Mr. Ballantyne was preceded in death by his parents, two brothers and a sister.

Hancker's Statement
President Virgil M. Hancker said:

"The death of Mr. Robert Ballantyne is a loss to all of us who knew him and worked with him. Through his work in the Office of Student Affairs he was able to assist many young men and women in finding employment which would give them the financial support necessary to complete their college careers. The service which these students and alumni give to the society of which they are a part will be a permanent memorial to Mr. Ballantyne."

L. Dale Faunce, dean of students, said:

Faunce's Statement
"We are all deeply shocked and grieved at the death of our good friend and associate Robert Ballantyne.

"His two major interests in life were his family and those students at the university who needed assistance.

"I worked closely with Mr. Ballantyne for the last several years and he has been an extremely loyal member of the university."

Funeral arrangements are incomplete, pending word of the arrival of Mr. Ballantyne's son who has been in Japan.

The family has requested that money which would be used for flowers should be sent to F. L. Hamborg, SUI treasurer, to be used for scholarships to aid needy students.

SUI Coed Crowned as 'Miss Iowa'

CLEAR LAKE — Two State University of Iowa coeds dominated the "Miss Iowa" election this year.

Kay Taylor, N2, Tulsa, Okla., was crowned "Miss Iowa" by Gov. Leo A. Hoegh at the Governor's Day ball here Sunday.

The runner-up in the contest was Kerin Kae O'Kerlin, Al, Clarinda.

Miss Taylor is 20 years old, and competed as "Miss Cedar Rapids." She is 5 feet 4 1/2 inches tall and weighs 110 pounds. Her other measurements are: 35 inch bust, 21 1/2 inch waist, and 34 inch hips.

She has a fair complexion, brown hair and blue eyes.

The new "Miss Iowa" was chosen on a combination of personality, intellect and talent. Miss Taylor is a talented tap and modern dancer. For a hobby she collects ceramic dogs.

Miss Taylor is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor, Cedar Rapids. She was selected from among 20 contestants in two days of judging.

She will represent Iowa in the Miss America contest at Atlantic City, N.J., later this year.

Chosen in order after Miss O'Kerlin were Janice Ames, "Miss Sioux City," and Donna Rae Isaacson, "Miss Charles City."

Curtain Time Tonight at 8

The final play of the season, presented by the State University of Iowa Department of Speech and Dramatic Art, will be featured at 8 tonight in the University Theatre.

The play, "Harvest the Storm," was written by Sam Smiley, SUI graduate student, as a partial fulfillment for the Master of Fine Arts degree.

The drama reveals life on the rugged Indiana frontier in 1813. It deals with Matt Boyer, a trader and Indian scout. Boyer intends to develop the new territory, but finds there are many difficulties to overcome before his dream can be fulfilled.

The role of Matt Boyer will be portrayed by Robert Paulus, G, Iowa City.

The play is under the direction of Henderson Forsythe, visiting instructor from Erie, Pa. Other members of the production staff are: Robert Proper, settings; Prof. Walter Dewey, lights; and Helen Baird, costumes.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army hopes it can keep three divisions in the Far East, and still comply with Secretary of Defense Wilson's order to reduce manpower in the Japanese area.

Air-Conditioned Classroom

SEVERAL SUI CLASSES took to the campus Monday to keep cooler as the hot and humid weather settled over Iowa City again. The temperature rose to 96 degrees following Sunday night's thundershowers. Here Prof. Carleton Singleton, right, conducts his class in Elementary Guidance.

Iowa Citizens Asked To Conserve Water

Mayor LeRoy S. Mercer and the Iowa Water Service Co. jointly, appealed to Iowa City residents Monday to conserve water during the present dry spell.

They asked that residents refrain from washing cars and watering lawns from 6 to 9 p.m., the hours of top water demand.

Proclamation
The mayor's proclamation said in part:

"It shall be for the common good for the citizens of Iowa City that no water be used for the watering of lawns and washing of automobiles between the hours of 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. each day until such time as the consumption of water returns to normal.

"I further proclaim that any person using water in violation

No Relief, Predict High Of 102 Today

It was somewhat cooler, but no more comfortable in Iowa City Monday.

The temperature was 96 degrees, the lowest in six days. But the humidity resulting from Sunday night's brief shower made up for it.

The heat wave will continue indefinitely, the Iowa Weather Bureau said Monday.

The Monday forecast said Iowa City temperatures might go as high as 102 degrees today.

Sunday night's storm brought winds that sent the temperature to 70 degrees.

The temperature jumped to 93 degrees by noon and 96 by 3 p.m. Monday.

About 150 white mice being used for experimental purposes at the State University of Iowa medical laboratories have died during the heat. The death of the mice is delaying research at the laboratories, it was reported.

About 500 hogs a day have been dying from the heat in the Iowa City area, Jack Gilpin, manager of the Farmers Rendering Co., said.

Gilpin said the hog fatalities are the worst he has seen in 16 years.

Hilton Thanks Iowa Citizens

AMES (AP) — Dr. James H. Hilton Monday expressed his appreciation and that of Iowa State College to Iowans for their help in making the visit of the Russian agricultural delegation to this state a success.

"We are especially grateful," he said, "to those farm families who entertained the delegation on their farms and explained to the visitors how they conducted their businesses.

