U-High's Scotts and Dad

MANY MEN CAN BOAST that they have two sons on a high school football team, but few have three on one team. Col. J. A. Scott of the State University of Iowa ROTC department proudly displays his three sons, left to right, Vince, Al and Jim, on the University High practice field.

U-High Has 3 Scotts, Thanks to the Army

By GEORGE WINE

Thanks to the United States Army, University High School boasts one of the most talented football brother combinations in the state.

When Col. J. A. Scott received orders to become professor of military science and tactics at the State University of Iowa four years ago, he brought with him his three sons—Jim, Vince and Al—who have played a major role in U-High's current 19-game winning streak.

The Scott boys share a mutual love for football, and each has become a standout at his individual position.

Jim Is Eldest

Jim, a senior, is the "eldest" brother at 17. A slender 165 pounder, he has caught 27 passes from his left end position and five if those were for touchdowns.

He's a tough customer for the secondary to handle and is fast becoming one of the top ends in the state.

Jim plans to attend the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, his father's alma mater, after graduation from high school and perhaps follow in his dad's footsteps. When not practicing football or attending classes, he finds time to work at the AAA garage to earn his spending money.

Sixteen-year-old Vince is used primarily on defense, although he has managed to score two touchdowns in his brief offensive appearances. Weighing only 152 pounds, his size is deceiving—he makes bone-jarring tackles or leaps high to intercept a pass from his safety position.

Delivers Papers

Vince is a junior and plans to enroll in SUI's College of Engineering in two years. Like Jim, he also works part time, delivering papers for The Daily Iowan.

The "kid brother" of the family is Al, although his size doesn't show it. Only 15 and a sophomore, he weighs a husky 180 pounds and is surprisingly agile for his size.

A tackle on both offense and defense, he's what Coach Carl Selin describes as "the kind of lineman that makes our split T a success, besides being tough on defenses."

Coaching Career

Al has not made up his mind about the future after high school but thinks a coaching career might suit him.

Both Vince and Al lettered in football last year but Jim sat out the season with a back injury. All three play basketball and may possibly form three-fifths of U-High's cage team this year.

The boys' feats can be traced to their dad's athletic ability. Colonel Scott was an all-American Lacrosse player at West Point and also lettered in basketball. He still gives the boys a workout on the tennis courts occasionally and beats them with surprisingly regularity.

Mother an Athlete

The boys' mother also has a claim to fame in the athletic world. Mrs. Scott played on a girls' basketball team in New Jersey during her high school days. The team won 116 straight games before running out of competition. The girls were so good no one would schedule games with them.

Colonel Scott was stationed in Germany before coming to SUI and like most servicemen has seen a great deal of the world. Both Jim and Vince were born in Panama while their father was stationed there. Al is a "native," however, having been born in Virginia.

What does Coach Selin think of the Scott boys? "I'd hate to be without them," he says. "The Army may draft ball players from college, but it's certainly been good to me."

City Gridmen Play Tonight

U-HIGH —

University High goes gunning for its 20th consecutive victory tonight, when the Bluehawks travel to Columbus Junction.

Coach Carl Selin thinks this will be anything but a breather for his boys. "Our scouting reports on Columbus are very impressive," Selin said. "They have a variety of formations and have some fleet backs."

Columbus has won only one game this year, but were only beaten by a tough West Branch team, 33-22.

Selin said his right end Bob Mickelson has come up with a charlie-horse and probably will not play tonight.

CITY HIGH —

Iowa City High plays host to Cedar Rapids Wilson High tonight in a battle between two teams which have not won a football contest yet this season.

The game, to be played on the Hawklet athletic field, is scheduled for 8:30 p.m., an hour later than usual, so that fans may attend the Homecoming parade at 7 p.m.

Patricia Keller McCormick is the only woman ever to hold all five A.A.U. diving titles in any one year.

Coach Reports Passer's Sore Thumb Healed

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Purdue Coach Stu Holcomb said Thursday that star quarterback-passer Len Dawson appears to be completely recovered from his thumb injury and is back in his best passing form.

Dawson had been hampered by the sore thumb in Purdue's previous games with Minnesota and Wisconsin and sat out the Boilermakers' opener with College of the Pacific.

