to offer a single substitute financing plan, however.

House Republican Leader Martin (Mass.), says he'll push the taxless alternative proposed by President Eisenhower to raise highway building money through long-term bonds.

40,000 Miles of Highways
The bill okayed by the House Public Works Committee calls for nearly 50 billion dollars worth of Federal and state road building over the next 13 years. The biggest item would be 24 billion dollars for Federal aid in completing a 40,000-mile system of interstate super highways.

The bill, by Rep. George H. Fallon (D-Md.), provides payment of $12,400,000,000 in increased taxes over a 16-year period—including a boost from 2 to 3 cents per gallon in the Federal gasoline tax and higher levies on truck tires, tubes and retard material.

British Try Inflation Curb

LONDON (AP)—Chancellor of the Exchequer Richard A. Butler slammed the brakes Monday on Britain's buying spree by tightening up installment buying.

He boosted the down-payment on such items as automobiles and household appliances from 15 to 33 1/2 per cent but did not change the payment period, which ranges from 2 to 4 years.

Butler called also for a sharp cutback in capital expenditures by public and private bodies to halt the creeping inflation threatening the position of the pound sterling in the world money markets.

He asked for a tightening of bank loans but announced no change in the bank rate. Last February Butler boosted the rate from 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 per cent.

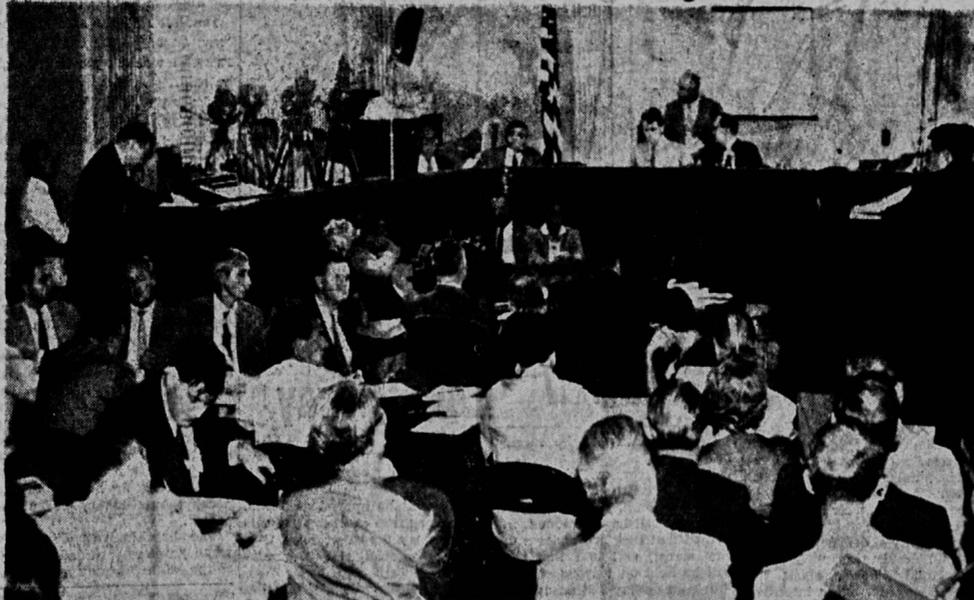

Butler told the House, in effect, that Britain was living it up too much—that the nation would have to work harder to export more goods and protect her balance of payments position.

As far as the average consumer was concerned, Butler's most severe move was boosting the down-payment required on installment buying to a third of the total purchase price on a wide range of goods.

This was done to prevent too much siphoning off into the home market of consumer items Britain needs to sell abroad. Instead of selling so much to the easy home market, manufacturers now will have to buck competition in the tougher world market.

These items include radio and television sets, phonographs, washing machines, vacuum cleaners, refrigerators, cameras, binoculars, automobiles and motorcycles.

