Mostly fair and warm today. Fair and mild to-night. Sunday partly cloudy, little change in temperature.

Rebel Forces Seize South Argentina

Fierce Battles Rage; Plan Attack on Capital

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Rebel armed forces battling to destroy President Juan Peron claimed control of all south Argentina and strategic Cordoba Province Friday night. Cordoba, adjoining Buenos Aires Province, may be the key victory.

Two naval bases and two important cities were reported in rebel hands.

BULLETIN
BUENOS AIRES (Saturday)—Unofficial reports early today said rebel forces gave up their battle to hold the Rio Santiago Naval Base and surrendered shortly before Friday midnight.

West Pledged German Faith By Adenauer

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer solemnly pledged Friday that West Germany will remain "completely faithful" to the West after it sets up diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union.

"We have not swerved from our goals," the 79-year-old statesman told his first news conference since returning from the crucial talks with Soviet leaders in Moscow.

He agreed there to establish Bonn-Moscow diplomatic ties in return for a Soviet pledge to release thousands of German war prisoners held in Russia.

"We made clear in Moscow that our relations to the West will be fully undisturbed by diplomatic ties to the Soviet Union," Adenauer said.

As the Russians pressed their campaign to win recognition of Communist East Germany as a sovereign state, Adenauer lashed the East regime as "just another Soviet satellite."

He served notice he will refuse to recognize the East German government as the spokesman for the 18 million Germans under its control or as an equal at the forthcoming Big Four conference in Geneva.

The pledge by Russia to release the 9,626 convicted "war criminals" and other Germans who may be found there represented "a great human success," he said.

Stoutly defending his decision to exchange ambassadors with Moscow, Adenauer said:

"These relations will help ease world tensions. We must remember that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the West European Union nations have diplomatic relations with the Russians. The Soviet Union is a great state and it cannot be ignored. I believe we negotiated correctly."

Rebel broadcasts have announced plans for an air-supported march on Buenos Aires, where Peron has held the office of chief executive nine years.

The Peron government radio has declared the rebellion is led by Brig. Gen. Dalmiro Videla Balaguer. He was accused with four subordinates eight days ago of plotting a rebellion at the Rio Cuarto army base, 350 miles west of Buenos Aires. A report last week that he had been arrested appeared to be erroneous.

Furious Battle
Reports reaching Buenos Aires in mid-evening said a furious battle was being waged at the Rio Santiago naval base near Eva Peron city.

The reports said Peron forces launched an attack at 8:30 p.m. and pushed the rebels back into the base proper with heavy artillery fire.

Two anti-Argentine destroyers battled pro-Peron air force planes Friday morning near Buenos Aires, then steamed 125 miles to Montevideo, capital of neighboring Uruguay.

5 Dead
The ships arrived Friday night in Montevideo with 5 dead and 32 wounded. The destroyer Cervantes with 175 crewmen was interned by Uruguayan authorities. The destroyer Rioja transferred its dead and wounded to a Uruguayan tug and steamed away.

The rebels are a regrouping and augmenting of the armed forces which launched the June 16 naval-air revolt that failed.

Fleet in Combat
The rebels declared the Argentine fleet is already steaming on this capital in combat formation.

The Peron government struck back with loyal troops and warplanes. Bombers backed an army division in an attack on the rebellious Rio Santiago naval base and fighters sped against rebel sailors at Puerto Belgrano. A pitched battle was reported at Rio Santiago.

Loyal troops are in action, the government said, against rebels in Bahia Blanca, a major port on the Atlantic near Puerto Belgrano, and others are marching on Cordoba, provincial capital city of 350,000, "in order to wipe out this rebel point."

Acknowledge Defeat
A government communique acknowledged the fall of Cordoba.

The rebels claimed support from the armed forces of Mendoza Province in the west, Santa Fe in the center and Corrientes and Entre Rios in the north for this movement "to restore full freedom to Argentina."

This was in reference to the heavier dictatorial measures — such as the currently expanded state of siege — Peron has imposed in the past year.

Claim Dominion
A Bahia Blanca broadcast said the rebel forces dominate the whole country south of Tandil, in Buenos Aires Province 90 miles south of the capital.

The government disputed the rebel claims and declared in a broadcast:

"The garrisons of the north, west and south of the greater Buenos Aires area have confirmed their total and absolute loyalty to the constitution and to the public authorities. The ocean fleet is at Puerto Madryn 600 miles down the Atlantic Coast."

Fighting Rages
Fighting raged between the loyalists and rebels at half a dozen strategic centers, and the airwaves were filled with conflicting claims of the dissidents and the government.

There were no estimates of casualties.

A broadcast from the rebel-held Puerto Belgrano naval base, 350 miles southwest of Buenos Aires, announced plans for the march on Buenos Aires.

Repression Command
The Peron government announced a "command of repression" has been created to cope

IFC Sponsoring Two SUI Foreign Students

Arnould Lamey
From France

Kaare Nyblom
From Sweden

By STU HOPKINS
Two foreign exchange students, one from France and the other from Sweden, will stay at State University of Iowa fraternities during the 1955-56 school year.

Arnould Lamey, 21, Nancy, France, is a guest at the Phi Kappa house. He will be studying business administration as an unclassified student.

Kaare Nyblom, 26, Swedish exchange student from Stockholm, is staying with the Phi Gamma Deltas. He will be doing graduate work in radio and television production.

By IFC
They were contacted by the Interfraternity Council, through the International House, and arrived in Iowa City this week.

The council will assess each SUI fraternity man 50¢ a semester, to pay for the students' room and board.

The two have been awarded International Scholarships that will pay full tuition and fees. Lamey arrived in Iowa City Tuesday, after staying 10 days in New York visiting his sister, an Air France hostess.

Business Administration
He studied business administration and air transportation at L'University Commercial in Nancy, and plans to stay in the United States "if I can learn your language well enough" and work for Air France in New York.

Lamey, although his English is still colored by a strong French accent and he occasionally lapses into rapid speech in French, has had no trouble making his thoughts known.

Jim Cooney, G. Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., a member of Phi Kappa, said Lamey had been watching the television program "I've Got a Secret" when one of the panelists referred to someone as a "dummy."

In Bridge
"Is that like a dummy in bridge," Lamey queried the fraternity members in the room.

Lamey is rapidly becoming familiar with the more popular American customs. Thursday he was eating popcorn at the Cinemascope production of "Mister Roberts."

He didn't fully understand it, he said, because he missed much of the English. "But I enjoyed it all," he added.

Nyblom came to Iowa City before his hosts, the Phi Gamma Deltas, expected him. He had arrived in New York Monday morning by boat, and decided to take an early bus here.

Watched The Sun
Getting into Iowa City at 5 a.m., he walked about the town "watching the sun come up over the buildings."

Nyblom's English is perfect. While attending the university at Stockholm, he was a radio news writer and broadcaster for the Swedish Broadcasting Company. He has also been a reporter for "TT" a Swedish newspaper.

After spending 16 months in the Swedish navy, until 1949, he worked for "Vi" Sweden's largest circulation magazine. "Vi" is translated "We" or "Ourselves."

Feel At Home
Both the foreign students said they have come to feel quite at home during their short stays at their respective houses.

Cooney, commenting on the reaction of the fraternity members to having a foreign student in their midst, said "we haven't gone out of our way to be nice to them, but we make sure they have everything they need, and always try to treat them as we would a fraternity brother."

Lamey and Nyblom will stay at the fraternity houses for the fall semester, and then move to other fraternity houses for the spring semester.

Prisoner Released
HONG KONG (Saturday) (AP)—Lawrence K. Buol of Stockton, walked across the Red China border today after five years and eight months in a Communist jail. He was the third released Friday. Story: P.6

PERON GOVERNMENT TROOPS man anti-aircraft batteries in the Argentine capital city of Buenos Aires, preparing for possible rebel air attacks on the city as curious spectators look. The new armed rebellion appears to be the most serious threat yet to a 9-year rule. Rebel forces have announced they are preparing for a mass land and air attack on Buenos Aires.

New Students Get Weekend To Relax

Some 1,800 freshmen who are in the middle of a busy Orientation Week schedule at the State University of Iowa will get a rest from tests over the weekend, but will return to the business of becoming full-fledged University students when registration starts Monday at 9 a.m. in the Field House.

Churches throughout Iowa City will welcome the freshmen and upperclassmen who have already returned to the campus to church services Sunday. Many student religious groups will hold their first meetings of the new school year Sunday afternoon or evening, with open houses scheduled for freshmen. Hillel Foundation, organization for Jewish students, began activities Friday evening.

"The Place of Religion in Higher Education" will be the theme of the Morning Chapel program next week over radio station WSUI, with faculty members of the SUI school of religion and Dean Dewey B. Stuit of the college of liberal arts participating.

All the church student centers on the campus will also be open Tuesday afternoon from 2 to 5 to welcome new students.

Tours under the direction of upperclassmen serving as orientation leaders are scheduled Tuesday to acquaint the new students with much of the 70-building campus.

Open house at the home of President and Mrs. Virgil M. Hancher will be highlights of Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. The freshmen will also be entertained Monday evening in the homes of a number of faculty members.

All freshman students will register for classes Monday at the Iowa field house. Returning students and transfers will complete their schedules Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Freshman registration schedule for Monday:

9 a.m., K-Col; 9:30 a.m., Sec-Sz; 10 a.m., T-W; 10:30 a.m., WI-Az; 11 a.m., B-Brow; 11:30 a.m., Brox-Cros; 12 noon, Crof-Fap; 12:30 p.m., Fao-Gum; 1 p.m., Gun-Hul; 1:30 p.m., Hum-Kok; 2 p.m., Kol-Meh; 2:30 p.m., Mei-Om; 3 p.m., On-Q.