He has yet to throw a touchdown pass, although he has completed 27 of 44 attempts for a 61 per cent average.

For the first time in nearly a month, Holcomb Thursday was working with a full squad of healthy Boilermakers. No one is on the Purdue casualty list.

The Boilermakers will leave here by air this afternoon for Iowa City.

Vincent Won't Start Saturday

Right halfback Eddie Vincent will be on the Iowa bench ready to help out if Coach Forest Evashevski needs him but will not be in condition to start against Purdue Saturday.

This was the latest word from the Iowa camp Thursday as the Hawkeyes held dummy scrimmage with the first and second teams alternating on offense and defense.

Vincent took a more active part in the practice session than at any time since he injured his knee in the Wisconsin game two weeks ago. He alternated with sophomore Bill Happel of Cedar Rapids at right half on the second team.

Evashevski's probable starters against Purdue are:

The shoulder injury that has been bothering veteran tackle Roger Swedberg is expected to keep him out of the starting lineup.

Will Show Game Movies Tuesday

A sound movie of the 1955 Homecoming football game with Purdue will be shown in the Shambaugh Lecture Room of the Iowa Library Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

The football lecture, featuring George (Binky) Broeder, assistant freshman football coach, is sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association. The program is free and open to the public.

Davenport Widens Prep Lead

DES MOINES (AP)— Undefeated Davenport rolled to its customary wide lead in The Associated Press high school football poll Thursday, but there was a shuffling of the teams that trail the Blue Devils.

West Waterloo, a 21-20 winner over previously undefeated Ames, shot into second place with 250 points. Ames, which held the second spot for three weeks, dropped to fourth place with 177 points behind Davenport St. Ambrose, which held its third place ranking with 190 points.

East Des Moines continued in fifth place with 154 points.

Davenport in taking its first place honors with 303 points earned 25 first place votes from the 31 voting sports editors in the state. West Waterloo pulled five first place votes, and Burlington, in sixth place with 100 points, received the other first place bid.

Robinson: Berra DIDN'T Tag Me On Stolen Base

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (AP)—Jackie Robinson, veteran Brooklyn Dodger third baseman, Thursday differed with teammate Frank Kellert and said he was safe when he stole home in the first game of the World Series.

Kellert, Brooklyn's second string first baseman at bat when Robinson stole home, said in Oklahoma City Wednesday that Yankee Catcher Yogi Berra really tagged Jackie before his slide reached the plate. Umpire Bill Summers called Robinson safe.

"The decision was right," said Robinson. "I was safe at home plate and pictures prove it. It is unfortunate that this whole thing had to be rehashed. But it wasn't vital to the game." The Yankees won 6-5.

Jackie added that "Kellert is entitled to his opinion but this rehashing of that decision cast a reflection on Summers, who umpired a wonderful series."

Million Attendance For Six AL Clubs

CHICAGO (AP)—Six clubs, the most in American League history, drew more than a million fans as the circuit's pennant race boosted total attendance to nearly nine million for the 1955 baseball season.

The official turnstile report of league President Will Harridge showed that New York, Kansas City, Cleveland, Boston, Detroit and Chicago lured more than a million home customers with the flag-winning Yankees topping the list with 1,490,138, or 14,967 more than in 1954.

Candidate Blodgett Urges Free Parking for Students

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series on candidates for the City Council of Iowa City.)

By KIRK BOYD

Lee F. Blodgett, city council candidate of the Non-Partisan Taxpayers League (NPTL), is a new factor in Iowa City politics.

He has something to offer State University of Iowa students, too.

Blodgett, electronics technician in the Physics Department and a former SUI student, objects to the parking meters that ring the campus.

'Burden on Student'

"They place the burden of worry on a student when he is supposed to be concentrating in his classes," Blodgett said.

"And I don't think the one-two-three dollar fine system is fair, either. As a student who worked his way through school I know that many of them can't afford to lose that money."

His solution: stop the city police from ticketing student cars during class hours around the SUI campus.

Free Student Parking

"A student's university sticker should be his passport to parking during class hours," Blodgett said. "Then they wouldn't have to feed the meter or move their car every hour."

