

Hawks Limp into Madison for Big Ten Opener

Iowa, Minus Key Players, Is Underdog

By IRA KAPENSTEIN
Daily Iowan Editor

MADISON, Wis.—The injury-riddled Iowa Hawkeyes limped into town Friday evening, presumably holding the answer to today's football game with the University of Wisconsin in Camp Randall Stadium.

Wisconsin, on the other hand, put in a final, light practice lick Friday and reported it is in good shape for the Big Ten opener against Iowa.

Stress Passing

The Badgers rehearsed the work that's been going on the past week and stressed passing.

Iowa stayed in a hotel on the outskirts of Madison Friday night.

The Hawkeyes, minus several key players because of injuries, are rated the underdog in the season's first important Big Ten clash.

Gilliam Missing

Iowa, of course, will be without its No. 1 end, Frank Gilliam, who broke his leg in a practice session early this week.

And Iowa has only one center to call upon—Don Suchy, a 210-pound tiger from Belle Plaine who has seen limited action himself this year because of that old nemesis—an injury.

More Injuries

Behind him in the center position are two Hawks who have been hobbling around on sore or twisted ankles all week—Bill Van Buren, sophomore who started against Kansas State, and Norm Six, No. 2 Iowa center last year and rated a top notch line-backer.

There was no indication here Friday night as to how much these two men would play today.

Gibbons To Start

Head Coach Forest Evashevski evidently has decided to use Jim Gibbons, 207-pounder, at left end in place of the injured Gilliam.

Frank Rigney probably will be called upon to back up both the left and right end positions.

The fullback position has somewhat settled down since the first game when Evy used everybody but the water boy in search for a No. 1 man for that position.

Wiegmann May Start

Although Evy has given no indication that he has picked Roger Wiegmann for the spot, indications were here Friday night that the weight-unknown senior from Waverly will start today.

After reporting for fall practice about 15 pounds under-

Dad's Day Events Set

Dad will have his day next weekend at the State University of Iowa.

Centering around the Iowa-Indiana football game Oct. 8, the Dad's Day schedule will include a pep rally, a concert, open houses, a special luncheon for fathers of football players, and a dance and reception.

Sponsored by Omicron Delta Kappa, men's honorary leadership fraternity, Dad's Day is a 33-year-old tradition during which SUI students pack a weekend full of activities to honor their fathers.

Dad of Year

Already underway is a contest to pick the "SUI Alumni Dad of the Year" from among Iowa alumni nominated by sons or daughters at SUI. The Alumni Dad will be introduced at the Friday evening concert in the Iowa Memorial Union.

Launching the weekend's activities will be the pep rally Friday at 7:15 p.m. on the west steps of Old Capitol, followed by the concert featuring Bill Haley and His Comets. Tickets for the concert will be available Monday at $1.50 per person at the Iowa Memorial Union information desk and Whetstone's Drug Store.

Open Houses

Saturday morning SUI housing units will hold open house for their parents.

After the luncheon in their honor, fathers of Iowa football players will sit in a special section at the Dad's Day game, wearing numbers corresponding to their sons' gridiron numerals.

Dad's Day activities will conclude with a dance Saturday from 8 to 11 p.m., in the River Room of the Iowa Memorial Union. From 9 to 10 p.m. Saturday in the Union's main lounge, ODK will be host at a reception for all SUI dads.

France Walks Out After UN Algeria Vote

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—

France walked out of the UN General Assembly Friday night and one high-ranking member of the French delegation said his country might quit the world organization entirely.

The walkout followed the Assembly action in deciding by a one vote margin to take over bitter French objection the torrid issue of Algerian independence.

Grave Message

Immediately after the vote French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay asked for the floor and in grave tones told the representatives of 60 nations that France would regard as null and void any action taken by the Assembly on Algeria.

Then he added:

"I do not know what the consequences of this vote will be on the relations between France and the United Nations."

Delegation Leaves

Then the French delegation arose from their seats toward the front of the Assembly auditorium and walked out.

Outside the chamber a reporter asked Herve Alphand, the French ambassador to the UN, whether France might withdraw from the United Nations because of the Algerian decision.

"We might," he replied.

The assembly, by a vote of 28-27, with five abstentions, overrode the recommendation of its 15-nation Steering Committee that the Algerian issue be skipped during this session of the

Tuition Payments Due October 3-6

Fees for the fall semester will be paid from 8:15-12 noon and 1-5 p.m. Monday through Thursday at the Treasurer's Office.

The fine for late payment of fees will be $2 on Oct. 7, with $1 added for each additional day of delay.

Resident fees are: liberal arts, commerce, education, graduate and nursing (first two years), $102; dentistry and medicine, $152; engineering, $107; law, $122; pharmacy, $112; nursing (second two years), $26; practical nursing, $87.

Non-resident fees are: liberal arts, commerce, and education, $212; dentistry, $262; engineering, $217; graduate, $152; law, $232; medicine, $307; pharmacy, $222; nursing, $102; nursing (second two years), $26; practical nursing, $87.

Soviet Support

Members of the Asian-African bloc made the original request to take up the Algerian question. In the General Assembly they received the support of the Soviet Union and other Communist countries, including Yugoslavia, and of some Latin-American nations.

Lining up with France were the United States, Britain, the smaller colonial powers and a scattering of nations from Latin America and other parts of the globe.

Dickenson's Plea Denied

WASHINGTON (AP)—The highest military court upheld Friday the conviction of Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson, 24, the first turncoat American tried on charges of aiding the Communists while a prisoner of war in Korea.

The military court of appeals unanimously sustained an Army court-martial's conviction of Dickenson and his sentence—10 years at hard labor plus a dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of pay and allowances.

Dickenson, from the little town of Cracker's Neck, Va., is serving his sentence at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

His attorneys had raised various legal objections to the court-martial, and said the evidence did not justify convicting Dickenson of collaborating with his Communist captors to curry favor and win better treatment for himself.

But the three-man Military Court of Appeals, in a 12,000-word opinion written by Chief Judge Robert E. Quinn, rejected the defense contention. It said the record proved that Dickenson had engaged in a "pattern of informing" on his fellow POW's.

Dickenson was one of 23 captured American soldiers who first elected to remain with the Communists. Shortly after the prisoner exchange which followed the Korean armistice, however, he and another, Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor of Kermit, Tex., changed their minds and came home.

Chief of Navy Grants Cadet A Commission

WASHINGTON (AP)—The secretary of the Navy Friday overruled a special review board and ordered that a reserve commission be granted to Eugene Landy, 21, whose mother was once a Communist.

Secretary Charles Thomas held there was no indication that the honor graduate of the Merchant Marine Academy had ever been influenced by his mother in a subversive way. He said the youth's association with his mother was the "natural relationship of mother and son and not a sympathetic association with her political beliefs."

Mrs. Deborah Landy of Bradley Beach, N.J., the mother, had admitted to 10 years membership in the Communist party. She said she left it in 1947 at the urging of her son.

Last August, the Navy withheld the ensign's reserve commission for which young Landy had worked at the academy at Kings Point, N.Y. He stood second in his graduating class, and among other things won the award given by the Daughters of the American Revolution for attainments in naval science.

2 Go Free on Bond In Till Kidnap Case

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP)—Two white men accused of kidnaping Emmett Louis Till, 14, walked free on bond Friday, a week after they were acquitted of slaying the Chicago Negro.

County Judge Charles Pollard bound Roy Bryant, 24, and his half-brother, John W. Milam, 36, over to the Leflore County grand jury and set bond at $10,000 each.

The two waived preliminary hearing. The grand jury meets Nov. 7.

Meanwhile, Negroes in Detroit held a 24-hour mass meeting to protest the acquittal of Bryant and Milam.

In New York, A. Phillip Randolph, president of the AFL Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, called for an FBI investigation into the alleged disappearance of two Negroes who were to testify in the trial.

The two, Leroy Collins and Henry Lee Loggins, reportedly saw Till in the hands of his abductors.

Randolph said he had wired U.S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell the two have been missing since Till's kidnaping last month.

Send-Off

40 SUI Students Cheer Hawks at Airport

A small and not too energetic crowd turned out Friday afternoon at Municipal Airport to see the Iowa football team off to its game with Wisconsin today.

About 40 persons, two cheerleaders and a truckload of marching band members clustered around the airport's terminal door to see the team off.

The cheerleaders led a few cheers and the band played a few numbers. The team boarded the plane and remained there, glancing out of the windows occasionally.

Frank Gilliam, Hawkeye starting end of the past three seasons, stood with the few fans and watched his teammates take off without him. He was wearing a cast on his fractured right leg and walked with the aid of crutches.