The Tuesday schedule for returning students in the Liberal Arts, Graduate, Commerce and Education colleges:

9 a.m., Shai-So; 9:30 a.m., Sp-Tau; 10 a.m., Taw-V; 10:30 a.m., W-Wil; 11 a.m., Wim-Al; 11:30 a.m., Am-Bek; noon, Bel-Broo; 12:30 p.m., Brop-Ch; 1 p.m., Ci-Cz; 1:30 p.m., D-Dz; 2 p.m., E-For; 2:30 p.m., Fos-Gree; 3 p.m., Gref-Hay; 3:30 p.m., Haz-Hus; and 4 p.m., Hut-J.

The Wednesday schedule:

8 a.m., K-Kol; 8:30 a.m., Kom-Lim; 9 a.m., Lin-Mas; 9:30 a.m., Mat-Mil; 10 a.m., Min-Nz; 10:30 a.m., O-Pem; 11 a.m., Pen-Pou and 11:30 a.m., Pov-Q.

Republican District Meetings Scheduled

DES MOINES (AP)—The Iowa Republican State Central Committee Friday authorized congressional district campaign strategy meetings for the last two weeks in October.

These meetings, at the school of instruction for state chairmen in Washington, D. C., will be projected to county chairmen and vice chairmen, will be held four a week.

Don Pierson, Iowa Republican chairman, who attended the Washington sessions and went to Denver, Colo., for breakfast with President Eisenhower, said the district meetings would be closed workshops.

U.S. Senators Bourke B. Hickman and Thomas E. Martin will attend most of the district meetings, Pierson said, and the congressman from each district will be present at the meeting in his district.

Dates for the district sessions are agreed upon by the state committee. Places and dates for each meeting will be worked out by district committee members in conference with the county chairmen and vice chairmen next week.

The meetings will be held Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of the last two weeks in October. The first four will be held Oct. 17, 18, 19 and 20, and the second four, Oct. 24, 25, 26 and 27.

South White Section Has Negro Pair

SOUTHERN PINES, N.C. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Martin White, a Negro couple from Jamaica, N.Y., quietly moved into their new home in an all-white subdivision of this resort city Friday.

Several reporters and photographers watched the Whites enter the house, but none of their white neighbors was seen. With the Whites were a few Negro friends, including Southern Pines City Councilman T. T. Morse.

When it became known that the couple had bought the five-room frame house from a white woman, for $12,000, several residents of the Kenwood subdivision met and drafted a statement of protest. The Whites then said they would sell their house for $20,000, setting Sept. 15 as the deadline. There were no takers.

The Whites moved their furniture into the house several days ago. They hired Negro men to guard the property while they stayed at a guest house here.

Mrs. White, 58, a former policewoman at Toledo, Ohio, said she had received several threatening telephone calls.

"Her reply to them was: 'We are not children, to be frightened into running away.'"

Mrs. White said she and her 68-year-old husband, a retired post office employe, intended to mind their own business and expected their neighbors to do the same. "I think we will get along all right," she added.

She said a guard will stay in the house with them for an indefinite period.

Freshmen at Playnight

FRESHMEN at the "playnights" for new students, and transfers held at the Iowa Field House Friday night watch two varsity SUI wrestlers demonstrate their sport. Shown are Jim Kienast, Al Osage, and Russ Bartels, Al Lytton. The wrestlers are Ken Leuer, Al Wayzata, Minn., and John Winder, Al Waterloo. The first half of the evening was devoted to demonstrations, and later the new students got into the act.

Hancher Will Head Washington Meeting

SUI Pres. Virgil M. Hancher will preside at the American Council on Education's 38th annual meeting in Washington, D. C., Oct. 6-7.

As chairman of the ACE, which numbers 1,128 educational organizations and institutions in its membership, President Hancher will also close the meeting with "Remarks by the Retiring Chairman." Some 500 representatives are expected to attend under the central theme of "Goals and Progress in Planning for the Future of Higher Education."

With the stress this year on progress reports by regions in planning for the future, the 38th annual meeting is the third in succession to focus attention on problems caused by the rising tide of student enrollment, President Hancher explains.

Featured speakers will include Harold C. Hunt, newly appointed Undersecretary in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare; President Cornelis de Kiewiet of the University of Rochester; President Oliver C. Carmichael of the University of Alabama, and Prof. Huston Smith of Washington University at St. Louis.

President Milton S. Eisenhower of Pennsylvania State University will chair a section on "The Responsibility of Higher Education for Helping Develop International Understanding;" Chancellor Lawrence Kimpton of the University of Chicago, on "How the Educational Process Can Be Shortened to Advantage;" Provost Samuel T. Arnold of Brown University, on "Helping Qualified Students to Continue Their Education;" President Meredith Wilson of the University of Oregon, on "How Is the Supply of Able College Teachers Being Increased?" and Vice-Chancellor Carroll V. Newsom of New York University, on "How Can Available Educational Resources Be Stretched?"

Stassen Says Russia Will OK Inspection

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower was informed by Harold E. Stassen Friday "the odds are" the Soviet Union will accept the President's plan for the U.S. and Russia to exchange military blueprints and agree to mutual inspection.

Stassen, the President's special assistant on disarmament problems, told a news conference he gave Eisenhower an "optimistic" report on prospects for acceptance of the plan.

It was first outlined by the chief executive at the Geneva Big Four meeting in July.

"There is every indication that they (the Russians) are giving it very intensive and thorough study," Stassen said after a 30-minute session with the President.

Stassen also predicted that the United Nations General assembly as well as Russia in particular, will endorse the President's plan.

Stassen flew to Eisenhower's vacation headquarters from New York where he has been serving as U.S. deputy representative at continuing United Nations talks on disarmament.

Eisenhower's plan for a beginning step toward disarmament was put before the Russians at the July 21 session of the Geneva summit conference.

Under the President's proposal the United States and Russia would exchange blueprints of their military establishments and agree to mutual aerial inspection of such establishments. The UN subcommittee has expanded its discussions to include ground inspections.

Stassen told newsmen Friday he is confident the odds favor Soviet acceptance of the plan because of the deep interest the Russians have displayed and because of the "intelligent questions" they have asked about it.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A special weekend hurricane alert was ordered by the Weather Bureau Friday for four Southeastern states as the ninth tropical storm of the season, Hurricane Ione, swung into a potentially dangerous position.

Ione was located at 4 p.m. (CST) 580 miles east and slightly south of Miami. Maximum winds are 90 miles an hour near the center. Gale force winds reach 225 miles to the North and 120 miles to the south of the eye.

The storm was reported increasing in size and will continue to grow with some increase in the intensity of its maximum winds. A 4 p.m. (CST) advisory said it could affect some portion of the coastline by or during Sunday night.

Residents along the coasts of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida were told to keep themselves advised on the storm's movements so they won't be caught in exposed spots if Ione should strike the coast over the weekend.

Cecil Gentry, storm forecaster in the Miami Weather Bureau's hurricane center, said a weekend alert is broader and more general than a formal alert in advance of warnings, but because of the critical location and erratic behavior of Ione the alert was justified.

Grains of Salt—

Part of the job of being a politician is to make political speeches. The general voting audience accepts this fact and takes it all in, many times with a grain of salt.

But when the speeches get so outlandishly political as Lt. Gov. Leo Elthon's was at the Ellsworth Turkey Day Festival Thursday, the general public needs a whole box of salt, not just a grain.

Elthon said that he opposes any legislative plan which would reapportion the Iowa Senate on a population basis. This statement in itself is not a cause for concern because it has been reiterated many times by many people with varied special interests.

But the following statement by the lieutenant governor of our state does give rise to concern:

"If the Senate is reapportioned on a population basis it will give the control to the larger cities which are in turn dominated by labor organizations."

Elthon has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in the primary next year and his speech at Ellsworth only reaffirms his interest.

But the question of Elthon's wisdom or his interest in the Republican nomination is much less important than the vital question of reapportionment in Iowa.

Reapportionment has been a political football in the state for quite a while now. Actually the case seems rather hopeless for anything positive to be done about the situation because the rural vote—the vote that now controls the legislature—would be hurt by the change.

But the clouding of facts such as Elthon did in his speech only serves to insult the intelligent-minded citizens of the state, whether they be rural or city residents.

"Iowa is the breadbasket of the nation," Elthon said, "so why turn over control of the state to the cities."

Obviously, the reasoning in a statement such as that is fallacious and deceiving. The questioning of representation in a democratic society does not deal with the financial wealth of the society.

Representation does not know the boundaries of wealthy and poor, city and farm. Democracy is not limited to the farmer in a farm state or to the businessman in an industrial state.

Yet, Elthon hopes to run for governor in the next election and he obviously hopes to do it by compromising with these democratic ideals.

But Elthon's chances for election are inconsequential as compared to the democratic ideals that may be thwarted.

How Deep?—

The National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. revealed a few days ago that membership in churches of all faiths in the United States has reached a new high. The total of 97,482,611 represents six out of every 10 persons in the country.

The council pointed out that the 60.3 per cent compares with 49 per cent in 1940 and only 16 per cent a century ago "when Americans were popularly supposed to be more religious-minded than today."

There can be no question that the increasing popularity of church membership is wholesome for the nation. But paralleling this gain in numbers is an increasing concern by many churchmen over the depth of conviction in religious practice.

Ottumwa's Pastor Charles Thunn of the First Baptist church dug into the topic last Sunday with his sermon "Religion—Challenge or Escape?"

Pastor Thunn says a large number of Americans have been attracted to what has been called "a selfish religion of easy answers."

"More and more Protestant ministers throughout our country are speaking plainly against this new religion of reassurance," he says, "and against the idea that Christianity is simply a way to get selfishness of mind or a shield for one's own life."

"Religion is something more than just a crutch for dependent people," the Rev. Mr. Thunn declared. "It is something more than a shot-in-the-arm philosophy that encourages dependency, and something more than 10 simple rules to solve all one's problems."

"The time is at hand to point out to men and women the world around that they should ask, 'What does God want to do through me?' rather than 'What can He do for me?' If the new trend to religion is to run deep it must be taken out of the stream of selfish getting and allowed to run in sacrificial service."

A century ago there was no easy-going type of religion with which to affiliate. Probably that's a reason why 16 per cent of the population was then on church membership rolls.

