Student Council Raps Grid Seating Policy

By RICHARD YOUNG

Student seating at football games was the hottest issue at the Student Council meeting Wednesday night, with a three-month-old letter from Athletic Director Paul Brechler providing much of the heat.

President Mark Putney read Brechler's letter to the council, pointing out what he termed discrepancies in the letter as it applies to the present situation.

Putney expressed wonder that the board should have estimated this fall's enrollment at less than 8,500, when most observers, he said, on campus had expected more than 9,000.

He also questioned the accuracy of the board's estimate that no more than 85 per cent of the student body attends any athletic event.

An illusion (by the board) to "tickets for visiting relatives" (of students) mystified the entire Council. Putney said that he knew of no arrangement for seating relatives in the student section.

Council Recommendations

Last April the Council submitted three recommendations to the Board in Control of Athletics:

1. That the seating accommodations for students be increased from 8,400 to 9,000.
2. That spouse tickets be issued on a semester basis with the charge to be $5.00 for each semester.
3. That a policy be established under which the Student Council might air student problems to the Board.

Brechler, acting as secretary for the board, replied to the Council in a letter dated June 14, 1955. The letter said:

"That inasmuch as the student enrollment in the fall of 1954 was 8,100 and the anticipated enrollment for the fall semester of 1955 is 8,300-8,400, there is no need for additional seats in the student section for the 1955 football season.

"According to our records, there are 8,600 seats in the stadium student section at this time. According to the studies that have been made in the past, no more than 85 per cent of the student body attends any one major athletic event.

Expect Only 7,100

"This being true, it seems to me that we can expect no more than 7,100 students in one afternoon this fall.

"It might well be that we should not sell any more than a limited number of Spouse Tickets and no tickets for visiting relatives that might be seated in the student section."

The SUI Young Democrats Tuesday passed a resolution demanding that the Student Council take action to solve the seating problem. It also criticized the board for refusing "to take into consideration that the students do not have sufficient seating space."

Report on Parking

Parking committee members reported that parking facilities on Jefferson Street were being discussed with city officials, with an eye to obtaining hours more in line with student needs.

Committee members said they were considering a new system of parking for the Old Iowa Field lot.

A zigzag arrangement has provided up to 20 per cent more spaces where it has been tried in other cities, they said.

The council also unanimously passed a proposal advocating changing the 1955 football trip from Michigan to Notre Dame. Televising of the Michigan game was the chief reason for the proposal. Approximately 70 tickets will be available for the Notre Dame game.

Miss Iowa To Draw For Grand Prize

Kay Taylor, Miss Iowa for 1955, will draw the tickets for the grand prize at the Iowa City Merchants Fall Opening Party tonight.

She will draw a number of envelopes, in case the first number is not claimed.

If no one claims the grand prize tonight, the remainder of the tickets will be sealed in envelopes and one opened in each following week until the prize is claimed.

The event will take place on Washington Street between DuBuque and Clinton Streets.

Prize Is Auto

Customers in Iowa City store have been obtaining tickets during the past week from local merchants to win the grand prize of a new automobile and about 125 other prizes.

The lucky numbers for the 12 prizes will be displayed in the windows of different stores at 7 p.m. tonight, with the prizes.

Holders of winning tickets are asked to enter the store and ask for their prize.

Prizes in the store window will be held until Monday, and possessors of the lucky ticket are expected to claim the gifts before Monday night.

Sponsored by Merchants

The retail merchants branch of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce are the sponsors of the Fall Opening Party. Promotion Manager Harry Wolf disclosed that over 200,000 tickets for the prizes have been given away. The number of tickets is expected to reach 250,000.

Wolf further explained that people do not need to buy anything in a store to obtain a ticket. They can be received by asking for them.

Entertainers from radio station WMT in Cedar Rapids will provide the dance music for a street dance and an hour show.

The street dance is planned for Washington Street. In case of rain, the dance and the show will be in the Moose Lodge.

Ike's 'Chief of Staff' on the Job

PRESIDENTIAL AIDE Sherman Adams sits at his big desk with its presidential seal Wednesday as he confers with Fred Seaton, deputy assistant to President Eisenhower. The two are among several top aides who have been managing administration affairs since the President was stricken with a heart attack last Saturday. Adams' official title is Assistant to the President.

11-Day-Old Boy Healthy; Woman Held

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A childless housewife who "just had to have a baby" remorsefully surrendered 11-day-old Robert Marcus to a priest in Stockton Wednesday — nine days after the boy was kidnaped in San Francisco.

Dr. Sanford Marcus, 34, and his wife, Hanna, 29, sped in a police car the 82 miles to Stockton from San Francisco in 75 minutes for a joyful reunion with their son.

Frightened by Questions

Frightened by the earlier questioning of a sharp-eyed deputy sheriff, Mrs. Betty Jean Benedicto, 27, plump and blonde, decided to give up the baby she had so carefully tended while police and the FBI hunted him from California to New York.

Police were closing in on Mrs. Benedicto when she stepped to a telephone in Stockton, called the anxious Dr. Marcus, told him the infant was safe and that she was leaving it at St. Mary's Church in Stockton.

The Rev. Alan McCoy of St. Mary's answered his doorbell at the rectory and found Mrs. Benedicto standing before him, the baby cradled in her arms.

The hour was 1:15 a.m. Mrs. Benedicto was crying.

'Expected Her'

"She did show great affection for the baby and she cried a great deal," Father McCoy said. "She said she had taken good care of him, that she loved him and that he had gained weight."

The baby slept through it all. He was taken to the emergency ward of Stockton's St. Joseph Hospital, where Dr. Marcus, tireless and haggard, and his fear-worn wife were reunited with him.