After a 15-minute rally, the Ozark Airliner carrying the Hawks taxied down the runway and took off into a north wind for Madison, Wis.

The Hawk-I Pep Club, athletic booster group, arraigned to have cars stop by the Iowa Memorial Union at 3:30 p.m. to pick up students, but few appeared.

2 Rescued In Cave-In

ELY, Minn. (AP)—Two Ely men were rescued unharmed Friday night after being trapped 1,300 feet underground for 20 hours by an iron-mine cave-in.

"They took right off for home under their own power after the lift brought 'em up," a spokesman at the mine head said.

Albert Marolt and Toyvo Hill, 55, were helped from the tomblike stope room by fellow workers who had blasted, chiseled and dug continuously since the men were imprisoned.

Rescue crews continued their efforts in a hunt for Joe Glimsek of Ely, a third miner caught, when the tons of earth, muck and ore tore loose.

Marolt and Hill were kept alive through a lead pipe rescuers forced into their haven through the mass of fallen debris.

Workers toiling in shifts pushed a shaft, large enough for a man's body, up to the men from a lower level, thus bypassing the collapsed area.

Officials of the Oliver Iron Mining Co., in whose Pioneer Mine the collapse came, said fresh crews would be put on the job until Glimsek is found—or his body recovered.

Hill Says He Won't Be Aide to Benson

DES MOINES (AP)—E. Howard Hill of Minburn, president of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation, Friday declared he is not available for appointment as assistant U.S. secretary of agriculture.

Replying to reports from Washington that he was among several men being considered for the post, Hill said in a statement:

"I'm very appreciative of being considered for appointment as assistant secretary of agriculture—if I'm being considered—but I definitely am not available. "I feel for the time being at least I would be of greater service to Iowa farmers in the development of agriculture policy in my present position."

PLANS NO CHANGE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson denied Friday that a change is contemplated in the assistant secretaryship held by James McConnell, a New York State farm leader. Through an assistant, Benson said he expected McConnell to continue on the job for an indefinite period. McConnell has charge of the department's price support and crop control programs.

Cabinet 'Cheered' By Ike's Progress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's Cabinet, "greatly cheered" by his progress toward recovery, said Friday the government should run smoothly while he is away.

A formal statement, issued after a White House meeting presided over by Vice-president Richard Nixon, said:

"After a full discussion of pending matters, it was concluded that there are no obstacles to the orderly and uninterrupted conduct of the foreign and domestic affairs of the nation during the period of rest ordered by the President physicians.

"Coordination of the activities of the several departments of the government within the framework of these policies will be continued by full cooperation among the responsible officers of these departments so that the functions of the government will be carried forward in an effective manner during the absence of the President."

Actor James Dean Is Killed in Crash

PASO ROBLES, Calif. (AP)—James Dean, brilliant young motion picture actor and sports car racing enthusiast, was killed Friday night in an automobile accident near here.

He was en route to a sports car meeting at Salinas, driving a small German car.

Dean had appeared in "East of Eden," released last April, and in "Rebel Without a Cause," still unreleased.

Ike Better, Signs Two Documents

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower Friday night took the first small but momentous step in a long march back toward active command of the government by signing two federal documents.

The action, taken by the President from his hospital bed after another day of encouraging progress in recuperation from his heart attack, came at 8:27 p.m.—a few hours short of a week from the time he was stricken.

First Business

The signing of the documents, providing for promotion of State Department foreign service officers, was the first business transacted by the chief executive since last Friday, the eve of his attack.

Originally White House officials had said Eisenhower merely would initial the two papers. Instead, using a pen from his desk at the temporary White House here, he wrote his full name on each.

His bed was elevated slightly to permit this action.

Doctor Present

The documents were laid before the President by his personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters that Snyder told the President that Sherman Adams, the chief executive's top assistant, was on hand, and the two promotions were ready for approval.

Adams in Denver

Adams flew here from Washington Friday night, to take charge of the Denver White House, after attending a Cabinet meeting.

He drove directly from Lowry Air Force Base to Fitzsimons Army Hospital, but Hagerty said he didn't see Eisenhower personally and probably wouldn't until today.

Won't Object To 2d Term, Says Doctor

BOSTON (AP)—Dr. Paul Dudley White, famous heart specialist who attended President Eisenhower, said Friday night "I would have no objection whatsoever to his running again."

Dr. White issued the statement in Boston because of "possible misinterpretation" of a statement he made Friday on the NBC television show "Today."

During that program, Dr. White said that if he were Eisenhower he "wouldn't want to run" for a second term.

Press Statement

In a voluntary statement to the press Friday night, Dr. White said:

"I would like to respond, in answer to many questions coming Friday, concerning the possible misinterpretation of a recent comment of mine.

"This was in response to the ever-recurring query as to whether I think or would recommend that the President could undertake to run for a second term.

Many If's

"If the President has a good recovery, as he seems to be on the way to establishing, and if he desires to continue his present career—which would be, of course, to the great benefit of this country and the world at large—I would have no objections whatsoever to his running again.

During the program, Dr. White was asked if he believed it would be possible for the President to serve a second term.

"Many things are possible that may not be advisable," Dr. White replied. "It is up to him to make the decision. He may or may not have a complete recovery... If I were in his shoes I wouldn't want to run again, having seen the strain."

Board Plans End Zone Bleachers

By KIRK BOYD

The Board in Control of Athletics Friday night announced that State University of Iowa students would have enough seats for the Iowa-Purdue game Oct. 15.

A Board statement, however, cast doubt over whether there would be enough seats for the Iowa-Indiana game next Saturday.

The Board said that bleachers with about 4,500 seats would be installed behind the south end zone.

"In this section," the statement said, "will be seated about 1,200 persons who already hold tickets for the old bleachers."

The rest of the seats will be for student use, the statement said.

Installation

"It is expected that the installation will be more than one-fourth completed by Dad's Day, Oct. 8, and finished prior to the homecoming game with Purdue one week later," the statement added.

One fourth of the 4,500 seats would be 1,185, or just enough to hold the 1,200 persons who have already purchased tickets.

Safeway Steel Scaffolding, Inc., of Detroit, will supply the bleachers, the Board announced.

More than $19,000 will be spent for them, The Daily Iowan learned Friday.

Board Study

"The matter of securing additional seating capacity has been under review by the Board for several months and the present contract is the result of negotiations continued since the first week in September," the statement said.

The Board's announcement climaxed a five-month campaign by SUI student groups to get additional football seating for students.

During the 1954 season students sat in the aisles of Iowa Stadium at some games. In early May, 1955, the Student Council asked the Athletic Board for more student seating.

May 28, Mark Putney, L2, Gadsbrook, Council president, accused the Board of inaction and of ignoring the Council's request.

The Board promised consideration.

Brechler Letter

Putney released a letter to him from Paul Brechler, director of athletics, on June 27 that turned down the council's requests because "there is no need for additional seats in the student section for the 1955 football season."

Brechler's letter reasoned that the 8,600 seats in the student section would be enough because:

1. Only 8,400 students were expected to enroll for the fall term.

2. Surveys showed that only 85 per cent of the student body (in this case 7,100) would attend football games.

The Kansas State-Iowa football game Sept. 24 showed a lack of student seating. Students filled every seat and much of the aisle space in the student section. Those sitting in the aisles were asked to move to the vacant seats in the east stands.

Brechler said this week that the 85 per cent figure was several years old. He said that the SUI Registrar's office had given him the 8,500 estimate. Present SUI enrollment is 9,127.

Spouse Tickets

Also, the reduced price on spouse tickets has increased their sales from 400 in 1954 to 900 this year.

Brechler said Thursday that a solution was possible but would not be made public before next week.

"We're happy about this," said Putney Friday night. "I think it's a very timely response to student demand."

"We're not happy about the end-zone seating," he said. "But we realize it's the best that can be done this year."

A Rousing Send-Off—

The Iowa Hawkeyes enplaned Friday afternoon for the Wisconsin tilt amid the cheers of loyal Iowa supporters — all 40 or more of them.

The team was already on board when most of this loyal group arrived. But looking out of the plane windows, they must have been gratified at this "large" turnout.

There are those cynics who will say "so what?" But any player will testify that the support of the student body gives him a big boost in morale when facing a tough opponent.

We sincerely thank those few who turned out at this rally. But it is a sad commentary on SUI when of our 9,000 plus students, only a handful would take this direct action in support of our team.

The Till Case: an Appraisal—

Heat enough has been generated by the speedy acquittal of the two white defendants in the Emmett Till kidnap-murder case. Some attempt at a calm appraisal is very much in order. And any appraisal must make entries on both sides of the balance sheet.