Words of Men, Wise and Otherwise

"What must never be lost sight of is that the individual is the end, the goal; the balance that he strikes within himself, his capacity for maturity and wisdom. It is when the individual is made a means to an end that the whole purpose of society is subverted."

Post Office Explains Its Fiscal Troubles

Fathers to be operated on a self-sustaining basis.

Like so many generalities these conclusions are false and do not jibe with the facts.

Initially the Post Office Department was a 'money-maker' for the Government. In fact, in 1836 Postmaster General Kendall clearly stated the Post Office Department's policy in these words: "Everything shall pay its own way."

In a 151 year period, from 1789 to 1940, the postal deficit averaged less than $10 million per year.

In the war years 1941 to 1945 the Post Office Department at an accumulated surplus of $163 million due, in large part, to the stability of costs during a period of increasing volume. An additional factor was the assumption of a large portion of the cost of transporting overseas mail by the military branches of the government.

This nearly break-even record from 1789 through 1945 is in marked contrast to the soaring deficits accumulated in the post-war years.

During a time of unprecedented national prosperity in the 10-year period since World War II, 1946 through 1955—the postal deficit has zoomed upward to a total of $4.6 billion. The interest alone on this portion of our national debt is now costing American taxpayers more than $100 million a year.

The fiscal plight of the Post Office Department is due primarily to the fact that postal rates have not kept pace with other price increases during recent years.

The American people know that low postal rates that lead to higher taxes is economic nonsense. They believe the accepted American philosophy of "pay-as-you-go" should be applied to the Post Office Department.

Hoegh Sets First 'Meet People' Talk

DES MOINES (AP)—Gov. Leo Hoegh announced Friday that the first of his "Meet the People" conferences will be held at Missouri Valley Sept. 26.

The governor said that on that day he would be available for conferences with individuals who have problems, suggestions or criticisms which they wish to present to him.

Hoegh said that in arranging a series of such meetings over the state he was "hoping to speak personally with any Iowa citizen who wishes an opportunity to share his interest in government with his state's chief executive."

The governor said the Missouri Valley Conferences will begin at 1 p.m. at the city hall there, and will continue until all persons present have had an opportunity to be heard.

Infant Fatally Hurt By Garage Door

LAWLER (AP)—A 14-month old child was fatally injured on her parents' farm near here Thursday when a gust of wind blew open a garage door. It struck her in the face and fractured her skull.

The child was Joanne Finnegan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Finnegan. She was playing in the yard at the time of the accident. She died three hours later in a hospital at New Hampton.

Des Moines Woman Sentenced for Narcotics

DES MOINES (AP)—Betty Diggs, who gave a Des Moines address, was sentenced in District Court Friday to serve five years in the Rockwell City Women's Reformatory after she pleaded guilty to violating Iowa's narcotics laws. She also was fined $1.

Miss Diggs was arrested by Des Moines police last July 20 and was accused of having 23 capsules of heroin in her possession. A charge of robbery with aggravation filed against Miss Diggs was dismissed.

Interpreting the News— Chinese Repatriation Gives Renewed Hope

By J. M. ROBERTS

The start which has been made on repatriation of American civilians from Red China brings cheer the time when the two countries will begin negotiations on policy matters.

The United States has said she will not begin broader discussions until the Americans are out. There seems a good chance, however, that if repatriation continues to progress the United States will not hold out until the last person is out.

At that point Peiping will begin to test major American policies, among them the opposition to United Nations membership for the Red regime, the trade embargo, and support of Nationalist China.

Korean Unity

In return, the United States will be primarily interested in making some progress toward reunification of Korea, and in seeking a Chinese promise not to use force while settlements are sought on the problems of Formosa and Southeast Asia.

The talks at Geneva between ambassadorial representatives will be directed, for the part of China, at arranging for later negotiations.

Embargo Change

As for the chances of settlements of the issues themselves, there seems little hope of anything soon except a relaxation of the trade embargo. It was imposed as a war measure when the Reds intervened in Korea, and has been continued as a deterrent to further Chinese military adventures.

But since the Reds are making no military moves at the moment, there is a possibility that to foster a continuance of this situation, the United States would agree to treat Red China just about as it treats Russia. Russia is barred only from purchase of strategic materials.

ISC Students Fined On Beer Charges

AMES (AP)—Ames municipal court authorities said Friday that two potential students of Iowa State College were fined $25 each on charges of consuming beer on a public street.

The boys, who pleaded guilty, are Ronald Johnson and George Allen. Both are 18. Their home towns were not available.

College officials said it will be some time before they decide whether any disciplinary action will be taken, because the youth's college records are in the process of being sorted out in connection with registration week.

League of Women Voters Sets State Meeting Here

The Iowa League of Women Voters will hold important business meetings in Iowa City, September 19-21. Mrs. Harold Dyke from the national board will preside as discussion leader.

Monday, the state board will be in session from 12 noon to 10:15 p.m. at Iowa Memorial Union.

Finance chairmen and local league presidents will meet separately on Budget Building Day, to be held Wednesday. Local problems will be discussed, and each league will have an opportunity to participate in planning next year's budget.

Attendance is expected to include all state officers and local league leaders from Iowa.

Freedom Agenda
A Freedom Agenda Conference will be held Tuesday, Sept. 20. Mrs. Dyke will lead workshop discussions at the conference which will be held between 10 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. in Conference Room 1 of the union.

Freedom Agenda, a project of the Carrie Chapman Catt Memorial Fund, Inc., is an educational program designed to increase understanding and appreciation of the role that individual freedom plays in our representative government.

Mrs. Dyke, of Syracuse, N. Y., has been an active member of the League since 1922. She was appointed to the national board of the League of Women Voters in June 1954.

Workshop Discussion
Workshop discussion topics Mrs. Dyke will lead include "The Value of Freedom Agenda Program to Your Community," "Freedom Agenda in the Over-Organized Community," and "Reaching a Cross-Section of the Community."

Those attending the conference who wish to read the pamphlets issued with the Freedom Agenda Program should contact Mrs. John Herring.

Mrs. Manfred Kuhn and Mrs. Allyn Lemme are in charge of the conference program.

Men Will Get Still Lighter Wool Fabrics

"Keeping up with the times" is a virtue everyone expects of industry and takes for granted.

A radical change in home appliances quickly becomes common knowledge, but most people fail to note that the modernizing that goes on in such basic needs as the topcoats and overcoats men intend to buy this fall.

Around the 1900's, wool fabrics for men's suits were a sturdy 17 ounces a yard. The fabric for what would be a topcoat today weighed some 22 ounces and overcoats were an average of 30 ounces. In each case the cloth was a foot narrower than today's standard cloth widths.

Suit Weight
The supple worsted wool topcoat fabrics for fall weigh what suits used to — 17 ounces to a broader yard. New fall overcoats are made of 20-22 ounce fabric, the weight that was formerly for topcoats.

This steady lightening of wool fabric weights over the years came about through wool textile mills' research into consumer needs. Almost before men knew they wanted lighter clothes because of today's improved heating, the mills had solved the technical problems that made warm, wind-resistant and supple fabrics a reality.

Lighter Fabrics
The development of lighter weights is by no means over. Clothing makers report that men are now buying some winter suits in nine ounce wool fabrics, a weight still used to some extent in summer suits.

As a result of new techniques, superb new fabrics make this fall's topcoats light on the shoulders but warm and wind-resistant. And being wool, they retain their lines for good.

Bureau Predicts Unusual Weather

WASHINGTON (AP) — The weather bureau does not expect much of the United States to have normal temperatures and rainfall between now and mid-October.

It issued this report Friday: "The weather bureau's 30-day outlook for the period from mid-September to mid-October calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals over the northern third of the nation, above normal in the lower half, and near normal in the remaining area. Warmest weather is anticipated over the southwest."

"Precipitation is expected to exceed normal over the northern tier of states and also in the southeast. Elsewhere subnormal amounts are predicted."

Youthful Safe Cracker Goes to Juvenile Court

DES MOINES (AP) — The case of a 17-year-old Alleman boy who stole an estimated $250 from the safe of the Joel Johnson Chevrolet Co. there was turned over to the Polk County juvenile court Friday by sheriff's deputies.

Omar Beardsley, chief of the sheriff's criminal division, said deputies recovered "about $225" of the stolen money last Saturday. The boy had spent "about $25," he said, "for soda pop and things to eat."

Choose Furniture For Flexibility, Comfort

Give your house a break — don't stuff it with massive furnishings until it looks like it is going to burst at the seams.

The smaller home can create a new design for living — a lovely coordinated doll house picture from front door to attic. Some houses — ranch type or split-level — have room dividers that make this all the more important.

Smaller scale furniture, woods, upholstery, draperies and wallpaper that are compatible, are absolute requirements to home furnishings harmony in the smaller home.

One furniture designer, Merton L. Gershun, believes that not only are these things necessary but that "dual-purpose styling also must be employed to lend flexibility." He explains:

"It's not enough today for a buffet to be just a buffet. It should double as storage unit, if necessary, or have a design-related hutch available to make it into a china-linen unit. It might even serve as a room divider, work surface or desk."

This type of planning permits the interchange of furnishings throughout the home. A Welsh Cupboard can go from living to dining room with ease. A drop-leaf table can travel from foyer to living room to dining room with equal ease. A two-seater sofa may even go into a large bedroom-sitting room at some future date. Buffet chests have been known to work their way into bedrooms where they are just as serviceable and lovely as bureaus.

When furnishing a small house keep these things in mind to get the most out of your decorating plan.

1. The piece of furniture you buy should fit logically into a larger house, too.
2. Follow the same or compatible color scheme through rooms that open off each other.
3. Buy small scale furniture. Instead of buying a double chest for you and your husband get matching ones. That way they may be used together or in separate rooms if you like at some future date.
4. Coordinate woods, draperies, upholstery, wallpaper and paint.
5. Try to select dual-purpose furniture items.