A Full House for Talbott Hearing

CHAIRMAN JOHN McCLELLAN (D-Ark.) of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee presides at a Washington hearing crowded with news writers, photographers and television technicians and cameramen Monday. The witness is Sam Ewing, an attorney for Radio Corporation of America, testifying at an inquiry into the business affairs of Air Secretary Harold Talbott. McClellan is right center, dark suit, behind raised desk. Next to him is Robert Kennedy, counsel to the subcommittee. Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) is at left of American flag. Next to him is Sen. Sam Ervin (D-N.C.). The witness is seated at center, back to camera, in chair, back bent over.

'Marriage Of Figaro' To Open At 8 Tonight

Curtain time for Mozart's four act opera, "Marriage of Figaro," will be 8 tonight in Maebride auditorium.

This is the opening performance; the opera will run through Thursday.

The opera will highlight the 17th Annual Summer Fine Arts Festival at State University of Iowa.

The first opera at SUI was produced in 1950, and since then five presentations have taken place. The Department of Dramatic Art collaborates with the Music Department in the operas.

Joint Direction
The musical part of the opera is under the direction of Prof. Herald Stark of the SUI Music Department. Harold Shiffler, instructor in the Dramatic Art Department, directs the dramatics.

Duane Crossley, a visiting lecturer in the SUI Music Department, has the role of Figaro. Crossley, who has been head of the voice department at Grinnell College for the last three years, has had professional experience singing with the American Opera Co. in Philadelphia, from 1946 to 1949.

Set In Castle
The role of Count Almaviva, owner of the Spanish castle where the action takes place, is played by Harry Morrison, instructor in music at SUI. Morrison has had parts in all five of the summer operas given previously.

Feminine leads in "The Marriage of Figaro" will be sung by Rolanda Ringo, A4, Iowa City. Jean Gressley, graduate assistant from Fort Madison, and Henrietta Folkens, G, Rock Rapids.

In the role of Suzanna, castle chambermaid with whom both the count and Figaro are in love, Miss Ringo will be appearing in an SUI opera for the fifth time.

Castle Intrigue
Miss Gressley is cast as Marcellina, the housekeeper who figures in the castle intrigue. A graduate of Iowa Wesleyan College at Mt. Pleasant, she received both Master of Arts and Master of Fine Arts degrees from SUI.

Cast as the Countess, Miss Folkens has been soloist for a number of SUI chorus concerts. Cherubino, a romantic lad, is portrayed by Connie Grove, A1, South English.

CAROLINE CLEMENTS, A2, NEWTON, will appear in the role of Barbarina in "The Marriage of Figaro." Mozart opera, to be presented here today through Thursday at Maebride Auditorium. Curtain time for each performance will be 8 p.m.

RCA Attorney Testifies in Talbott Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Air Force Harold Talbott was quoted Monday as saying he had the top lawyer in the Air Force "representing me" in a private business transaction last January.

The testimony, to the Senate Investigations Subcommittee which is looking into Talbott's outside business activities, came from Sam Ewing, an attorney for the Radio Corporation of America.

Ewing said Talbott seemed annoyed at RCA's hesitance in expending a contract with Paul B. Mulligan and Company, a New York management engineering firm in which the secretary is a special partner.

Other Developments
In other developments at an afternoon-long public hearing, the subcommittee:

1. Received evidence that Talbott telephoned the president of the Union Oil Company, at a time the Mulligan firm was trying to land a contract with Union Oil.

2. Heard from Mulligan that the management engineering firm has paid Talbott $132,032 in profits on his partnership in the two years following Talbott's entrance into his Air Force position in February, 1953.

Telephone Call
Ewing told of a telephone call he received about Jan. 4, 1955, when Mulligan was trying to extend a contract from RCA.

Ewing said the call came from John A. Johnson, the Air Force general counsel, and that Johnson said he understood RCA was "troubled" about the legal question of a contract with a firm which had Talbott as a partner. RCA has defense contracts, and Ewing said it felt there were questions of both "propriety" and "legality" involved.

Ewing said Johnson told him "he was prepared to write a legal opinion to RCA saying there was no objection to this contract being entered into."

Talbott Interrupts
Ewing said that Talbott then came on the wire.

He said Talbott, speaking rapidly, listed a number of other Mulligan clients as having defense contracts and "seemed annoyed" about RCA's reluctance. Ewing said he then told Talbott he had been waiting to hear about the matter from Murray Smith, a Mulligan lawyer.