Stolen from Hospital

The child was stolen from San Francisco's Mt. Zion Hospital Sept. 19.

Mrs. Benedicto, tearfully repentant, was taken away to be booked for return to San Francisco.

Dist. Atty. Bradford Crittenden of Stockton said the woman told of deceiving her husband who thought she had a baby.

"I just had to have a baby. I had to have a baby!" Crittenden quoted her as saying.

She said she was married last October to Marcos Benedicto, 52, who had published a Filipino newspaper at Stockton until it closed last December.

Couldn't Have a Baby

She said that because of a Caesarian operation she had been told she never could have a baby. When she began to gain weight "my friends teased me and said they thought I was pregnant."

Mrs. Benedicto told her husband she was pregnant, went to Riverside in Southern California to her mother, dieted, then returned and told her husband he had had a baby but was ill and in a hospital.

Then, she said, she went to Mt. Zion Hospital, looked in the nursery window at the newborn babies and took baby Robert Marcus because his name was similar to her husband's.

9,127 Are Enrolled For SUI Fall Term

State University of Iowa enrollment has passed the 9,000 mark for the first time since 1949, thanks to an influx of returning veterans.

A total of 2,104 veterans had registered by Wednesday, 698 more than last fall.

Preliminary figures released Wednesday listed 9,127 students registered, with a total of more than 9,250 expected by University Registrar Ted McCarrel.

This would be an increase of about 800 students over last year's final total of 8,414.

4,777 students, compared to 4,048 in 1954.

Graduate enrollment has dropped from 1,800 to 1,614. Medicine is the only other school to decrease, with enrollment dropping from 450 in 1954 to 435 this year.

Commerce, 519, 1954 — 386; dentistry, 264, 1954 — 256; engineering, 600, 1954 — 495; law, 224, 1954 — 198; nursing, 500, 1954 — 488; and pharmacy, 194, 1954 — 173.

Expected Fewer

University officials had anticipated an enrollment of 8,800 to 9,000.

The ratio of men to women has changed slightly. There are 6,447 men and 2,680 women registered this fall, as compared with 5,779 to 2,835 a year ago.

The College of Liberal Arts continues to be the largest of the university's nine colleges, with

Dolphins Pick Ten Finalists

The Dolphin Club has narrowed to 10 its initial field of 24 contestants for Dolphin Queen.

The queen and her court of four will be presented at the 1955 Dolphin Club water show, "Congo Capers," Oct. 13, 14 and 15.

Still in the running for the queen title are:

Virginia Ball, Cedar Rapids; Joann Niemann, Sue Sharp and Barbara Potts, A4, Des Moines; Shari Evans, Glenwood; Jo Haines, Hampton; Janet Price, Knoxville; Ann Lewis, Sioux City; Bonnie Lane, Aurora, Ill.; and Judy Ferdinand, A2, Chicago, Ill.

Iowa swimmers who are national champions in their specialties will play feature roles in "Congo Capers," the 33rd annual water show to be presented by the Dolphin Club for State University of Iowa Homecoming evenings.

Gary Morris, who as a Clinton High School student broke the American record in the 200 yard free-style event, will appear, billed as "the nation's fastest college freshman swimmer."

Beulah Gundling of Cedar Rapids will present the solo water ballet act with which she won the national championship last summer in women's synchronized swimming. This will be her first public performance of the act since the national senior women's AAU championships. She was an Olympic performer in 1926.

The Dolphin Show audience will also view broad comedy and high diving in front of a huge backdrop of the River Congo and related African scenery. Jake Quick and Jimmy McCullough, C4, SUI students from Clinton who won All-American honors in diving in their high school years, will exhibit their high diving skills.

An aquatic ballet duet will present Sue Blackford Rowe, Ottumwa, and Carolyn Herman, A1, Boone, in "Quiet Village."

Students Should Be Getting Iowan

State University of Iowa students who are not yet receiving their copy of The Daily Iowan should call 4191 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., and ask for the circulation manager.

Delivery to all students was to start Tuesday morning.

Each room, dormitory or off campus, not each student, is entitled to a paper each morning. Four students living in the same room will receive one paper.

The Daily Iowan circulation department is still tabulating the list of students obtained from the Office of the Registrar, and will appreciate your help in correcting errors or omissions.

UN Walkout By Molotov

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Russia's V. M. Molotov walked out of the UN Assembly Wednesday as Nationalist China's Foreign Minister George Yeh denounced Moscow's peace drive and Red "tyranny" over the Chinese mainland.

Yeh, speaking at the Assembly in Mandarin Chinese, said that the Communists in their six years of domination of the Chinese mainland "have spawned a gigantic system of repression and terrorism, the like of which has never been known in Chinese history."

V. K. Krishna Menon, India's chief delegate who has joined Molotov in advocating a UN seat for Red China, left at the same time Molotov departed. A spokesman said Krishna Menon had a medical appointment but added: "Our position is well known."

Loria, Morgan, Dvorsky Are CMA Council Candidates

The Council-Manager Association (CMA) Wednesday named three candidates to defend city manager government in the November city elections.

The candidates are Louis Loria, 47, union member; Prof. Philip F. Morgan, 44, of the State University of Iowa Sanitary Engineering Department, and George P. Dvorsky, bank teller.

The CMA's candidates will oppose three to be named by the anti-city manager Non-Partisan Taxpayers League (NPTL). The NPTL has not yet announced its candidates.

CMA Campaign

The CMA led the successful fight through 1950 and 1951 to end the old mayor-council form of government and replace it with city manager government.

Since then it has backed all successful candidates in two city elections. Until last August, no organized opposition was present in Iowa City politics.

