Gaza Strip Quiet After Cease-Fire

JERUSALEM (AP)—The bloody Gaza Strip was quiet Friday, but Israel and Egypt observed a UN imposed cease-fire in the tense border area.

An Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman said Friday night there had been no incidents since shortly before midnight Thursday when Egyptian infiltrators blew up a well at Yad Mordechai, an Israeli settlement northeast of the Egyptian-held strip.

The calm followed nine days of fighting in which the estimated casualties reached as high as 61 killed and 91 wounded. It came after Israel announced acceptance of a cease-fire proposed by Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the UN truce supervisory commission.

The Israeli announcement said its troops would abide by the armistice call provided "All attacks by Egyptians in whatever form will cease."

A spokesman for Egypt's Palestine Department said in Cairo that Egyptian forces have been ordered to observe the cease-fire.

The outbreak of violence in the Gaza area, a 6 by 30 mile strip of land along the Mediterranean, came after negotiations between Israel and Egypt on easing tension broke down Aug. 24. Despite Burns' appeals, strongly backed by Britain and the United States, clashes or raids across the border have occurred almost daily since then.

The Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman told newsmen that official circles here observed "with interest" that Egyptian representatives turned up for Thursday's meeting of the UN Mixed Armistice Commission, held in a hut along the border.

The meeting was adjourned until next Monday.

British Say Red Plane Sabotaged

HONG KONG (Saturday) (AP)—British police announced today they are seeking a Chinese for conspiracy to cause the crash of a plane carrying Communist delegates to the Bandung conference last April.

A warrant charging a murder conspiracy was issued here but police said the Chinese had fled May 18 to Formosa, the Nationalist China base.

Communist China at the time charged the plane was sabotaged with a time bomb put aboard here in a mis-fired effort to murder Premier Chou En-lai.

British colonial police after long investigation identified the wanted Chinese as a man who worked as a coolie cleaning man in air liners stopping here.

The aircraft, Kashmir Princess, of the Air India line, came down in the South China Sea on April 11 while enroute to the Asian-African conference sponsored by Indonesia, India, and other nations.

Sixteen of the 19 persons on board lost their lives. Authorities said the Nationalist Chinese officials on Formosa were being asked to return him to Hong Kong for trial.

Believe 12 Dead In Air Crash

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A crippled Air Force C47 crashed and burned Thursday night in a desperate attempt to return to an emergency airstrip in rugged country northwest of here.

The Air Force said the five crew members and seven passengers were believed to have been killed.

Planes flew to the area Friday with rescue squads.

The twin-engine transport crashed about a mile from the remote Skwentna Airstrip after it had developed engine trouble.

The plane was on a 500-mile flight from Anchorage to Nome. The passengers were Air Force personnel.

The plane belonged to the 509th Base Flight Squadron at Elmendorf Air Force Base.

The wild region has numerous peaks close to 4,000 feet in height. It is north of a range rising 8,000 to 9,000 feet.

Viva Peron!

PRESIDENT JUAN PERON'S supporters crowd into the Plaza de Mayo in Buenos Aires to protest Peron's offer to resign as president. Peron-controlled unions called a general strike to show their support for Peron.

Hickey Named to Assistant Dean Post

Dr. Robert G. Hickey, associate professor of surgery at the State University of Iowa, has been named assistant dean for research in the College of Medicine.

The announcement was made by the office of SUI President Virgil M. Hancher following approval of the appointment by the Iowa State Board of Regents.

In the newly created post, Hickey will be responsible each year for the coordination and administration of more than 200 teaching and research grants and gifts and research fellowships in the college of medicine. His duties as assistant dean will be in addition to those of teaching in the department of surgery.

Joined in 1951

Hickey joined the medical staff at SUI in 1951. A 1942 graduate of Cornell University medical college, he interned and served most of his residency at University Hospitals. During his residency, he was a trainee of the National Cancer Institute.

During the past year, the doctor has served as chairman of the committee on research in the American Cancer Society's Iowa division.

Hickey's appointment to the new post brings to three the number of assistant deans serving under Dr. Norman B. Nelson, dean of the College of Medicine.

Ike Arranges Security Talk

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower Friday arranged top secret national security conferences here next week with Vice President Nixon and Adm. Arthur W. Radford.

Nixon will fly from Washington for a session with the President at the Summer White House Monday, Labor Day.

Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Eisenhower's top military adviser, will meet with the chief executive next Friday.

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, declined to shed any light on the specific reason for the conferences.

He did say, however, that national security matters would be discussed at both meetings — and that the discussions would deal with the same security problems.

Power Black Out Hits Omaha Plants

OMAHA (AP)—Fire in a generating plant cut off power to South Omaha for about 12 hours Friday idling thousands of packinghouse workers employed by three big plants.

Repair crews finally restored power at mid-afternoon after slicing cables to by-pass the damaged power station switch house.

A temporary restoration during the forenoon lasted only an hour and a half.

Hit by the power blackout were the big packing plants of Swift, Cudahy and Armour. They also lost their supply of steam supplied by the utility, the Omaha Public Power District.

An area 11 by 22 blocks was affected including the bustling South Omaha business district.

Will Impose Order at Any Price: Peron

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Juan D. Peron warned his political foes Friday they are "in danger of drowning themselves." He declared his government will impose order at any price on the country.

Speaking to a delegation of Peronist Party workers from Cordoba Province, the President said his foes had failed to grasp his recent offer for pacification, which he termed "their only plank for salvation."

"We will repress efficiently every act of violence which they wish to commit and we will do it in a definite and absolute form," he declared.

The Cordoba labor leaders, legislators and party officials attending the ceremony at Government House proclaimed to Peron their unconditional loyalty.

Replying to their declaration, Peron did not mention the state of siege in Buenos Aires which Congress approved Thursday night and sent to the President for his signature.

The bill was in answer to demands by Peron for emergency powers to "annihilate" his enemies.

The restrictions apply only to the capital city's 3 1/2 million people.