"We also appreciate the assistance of the many civic and farm organizations in entertaining the group. Without this warm, wholehearted cooperation, the tour of Iowa would not have been possible.

"We are pleased to know the Soviet delegation enjoyed their visit to Iowa. They were a very friendly group and seemed to be intensely interested in our agriculture and in our farming methods.

"If their visit here and the visit of the American farm delegation to Russia will help in bringing about a better understanding between the people of the two countries, then the exchange will have been very much worth while and will have contributed tremendously toward world peace."

Authority Will Be Restored, ROK's Assert

SEOUL (Tuesday) (AP) — In a surprise midnight statement the South Korean government proclaimed it "will undertake to restore authority" over Communist-occupied territory south of the 38th Parallel.

The statement came only hours after President Syngman Rhee told adjourning national assemblymen to be "ready to come back to work if there is a national emergency."

Did Not Say How
The statement did not say exactly how the Republic of Korea would "restore authority" over the Red area, but said it was "asking the Communist forces to withdraw from these areas within a certain specified time."

The statement also contained a demand for withdrawal of the Swiss - Swedish - Czech - Polish Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission which theoretically polices the armistice for the United Nations.

The ROK's call the Red Czech and Polish members Communist spies and for more than a year have demanded they be withdrawn.

Areas on Western Front
Communist-occupied territories where the South Koreans want to "restore authority" are the one-time armistice town and district of Kaesong, north of Seoul, the Ongjin Peninsula, west of Kaesong, and the north bank of the Lower Han River. All are on the extreme western front.

Kaesong is about 40 miles northwest of Seoul, just below the 38th Parallel.

The Ongjin Peninsula, lying west of Kaesong, was the scene of continual raids and fighting between the Reds and Rhee's forces—before the Korean War began in 1950.

Kaesong controls the main northern invasion route to Seoul, and was the first city to fall to the Reds in 1950.

Lumpa Still Eludes Police

Wayne F. Lumpa, 18, escapee from the Johnson County Jail, reportedly was seen Sunday night near the spot where a car was stolen.

A Cedar Rapids man said he saw a man answering Lumpa's description in the neighborhood where the car was stolen Sunday night.

The car owner identified Lumpa from a picture in police files.

The clothes Lumpa wore when he broke out of the Johnson County Jail July 20 were found in a stolen Cedar Rapids car Wednesday night near North Liberty.

The car Lumpa is believed to have stolen Sunday is a two-tone green 1951 Oldsmobile coupe with license plates 57-43446.

Rebels Clash with French; 3 Killed

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — A rebel band clashed with a French military patrol in the well-populated coastal farmlands of Algeria Monday, losing three dead and six prisoners.

The clash took place near Roberville, about 15 miles from the Mediterranean.

Resignation Follows Senate Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold E. Talbott resigned Monday as secretary of the Air Force and President Eisenhower, accepting the resignation, told Talbott "your decision was the right one."

The President also told Talbott, whose outside business activities came under Senate investigation, "there has been no intimation that your official duties have not been effectively and loyally performed."

Talbott, 63, offered his resignation, effective Aug. 13 because, as he told the President, "I would not in any circumstances wish to be a source of embarrassment to you or to your splendid administration."

'Distorted Publicity'
The air secretary said "the recent unfortunate and, I believe, distorted publicity given to my continued association with a management-engineering firm has been a matter of deep concern to me. . . I am clear in my mind and conscience that my actions have been within the bounds of ethics."

Talbott, secretary of the Air Force since Feb. 4, 1953, received $132,032 in profits from the New York firm of Paul B. Mulligan and Co., in which he is a partner, in the two years following his becoming secretary.

While denying any impropriety, Talbott has said he realizes now he was mistaken in writing letters and making telephone calls from his Pentagon office in behalf of the firm.

Denies Charges
He denied to the Senate Investigations subcommittee he ever used his post improperly to promote the company's business.

He recently told the Senate group he would give up his interest in the Mulligan firm, and recalled that he gave up other industrial connections when he joined the Eisenhower administration early in 1953.

Talbott, an Ohio industrialist, has been prominent in Republican party financial matters.

The President's letter, addressed "Dear Harold," disclosed that Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson brought the Talbott resignation to Eisenhower Monday morning.

Ike Agrees
"Your decision to resign," the President said, "of course, has been a difficult one for you because there has been no intimation that your official duties have not been effectively and loyally performed. Nevertheless, I feel that, under the circumstances, your decision was the right one, and I accept your resignation."

"I am informed by the secretary of defense that your department is currently engaged in a number of critical programming activities in which your personal knowledge is of particular importance. He is convinced that in the interest of orderly turnover and for the welfare of the Air Force, these activities should, if possible, continue for about two weeks more under your direction. I agree with him. Therefore, I hope you will find it feasible to remain at your post through the week ending Aug. 13," the letter read.

There was no announcement concerning Talbott's successor.

Bipartisan Tribute Accorded George

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans and Democrats joined Monday in tributes to Sen. Walter George (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, expressing and implying wishes for his reelection in 1956.

"There should be no question as to what George should do," said Sen. Alexander Wiley (Wis.), senior Republican on the committee. "A man with his background—for heavens sake! He should be returned."