Before the trial the State of Mississippi announced it would not seek the death penalty, for its evidence on the murder charge was circumstantial. On grounds that the kidnaping allegedly took place in one county and the murder in another jury in Tallahatchie County considered the murder charge only. Furthermore, from the first discovery of the body doubts had been raised whether sure identification was possible. And the Mississippi law defines no graduations of the murder crime.

The jury therefore had a choice only between life imprisonment (or execution) and acquittal, and had to make this choice on circumstantial evidence, including a question as to the legality of the matter of "corpus delicti."

On the other hand, there can be no doubt that on trial in the small rural community were not merely two defendants but also all the deep-rooted racial mores of a South which feels itself misunderstood. The intense reaction of other parts of the country, the inflammatory statements by some Negro leaders, and the national spotlight cast upon the trial doubtless intensified this sense of being cornered. One might well raise the question whether, even had the state's case been less indirect, a jury in this place and time would have brought in a conviction.

Be it said to the credit of Mississippi that the state acted promptly in securing an indictment and vigorously in pressing the prosecution, and that the judge's conduct of the trial seemed worthy of his calling. The two defendants, acquitted of murder, are being held for the grand jury in LeFlore County, where the kidnaping is said to have occurred, on evidence which promises to be largely direct.

The wheels of justice, though sorely beset from many quarters, have not yet ceased to turn.

Words of Men, Wise and Otherwise

... History after all is the story of people: a statement that might seem too obvious to be worth making if it were not for the fact that history so often is presented in terms of vast incomprehensible forces moving far under the surface, carrying human beings along, helpless, and making them conform to a pattern whose true shape they never see. The pattern does exist, often enough, and it is important to trace it. Yet it is good to remember that it is the people who make the pattern, and not the other way around.

Heart Attack May Hit Any Profession

(Editor's Note: This is the last of a series of five articles by Pulitzer Prize winning writer Relman Morin describing his coronary thrombosis attack. President Eisenhower's heart attack last Saturday was the same type.)

By RELMAN MORIN
 NEW YORK (AP)—Even before I had a heart attack, I always assumed that there is an unusually high incidence of heart disease among newsmen.

A doctor probably would tell you the same thing about his profession. And the high-pressure business executive is often pictured as an eminently likely victim. The American professional man, generally — especially after he passes 40 — is supposed to be particularly susceptible to heart attacks.

He lives at a fast pace, under mental strain and emotional tension. He is more than likely to drink and smoke, and have irregular habits of eating and sleeping. These patterns are usually thought to be a factor in heart disease.

Statisticians Cautious
 But actually, the statisticians are very cautious. They seldom state any hard and fast conclusions about the incidence of heart disease in particular groups of people.

But such figures as are available indicate that occupation has no bearing on whether you will have a heart attack.

Scientists Discuss Childhood Disease

A disease of infancy and childhood for which the cause has not been determined is being discussed at the State University of Iowa's College of Medicine today by medical scientists from more than 20 institutions.

The event is a conference on fibrocystic disease of the pancreas, an ailment which, among other effects, interferes with the digestion of food. A cure for the disease still has not been found.

The meeting is being conducted under the auspices of the Department of Pediatrics at SUI and sponsored by the M & R Laboratories of Columbus, Ohio, a research branch of a firm which manufactures food supplements for infants.

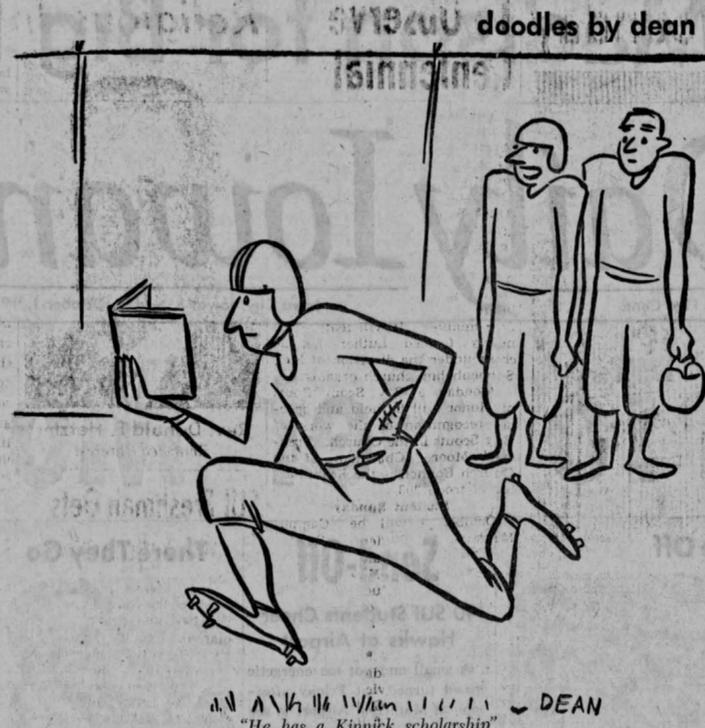

The M & R Laboratories support a program of nutritional research which is under way in the department of pediatrics at SUI.

Represented at the meeting, which is an invitational event, are the Universities of Cincinnati, Buffalo, Southern California, Nebraska, Rochester, Maryland and Pennsylvania; Harvard, Columbia, Yale, Vanderbilt, Ohio State, Johns Hopkins, Western Reserve, Wayne and New York Universities; the Children's Hospital Research Foundation of Cincinnati; the Albany Medical College; the Children's Exocrine Research Foundation of Philadelphia; and Blank Memorial Hospital in Des Moines.

J. L. Davies, director of correspondence study at SUI, will address the group's dinner meeting today on "The Use of Leisure Time."

Sunday's sessions include talks on "Back Injuries — Their Prevention and Treatment" by Dr. Carrol Larson, head of Orthopedic Surgery at SUI, and "Rehabilitation of the Worker in Industry" by Dr. David Paul, director of rehabilitation in the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Dean Mason Ladd of the SUI College of Law will address the group on "Workmen's Compensation." A buffet luncheon will then be served in City Park. The group will adjourn at 3 p.m. following a discussion led by Prof. Faye Kubicek, of the SUI College of Nursing.

Iowa-Illinois Utility Pays Largest Tax

The largest payment by any single taxpayer in Johnson County was received this week by the County Treasurer, J. E. Stewart, District Manager of the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company, said Friday.

The check, for $99,366.16, covered the last half of the utility's property taxes for 1954 in Johnson County.

In March of this year an additional $99,366.72 was paid the county for the first half of 1954 bringing the total county tax figure of the company to $198,732.88.

Big Push Against Polio Still In Future, Vaccine 1st Step

(Editor's Note: This is the last of a series of five articles on what parents should know about the Salk polio vaccine).

By HART E. VAN RIPER, M.D.

"I understand the doctors have been told to give Salk vaccinations only to children five to nine years old until all of that age have had the shots. I am the mother of a child of three. Suppose there is not enough vaccine this year to go round. Does this mean my three-year-old may have to go through another polio season next year without protection?"

It is understandable that questions like this arise in the minds of anxious parents. But this mother would do well, I think, to stop "supposing" herself into a state of worry over the present priorities applying to the Salk vaccine.

Vaccine Available
 In the first place, it now appears likely that enough vaccine will be available by next spring, and possibly sooner, for all American children. The U.S. Surgeon General, Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, whose office has charge of the release of vaccine, believes there will be enough to vaccinate all under 20 years old.

When that part of the polio vaccination program financed by the March of Dimes is completed — two shots for children in the first and second grades of school — physicians will have before them a voluntary plan suggested by the U.S. Public Health Service which will list recommended priorities by age-group for administration of the vaccine.

In this list, five to nine-year-olds will come first, because experience shows that this group suffers the highest rate of paralytic polio. The American Medical Association already has asked its members to observe this priority.

List Additions
 As long as the vaccine remains in short supply, additions to the list are possible. In point of polio incidence, the age-group from one to five years is second highest. From nine years on, the percentage of incidence shows a downward trend.

Parents whose children today must wait their turn for the Salk vaccine should bear in mind that there is a good reason for these priorities, that they are grounded in good sense and that if and when good sense dictates changes in the schedule, these changes will be made.

Some concern about priorities on the vaccine is natural, but we parents must concern ourselves with another side of the polio story, too.

SUI Fighting
 The National Foundation is currently warning everyone that "polio isn't licked yet."