"The students are the key to Iowa City's existence. I can't see biting the hand that feeds you."

Blodgett's pro-student attitude is bound to have an affect on the Nov. 8 city election, observers here feel.

The SUI faculty and students have long been regarded as pro-city manager government.

Anti-manager forces claimed in 1950 that it was the vote of students who did not intend to become city residents after graduation that brought manager government to power.

Bid for Student Vote

Blodgett, city politicians feel, may be the anti-manager NPTL's attempt to cut in on the SUI student vote.

Blodgett, who lives at 747 Grant St., is not basing his campaign on university issues.

He has his own ideas on city issues. And they don't all agree with those of the NPTL, whose support he is receiving.

First, he does not have the 100 per cent anti-city manager plan ideas of the NPTL.

Not Against Manager

"I'm not completely unsold on manager government," he said. "I'd like to see it get another chance in the next two years."

(Iowa City residents can vote on whether or not to keep the plan by August, 1957.)

"In these past four years it has caused great unrest. It has not been a people's government. It is aloof from them."

Second, he will not say whether or not he will vote to fire City Manager Peter F. Roan if elected. This was a part of a resolution of purpose adopted by the NPTL at its first meeting.

"I don't want to make campaign material out of a man's job," he said. "But you can bet that I wouldn't be a rubber stamp for Roan or anyone else."

He explains his political nature: "I've always had a strong interest in government, but I've never voted a straight ticket in my life."

(Daily Iowan Photo)

SUI ELECTRONICS TECHNICIAN Lee F. Blodgett, a Non-Partisan Taxpayer's League-backed candidate for city council, believes that SUI students should not have to feed meters for parking while attending classes. Although he will be supported by the NPTL, Blodgett believes that perhaps the city manager system deserves another chance.

Benson: GOP Not Split on Farm Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson said Thursday "there is no split" in the Eisenhower administration over the farm program.

Benson talked with reporters after a luncheon meeting with Vice President Richard Nixon.

He told them he believes the Cabinet "is 100 per cent" in support of the flexible farm price support program.

Benson said also that "our protest mail is at an all-time low" concerning farm problems.

The secretary, standing before the Vice President's office door, said he and Nixon had "discussed a number of things — farm problems and related problems." He said the currently depressed hog market was among them, but did not give any details.

Nixon declined to comment. He had said in advance that Benson "will speak for me" about their talks.

Benson repeated at one point what he has said before — that he expects to have some recommendations for the next Congress session for improvement of the farmer's economic position. He did not give any details.

A reporter told the secretary there were reports of a split in the Cabinet over the flexible farm support program.

"My major concern is the farmer and not what some critics may say," Benson replied.

Math Conference At SUI Oct. 21-22

Iowa mathematics teachers will meet next week at the State University of Iowa to discuss ways to improve teaching methods, means of interesting more students in mathematics, and new developments in the mathematics field.

Primarily for high school and junior college instructors, the 25th annual SUI Conference of Mathematics Teachers will be held Oct. 21-22. The conference is believed to be the oldest of its kind in the country, Prof. Lloyd A. Knowler, head of the SUI Department of Mathematics and Astronomy, said Thursday.

Hint Censure in Jury 'Listening' Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two investigating senators Thursday night moved toward possible impeachment proceedings against U.S. District Judge Delmas Hill of Wichita, Kan., for permitting secret tape recordings to be made of jury deliberations.

Senator Eastland (D-Miss.), chairman of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, and Senator Jenner (R-Ind.) referred the case to the House Judiciary Committee for possible further action. This committee investigates complaints against federal judges to determine whether impeachment proceedings are warranted.

The Senate subcommittee had heard testimony that Judge Hill let a University of Chicago research team listen to what went on in a jury room in his court.

McCarthy Assails Harvard President

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph McCarthy, quiet-voiced through most of two days as a federal court witness, broke out late Thursday in an attack on Harvard President Nathan M. Pusey.

His voice rising as he sat in the witness chair, the Wisconsin Republican vigorously asserted:

"I have no respect for a man who will harbor Fifth Amendment Communists . . . I think a man who does this should not be a college president. Pusey should be exposed. An educational institution which harbors Communists should be exposed."