Changes Made in Registration Plans

Two changes in the fall registration procedure were announced Monday by Dewey B. Stuit, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts.

A new feature this year will be a day set aside for new students to confer with their advisors. This day will be Saturday, September 17.

Registration will be Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, September 19-21, with new students registering on Monday instead of Tuesday as in the past.

Manslaughter Charged in Fatal Crash

Manslaughter charges were filed Monday against Norman James Smith, 22, 726 S. Clinton St., construction worker, in connection with the one-car accident Saturday night that took the life of Marjorie Kay Bell, 15, 232 1/2 S. Dubuque St.

He is also charged by highway patrolmen with drunken driving and operating an automobile without an operator's license.

Miss Bell died instantly of a broken neck and fractured skull when Smith's car missed a curve and rolled several times in a ditch on the Sand Road near Hills, eight miles south of here.

Smith was hospitalized briefly with cuts and bruises on the forehead and left arm.

Hearings on the three charges were continued in Iowa City Police Court Monday morning until Smith could get an attorney.

He is being held in Johnson County jail in lieu of $3,000 bond.

Highway patrolmen reported Smith and Miss Bell were traveling south on the Sand road when the car slid off the road and rolled several times before coming to a stop more than 500 feet away.

Miss Bell was reportedly thrown from the car, as was Smith.

Eldon Duffy, R.R. 5, who lives near where the crash occurred, called Iowa City police after seeing that Miss Bell was severely injured.

Investigate Accident
Highway Patrolmen J. L. Smith and Richard Reddick investigated the accident and filed the preliminary information charging manslaughter, drunken driving, and operating a motor vehicle without a valid license.

Services for Miss Bell will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Oath-out Funeral Chapel, the Rev. Robert R. Sanks officiating.

Surviving are her mother, Marjorie Bell; two sisters, Mrs. Alfred Graham and Mrs. Doris Paintin, both of Iowa City; two brothers, Russell, Iowa City, and Carl, with the Air Force at Omaha, Neb., and an aunt, Mrs. Robert Rowe, Iowa City.

Cordell Hull—

Cordell Hull, who died at 83 Saturday, was described by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, under whom he served as Secretary of State, as "Father of the United Nations."

It was an apt designation, for while Hull gave public service as a judge in Tennessee and as a leader in Congress for many years before he entered the Cabinet, it was as Secretary of State that he made his major contribution to the nation. He was always an outspoken advocate of world co-operation and the pattern of trade agreements he originated is still in effective use in spite of the frequent hackings it receives in the political mill.

Hull was also architect of the "Good Neighbor" policy which brought about a new understanding between the United States and the Latin American republics.

James A. Farley, perhaps the shrewdest judge of the political figures of his day, regarded Hull as both the ablest and most self-effacing member of the Roosevelt cabinet. He frequently expressed the opinion in his memoirs that he regarded Hull as best fitted to succeed FDR in the White House.

The health of Cordell Hull broke in October 1944, but he carried on many of the negotiations for laying the groundwork for the United Nations from his sick bed.

While the activities of any Secretary of State are a subject of controversy, Cordell had the respect of political friends and foes alike as a man of ability, and integrity and a patriot who was among the first to realize that an "ourselves alone" foreign policy was no longer practical.

Fabrics Woven from Flax Exhibited

If Mark Twain were alive today, he'd probably have the same comment on the farm surplus problem that he had on the weather.

Everyone talks about farm surpluses, but nobody seems to do anything about them.

A textile exhibit at the State University of Iowa Library proves that at least one person has been doing something about the problem.

That person is Joan Patterson, professor of clothing and textile design at Oregon State College.

For more than 50 years, Oregon has been the only state raising fiber flax on a commercial basis. Yet, until three years ago, no decorative consumer goods were produced from this exclusive crop.

Now several textile mills in the Northwest are producing fine linen upholstery, drapes and other household fabrics. Both farmers and manufacturers have benefitted from the demand for the new products.