Course Tells Child's Fear of Dentist

A child's fear of a visit to a dentist poses a big stumbling block on the road to improved dental health for the population as a whole, according to Kenneth Wessels, head of the department of preventive dentistry and pedodontics in the State University of Iowa College of Dentistry.

Ways to overcome these childhood fears will be explored by 12 practicing dentists who will attend a five-day postgraduate course in dentistry for children which will begin Monday at SUI.

In addition, new techniques for dental work with children will be presented as well as office management of the child patient, with emphasis being placed on the "problem child" and the very young patient.

Classes will meet each morning in the Iowa Center for Continuation Study and registrants for the course will put into practical application the procedures learned during the course, when they treat patients in the Children's Clinic of the SUI College of Dentistry.

The course is being sponsored by the SUI College of Dentistry in cooperation with the Iowa State Department of Health.

Sport Coats Introduce New Colors

Sport coats have become the "leaders" by which new colors are introduced.

A number of color variations in "nubs" and "slubs" of wool yarn, introduced for both color and texture interest in sport jackets, have found their way into suits in recent seasons.

Once a color or color combination is taken up in sport coats it may turn up in almost anything men wear.

The combination of black-with-brown was introduced in small - patterned wool tweed sport coats two years ago, leading the way for color changes for men. The color or combination was quickly carried over into fine patterned worsted wool suits and outer coats in traditional wool weaves such as herringbone tweed.

Green is this year's example of men's new liking for more and different colors. It, too, was first used in a rugged wool tweed sport coat, and rapidly caught on. It appeared in "charcoal green" wool flannel suits, "burnt olive" worsted gabardine suits, wool fleece casual coats, and of course, in handsome wool tweed sport coats. It's still going strong.

Women Prefer Individual Hair Styles

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

Hair stylists are not so dogmatic as they used to be. Time was when they set the styles and you wore them or else. It was the "or else" that finally convinced them that women did not favor assembly-line hairdos. They wore the style they liked. If the hairdresser rebelled at suiting the lady, she coiffed it herself.

Many fashion authorities are pushing for longer hair today but all hair stylists are not going along with the trend. One style chief, Mr. Ruel of Coiffures Americana, who is said to be responsible for the training of some 4,000 hairdressers who staff their salons, says:

"American women love the convenience of short hair. They demand it for sheer comfort and ease. Different regions may request variations in styles themselves, but when it comes to length, they are agreed on the shorter look."

Ruel explains that although "the trend is away from the extremely short coiffure, and we go along with a little longer look, we feel that some long hairdos being shown as trends are wrong for the average woman. It takes a young face to stand the down-sweep of a hanging hairdo. It takes more care at home, more time for pin curls, more brushing, more shampooing, more upkeep all around."

He favors the little longer look, and says good-bye to the extreme shorties with their overly slick or overly casual effects.

Says Ruel:

"A good length is just long enough to turn up in the back. A young girl should have hair long enough to curl thickly below her ears if she likes. But anything longer than 4 1/2 inches at the sides and the crown and 2 1/2 inches at the nape is definitely too long."

Women's Club Will Meet Monday Night

Members of the Iowa City Business and Professional Women's club will hear Mrs. Willis Vanderburg speak Monday at 6:15 p.m. in the Hotel Jefferson on legislation of interest to women.

Mrs. Vanderburg is legislative chairman of the State Federation of Business and Professional Clubs, and a past president of the organization.

The meeting will be open to guests of Iowa City club members, and to members of women's business and professional clubs from neighboring cities.

Bedford Woman Gets Japanese Service Award

TOKYO (AP)—Lena G. Daugherty, 64, of Bedford, (Iowa) was awarded the 5th Order of the Sacred Treasure Friday by Governor Seichiro Yasui of Tokyo.

She was honored for 35 years of work as an English course educator at the Joshigakuen Schools.

She has taught in Japan since 1915 except for a five-year interruption during the war when she returned to the United States. She also guided Japanese women workers through her social works. She will return home next month.

New Luncheon Sandwich Idea

During Indian summer come the days when vitality flags low, and homemakers often wonder whether they'll last until cooler weather finally arrives.

This feeling seems to arrive about lunchtime, and fortunately can be cured with a high-protein luncheon, particularly if there is little or no work in preparing that lunch.

Prepare for it in advance by mixing up this curried cheese spread in the early morning when you are full of vim and vigor. It will keep nicely and can be used in either cold or toasted sandwiches, which should be made of nutritive whole-wheat or cracked-wheat bread.

With them you'll serve instant chocolate flavored drink, made with whole milk instead of the usual water, to add extra richness and to provide double the protein, B-vitamin, and mineral content of fresh, whole milk. For dessert, cold-fruit is perfect.

This simple lunch, so delicious yet so easily prepared, is packed with nutrition and energy-building ingredients.

CURRIED CHEESE SPREAD

- 1/2 lb. sharp American cheese
- 1 cup liquefied instant dry milk solids
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/4 teaspoon curry powder
- 1 beaten egg

Melt cheese in double boiler; all dry milk and seasonings and mix well. Stir small amount of hot mixture into beaten egg and add to hot mixture. Cook one or two minutes, or until thick, stirring constantly. Pour into a bowl and cool, stirring occasionally. When cool, pour in jar with tight-fitting lid and store in refrigerator. Makes 1 1/2 cups.

Greenlease Ransom Money Identified

CHICAGO (AP) — The FBI said Friday that nine new $20 bills found Thursday in the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago had been identified as part of the Greenlease ransom money.

This brought the total to 30 Greenlease ransom bills found in the Chicago area in recent weeks.

The bills are from the missing $303,720, which is part of the $600,000 paid the kidnappers of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease, son of a wealthy Kansas City, Mo., automobile dealer. Bobby was found slain. Carl Austin Hall and Bonnie Heady were executed for the crime.

THE INDIFFERENT SHRUG

couldn't care less

The SHRUG is a retailer who shows little concern whether a manufacturer advertises in newspapers or not.

Oh, sure, he believes in newspaper advertising for retailers like himself—but he doesn't seem to realize that he should urge manufacturers to advertise there, too.

Fortunately, the SHRUG is a rare creature.

Most retailers put most of their advertising in their local newspapers—and ask for and welcome manufacturers' ads in the same medium.

Happily, manufacturers are using newspapers more and more. Witness the record amount of linage they've used already this year. Both retailers and manufacturers used more newspaper advertising in the first six months of 1955 than in any similar period in history.

Nowhere else can a manufacturer and a retailer advertise together so effectively as in the newspaper.

All business is local... and so are all newspapers!

Shotgun cleaned, if you haven't already done so. Today is opening day of Iowa's first two hunting seasons: squirrel and rabbit.

And most reports are that prospects look good.

Despite the dry spell we've had this summer, the quantity of squirrels has increased.

Although the population of Iowa rabbits plunged last winter, it's expected more than enough will be available for good hunters this season.

Some hunters refrain from shooting rabbits until the first snow. But actually some of the best shooting—and eating—comes at the beginning of the season.

A good cook can fry a young cottontail that will surpass fried chicken for mouth-watering flavor.

Experts tell us that rabbits die off by one means or another—foxes, weather and the like—so why not kill 'em? Shoot 'em early in the season when they're plentiful and just "ripe" for eating.

If you're going squirrel hunting, "still hunting" probably will be the best method. "Still hunting" is the method some hunters use most of the time, consists of just sitting under a tree and waiting for something to turn up.

State Conservation Commission officials advise hunters to wear comfortable, neutral-colored clothing and soft shoes.

A small pair of field glasses and a bottle of mosquito repellent are also handy items.

The bag limit on fox and gray squirrels is six and the possession limit is 12. The entire state is open.

For rabbits the bag limit is 10 a day with no possession limit. The entire state is open.

The Conservation Commission also notes that there's an Oct. 12 deadline for deer hunting applications.

More than 700 already have been received.

Applications are available from all conservation officers. Charge is $10.

Conservation officer for this area is Wendell Simonson, Oxford.

The deer season for deer will be Dec. 3-5.

When Kansas City comes here Sept. 24 to play Iowa, K-State Coach Bud Meritt, in his first year as Wildcat head, will be fielding a team against his alma mater.

He and Iowa Coach Forest Evashevski also played as teammates on the Iowa Preflight teams here during the war years.

While the reunion offers many colorful sidelights, perhaps the most sidelight comes from Meritt's memory of the game.

"Only touchdown pass I ever threw," Meritt remembers, "was to Evy. It was in 1942 when we were playing for the Seahawks and playing Northwestern. I remember Evy had his shoulder strapped down and couldn't get his hands over his head. I threw low because of this. But he caught it okay."

Iowa football prospects have been reviewed by 24 outside writers this month—a record total.

Eighteen of them were members of the Big Ten flying tour which hit the Iowa field last Friday.

Writers represented papers or press services in Detroit, Toledo, Chicago, Lansing, Indianapolis, Cleveland, South Bend, Louisville, St. Paul, Milwaukee, Columbus and Milwaukee.

Bauer, Berra Homers in 9th Top Red Sox

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees took over first place by two percentage points in the fantastic American League pennant race Friday night when they overcame a one-run deficit in the ninth inning on home runs by Hank Bauer and Yogi Berra to defeat the Boston Red Sox, 5-4.

After the Yankees built up a 3-0 lead in the first five innings, the Red Sox knocked Whitey Ford out of the box in the eighth to take a 4-3 lead.

With one out in the ninth, Bauer connected with one of reliever Ellis Kinder's offerings and blasted it far into the left field stands to tie it.

After another out, Berra came up and blasted Kinder's first pitch into the right field stands for his second homer of the game.

The Indians were beaten, 3-0, by the Detroit Tigers and the Yankees slipped into the lead for the first time since Aug. 20.

Jim Konstanty was the winner. Until the eighth, the Yanks appeared to have the game in the bag, although Ford had been in trouble in the first, third and fifth.

The roof fell in on him in the eighth and when it was over, the Red Sox were ahead, 4-3.

