Highway 6 Will Bypass City by '57

Construction Will Begin In 5 Months

The State Highway Commission approved the first phase of a Highway 6 bypass for Iowa City Tuesday, and City Manager Peter F. Roan said this phase—about one-half the total project—should be completed by the spring of 1957.

Roan, meeting with the commission in Ames, said work on this first phase should begin in about five months.

Engineer Hired

Roan said the commission already has hired an engineer to design a four-lane bridge for the project which will cross the Iowa City Sanitary Landfill, on the south edge of the city limits on Highway 218.

Construction of the bridge will take about a year, Roan said.

First contracts to be let will be for about eight miles of grading and for the new bridge.

There hasn't been a cost estimate on the project yet.

8-Mile Strip

The bypass will begin at the intersection of Riverside Drive and Highway 1, and will follow a southeasterly line to an intersection with Lower Muscatine Road, east of the Procter and Gamble Plant site. From there it will follow the present county road east to Scott's Corner, where it will join Highway 6.

The total relocation will be about eight miles.

South of Iowa City, the bypass will be constructed as a parkway, consisting of two separated strips of pavement.

Each strip will be two lanes wide. The separation will be of a boulevard type or a four-foot cement curb, Roan said.

Sufficient right-of-way will be bought to provide landscaping and screening of the highway from any residential areas, the Highway Commission said.

The highway will be fenced. Therefore, vehicle or pedestrian access will be possible only at controlled intersections, about a quarter of a mile apart.

This limited access route will be one of the first constructed under an Iowa law providing for such highways.

The first phase of the project will call for Highway 6 to follow Riverside Drive north from its junction with Highways 1 and 218. Until the second and third phases of the project are completed, traffic will be routed north on Riverside Drive and onto the present Highway 6.

To Aid Grid Traffic

Roan thinks the relocation will aid Iowa City's traffic problems, especially on football Saturdays. He said the city will use Burlington Street and the new bypass to shuttle football traffic out of the city.

Roan said he expects the bypass to cut Burlington Street auto traffic by about 20 per cent and said that heavy truck traffic should be eliminated from Burlington Street.

Present plans call for no change in the handling of traffic on Highway 218 from Cedar Rapids and Highway 261 from Mt. Vernon into the city, Roan said, though plans for relocation of these routes are now being considered.

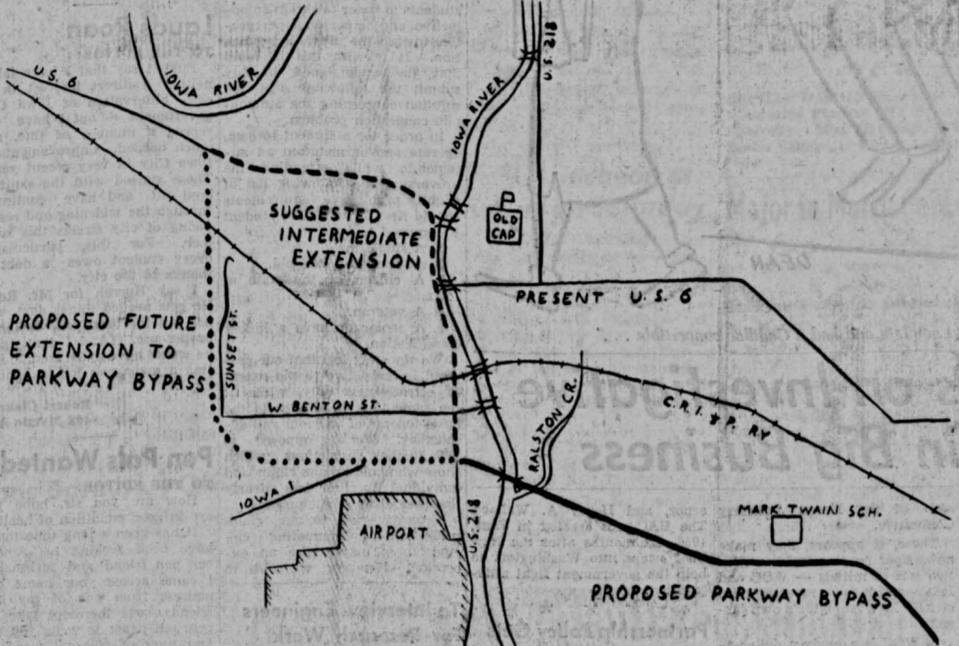

City Proposes Widening Of Street, Intersection

The city, which submitted the proposed bypass for consideration last March, also proposed two other phases of the relocation of Highway 6.

The second phase is the widening of Riverside Drive from the intersection of Iowa Avenue and Riverside Drive north to the present four-lane pavement near Rocky Shore Drive and U.S. Highway 6 west.

The intersection on the west end of the Burlington Street bridge would be redesigned and reconstructed to handle intracity traffic. No longer would it be necessary for through traffic,

BYPASS—

THE HIGHWAY 6 BYPASS is shown by this map. The first phase of the bypass project (heavy black line) will bring the highway up Lower Muscatine Road and along the southern borders of the city to the intersection of Highways 218 and 1. It will then proceed up Riverside Drive (broken line) to re-join the old Highway 6 at the Burlington Street bridge. The second phase of the program (dotted line) will take the highway along Highway 1 to Miller Avenue, then around University Heights to join the old highway route just west of Rocky Shore Drive.

Faure Wins Backing On Algeria Reforms

PARIS (AP)—Premier Edgar Faure's government won a vote of confidence Tuesday night, 308-254, on its program for restoring peace and beginning political reforms in Algeria.

The National Assembly's vote saved the life of the French government at a critical moment in international affairs.

The Premier said he was not asking the deputies to keep him in office just because of the Geneva meeting starting Oct. 27, or because France walked out of the United Nations General Assembly on the Algerian issue.

"In asking your confidence, I ask you to approve the position taken in the United Nations by Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay," he said.

Several deputies said they supported the government because this would be a bad time for a ministerial crisis.

Socialists, Communists, a number of Social Republicans (followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle), part of the Independent Republicans and a scattering of others had announced they would oppose the Premier. They all finally decided to vote for the government.

Faure briefly outlined his proposals for Algeria and said France "must go fast and must go very far" in instituting reforms and in working to eliminate terrorist bands.