They are right. Even after the goal of universal vaccination is realized, some years hence, polio will not have been licked until three other aims are accomplished:

First, until funds are assured for the care which current polio patients must have if they are to win their way back to usefulness and enjoyment of the satisfactions of life.

Further Research
 Second, until further research improves the effectiveness of the vaccine and of all other safeguards against the damage of polio.

Third, until there are enough trained professional personnel specializing in polio problems — scientists, doctors, physical and occupational therapists, medical social workers — to overcome an acute nationwide shortage.

Your child is probably one of the lucky ones who will never be hit by polio. But only when these aims are realized on behalf of the less fortunate children can any of us cease our efforts in the fight against polio. Only then will polio be licked.

Plan State Inquiry Of Train Rerouting

DES MOINES (AP)—The State Commerce Commission announced Thursday that it would conduct an inquiry into the rerouting of Union Pacific Railroad passenger trains over Milwaukee tracks through Iowa.

The inquiry was requested by the City of Boone. The commission has said it has inquiry powers only, since the trains are in interstate commerce.

Questions raised by Boone, including the question of whether an ultimate merger between the North Western and Milwaukee is likely, will be included in the inquiry, the commission said.

"This Commission will make diligent inquiry for the purpose of obtaining all the facts concerning said rerouting of trains and will make these facts available to the public," the announcement said.

Hancher, Former Pastor Dierks To Speak—

Baptists To Dedicate New Church Sunday

President Virgil M. Hancher of the State University of Iowa will be one of the speakers at the dedication service of First Baptist Church, N. Clinton and Fairchild, at 10:30 a.m. Sunday.

The main address will be delivered by the Rev. Ronald V. Wells of New York City, Director of University Pastor and Student Work for the American Baptist Convention.

Pastors, Student to Speak
Speaking with President Hancher on the various aspects of the church in relation to the community, the student world, and the ecumenical front, will be the Rev. Elmer E. Dierks, Roger N. Coe, E. J. Tama; and the Rev. Robert Sanks.

The Rev. Mr. Dierks, former pastor of the church, is University Pastor at the University of West Virginia and State Student Secretary.

Dedicatory Litany
The dedicatory litany will be given by the new pastor of the church, the Rev. G. Thomas Fattaruso; and Dr. Paul Smith of Des Moines, executive secretary of the Iowa Baptist Convention, will give the scripture lesson and prayer and pronounce the benediction.

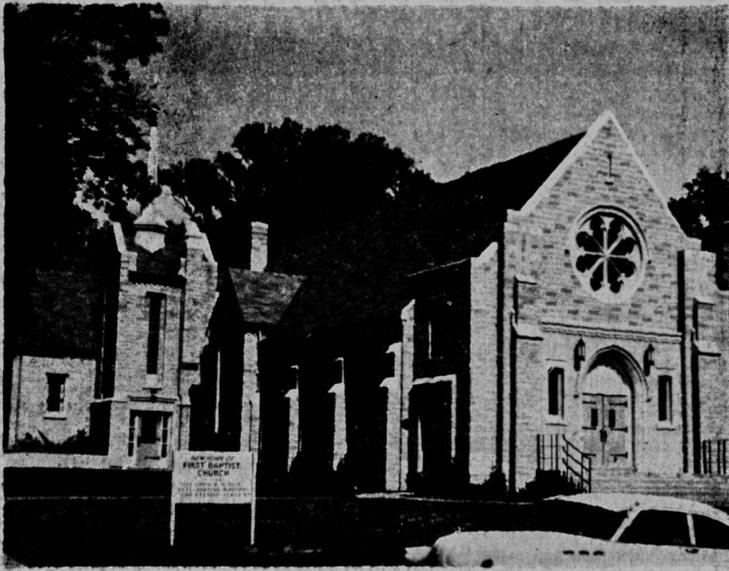

From 2 to 5 p.m. the church will hold open house. The Rev. Mr. Dierks, who served as pastor for nearly 26 years and was instrumental in the building's construction will be host. Refreshments will be served in the church's fellowship hall and guided tours of the building will be conducted by members of the congregation.

Under the impact of the Year of Baptist Achievement program, in which the church is currently engaged, it may soon be necessary to hold two morning services to accommodate the membership, the Rev. Mr. Fattaruso said. He said that present facilities are being expanded in anticipation of a membership increase.

Iowa Citian To Be Lutheran Delegate

Mrs. E. E. Lawyer of Iowa City left Friday for Cleveland, Ohio, where she will be a delegate to the Biennium Convention of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Lutheran Church in America. Mrs. Lawyer is statistician for the Women's Missionary Society of the Iowa Synod of that church body.

The group has a national membership of 80,700 and has an annual budget of $1,900,000. The group supports missionary work in Japan, India, Malaya, and British Guiana. Its home mission program includes trailer churches and the purchase of parsonages and other gifts for newly organized churches.

THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, Clinton and Fairchild Streets, will be dedicated Sunday at 10:30 a.m. SUI President Virgil M. Hancher will be one of the speakers at the service.

Cadet Commanders Named for ROTC

Cadet Col. Francis J. Hauptert was appointed Deputy Corps Commander Friday by Col. James A. Scott, Department of Military Science and Tactics, at the State University of Iowa.

Colonel Scott also released the following promotions and appointments: Col. James G. Andrews, Regimental Commander; Lt. Col. James E. Houser, Lt. Col. Terry A. Shuck, Battalion Commanders.

Maj. Eldean M. Matheson, Corps S3; Maj. Craig A. Gipple, Regimental S3; Maj. Lester L. Hawthorne, Regimental Adjutant. Company commanders are: Maj. James A. McCullough, Maj. Wayne M. Mead, Maj. Robert E. Newton, Maj. Richard J. Pederson, Maj. Duane R. Tofson, Maj. Harlan H. Jenkinson, Maj. Kenneth C. Leuer, Maj. Earl L. Lindanger.

Appointments will remain effective until Nov. 23. Other senior ROTC officers will then be placed in command for performance observation.

EAT SIX A DAY

Many persons feel better on six meals a day than they do on four. The extra meals should be midmorning, midafternoon and before-vedtime snacks. Foods suitable for these extra meals are milk, fruit, cheese and crackers, vegetable cocktails and vegetable finger foods such as tomato wedges, carrot strips, celery stalks, cucumber sticks.

Lutherans To Observe Centennial

The Iowa City First English Lutheran Church, organized April 22, 1855, is celebrating Centennial Month during the month of October. Centennial Communion Services at 8:30 and 10:45 Sunday will mark the beginning of a month of special centennial services.

The same day a Sunday Evening Vesper Service will be inaugurated. The new service will begin at 7 p.m. and last forty-five minutes. It will feature the newly formed Luther League choir under the direction of Sieg Schoenbohm, church organist.

Monday a Boy Scout Court of Honor will be held and special recognition of the work of Boy Scouts in the Church. Frederick Moore, Chairman of the Church Council is the Scoutmaster of troop 203.

Student Sunday
October 9 will be "Campus Ministry to Students" Sunday and the Rev. Donald F. Hetzler, Student Pastor to National Lutheran Council students at the State University of Iowa will preach at the 8:30 and 10:45 services.

October 16 will be Our Lutheran Heritage Sunday and speaker for both services that day will be the Rev. G. M. Forell of the SUI School of Religion.

Civic Night
Civic Night will be held Oct. 20 and at that time the ministers and civic leaders of Iowa City will be guests of the church at a banquet.

Two former ministers of the congregation will return for a Centennial Sunday service Oct. 23. They are the Rev. Ralph Krueger of Springfield, Ohio, and the Rev. Wendell S. Dyingier of Hackensawville, Ill.

The concluding service for Centennial Month will be Reformation Day services Oct. 30 when the Rev. George T. L. Jacobsen, pastor of the church, will speak on the centennial theme, "A Century of Promise."

JOAN CRAWFORD SICK HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Joan Crawford was forced to halt work in her current film Thursday because of an attack of neuralgia. Columbia Pictures said work will continue without her until she returns.

Reasons for Renewed Religious Interest Told

Rev. Donald F. Hetzler Renewed Interest

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of weekly articles in which we will ask members of the clergy their opinions on the recent increased interest in religion.)

"I believe insecurity is one of the major reasons for increased interest in religion," said the Rev. Donald F. Hetzler, campus pastor to Lutheran students of the National Lutheran Council.

"I'm glad more people are interested in the church, but their motives must be right or the church must change their motives. The church is here to speak for God and it must do so. Some people go to church to give themselves a psychological lift, some go because they are upset over world situations, and some go just because everybody seems to be going—it's the style.