The spurge of eulogies was touched off when George, 77, asked permission to absent himself from the Senate for the rest of the present session, expected to end today.

George has been in poor health and recently spent two weeks in a Washington hospital recovering from a respiratory ailment.

Red China Releases 11 American Airmen

GENEVA (AP) — Communist China informed the United States Monday she has released 11 American airmen held more than two and one-half years as spies. The fliers left Peiping Sunday on their way home and will arrive in Hong Kong Thursday, the Chinese said.

The announcement opened private talks between the United States and Red China on ways to ease tensions in the Far East.

The news first was broadcast by Peiping radio and then announced here formally by Wang Ping-nan, Red Chinese ambassador to Poland. The American representative in the talks, U. Alexis Johnson, ambassador to Czechoslovakia, expressed gratification at the news.

Agree on Agenda
Johnson and Wang also reached quick agreement on an agenda for their talks. The two items, proposed by Wang, cover the return of civilians of China and the United States to their respective countries and "other practical matters at issue."

The first item involves some 40 Americans still held in Red China and an indefinite number of Chinese students the Communists say are prevented by the United States from returning to the China mainland. The United States says the Chinese students are free to go.

Reds Appear Eager
The release of the airmen and Wang's opening speech made it appear that the Red Chinese were eager to reach a wide open discussion of the Formosa problem and other Southeast Asian issues that Washington had not expected to tackle here.

The United States has insisted that it would not discuss the fate of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government on Formosa behind his back, and Chiang is not represented here.

The happy ending to the bitter dispute involving the 11 airmen made it appear, however, that the Red Chinese were eager to get past that question and reach such matters as Formosa.

Two Not Mentioned
The Red Chinese announcement on the release of the airmen made no mention of the two men given the stiffest sentences by the Red court. Both are Army civilian employees.

One was given a life term, the other 20 years. The 11 airmen had been sentenced to terms of 4 to 10 years on spy charges, after being shot down on what the United States called a routine leaflet mission over North Korea Jan. 12, 1953.

The decision to free the 11 was hailed in Washington by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles as a desired result which came about "without concessions, promises or threats by the United States."

'Patient Course'
"The patient course which the President has advocated and which the country has supported has brought about the desired result," Dulles said.

President Eisenhower said "the entire country will feel a sense of relief and hail with joy the announcement that the 11 U.S. airmen held in Communist China since 1953 are at last to be released."

He praised Dag Hammarskjold, secretary general of the United Nations, who flew to Red China early this year to seek the airmen's release.

Disputes Bar Congressional Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress crashed part way through a series of adjournment roadblocks Monday but fell short of the goal of winding up its session Monday night.

Progress through the key barriers — public housing and congressional expense funds — was limited.

The House knocked off work shortly after 6 p.m. and ordered another session today.

The Senate remained in session, rejecting a compromise measure to extend the Defense Production Act another year. Republicans led by Sen. Homer Capehart (R-Ind.) denounced a proposed financial accounting requirement for dollar-a-year men contained in the bill as un-American and a slap at businessmen.

Returned to Conference
The compromise was sent back to Senate-House conferees by an almost straight party line vote of 36-34.

On the housing bill, Senate-House compromisers agreed on a one-year, 45,000 unit approach—but by no means unanimously. In the House the bill faces a floor fight from the GOP.

And there still was bad blood between Senate and House over a deadlocked bill to finance congressional operations.

The House did blaze one possible trail around the barricade. Rather than boost various benefits for the Senate alone, it adopted and hustled to the senators by unanimous voice vote a resolution to finance Congress this year on the same basis as last.

Some Progress Made
On other issues, Congress did make some progress through the pile of legislation still on the schedule.

Rival Senate and House measures to provide some free polo shots for children went to a Senate-House Conference Committee for drafting of a compromise.

Another set of conferees okayed a bill to extend the defense production law: It forbids dollar-a-year men borrowed from industry and business to hold policy-making jobs in the defense mobilization program.

The decision to keep Congress working at least another day breathed new life into fading hopes for some legislation.

Sugar Quotas
Sen. James Fulbright (D-Ark.) had blocked immediate consideration to extend the sugar quota law, with major changes, for four years. Now it may get another chance.

The House disposed of one major item by passing and sending to President Eisenhower a bill to boost by $2 billion the government's authority to lend money to support farm prices.

A Helping Hand—

The sudden death of University Manager of Student Aid and Placement Robert Ballantyne Monday morning, stunned the entire SUI campus and anyone who has ever known him.

Bob Ballantyne was in direct contact with thousands of students since 1942 and his helping hand made it possible for countless numbers of them to continue their education at the University.

As manager of student aid and placement, his job was a burdening one, but Mr. Ballantyne found time to give each student individual consideration and to take a personal interest in their problems.

His patience and persistence, his devotion to his job, made him a real asset to the University.

A memorial scholarship fund in his honor is being set up at the Office of Student Affairs. This choice of tribute is appropriate, for now even after the death, Mr. Ballantyne will continue to give a helping hand to students.

Blame It on the Heat—

Many facets of human behavior during the current spell of hot weather are blamed on the heat. Maybe the incident that we observed outside the Iowa Memorial Union last Sunday night can also be blamed on it.