Now, the NPTL, led by Edward O'Connor, former attorney general of Iowa, is preparing to back candidates who will vote to fire City Manager Peter F. Roan and work to bring city manager government to an end by 1957.

Retiring

Councilmen Walter Daykin, Clarence Parizek and Ansel Chapman are not seeking reelection to council positions.

Morgan, a registered professional engineer, joined the SUI staff in 1948. He formerly served as an engineer for the National Council for Stream Improvement and the Chicago Pump Company.

He holds several patents on sewage treatment equipment. He is a Rotary Club member.

Loria, who is general plant foreman of SUI Printing Service, was an unsuccessful candidate for a council position when he ran as a labor-backed independent in 1951.

Born in Sicily

Loria was born in Sicily and came to the United States in 1914. He came to Iowa City from Boone in 1926. In 1930 he received his B.A. degree from SUI and became a naturalized citizen.

Dvorsky, a First National Bank employee since 1928, was an unsuccessful candidate for City Treasurer in the 1939 election, and for the Iowa City school board in the 1949 election.

He is a native of Johnson county and a graduate of the Solon High School.

Oct. 11 Deadline

Council candidates must file nomination petitions by Oct. 11. They need to obtain only 13 signatures to their petitions.

This is due to the low number of votes cast in the 1953 elections, in which Mayor LeRoy S. Mercer and councilman Robert Stevenson were elected without opposition.

If only three CMA and three NPTL candidates file for the three positions, no primary election will be held.

If, however, an independent candidate files, a primary will be held Oct. 25, two weeks before the Nov. 8 general election.

Ike May Be Back At Helm in Month

DENVER (AP) — Mounting hopes that President Eisenhower may return to the helm of government within a month were strengthened Wednesday. The oxygen tent was removed from his hospital room.

There was no thought of his assuming the burdens of a full White House schedule that soon. But, barring complications, administrative associates agree he will be able to make any necessary decisions from the calm of his farmhouse at Gettysburg, Pa. The President will be 65 Oct. 14.

A 12:20 p.m. (Iowa time) medical bulletin revealed:

Tent Removed

1. The President slept this morning outside the oxygen tent for the first time since he suffered a heart attack early Saturday.

2. His condition "continues to be satisfactory without complications."

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty also said that a record player was brought into the President's room at his request and that he listened briefly to soft chamber music.

President advisers abandoned for the time being any further consideration of how Eisenhower could delegate authority to others.

Son Leaves

His son, Maj. John Eisenhower, flew back to his post at Ft. Belvoir, Va., after being assured that "everything is satisfactory" in the sickroom at the Army's Fitzsimons Hospital.

Maj. Eisenhower and his mother had breakfast with the President in his room prior to the major's departure.

Because of his removal from the oxygen tent, the front elevators at the hospital were stopped at the seventh floor to prevent any unnecessary noises from penetrating the sickroom; Hagerty explained that the noises were not as noticeable inside the tent.

'Slept Well'

A 7 a.m. bulletin said that "for the second consecutive night, the President slept comfortably."

"He went to sleep last night at 8:30 o'clock and awoke refreshed at 6:30 o'clock," it added. "His progress continues to be satisfactory without complications."

Hagerty said the President awoke once during the night and was given a second tablet, which he said the doctors described as a sedative "as distinguished from a narcotic."

No Complications

The 11:20 a.m. bulletin found the President's condition still

Aides Carry On Business

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration leaders Wednesday emphasized "business as usual" in running the government in the aftermath of President Eisenhower's heart attack.

Presidential assistant Sherman Adams, Vice-President Richard Nixon and others by word and action laid stress on what appeared to be a policy of operating as normally as possible during Eisenhower's absence.

Going Smoothly

Nixon told newsmen things are "going smoothly and we see no serious legal problems involved" in moving ahead while the President's guiding hand is idled by illness.

Anticipating the President's gradual recovery, administration leaders talked no more of delegating executive powers to Nixon or department heads. Senate Republican Leader William Knowland of California, just back in town, acted to squelch conjecture on the need for a special session of Congress.

As if to underline the business-as-usual talk, the White House permitted photographers to come in and take pictures of officials at work. Adams, top assistant to the President, was pictured conferring with Chairman Lewis I. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission and with Meye Kestbaum, a presidential consultant on government reorganization and relations.

Don't Give Up—

The talk around campus Wednesday was that the Iowa football team is sunk, that it has lost all chances for national recognition or the Rose Bowl this year.

The talk was spurred by the news of the injury to Iowa's star end, Frank Gilliam. Gilliam broke his leg in practice Wednesday and will be out for the remainder of the 1955 season.

Naturally the loss of a man of Gilliam's stature will hurt the team. Obviously, as Cal Jones put it, it's really a blow.

But is our Iowa team so shallow and our structure so weak that the loss of one man means all our hopes for a successful year go down the drain?

We think not. Gilliam is only one man out of the starting eleven. Granted, he is a valuable man, but he is not irreplaceable.

It seems that students on the SUI campus are naturally pessimistic. Gilliam's loss has started a wave of pessimism and apathy about the team.

This type of sentiment only adds to the woes of the situation. A college team depends to a great extent upon the backing and endorsement of their students.

If the students desert the team, especially in a time of crisis, they are only lessening the chances for a successful year.

The loss of a star end means that the Iowa Hawkeyes will have to play all the harder and be all the sharper. It is not impossible by any means for our Hawkeyes to do this.

As Cal Jones also said Wednesday, "We really have something to win for now." This is the type of spirit that can help overcome a loss such as the Iowa team has suffered.

So let's not give up on our Hawkeyes before they've even started. Student spirit, or lack of it, can mean a lot.