Must Comfort People
"People should go to church to worship and if they don't the church should change their view. If the church does not, it is on the wrong track. It must comfort and assure people of salvation; yet, it must use its strong voice to attack problems like the racial issues. I am skeptical of some of today's preaching; preaching should be a prophetic voice.

"People should go to church in good and bad times. I am afraid that if the Geneva spirit continues many who go to church for fear of communism may stop. Our motives should be like those of people in history who went to church even under persecution because they truly wanted to worship God.

Greater Interest
"There is far greater interest in religion now than after World War II when I was a student here. The university enrollment was higher then but the student religious groups are more active now and generally stand in higher regard.

"The increased mobility of the American people may also be one reason for increased interest and church attendance. When many people move to a new community their first contact is with the church and its members. The new mission churches in many cities and their church activities have attracted many new members."

Two Join Staff at Methodist Church

Miss Joyce Stoutamy Staff Associate

Joyce Stoutamy, new staff associate at Wesley Foundation, assumed her duties here in August. She works with the Rev. Robert Sanks, minister to Methodist students.

Miss Stoutamy received her B.A. degree in sociology from Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia. She attended Garret Biblical Institute at Northwestern University where she received her M.A. in religion in June 1955.

Another new staff member at First Methodist Church is the Rev. Edward Phillips who graduated from Garret Seminary in June 1955. The Rev. Mr. Phillips holds the position of associate minister.

University Women To Hold Tea Today

The Iowa City Branch of the American Association of University Women will open its fall activities with a tea for all members and prospective members at the University Club today from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Board members will be introduced and guests will be invited to membership. Study group chairmen will be on hand to sign members to their groups and to discuss their program plans for the coming year.

Women interested in joining the AAUW are asked to contact Mrs. Boyd McCandless for further information.

Official Sees Vaccine For 24 Million in '56

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Basil O'Connor of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said Friday there might be enough Salk polio vaccine available next year to vaccinate 24 million children.

"There is no reason why there shouldn't be adequate vaccine next year," O'Connor said at a news conference. "You ask what I mean by 'adequate' Let's put it this way: There is no reason why there shouldn't be a large amount of vaccine available next year, maybe enough to vaccinate approximately 24 million children in the one to nine year age group — the highly susceptible group."

O'Connor said there are about 30 million children in that age group, but more than six million first and second graders will have received two shots under the free programs sponsored by NFIP this year but not yet completed.

The foundation is not paying for the third shot for these children, but aides to O'Connor said the implication of his remarks about next year's supplies was that third shots for the first and second graders could be obtained from current supplies.

The alternative to individual vaccination by private physicians, he said in reply to a question, would be to have the government finance programs conducted on a mass scale in schools — similar to the one financed by the NFIP this year. But he declined to say whether he would favor a government program.

The foundation does not plan to sponsor a vaccination program next year.

Podres Shackles Yanks as Brooks Win, 8-3

It's All in Sport

By Gene Ingle
This writer's face is exceptionally flushed this Saturday. He cheated.
On our weekly prognosticating program over radio station WSUI, it was pointed out to him that his record for predicting 1 a s t week's football games was 7-5, not 8-4 as he had boasted so gloriously set forth in this column on Monday. So he will refrain from boasting hereafter until he gets the judges' decision.

Actually, there probably are many Hawkeye fans who would shoot me on sight today, after I picked Wisconsin over Iowa. Of course, this has no bearing on my loyalty. But with Iowa's many injuries and uncertainties, Wisconsin has the edge.
No one else picked the Badgers, probably because they would have had to hide their faces, just as I am having to do.

But on the rest of this week's games—oh, that Bucky O'Connor. Out of 12 games, O'Connor was with the minority opinion 5 times.
Here's the way we—O'Connor, Terry Bledsoe of Sports Information Service, Dave Etzel of WSUI and myself—picked this weekend's games:
Everyone picked Iowa except me.
We all chose Notre Dame to whip Indiana.
Purdue will take care of Minnesota, we all agreed, and Michigan was picked unanimously to beat Michigan State.

There was no argument that Illinois would easily handle Iowa State or that Ohio State would whip Stanford, despite what Chuck Taylor, Stanford coach, says about the game. (He's going to stop Hopalong Cassidy.)
Everyone had his own opinion on the Northwestern-Tulane game and as a result it came out a tie. Bob Zenger, panel moderator, broke the tie by picking Northwestern (he likes the Big Ten schools).
O'Connor liked Kansas State so much when they were here in Iowa City that he chose them to beat Nebraska. The rest of us picked Nebraska.

O'Connor went against his alma mater, Drake University of Des Moines, and picked Iowa State Teachers College. Etzel agreed. But Bledsoe and I picked Drake so Zenger broke the tie by picking the Des Moines school.
Three of us were influenced by Army's 81-0 victory last Saturday over Furman, although we agreed that Red Blaik's team shouldn't have piled it on so much. However, this was O'Connor's upset game, he said, and his nod went to Penn.

And he went against the No. 1 team in the country in his final choice of the day as he picked Baylor to beat Maryland. He didn't mention an upset.
The rest of us weren't sticking our necks out, so we picked Maryland.
Incidentally, O'Connor, Bledsoe and Etzel are tied with top honors with 8-4.

Spieser Beats Troy On 5th Round TKO
WASHINGTON (AP)—Young Chuck Spieser, a blood-spattered whirling dervish from Detroit, clubbed Willie Troy senseless to win a nationally televised fight by a technical knockout at 2:52 of the fifth round Friday night.
Pushing, shoving and bullying from the start, Spieser slammed Troy over the ring before Referee Charley Reynolds halted the bout, a scheduled 10 round match.
Spieser, former NCAA lightweight king from Michigan State, weighed 166½; Troy, a highly-rated Washingtonian, weighed 160½.
Three times Troy went crashing to the canvas in the fifth round, but on each occasion it wasn't a punch that floored him. Spieser gave him a series of good healthy shoves and Willie couldn't keep his balance.

Campy Slams Home Run in 11-Hit Victory

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
BROOKLYN — Sturdy Johnny Podres celebrated his 23d birthday Friday by walking his lefthanded fast ball with a teasing change of pace to give Brooklyn its first victory over the New York Yankees, 8-3, in the third game of the World Series at Ebbets Field.

CASEY STENDEL, New York Yankee manager, is engaging in a heated argument with plate umpire Jim Honochick, who ordered Phil Rizzuto back to third base after the ball had rolled into the Dodger dugout following the Skowron-Campagna collision near home plate in the second inning. Rizzuto had started home, but was ordered back, and Stengel disagreed with the decision.

Mantel Plays, Harriers Preparing For Oct. 22 Meet

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel said he made a last minute switch to crippled Mickey Mantle in his lineup Friday at Mantle's request, but added that Mickey may be back on the bench in the fourth World Series game today.
"With the Dodgers pitching a righthander (Carl Erskine), I may go back to Irv Noren," the manager of the New York Yankees said. "Mickey would have to bat lefthanded and he tells me his leg bothers him more from that side."

Surprise Starter

Mantle, a switch-hitter who has been on the sidelines with an injured right leg, was a surprise starter of the third game Friday.

Better Pitching

"They got better pitching, that's all," Casey said. "That Podres was plenty sharp out there. It was the pitch that made Mickey hit into a double play, not his leg."

Stengel Whistled

Stengel whistled tunelessly as he led his beaten athletes into their quarters and the entire team took the setback with a professional calm.
"Just before the game Mickey came to me and said he thought he could run okay," Stengel said. "So I told him he could play."

Wasn't Loose

"Then when I saw him make that running, one-handed catch of Junior Gilliam's fly in the first inning, I figured he wasn't loose.
"Mickey told me he thought he could play rightfield better and that's why I shifted my outfield."

Stengel Made Shift

Stengel made the shift in the second, sending Bob Cerv to center and Elston Howard from right field to left.
Mantle said afterwards in the dressing room that he was handicapped in his movement by his bum leg but that he had told Casey he would like to play.

Roy Campanella awoke from his slump with a 2-run homer, double and single to drive in three runs.
The Brooks chased fire-balling Bob Turley when he turned wild in the second and continued to bump Tom Morgan, Johnny Kucks and Tom Sturdivant for 11 hits.

Manager Walter Alston stuck with the youngster from Witherbee, N. Y., through thick and thin.
Three times he strode to the mound to talk things over with Podres and Campy only to let the pitcher continue.

Podres on Ropes

In the sixth it appeared that Podres was on the ropes. Gil McDougald and Yogi Berra had lined singles to center with nobody out.
The batter was Mickey Mantle, trying to play despite a torn leg muscle that forced him to hobble around center field and shift to right in the second.
Trusting Podres to keep the ball low to Mantle, Alston let Podres face the Yankee hitter. Mantle lashed a rally-killing double-play ball to shortstop Pee Wee Reese.