That set the stage for Bauer and Berra. The loss was Kinder's fourth straight in relief.

Red Sox slugger Ted Williams was not able to start because of a swollen right ankle, the result of being hit by his own foul ball in a game with Kansas City Wednesday.

He pinch hit in the fifth for Billy Goodman and walked on four straight pitches to load the bases with one out. But Ford got out of it by striking out Billy Klaus and Karl Olson.

The defeat left the third-place White Sox four games behind the New York Yankees who took over the American League lead from Cleveland by two percentage points. New York edged Boston as Cleveland was tripped by Detroit.

Chicago, which has lost nine out of its last 15 games, has seven games remaining.

Ward, Newcomer In Amateur Final

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Harvie Ward Jr., a North Carolinian cut of the Bobby Jones cloth, and William Hyndman III, 39-year-old Philadelphia insurance executive who is the rankest of outsiders, will clash today for the amateur golf championship of the United States.

The two forged through to the final Friday, climaxing a dizzying week of form reversals which saw the elimination of five former champions and five of the six members of Uncle Sam's proud Walker Cup team.

The heavily favored Ward ran into a bulldog in bespectacled Bill Booe of Bridgeport, Conn., and had to go 34 holes to win the stubborn match, 4 and 2.

Hyndman, a 6-1 businessman who is little known outside his own district, upset favored Hillman Robbins of Memphis, former national college champion, 4 and 3.

Hawaiian Sprinter To Enroll at SU

Rufus Shuff, regarded as the fastest high school sprinter ever developed in Honolulu, Hawaii, will enroll at Iowa as a freshman next week.

Son of a navy man stationed at Pearl Harbor, Shuff has run the 100-yard dash in :09.8 and the 220 in :21.8.

Franklin Tops Hawklets, 33-6

Franklin of Cedar Rapids overwhelmed mediocre Iowa City's Hawklets with a fast and shifty backfield men as the Hawks could not muster a strong enough defense to stop the final 33-6 onslaught.

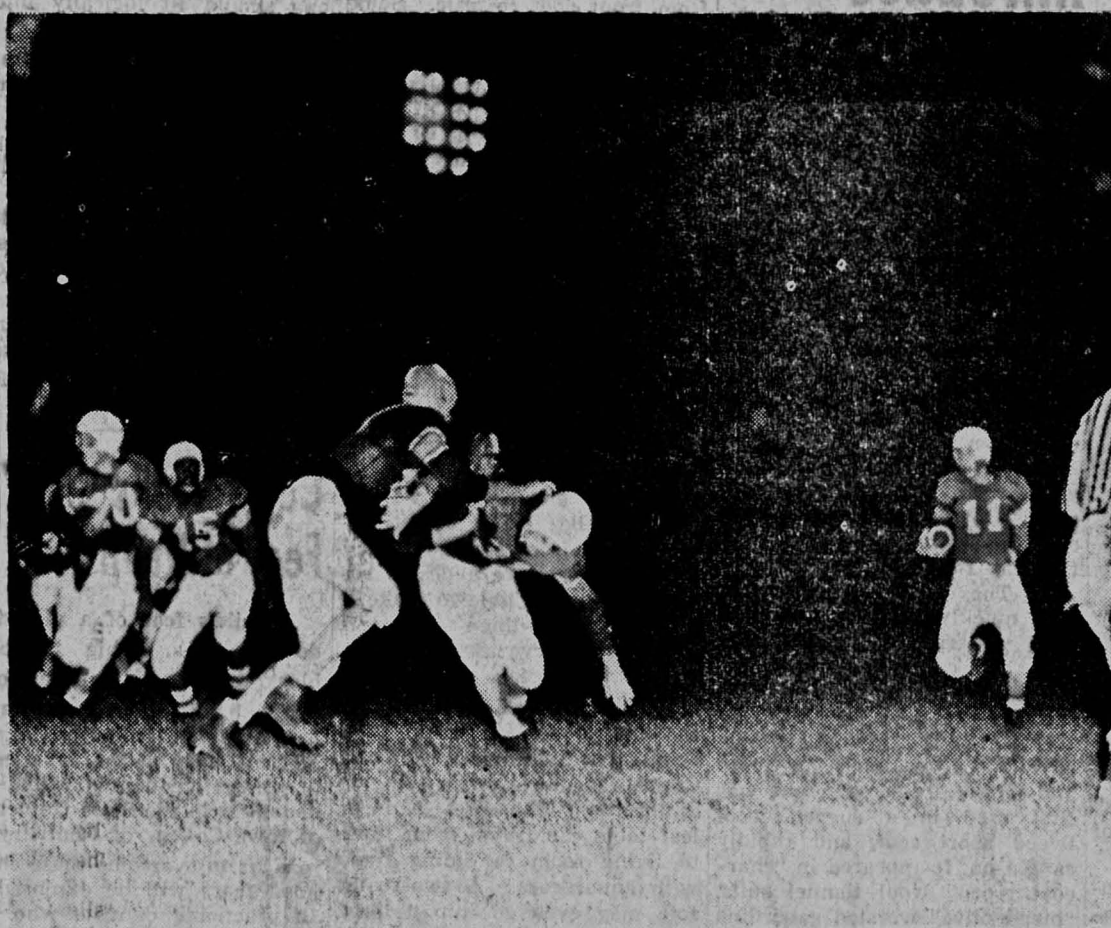

Franklin took complete control of the game, especially during the first half as they scored all five touchdowns in the first two periods. The Thunderbolts lost no time in driving across their first touchdown; within six minutes they led by a seven count.

The second tally came two minutes later as Terry Heald took a Hawk punt on his own 35 and faced 65 yards for the second TD.

Iowa City could not hold onto the ball long enough to try for a score.

Three more tallies were scored by Franklin in the second period. The second half the two teams played on an even keel, as Franklin's coach Bill Barnard substituted a revamped Iowa City fielded a revamped ball club.

Iowa City's lone touchdown came on a sustained 74-yard drive in the second quarter. Bruce Taylor, halfback, drove across the 2-yard stripe for the tally.

CITY HIGH BACK Bob Bartunek skirts end for a short run in the first half of the City High-Cedar Rapids Franklin game Friday night, getting a nice block from Bruce Taylor. The play was one of the few things City high fans had to cheer about as the Hawklets lost 33-6.

Dodger Fans Cheer Champs

NEW YORK (AP)—Brooklyn loves its Dodgers — especially when they win — and demonstrated that fact Friday.

More than 750,000 yipping, yelling fans jammed downtown Brooklyn to give the team a full-throated, warm-hearted salute.

The National League champions, all 34 of them along with their coaches, rode in 19 open cars along a 2½ mile victory parade march.

Plaza, moved down Fulton street and then up Flatbush avenue for an official reception at Borough Hall.

The cheers rolled up and down the avenue during the hour-long procession.

An honor guard of mounted policemen, a fire department color guard and band moved at the head of the line of march.

At the reception ceremony, Borough President John Cashmore told the crowd:

"I know what every fan knows. That is, they are going to sweep the World Series."

One at a time, the team members were introduced, and each got a roaring ovation. But the loudest cheers came for Pee Wee Reese, Gil Hodges, Carl Furillo, Duke Snider, and especially Jackie Robinson.

Cashmore introduced Robinson as "the next mayor and president of the United States."

Each player was presented with a 4-piece silver service purchased with donations from fans.

Roberts Wins 23d As Phils Romp, 8-1

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Robin Roberts won his 23d victory of the season Friday night 8-1 on a five-hitter against the Pittsburgh Pirates backed by the Philadelphia Phillies 11-hit attack.

One of the five hits off the Phils' righthander was Dick Groat's fourth home run of the season, which was a 1,198th home run hit by a National Leaguer this season, breaking the homer record of 1,197 set in 1953, previous high for either league.

Hawkeyes Taper Off, Ready for Scrimmage

Iowa's football squad pranced through a light workout Friday in preparation of today's full game scrimmage at varsity stadium.

It's expected to be the toughest session yet for the Hawkeyes and probably the last heavy contact work until the opener against Kansas State Sept. 24.

Next week Coach Forest Evashevski will aim at polishing up offensive and defensive maneuvers.

The first and second teams Friday continued defensive work against K-State's split T offense.

Still holding down first team positions on the left side of Iowa's line were sophomore Frank Rigney, a 220 pound end from East St. Louis, Ill., junior Dick Deasy, 208 pound tackle from Chicago, and senior Ken Jehle, 207 pound guard from West Liberty, Iowa. They replace, respectively, Jim Freeman, Alex Karras and injured George Kress.

Home Let Braves Stop Cardinals, 9-4

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Home runs by Eddie Mathews and Chuck Tanner led the Milwaukee Braves to a 9-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals before a crowd of 21,123 in County Stadium Friday night.

Lew Burdette went all the way to win his 12th game against 8 defeats.

Hard to Replace

"You just don't replace an inspirational, talented player like Bob McNamara," said the former Mississippi State coach whose first Minnesota team last season zoomed to an amazing 7-2 overall mark and finished fourth in the Big Ten at 4-2.

Minnesota's starting line likely will include Tom Johl, 200, and Franz Koebke, 211, at ends; Herb Hobert, 238, at tackles; Capt. Mike Falls, 217, and soph Bob Rasmussen, 203, at guards; and Dean Haas, 222, at center.

Tackle replacements include a quartet of big sophs, the lightest of whom is 225 and the heaviest, 6-3 Norm Sixta at 245.

Quarterbacking is a problem with Don Swanson, a third stringer last season, tabbed as No. 1. Dick Larson, a sophomore, is banked upon to develop "in a spectacular sort of way" before the season is too old.

The fullback also is a question mark with Ken Yackel, No. 3 last year, given the edge because of his punting ability.

"Any good football squad hinges on a good first eleven and we've got to develop a good first eleven," concluded Warmath.