Peronist spokesmen said last night it would last "as long as necessary — until we eliminate the last danger of troublemakers."

The chief effect of the measure apparently will be psychological since Peron already held the special powers under a "state of internal war," imposed on the country following an abortive revolt in 1951.

Both "states" suspend constitutional guarantees to permit the government to hold anyone indefinitely without trial and deny them the right of habeas corpus.

No Iowan Tuesday

The Daily Iowan will omit publication Tuesday to allow employees and staff to observe Labor Day. The Iowan will resume publication on Wednesday.

American Motors Signs Layoff Pay Plan Pact

400 Sign for Pharmacology Conference

Early registrations Friday climbed above the 400 mark for the national pharmacology meeting which will begin Sunday night at the State University of Iowa's College of Medicine.

The event will be the annual fall conference of the American Society for Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics (AS-PET). Dr. E. G. Gross, professor and head of the Department of Pharmacology at SUI, is president of the national group.

Scientists from nearly every state in the nation are scheduled to attend.

The Sunday evening and Monday portions of the program will be devoted to a symposium on teaching, with the scientific sessions beginning Tuesday morning and continuing through Thursday noon. Papers presented by participants will describe much of the major drug research being conducted in the nation at the present time.

Pharmacologists are the scientists through whose laboratories today's new drugs must pass before being placed on the market for use in the treatment of disease. The scientists subject the drugs to intensive studies to determine the effects which they produce other than those intended, and to determine whether the drugs are safe.

The department of pharmacology at SUI provides instruction and training in that particular area of science for medical students and for graduate students who major in pharmacology.

Members of the faculty also conduct and direct research on many of the new drugs which are being produced today.

No Promises On Unification Of Germany

BOCHUM, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, in a final speech before his trip to Moscow next week, said Friday night the struggle between Western and Communist ideologies "will continue for decades until we have finally achieved victory."

Referring to his forthcoming negotiations with Soviet leaders, Adenauer said the question of German unification would be "merely discussed."

He said it was the obligation of the victor powers to restore German unity and that therefore no decision could be reached in Moscow.

His remarks followed earlier warnings by the Bonn government to the German people not to attach too much hope to the Moscow talks.

Adenauer said the Moscow talks should be "regarded in context" with the Geneva Big Four parley and the October conference of the foreign ministers.

The Chancellor addressed more than 10,000 at a meeting of his Christian Democratic party in this industrial Ruhr center.

His speech came exactly one week before the negotiations on German unity, the release of German war prisoners, and the establishment of diplomatic, cultural and trade relations with Russia were scheduled to begin.

He expressed the "urgent and heartfelt hope" that the Soviet Union will "solve in a human way" the problem of the thousands of German prisoners of war still held in Russia.

ARGUMENT

UDINE, Italy (AP)—Arturo Dalla Nese, 55, was shot dead and his wife was wounded Friday by an angered neighbor. Police said Sebastiano Galvagno, 75, fired the fatal shots following an argument over who should close the front door of their apartment house.

Her Son Comes Home

MRS. MAMIE BRADLEY, supported by clergymen, sobs hysterically as the basket of her son Emmett Till, 14, arrives in Chicago from Greenwood, Miss. The boy was kidnaped and found in the Tallahatchie River near Greenwood with a bullet in his head. He had allegedly whistled at a white woman before he was taken from his uncle's home. Two white men have been charged with the murder.

Saved Emperor from Execution: MacArthur

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur said Friday he personally saved the Emperor of Japan from trial and execution as a World War II criminal.

Emperor Hirohito's name, MacArthur said, was on the list of accused war criminals drawn up by "some countries other than the United States." Hirohito, MacArthur added, was willing to assume full responsibility for Japan's conduct in World War II.

The historic footnote to post-war history came on the 10th anniversary of Japan's surrender.

Ten years ago Friday, on the deck of the battleship Missouri, MacArthur accepted the surrender of Japan from Japanese Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu.

Meet as Friends

Friday the two men met again, this time as friends, conscious of the past and interested in the future. Said MacArthur to Shigemitsu:

"Glad to see you. It has been a long time. Glad to see you."

MacArthur shook hands with his old enemy, who himself was once imprisoned as a war criminal.

Shigemitsu, who arrived Thursday for a four-day visit, called upon MacArthur in the Waldorf Towers. They talked together in private for about an hour, after posing for photographers.

One of those present recounted MacArthur's words after the conference broke up.

War Responsibilities

Said MacArthur: "Much to my surprise, the Emperor, himself, first brought up the question of war responsibilities. To my utter astonishment, the Emperor declared, 'I wish to assume full responsibility for every event connected with the prosecution of the war. I assume responsibility for the actions of every military commander and every statesman of Japan. Whatever your judgment is as to what my fate may be, go ahead. I assume all responsibility.'"

When Hirohito's name showed up on the list of accused war criminals, MacArthur continued:

Violent Protest

"I protested violently and my protests were heeded in Washington and finally everywhere. One of my arguments was that as a result of the devotion of the Japanese people to their Emperor and his trial and execution would have necessitated an additional million troops to successfully carry out the occupation of Japan."

Turning to Shigemitsu, Mac-

Arthur told him: "You probably had no intimation that you were going to be one of the accused yourself. I personally was opposed to the war trials, both in Nuernberg and in Tokyo. Their intent, of course, was to establish higher moral standards for the waging of war. I don't think they have succeeded in bringing about those high motives."

Shigemitsu Sentenced

Shigemitsu was sentenced to seven years in prison in 1948. Two years later MacArthur paroled him over the protests of Russia.

The general told Shigemitsu Friday that he believes all military war criminals of World War II now in prison should be released in the custody of their own governments, with future punishment left to those governments.

Ten years ago Friday, MacArthur, then a stern figure in military dress, declared:

"It is my earnest hope . . . that from this solemn occasion a better world shall emerge out of the blood and carnage of the past."

On Friday's anniversary of the surrender, MacArthur, now in civilian clothes, said quietly:

"It has worked out well for both sides."