Honorary Degree To SUI Art Head

Prof. Lester D. Longman, head of the State University of Iowa Art Department, received an honorary degree from Iowa Wesleyan College Monday.

A degree of Doctor of Humane Letters was conferred on Longman at a convocation Monday morning in the Wesleyan Chapel.

The conferring of the degree followed Longman's lecture on "Medieval Cathedrals," during which slides were shown.

The degree was conferred by Dr. J. Raymond Chadwick, president of Iowa Wesleyan College.

Prof. and Mrs. Longman were guests of honor at a luncheon Monday noon given by the Humanities division of Iowa Wesleyan College.

BATTLESHIP GROUND
NEW YORK (AP)—The 45,000-ton battleship Wisconsin Tuesday was thrusted aground by a strong harbor tide, her second grounding here in a little more than four years. Thirteen tugs pulled her off in 55 minutes, and she continued on her way, with engines "dead," to the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

The Americans contend this agreement was made for one year and has lapsed.

Wins New Trial In Iowa Slaying

DES MOINES (AP)—William G. Karston, 30, whose execution, once scheduled for Aug. 15 was delayed so the Iowa Supreme Court could rule on his appeal, won a new trial from that court Tuesday.

In a 6-2 decision the Supreme Court set aside a district court death sentence given Karston for the murder of Pulaski farmer Wendell Jones, 65, in an $81 robbery and directed that he be accorded a new trial.

The high court held that Karston's trial was not a fair one.

The Supreme Court held that Karston was denied due process of the law in Davis County District Court.

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball fan Paddy Keogh became the first contestant to miss a question on the $64,000 question Tuesday night when he missed a query on what the highest season batting average for a Chicago Cub player was. It was the $32,000 question.

Germans Want Unity, Says Woman Leader

By IVARS LIEPINS
"There is going to be a united Germany within the next three or four years, and it is not going to be Communist," Dr. Else Ulich-Bell, president of the German Women's Association (Deutscher Frauenring), said here Tuesday.

The silver-haired German woman arrived in Iowa City Monday night to visit her son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Konrad Ulich and her grandson, Tommy, 2, whom she is seeing for the first time.

Works for Unification
The German Women's Association, under the leadership of Dr. Ulich-Bell, has worked toward bringing the people of Germany together under one democratic government.

"We have studied the problem of unification, and we are getting the people of Western Germany interested in the conditions and fate of their brothers on the other side of the Iron Curtain," Dr. Ulich-Bell said.

Help East Germany
"We have helped the people of East Germany with food packages and we have provided the refugees from the East with homes away from home in our democratic country."

Dr. Ulich-Bell is sure that there is no security in Europe as long as Germany stays divided. "All German people want a united country," she said. "We cannot exist separately."

Education for Citizenship
The problem of a united Germany is not by far the only thing concerning the German Women's Association, which in character and statutes is comparable to the American League of Women Voters. Much of their work concerns education for citizenship and cultural-social problems. The organization has over two million members and is non-partisan and non-denominational. It consists of seven separate sub-groups some of which in American women's organizations could be compared to National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and W.C.T.U.

DR. ELSE ULICH-BELL, president of the German Women's Association, visits with her 2-year-old grandson, Tommy, whom she saw for the first time Monday. She is visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Konrad Ulich of Iowa City.

World Peace Is Aim
Another of the organization's main concerns is world peace, and the first problem they are working on is the abolishment of war.

Dr. Ulich-Bell has been the national president of the German Women's Association for four years. In 1947 she founded the Berlin chapter of this organization.

She intends to stay with her son and daughter-in-law, both of whom are resident pediatricians at University Hospitals, until Nov. 5. Then she will go east and do research in foreign relations with either Columbia or Princeton Universities.

Plans To Lecture
Dr. Ulich-Bell also plans to lecture unofficially on German affairs.

U.S. and Red China Negotiating: Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles disclosed Tuesday the United States and Red China have begun formal discussions of their Far East disputes.

Dulles also revealed the Chinese Communists, in ambassadorial talks under way at Geneva since Aug. 1, have formally raised for the first time their proposal that he meet personally with Red China's Premier Chou En-lai.

The United States has in the past held itself aloof from diplomatic involvement with the Peiping regime, which it does not recognize. This country agreed reluctantly to the Geneva talks in the hope of freeing 41 Americans detained inside China.

Pressing for Talks

Red China, slow in following through on a Sept. 10 agreement to free the Americans, has been pressing for talks on the other half of the agenda—"other practical matters." These include such differences as free world curbs on trade with Red China and Peiping's claims to the United Nations seat occupied by Nationalist China.

The United States has held back on discussing these questions at Geneva, demanding proof first that 25 Americans still in China will be allowed to leave.

Departure from Policy

Dulles' disclosures represented a departure from this policy, possibly signaling U.S. satisfaction that Red China will fulfill its promise.

New, too, is word that the Chinese Communists have formally raised their proposal for high-level talks.

Dulles made it clear at a news conference that he opposes this kind of a meeting until the U.S. and Red Chinese special envoys at Geneva have squeezed all they can out of negotiations on such issues as:

1. U.S. refusal to talk to Red China with a loaded pistol at its head—in other words, as long as the Communists refuse to renounce force as a way of achieving their goals. The United States is not asking, however, that Red China abandon its legal claims to such goals as Formosa and the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu — claims which this country opposes.

2. Peiping's call for an end to the trade embargo imposed on the China mainland by the United Nations allies after the Chinese Communists entered the Korean War in 1950.

John Foster Dulles Reveals Negotiations

Lifted into Chair, Ike Basks in Sun

DENVER (AP)—Convalescing President Eisenhower, looking forward to traveling to his Pennsylvania farm next month, was lifted from his bed into a wheel chair and taken by hospital corpsmen to the sun deck near his eighth floor room.

A news report from his Gettysburg farm and the President's first venture into a wheel chair since his Sept. 24 heart attack came as he took a 24-hour recess from Cabinet level conferences at Fitzsimons Army Hospital.

He will resume them Wednesday when another bedside discussion of foreign affairs is scheduled with Secretary of State Dulles who will leave Saturday for the Big Four conference in Geneva.

2 Are Ousted, 8 Others Put On Probation

By STU HOPKINS

Two State University of Iowa students have been suspended for distributing bogus Homecoming Dance tickets, L. Dale Faunce, dean of students, said Tuesday.