Because final paving and grading haven't been completed, the parking area by the south door of the new addition is cramped and inconvenient. Drivers must do considerable maneuvering to get in and out of the area.

One auto had considerably stopped at the entrance of this short street to allow another to back out of its parking stall, get turned around and on its way.

Another auto pulled around the waiting car and with spinning wheels and grind of breaks pulled into the newly vacated space. He also forced the car that was leaving to break sharply to avoid being hit.

The driver and his friends got out with loud comments that "you had to look out for yourself" and some self-congratulations on their skill "at beating the other guy out."

To that driver we would like to add our congratulations! He certainly got his parking space. And he showed great skill in handling a car. Great skill, indeed!

And in the process of displaying his talents he endangered the lives of persons who were crossing the street at the time. That he didn't kill or injure someone was due to luck and the courtesy of others — not his skill.

Most motorists show the same courtesy behind the wheel as they do on the sidewalk. It is for the few "skillful" drivers that we want to apologize.

And we do hope it was the heat that caused this incident. If not, the only other explanation must be just plain stupidity.

Government Information—

For a dime, payable to the superintendent of documents, Government Printing Office, parents can obtain Children's Bureau pamphlet number 41-1954 entitled "Your Children's Feet and Footwear." The pamphlet is a bargain. In what other publication costing a mere 10 cents can one obtain such nuggets of wisdom as:

"The time to replace shoes is when the child has outgrown them."

"Ballet slippers, loafers, moccasins and high-heel cowboy boots are designed for a special purpose."

"When a child is learning to walk, he needs to have shoes that allow him to make natural use of his feet."

And for the topper in profound advice the following:

"The widest part of the shoe should fit the widest part of the foot."

Red China's Chances Better For High Level U.S. Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Red China's decision to free 11 American airmen is taken here as improving her chances of high level diplomatic dealings with the United States.

Both President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles indicated in advance of the meeting on the ambassadorial level in Geneva Monday that the spirit shown by the Communists at Geneva would have a good deal of bearing on any future meetings at higher levels to tackle broader problems.

A foreign minister's conference, already said to be a possibility by Eisenhower, would take the Peiping regime a long way along the road toward acceptance as an equal among the big powers.

City Girl Files Suit Against Hills Man

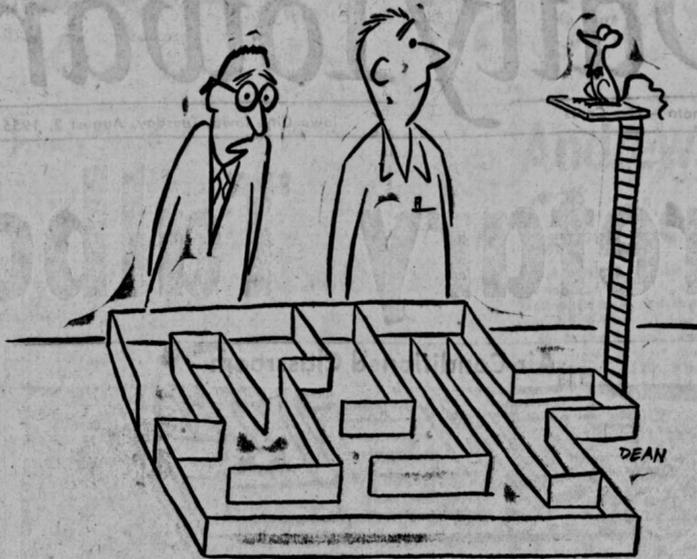

Janice M. Shiffer, 19, Burkley Hotel, Monday filed a $7,500 damage suit against Richard Bartholomew, 28, Hills, in Johnson County District Court.

Miss Shiffer asks payment for injuries allegedly received when a car driven by Bartholomew crashed into a bridge barricade on Highway 69 about two miles south of Story City July 19.

The action was filed by Attorney Emil G. Trot, Miss Shiffer's legal guardian.
Since the accident Bartholomew's parole from the Men's Reformatory at Anamosa has been revoked. He violated the parole when he left Johnson County to go to Story City the night of the accident.

Student Says Writers Show Ignorance in Play Reviews

(Readers are invited to express opinions in letters to the Editor. All letters must include handwritten signatures and addresses — typewritten signatures are not acceptable. Letters become the property of The Daily Iowan. The Daily Iowan reserves the right to shorten, select representative letters when many on the same subject are received, or withhold letters. TO THE EDITOR:

Mr. Liepins' review of "The Marriage of Figaro" in The Daily Iowan was disappointing. This is nothing new. In the last year, to go no further back in the unfortunate history, we have had one reviewer who thought that the University did not have the technical facilities to produce "Julius Caesar," and another who complained of stylized movement in an eighteenth century production.

This sort of ignorance emerges on those rare occasions when the reviews commit themselves to an opinion. Perhaps this accounts for the tragic flaw of those who, for the past three years, have paraded their folly in the critical columns of The Daily Iowan; they hardly ever instance or analyze the virtues or the faults which they are discussing.

For, whether the criticisms of the plays, or operas, are favourable or unfavourable, they are invariably vague. The reviewer confines himself to the most general and God-like judgements: this actor "lacks emotion" or that one "plays his role convincingly." These cliches, even when they stray into the specific, consist of the most surface observations. It requires no great discernment, for example, to divine that "Figaro is called upon to present a wide range of emotions." To further back this up by citing those scenes in which variant emotions are presented is commonplace and patronizing to the reader.