Shigemitsu, his taut mood of a decade ago replaced by relaxed affability, his top hat and cutaway replaced by a business suit, ventured:

"I didn't think then that I would be here now."

Hoegh Calls Drought Talk

DES MOINES (AP)—Gov. Leo Hoegh Friday called a drought conference for Sept. 17 at Henderson in Mills County. He also asked the federal government to release low quality corn for hard pressed farmers in various parts of the state.

The governor said farmers in "southwest Iowa and elsewhere" are being invited to appear and testify on both the effects of dry weather and on the farm price situation.

The governor said he has asked the U.S. Agriculture Department to release No. 4 and No. 5 corn to farmers hit by the dry weather "at a price they can pay, to take care of their livestock."

Union Allows Year To Put Plan in Effect

DETROIT (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers extended their layoff pay plan to the first of the automobile industry's "Little Three" Friday. But the union gave American Motors corporation an extra year to put it into effect.

The "Big Three" — Chrysler corporation, which accepted the plan Thursday; General Motors corporation and Ford Motor company — agreed to start building multimillion-dollar trust funds at contract signing to finance layoff pay.

American Motors doesn't have to start its trust fund building until Sept. 15, 1956, and benefits from it will not become available until a year after that. Workers for the "Big Three" become eligible next June 1 for pay during layoffs.

General Walkout

As in the three agreements before it, the American Motors-UAW pact followed quickly on the heels of a general walkout. No strike lasted more than a few hours.

American Motors builds Nash and Hudson automobiles and its Kelvinator division makes home appliances. It has seven plants in Michigan, Wisconsin and California and its full work force numbers 24,000.

The AMC contract, like the others, runs for three years.

Studebaker-Packard corporation, whose 9,000 Studebaker workers in Indiana are on strike, and Kaiser Motors corporation, with American Motors, make up the so-called "Little Three." Together they have built 5 per cent of this year's record auto output.

First Strike

UAW workers in Studebaker's South Bend plants refused to extend their contract and walked out Thursday in the first official strike against the company since its wagon-making days in the 1880s. Unionists voted against day-to-day extension recommended by their leaders.

Workers at both Studebaker and Kaiser agreed last year to downward contract adjustments to make their firms, as they put it, "competitive" with the remainder of the industry.

The Packard division contract with the UAW doesn't expire until Sept. 30. The contracts of both divisions were written, as were others in the industry, five years ago.

Kaiser Negotiations

The UAW-Kaiser contract expired June 1, but has been extended on a day-to-day basis. Company officials said there have been "exploratory talks," but no real negotiations as yet.

UAW Vice-President Leonard Woodcock said the union agreed to the year's delay in the layoff plan at American Motors to make the firm "a permanent success in the auto industry" and to win pensions for old-time Hudson Motor Car employees displaced when American Motors moved all auto assembly to Wisconsin.

Edward L. Cushman, American Motors vice president, said his company had been paying more than the going rates in the auto industry and had asked the union "to bargain on the economic facts of American Motors Corporation."

Higher Than Big 3

Cushman estimated AMC pay averaged 3 cents hourly more than the $2.10 prevailing in the Big Three before the new contracts were signed.

Woodcock used Cushman's exact words regarding the bargaining and estimated the new contract would be worth 14 cents an hour in its first year. The UAW estimated its Big Three contracts would be worth more than 20 cents hourly in the first year.

The new AMC agreement carries a flat wage boost of 6 to 8 cents an hour for all workers, and will add an additional 6 cents in both 1956 and 1957.

The AMC contract also covers 500 office workers, who will receive a 3 per cent pay increase with a minimum of $10.38 a month.

Never Stronger—

In rapid succession during the past two days, President Juan D. Peron of Argentina has passed from the position of offering to resign to a position of a dictator with full police powers.

Early Wednesday Peron announced that he would resign if it would help settle things down in Argentina.

After this announcement, the country's Central Labor Federation, a strong backer of Peron, called a general strike to protest the offer.

In the face of this "overwhelming" protest, Peron withdrew his offer later Wednesday night.

Thursday the Peronist majority in the Argentine Congress declared a state of siege and placed the country under martial law.

Open war was declared to "annihilate and crush" his enemies. Argentina's dictator had official power to overcome those groups which had opposed him in earlier political unrest this year.

This chain of events was most unusual. Obviously Peron is trying to impress somebody but just whom is not clear.

The whole incident appears to have been a carefully staged demonstration of his political strength. Whether the demonstration was considered necessary because of rising opposition, or merely to confirm his recovery from the June 16 revolt is not clear.

Peron's hold on the Argentine government was shaky for a time after the naval revolt and there have been some indications of unrest since.

However, Peron demonstrated at that time that he has control of the army — the place where control really counts in Argentina.

Possibly the demonstration was aimed at the Church — a fairly powerful force in Argentina. However Peron has successfully subjugated it in the past and with his control of the military should be able to do so again.

There is no real reason for Peron to try to impress the Argentine public in general. The public as a whole is accustomed to government by cliques and usually remains either aloof or apathetic.

Peron may be using the demonstration as a springboard for a demand for his continuance in office. Certainly the whole incident has been carefully planned and he is not staging it for the sake of a demonstration alone.

Probably the first major result will be a concentrated drive on student organizations and supporters of the Church with whom he has been fighting for several months.

It would seem that Peron's control of Argentina has never been more complete.

Department of Agriculture Barters for Strategic Goods

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department issues a report each month showing how much money it has invested in surplus farm products.

In a commodity breakdown, along with the big items like cotton, wheat, corn and butter, appears the word "other," which covers a long list of minor products and "strategic and critical materials."

A late report shows that in addition to about six billion dollars invested in farm surpluses, about 27 million dollars are tied up in strategic and critical materials. National security regulations keep officials from saying what these materials are.

How does the Agriculture Department — concerned as it is primarily with farm programs — get into the act of acquiring and holding strategic materials?

Ore Business
In legislation that has attracted little or no attention, Congress has told the department that it could enter the ore and strategic materials business in a big way if it wanted to. In fact, the agency was directed to do so.