Faunce, in a statement released Tuesday, said eight other students have been "placed on varying degrees of conduct probation."

Investigation by Iowa City police revealed the tickets were printed in a town some distance from Iowa City, Faunce said.

The Daily Iowan learned the tickets were printed in Sigourney.

University Matter

The Iowa City police department placed the matter in the hands of University officials for disciplinary action.

"Consistent with University practice," Faunce said, "the names of the individuals involved will not be announced."

The two suspended students, a senior and a freshman, may apply for readmission to the university after a lapse of one semester, it was reported.

Had Promised Tickets

This was the story of the affair. The Daily Iowan learned Tuesday:

The senior student had promised Homecoming dance tickets to friends, some of whom lived out of town.

When he tried to buy them through regular channels, he found them sold out.

One thousand tickets were printed by University Printing Service for the dance. Fire restrictions and Iowa Memorial Union regulations limit the number of tickets that can be sold for any dance to 1,000.

Made No Money

The student then tried to buy tickets from scalpers.

This failed. He enlisted the aid of the second student and the two had 100 tickets printed.

They gave about 13 of the tickets to friends and alumni.

They did not sell any of the tickets. They destroyed the remaining 87.

Different Color Paper

Faunce's statement said that "interrogation of the individuals who presented the bogus tickets revealed different degrees of knowledge concerning the origin and legality of the tickets."

He said none of the eight had any connection with printing or distribution of the tickets.

The tickets were detected as bogus at the Oct. 15 dance because they were printed on a slightly different shade of paper.

Second Incident

A second incident involving counterfeit tickets has been confused with the present case, The Daily Iowan learned Tuesday.

It was learned that a person posing as a member of the Homecoming Dance Ticket Committee approached a Cedar Rapids printer and said the committee had run out of tickets and needed 200 more.

Later a second student went to the same printer and asked him to print 10 tickets for the dance.

The printer became suspicious and notified SUI officials, who are reportedly considering disciplinary action in the case.

Scientists Discover New Atom Particle

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Discovery of a remarkable new atomic particle which can annihilate the basic building block of all matter was announced Tuesday by Prof. Ernest O. Lawrence, famed nuclear scientist.

Long sought as a means of explaining some of the mysteries of the physical universe, the particle was produced in the University of California's multibillion volt Bevatron by a team of experts in radiation research.

Although the particle is a potent annihilator of matter as we know it, it poses no threat to the material universe, no instrument that could be made into a disintegrator of matter.

The new particle is called the antiproton, or negatively charged proton. It is the counterpart of the positively charged proton which constitutes the nucleus of the hydrogen atom.

Doctor's Degree

She received a doctor's degree in philosophy and history from the University of Leipzig in 1914, and her previous work was done at the University of Munich.

Dr. Ulich-Bell likes America and finds American people friendly. She plans to return to her native land a year from now.

Royal Turmoil—

Will Princess Margaret marry Peter Townsend or will she decide not to give up her royalty?

This is the question that has created a turmoil in Great Britain and avid interest the world over.

The 25-year-old princess has the right to marry the 40-year-old divorced man if she will relinquish her royal rights.

The case is much akin to that of the Duke of Windsor who gave up the throne to marry an American divorcee.

The romance of the situation is what catches the attention of the world. It gives us a break from the daily routine and a chance to debate a subject on which everyone can have an opinion and a new idea.

We realize that whatever the outcome of the romance, the world will be changed very little. But stories such as this that have a fairy tale aspect make the world a brighter place to live in.

We wonder how many countless persons have tried mentally to put themselves in Princess Margaret's position in an attempt to solve her romantic dilemma.

Get Well, Al—

Allen A. Baker, sophomore from Oelwein, was seriously injured last Wednesday while rehearsing on the trampoline for last weekend's Dolphin Show.

He is at University Hospitals where he is reported paralyzed from the neck down.

We, along with the entire University faculty, staff and student body, are watching hopefully for Al's successful recuperation.

Only 1,000 Couples—

The Homecoming Dance at the Union last Saturday night was undoubtedly a success and those students who were fortunate enough to be able to buy tickets (legitimate tickets, we mean) enjoyed dancing to the music of Ralph Marterier.

But it is regrettable that only 1,000 couples were allowed to attend the dance.

Iowa City fire department regulations state that more than 1,000 couples in the Union for a dance would create a fire hazard.

We agree that the fire department regulation is necessary, but we still find it regrettable that only 1,000 couples out of a student body of more than 9,000 can attend a Homecoming dance.

We do not have the answer to this problem, but we feel that the Union directors and the student Union Board should start making some long range plans now, taking into consideration the expected increase in enrollment.

The Lucky Driver—

Some advice for those who must go out on the road in their cars: Drive carefully, do not drink while you drive, obey the rules of the road, give full consideration to the other fellow, drive slowly, do not try to hog the road, in fact, it is often advisable to give up more than half the road. Keep your mind on your driving, your hands on the wheel, and your eyes on the road. Now if you do all this and are downright lucky, and don't meet the wrong kind of driver, you might escape without an accident. I'm not sure about that, but you might.

Democrats on Investigative Warpath in Big Business

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democrats may not turn up any scorching scandals or Fifth Amendment capitalists, but they are on the investigative warpath they charted long before President Eisenhower's heart attack. Their quarry is Big Business infiltration of the Eisenhower administration.

THE CAMPAIGN IS well organized and many sided and whatever other tactical changes Eisenhower's health may dictate — one political forecast for 1956 is safe: the Democrats expect to make a prime election issue out of what businessmen in the Eisenhower administration are doing for themselves and for other businessmen.

Rarely have the critical shafts been aimed at President Eisenhower himself, though Vice-President Nixon and others high in the official family have not been spared. Some scapals already have been taken since Democrats moved into control of the investigative machinery of Congress, so well oiled by Republican investigations of the Truman administration.

Blood was drawn at just below the Cabinet level when Secretary of the Air Force Harold E. Talbot quit to spare President Eisenhower further embarrassment caused by Talbot's solicitation of private business while in office.

IN THE DIXON-YATES dispute, Senate investigators are rapping on the door of the White House. They want Presidential Asst. Sherman Adams to explain his request that a Securities and Exchange Commission hearing on the private power project financing be postponed — at a moment in the controversy which the Democrats considered crucial.