African Students' Social Life Marred by Prejudice

TO THE EDITOR:

I wonder whether you can suggest a way whereby West African girls can be brought to SUI so that African students here may be able to participate more fully in the social life of this great institution.

Last Saturday, in the Iowa Memorial Union, a West African student approached a girl for a dance. After eyeing him askance she said, "Go to your people." The student did not quite understand the girl, so he demanded a clarification of the order. "The colored girls are over there," the girl said and waddled across to the other side of the lounge.

The young man moved over to where the Negro girls were seated. After standing for a while he asked one of them for a dance. She said she was finishing a coke and would be ready in a few seconds. So he stood waiting by her side. But just then an American Negro boy walked up and asked her for this dance. The girl quickly stood up to dance, completely disregarding the man who had been waiting at her request. Another Negro girl refused to dance with any of the African students but would rush to meet an American boy before he even asked her for a dance.

These experiences are not only insulting and provocative; they are against ballroom etiquette. Ladies are not supposed to discriminate against certain gentlemen in ballrooms unless they were dated. As far as I know these girls came to the Union last Saturday unescorted.

The error of the first girl is quite a common one here on campus. Many "uncolored" girls think that because of "color" similarity, the African students should be quite at home with the "colored" girls. But the American Negro girls here on the campus exhibit more indifference toward the African students than can be observed anywhere else in the states. Consequently the African student finds himself in a position not unlike that of the bat—being neither bird nor animal.

The white girls are more friendly to the West African students than the Negro girls. But they would not accept dates because of alleged social pressure.

Among the "colored" girls there exists a clique whose function it is to warn all freshmen Negro girls against accepting dates from the African students. An exception is made of one girl who boldly dissociated herself from the entire group. As a result, each freshman Negro girl is familiar with the names of all African students long before she has the opportunity of meeting with any of them.

I hope that this letter will not be interpreted as meaning that African students are "date" or "dance" thirsty. Neither they nor even American students came to SUI because they wanted to "date" or "dance." But these are spontaneous extracurricular activities which must be enjoyed by all students who feel disposed to do so.

SUI has a reputation of being one of the most liberal institutions in the country. This reputation must not be marred by petty discriminatory acts here on the campus.

His Fleas Stolen, He's Hopping Mad

LONDON (AP)—It's enough to make a man hopping mad—someone with itchy fingers has stolen the flea circus Maurice Cheepan had taken days to bring up to scratch.

Cheepan, manager of the Troxy movie house at suburban Stepney, put his miniature performers out on display in the lobby to advertise a coming circus film. They disappeared during the night.

"You've no idea how hard it is to find a nice juicy flea in London these days," Cheepan said. "I've even offered a bob (a shilling-14 cents-each), but had no takers. "Really, it's enough to make a man squirm."

Gov. Hoegh Issues Three Proclamations

DES MOINES (AP)—Proclamations are issued by Gov. Leo Hoegh frequently one at a time and occasionally two at a time. Wednesday he issued three of them.

One designates the week beginning Oct. 9 as "Fire Prevention Week" in Iowa. The second proclaims the week beginning Oct. 2 as "National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week" in Iowa. The third sets aside Oct. 15 as "Iowa Poetry Day."

Miracle of Nature Aids Heart Patients

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Given a chance, nature answers a heart attack with a miracle. It opens new channels that bypass the blocked area, and tries to minimize the damage to the heart wall. These mysterious processes apparently begin soon after the attack. All the while, the heart is going ahead with its normal work.

In a coronary thrombosis—the type of attack suffered by the President—a blood-clot formed in one of the arteries. Eventually, it plugged that artery completely, depriving an area of the heart muscle of its supply of blood.

Nature's answer to this is called "collateral circulation." Other arteries nearby seem to swell and assist in carrying the extra load. The heart interconnects others to open a channel around the "road block"—exactly like a detour on the highway. It may even open small channels through the clot. It struggles amazingly to get blood to the disaster area.

And so, the day after the attack, you feel pretty good. New Energy I sat up, the second morning, with mighty plans for writing and reading. This burst of energy lasted just long enough to fill a half-page of a letter. Suddenly, I was glad to sink back on the pillow and do nothing—which is exactly what you should be doing at that stage.

The first 10 days or two weeks are dangerous. During that time, the heart is struggling to cover the damaged area with a strong scar. Sometimes it fails, then there is a fatal rupture. With electrocardiographs and blood tests, the doctors keep track of what's happening. Also, they now have the aid of new drugs, anticoagulants. The purpose of these is to minimize the danger of new clots forming.

2-Week Period The two-week period passed for me without any untoward event, so far as I know.

I used to lie and listen to the rustle of my own pulse-throb. Right or wrong, I felt that every "ker-chuk, ker-chuk" brought me just that much closer to recovery. But—and here was a curious thing—I had no feelings of doubt or anxiety. This was the period when there might be the greatest cause for worry, and I had not a single qualm.

It was in the third week, suddenly and without warning, that a wave of depression hit me, and sent me spinning down into the blackest pit of anxiety. I have been badly scared, many times, in war. But this was a dread and horror beyond description.

Interpreting the News— Communists Losing in Indonesia

By J. M. ROBERTS Associated Press News Analyst

Less than a year ago Indonesia appeared to be heading into the Communist camp. Her government was playing footsie with the Communists in the same fashion which proved fatal to so many young governments after the war. If the Communists did not take over directly it seemed likely that they would win the republic's first elections, which begin tomorrow.

The situation has changed considerably since the Nationalists were ousted from the government over an Army scandal last month. Now a coalition of Moslem parties is being given a chance to win and start Indonesia on the road to democracy.

The chief Moslem party, Masjumi, which now controls the government, made no intensive campaign prior to its rise to power only a few weeks ago. But it is estimated that 90 per cent of the people are Moslems, which tends to compensate for the late start.