McCarthy, a witness against Leon J. Kamin, former Harvard research aid who is charged with contempt of Congress, continued that his first contact with Pusey came in 1952 "during my campaign and I've had no particular love for the man since."

Pusey, then president of Lawrence College in Appleton, Wis., had opposed McCarthy in his successful try for re-election.

Pusey declined to comment on McCarthy's testimony.

Faure Asks Support For Algeria Plan

PARIS (AP) — Premier Edgar Faure asked the French National Assembly Thursday to give its approval to his plan for progressive improvement of the economic, social and political conditions for Algerian Moslems. He said it could restore order in the area and bind it more closely to France.

The Premier spoke on the closing day of the Assembly's debate on the Algerian question.

New Jet Airliner

(AP Wirephotos)

THIS IS AN ARTIST'S CONCEPTION of the new Boeing 707 jet Stratoliner. Pan American World Airways announced Thursday it has signed $269 million in contracts with Boeing and Douglas Aircraft for the new airliners.

NEW YORK (AP) — The age of jet air transport was brought a big step nearer Thursday as Pan American World Airways announced 269 million dollars in contracts to buy jet transports.

The contracts, the first by an American airline, were made with Douglas Aircraft Co., Boeing Airplane Co. and United Aircraft Corp.'s Pratt & Whitney Division whose engines will be used.

Of 45 aircraft ordered, 25 will come from Douglas and 20 from Boeing. Douglas has 160 million dollars worth of the orders and Boeing 109 million.

The Boeing 707 jet Stratoliners will be delivered between December 1958 and November 1959; the Douglas DC8 jet airliners will begin to be delivered in December 1959.

Both aircraft have a contract cruising speed of 575 miles an hour at 30,000 feet and will bring most major cities of the free world within 12 hours of the United States.

The Douglas plane will carry 108 passengers with standard seating or 131 tourist-class passengers.

The Boeing plane will carry 104 passengers on first class flights or 125 or tourist schedules.

Only one jet passenger plane has been put in service anywhere. This is the British Comet which has been grounded for modifications after a series of accidents.

Hawaiian Flowers To 'Blossom' on Float

By WALTER BREWER

Thousands of exotic Hawaiian flowers and nearly as many people have contributed to the building of a State University of Iowa homecoming parade float.

It all started last May when the members of Hui-O-Hawaii, the SUI Hawaiian club, decided to bring a sample of their homeland to Iowa City.

The club thought that the pageantry of an SUI homecoming would be the ideal setting for their "bit of Hawaii."

Help from Honolulu

Members of the club, all native Hawaiians, went home during summer vacation and contacted the Hawaiian Visitors Bureau in Honolulu.

From the bureau they received a promise of 1,000 flowers and invaluable assistance.

Similar bureaus on the islands also contributed flowers and aid. Relatives and friends of the club members promised to send wild flowers from their native islands to Iowa.

When the students returned to classes this fall, arrangements had been made with United Air Lines to transport 30,000 orchids, plumeria, and anteriums, in addition to tea leaves and other foliage, to Iowa City, free of charge, in time for tonight's Homecoming Parade.

Features Herky

The float will feature Herky astride a huge pineapple, symbolic of the international prestige of SUI's popular mascot. Members of Hui-O-Hawaii will also dance on the float in native dress to authentic Hawaiian accompaniment.

Dancers and musicians will include Dorothy Nakano, N3, Kamuela, Hawaii; Raymond Kekoa, G, Hoolchua, Molokai; Rufus Schuff, A1, Honolulu; Harry Terioka, G, Honolulu; Robert Yoshimiri, A2, Mayi, Wailukai; Earl Bowick, A1, Honolulu; Elaine Sato, A2, Lihue, Kauhai; and Tomi Tanimoto, A3, Honomu, Hawaii.

Hui-O-Hawaii, although not a national organization, has clubs in most of the 48 states. Besides the chapter at SUI, Iowa has clubs at Drake University, Iowa State College and Iowa State Teachers College. The local chapter was organized in February, due largely to the efforts of former SUI swimming star, Keo Mana, who graduated last year.