The Democrats have announced plans to push the Dixon-Yates probe next year. Meantime, researchers at the Democratic National Committee are keeping tabs on businessmen in the administration ranks, and issuing "fact sheets" for newspapers bearing such titles as "How the Eisenhower Administration Has Helped the Bankers."

ON THE CONGRESSIONAL front, the pot is due to be kept boiling during the latter part of the recess with the resumption of twin investigations by the Anti-monopoly subcommittee of Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee. These, it appears, may make newspaper readers familiar with two sets of initials — WOC and BAC — which until recently were strictly in Washington's own jargon. A WOC is a modern dollar-a-year man, without the dollar. He is an executive borrowed from industry who stays on his company's payroll while doing a stint in Washington. There are about 1,000 WOCs.

THE INITIALS ARE an abbreviation for "without compensation." The chief WOC-hunter, Representative Celler, charges that some have found compensation by "feathering their own nests, or the nests of their companies, through their connections in Washington."

So far Celler hasn't caught many at it, but he has announced that the investigations will run right on into 1956 — on a wholly "nonpartisan basis." The individual WOC is small fry compared to Celler's other quarry, the BAC. The letters stand for the Business Advisory Council, a body of industrialists which has been bringing to secretaries of commerce for 23 years the business viewpoint on economic issues.

THE BAC IS the blue ribbon, gilt-edged elite corps of American industry. Most of its 62 active and more than 100 "graduate" members are the presidents or board chairmen of the country's biggest corporations. Eisenhower drew heavily on BAC for his Cabinet. Secretary of Defense Wilson, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Secretary of Welfare Folsom were, and are, BAC members.

The BAC, a private organization, maintains an executive director at $25,000 a year. His office space and two secretaries are supplied by the Commerce Department.

UNHAPPILY FOR the political cause of the Democrats, BAC procedures are unchanged from the days when it advised former Democratic Secretaries W. Averell Harriman, the banker who is now New York's governor, and Henry A. Wallace. The BAC was created in June, 1953, six months after the New Deal swept into Washington, to help the government fight a depression.

Partnership Policy Gets Democratic Treatment

The policy of "partnership" with private enterprise is getting the fine-tooth comb treatment — not only in the field of power and water resource development, but in the highway, health, school aid, and other administration programs.

Democrats complain that most of these programs call for bond financing by private industry, states and municipalities, or — as in the case of the President's multi-billion dollar highway proposal — by a special government corporation whose financing would not show up in the federal budget.

The government in most cases would be the minority partner in putting up money, or would function, as in the case of the reinsurance program for private health insurance, as an underwriter of private enterprise.

The technique serves two purposes dear to GOP: it holds down the federal budget; and it lessens the dominance of the federal government by keeping it out of competition with private industry and finance.

SUI Physicist To Help Plan Satellite

Prof. James Van Allen, of the State University of Iowa Physics Department, will attend a meeting of the United States National Committee on the Earth Satellite program.

Eleven men have been invited to the meeting which will be held at the National Academy of Science building on Constitution Avenue, Washington, D. C. The committee will discuss the program as a whole and how they can individually participate.

The committee will consist of astronomers, physicists, astro-physicists, missile experts, and engineers.

Old Capitol Remembers

✓ One Year Ago Today Republican Sen. Irving Ives accused Averell Harriman, his Democrat opponent for governor of New York, of being involved in a $250,000 waterfront scandal in 1930. 17 nationally known insurance firms were charged by the federal government of misrepresenting benefits they offer their customers.

✓ Five Years Ago Today President Truman invited all Asia to join with the U.S. in a "partnership of peace." Allied forces pushed within eight miles of the Communist capital as the end of the war neared. Charles Laughton, well known actor, received three curtain calls from SUI students as he "read" selections.

✓ Ten Years Ago Today A plea to Congress to pass a law for peacetime universal military training was drafted by President Truman. The Communist party of Germany dominated Berlin's city government according to Gen. D. D. Eisenhower. 450,000 strikers were idle as disputes continued in the soft coal industry.

✓ Twenty Years Ago Today The League of Nations speeded up attempts to prevent European war. A list of essential key products necessary for Italian industry will be denied as the first step in an economic boycott. Japanese delegate Dr. Binjiro Terada visited SUI in a campaign against narcotics. This visit, he explained, was one of many in an attempt to control the dope traffic.

TO THE EDITOR:

In the past, during periods of controversy and dissatisfaction, school administrations have found it advantageous to look toward the older, more mature students in order to obtain an objective and impersonal perspective toward the prevailing situation. It is with this in mind that the undersigned humbly submit the following suggested solution concerning the automobile congestion problem.

- In order for a student to own, operate and/or maintain an automobile while attending the university, the following list of slightly prohibitive requirements should first be met. The student is required to be:
 1. A single male.
 2. At least 25 years old.
 3. A citizen of the state of Iowa.
 4. A veteran.
 5. A senior or have a higher classification.

We sincerely feel that our proposal is restrictive to the extent of effectiveness only, while at the same time it adheres to the basic tenets of freedom and democracy. We are opposed to any further restrictions which those who hold human rights and individual liberties less dearly than ourselves might propose. Naturally we do not claim perfection — extenuating circumstances may require an exception. However, we wish to

Lauds Roan

TO THE EDITOR:

First, I say that I have taken neither a direct interest in or close observation of Iowa City government — but I have observed a number of fine, and much needed, improvements in Iowa City in very recent years. These started with the sanitary land fill and have continued through the widening and resurfacing of city streets this summer. For this, particularly, every student owes a debt of thanks to the city.

I say Hurrah for Mr. Roan. He gets needed things done, and has put the taxpayer's dollar to proper use. (And I don't think he would have much trouble getting a manager's job in another city.)

FLECK AND "NADCO"—Jack Fleck, U.S. Open Golf Champion from Davenport, will represent "Nadco," a new brand of golf clubs produced by the National Die Casting Co., of Chicago. The clubs were designed by Vic East, former Australian golf pro.

WAIVER ON TALLAFERRO—The Philadelphia Eagles have asked waivers on halfbacks Don Johnson, former University of California player, and George Tallafarro, former halfback with Indiana. Tallafarro is a veteran of six years in the pro football ranks and played with the Baltimore Colts in 1952, 1953 and 1954.