Miss Patterson can take much of the credit for the linen-flax upsurge. She proved that Oregon flax can be woven into desirable materials. In addition, she aided textile manufacturers in adapting her methods to mass production techniques.

Army Set To Arrest 3 Bids Opened Turncoats on Arrival For Highway Construction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials said Monday that the Army will arrest — and later court-martial — three turncoat former American prisoners of war as soon as their ship docks in San Francisco next Friday.

The Army's decision, ending weeks of legal uncertainty about what could be done about the trio, was made, after intensive consultations with the State and Justice Departments, the officials said.

The three Americans who were captured in the Korean fighting, turned their backs on their country and then changed their minds, are William C. Cowart, 22, Dalton, Ga.; Lewis W. Griggs, 22, Jacksonville, Tex., and Otho G. Bell, 24, Hillsboro, Miss., and Olympia, Wash. They refused repatriation after the Korean armistice and went to Red China instead.

The three former soldiers are now aboard the President Cleveland sailing homeward on the last leg of their journey.

An official announcement setting forth the Army's plans for the three is expected some time this week. Meanwhile Pentagon officials told a reporter how the

Foiled Robbers Fail Too

The burglars who broke into the Jones-Herriott Oil Co., 631 S. Van Buren St., Sunday night didn't know what they were getting into.

They tried to open a 500-pound safe in the office, but failed. The company owners weren't surprised.

They have been trying to open the safe for two years.

Jim Herriott, co-owner of the bulk plant, said the safe became jammed two years ago when it was moved from the Jones Service Station at 32 W. Burlington St.

"It must have become jammed in transit," Herriott said, "and when we got it down here the combination wouldn't work."

Herriott said the safe has become an office joke. "We wish someone would open it for us," he said.

The safe is believed to be empty, Herriott said.

The handle and lock dial were torn from the safe. Entrance to the plant was gained by cutting a screen and forcing the back door open.

Herriott reported that nothing was taken from the firm's office and nothing damaged. He said no money is kept in the office.

Another break-in was reported at the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, 823 E. Burlington St., Sunday night.

Detective Lieutenant Harland Sprinkle reported that entry was gained by forcing the casement of a front window.

He said footprints indicating the burglar was barefoot were found in the dust on a window seat just inside the window.

A search of the house indicated nothing was taken, police reported.

The break-in was discovered when painters returned to work at the house Monday morning.

Russians Split To Visit Disappointed Iowans

HUMBOLDT (AP) — At least one Iowa community is calling on the state's political big guns to make certain the traveling Russian farm leaders do not change original plans to visit their city.

It is reliably learned from Americans accompanying the Russians that some local leaders at Sioux City requested Iowa's Republican Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper to ask the Iowa Department of Agriculture to get Soviet Acting Minister of Agriculture V. V. Matskevich to come to their town.

Matskevich and his Russian farm group, according to initial plan, were to go to Sioux City and look over the stockyards there.

More recently, in an effort to study special subjects of particular interest, the Americans planners of the Russian tour cut out the Sioux City visit.

There was an immediate protest. Sioux City had been preparing to receive the Russians and wanted them to come. Sioux City people reportedly went to Hickenlooper.

The result: The American coordinators for the Russians, since they do not want to disappoint anyone, may fly a representation from the Russian group to the western Iowa city in a chartered plane. Plans for the shuttle operation are being worked out.

The Russians and the Americans conducting their tour are finding that disappointment is caused by changes in plans. The interest in their visit is so great that communities feel slighted when there are changes in the program.

Thus for instance, on Saturday when Matskevich announced suddenly in Iowa Falls that instead of staying overnight there with local families as had been planned, he must return to Ames, no little feeling was generated. As a compromise, after much discussion, the Russians left two of their number in Iowa Falls overnight though Matskevich himself did return to Ames.

Split Into 3 Groups
Monday the Russians were traveling in three groups.

The basic delegation consisting of seven was touring in their air-conditioned bus from Ames to Humboldt. On the way they stopped at a farm at Eagle Grove and had luncheon at the Eagle Grove Country Club.