Theoretical inexperience might be forgiven if any of the reviewers possessed the vestiges of a style. Nathan Agate and Shaw can make even the most idiotic judgements palatable by means of a forceful prose. No one expects this sort of review from junior journalists, but their wisdoms should surely be distinguishable from the coverages of a sewing-circle in Strawberry Point.

Most of the anger — or apathy — with the criticisms in The Daily Iowan is not directed at the apprentice police-court reporters who write them, but at the policy which assigns the reviewing of musical and dramatic performances to theatrical bores whose type-writer constantly betrays the fact that they are merely earning their hours. Such a policy is unnecessary. There are students at the University of Iowa who are capable of making original and profound remarks on a play; who are able to substantiate their criticisms — pro or con — of individual performances with a finer analysis of why and where the actor succeeded or failed.

Certainly some more effective method of getting the best reviews can be evolved than that used at the present. Some such plan as the following might serve:

1. Adequate notice should be given through the various colleges of liberal arts that students wishing to review plays should submit a review immediately after the first performance of the school year. For obvious reasons, students from the Dramatic Arts Department would be ineligible.

2. A group of faculty members representing the various colleges of liberal arts should be asked to give independent rating of the reviews. The writer of the best review should then be selected for the reviewer for The Daily Iowan for as long a period as the Department of Journalism should wish. If more than one reviewer is of a high quality, the reviewers might be alternated.

There are obviously flaws in this method of selection, but some such plan is needed if the serious business of theatrical criticism is to be rescued from its present ignominy at this University.

(Editor's Note: In reviewing musical and dramatic productions on the University campus, The Daily Iowan's purpose is to give the impressions of one student who is qualified to do such work.

The intent of the reviews is to give a layman audience one layman's viewpoint in understandable language. They are not designed to be professionally technical critiques.

It would be highly inadvisable for persons unfamiliar with the newspaper headlines and the journalistic style of writing to attempt such work.

At present, The Daily Iowan has two reviewers. Ivars Liepins, who does the music reviews, has studied music in Germany and is an ardent follower of classical music. Stu Hopkins, the play reviewer, has written several reviews for the Chicago American when he was employed on that paper's feature desk and has done considerable reading in the field. Both are majoring in journalism.

Letter-writer A. M. Friedson received his M.A. degree in English from the State University of Iowa last June and is now working on his Ph.D. degree in the same field.)

Politicians Say Lady VP Is Not Impossible

House Votes $45 Million For Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted Monday to authorize $45 million dollars to pay for polio vaccine shots for needy children, but got into a first-class row before the vote.

The quarrel opened with an attack by Rep. John McCormack (D-Mass.), House majority leader, on the Eisenhower administration's handling of the whole Salk vaccine program.

He said it has been "unfortunate if not disgraceful."

"If there has been anything disgraceful about the vaccine program," Rep. Walter Judd (R-Minn.) rejoined, "it is the attempt to play politics with it. Instead of throwing stones, we ought to be giving a medal."

House passage of the bill was on a voice vote.

Rep. Percy Priest (D-Tenn.), pressing for action, said it was imperative that Congress do something before adjournment. He said his bill would take care of the situation for now, and Congress could take another look in January.

The Priest bill would provide three shots of vaccine for an estimated 15 1/2 million children under 20. It would provide a third shot for about 8 1/2 million who are receiving free shots from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The bill would allocate the money according to the number of unvaccinated children in a state and the state's per capita income.

The bill lays down no procedure for selecting the children. It leaves up to the states the methods of distribution through public agencies, private physicians and non-profit organizations.

The Senate has passed a bill to give free vaccine to all children under 20 if the states ask for it, at a cost that could reach 130 million dollars. The Senate and House versions now go to a conference committee for adjustment.

GOODYEAR BOOSTS PRICES

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., blaming increased costs in rubber and other materials, boosted tire prices 3 1/2 per cent Monday on all its passenger, truck, farm and implement, motorcycle and pneumatic industrial tires. Prices on solid industrial tires and on all tubes were raised 6 per cent.

Both Republican and Democratic leaders in Washington agree that there is a real possibility of a woman being nominated as vice-president within the next ten years. Iowa Citizens said that they would be surprised if such action took place.

Johnson County political leaders say that women are reluctant to run for a political office, but are willing to accept an appointed position.

The question was raised because August 26 is the 35th anniversary of the granting of women's suffrage.

Republicans vs. Democrats

William Morrison, county Republican chairman, says that women in the political organization are "very energetic, and have a good understanding of politics."

"Women are the best workers in the political party. We have encouraged women to run for county offices, but they just won't."

Jack White, county Democratic chairman, says, "women have been very active on the county level. They have taken advantage of the opportunity to participate."

He adds that women usually have to attend to affairs at home and do not have time for politics.

"Voters should look to the good candidate," he argues, "whether it is a woman or a man."

Possibility vs. Probability

Mrs. Paul Vermillion, president of the Iowa City League of Women Voters, comments: "It is entirely possible to have a woman nominated for the vice-presidency, but I would be very surprised."