Hawaiian Club

The main function of the club is to orient new students from Hawaii with campus life, and integrate them into a well rounded study, religious and social schedule.

Present membership includes 22 charter members and several new students. Officers are Raymond Kekoa, president; Miss Sato, secretary; and Miss Nakano, treasurer. Faculty adviser is Dr. Ronald J. Pflaum, of SUI's chemistry department.

President Hancher Criticizes 'Cafeteria' Type Education

CHICAGO — State University of Iowa President Virgil M. Hancher Thursday attacked the practice of "cafeteria education."

Hancher told the American Life convention here that "the great American heresy is that there should be a course for everyone and everything in the course."

He added that there is a risk in teaching too many things.

The title of Hancher's talk was "Education for Survival." He was speaking to a gathering of insurance executives.

Intellectual Development

Hancher stressed that intellectual development is the chief duty of education.

"If educational institutions do not perform it," he said, "it will not be performed. If it is not performed the nation must inevitably decline."

This "education for survival" will educate youth to live in a changing world, he continued, and to live in an era of opportunity.

Hancher cautioned that "in this future role of education there is the risk of teaching too many things."

'Teach Less'

The reversal of that trend would have more wholesome effects, he said.

"If we teach less, but teach it more thoroughly, we shall have more time for thought, for probing, for depth," he said.

"Teaching less and teaching it more thoroughly," he added, "would give us a chance to bring our speech and action, our professions and our practice, into closer harmony."

2 Ft. Dodge Men Are Killed in Crash

RENWICK (AP) — Two Fort Dodge men were killed and three other persons were injured Thursday night when a car in which they were riding crashed into the 49th car of a 50-car Rock Island freight train four miles south of here.

Dead were Will H. Overstreet, 34, and Vernon Edward Olson, 40.

Injured and taken to Memorial Hospital at Clarion were Joseph Hahn, 59, Fort Dodge, listed in serious condition; Dean Wallukait, 26, Fort Dodge, in serious condition, and Merlin Scheller, 27, Claire, in good condition.

Indiana Plant Ups Output, 41 Work

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (AP) — The Perfect Ciracle foundry reported Thursday it was stepping up production with 41 non-strikers working under protection of National Guard tanks and guns.

As new units moved in to relieve guardsmen who had been on duty for a week, Gov. George Craig issued a statement in Indianapolis calling CIO criticism of his Monday declaration of martial law "completely unjustified."

A Perfect Circle spokesman said 41 of 260 production workers showed of Thursday compared with 36 Wednesday. The strike began July 25, with the union asking higher wages and a union shop.

SPEAKS AT M'TOWN

Prof. Fredric L. Darley of the State University of Iowa Department of Speech Pathology and Audiology, spoke on the subject, "What Is Normal Speech Development," before members of the Pre-School Child Study Group, in Marshalltown Wednesday evening.

Soviets Hit U.S. View On Poland

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y (AP) — The Soviet Union declared Thursday attempts by the United States to keep Communist Poland from winning a seat on the UN Security Council are damaging the spirit of Geneva and putting a stumbling block in the path of international cooperation.

But V. V. Kuznetsov, the chief Soviet delegate to the UN, at a news conference where he outlined his country's position, dismissed as "not pertinent" a question as to whether the Soviet Union would continue to cooperate with the Council and other agencies in event of a Polish defeat.

Election Today

The 60-nation General Assembly will elect three nonpermanent members to the 11-nation Council today. The only contest is between Poland and the Philippines, and both sides claim enough support to win on the first ballot. A two-thirds majority is required and balloting continues until a nation receives that margin of victory.

Cuba and Australia are regarded as virtually certain to win the other two seats on the Council — the high-level body charged by the UN with the task of maintaining international peace and security.

U.S. for Philippines

The United States is leading the campaign to elect the Philippines to the seat being vacated by Turkey. Cuba is the candidate for the seat being vacated by Brazil and Australia for New Zealand's.

Asked whether the Soviet Union would consider the Geneva spirit still in existence in event of Poland's defeat, Kuznetsov said he could better answer that question after tomorrow's voting. He said it was the duty of all the delegates to vote for Poland.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., the chief U.S. delegate, charged yesterday that Poland had done little to aid international peace which would qualify her for a seat.