Delegation leader Matskevich and two others made a side trip to the enterprise of Roswell Garst at Coon Rapids, Garst, one of the biggest hybrid corn seedmen in the state, took a liking to Matskevich at the reception the Russians gave in Ames Sunday night.

Garst invited Matskevich to his farm and said that he would like to go to Russia next winter to give the Russians advice on their farm problems. He offered to entertain a Soviet embassy agricultural attache on his farm in Iowa if Matskevich would appoint such an attache.

The third group of Russians consists of two men who are flying to Peoria Monday night to look at the Caterpillar tractor plant there Tuesday.

The farm which the majority of the Russians visited Monday at Eagle Grove was that of Dean and Pat Moser. The Russians made friends quickly with the five Moser sons from one to nine years in age. Michael, 9, presented the Russians with a 13-pound ham.

The Russians gave the Mosers seven medals — from the All Union Agricultural Exposition in Moscow.

The Russians showed interest in the Mosers' new farrowing stall.

Dean Moser said: "I was very much interested with the questions they asked and the interest they showed."

Hospital Instruction Includes Industrial Arts

Cerebral Palsied Children To Attend School

(Editor's Note: This is the last in a series of articles on Cerebral Palsy.)

By DEAN NORMAN It's hard to describe how a child whose arms are afflicted with cerebral palsy operates an electric jig saw.

However, Victor Bonfig, industrial arts instructor at the Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children, has taught 6-to-16-year-old children with cerebral palsy to use lathes, drill presses, circular saws and other power tools.

Only one minor accident has occurred in two years. A boy nicked his finger.

The industrial arts shop is part of the educational facilities provided for 43 crippled children, ages 3 to 16, at the hospital school this summer.

5 Groupings There are five age groupings: pre-school, kindergarten, primary, advanced primary and intermediate. Instruction is through the eighth grade level. Cerebral palsy cases constitute two thirds of the hospital school attendance.

A teacher has two groups of six to eight children each. Individuals are allowed to progress according to their abilities.

Special equipment is used to enable a child to get a well rounded education no matter what his handicap.

This includes: rubber balls with pencils inserted for children who cannot grasp a small object, desk tops with built up sides to keep chalk and pencils from falling off, cutaway desk tops to give the child more stability, plug-in amplifiers with earphones for children with hearing difficulties and electric typewriters which may be easier to operate than a pencil for a child with finger control trouble.

Live at School Because the children come from homes all over the state most of them must live at the hospital school. This requires much more than simply classroom education.

The facilities of the hospital school include an isolation ward, dental clinic, kitchen, dining hall, recreation room, class and therapy rooms, staff offices and dormitory rooms.

The third floor is covered entirely by foam rubber padding, which cushions falls as well as provides good traction for walking.

A playground in back of the hospital school includes swings, sandbox, teeter-totters and a wading pool.

Big Brothers University students volunteer to become "big brothers" or "big sisters" and visit a particular child at least once a week. They take children shopping, to movies, to parks and to their homes for dinner.

On Sundays each child, escorted by fellow church members, can attend his own church in Iowa City.

The Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce, university sororities and fraternities and other organizations have provided parties for the children. Contributions to the school have ranged from a movie projector and furniture to bean bags and bibs.

The hospital school staff, with community help, plans celebrations for holidays, and birthday parties for each child. The SUI Graduate Home Economics Club has baked cakes for many children's birthdays.

Take Area Tours Local establishments toured by the children include the fire station, airport, museum, dairy, grocery stores and libraries. The children are often invited to plays and concerts.

Children with cerebral palsy attend the hospital school from one to four school years, until they can be sent to public schools at home or until they have gained the maximum benefit possible from the hospital school. The summer sessions are attended by younger children who shouldn't be away from their parents for a long time, children requiring extensive diagnosis and former students who need refresher courses.

About 60 children attend during the normal school year. The hospital school, the only institution of its type in the country administered by a state university, performs a valuable service to all crippled children by training prospective professional workers.

County Road Improvement Bids To Open

Bids on an estimated $48,000 worth of contracts for oiling and grading of county roads will be opened today by the Johnson County Board of Supervisors.