As a consequence, the department hopes to acquire moderately large holdings of such materials within the next year or so.

Officials would be pleased indeed if a year from now they could report that the department's stocks of wheat — which now involve an investment of more than 2½ billion — were way down and its holdings of manganese, chromite, mica and other strategic materials way up.

Barter Power
The department has authority to barter its surplus corn, cotton, butter, cheese, etc., for materials which the Office of Defense Mobilization has said should be stockpiled for an emergency.

The regular stockpiling operations are carried on under the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Presently these materials include antimony, bauxite, beryl, bismuth, cadmium, chromite, cobalt, fluorspar, iodine, lead, magnesium, manganese ore, mica, nickel, platinum, palladium, selenium, silk, tantalite, titanium, tin, and zinc.

Many of these materials are used in making military weapons. Principal sources for many of them are overseas.

Until recently the department had been following the practice of accepting, in barter deals, only those materials the ODM national stockpiling program required and would accept at the moment. The department would turn over farm surpluses for the materials and then sell the latter to the ODM.

Reduce Surpluses
By getting pay from another agency for these materials, the department was able to show disposal of surpluses and to reduce its surplus investment accordingly.

But it recently decided to acquire strategic materials for holding on its own account. It will store them for possible future sale to the stockpiling program or make them available for any other emergency that might warrant their release.

Officials say that exchange of surplus foods for strategic materials often has the advantage of putting American farm products into new overseas areas and providing an opportunity to develop new markets.

They have sought to reassure domestic business by promising that they would avoid disposing of supplies in ways which might disrupt the market.

The department recently announced that for the 10 months ending April 30, it had approved barter contracts involving farm commodities valued at 211 million dollars. Principal commodities moving abroad under these contracts are wheat, corn, flaxseed, grain sorghums, cottonseed oil, barley, oats and cotton.

Ojemann Stresses Importance Of Right Clothes to Children

Most of us agree that clothes don't make the man, but as parents we'll be wise to recognize that a child's clothes can affect his personality development.

From even five or six years on, children are very conscious of what other youngsters wear, and want to look like their classmates, explains Prof. Ralph Ojemann, State University of Iowa Child Welfare Research Station.

So if your child is starting to school this fall and you do not know what types of clothes are generally worn there, you'll be wise to check with the teacher and with other mothers before you buy new school clothes.

Should Not Overdress
Remember it's just as hard on a youngster to be "overdressed" as to have clothes "not as good" as others. One six-year-old resented so strongly having to wear a suit instead of jacket and overalls like all the other boys in his class that he had a major tantrum every morning for a week.

He became so upset when his mother insisted he wear the suit that he could not eat any breakfast before leaving for school, his face tearstained and his steps lagging.

Finally the problem was solved by buying overalls and jacket and putting the suit away for special occasions when the other youngsters would be wearing similar clothes. Johnny didn't look "the little gentleman" which was his mother's ideal, but his appetite returned and he went to school happy because he would "fit in with the kids" and not be called a sissy any more.

Important To Be Alike
Having shoes, caps and hair-do's like those of other children is important from five and six on, too.

Liking the clothes he wears and feeling comfortable and appropriately dressed in them help give a child self-confidence, Ojemann says. Younger children in general have to wear some "hand-me-downs," but the youngsters wearing them will be happier if the clothes have been altered carefully so that they really fit and if they have been changed somewhat to seem new. Clothes too small or too large tend to make a youngster self-conscious as well as uncomfortable.

Sturdy Material
School clothes should be washable and sturdy so that your child can take part in play and such activities as painting and clay modeling without being afraid of getting dirty. If the school suggests that the girls wear jeans or coveralls on days when "gym" is scheduled, your little girl will have more freedom for the climbing and hanging activities likely to be included if you provide these clothes. And she'll have a lot more fun.

Your child will like his clothes better and take more interest in caring for them if he has some part in selecting them, Ojemann suggests. The youngster will also be developing independence and self-reliance in making some decisions of his own.

Let Him Choose
Start before you go shopping by discussing with him what he already has and what he will need. Take his favorite colors into account, too. You can narrow the selection down to three or four garments as you talk to the sales clerk, then let your child make the final choice.

Let your youngsters select such items as socks, hair ribbons, handkerchiefs, and T shirts by themselves. Show them how to match socks to dress or shirt and other accessories. Suggest they plan ahead for special occasions, not only in buying clothes, but in keeping a certain dress or shirt clean to wear.

Encourage Independence
You can encourage independence in smaller youngsters by selecting clothes with few and simple fasteners within easy reach so that they can handle them themselves, Dr. Ojemann points out.

Finally, don't buy too many clothes at a time, and you can cut the number of outgrown hand-me-downs for younger brothers and sisters. If you keep your youngsters' clothes suitable for his activities and similar to those worn by his classmates, you'll get him off to a good start toward a happy school adjustment that will let him make the most of his studies.

AUTOGRAPH PRICE LIST
VENICE (AP)—Mercenary movie fans at the Venice Film festival have made up a price list on celebrity autographs. Those of Russia's Weida Linnen and Italy's curly Sophia Loren bring 300 lire each (about 50 cents) and Margaret Truman, attending as a spectator, 250 lire.

Iowans Top Quota In Cancer Drive

MASON CITY (AP)—Iowans gave $18,212 more than ever before in the Cancer Crusade this year, James E. O'Donohue, state chairman, said Friday.

The Iowa contributions in the American Cancer Society's annual fund drive amounted to $649,559, sending the state over its quota by the second greatest margin of any crusade division in the nation. The quota was not announced.

O'Donohue said Iowa giving amounted to a per capita donation of 25 cents, compared with the national average of 15 cents. He said 95 of the 103 cancer society chapters in Iowa exceeded their quotas.

Interpreting the News—

Russia Not Ready To Meet Western Security Demands

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Russia's reply to Western disarmament proposals, consisting so far of questions, strongly suggest that she is not yet ready to meet what the Allies consider minimum security arrangements.