She says it would take time to educate the public and to change the attitude of people who believe that women do not belong in politics.

"The league," she states, "has encouraged women to take office because they have something to contribute."

"We have to overcome the lazy attitude of the public," she adds. "It is up to the individual to change the political picture."

1956 vs. Future

The census in Washington is that a woman nominee is out of the question for next year or even in 1960. But after that a woman might well be nominated on a major party ticket for the second highest post in the nation.

The 84th Congress has a record total of 17 women among its members; about 150 women are serving in judicial posts, and almost one-fourth of all federal government employees are women.

A woman ambassador or cabinet member has been serving almost steadily since President Franklin D. Roosevelt named Frances Perkins Secretary of Labor in 1933.

Second Polio Shots To Be Given Today

First and second graders from Longfellow and University schools will receive their second round shots of anti-polio vaccine today at the Henry Sabin School.

The inoculation program, now in its second day, will provide shots for about 1500 school children by the end of the week.

Monday about 180 children received the shots with little or no objection.

Today's schedule begins at 8 a.m. for children who have finished their first grade at Longfellow. At 8:30 a.m. children who have finished second grade at Longfellow will be vaccinated.

The University school children will receive their shots beginning at 9 a.m.

Dodgers Edge Braves, 4-3, On Logan's Error In 10th

37,771 See Brooks Extend Lead to 14 1/2

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers scored a tainted run in the 10th inning Monday night to squeak by Milwaukee, 4-3, and increase their National League bulge over the Braves to 14 1/2 games before 37,771.

The Dodgers scored their winning run on Junior Gilliam's lead off walk, a single and a grounder which shortstop Johnny Logan bobbled long enough to permit Gilliam to score.

Four Brooklyn pitchers combined to hold the Braves to only four hits. One was Eddie Mathews' 27th home run.

The Braves reached Billy Loes for three singles and scored two runs in the fourth on Billy Bruton's walk, Mathews' single to center, Aaron's bouncer and George Crowe's liner to left.

Mathews then made it 3-0 in the sixth with a drive into the rightfield bleachers.

Lew Burdette lost his touch and his temper in the seventh as the Dodgers knocked him out of the box with four straight singles, a sacrifice on which Lew threw too late to third, and a walk good for three runs and a tie ball game.

Burdette, angered at Lon Warneke's calls behind the plate, gestured at the umpire, who promptly thumbed him out.

Chet Nichols, relieving Burdette, with the bases loaded and no outs, struck out Duke Snider. He then was lifted in favor of lefthander Ernie Johnson, who got the righthanded swinging Roy Campanella to ground into an inning ending double play on just one pitch.

"Nothing serious," was the announcement. "Just a pulled muscle. He'll need some rest."

Kaline Keeps Batting Lead In American

NEW YORK (AP)—Al Kaline and Harvey Kuenn, Detroit's two youthful stars, are in good position to boost the Tigers' fancy record for American League batting championships.

The 20-year-old Kaline and 25-year-old Kuenn are running one-two for the title. With Kaline leading the league with a .352 average and Kuenn at .327, a Detroit player has the possibility to top the American League hitters for the 20th time since the circuit's start in 1901.

George Kell, who won the batting crown in 1949 and was Detroit's last titlist, moved from sixth to third place last week, with .316. Now playing for the Chicago White Sox, the veteran third baseman gained five points before being sidelined with back trouble.

Brooklyn's Roy Campanella regained the National League batting lead, boosting his average eight points to .339. Meanwhile, Richie Ashburn of the Phils, last week's pace setter, fell to second with a .325 mark.

An Appeal

During the past several days, certain areas of Iowa City have developed a shortage of water. These areas include the fringe and higher spots of our community.

The shortage has been caused by two factors:

1. The terrific heat and the excessive demands of water.
2. River conditions at this time are difficult because of low water.

While we have not yet restricted water, we would like to ask you to confine your use of water to just the necessary requirements.

We would like to ask you to refrain from lawn sprinkling and car washing during this emergency.

By this manner of sharing water, those areas now in shortage will be able to have enough for necessary usage.

The Iowa Water Service Company now has under construction a new pumping plant, which, if it had been in operation now, this request would not have been necessary. But, due to strikes and other factors beyond our control, delivery of equipment has been delayed, and the new pumping plant is not yet in operation.

Your Cooperation Will Be Most Appreciated.

Civic Building Issue Sent To Council

The mayor's Civic Building Committee Monday tossed the site selection problem back to the City Council.

The 11-member group recommended to the Council two sites — the Musser parking lot and the old Community Building.

Mayor Leroy S. Mercer said the City Council would probably discuss the Committee report at its August 8 meeting.

The Building Committee, which was appointed by Mercer in June, did not ask that the city government facilities be placed in one building.

Committee Report

Instead, the group's report said that the sites were for the "location of buildings which can house the administration, fire department, police station and a considerable portion of the recreational facilities."

Mercer said the number of buildings and their sites would be selected by the City Council.

Mercer added that he favored placing all city facilities in one building before the Community Building fire of January 28. The fire left the City Recreation Department homeless.

"Now," said Mercer, "I'd have to give it some thought."

Members Disagree

Building committee members had talked of putting city facilities in separate buildings in the first two meetings of the group, which were open.