Bids will be taken until 1:30 p.m. on 17.3 miles of oiling and 11.8 miles of grading.

The grading is part of a 26-mile program of grading farm access roads and the final step in a three-year county road improvement plan.

Oiling is planned on roads that have been oiled for the past 10 years.

Roads to be graded include two sections in Washington township, four in Sharon, one in Liberty, one in Pleasant Valley, two in Newport, two in Clear Creek, two in Oxford, and one in Hardin township.

Drivers Killed, 3 Hurt In Head-on Car Crash

NEW RICHMOND, Wis. (AP) — Both drivers were killed and three other persons were injured severely in a head-on car collision near here Sunday night.

Dead were Louis J. Beauvais, Jr., 24, Somerset, Wis., and Raymond Perry Rogers, 16, Deer Park, Wis. The crash occurred about 3 1/2 miles east of New Richmond.

City Budget—

would make a study of their fire protection needs. They have not yet announced any findings from that study.

Roan's budget cut large sums off the requests made by city department heads for 1956. Their askings, which were announced July 18, would have meant a tax increase of about 30 per cent.

The council ordered Roan July 18 to cut the budget to a place where the 1955 tax rates could be maintained.

Largest Cuts The largest cuts came in the street and sanitation departments, which had asked for the largest increases.

The street department budget was cut from $165,080 to $95,833. The fire department figure was slashed from $137,311 to $119,175.

The sanitation department request was reduced from $86,352 to $72,737.

Some departments and funds received decreases from their 1955 to 1956 figures.

Saving One saving came in the maintenance of the Community Center, which last year cost the city $11,925. The building was destroyed by fire Jan. 28.

The city will pay off only $40,990 of its debt this year. Last year's budget appropriated $62,100 for the payment of debts.

Slight reductions came in the library, sewage disposal and assessor departments, and the street, pension and retirement funds.

Other Action In other action Monday night the city council:

1. Approved the sale of a piece of city property on Riverside Drive to Sam Saltzman for $26,000. Saltzman said that he plans to build a furniture store on the property.

2. Authorized Roan to buy two pick-up trucks for $2,417 (including the trade-in of one truck) and a dump truck for $2,643 from Reliable Sales and Service, which was the lowest of three bidders.

3. Approved the levy on the $5,000 Rochester Avenue sewer project. Several property owners had protested that their levies were too high but Roan told councilmen that city engineer Ed Gartzke feels that the levies were "made on an equitable basis."

Bohac Files Suit For Note Payment

Joe Bohac, West Branch, Monday filed suit in Johnson County District Court for payment of a $3,000 promissory note made by E. N. Eggers, 704 E. Jefferson St.

The suit claims the note was made May 8, 1952, and is long overdue.

Bohac asks payment of the note with interest and costs of the suit.

Kidnaping Charges May Face 2 Men Routed Near Tama

TIPTON (AP) — There is a possibility of federal kidnaping charges against two men captured after an Illinois couple subdued them, Sheriff C. R. Willey said today.

One of the men, Edward Lee Campbell, 24, Natural Bridge Station, Va., is held in jail here. The other, Ogden Danner, 29, Chicago, is under police guard at a Marshalltown hospital with a serious bullet wound.

Danner was wounded when Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Tomaszewski of Princeton, Ill., turned on two men who abducted them early Saturday at nearby Clarence, Iowa. The Tomaszewskis said the pair forced their way into the car at pistol point.

The Illinois couple had stopped alongside Highway 30 to rest.

Danner and Campbell were captured after a struggle west of Tama, Iowa. Tomaszewski shot Danner as the two men grappled for Danner's pistol.

Sheriff Willey said Louis F. Mangione, 23, Chicago, told him about midnight Friday he had been kidnaped by two men who forced him to drive from Chicago to Clarence and then left on foot when Mangione's car ran out of gas.

Willey said Mangione's description of the pair fitted Campbell and Danner.

Campbell contends he does not know Danner and that he had nothing to do with the abduction. Both Danner and Campbell have been charged under Iowa's general kidnap statute.