DIES IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Manuel Avila Camacho, 58, president of Mexico from 1940 to 1946, died Thursday of a heart ailment at his ranch near the capital.

Court Action Requested in Transit Strike

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The state of Missouri went to the courts Thursday to try to end a costly St. Louis transit strike.

After AFL streetcar and bus operators ignored for the third day orders of Gov. Phil M. Donnelly to return to work for the state-seized utility, Atty. Gen. John M. Dalton filed suit in Circuit Court to collect a $10,000 fine from the union for each day of the strike.

Local 788 of the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes is the striking union.

Utility Strike Ban

The governor, acting under a state law banning strikes against public utilities, seized the Public Service Co. a few hours after the walkout began Tuesday. The daily fine is provided under the law.

"My guess is there will be other legal action tomorrow unless the men go back to work," Dalton told newsmen. "We're only concerned with them going back to work."

Union officers said they will try at a membership meeting today at 9:30 a.m. to get the men to return to their jobs. A similar attempt was shouted down Wednesday.

Penalty Law

The suit filed Thursday was the first use of the penalty section of the utility anti-strike law, which also provides that the operators could lose their seniority for remaining on strike. Dalton said any decision on seniority will be left to company officials.

The walkout came after an arbitration panel recommended Monday a 12-cent hourly pay raise, in three installments, for the 2,400 employes who now average $1.87 an hour. The union has asked a flat 26-cent increase and a one-year contract.

Townsend Visits Princess Margaret

LONDON (AP) —Captain Peter Townsend visited Princess Margaret's home an hour and 20 minutes Thursday night and left in a high good humor. His call at stately Clarence House strengthened belief that an announcement about their reported romance is near.

But Townsend was close-mouthed. Although smiling gaily, he cried "No! No! No!" to newsmen pressing him for a statement. Photographers' flash bulbs drew a bit of further comment:

TOWNSEND

"My goodness, I am being blinded," he said as he headed for his car.

Court officials were mum.

As far as is known, he and Margaret had not met in more than two years—since he was named British air attache in Brussels. Before then he was a royal equerry and they saw each other nearly every day for 10 years.

Served Royal Family

Townsend was given the post in the royal household as a reward for his World War II services. A Battle of Britain hero, the 40-year-old divorced father of two children is a Royal Air Force group captain, the equivalent of a colonel in the American Air Force.

Both the princess and Queen Mother Elizabeth were at home when Townsend called. He drove up to Clarence House, on the tree-lined mall near Buckingham Palace, at 6:56 p.m.

Arrives Alone

He was alone in the car, dressed in an ordinary business suit. It appeared unlikely that he had been invited to dinner. Parking his car in the courtyard of St. James's Palace—across a side street from Clarence House—he walked to the door of Margaret's home.

Princess Margaret
Sees Captain Townsend

Lights flashed on in several rooms of the big house as he stepped in. The Queen Mother, who shares the mansion with Elizabeth, arrived home from her vacation only an hour before Townsend called. She had flown to London from the Castle of Mey, on Scotland's remote north coast.

Scots Guards Patrol

Outside the house, the usual three Scots Guards in scarlet tunics and bearskin hats marched patrol. Two policemen kept the crowd of newsmen and photographers moving up and down in the palace courtyard across the street.

When Townsend came out he climbed behind the wheel of his French car with an unidentified man at his side. He had trouble finding the ignition switch.

Wheeling the car out of the courtyard through the crowds of spectators, he narrowly missed hitting an automobile moving down the street. The two cars screeched to a stop only a foot apart. Then Townsend sped away.

Margaret had arrived at Clarence House only Thursday morning from a vacation at Balmoral Castle in Scotland. She came back to London with a gay smile, but without a word on romance.

Townsend's visit came as 50 million Britons and a large part of the rest of the world itched with curiosity over whether he would wed the princess.

He is staying at the home of the Marquess of Abergavenny in fashionable Lowndes Square and went for a drive Thursday afternoon with Mrs. John Wills, the princess' first cousin and one of her most intimate friends.