The Communists, on the other hand, have been hard at work throughout the six-year life of the republic. They have infiltrated every hamlet, and promised everything, such as increased wages, better living conditions and financial reform of the government. Their campaign has been almost identical with that conducted by the party before the recent elections in Andhra province of India.

But the Reds lost in Andhra, and now they may lose in Indonesia.

Unlike the United States, where the results of nationwide elections are usually known within a few hours after the polls close. It could be six months before the outcome can be determined.

LIBRARY HOURS: MONDAY-Friday, 8 a.m.-12 midnight; Saturday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m.; Sunday, 2 p.m.-12 midnight. These hours will be effective for the first semester.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL sponsored student book exchange in Room 21, first floor, Schaeffer will be open as follows: Return of money and unsold books . . . Sept. 29 and 30. Hours will be 9-12 and 1-4:45 p.m. daily.

NEWMAN DISCUSSION CLUB will have its first meeting today. It will start at 7:45 p.m. with the recitation of the rosary in the Chapel followed by the meeting at the student center. The program for the semester will be discussed and refreshments and a social hour will follow the meeting.

Vaccine Designed to Prevent Polio Paralysis, Not Infection

By HART E. VAN RIPER, M.D.

(Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of five articles on what parents should know about the Salk polio vaccine.)

A story published the other day with the best of intentions by a great newspaper which prides itself on its accuracy began like this:

Polio Follows Shot

The seventh polio case in the city of a child who had received the Salk anti-polio vaccine was reported yesterday to the Board of Health.

Only toward the end of the story is the statement added: ". . . subsequently his case was diagnosed as non-paralytic polio."

Now, factually this story was correct. But we are a headline-conditioned people. Did you not, in fact, from this headline and opening sentence, feel a pang of doubt about the vaccine? And yet the truth may well have been exactly the opposite to the impression you got—that is, it is quite possible that the child would have had paralytic polio had it not been for his Salk vaccination.

Prevents Paralysis The Salk vaccine is designed to prevent not polio infection but polio paralysis. In the future there will be many cases among vaccinated children of illness that turns out to be non-paralytic polio precisely because the Salk vaccine has prevented paralysis.

No wonder, then, that at this juncture—the "beginning of the end" of polio as a major scourge—there has been public confusion.

It is true that a few cases of paralytic polio have been reported among children who have received the vaccine. In some of these the vaccine would not have helped, simply because it doesn't protect everybody. In others the virus entered the system before the vaccination or before the vaccine had time to take effect.

10 Day Interval After the first shot an interval of seven to 10 days is necessary for the stimulation of antibody production; and even if administered in time, the one shot may not be enough to stave off paralytic polio, since it functions mainly as a sensitizer, making for more positive results from the second and booster shots.

Whether a vaccine is safe depends first on the formula and then on whether it is made strictly according to that formula.

Testing Requirements In the manufacture of the Salk vaccine, exacting testing requirements fixed by the U. S. Public Health Service are followed from culture of the virus to final packaging of the vaccine. Finished vaccine is not released for use until it has been approved by this federal agency.

With the demonstration of mass use and with the knowledge of strictest supervision in manufacture, you may rest assured that the vaccine is safe. But this does not mean that your child should be given the shots at any time and under all circumstances. There are exceptions.

'Stop' Signals

For example, the polio vaccine should not be given during the course of an acute illness of any sort. Nor should it be given to persons with certain symptoms, even though the illness may be only minor. Among these "stop" signals are fever, sore throat and upset stomach.

No member of a household where a case of polio has just been diagnosed should be vaccinated, since most family contacts harbor virus at this time.

If your child needs his tonsils out, your doctor may delay the operation until after the polio vaccination—and after the polio season.

Barring special circumstances, on which you should consult your doctor, your child can be vaccinated against paralytic polio with no more risk than one assumes in a smallpox vaccination or a typhoid shot.

LAMB CHOPS

When your oven is on, you might like to try a shoulder lamb chop dish that is baked. First brown the chops in a little fat in a skillet. Then put them in a baking dish and surround with canned tomatoes, diced onion, then strips of carrot. Season with salt, pepper and basil. If you like, you may also add some very thinly sliced rounds of lemon. Cover and bake in a moderate oven for about an hour or until the chops are tender. If the sauce has too much fat, remove some of it; if it is thinner than you like, cook it down in a small saucepan on top of the range.

Collins' Two Homers Power Yankees, 6-5

It's All in Sport
By Gene Ingle

You can't keep a good man down, they say. Wednesday afternoon, Frank Gilliam, his broken leg in a cast and his weight supported by crutches, ambled his way into the practice session of the Hawkeye football squad.

Gilliam, who received the injury during practice Tuesday, was released from University Hospitals about 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, just in time to catch the practice session.

Frank was not the same man Wednesday as he was when he heard the news Tuesday night that he would be out for most of the season. He had a smile on his face because the doctors at the hospitals told him he "might" play again this season.

Wednesday, Gilliam said: "If my leg mends right, it might be only three or four weeks before I play again."

If this holds true, it would mean that the Hawks would have their No. 1 end for the five remaining games including the all-important Michigan, Ohio State, and Notre Dame games.

Not only did Gilliam rejoin his teammates at practice, but he was one of the first to "chow down" at the training table in the Hillcrest Dormitory Coffee Shop.

Gilliam told his story as he pointed to the hip-to-foot cast that protects the break in his leg. Just above the ankle on the cast is a penciled-in X, marking the approximate spot of the break.

Other places on the fresh, clean cast are the names of his teammates in ink and pencil. Of course the other two-thirds of the "Stuebenville Trio" (Captain Cal Jones and halfback Eddie Vincent) are in a prominent place.