It appears that her primary objective is to get the Western Powers to give up the nuclear weapons which represent their chief balance against the East's manpower, both mobilized and potential.

The Russian suggestion that she and Red China should both have armed forces numerically the same as those of the United States — one to one-and-a-half million each — falls short of balancing the atomic demands, even considering that the forces of the free world would probably outweigh the other forces of the Red bloc. The trained millions still would be available.

Atomic Ban
Russian tactics at the disarmament discussion also suggests that they want to keep talking about these points, especially the proposal for an atomic ban before the reduction in conventional forces is complete, before going very deeply into security arrangements which the West insists must come before any other action.

Thus, in many respects, in the New York discussions so far, the West has been talking about one thing and the Russians another. Neither side has produced anything new, although the United States has filled out President Eisenhower's suggestions on aerial inspection with some detail, including extension into the field of ground checks.

Doubt Red Intentions
Some doubt was being expressed in United Nations circles that Russia intended to answer the Eisenhower offer directly at the current meeting. That would rob the session of a large part of its importance, which was never considered very great.

It has appeared all along that the subcommittee would refer rather than recommend to the foreign ministers.

Russia's Sobolev referred again Thursday to an early ban on the use of atomic weapons except against aggression, with the definition of aggression to be in the hands of the UN Security Council, where Russia has the veto power. Under such a principle, Russia would be able to turn a limited ban into a complete handcuffing.

Chisox Blast Cleveland, 8-1, Lead Yanks By Half Game

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Chicago White Sox, romping through the offerings of five pitchers with a barrage of 14 hits, maintained their lead in the American League pennant race Friday night with an 8-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians in the opener of an important four-game series.

The triumph kept the Sox a half game ahead of the New York Yankees, who beat the Washington Senators 4-2, and moved Chicago a full game and a half up on the third place Indians.

Southpaw Jack Harshman went the route, limiting the Indians to four well-scattered hits.

The sole run scored off him was at the hands of Ralph Kiner, who led off the sixth inning with his 16th homer of the season.

Minnie Minoso was the outstanding figure in the Chicago offense. His single started a three-run spurge for the Sox in the fourth inning.

He singled in a run in the fifth to put Chicago ahead 4-0 and slammed a two-run homer, his ninth, in the seventh in which the Sox scored four runs.

Yanks Remain In Race, 4-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Whitey Ford's one-hit pitching and Mickey Mantle's three-run homer in the sixth inning gave the New York Yankees a 4-2 victory over Washington Friday.

Ford pitched hitless ball for 4 1/3 innings but was reached for two unearned runs and the hit—a single by Carlos Paula—before the seventh was over.

Billy Martin, just returned from the Army, singled to start the Yanks off in the sixth. Yogi Berra followed with another single and then Mantle, batting lefty against right-handed Bob Porterfield, hit the first pitch for his 36th homer.

Elston Howard's pinch-hit triple in the eighth scored Mantle with an insurance run.

Bosox Defeat Orioles, 8-3

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Boston Red Sox coupled four of their eight hits with an error in the eighth to score four times and beat the Baltimore Orioles 8-3 Friday night.

Sammy White singled home Jackie Jensen, who had also singled, to break a 3-3 tie to start the eighth.

Second baseman Fred Marsh then opened the gates wider by mashing up Grady Hatton's ordinary grounder headed for a double play.

Jim Pierson doubled in another run and Bill Goodman singled home two more to give him three for the night. The rally brought Leo Kiely, who relieved Frank Sullivan in the sixth, his third victory.

It blasted George Zuverink, who also appeared in the sixth, to his 10th defeat in 12 decisions.

Ted Williams hit his 26th homer of the season in the fourth.

Redlegs Tip Braves, 2-0

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Home runs by Ted Kluszewski and Rocky Bridges gave the Cincinnati Redlegs a 2-0 victory over the Milwaukee Braves before 22,105 fans Friday night. Art Fowler pitched six-hit ball to win a tight duel from Warren Spahn.

Kluszewski's homer in the fourth inning boosted his league-leading total to 44. Bridges provided insurance in the seventh when he hit his first round tripper of the season.

Fowler permitted only two Braves to reach second base and none to reach third as he posted his 10th triumph against nine defeats. Spahn suffered his 14th beating against 13 victories. He yielded seven hits in eight innings. Phil Paine hurled a hitless ninth.

Roberts Wins No. 22, 5-3

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Roy Smalley's pinch-hit double drove home two runs in the eighth inning to break a 3-3 tie and give the Philadelphia Phillies a 5-3 victory over the New York Giants Friday night in their battle for third place in the National League.

Trailing 3-1 as they came to bat in the last of the eighth, the Phillies socked Windy McCall for three doubles and a triple to give Robin Roberts his 22nd victory against 10 defeats.

The victory gave the third place Phillies a two game bulge over the fourth place Giants.

Granny Hamner flied out to open the Phillies' eighth. Del Ennis doubled. Willie Jones struck out but Stan Lopata tripled, scoring Ennis. Jim Greengrass then doubled to score Lopata.

Andy Seminick was passed intentionally to get at Roberts, but manager Mayo Smith sent Smalley in to bat.

Homer Wins For Bums, 2-0

BROOKLYN (AP) — Duke Snider's 41st home run of the season, a two-run clout in the sixth inning, broke up a brilliant pitching duel between Brooklyn's Karl Spooner and Pittsburgh's Dick Hall Friday night as the Dodgers defeated the Pirates 2-0.

Through the first five innings, Spooner and Hall, the converted outfielder, gave up just two hits apiece. Then, with two out in the sixth, Peeewe Reese reached Hall for a single and Snider followed with his homer.

Banks Sets Homer Record; Cubs Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Ernie Banks hit his 40th homer to become the all-time homer-hitting champion among major league shortstops as the Chicago Cubs crushed the St. Louis Cardinals 12-2 Friday.

Banks, a native of Dallas, Tex., and playing his second full season in the majors, broke Vern Stephens' mark of 39. Stephens set his record in 1949 as a member of the Boston Red Sox.