RASCHI RELEASED—Vic Raschi, once one of the New York Yankee's top pitchers, was given an unconditional release Monday by the Kansas City Athletics. Raschi has played pro baseball for 10 years and has appeared in 11 world series games.

FROSH GRIDDERS—Dickenson College, Carlisle, Pa., says it will use freshmen football players to complete its season. The frosh will fill in for the injured varsity which has been cut through injuries from 26 to 18 men. If the frosh were not used it would mean cancelling the remaining games.

HANGED IN EFFIGY—Lynn O. (Pappy) Waldorf, University of California coach, was hanged in effigy Monday on a campus gate. Waldorf and squad lost to Oregon last Saturday 21-0, and he said the hanging was just one of the hazards of coaching.

ABRAMS FOR ADAMS—Outfielder Cal Abrams was obtained Monday from the Baltimore Orioles by the Chicago White Sox in a straight player trade for infielder Bobby Adams. Vice-president Chuck Comiskey said Abrams, a lefthander, will be able to play any outfield position and will give the Sox pinch-hitting strength.

COLTS LIMPING—The battered Baltimore Colts were working today to put together a lineup for Sunday's game against Washington, with an injury list numbering 14 of the 33 men on the roster.

MACIAS UNAPPRECIATED—NBA bantamweight champion Raul (Raton) Macias was booed lustily Monday, in winning a 10-round decision over Cecil Schoonover in Corpus Christi, Tex. It was Macias' first bout since his jaw was broken several months ago.

POWER-PACKED—West Virginia again leads the nation's offensive averages, holding the top in points scored, yardage, and passing. The Mountaineers have scored an average of 41.3 points a game, and have run over four opponents for 427 yards a game.

VOTE OF CONFIDENCE—President Edwin Anderson of the winless Detroit Lions football team Tuesday said that Buddy Parker will continue as head coach. He called "vicious" rumors that Ivy Williamson of Wisconsin was being considered to replace Parker.

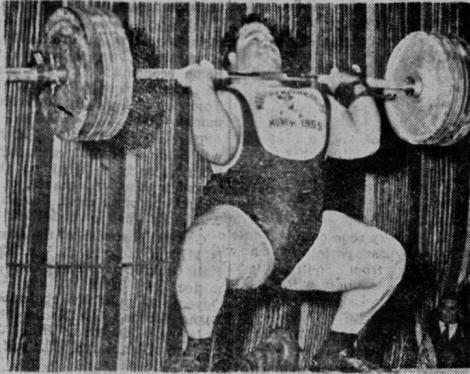

TRY, TRY AGAIN—Stu Miller, star pitcher for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1952 who was shunted to Omaha when he flopped the next year, will be given another trial with the Cards in 1956. The Redbirds repurchased Miller from Omaha Monday.

STAN NOT FOR SALE—Frank Lane, new general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, says that Stan Musial is not for sale. Baseball's "Trader Horn," famed for his swaps, said that Musial "belonged to the people of St. Louis, and will not leave."

COONEY RELEASED—Johnny Cooney, for 25 years first base coach for the Braves of Boston and Milwaukee, was released Tuesday. He said he hopes to coach with some other major league club.

Evy Stresses Pass Defense Against UCLA

Iowa Coach Forest Evashevski rewarded his "new iron-men" team with a light workout Tuesday in sweat suits in preparation for UCLA Friday night.

The first team, which played most of the Purdue game, practiced without pads. The emphasis was on defensive formations designed to stop UCLA's single-wing attack.

Evy used only 20 players last Saturday compared to Purdue's playing list of 29. Four of the Hawks played the full 60 minutes and eight of them saw action 50 or more minutes.

The four going the distance included Captain Cal Jones, end

Passes Give Upper 'B' I-M Football Victory

Quad Upper B scored two touchdowns in the first half, and then staved off a determined Lower A rally to take an 18-6 intramural touch football win Tuesday.

Upper B scored the first time it got its hands on the ball, when Bill Albert hit Chuck Schmidt in the end zone with a 20-yard pass. A pass attempt for the extra point failed, and Upper B held a 6-0 lead with five minutes gone.

The winners counted again in the waning moments of the first half. After Ron Nelson had intercepted a Lower A pass and returned it to the five yard line, Albert fired a scoring pass to Gaylord Vogt, and the score was 12-0. Again the try for extra point was not good.

Lower A's Ron Matthiessen spearheaded a second-half rally that almost overhauled Upper B. With three minutes left in the game, Matthiessen connected with a ten-yard pass to Ed Kugel for a touchdown, narrowing the margin to 12-6. The try for point was missed.

Lower A threatened to knot the score moments later, when the kickoff was recovered in Upper B territory. But an intercepted pass stifled the threat, and Upper B took control.

Albert threw for his third touchdown of the game with about a minute remaining, a 30-yard aerial to Vogt. The game ended with Upper B on top, 18-6.

The average West Virginia University football player is 6 feet 1 inch tall and weighs 196.2 pounds.

Smith Expects To KO Carter

CINCINNATI (AP)—The records show that Jimmy Carter, frequent champion of the lightweight boxers, has been knocked out only once in 98 fights, but Bud Smith, who dethroned him last, expects to do it here Wednesday night.

"Almost had him when I took the title in Boston in June, and sure will get him this time," Smith, a Cincinnati boy, said Tuesday. "I'm ready, and eager." So is Carter, who has been accused of fighting at his best only when the chips are down. And they are down for the scheduled 15 rounder, because some of the boys say the little New Yorker is slipping.

Pointing to his head, Carter said: "That is the way I'm going to whip that Smith fella."

Carter has a reputation for calmness, patience, and the ability to take advantage of his opponents' mistakes. He said he has studied the motion pictures of the last fight with Smith and saw where he made mistakes.

"There will not be any such mistakes tomorrow night," he declared.

The fight, which will start at 8 p.m., Central Standard Time, will be televised.

Irish Tumble From List After Loss—

Michigan Holds Poll Lead

Jim Gibbons (who has played every minute of the last two games), tackle Don Bowen and center Don Suchy.

Coach Evashevski spent much of his time Tuesday with the second team, looking for possible reserve players.