Podres Teeters

Although Podres teetered a bit in the seventh when a walk to Phil Rizzuto and Andy Carey's pinch-triple to the leftfield corner produced a third Yank run, he steadied to strike out hitless Bob Cerv for the third straight time.

For today's fourth game at Ebbets Field, Alston has named Carl Erskine, who managed an 11-8 record during the regular season despite arm trouble.

Erskine is the same fellow who set a series record by striking out 14 Yanks in the third game back in 1953.
Casey Stengel will send Don Larsen after the fourth game, still hoping to end matters with two more victories at Brooklyn. Larsen had a 9-2 record this season although he spent much of the campaign with Denver of the American Association.

Robinson Magnificent

Jackie Robinson played magnificent ball at third base for the Dodgers, contributing seven assists, only two short of the record. Jackie drew a gasp from the fans when he doubled to the left field corner and sailed on to third when Elston Howard threw to second base, trying to nip him off the bag.
Stengel surprised the customers — and the Dodgers — by starting Mantle in center field.
Mickey hit a home run over the 393-foot mark into the centerfield bleachers on his first time up in the second inning.

Campy Erms

Campanella wore the dunce cap for a spell in the second. Mantle's homer got one run back and Skowron followed with a double. Podres made Howard ground to Robinson and whiffed Billy Martin.
Rizzuto singled and Skowron scored. Sandy Amoros' peg to the plate had Skowron out by at least three feet but Campy, trying to make an extra hard tag, lost the ball when Skowron lunged in. The ball rolled to the Dodger dugout.
The Brooks lost little time ripping into the wild Turley.

Campy Homers

Pee Wee Reese walked with one out in the first. After Duke Snider struck out, Campanella hit his home run.
With the score tied 2-2 in the last of the second, Robinson singled after one man was out. Turley hit Amoros on the right thigh with a pitch and Podres' bunt down toward third was fumbled by Turley, loading the bases.

Walks Home Run

Then Turley walked Gilliam on a 3-1 pitch to move home Robinson with the tie-breaking run. Stengel waved in Morgan.
Morgan walked Reese, forcing across another run. Gritty pitching to Snider and Campanella avoided further damage.
Brooklyn unloaded on Morgan for two more runs in the fourth. The final pair came off Sturdivant in the seventh.

CARL FURILLO, Brooklyn outfielder, ducks a pitch of the Yankee's Bob Turley in the first inning of Friday's World Series game at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn. Catching the low-flying ball is Yogi Berra.

Podres Says His Birthday Pitch Is Best

BROOKLYN (AP)—Johnny Podres, sweat dripping from his face, said Friday after his sparkling World Series victory on his 23d birthday that his change-up pitch was the best it had been all year.
"My best pitches were my fast ball and the change-up—and the change-up was exceptional. I mixed 'em up quite a bit," he said in a low voice in the jubilant Dodger dressing room.
"I was a bit tired at the end, but I had enough left."
Natural Look
Manager Walt Alston, not smiling much more than he did after losing two games in Yankee Stadium, admitted that "we looked like we are supposed to look."
Today he will send Carl Erskine against the New York team. He declined to speculate on who might pitch Sunday.
Podres had not pitched a complete game since June 14, and it was obvious Alston was more than worried during the later innings.
Little Worried
"I was a little worried about him going all the way, since it has been such a long time since he has done it, but he went all right," said Alston.
"He came back real good against Cerv in the seventh."
Alston confessed that Erskine, who holds the World Series record for strikeouts with 14 made two years ago against the Yankees, is not at the top of his game.
"Erskine is pretty good, but he may not be 100 per cent," said the quiet Dodger manager.
No Friction
Any talk of friction between Alston and Don Zimmer, the peppery second baseman who was benched Friday was dismissed by both sides.
"I didn't blast anybody," said Zimmer. "I just wish he had told me I wasn't playing before everyone else told me."
"There's no friction. I haven't talked to Zimmer, that's the least of my worries," said Alston.
Alston said he would keep the same lineup, heavy with lefthanded hitters, if the Yankees pitch a right-hander as they are supposed to do today in the person of Don Larsen. This means Zimmer, a right-handed hitter, stays on the bench.

Hawk Frosh Gridders Hold Top Prep Marks

Iowa apparently has landed a bumper crop of freshman gridders.
Freshman Coach Wally Schwank reports that 70 candidates have turned out for drills, which began a few days ago.
Among the 70 are 6 who have been associated with high school all-America football teams. Schwank said that the men, from 11 states, still are working on fundamentals that it hasn't had time to evaluate them.
Also included in the list are four former Iowa City high school prep players. They are end Jeff Langston, tackle Bill Scott, tackle Grant Grimm and John Julius.
The prospects include 13 who were selected to the top honor teams in their states. There are 24 who achieved honors higher than fourth all-state teams.
Among the prep all-America candidates are: Herbert Bowick, center, Honolulu, Hawaii; Tom Jennings, Marshaltown, a 167-pound halfback and also a 100- and 220-yard dash champion; Paul Karras, guard, Gary, Ind.; Bob Prescott, end, Sioux City; Boake Sells, end, Ft. Dodge, and James Jones, East St. Louis, Ill.
Attracting much attention is a quarterback, Olen Treadway, from Muskogee, Okla. The 5-foot-10 passer made the first all-state team in Oklahoma last year.
Fullback Kevin Furlong from Detroit, Mich., also was raised a few eyebrows.
The candidates:
Boake Sells, Ft. Dodge; Larry Czark, Cleveland, Ohio; Jeff Langston, Iowa City; Jerry Mathews, Rochester, N.Y.; Ben Celloppo, Omaha, Neb.; John Conley, Cedar Rapids; Charley Boerjan, Peoria, Ill.; Mario Caruso, Gary, Ind.; John Christensen, Madison, Wis.; Ken Calaway, Gary, Ind.; Ray Chapman, Des Moines.
Durrell Drake, Shenandoah; Michael Dotsehl, Clarence; Jerry Pefferman, Amarillo, Tex.; Kevin Furlong, Detroit, Mich.; Jim Foster, Highland Park, Ill.; Ken Filer, Chicago, Ill.; John Gearhart, Mingo; Ronald Gill, Chicago, Ill.; Bill Gravel, Hobart, Ind.; Charles Crandall, Des Moines; Gary Grouwinkal, Columbus Junction; Grant Grimm, Iowa City; Dick Harring, DeWitt; Danny Harris,

Sports Roosevelt Sneaks By Little Hawks, 6-0

in short

Condensed From Associated Press Dispatches

DODGERS FAVORED—The Brooklyn Dodgers were made the 7-5 choice Friday night to win the fourth game of the World Series from the New York Yankees today and square the competition at two games each.

OPPOSE RYDER CUP—A 10-player golf team, captained by Jimmy Demaret and including Byron Nelson and amateur Don Cherry, was named to oppose the 1955 U.S. Ryder Cup team in the challenge match at the Midland, Tex., Country Club, Oct. 22 and 23.

ISC IS UNDERDOG—A young, inexperienced Illinois team was rated a 20 point favorite to whip Iowa State today at Memorial Stadium in Chicago. The Illini are weak on pass defense and Iowa State will have to win by taking to the air ways.

WICHITA WINS—The Boeing Bombers of Wichita, Kan., won the World Semi-Pro Baseball title Thursday night beating Hawaii, 7-4, in 11 innings and collecting $10,000 for the win.

ROBIE TO WED—Eddie Robinson, New York Yankee reserve first baseman, will marry Betty Jane Farlow, a 23-year-old schoolteacher. Robinson said they will be married in a civil ceremony Oct. 6 in Monroe, N.Y.

MONEY TALKS—Julius Boros, champion of Tam O'Shanter's rich world tourney, remained far in front as pro golf's best money-winner this year with $63,121. Second place for earnings is Dr. Cary Middlecoff with $35,767.

TALL BOY SOLD—Walter Dukes, a seven-foot All-American basketball star in 1953, was sold Friday to the New York Knickerbockers by the Harlem Globetrotters for a substantial but undisclosed sum. Dukes saluted with the Trotters was estimated at between $18,000 and $25,000.

Pro Football Takes Over This Sunday

CHICAGO (AP)—With a wave of upsets marking the opening skirmishes in the National Football League, such big boys as the champion Cleveland Browns and the Detroit Lions must come up with sharp reversals of form this week or be almost counted out of the title picture before the season is barely under way.