Gromek Relief Job Baffles Indians, 3-0

CLEVELAND (AP)—Steve Gromek, demoted to the bullpen because of repeated starting failures, stopped Cleveland cold with six scoreless relief innings Friday night as the Detroit Tigers pinned a stunning 3-0 defeat upon the league-leading Indians and allowed the New York Yankees to take first place in the American League.

Gromek, traded by the Indians to Detroit in 1953, came in when starter Billy Hoeltz pulled a tendon in his left elbow in the fourth inning.

Allows 3 Hits
The 35-year-old Gromek, who had failed to finish his last 12 starts, permitted only three hits the rest of the way and fanned four.

Earl Torgerson drove in the deciding tallies with a two-run single in the seventh that snapped a scoreless mound duel between Gromek and Early Wynn.

Picked another runner in the eighth when Ray Boone, another ex-Indian, doubled and scored on Bill Tuttle's third single of the game.

The Indians threatened in the eighth. With two out, Gene Woodling walked and went to third on Bobby Avila's double. But Al Rosen lined to Tuttle.

Cellar Orioles Cop Two from Senators

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles, undaunted by a six-run rally featuring a grand slam homer by Roy Sievers, came from behind for a ninth inning run to win 8-7 Friday night after nosing out the Washington Senators 5-4 in their first game of a battle for the American League cellar.

Bob Hale's single drove in Dave Philley with the winning run with two outs.

The sweep cut Washington's lead over the Orioles to two games.

The Orioles squeezed across the winning run in the first game in the fourth on two sacrifices, and an error on Willie Miranda's single.

Sports in short

Condensed From Associated Press Dispatches

ISTC CO-CAPTAINS—Coach C. L. Starbeck has named "Baby" Bitcon and LeRoy Dunn co-captains for the Iowa State Teachers College opener with Hastings College in Cedar Falls tonight. Bitcon and Dunn have been regulars for three years.

NOT WORRIED — Trainee Charley Goldman, the little man who polished up the rough diamond called Rocky Marciano, said Friday he wasn't worried one bit over what style Archie Moore uses against the heavyweight champion on Sept. 20 in Yankee Stadium. "It all adds up to the same thing," said Charley. "Rocky will beat him."

MOORE BREEZES — Archie Moore breezed through a two-hour workout Friday, barely working up a sweat. The 38-year-old light heavy champ seemed to be coasting down the stretch toward Tuesday's title fight in New York with heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano.

AUTO RACING — A new organization to control American auto racing was formed Friday in Indianapolis, Ind., and incorporated immediately as the United States Auto Club. It filed Indiana incorporation papers broad enough to cover every type of auto racing, speed and economy tests, and all the usual auto club services, to motorists.

ISCRIDERS — Iowa State gridders went through a half hour drill Friday to polish up their game for the opener against Denver this afternoon. The workout was limited to kicking, passing and general loosening up tactics.

DRAKE WINS — Drake University's football team started its season on the right foot Friday night by defeating North Dakota State, 21-6.

MINNEAPOLIS WINS — Minneapolis defeated Omaha, 4-4, Friday night to take a 2-0 lead in the American Association best-of-7 playoffs.

ROAD TRIP — The Humsville, Texas, high school Hornets left here Thursday for Anchorage, Alaska, to play Anchorage high school Saturday.

MOST VALUABLE — Big Steve Bilko, who socked 37 homers for Los Angeles this year, has been named the most valuable player in the Pacific Coast league by the Baseball Writers' association. Bilko was presented with a $2,500 check from a soft drink manufacturer after being selected Thursday.

Trapped Uranium Hunters Search Stalled

GEORGETOWN, Colo. (AP) — Foul air stalled the efforts Friday of searchers trying to rescue two Kansas uranium hunters who vanished into an old, jinxed mine high in the Rockies.

Experts from the U.S. Bureau of Mines and volunteers waited anxiously for installation of a powerful fan to force the stale air from the mine so they could follow tracks left in the dust by the men as they walked Thursday into the long-abandoned tunnel, lured by the click of a Geiger counter.

Each passing hour dimmed the chance the two men—Glen Dew, 22, and Melvin LeBlow, 45, would be found alive in the 6,000-foot tunnel.

Oxygen Supply
They carried tanks with enough oxygen to last four hours when they entered the mine at 2:15 p.m. (MST). Dew is a Ulysses, Kan., farmer and is the father of three children. LeBlow operates an alfalfa dehydrating plant at Ulysses. He has two children.

A Colorado state mine inspector heading the rescue team, Norman R. Blake, said there was "very little chance" the men would be found safe.

Rescue work was slowed because it was first necessary to use workmen and a bulldozer to enlarge the mine opening so that larger oxygen containers and other equipment could be taken into the passageway.

Jinx Label
The jinx label was placed on the mine because no strike of precious metal ever was found in the digging, Byron Guanella, an old time resident, recalled. Work in the mine started in 1913. It was abandoned more than 20 years ago.

The general area has been a mining region since gold rush days nearly 100 years ago.

The mine is known as the Marshall Russell mine and is four miles northeast of Georgetown and about 40 miles west of Denver.

Search
Search for the two Kansans was touched off by two companions, Ernest P. Stubblefield, 32-year-old airport manager at Ulysses, and Kenneth Hickok, 50, a mining engineer who also lives at Ulysses.

They said the four of them came to Colorado to hunt uranium and discovered Tuesday that rocks in the drainage area of the mine reacted to Geiger counters. The four were unable to make much headway in the mine Wednesday and went back Thursday with oxygen tanks and a rubber boat to get across an underground water course.

The four went inside the mine, Stubblefield told a reporter, and he and Hickok remained at a point about 1,500 feet from the entrance where the air began to get bad. The others pressed on after Stubblefield and Hickok promised to spread an alarm if they didn't return in 2½ hours.

Stubblefield said he twice thought he detected lights far down the tunnel but shouts went unanswered.

Benson: Will Help Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson said Friday administration proposals for easing the "price squeeze" on farmers are not yet ready but the American people can be sure there will be no "plowing under or killing little pigs."

Benson made the statement at a news conference at which he also deplored what he called the efforts of some persons to make "a political football" out of declining farm prices and income.

He appealed for "serious non-partisan" consideration for a problem he said was not new, but was inherited by the Eisenhower administration from the previous regime.

'Political Use'
Benson did not identify those he said were making political use of the farm situation. Many Democratic leaders and some Republican spokesmen as well have expressed concern over declining farm prices and have forecast that it will be a major issue in next year's election.

The GOP farm chief declared, however, that the situation is not as bad as some claim.

"I feel that agriculture is basically sound in spite of the claims of the prophets of gloom and doom," he said.

Repeats Promise
Benson repeated the promise he made on his return Wednesday from a European farm trade tour that the administration will have proposals for presentation to Congress to help farmers. He said a number of proposals are under consideration, including one that the government pay farmers to take surplus crop land out of cultivation.

In reply to a query, the secretary said that he had had no "stepped up conferences" with the White House or with the Republican National Committee about the farm situation.

How's the Weather Up There?

PREPARING TO RELEASE A 175-foot meteorological balloon in a series of tests to study weather phenomena, two airmen at Lowry Air Force Base, Denver, Colo., fill the huge polyethylene bag with gas. Similar balloons have been in the news lately as they eluded their launchers, burst, and landed in unexpected places. A piece of balloon and meteorological equipment ripped through the roof of a home in Boone. Plastic evidently from a balloon was found recently near Washta in north-west Iowa, but still has not been traced to its source.

Lawyers To Discuss Farm Social Security

Farmers' social security, troublesome topics of the present farm lease situation and water law in Iowa will be considered at the Legal Institute of the State University of Iowa College of Law Sept. 23-24.

Some 300 Iowa lawyers who represent farm clients are expected to gather in the Shambaugh lecture room of the University Library for the meeting which will begin Friday at 2 p.m. with Ray Emmert, Des Moines attorney and farm manager, discussing "Practical Elements of Lease Drafting."

A review of taxes and benefits now that the national social security program has been extended to include farmers will be given by E. Albert Kreek of Kansas City, Mo. He is assistant regional representative for the Social Security Administration.

George C. Ahrens, Ottumwa water works superintendent, will speak on "The Water Problem in Iowa" and E. Eugene Davis, Des Moines attorney, on "Basic Water Law in Iowa."

Such troublesome topics of farm leases as determining fair rentals, sharing operating expenses, and improving and maintaining the farm will be discussed by a four-man panel.

Disaster May Strike; Towns Must Prepare, Says Doctor

Every Iowa community should be "catastrophe-minded," Dr. Carroll B. Larson, head of orthopedics in the SUI College of Medicine told Iowa doctors attending a postgraduate conference on trauma and fractures at the University Medical Center Friday.

To illustrate the importance of adequate preparations for disasters, Dr. Larson cited experiences of the medical staff at Boston's Massachusetts General Hospital following the Cocoanut Grove nightclub fire in 1942. Dr. Larson was a member of that staff when the tragedy occurred.

Prior to the fire, he said, the hospital had organized its entire staff of doctors, nurses, technicians and social workers into teams with definite assignments. One signal within the hospital and a few telephone calls could set the organization into action. Practice mobilizations were conducted regularly.

Fast Work
The fire broke out at 10:15 p.m. on Nov. 28, 1942. The first casualties arrived at the hospital's emergency ward at 10:30 p.m. And 45 minutes later, the entire emergency organization was in operation, Dr. Larson said.

During the first 2½ hours, 114 of the fire's casualties were received in the emergency ward, 75 of whom were dead on arrival or dead within 15 minutes after entering the door, the physician told the group. By 1:30 a.m. the 39 living casualties had been assembled in beds in the ward, and by 1:45 a.m. the patients' burns, so far as shock and asphyxia would permit, had been completely dressed, their shock had been treated adequately, and asphyxiated patients were receiving oxygen therapy.

Without the detailed emergency plan which was in effect, such rapid and efficient handling of casualties probably would have been impossible, Dr. Larson said.

The medical educator said any Iowa community could be the victim of tornadoes, fires, explosions or, in some areas, floods that might take the lives of hundreds of persons. Doctors, hospitals and the communities themselves should be "catastrophe-minded," he said, because "an emergency anticipated and prepared for ceases to be an emergency."