Some members wanted the recreational offices in a separate building. Others favored building a combination city hall and recreation center.

The two sites recommended were the ones considered by the City Council in 1954, when Iowa Citizens voted down a $300,000 city hall.

The Council adopted the site next to the Community Building after Allan Tester, Planning and Zoning Commission chairman, had argued for the Musser parking lot.

Some councilmen said that the fight over the building's location was felt in the bond issue election.

Vote 8 Per Cent Short

The city hall proposal received only 52 per cent of the vote. It needed 60 per cent for passage.

The city owns the Community Building site, which is bordered by Gilbert, College and Burlington streets.

Miss Dorothy Musser of Tucson, Ariz., owns the parking lot, which is bordered by Gilbert, Washington and Van Buren streets.

The city leases the property under an agreement that runs out November 30. The agreement gives the city an option to buy the lot for $66,000 for use as a city hall site.

Protest Park Use

The Committee report indicated that Iowa City residents did not approve of the use of College Hill Park as a building site.

The report said the park site was "entirely adequate." However, the site was not recommended because of "the very considerable objection."

About 2,700 persons signed petitions against use of the site. The park board and Iowa City Woman's club also spoke against use of the park for a Civic building.

Mercer said the Council would probably confine its selection to the two sites recommended by the Committee.

Said Councilman Clarence Parizek: "I don't know of any others."

Victim, Rescuers Given Oxygen after Accident

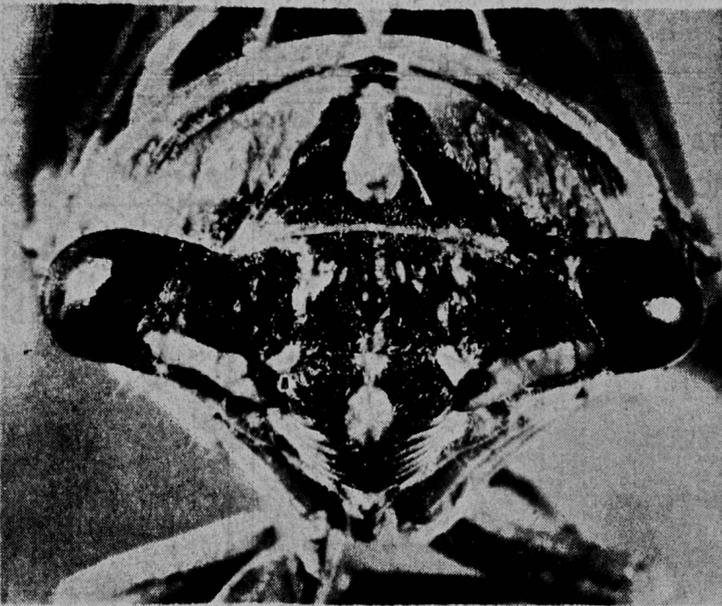

DES MOINES (AP) — Douglas Raper, 12, was hospitalized briefly Monday after he was rescued by two playmates when he apparently stepped into a deep hole while fishing in the Des Moines River.

His cries attracted Jack Wells, 14, and Donald Baker, 16, who got him out. The fire department rescue squad gave oxygen to all three boys.

BABY SUFFOCATES

TAMA (AP) — Marsha Ann Dvorak, four-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dvorak of near Toledo, was found suffocated in her crib Sunday. Coroner Harvey Jones said suffocation probably resulted from mucus which impaired breathing. She was their only child.

Hospital Polio Cases Down 50% From '54

Only half as many polio patients have been admitted to University Hospitals so far this year as compared to the same time last year.

Figures as of July 31 show 31 patients with polio in 1955, whereas there were 62 by July 31, 1954. Seven patients are now in the hospital, one in serious condition.

Whether the Salk vaccine is responsible for the reduction of the polio cases this year cannot be determined yet. The peak of the polio season is usually September and October, and it is still too early to predict whether the total number of cases will be less than previous years, hospital officials said.

2 Million Get Shots

Some two million youngsters in the U.S. are receiving Salk vaccine shots this summer. This figure actually represents little more than one per cent of the U.S. population.

While the disease primarily strikes young children, four out of ten patients treated at University Hospitals in recent years have been 15 years of age or older.

The large percentage of the population unprotected by vaccine, and the increasing numbers of older people stricken with polio have led officials at the Iowa polio-rehabilitation center

Phone Operators Go on Heat Strike

DES MOINES (AP) — Long-distance telephone service was affected here Monday afternoon when 60 of 90 long-distance operators of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company, left work because of the heat.

Other employees were drafted to handle calls, a company spokesman said.

Some of the departing employees said "most of about 500 persons employed on the two floors had left their jobs." The offices on the two floors are not air conditioned.

Frost Hits Brazil's Coffee Plantations

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — They've got an awful lot of frost in Brazil, so your coffee may cost more next year.

Reports from Parana said heavy frosts over the weekend and early Monday may have damaged that state's coffee crop.

Parana is one of Brazil's growing districts. The cold wave—bringing temperatures as low as 14 degrees Fahrenheit in the south—also hit the other areas. But there was no immediate report of frost damage from the other sections.

Definite estimates of the damage in Parana have not yet been made but the Meridional News Agency quoted the mayor of one coffee center as saying that half the plantations in the northern part of the state were destroyed.