Veteran end Frank Gilliam returned to practice this week. Gilliam, who broke his leg three weeks ago, jogged around the field Monday and Tuesday.

Gibbons, sophomore replacement for Gilliam, has snared two touchdowns passes since breaking into the starting lineup.

Iowa will leave in a chartered plane from Cedar Rapids at 8 a.m. Thursday, expecting to arrive in Los Angeles at 12:30 p.m. The Hawks will return to Cedar Rapids about 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Iowa will practice Thursday evening under the lights in the coliseum.

CHICAGO (AP)—Michigan, Maryland and Oklahoma still are the nation's top three college football teams but after the upheavals of last week not even this formidable trio can be considered a cinch to stay up there.

Notre Dame, Georgia Tech, Wisconsin and Texas Christian all suffered their first defeats Saturday and dropped out of the first 10 with a crash.

Notre Dame fell to 11th, Georgia Tech to 13th, Wisconsin to 15th and TCU to 18th.

Michigan (4-0) this weekend journeys to Minnesota (1-3) for the battle of the Little Brown Jug. The Gophers don't need added incentives when Michigan is the foe and they can take heart from the Wolverines' narrow 14-2 victory over Northwestern. Minnesota's only victory of the year was over Northwestern, 18-7.

Maryland (3-0) visits Syracuse (2-1) where the Orangemen still are celebrating their 13-0 upset of Army.

Oklahoma (4-0), aiming for its 24th straight victory and its 49th in the Big Seven, hosts Colorado (4-0) in the only clash of all-winning teams this weekend. The Buffaloes have given the Sooners some tough games in the past, tying them 21-21 in 1952 and losing only by 13-6 a year ago.

Duke (4-0) takes on tough Pittsburgh (3-2), Michigan State (3-1) meets rugged Big Ten opposition in Illinois (3-1), UCLA (4-1) entertains Iowa (2-1-1) on Friday night, West Virginia (4-0) opposes a tough eastern rival in Penn State (2-2), and Southern California (4-1) visits a traditional foe, California (1-3-1).

The top ten teams with first place votes and won-lost records in parentheses:

1. Michigan 7 (4-0) 1083
 2. Maryland 3 (3-0) 1487
 3. Oklahoma 29 (18) 1454

Hawk Runners Face Badgers Saturday

Iowa's cross country team Saturday kicks off its season with high hopes. The Hawkeyes will meet Wisconsin at Madison.

Coach Francis Cretzmeier believes the Hawks have good prospects with a team anchored by returning star Ted Wheeler. Wheeler, in service the past two years, was a top middle distance runner for Iowa prior to entering the army, and ran for Ft. Leonard Wood while in. Other veterans are Ira Dunsworth and Wayne Everman, both lettermen.

Cretzmeier anticipates strong support from a trio of sophomores: Charles "Deacon" Jones, Murray Keatinge, and Dick Allen.

Highpoint of the season will be the Big Ten and NCAA meets late in November.

Facilities at the SUI Fieldhouse will be open special "family nights" on tonight and Oct. 26. Married students and their families are asked to take advantage of the swimming pool and other recreational features at the Fieldhouse.

'One of City's Most Brutal Crimes'

Three Chicago Boys Slain, Found in Ditch

CHICAGO (AP) — The naked, blood-flecked bodies of three boys were found Tuesday sprawled in a ditch in a forest area.

Shocked investigators termed it one of the most brutal crimes in Chicago's history, and attributed it to a "madman" driven by a twisted sex motive.

The victims were Robert Peterson, 14, Robert Schuessler, 13, and his brother, Anton, 11. They were grade schoolers—clean-cut kids with close-cropped hair who left their comfortable homes Sunday afternoon for a movie. They never returned.

Instead, police found their bodies in a ditch in the Robinson Woods section of the forest preserve at Lawrence Avenue and River Road, 10 miles northwest of the Chicago Loop.

Blood, Mud
The bodies were on their backs, the legs intermingled. Their slender forms were smudged with blood and mud.

Coroner Walter E. McCarron termed it the most horrible crime within his experience, and labeled it a sex case.

"The work of a madman," he asserted.

The coroner said he believed the youths had been strangled. Marks indicated their mouths and eyes had been sealed with tape, which was removed before they were killed.

The coroner theorized the boys had been held captive before they were slain.

14 Cuts
There were 14 cuts on Robert Peterson's head. Two of them were deep wounds. The blood spots apparently were from his wounds.

Coroner McCarron said this indicated that Robert, the eldest of the victims, had put up a terrific fight.

Victor Livingston, a Chicago liquor salesman, made the ghastly discovery. He drove into a driveway in the wooded area west of the city to eat his lunch and saw the forms in the ditch.

The full crime-cracking power of Chicago and Cook County was thrown into the case.

Chicago's Police Commissioner, Timothy J. O'Connor, called the triple slaying "one of the most brutal crimes in the city's history."

Detectives
He put 20 hand-picked detectives to work on the case.

The investigation revolved around a search of the forest preserves and a backtracking hunt for clues to where the lads had been since Sunday night.

The boys, with $4 among them, set out about 3 p.m. Sunday from their Northwest Side homes. They were headed for the Loop—the downtown business section—to see a movie titled "The African Lion."

But nobody could say for sure whether they ever got to the Loop. If they had, it would have been the first trip downtown without the company of an adult for the Schuessler boys.

Seen Sunday
The boys were seen Sunday night in two bowling alleys on the Northwest Side, but they remained only a few minutes in each and did not bowl.

Edward Davis, manager of the Monte Cristo Bowl, 3326 Montrose, said they were there about 7 p.m. Wolf Lundgren, manager of the Drake Bowling Lanes, 3550 Montrose, said they were there about 8 p.m.

The coroner guessed the slayings occurred about 11 p.m. Monday.