Two games are on tonight's program, the Washington Redskins meeting the Eagles in Philadelphia, and Detroit taking on the Colts at Baltimore. Sunday's schedule sees Cleveland playing the 49ers in San Francisco, the New York Giants and Cardinals at Chicago, the Pittsburgh Steelers and Rams at Los Angeles, and the Chicago Bears and Packers at Green Bay. Philadelphia, runnerup to Cleveland in the eastern conference race last fall and a top contender for the title this year, appears to pack too much artillery for the Redskins. Sparked by two fine passers, Adrian Burk and Bobby Thomason, the Eagles are favored by 11 points over the Redskins, who upset Cleveland 27-17 last Sunday. Philadelphia won its opener from New York by the same score.

Detroit has never lost to the Colts in four meetings and is a 7-point choice this time. The Western Conference champs expect to have some trouble, however, with Baltimore, a 23-17 upset winner over the Chicago Bears in their opening game as Alan (The Horse) Ameche provided the spark. Green Bay unfurled a 20-17 upset over Detroit last Sunday. Cleveland seems to be heading for trouble, with San Francisco a 13½ point favorite.

OFFICIALS' MEETING
All men interested in officiating intramural games this semester have been asked to meet in room 200, Field House, at 4:30 p.m. Monday.

(Daily Iowan Photo) ROOSEVELT'S HAROLD CLARK moves down field in the first quarter of Friday night's game with Iowa City. Bruce Taylor (62) closes in for the tackle, but the Riders went on in the second quarter to win, 6-0, and hand the Little Hawks their fourth loss.

Miller-Haluska Duo One of Big Ten's Best

(Special to The Daily Iowan) MADISON, Wis.—Iowa's first-in-the-nation pass defense will be put to the big test today when it meets the University of Wisconsin here.

Wisconsin has a potent one-two punch in their first and second string quarterbacks, the "Twin-Jims," Miller and Haluska.

During the last two seasons each man has compiled an impressive passes-completed record as well as piling up substantial yardage on quarterback option plays.

The Badger passing experts are seniors, stand 5-11, and have two seasons of collegiate ball in the experience column.

Haluska came out of relative obscurity in the fall of 1952 and led the Badgers to their first championship since 1912 and took them on to the Rose Bowl that year. Two weeks before the opening game in the 1952 Wisconsin season, Haluska was brought up from the J.V. squad and held the starting quarterback position from then on.

He started his football career in Racine, Wis., playing with the St. Catherine high team, a two-time conference champ squad. He was picked as the all-Milwaukee area Catholic quarterback in 1948 and 1949.

Haluska enrolled at the University of Michigan after graduation from St. Catherine's and remained at the Ann Arbor school for his freshman year. He earned numerals in football, basketball, and baseball.

He transferred to Wisconsin in 1951 and served his one-year residence, and then went after the quarterback position on the Badger squad in 1952. Only once in his collegiate career did he relinquish his position to another man, and that was to Miller.

In the summer of 1953 Haluska suffered a broken leg in sandlot baseball and was lost for the season. Miller took his place during that season and retained it last season.

Miller is called the "find" of the 1953 season to replace Haluska. The 1953 quarterback led the team in scoring with six touchdowns. He scored twice against Purdue, Ohio State and Illinois. During the Purdue game he ran 50 yards for one TD.

When the season was over Miller held the leading conference passer position with 36 passes completed out of 69 attempted for 683 yards and six touchdowns. Another honor that season was third place for conference rushing.

Last season Miller added more honors to the Badger squad and to himself. He was second in individual rushing, averaging 3.4 yards in 74 carries. He was the leading passer, completing 46 out of 88 passes for 608 yards and five touchdowns.

He intercepted six passes in 1954 for 117 yards and averaged 7.8 yards in 18 punt returns. Miller was graduated from Regis High School, Eau Claire, Wis., and twice was named as an all-state basketball player in the state Catholic meet. He won all-state honors in football and was a 10-letterman in four sports.

Iowa Teachers Roll, Dump Drake, 21-14

DES MOINES (AP)—Drake's line was unable to stop the rushes of Iowa State Teachers ball carriers and the Bulldogs lost to the Tutors here Friday night 21-14.

Teachers scored its final touchdown with nine minutes remaining in the fourth quarter when fullback Dick Braunschweig sliced off left tackle and lateraled to halfback Larry Bitson who went over, completing an 11-yard play.

The two teams went into the second half tied 14-14 and fought through a scoreless third quarter before the Tutors settled it. Teachers' leading ground gainer was left halfback Clayton Thomas who went for 101 yards—equal to the yardage gained by the whole Drake team.

Riders Edge City High for Fourth Loss

By GEORGE WINE

Cedar Rapids Roosevelt fought off a determined City High football team here Friday night to win its fourth straight game, 6-0, and hand the Little Hawks their fourth consecutive loss.

The Riders scored the game's only touchdown early in the second quarter. When a fumble had stopped them cold on the 2-yard-line in the first period, the Riders came roaring back. After a Little Hawk punt rolled dead on the 35, it took just four plays to score.

Pratt Scores
Bev Taylor and Gordon Pratt alternated the ball-carrying chores. Taylor plunged for one, then Pratt slid off the right side for 15 big yards. Quarterback Taylor lugged again for eleven, and Pratt went the final eight yards for the touchdown. Harold Clark's conversion veered wide to the left and the score stood 6-0.

While the Little Hawks could not get an offensive game moving in the first half, they fought off what looked like two certain Rider touchdowns.

Stymies Drive
In the first period after Roosevelt had moved the ball 58 yards to the 2-yard-line, Bill Bates pounced on a fumble by Taylor to stymie the drive.

After running two plays, the Little Hawks were forced to punt and Roosevelt came back for the game's only touchdown. Later in the second quarter, the Riders were moving again with ease and had the ball deep in City High territory, when Taylor decided to pass. Jerry Tinkleburg snatched the ball from the air but was downed immediately on the one foot line.

Inspired Second Half
City High looked like an inspired ball club at the start of the second half. After Bruce Taylor returned the kickoff eleven yards to the 28, the Little Hawks marched 62 yards in thirteen plays. The drive featured an 11-yard run by Paul Burgess and a 16-yard jaunt by Les Ferguson. The Little Hawk drive stalled they were shy of a first down by inches.

After the Riders punted out of danger, the Little Hawks came storming back. With the ball on the Roosevelt 40-yard-line, Schwank passed to Ferguson for 15. Paul Burgess went up the middle for another 41 and the Little Hawks were right back within short range of the goal line.

Swipes Handoff
The Rider's Gene Kennel came up with what may have been the game-saving play at this point, when he swiped the ball from Schwank as the quarterback faked a handoff.

The game was just as close as the score indicates. Roosevelt ground out 119 yards in the first half while City High could manage only 49.

U-High Seeks 18th In Evening Clash With West Liberty

University High, eighth-ranked class II team in the state, will seek its 18th victory in a row here tonight against West Liberty.

Coach Carl Selin expressed doubt over two of his regulars being ready to play. Halfback Bill Van Kirk has been nursing a shoulder ailment all week and end Larry Bowers suffered an ankle injury in practice.

Selin hinted he would "save" his two regulars for next week's game with West Liberty. Fullback Jim Keefer, a defensive standout earlier this year, will be back in action after missing two games with a leg injury.

Coach Selin has emphasized defensive work in practice all week after the poor showing the Blue Hawks made in that department a week ago against Wilton Junction. The game is scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m. and will be played at the new Iowa practice field north of the Iowa stadium.

City Raises Property Tax By 10 Mills

An increased 1955 school district budget will account for the major increase in taxes that Iowa City property owners will pay next year.

William Kanak, Johnson County auditor, Friday set the total tax levy at 78.0026 mills, which will mean a payment of $18 on each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Last year's levy was $67.26 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The Iowa City Independent School District levy increased 9.5373 mills to a total of 42.5803 mills this year as compared to the over-all tax increase of 10.7422 mills over last year.

The county tax levy rose $1.17 and the city levy rose three cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation, while the state levy was down one cent per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Other tax levies for Johnson County outside of Iowa City show the highest levy is 79.4469 mills for the town of Oxford. Liberty Township is lowest with a 46.1533 mills levy.

A breakdown of tax levies for the current year and two previous years:

1955 LEVIES
School	42.5803 mills
County	9.4146 mills
State	45 mills
Total	78.0026 mills
1954 LEVIES
School	33.0430 mills
County	8.6358 mills
State	45 mills
Total	67.2600 mills
1953 LEVIES
School	31.916 mills
County	8.434 mills
State	47 mills
Total	65.750 mills

School Bond Election Set

Voters in two Iowa City precincts will be asked to ballot Oct. 31 on a $195,000 school bond issue.