Dr. H. B. Elkins, associate professor of radiology at SUI, spoke to the physicians on biologic effects caused by an atomic disaster.

Blind Symptoms
He said symptoms which might appear any time from three or four hours to one week following the blast are shock, nausea, diarrhea, and mouth and throat infections.

If these symptoms still persist after two weeks, chances of saving the victim are slight, the physician said.

The "mid-effects," or those which occur from three weeks to six months after the explosion, are loss of hair, temporary or permanent sterility, anemia and malnutrition, he explained.

The late effects could be the development of cataracts and leukemias and the permanent sterility, Dr. Elkins said. And the effect upon the next generation could be an increase in the number of stillbirths and abnormalities, he added.

The Friday morning portion of the program was devoted to the community disaster talks. Friday afternoon and Saturday morning speakers include Doctors R. E. Taber, assistant professor of surgery; W. C. Huffman, professor of otolaryngology; M. E. Hale, professor and head of oral surgery; R. H. Flocks, professor and head of urology; and Doctors Larson and Brinnall.

New Journalism Students To Meet

Prospective journalism majors among freshmen and transfer students will meet Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in the Communications Center for their first orientation meeting with School of Journalism faculty members.

More than 85 new students are expected to attend the meeting. Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the school, will explain the course of instruction, opportunities in the field, and the training facilities available at SUI. Virginia Coverdale, assistant to the director and assistant professor of journalism, also will talk to the new students.

After the meeting, students will gather for an informal refreshment period in the journalism lounge at which they will meet journalism faculty members.

2 Convicted Here; Wrote Bad Checks

Two men were convicted of passing bad checks in Iowa City Police Court Friday.

Three separate charges were brought against Fordyce L. Viktorek, Riverside, and a single bad check charge was heard against Royal T. Beardsley, Des Moines.

Viktorek was fined $100 and $3.50 costs on a charge involving a $7.50 check passed March 3 on the Fort Madison Savings Bank payable to Kelly Cleaners.

Suspends Fine
Judge Roger Ivie suspended $50 of the fine and gave credit for one day Viktorek spent in the Johnson County Jail.

Viktorek paid $49.50 to Co. Atty. William M. Tucker for distribution in restitution of the bad checks.

Charges against Viktorek involving checks passed Feb. 25 and Dec. 3, 1954, were dismissed with the concurrence of the county attorney.

$10 Checks
The Feb. 25 check was for $10 payable to Kelly Cleaners also. The Dec. 3 check was also for $10, made out to the Stop and Shop grocery.

Both were drawn on the Fort Madison bank.

Judge Ivie gave Beardsley credit for 17 days already spent in the county jail in sentencing him on a charge of passing a bad $15 check on a Cedar Rapids bank July 15.

Ivie sentenced Beardsley to 15 days, which he has already served.

Chinese Free Priest, 'Spy'

HONG KONG (AP)—The first two of 10 American civilians Red China has promised to release from jail arrived in Hong Kong Friday—one of them proclaiming his guilt as a U.S. spy.

The two are Walter A. Rickett of Seattle, a Fulbright scholar; and the Rev. Harold W. Rigney of Chicago, Roman Catholic educator. Both had been held since 1951.

"I Was a Spy"

Rickett, 34, was scarcely across the border before he declared: "I was engaged in espionage work and there was a Korean war. I was an agent for the U.S. government. I collected military information. I collected the information and I was guilty."

He told reporters the Communists treated him leniently; said he was convinced the United States used bacteriological warfare in Korea, and denounced U.S. policy toward China.

Brainwashed?

The British Foreign Office said he had been "very thoroughly brainwashed." His wife, Adele, was released from China last February, and she too had little but praise for the Communists when she arrived here. She said she was guilty of spying, but that her husband's offenses were greater.

In Washington the State Department declined to comment on Rickett's statements.

Lost 80 Pounds
Father Rigney, 54, lost 80 pounds in Communist imprisonment, associates said. He did not speak except to express thankfulness for his freedom. He went to the Catholic mission center here and priests who dined with him said his main concern was for 25 Chinese prisoners he left behind in his cell.

One of the priests said, "We did not talk about his prison treatment except to see his scars. These scars, the priest said, were made by shackles used to keep Father Rigney chained to a wall."

Met by Red Cross
The men were met by an American Red Cross representative. Bearded Father Rigney wore an open shirt and his hair was cropped closely. Rickett was dressed in grey slacks and a grey-brown sports shirt. His red hair was untidy, but he was clean-shaven.

Both served four years and three months in jail, Rickett having been sentenced to 6 years for espionage and the priest to 10 years on spying and sabotage charges.

Chinese Lenient
"The Chinese government was lenient with me," said Rickett. "They could have sentenced me to 10 years. Considering the situation, I was treated excellently. At all times my treatment was the same as the other Chinese prisoners, but as a foreigner I was given more food."

Rickett sometimes had to grasp his wrist to keep his hand from trembling. He told this story: "He was a U.S. Marine Corps language officer, speaking Japanese and Chinese, in World War II. When he sought a Fulbright scholarship in 1948, naval clearance was required because he was a reserve officer. A 'Lt. White' in Seattle told him to report to naval intelligence when he reached China."

Gathered Information
Once in China, he gathered information and, before the Reds overran the whole country, passed it on to an American vice consul named John Ferrior, later to a British Embassy secretary named Ted Youde and a Dutch legation employee he identified as Miss Helen Van Der Hofen.

The British Foreign Office in London denied he had passed any espionage material to Youde. Rickett said that after his arrest he sought to deny any connection with naval intelligence, but confessed after 15 days because he realized it was the only way to get himself and his wife out of China.

No Comment
In Washington naval officials had no comment on Rickett's statements concerning naval intelligence.

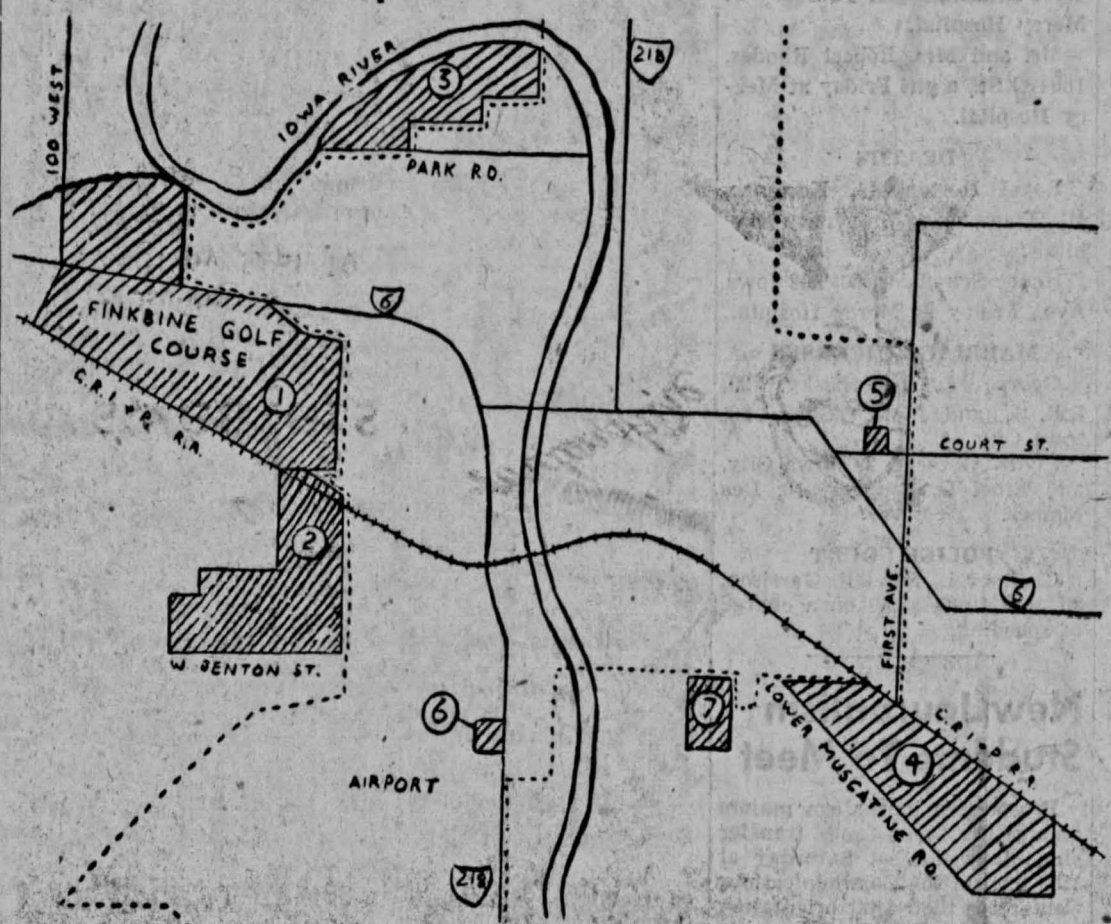

He declined to answer when asked if he were paid for his alleged espionage work. He told reporters: "I am sure the American public is fair. If McCarthy and his crowd want to call me a Communist, they can jolly well do so. Probably in stories you write tomorrow you will use the term 'brainwashed' referring to me."

Telephones U.S.
Rickett placed telephone calls to his wife in Yonkers, N.Y., and his mother, Mrs. A. J. Rickett, in Seattle.

Rickett and Father Rigney were freed just six days after the Chinese promised in Geneva to release 10 of 41 American civilians held the others are supposed to arrive soon.

Twelve persons, not actually under arrest, are declared by the Chinese to be free to go when they choose, and the other 19 may appeal to the British charge d'affaires in Peiping to help get them out. Fifteen imprisoned American fliers were freed earlier.