Banks connected during the Chicagoans' eight-run second inning.

Gorman Halts Detroit Rally

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Tommy Gorman stopped a promising Detroit rally Friday night and the Kansas City Athletics edged the Tigers, 7-6, despite home runs by Al Kaline and Harvey Kuenn.

Gorman came on in the eighth after Kuenn hit a three-run blast over the left field fence off Art Ceccarelli and brought the Tigers within a run of the A's.

Gorman got Bill Tuttle on a tap back to the mound and, after Kaline socked a single into center for his third hit, struck out Jack Phillips to end the inning.

Gorman had to pitch his way out of trouble again in the ninth. Earl Torgeson hit a pinch double with one out but Gorman struck out Frank House and got Jimmy Delson on an infield hopper to end the game.

No Rematch—Swaps Must Have Surgery

CHICAGO (AP) — Any dreams among the thoroughbred horse racing set of a "rubber match" meeting between Nashua and Swaps this year were dispelled Friday when Swaps' owner, Rex Ellsworth, announced that his 3-year-old colt must undergo a foot operation.

Ellsworth said Swaps will be forced out of competition for at least three months and that he will try to have the best chestnut ready for the Santa Anita meeting in California in January.

"But even that is only a probability," he added. "We will have to see how his foot responds to treatment."

The decision to operate kayoed eastern hopes that Swaps and Nashua possibly would tangle again in the $100,000 Sysonby Stakes Sept. 24 at Belmont.

Nashua handed Swaps his first defeat in nine starts this year by 6 1/2 lengths in Wednesday's $100,000 match race at Washington Park.

Swaps, who had beaten Nashua by 1 1/2 lengths in the Kentucky Derby, was considered sound before the 1 1/4-mile duel.

But 24 hours after the race, Ellsworth and trainer Meshach Tenney said that Swaps had an injured right front foot. It was thought to have occurred, or to have been aggravated, soon after the two colts broke from the starting gate.

Ellsworth said Swaps had swerved out slightly just after the start and that the horse never had done that before.

Swaps injured the foot early in his sophomore career, prior to any of his major 1955 races, and Tenney had protected the softness by placing a piece of leather under the foot before nailing on a new shoe.

Amateur Scores 2 Aces in ICO

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Sam Snead and Mike Souchak carved out five-under-par 66s Friday to share the first round lead in the $20,000 Insurance City Open (ICO) Golf Tournament, but they played second fiddle to an amateur who scored two amazing holes-in-one.

Bill Whedon, of Farmington, Conn., set what must be a record for a major tournament with aces on the fifth and ninth holes. PGA tournament director Pat O'Brien said he had never heard of anyone scoring two holes-in-one in one round of a major tournament before.

The young amateur, who wound up with a 36-39-75, used a five iron on the 168-yard fifth. He holed his second ace with a No. 3 iron on the 208-yard ninth.

Later in the day, Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif., scored the third hole-in-one of the tournament with a No. 5 iron on the 164-yard 13th hole. Littler, who shot a 35-34-69, finished in a three-way tie for 12th place.

Snead, the veteran from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who is out to nail down a U.S. Ryder Cup team berth, was off to a remarkable start with an eagle duce on the 336-yard first hole. He clouted his tee shot almost 300 yards and holed out with a wedge.

Sam added four birdies for his 31-35-66, but took a bogey five on the final hole.

Art Wall Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa., shot a 32-35-67 over the Wethersfield Country Club course to land in third place.

Whedon, 28, said his feat left him "elated but in a daze."

He saw only one of his aces, at the fifth hole. A morning mist hid the ninth green. Neither caddies nor players saw it go into the cup.

"The pin at the fifth hole was leaning to the left luckily," he said, "otherwise the ball might have struck it and glanced away. I can't remember what anyone said, but there was a lot of excitement."

NO RELIEF! Pitcher John Taylor of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1904 hurled 352 consecutive innings without relief.

Charles Comiskey Criticizes Lane

CHICAGO (AP) — The $500 fine leveled against General Manager Frankie Lane by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick reportedly touched off a torrent of reaction Friday in the Comiskey family, owner of the pennant-minded Chicago White Sox.

Lane was called to Frick's New York office Thursday and fined $500 for what the commissioner termed "unbecoming conduct" during a game with the Boston Red Sox in Comiskey Park Tuesday night.

Lane was accused of using profane language when he went to the box of Will Harridge, American League president, in the seventh inning.

Aimed At Hubbard Lane said his remarks were aimed at Cal Hubbard, chief of the league's umpires who was sitting in Harridge's box.

Irritated Archie Ends Interviews NORTH ADAMS, Mass. (AP) — Challenger Archie Moore, growing more irritable from concentrated training, Friday banned interviews during his rest periods.

"No more interviews, pictures, television, or radio are to be taken while I'm resting," snapped the light heavyweight champion.

"I'll be pleased to meet everyone at Glover's Bowl where I do my boxing but from now on, when I'm supposed to be resting, I don't want to break it up with press interviews."

"I want to rest. I'm training for the fight of my life with Rocky Marciano on Sept. 20 and I want to be set for it."

Moore boxed four rounds Friday, concentrating first on defense and then on offense.

Lane Apologizes "He's a very excitable man, as everyone knows. He wants to win this pennant very badly and that's probably what caused him to explode."

"I think too much has been made about this whole affair," she said.

Meanwhile, Lane, when he arrived in Cleveland, said he had carried out all terms of his reprimand.

"I called Mr. Harridge," he said. "And I told him that I apologize to him, any members of his party who heard me and all fans within hearing distance. Mr. Harridge said: 'Then forget it!'"

Supreme Court Hearing Set—

Appeal Lone Tree Reorganization Decision

The injunction ordered Wednesday by District Judge James P. Gaffney to block a school reorganization election in the Lone Tree area has been appealed to the Iowa Supreme Court.