Rifle Reported Stolen From Parked Auto

W. T. Smith, Kansas City, Thursday reported the theft of a .22 caliber rifle from his car.

The gun was stolen sometime Thursday morning, Smith told police, while the car was parked in front of 3 E. College St.

The rifle had been in the car's trunk, Smith said.

Says Disputes Don't Always Bring Strikes

J. Noble Braden, New York, of the American Arbitration Association, said because economic warfare is the method of settling labor disputes that gets the most publicity, the public often gets the impression that all labor-management troubles result in strikes.

Braden spoke Thursday at the morning session of the Fifth Annual Conference on Labor-Management, sponsored by the Bureau of Labor and Management, sponsored by the Bureau of Labor and Management of the State University of Iowa College of Commerce and the SUI College of Law.

Provide Arbitration

Facts show, he said, that in 1954 less man-days were lost in strikes than at any time since World War II. He said that 1955 up to this time is at a similar low level.

Braden said that 95 per cent of all collective bargaining agreements provide for arbitration. "But arbitration, like any good medicine, should be used sparingly," he continued. "Many day-to-day disputes should be settled by the parties themselves."

"A most significant advance was made this August when the Commissioners on Uniform State Laws and the American Bar Association approved a new Uniform State Arbitration Act to be recommended to state legislatures," Braden said.

The role of the arbitrator received comment from Leland Beard, Columbus, Ohio, of the United Glass and Ceramic workers.

Urges Better Wording

Beard urged more consideration in the wording of contracts. Citing the legal phraseology of many contracts, Beard advocated that "labor agreements be written in language that the shop steward can understand."

In such cases, he said, "the arbitrator is compelled to look behind the law and weigh the justice against a coldly realistic group of words."

A session on implications of the proposed AFL-CIO merger heard four labor organization authorities; two representing labor and two, management.

Robert C. Mayer, associate general council for the AFL, said that the merger would bring together 90 per cent of all organized labor in the United States.

Increase Strength

Lambert Miller, general council for the National Association of Manufacturers, noted that the merger would greatly add to labor's bargaining strength.

In response to Miller's observation, Thomas E. Harris, associate general council of the CIO, said that business has also merged for greater collective strength.

Chicago attorney, Charles D. Preston, discussed federal and state jurisdiction in labor law violations. He noted that the U.S. Constitution makes federal law supreme over state court action wherever the federal government has the power and means to do the same thing that the state proposes.

Roan Tells Expected Area Sewage Needs

City Manager Peter F. Roan said Wednesday that city officials will talk in the near future with Coralville and University Heights representatives about common sewage disposal problems.

Under existing contracts with both towns, Iowa City's sewage disposal plant now provides service for Coralville and University Heights in addition to the Iowa City service.

Roan says the Iowa City plant, which was built 20 years ago, is not operating at capacity, but that the recent increases in demands for service have been tremendous.

"Our primary responsibilities in the matter are to the people of Iowa City and to the university," Roan said.

"With the enrollment of the university expected to reach 16,000 by 1970, and with Iowa City's population increasing rapidly, especially in the southeastern section of the city, we must get started on a program which will insure adequate services for the expected increase in our population."

Roan said the talks might take the form of telling representatives from Coralville and University Heights that there is a limit to the amount of service the Iowa City plant can provide the two towns.

The contract with Coralville permits the town to offer sewage disposal services to persons living outside the corporate limits of the town, Roan said.

This contract, which was signed in April, 1950, provided for a minimum period of five years of service. Since the five-year period expired last April, the contract can now be terminated, if Iowa City gives Coralville two years notice.

The contract with University Heights was signed in July, 1954, and has about 3½ years to run.

Under terms of the contracts with both towns, a slightly higher fee per hundred cubic feet is charged Coralville and University Heights residents.

Bonds on Sale Soon For Illinois Toll Road

NEW YORK (AP) — A $415-million issue of Illinois toll road bonds — largest in the history of turnpike financing — probably will come to market Oct. 25, Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois said Thursday.

The 152.8-mile east-west route will extend from the end of the Cook County Expressway in Chicago west across the state via Auroa, to U.S. 67 just south of Rock Island. Near its western end, a future connection to the proposed Iowa Turnpike can be made near Port Byron on the Mississippi River, just north of Moline.