"I'll have to be in the cast and on crutches for a week," Gilliam said, "and then they (the doctors) are going to cut it (the cast) off about here," pointing to a spot just below his knee.

When the doctors cut down the cast to knee length, they'll add a walking brace to the bottom of the cast so he can maneuver without the aid of crutches.

In about three weeks from then, doctors will take a close look at the mending leg and at that time they'll be able to tell whether Gilliam will play again this season.

"Although he (Gibbons) has played only one collegiate ball game, he should do all right," Gilliam said. "He's a good ball player and should work out nicely in Big Ten competition."

Meantime, Gilliam says he's going to "work on it," meaning he'll keep working with his leg to keep it in "shape."

Jim Zabel, former Daily Iowan editor and now sports director for radio station WHO and WHO-TV in Des Moines, will rebroadcast all the Iowa games except UCLA over WHO radio, in addition to broadcasting the game live every Saturday afternoon.

The rebroadcasts begin at 10:30 (Iowa time) each Saturday night.

If you have relatives in far-away places, it would be a good idea to drop them a line that this is one way they can keep up on the football team of the university which their son, daughter, nephew, or what have you is attending.

Robinson's Plate Steal Done in Vain

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK — Joe Collins, part-time first baseman, bench warmer and pinch hitter, smashed two home runs Wednesday to give the New York Yankees first blood over the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-5, in the opener of their sixth World Series.

The 32-year-old infielder, who batted a puny .148 for five previous World Series, ripped into Don Newcombe, the Brooks' 20-game winner, for the two homers — and drove in three runs.

Not even an electrifying steal of home by Jackie Robinson in the eighth and homers by Carl Furillo and Duke Snider could save the Dodgers.

Grim Comes In
After Whitey Ford appeared to tire in the two-run eighth inning, Manager Casey Stengel brought on Bob Grim to pitch the ninth.

He struck out Pee Wee Reese, yielded a single to Snider, got Ray Campanella on a deep fly, and struck out Furillo.

It was Ford's victory and another auspicious start for the Yanks who own a 16-4 record in series competition.

The big man was Collins from the coal fields of Scranton, Pa. His first homer, lined into the lower right field seats in the fourth, sent the Yanks out front, 4-3.

His second smash, a 400-foot wallop into the bleachers in right center with Yogi Berra on base in the sixth, provided the late inning insurance the Yanks needed.

Bums Hit Ford
Brooklyn rocked Ford, the lefty who dared to face the heavy right-handed slugger of the Dodgers, and scored two runs in the second inning on Furillo's homer off the top of the four-foot wall in right field, Robinson's triple and Don Zimmer's single.

The Yanks came right back with a pair in their half of the second on a walk to Collins and Elston Howard's line drive homer into the lower stands in left.

Snider gave Brooklyn the lead again in the third when he smashed a 1-2 pitch by Ford deep into the upper deck in right field, breaking his own National League record with a sixth World Series home run.

Yanks Knot Score
Once again the Yanks lost no time in tying it up in their half of the third on a walk to Ford, Bauer's single and two successive infield outs. Ford scampered in from third while the Dodger infield played back and Zimmer threw out Irv Noren for the second out.

With the game knotted at 3-3, Collins lined his first home run, four or five rows into the lower right field seats, to lead off the fourth inning.

Hammers 2d Pitch
Berra singled to right with one gone in the sixth, his first hit in three trips, and the final blast that knocked loose Newcombe was under way. Collins looked at one ball and hammered the next pitch over the head of Snider into the bleacher seats in right center.

Newcombe steadied to get Howard on a grounder to Reese but was sent to the showers after Billy Martin lofted a long fly over the head of Junior Gilliam in left center for a triple.

Start Last Raiy
Furillo's third hit, a single, started the Dodgers' dying swan spurt. Hodges flied off deep to Howard but Robinson's grounder bounced off Gil McDougald's leg and squirted down the left field line. By the time the ball was retrieved, Furillo was on third and Robinson on second.

Zimmer's sacrifice fly to Noren was deep enough to let Furillo score and also long enough to get Robinson to third after the catch.

Then Robinson pulled his sparkling steal. Robinson's run made it 6-5.

Stengel said he'll start Tommy Byrne today.

Joe's Homers Avenge 1952

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK — "I hope this will make people forget that 1952 World Series."

The New York Yankees' Joe Collins, a bust in the '52 series with these same Dodgers, enjoyed the spotlight Wednesday for his two home runs which helped the Yanks to an opening 6-5 victory over Brooklyn at Yankee Stadium.

"That '52 series is still a nightmare to me," the 33-year-old first baseman said in the excitement of the Yankee dressing room. "I went hitless in 12 times at bat. But today I felt I got a little even — and it's a wonderful feeling."

Collins poled home runs in the fourth and sixth innings and came to bat in the eighth with a chance to tie the Babe Ruth, the only man to hit three homers in a single World Series game. Ruth did it twice, against St. Louis in 1926 and 1928.

Collins, whose series batting mark is a puny .148, said he didn't know when he came to bat in the eighth that he had a chance to match a feat of Ruth.

"But I really went for that third home run," he added. He flied to deep center.

Collins was using a bat borrowed from the ailing Mickey Mantle and a revised batting stance when he caught hold of two of big Don Newcombe's better pitches — a low inside ball for the first and a high outside pitch for the second which soared into the bleachers past the 407-foot sign.

"I changed my stance in mid-season when I went into a slump, but, shucks, I've been in a slump all my life," Collins added. He hit .234 for the year while sharing the first base job with Bill Skowron and Eddie Robinson.

Shaw To Coach At Air Academy
DENVER (AP) — Lawrence T. (Buck) Shaw, 56, was signed Wednesday as head football coach at the new Air Force Academy.