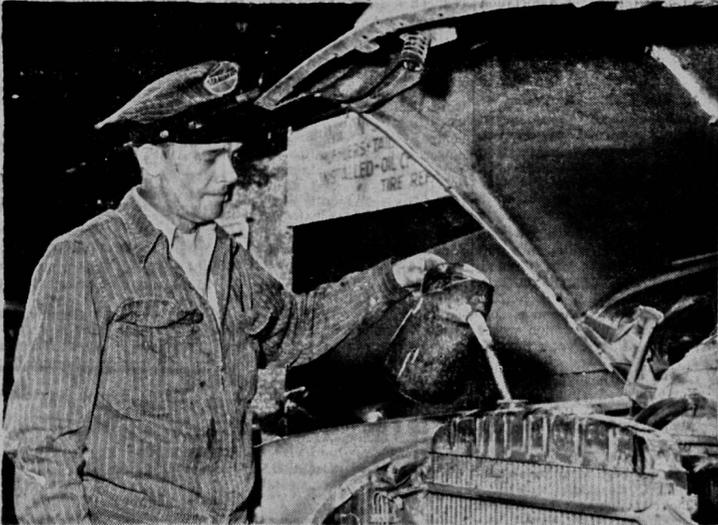

The bodies were found about 1 p.m. Tuesday.

Backs Marked
Marks such as would be left by a rubber mat in the rear of a car were found on the backs of the Peterson boy and Anton Schuessler. Anton's back also bore burn-like marks, as if he had been dragged over a black-top pavement.

Two pairs of under shorts—size 38, and too large for the victims—were found about a block away from the ditch.

The boys' clothing—they wore blue jeans—was not found early in the search.

As Winter Approaches . . .

FALLING LEAVES and icy winds have left little doubt in the minds of residents of Iowa City that winter is not far off. Filling stations have been extra busy the past few days doing last-minute winterizing jobs on cars. Tony Brack, 2010 H St. is shown here pouring anti-freeze into the radiator of a car at the Burlington Street Standard Service Station.

STUDENTS AND FACULTY are beginning to notice the cold, too. Here Dr. Joseph Stojkovic of the State University of Iowa College of Medicine puts up insulation at his home, 204 Stadium Park.

Phone Employee Accepts New Job

W. F. Ellsworth, 1206 Yewell St., has accepted a position with the Western Electric Company in New York City.

In his new engineering position Ellsworth will be working on the Air Force's proposed continental air defense system known as "SAGE" (Semi-Automatic Ground Environment).

Ellsworth has been in charge of the Long Lines communications office for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in Iowa City since 1945. During that time he supervised the operation and maintenance of all interstate communications passing through or terminating in Iowa City.

Ray E. McIntosh of Ewart will replace Ellsworth. McIntosh's wife and three children will move to Iowa City from Grinnell in the near future.

Award 5 Graduates of SUI

Five men who received advanced degrees at the State University of Iowa will be honored by the American Society of Civil Engineers at their national convention in New York City, Oct. 24-28.

Twelve awards will be given by the Board of Directors of the A.S.C.E. for the civil engineers who contributed the most to engineering science through papers and discussion last year.

The five SUI graduates receiving the awards are:

James M. Robertson, the Karl Emil Hilgard prize for his paper on flowing water.

Carl E. Kindsvater, co-winner of the James W. Rickey Medal for his paper, "Dam Modifications Checked by Hydraulic Models."

Marion R. Carstens, the J. C. Stevens award for his discussion of the prize winning paper, "Mechanics of Manifold Flow."

William J. Bauer, the Colling-ton award.

HOME ACCIDENTS
Although only 63 per cent of American families live in single family homes, 90 per cent of all home accidents occur in such homes.

wood prize for Juniors for his paper, "Turbulent Boundary Layer on Steep Slopes."

John S. McNowen, the J. James R. Croes Medal for his paper, "Mechanics of Manifold Flow."

McNowen taught both, mechanic and hydraulic engineering at SUI from 1943-1954.

Dean F. M. Dawson, Prof. Hunter Rouse, and Prof. Joseph W. Howe of the State University of Iowa will attend the convention.

Bypass for Highway 6—

gasoline transports and other truck traffic to use this bridge.

Ask Extension

The final phase of the proposal calls for extension of the new parkway to join Highway 6 west of the city. This extension would begin at the junction of the parkway and Highway 1 and would follow the line of the present Highway 1 west, then go north along the western limits of University Heights and the present Highway 6. Definite location plans for this section have not been made.

The Highway Commission made no announcement Tuesday concerning the possibility of relocating Highway 218 west of the city, though this definitely is regarded as a future possibility.

Viaduct Work Approved

Road also said Tuesday the Woolf Avenue viaduct project has been approved by the commission. This project will include construction of a steel and concrete bridge across Highway 6 and the Cedar Rapids and Iowa City (Crandic) line tracks, as well as the lowering of the Crandic tracks and Highway 6. Crandic will give a 21-foot easement along its right-of-way from a point near Rocky Shore Drive to near the Westlawn curve.

This wider right-of-way will make widening of Highway 6 possible if the commission decides to undertake the project.

The total cost of the bypass project will be about $67,400.

The city will pay $24,628 of this, Crandic $18,750 and the state $24,022.

City and University officials, while welcoming the news of the approval of the bypass, urged completion of the final two phases of the project as soon as possible.

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher said: "It is very encouraging to us to know that the first phase of a highway bypass program for Highways 6 and 218 has an early place on the program of the State Highway Commission."

"It is our hope that work may begin very soon on that phase of the bypass project which will extend from South Riverside Drive to connect with Highway 6 and a re-routed Highway 218 west of Iowa City."

Mayor LeRoy S. Mercer said: "This first phase is the beginning of a well-planned program which will eventually route the through traffic of U.S. Highway 6 entirely south of the city and our citizens will have the bypass that they have been anxiously waiting for."

Chairman Harry B. Dunlop Jr. of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce said: "It will certainly be of great benefit in alleviating our traffic problem in Iowa City by serving east and south Iowa City traffic moving to the hospital and University area and by eliminating most of the Burlington Street bridge bottleneck."

HEAT INCREASES ERRORS

A recent study indicated that errors made by typists increase from an average of 11 per hour to more than 95 per hour when the temperature rises from 78 to 96 degrees.

Chopek Favors Firing City Manager Roan

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the final article in a series on candidates for the City Council of Iowa City.)

By KIRK BOYD
Leo Chopek, City Council candidate of the Non-Partisan Taxpayers League (NPTL) minces no words in his opposition to city manager government in Iowa City.

He would:
1. Fire City Manager Peter F. Roan.
2. Limit the authority of the new city manager.

3. Work to end the city manager form of government in 1957.
4. Bring back the old Mayor-Council form of government with alderman elected from each of the city's five wards.