Justice Robert L. Larson of the Supreme Court set 3 p.m. Wednesday for a hearing on the application to dissolve Judge Gaffney's injunction.

Gaffney issued the injunction against the election — scheduled for Sept. 13 — because hearings on civil suits seeking to block the election are scheduled for Sept. 20 at 9 a.m., after the election.

The hearing on the application will be held in the practice courtroom of the State University of Iowa College of Law.

Justice G. K. Thompson, Cedar Rapids, will join Larson on the bench at the hearing.

The appeal was filed Friday on behalf of the Lone Tree school board. Residents of the area to be affected in the proposed school merger prompted the injunction action against the county board and county superintendent of schools.

The areas involved in the proposed reorganization are the Lone Tree independent district, and parts of Fremont, Lincoln and Pleasant Valley townships.

Should the two Supreme Court justices grant the stay order sought the effect will be to nullify Judge Gaffney's injunction and permit the election.

Gaffney's injunction order forbids County Supt. of Schools Frank J. Snider and the County Board of Education from proceeding with plans for the election.

Snider had set the election date last Friday following a county board decision overruling objections to the proposed reorganization.

Food Heiress Death Called 'Homicide'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Food store heiress Doris Jean Silver Oestreich died of an unsuccessful abortion, Medical Examiner Dr. Melville T. Aston said Friday, and he urged the district attorney to conduct an exhaustive investigation to find "the perpetrators of this homicide."

Dr. Aston, after a full day's inquest which heard 10 witnesses, said the 22-year-old Mrs. Oestreich was "pregnant... about six to seven weeks."

The attractive red-haired socialite of suburban Melrose Park had eloped June 24 to Folkston, Ga., after a story book romance with a handsome Miami Beach, Fla., motorcycle policeman, Earl Oestreich.

Death 'Not Accident'
The medical examiner said flatly that Mrs. Oestreich, who died in a strange North Philadelphia apartment less than an hour after she arrived there on the evening of August 24, had not died "by any accident, nor was she a suicide."

Witnesses earlier had testified that the young woman had complained of not feeling well and that her chest hurt, while she was reportedly sitting in the living room of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schwartz, who claimed that they were acquainted with the dead girl's mother.

Bernard Bryman, attorney for the medical examiner, said in his summation that "the essential witness, the cornerstone witness, Gertrude Silver, the mother of the girl, is missing, and I believe that she can tell us what happened" the night of the girl's death.

Mrs. Silver Subpoenaed
Mrs. Silver, who was subpoenaed, was reported by her physicians to be confined to her bedroom in what they termed "bereavement shock."

The dead girl's husband, Earl, attended the inquest but was not called upon to testify.

Bryman said that investigators from his office, the district attorney, and the police homicide division have been unable to account for three hours of time — between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. — on the day Mrs. Oestreich died.

Other Developments
Other developments in the mystery surrounding the death of the food store heiress were:

1. Police have been unable to find the clothing the deceased wore the night she died.

2. The girl, with her parents, had sought medical help the day she died to halt the reported pregnant condition.

3. The deceased, with her mother, made what was described as an "unexpected visit" to a North Philadelphia apartment late on the night of August 24 — and died there less than an hour later.

4. "Pressure" was exerted to prevent the medical examiner's office from conducting an autopsy as to cause of death.

Toy Soldiers Return

TOY SOLDIERS that have been missing since 1945 from a museum at Hersbruck, Germany, have turned up at the National Gallery of Art in Washington. The 423 tin figures were recovered by the United States government from an individual in Texas. About 50,000 of the figures, ranging from Teutonic swordsmen in bearskins to World War I machine-gunners were taken from the Hersbruck museum at the end of World War II.

Three More Greenlease Bills Found

CHICAGO (AP) — The hunt for bills from the big bundle of missing Greenlease ransom cash was renewed Friday after three more of the bills were found.

Donald Hostetter, FBI chief in Chicago, announced that three $20 bills found Wednesday had been identified positively as ransom currency.

Thus far, seven pieces of currency — all $20 bills — have been retrieved in the Midwest. They formed part of the $303,720 in $10 and $20 bills that has been missing two years.

A woman clerk in the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago spotted one of the bills Wednesday. Two others were retrieved in the bank later the same day. Federal reserve employees and FBI agents were assigned to a thorough check of currency at the bank.

Hostetter suggested that any citizens who come across any of the ransom money notify the local police or the FBI.

For identification purposes, the FBI has distributed lists of the missing bills to banks and other firms which handle large amounts of money.

Robert C. Greenlease, wealthy Kansas City auto dealer, paid $600,000 ransom for his kidnapped son in September 1953. The boy, Bobby, 6, was slain. Carl Austin Hall and Bonnie Heady were executed for the crime.

Hall, before his death, said he had almost all the ransom money when he was arrested Oct. 6, 1953, in St. Louis, but less than half of it was recovered from his luggage.

The two policemen who arrested Hall — Lt. Louis Shoulters and Elmer Dolan — are serving prison terms for lying about their handling of Hall's baggage.

Marine's Plight Result Of 'Weekend Wedding'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Marine who tried to get out of a "weekend marriage" by sending his wife an official-appearing notification of his death was cleared of a forgery charge Friday. But he is still stuck with another rap.

The U. S. Court of Military Appeals voted 3-0 to throw out the forgery conviction of Marine Pfc. Lawrence O. Strand Jr., 22, of Santa Clara, Calif.

But it upheld his conviction by court-martial of a charge of using the mails to defraud.

Chief Judge Robert E. Quinn, writing the court's opinion, observed that even though Strand told his wife of 10 days' standing that he had been killed in an auto accident, the letter was not a forgery since her legal rights were not damaged.

'Weekend Marriage'
Quinn's 18-page opinion, somewhat tongue in cheek at spots, started out this way:

"This is a strange case for the United States Court of Military Appeals. Primarily it concerns two young people who, with sufficient ceremony but with too little thought, rushed into a 'weekend marriage.'"

The "two young people" are Strand and his wife, Patricia, whom he married at Reno, Nev., Jan. 23, 1954.