Proposed Land Annexation

PROPOSED LAND ANNEXATION by the Iowa City Council is shown on this map by Daily Iowan staff artist Dean Norman. Two State University of Iowa housing unit areas are included in the land area to the city. Finkbine Park, in area No. 1, and Stadium Park in area No. 2, are now part of the city. The other areas indicated are, 3—the land bordered by the Iowa River and City Park; 4—the land extending from the southeastern city limits to the site of the proposed Procter and Gamble plant on Lower Muscatine Road; 5—an area on Court Street bordered by city school property; 6—an area surrounded by city-annexed property near the airport on highway 218; 7—a section of the Sunnyside addition. The dotted line on the map indicates the boundaries of the city prior to the annexation of the lands indicated. The land on which the Procter and Gamble plant is being constructed may be annexed after the plant is completed, City manager Peter F. Roan said.

East German Chiefs Welcomed in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government welcomed a top-rank delegation from Communist East Germany Friday for another round of talks on Germany's future. Only three days ago they completed a conference with West German leaders.

Heading the East German party is Premier Otto Grotewohl. When actual talks on "questions of interest to all sides" will begin is not known. The Kremlin leadership already is engaged in negotiations with an official delegation from Finland, led by President Juho K. Paasikivi.

The Soviet-West German conference ended with agreement to establish diplomatic relations and an oral promise by the Russians to free Germans still held as war prisoners.

Thursday night, however, the Kremlin issued a statement brushing aside West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's claim to speak for all Germans and hailing the East German regime as a sovereign state. The statement also said Germany's East frontier is fixed on the Oder-Neisse line and not subject to change in peace treaty.

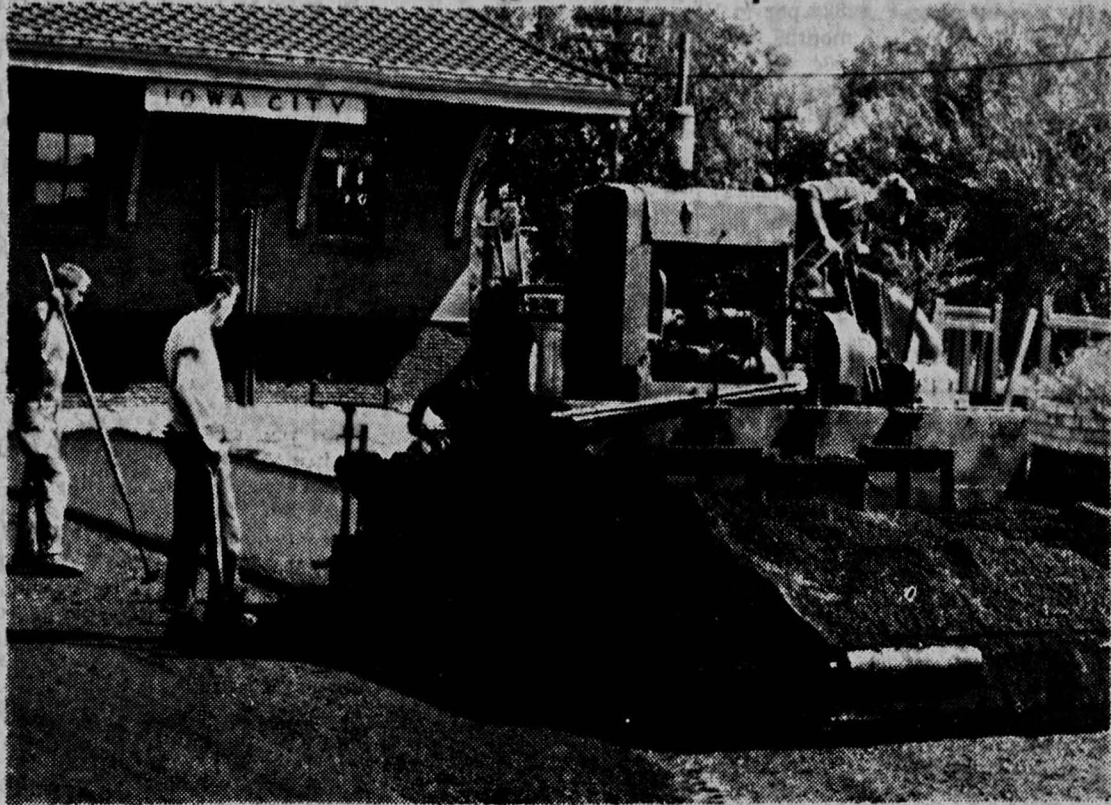

In a speech at the airport on arrival, Grotewohl said his delegation's talks at the Kremlin would be aimed at furthering collective security system in Europe and "unification of Germany as a democratic peace-loving state."

Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin was absent from the welcoming ceremony and from the opening of the talks with Paasikivi, Premier Urho Kekkonen and their aides. Tass reported that Bulganin is ill. One Soviet official told an American diplomat the Premier is suffering from overwork.

The Finns hope to get back the heavily fortified Porkkala naval base near Helsinki which the Russians have held since World War II on a 50-year lease.

Street Surfacing Nears Completion

LAYING ASPHALTIC TOPPING in the drive behind the Iowa City railroad station, workmen put on the finish "coat" after spreading hot tar and crushed rock. Work on the street, Des Moines Street, is expected to be completed by this afternoon. This is one of the last resurfacing jobs in the city-wide street program.

"luxury sweaters"

Presentation Monday, Sept. 19

Yonkers is bringing to Iowa City an additional collection of outstanding sweaters—novelty or classic styles in precious cashmere, soft lambswool or finest fur blends. See and choose Monday.

J. C. Penney Celebrates 80th Birthday

NEW YORK (AP)—J. C. Penney celebrated his 80th birthday Friday and has no thought of retiring.

Head of the nation's biggest chain of retail apparel stores, James Cash Penney said, "I never want to retire."

Smiling, he added, "I receive no salary—maybe that's why I'm kept on."

First Love

"The company that bears my name is my first love and I'm going to give it all I can," he said.

Officers and directors of the company presented Penney with an expensive silver bowl inscribed to him "From your associates in all 48 states." No one who works for the company is called an employee but an "associate" and shares in the profits.

Then a big birthday cake with 80 lighted candles was brought in.

With one breath, Penney blew out all but six of the candles.

Began 1901

The Penney empire began in 1901 when the future merchant prince opened a store called the Golden Rule in the mining town of Kemmerer, Wyoming. It was done on a loan from his employers in a three-store chain.

Eventually, he bought all the stores and added other Golden Rule stores to his chain, allowing the store-managers to become one-third partners.

The Golden Rule stores were so successful that hosts of competitors arose in the West, using the same name. So the present name of the company was adopted in 1916.

1,655 Stores
Today there are Penney stores in all 48 states. The 1,655th store was opened in Houston, Tex., about a week ago.

"The secret of our success has been men," said Penney. "I looked for men of character, men who could take training, men who could take responsibility on their shoulders and men who would share in the business."

with the emergency. Maj. Gen. Franklin Lucero was named commander. He is Peron's army minister.

A curfew was decreed, beginning at 4:30 p.m. All public entertainment and meetings were banned.

While warplanes roved the skies, reports circulated in Buenos Aires that Peron had been handed an ultimatum to get out.

Battle Reports

High spots in the battle reports from the opposing sides:

Bahia Blanca—Rebels claimed capture of this wheat port and industrial center of 400,000 population 350 miles southwest of Buenos Aires in moves linked with a revolt at the nearby Puerto Belgrano naval base. They seized the city radio station. But the loyal 5th Infantry Regiment was reported battling the rebels and hoping for reinforcement by the 2d Artillery Regiment, based 100 miles away at Azul.

Buenos Aires—The government announced smashing of a terrorist plot with the arrest of 100 civilians. Anti-aircraft guns were mounted in the Plaza de Mayo and the presidential guard stood watch over the Government House, chief target of the June 16 naval-air revolt. Twenty bus loads of soldiers entrained, perhaps to reinforce loyalists at some provincial trouble spot. Attacks and sabotage silenced some radio stations.

Cordoba Report

Cordoba—This capital of the north-central province of Cordoba and a strong center of Roman Catholicism was claimed as taken by rebels. But the government announced elements of the 14th Infantry Regiment, loyal to Peron, were advancing to put down the revolt in the city of 350,000. A number of American families have settled at Cordoba recently in connection with the construction there of a Kaiser Co. plant to make automobiles.

Curcu-Cuatia—This rail junction and airport town of 15,000 in Corrientes Province 325 miles north of Buenos Aires was claimed by the loyalist forces after some outbreaks of "unrest."

Army Rebellion

Entre Rios Province north of Buenos Aires, which flanks Uruguay on the west—This was the scene of a rebellion by elements of the 3rd Cavalry Regiment. But the government said this movement was crushed.

Eva Peron—This provincial capital of more than 200,000 population was reported completely shut down. One account said violent anti-government demonstrations were broken up by police. The provincial radio declared that Gen. Juan Jose Uranga had taken control of the city. It did not indicate which side Uranga was on.

Puerto Belgrano naval base—This base is a major center of the rebellion. Rebel anti-aircraft gunners were reported to have shot down two attacking government air force planes.

Rio Santiago naval base—This site of the naval academy, located between Buenos Aires and Eva Peron, was in rebel hands. The government sent warplanes to attack the base. The roar of explosions sounded far across the Rio de la Plata as British-made Lincoln bombers struck at the rebels. Observers in neighboring Uruguay said they saw four Argentine warships steaming from the Parana River, presumably headed to Rio Santiago.

Observers believe the struggle looms as a graver challenge to Peron than the bloody June 16 revolt which was put down quickly. There were predictions of civil war unless Peron can stop the fighting.

There was no direct word to the people from Peron.

Des Moines Union Hits

Using Former Policemen

DES MOINES (AP)—The Des Moines Industrial Union Council sent letters Friday to the mayor and trustees of the city police retirement system, protesting the use of former city police officers by the strikebound Western Tool and Stamping Co.

The letter to Mayor Joseph Van Dresher from the union council, which represents about 6,000 CIO members in the Des Moines area, charged that the former officers were employed solely to "help in breaking this strike."