The money will be used to finance six room additions at the Herbert Hoover and Mark Twain schools.

The Iowa City School Board, meeting at noon Friday, set the date for the election and the amount of the bond issue.

Though only 260 signatures to the petitions were needed to request the election, 945 were received in the 24-hour period that the petitions were in circulation.

Voters of the first and second wards and the University Heights area will cast ballots on Oct. 31 at the State University of Iowa Communications Center.

The polling place for voters of the third, fourth and fifth ward as well as those living outside the city on the east side of the river will be the Junior High School gymnasium at Van Buren and Market Streets.

Fire Check Finds Wiring Top Hazard

Improper use of temporary wiring is the greatest single cause of fire safety regulations Iowa City firemen have turned up in their current inspection of State University of Iowa buildings.

The department is making its semi-annual check of dormitories, fraternities, fraternities and other buildings.

Firemen said that "the most common" laxity in safety precautions is overloading wiring circuits in dormitory, sorority and fraternity units.

Students try to make too many appliances work from the same outlet, the department reported.

Second on the list of safety precaution abuses were blocked fire escapes and fire doors.

Firemen asked students living in rooms which lead to fire escapes to check occasionally to make sure that windows open easily and exits are free of obstructions.

The fire department makes inspections of SUI and business district buildings twice yearly, in the fall and spring. The fall inspections are usually planned to coincide with National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 9-16.

Prof. Stark To Conduct Clinics on Vocal Music

Prof. Herald Stark of the State University of Iowa Department of Music will conduct vocal and choral clinics in Grinnell and Oelwein Monday and Tuesday.

Vocal teachers from the eastern section of Iowa will participate in the clinics, which will feature voice production, solo and choral materials.

SUI 'Crew' of 50 Manned Luxury Lake Ship in Chicago

More than 50 State University of Iowa students spent the summer aboard a luxury liner that never moved from its mooring at Chicago's Navy Pier.

They were filling jobs, ranging from secretary in the ship's office to scullery crew workers, aboard the S.S. Aquarama, ocean-going vessel designed for luxury cruising on the Great Lakes.

Stayed in Port Because of engine repairs during the summer the liner did not make its scheduled tours across Lake Michigan but remained anchored to become a mecca for dancing and dining with water shows held twice daily.

The SUI delegation of men and women, was the largest to represent any college.

Women handled jobs in the office, cafeteria, snack bars and dining room, the men serving as porters, bus boys, cook's helpers and scullery crews (the army equivalent of K.P.).

'Visited Museums' During free hours, which were twice a week for most employees, the group visited Chicago. The usual reply when asked what they saw was "the museum."

Shopping took much of the girls' time. Many were in Chicago for the first time.

Jobs on the $8 million liner were secured through the SUI Student Placement Office. According to one "sailor" most of the students plan to return to the ship next summer when it is

Floods Rage In Mexico After Storm

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Rivers flooded by hurricane Janet's heavy rains covered or washed out highways and communications lines over a long stretch of Mexico's Gulf Coast Friday displaying reports of the storm's toll.

Coastal towns from Tuxpan to below Nautla, a small fishing port 75 miles north of Veracruz, have not been heard from directly since the season's most vicious tropical storm crashed inland Thursday and beat itself out against the Sierra Madre Mountains.

Floods extended inland as far as Pachuca, 100 miles west from the coast and 70 miles north of Mexico City on the main tourist highway from the United States. There was some radio communication with the fringes of the flooded area and no reports mentioned any deaths or injuries.

Before dying in the mountains, Janet had taken an estimated toll of 200 lives in Mexico, chiefly on Yucatan Peninsula, plus 200 others as she roared across the Caribbean islands.

A fleet of cargo planes took off Friday with food, clothing and medicines for Chetumal, hardest hit of the Yucatan towns. Air Force pilots estimated 170 died in Chetumal, a town of 5,000 population, when 125-mile winds leveled its wooden buildings.

Doctors To Attend Pediatrics Meeting

Three State University of Iowa physicians will participate in sessions of the American Academy of Pediatrics Monday and Tuesday at the organization's annual meeting in Chicago.

Dr. Carroll B. Larson, professor and head of orthopedics, will be chairman of a panel on orthopedic problems of children. Panel members are scheduled to discuss, among other subjects, congenital deformities, flat feet, intoeing and hip disorders.

A round-table program on childhood diabetes will be conducted by Dr. Charles H. Read Jr., associate professor of pediatrics, and Paul E. Baer, assistant professor in the same department.

City High Classes Elect 1955 Officers

Mary Ellen Sentman has been elected president of the City High School senior class of 144 students.

Kay Moore was elected vice-president and Katy Ketelsen is secretary-treasurer.

Junior class officers are Robert Galther, president; Jim Luper, vice-president, and Shelly Clark, secretary-treasurer.

Fun on the Merry-Go-Round

RANDIE ANN GARFIELD, 3½, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James Garfield, 509 Rundell St., and a friend enjoy a ride on the carousel in front of the Hy-Vee Food Stores, 227 Kirkwood Ave. The carousel was set up as part of Hy-Vee's second anniversary.

a man's acceptable exposure to neutron radiation will be a certain fraction of that for X-rays.

Lens Becomes Opaque The radiation cataract in the rabbit's eye developed in the normally clear lens located directly behind the pupil. After exposure to radiation the lens of the eye gradually became opaque, thus preventing the formation of clear images on the retina.

For exposure to neutron radiation, the animals are taken to the Argonne National Laboratory in Lemont, Ill., where the rays are generated by a cyclotron.

SUI scientists working in the cataract research are Prof. Evans and Assistant Professors Edgar Riley and Richard B. Rhody, all of the radiation research laboratory; and Drs. P. J. Leinfelder and Richard Richards of the Department of Ophthalmology.

Miracle Drug—Useful Work

4th SUI Conference To Study Old Age Problems in Today's Society

Iowa's elderly citizens will again be the subjects of concentrated attention Oct. 10-11 when the State University of Iowa's Institute of Gerontology holds its fourth annual conference on the University campus.

The conference theme will be "Useful Activity: The Miracle Drug for the Older Person."

Among this year's speakers will be Maurice duPont Lee, member of the duPont family of chemists; Howard Hill, president of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation, and Adolph Berger of Chicago, regional director of the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Other speakers will be Willard Solenberger, program consultant for the social security department of the United Auto Workers;

Ray Mills, president of the Iowa State Federation of Labor; and Florence Bodner, director of the social service department in the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union.

Bring Meaning

Steven M. Horvath, acting director of the Institute and professor of physiology in SUI's College of Medicine, says the general goal of this meeting will be the same as that of the first three conferences: to bring meaning into the lives of today's — and tomorrow's — elderly citizens.

The earlier meetings were devoted chiefly to defining problems and to exploring generally the entire field of gerontology. However, in this year's conference, Horvath says, the speakers will offer specific proposals which a community may apply in whole or in modified form to its own problems concerning the aged.

13 Million Over 65

There are believed to be more than 13 million persons in the United States today who are over 65 years of age, the medical educator points out. The number of persons in that age bracket in 1900 was about three million. By 1975, the figure is expected to jump to almost 20 million.

"There is ample evidence of the need for organized efforts to solve the sociological, medical and economic problems which this older segment of the population poses," Horvath says. "For countless numbers of our older people, life has little meaning and holds little pleasure."

Along with the few other major organizations of a similar nature in this country, the Institute at SUI is attempting to encourage and guide both research and voluntary community planning on problems concerning the aged.

SUI Speakers

SUI speakers and participants in this year's conference will be Dr. F. H. Top, professor and head of Hygiene and Preventive Medicine; Dr. L. E. January, professor of Internal Medicine; John C. O'Byrne, associate professor of law and director of the Agricultural Law Center; Marshall Harris, research professor in the same center; Harold W. Saunders, professor and chairman of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology; and Jack Culléy, director of SUI's Bureau of Labor and Management. University Provost Harvey H. Davis will welcome the group following registration.

Speakers from other institutions and organizations will be Mrs. A. K. Johnson, Madrid, chairman of the Division of Gerontology in the Iowa Federation of Women's Clubs; Prof. Roy E. Wakeley, head of Sociology at Iowa State College; Earl J. Baum of the Iowa State Federation of Labor;

William Dreier, Hubbard, retired farmer and member of the executive committee of the Iowa Council for Community Improvement; Prof. Robert L. Peterson, Department of Business Management, University of Illinois;