Shaw, coach for more than 30 years, signed a 5-year contract. It is effective Jan. 1, 1956.

Brooks Not Discouraged

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK — The Brooklyn Dodgers made the big plays of the opening game of the 1955 World Series Wednesday all on their own — Jackie Robinson's steal of home, the attempted bunt of Robinson and Carl Furillo in the eighth.

And although they lost they weren't too discouraged. "They just beat us, that's all," said Manager Walt Alston. "I thought Newk had his stuff, but he wasn't as sharp with his control."

Most of the Dodger talk was about that big eighth inning when the score was narrowed down to 6-5.

"Robby and Furillo were bunting on their own," said Alston. "They wanted to get on base. When you're three runs behind, one home run doesn't do much good."

Both bunts failed. Eventually Furillo singled to center and Robinson was safe on Gil McDougald's error.

"Robby was strictly on his own stealing home," Alston said. Whitey Ford apparently didn't see Robinson until he was at least half way, and he hurried his throw to Berra.

Alston said Billy Loes will pitch today.

Predictors Disagree On Iowa-Badger Tilt

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO — The Ol' Swami wriggled out of his straitjacket: Iowa 20, Wisconsin 19 — A "must" game for both Big Ten contenders and one that could go either way... Backfield speed and a formidable line may swing the edge to the Hawkeyes... However, they lack a powerful fullback like the Badgers' Charley Thomas and the one-two quarterback punch of Jim Haluska-Jim Miller... The coin says Iowa... Michigan 27, Michigan State 14

Wolverine Coach Bennie Oosterbaan frets that his boys "scored too easily" in whomping Missouri, 42-7, leaving some phases of his team's play untested... The Spartans, impressive with a 20-13 victory over Indiana, have the speed to give Oosterbaan the test he apparently wants... Notre Dame 21, Indiana 7 — Sophomore Aubrey Lewis has given the Irish a stout pass defense which SMU failed to test thoroughly in losing 17-0... This time there should be an aerial barrage with the upset-hungry Hoosiers led by the passing of Chick Cichowski, who hit on 11 of 17 for 133 yards and a touchdown against Michigan State... Purdue 20, Minnesota 7 — Len Dawson has the cast off his jammed thumb and is taking plenty of bull pen practice warming up his throwing arm... Washington's 30-0 triumph either could have softened up the Gophers beyond repair or matured them... Dawson and Purdue will find out... Emotional Climate in Home Is School Workshop Subject

By HAROLD R. SCHWARTZ

The changing emotional climate in the home will be the subject of a three-session family-life workshop at Henry Sabin school in Iowa City beginning Oct. 19.

The workshop will present three plays to dramatize common problems in family relationships. These sessions are under the sponsorship of the Iowa City Parent-Teacher Assn. (PTA) Council.

All of the sessions will be open free of charge to parents, teachers and any other interested adults in the Iowa City area.

6 City Schools
Parent-education chairmen from each of six Iowa City schools will lead discussions in small groups following each play.

The discussion groups are designed to help members improve the emotional climate in their own homes through better insight into the problems.

After the discussion groups meet, Prof. John Chantiny of the the lessons in family relationships to be learned by the plays.

Mrs. Cohen Head
Mrs. Max Cohen, parent-education committee chairman for the Iowa City PTA Council, is in charge of the workshop series.

"Parent-education is more than the problems involved in school-parent relationships," Mrs. Cohen explained.

"The problems of the family in the home is a big part of the entire picture."

'Scattered Showers'
The title of the Oct. 19 play is "Scattered Showers." This socio-drama will present the problems which grow out of both overprotection and indifference toward children.

Members of the Roosevelt and Horace Mann parent-education groups will participate.

Other sessions will be held on Oct. 26 and Nov. 2.

35 City Groups Aiding VA Hospital

Voluntary Services at the Veterans Hospital have 35 Iowa City organizations enrolled in their program, Leonard E. Hunn, Chief of Special Services at the hospital, said Wednesday at the Lions Club luncheon.

Hunn said that local groups cooperate in carrying out the chaplain's program, library work, occupational therapy and escort service.

He said that they do this through three phases: contribution, donation and voluntary work.

"Eligibility for hospitalization in a veterans hospital," Hunn said, "also needs much public clarification. Congress sets the laws governing admittance."

Faces Charges of False Statements

DES MOINES (AP) — Abraham T. Torgerson, 33, former Des Moines real estate man, Wednesday pleaded guilty before Federal Judge William F. Riley on six counts of making false statements to obtain Federal Housing Administration home improvement loans.

Torgerson, former operator of the A. T. Torgerson Realty Company here, had pleaded innocent to the charges Sept. 9 after being indicted by a federal grand jury.

Judge Riley allowed Torgerson to remain at liberty pending sentencing. Maximum penalty is two years in prison, a $5,000 fine, or both, on each of the six counts.

Tool Strike Ends in D.M.

DES MOINES (AP) — An agreement was signed Wednesday afternoon ending the 38-day strike at the Western Tool and Stamping Co. here.

The agreement still must be approved by members of striking Local 562 of the CIO United Auto Workers Union.

Newton L. Margulies, general counsel for the company, said the agreement was on terms originally offered by the company last Aug. 19.

The agreement does not contain provisions for checkoff of union dues — the basic dispute in the lengthy strike.

E. W. Kolls, Western Tool president, said: "My praise of District Judge C. Edwin Moore is unqualified."

Judge Moore entered the dispute as an official mediator Tuesday. He met with representatives of both sides Tuesday and Wednesday.