Judge Quinn noted that Cpl. J. Highley, a friend of Strand, was to be married at Reno on the day in question. And, he added:

Girl Friend
"The accused Strand was to act as best man. A girl friend of his was to complete the bridal party. However, she got 'fouled up' on the date and was not available. At the 'last minute' the accused telephoned Patricia, a girl whom he knew for about four months.

"Patricia knew the accused only as 'Lon.' Nevertheless, she persuaded him to propose marriage. He did, and she accepted." Strand had misgivings, Judge

Quinn wrote, but still he and Patricia were married at a double ceremony, Strand using the name Robert D. Lonon.

Ten days later, Strand was ordered transferred to Pensacola, Fla., and he addressed the following message to Patricia at her home in Daly City, Calif.:

Message
Encl: 1 marriage certificate. We are sorry to inform you of the death of your husband Pfc. Robert D. Lonon. His demise was the result of an automobile accident on or about 1100 Tuesday 2, February 1954, in San Luis Obispo. We did not know of his marital status until above enclosure along with your address was found among his effects, therefore the government can make no retritions.

The letter was signed, "D. S. Ramsey Jr., Major, USMC, Legal Officer."

Judge Quinn noted: "It is almost superfluous to note that D. S. Ramsey, the purported author of the letter, is not a Marine Corps officer. That name is that of another girl friend of the accused."

Court Erred
It was this letter which the government used as its springboard for a forgery charge.

But Judge Quinn said the court-martial erred in convicting Strand of this charge since the letter in no way changed Patricia's legal rights. He put it this way:

"Undeniably, the fabrication of the letter was reprehensible, and the accused's conduct toward his wife was base and despicable; but it was not an instrument of apparent legal efficacy."

The court-martial had fixed Strand's sentence at 10 months, which was later reduced to nine months. The appeals court ordered the case back to the Navy's legal branch for "redetermination of an appropriate sentence."

3-Year GAW Plan Given A-C Workers

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Agreement on a three-year contract providing for a full union shop along with a wage and welfare package estimated to be worth 24 cents an hour the first year was announced Friday by the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company and the CIO United Auto Workers.

The pact, which covers 17,500 production workers in the six A-C plants represented by the UAW, includes what a union spokesman called "the best guaranteed annual wage plan ever negotiated by our union."

Douglas Fraser, administrative assistant to UAW President Walter Reuther, headed the union negotiating committee which attained the first master contract with Allis. He estimated the value of the package, which includes an immediate wage boost of at least 10 cents hourly for all workers, to be worth 24 cents an hour the first year. Six-cent hourly increases are provided annually.

The agreement was reached with the help of Dr. Nathan Feinsinger, University of Wisconsin law professor and labor relation expert, who was asked to participate as a private citizen rather than as an official mediator.

Feinsinger himself, who joined the negotiations Monday, declared that the successful experiment might well set a pattern for private settlement of labor disputes without government intervention in the future.

Resumed Production

It was the invitation to Feinsinger that brought thousands of Allis-Chalmers workers back to work last week after the strike deadline was reached Aug. 23. Plants at West Allis and La Crosse, Wis., Gadsden, Ala., and Pittsburgh resumed production.

Under the layoff benefit plan hailed by Fraser, 5 cents per hour per employe will be paid by the company, to provide for payments of 65 per cent of take home pay for 26 weeks during layoffs. This will include state unemployment compensation. The Ford and General Motors layoff plans provide 65 per cent of take home pay for 4 weeks, then 60 per cent for 22 weeks.

Other Provisions

Under the A-C agreement, an employe also would draw unemployment compensation during his layoff and then collect a lump sum payment from the system upon exhaustion of state benefits or his return to work.

Other provisions of the new contract, which will be effective upon ratification and signature, include adding of Christmas Eve to the present list of six paid holidays, additional vacation time to those with less than 15 years service, and improvement of pension, health and hospital benefit plans.

The present wage scale at A-C ranges, the firm says, from $1.42 to $2.47 an hour, plus a 5 cent cost of living bonus.

Local Paper Boy Has $2.50 Stolen

Iowa City police reported Friday the theft of $2.50 from an 11-year-old Press-Citizen paper boy.

The money, in a cloth sack on the boy's bicycle, was taken while John Keller was making a collection in Parklawn, married student housing unit.

John saw a boy about his age take the money sack as he came from the building.

A TEACHER and a girl were killed when this bus crashed through a barrier near the Lyons railway station in Paris. The front of the bus, which was transporting a group of school children, hangs over the street below. Nine other children and a teacher were injured.

Two More Companies Grant Concessions for Layoff Pay

The Associated Press

Two big strikes were settled Friday, one was postponed and violence flared in still another.

The American Motors Corp., maker of Nash and Hudson motor cars, and the CIO United Auto Workers agreed Friday on a layoff pay plan similar to that accepted in other segments of the auto industry this summer. The company has seven plants in Michigan, Wisconsin and California and its full work force numbers 24,000. The strike lasted a mere eight hours.

At Milwaukee, the UAW and Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co. also agreed on a layoff pay plan. This one guarantees laid-off workers 65 per cent of their normal take-home pay for up to 26 weeks. The plans usually guarantee 65 per cent for the first four weeks of idleness and 60 per cent for the following 22 weeks. The farm equipment firm's 17,500 employes in five states struck last month.

In New York, the CIO Transport Workers Union postponed its strike of 35,000 non-operating employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad after President Eisenhower Thursday set up an emergency fact-finding board. The transport workers want higher wages and shorter hours.

There was a show of violence as negotiations were disrupted between the UAW and the Bendix Corp., a major supplier to the auto and aviation industries. Some 20,000 Bendix workers in five states struck six days ago. The union said it turned down an offer from the company which offered no "effective layoff plan."

Three persons were arrested and one man was hurt at Bendix radio division plants in Baltimore. Charles Schmidt, general foreman of one plant, was cut under the eye when police said a striker jumped into his car as it was going through the plant gate.