Science Aids In Taking Micro-Photos

By HAROLD A. SCHWARTZ

Locusts that look like Martian monsters, a spool of cord that looks like the mooring line of the Queen Elizabeth are some of the unusual pictures made as a part of Prof. Henry L. Dean's course in Scientific Photography given through the Botany Department at the State University of Iowa.

The course, offered only during the summer, serves to instruct the student in the use of the view camera for close-ups and microphotography.

The view camera used in the course magnifies the subject three to four times. Using the microscope for photography, the student is able to blow up the object 200 or more times.

$3,000 in Equipment

In teaching this phase of photography, Dean makes use of more than $3,000 worth of photographic equipment. Though much of it is his own personal equipment, several Speed Graphic cameras have been borrowed from Prof. Ed Mason of the Journalism Department at SU.

Students make use of knowledge gained in this course for making visual aids in teaching and for records of research for these.

"These students are top-notch," said Dean. "They are not here for two hours of credit, but to make this course a tool for their work in all scientific fields."

He explained that darkroom and laboratory are in use from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. "The students put in a great deal more effort than a two-hour course would normally require," he added.

Like a Movie Studio

The laboratory resembles a motion picture studio with floodlights, lamps hanging from booms and placed in virtually every corner of the room. The "actors" are the locusts, roaches, flies, seeds, and plants that are the most frequent subjects of the photography.

The course in scientific photography was first given in 1951. Though the 18 students this year are mostly botany and zoology majors, Dean stated that he has had students from Physical Education, Mathematics, Education, and Journalism Departments.

Dean said that the course would be an aid to photographers in journalism who wanted to broaden their photographic understanding.

The students are now learning the use of the microscope in photographic work. It is used to study the structure of seed and plants. The camera and microscope combined cost about $365.

Dean said that the need for this course has been growing steadily. Since 1951, he has had 75 students studying scientific photography.

"It keeps me busy the whole day," he added. "I'm in the darkroom and laboratory more than my own office."

Dior Gives Word, Shows New 'Y-Line'

PARIS (AP) — Flat chests are finished. Bosoms are back.

That was the big fashion news in Paris Monday after Dior's new Y-line show. Bosoms were also frankly full at Balmain's collection Monday afternoon.

Dior did away with low waists, long jackets, loose waists, little hats and boyish haircuts. In fact, the H-line and the A-line are dead letters.

The new Y tapers from a full but not padded bust to a high, small waist and narrow stemmed skirt. Jackets often have no basques at all, but are more like boleros. Hats gave the head a bulky look.

Balmain, continuing his "pretty lady" line, puts the curves where they belong. Though he fits the waistline, he adds low belts around the hips, and still shows sweater-length tops.

In both houses, shoulders are widened a bit by the cut of the set-in sleeve, but they are not padded.

On the whole, hats have suffered a more revolutionary change than dresses this season. Some of the little ones are still around, but they're overshadowed by the new bulky ones that are like turn-of-the-century toques.

In an interview just before his opening, Dior said "I have had enough of tunics, vests, overcoats and skirts caught on at the hips. I have emphasized the bosom. My shoulders are full and rounded, the real shoulders of a happy woman. I am enchanted that a movement in favor of big hats is under way. They have height and volume and give balance to my new silhouette."

"They bring back dignity to the little faces coiffed in mad-dog style."

Iowa River Mishap Fatal to Local Man

Larry J. Lechty, 51, Iowa City, drowned Saturday night when his outboard motor boat tipped over in the Iowa River about three miles south of town.

Iowa City firemen dragged the river for 90 minutes before recovering the body at 8:45 p.m.

Two persons with Lechty in the boat were rescued by bystanders. Mrs. Curley Abbot was helped to shore by Carl Swails. Lloyd Lehman, the other passenger in the boat, was pulled from the river by Al Vedepo, who had been fishing in a boat near the scene.

Johnson County Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy said it did not appear that the accident was the result of any "capering" with the boat.

Lechty reportedly picked up Lehman and Mrs. Abbot to take them for a ride in his boat.

Services for Lechty will be 9 a.m. Wednesday at St. Mary's Church, with burial in St. Joseph's Cemetery. The rosary will be recited at Hohenschuh Mortuary at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Surviving are his widow, Alma, three sisters, Mrs. Gertrude McMaster, Iowa City, Mrs. Renatta Saylor, Peoria, Ill., and Mrs. Betty Blue San Antonio, Tex.

Outlook Good For Settling Moline Strike

MOLINE, Ill. (AP) — Despite strikes idling more than 30,000 CIO United Auto Workers in the tractor and farm equipment manufacturing industry, prospects for wage settlements looked good Monday.

About 12,500 UAW members went on strike Monday at Deere and company plants in Illinois and Iowa while bargaining efforts between company and union continued.

At East Peoria, Ill., a settlement formula for the strike of 18,000 Caterpillar Tractor company workers who have been off their jobs since Saturday was signed by company and UAW negotiators.

The agreement will be submitted to a ratification vote Tuesday at 2 p.m. (CDT). Although no official confirmation of the terms was available, it was learned reliably that the union won its demand for a union shop, and an 8-cent hourly wage increase which would bring the average pay scale to $2.48.