525 To Receive Degrees in August

About 525 students will be candidates for degrees at the State University of Iowa's annual summer Commencement convocation Aug. 10, University Registrar Ted McCarrel said Monday. The charge to the graduates will be given by President Virgil M. Hancher, who will also confer the degrees at the 7:30 p.m. exercises in the Iowa field house. Commencement speaker will be Dr. William B. Bean, head of internal medicine at SUI, who will address the graduates on "The Care and Feeding of the Intellect, A.D. 1955." The University Symphony Or-chestra, under the direction of James Dixon, will provide music for the Commencement program. Master of ceremonies will be William D. Coder, coordinator of conferences at the Iowa Center for Continuation Study.

Injured Wrist 'OK,' Jones Says

Cast Replaced By Leather Arm Brace

Cal Jones' wrist, injured during the 1954 football season, is coming along "O.K.," he said Monday.

"It's a little slow, but it will be all set by the first of September when practice starts," he said.

Jones' wrist was fractured early during last season but he played the rest of the year. The injury was disclosed by Coach Forest Evashevski after the final game of the season.

Bone Grafted

About six months ago a bone was grafted into the wrist and that's the reason it has been so long in healing, Cal explained.

"I have it checked about every week or two. Last Friday I had the cast taken off and a leather brace put on instead," he said.

Despite the injury Jones was an outstanding guard and was named to seven all-American teams and was picked on the Big Ten first team.

Stadium Work

Jones, who has been oiling down the seats in the Iowa Stadium for about three weeks, had this to say about the 1955 season: "I hope it will be our best season and I know it will be a good one."

In the Big Ten, Michigan and Ohio State are supposed to be tough this year, but you can't really tell yet, he said.

Vincent To Return

Jones said he expects teammate Eddie Vincent to return to Iowa City to start getting into shape. Eddie got his bad grades up and he is anxious to start, Cal said.

Cal added he expects two of last year's freshmen who had grade difficulties to be back this year. They are Bill Van Buren, center, and Alex Karras, guard. Van Buren attended four weeks of summer school so he will be ready and Karras is attending the entire session to retake a course he failed.

Cal returned to Iowa City following the end of the spring semester when his wrist would not stand up under the heavy work he had planned in his home town, Steubenville, O.

City Youths In State Meet

Iowa City teenagers will compete for the first time this year with boys and girls of other cities sponsoring playground programs in the annual "Junior Olympic" postal meet, Recreation Commissioner Robert A. Lee announced.

Field events will be held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Iowa City Junior High School. The track events are scheduled for Longfellow school Friday at 1:30 p.m.

Events include 40 and 100-yard dash, broad jump, high jump, shuttle relay, and softball and volleyball throws.

The winning time or distance in each event will be matched against other cities to determine a state champion.

Four age classifications for boys and girls have been set. They are Midget—10 and under; Junior—11 and 12; Intermediate—13 and 14; and Senior—15 to 17.

Closed Circuit TV For Iowa-ND Tilt

CHICAGO (AP)—Iowa's Nov. 19 football game at South Bend will be telecast on a closed circuit, the University of Notre Dame announced Monday.

The Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, executive vice-president of the South Bend, Ind., school, who made the announcement, said games to be televised include a contest with Miami in the Orange Bowl, Oct. 7 and Navy Oct. 27.

IOWA FOOTBALL CAPTAIN, Cal Jones, here is working on the seats in the Iowa Stadium from which fans will watch him lead the Iowa team on the gridiron this fall. Cal and several others have been oiling the stadium seats for about three weeks and hope to finish in about four more.

Middlecoff, Ford In Finals of PGA

DETROIT (AP)—Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., disposed of Tommy Bolt in 33 holes Monday, winning 4 and 3, to enter the final round of the 37th PGA championship.

Today Middlecoff, the slowest player in big time golf, will meet one who probably is fastest, Doug Ford, in the 36-hole final. Ford, racing around the 6,701-yard Meadowbrook Course like a cross country runner, shattered par for the sixth straight day as he whipped Shelley Mayfield, Seguin, Tex., by a 4 and 3 margin.