Terms of Aug. 19 offered a 10-cent hourly wage increase, a 3-year contract with additional 3-cent increases to take effect in July, 1956, and July, 1957, additional insurance benefits and pay time to vote as required by Iowa law.

It does not provide the check-off, which had been in effect for three years at Western Tool, America's largest manufacturer of lawn mowers.

The agreement also provides that contempt actions filed by Western Tool against 22 union members will be continued for one year.

Ask Suburbs To Share Sewer Costs

Councilman Walter Daykin said Wednesday night that Coralville and University Heights should share the cost of enlarging Iowa City's sewage facilities.

"If Coralville and University Heights are going to expand they are going to have to pay," Daykin said. "This hitch-hiking business is over."

The discussion of sewage facilities arose during the City Council's public hearings on the annexation of eight pieces of land to the city.

City Manager Peter F. Roan said that several sewers in the city were overworked and that the sewage disposal plant itself soon would have to be expanded.

The council moved that Roan and Mayor LeRoy S. Mercer meet with University Heights and Coralville officials to discuss the situation.

University Heights and Coralville residents currently use the Iowa City sewage plant facilities, paying a rental almost double that of Iowa City residents. Coralville recently voted to expand its sewer system, placing more load on the Iowa City plant.

The council set a special meeting for Monday night to vote on whether or not to place the annexation of properties on the ballot in the November city elections.

Wednesday night they answered questions from owners of properties in the areas concerning what annexation would mean to them.

Iowa City residents and the Johnson county district court must approve the annexations before they become effective.

Sheriff Could Confiscate Your TV Set

By FLOYD FLIGER

Perhaps the thought of doing without your air conditioning unit about Dec. 1 doesn't disturb you.

But how would you like to have your television removed during the middle of an interesting program?

Under a new Iowa law, which went into effect July 4, this not only becomes a possibility but a certainty for those having current delinquent personal property taxes.

Distress warrants must be served by a sheriff or constable to confiscate any piece of personal property and sell it to satisfy the original tax, penalty and interest on the personal property.

Publish List

Another phase of the law requires the county treasurer to publish a list of all those with current delinquent taxes of more than $5.

The list will be published twice, and the last time cannot be more than two weeks before the first Monday in December. Ten days after final publication the warrant can be served.

These taxes are the second half of the 1954 personal property taxes which become delinquent Oct. 1. A penalty of three-fourths of one per cent per month and the cost of publication will also be added.

Not Discovered

Previously delinquent taxes against personal property often were not discovered until the person with delinquent taxes wanted to sell the property and was notified there was a lien against it.

Other times, persons trying to settle estates would find that delinquent personal property taxes had to be settled before closing the estate.

Lumir W. Jansa, Johnson County Treasurer, didn't think that any drastic action would have to be taken but he can only comply with the law.

"We have always sent out extra notices of delinquent taxes and most people do respond, but often they move out of the state and collections aren't easy to make," he commented.

Jansa felt that when people see their names on the published delinquent tax list they would settle their tax account.

Janel Leaves 200 Dead In Yucatan

Hurricane Janet, packing winds of 110 miles an hour and apparently growing, roared toward the eastern coast of southern Mexico Wednesday night, leaving an estimated 200 persons dead on the Yucatan peninsula.

The death estimate came from a spokesman for President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines of Mexico. The spokesman said the number of persons injured on the peninsula might run to several thousand.

After he spoke — the season's tenth and most deadly hurricane spun across the Gulf of Campeche for the Mexican coast between Veracruz and Tuxpan. The New Orleans Weather Bureau expected hurricane force winds to start raking the area early today.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau said in an advisory at 4 p.m. (CST) that the center of the hurricane was about 240 miles east of Veracruz.

"Indications are the hurricane will increase in size and intensity tonight," the Weather Bureau said, "and continue to move west-northwest" at about 21 miles an hour.

Tuxpan is about 75 miles south of Tampico where Hurricane Hilda caused floods that drowned more than 300 persons nine days ago. At that time Tampico was struggling from under the debris of floods touched off by Hurricane Gladys two weeks earlier.

New Fine Arts Instructor Directed 'Farmers' Theater'

Dramatic arts instructor Robert C. Gee came to the State University of Iowa this September fresh from six years of instructing farmers and citizens in small communities in drama work.

Gee directed the Wisconsin "Idea Theater," a branch of the University of Wisconsin Extension Service.

About 1,000 people — most of them farmers — comprise the 35 to 40 community theaters in the state. The Wisconsin Idea Theater advises, criticizes, and encourages them by publishing a quarterly magazine, sponsoring annual festivals, establishing writing contests, and conducting research.

In his capacity as assistant director of the organization, Gee carried the arts through the rural and urban areas of Wisconsin, advising members of the already-established community theaters and stimulating dramatic interest in the people of more obscure areas.

For three years Gee edited the "Wisconsin Stage," a quarterly magazine which contains criticisms of community plays and productions, original one-act plays, and various feature arti-of correct procedure in spread of dramatic culture — rest. Gee was director of research for two years.

Prof. Robert E. Gard, who directed the Wisconsin Idea Theater established in 1948 the Wisconsin Rural Writers Association, a branch of the Theater. One of its main functions is to sponsor and supervise annual statewide writing contests.

Subdivisions of the contests are: playwriting, short story writing, article writing, poetry writing, and folklore writing. Most of the contestants are farmers.

The Theater also sponsors 12 annual drama festivals in the state. These festivals include presentations of original one-act plays, usually written by someone in the group which presents them.

Sherwood Collins, who took his Ph.D. at SUI in August and whose play, "Black Blizzard," was presented here this summer, has taken Gee's place with the Wisconsin Idea Theater. He joins Gard and Prof. Edward L. Kamarek in furthering the commendable project started ten years ago.