Ford shot a 69 on the morning round to lead one up. He stretched it to 4 up at the 23d, then fought off a comeback bid by Mayfield, a fine shotmaker whose putts wouldn't stop Monday, to win on the 33d hole.

Middlecoff, bone weary after Sunday's 40-hole duel with Jackie Burke, led 1 up after a poorly-played morning round, then found the putting range in the afternoon with a 33 on the front nine and closed out the match by winning the 33d hole.

The Middlecoff-Bolt match was the event of the day for a gallery that grew to an estimated 6,000 on a hot, sunny afternoon.

Bolt, a relentless shotmaker,

6 Officially Welcomed To Hall of Fame

COPPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Baseball's Hall of Fame increased its membership to 80 Monday when it opened its gates to six newcomers ranging from 69-year-old Frank (Home Run) Baker to 40-year-old Joltin' Joe DiMaggio.

The six also included former major league greats Leo (Gabby) Hartnett, Arthur (Dazzy) Vance, Ted Lyons and Ray Schalk. They were honored in a special 45-minute ceremony presided over by baseball Commissioner Ford Frick.

Hartnett, 54, who caught 100 or more games 12 years for the Chicago Cubs and finished with more home runs (236) than any other catcher, expressed the feeling of all six when he was presented with a replica of the plaque which will hang in the Hall of Fame.

"This is one day in my life I will never forget," Hartnett said. "It's a wonderful feeling to be an immortal in the baseball Hall of Fame."

DiMaggio, perhaps the best known and his feats the best remembered because of his comparative youth, received the biggest applause. There were loud whistles from youngsters sitting in trees across the street from the red brick Hall of Fame Museum.

DiMaggio's diamond exploits include his 56-game hitting streak, his participation in nine world championship New York Yankees clubs, his three most valuable player awards, his 11 All-Star team nominations, and his .325 batting average and 361 home runs through 13 seasons.

"This is a happy day for me," Joe said. "It's a long step since that day 20 years ago when I was riding to St. Petersburg with Tony Lazzeri and Frank Crosetti for my first spring training trip with the Yankees."

DiMaggio, Hartnett, Lyons and Vance were elected to the Hall of Fame last January by members of the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America. Baker and Schalk were chosen by the Hall of Fame Committee on Veterans.

Sox' Pierce Leads in ERA

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox and Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies, the starting pitchers in baseball's all-star game earlier this month, have taken over the major league earned run leads as the season closes in on the two-thirds mark.

Figures compiled by the Associated Press revealed Monday that Pierce, a southpaw who has not yielded an earned run in his last 25 1/3 innings, has permitted 22 earned runs in 113 frames to top the American League with a brilliant 1.75 ERA. Pierce has a 7-6 won-lost record but he has dropped three games by 1-0 margins.

Ashburn Tops NL Batters

NEW YORK (AP)—Pinch-hitting Richie Ashburn, sparkplug of the onrushing Philadelphia Phillies, has replaced his slump with a surge to regain the National League batting lead from slugger Roy Campanella of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Ashburn, who has walloped only three homers among 116 hits, collected 19 safeties in 46 at bats last week for a 12 point gain to .336. Previously, he had dropped more than 20 points while falling into third place. Meanwhile, Campanella lost 15 points with only two hits in 17 trips.

Red Sox Win 'Hall' Game

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Ted Williams blasted a two-run homer in the first inning Monday for the big blow which gave the Boston Red Sox a 4-2 decision over the Milwaukee Braves in the baseball Hall of Fame exhibition game.

Dick Brodowski, returning serviceman who will be 23-years-old Thursday, pitched the full game for Boston, limiting the Braves to nine scattered hits.

In the first inning, Ghet Nichols, Milwaukee starter and loser, hit Faye Throneberry with a pitched ball. On his next pitch he almost hit Williams.

On the second pitch to Williams the bat slipped out of Ted's hand and struck a first base fan, Ellis Kotary of Clayville, N.Y., who suffered a split second finger on his right hand.

Williams started to go to the aid of the fan but was called back to the batter's box. On the fourth pitch he sent a Nichols' outside pitch over the left field fence, scoring Throneberry.