Chopek, who lives at 121 Taft Speedway, is the only one of three NPTL candidates to endorse 100 per cent the anti-Roan, anti-system platform of the group.

Firm Opposition
He is most firm in his opposition to Roan, who has served as city manager here since the system went into effect in 1951. He says:

"His annual salary of $12,744 is excessive and exorbitant.

"There are many personal reasons indicating that Peter Roan is not competent or qualified to act as manager.

"He has accomplished very few things of any value to Iowa City during the past four years.

"Any effort during the next few years to construct a new City Hall and Community Building will be defeated because of the voters dislike of this individual."

'Rubber-Stampers'
Chopek, who calls the present City Council "rubber-stampers" says that the new council should set the government policy.

"A city council," he said, "should limit the city manager's authority so that he is only carrying out policies set down by the City Council."

Chopek, a rugged-featured man whose crew-cut is graying, emphasizes his opposition to the city manager plan.

"Such a plan does not carry out the wishes of the people," he said. "I therefore urge that the government be returned to the people."

Not a Politician

Chopek, like the other two NPTL and three Council-Manager Association (CMA) candidates, is not a politician. He has never held public office or taken part in precinct politics.

Unlike the other five candidates, he has lived in Iowa City all of his life.

He has been a sheet-metal worker 40 years and is a property owner. One of his tenants: the Varsity Theater, which is managed by CMA-backed councilman Ansel Chapman.

Chopek, never a supporter of city manager government, has looked on for the past four years as the CMA look over the political life of the town and backed all successful council candidates.

He saw the CMA nominate its candidates regardless of wards and on the recommendations of its candidates committee. No other group formed to oppose the CMA.

Old System
He said he has always believed in the old system of nominating and electing the councilmen by wards.

"Members of the City Council," he said, "should not be hand-picked by clerk and committees."

When Edward O'Connor, NPTL chairman, formed the group in a sweltering August meeting at CSA Hall, Chopek was in the front row.

He has attended all NPTL meetings since, and held committee posts. When O'Connor started looking for candidates, Chopek was willing.

Chopek, a blunt-spoken man is not one to be scared off by a hot issue. And Tuesday he raised what may be one of the hottest when he said:

"I believe that measures should be taken to provide some compensation for council members as provided by law."

The mayor and city councilmen here at present receive no pay.

LEE CHOPEK, council candidate of the Non-Partisan Taxpayers League (NPTL), is interviewed by Daily Iowan City Editor Kirk Boyd, whose series on the candidates ends today. Chopek said he would vote to fire City Manager Peter F. Roan and work to replace the city manager plan with the council-mayor system.

Community Chest Goal Set at $35,772

In order that everybody may have a chance to "give and give enough" to meet the $35,772 goal of the Community Chest drive this year, solicitation will be done through five divisions, which will be headed by drive chairmen and assistant chairmen.

The drive for funds will start Nov. 1 and run for 5 days. The University section of the solicitors will be headed by A. C. Marks, director of the University personnel service, with Leonard Brcka, manager of SUI business office, serving as assistant chairman.

L. G. Klein, an Iowa City lawyer, and I. J. Barroh, local insurance agent, will head the professional division of this year's drive.

Solicitation in the business division will be led by Robert Yetter, manager of the Youngkers department store, with Dayton Howe, manager of Aldens store, acting as assistant chairman.

Chairman of the residential section will be E. R. Williams, 523 S. Lucas St., Joseph Wayne, 303 Lexington Ave., is assistant chairman.

The special section will have Robert Sorensen, principal of Iowa City Senior High School, as chairman and Sterling Gopleur, principal of Herbert Hoover School, assistant chairman.

Funds collected or pledged in this drive will help support 11 agencies: Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Visiting Nurse Association, Childrens Milk Fund, Salvation Army, Iowa Children's Home Society, Travelers Aid, United Service Organizations (USO), American Social Hygiene Association, The Iowa Chapter of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation and the National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Most of the money will be spent locally. About four-fifths of the total goes to the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Visiting Nurses Association in Iowa City. The remaining money will be shared by the other eight agencies and will also be spent locally.

O'Connor, Farrell Clash In City Policy Debate

The ideals of American democracy concerning popular representation in city government were debated Tuesday night by Thomas Farrell Jr., chairman of the Council-Manager Association (CMA), and Edward L. O'Connor, chairman of the Non-Partisan Taxpayers League (NPTL), opposing groups in the Nov. 8 Iowa City municipal election.

O'Connor argued that the great principle involved is government, in the sense that the American way is to elect public servants. "We are not getting that type of government now in Iowa City," O'Connor said.

He charged that the power to "hire or fire" is vested in a majority vote of the City Council, representing the population as a whole. Advocating the mayor-council system, O'Connor said that closer representation would be possible for the voter through his ward.

Efficiency
Farrell, answering O'Connor, said that the council-manager system is based on the idea that democracy expects efficiency at the lowest cost. "The city manager is the best form to accomplish this," he said.

The city manager carries out the council's policy, Farrell explained, and has no vote in council meetings. "No citizen's rights can be overruled by any city administrator," he said.

The administration must respond to public pressures, Farrell declared, "even though it may have to override minorities."

Tax Increase
O'Connor, in presenting a chart on city taxes, warned against accepting the millage rate as a good evaluation of tax increase.

Farrell explained that the average taxpayer has paid about $3.57 a year more, or about $14.50 in increased taxes during the past four years during which the city-manager system has been in effect.

"Out of the pocket it costs more," Farrell said, "but look at the phenomenal advantages." He noted that during the period of city-manager government, 67 blocks of streets have been paved with 99 blocks resurfaced, the city debt has been reduced from $575,000 to $410,000, garbage and trash collection provided and a sanitary land fill set up.

Improvements
Other improvements, he said, were 13,500 feet of sanitary and 3,640 feet of storm sewers, a 10 per cent increase in police manpower, and salary raises in both police and fire departments.

O'Connor charged that the Iowa City manager is overpaid. He said the city manager here receives $12,744 annually while Ames pays its city manager $8,700 a year. The governor of Iowa is paid only $12,500, he noted, and members of the Iowa Supreme Court receive $10,000. Farrell commented that saving in some cases is not always justified.

"It'll be a long time before we have another picture as good as this... Some of the guttiest performances I've ever seen. I am seeing it for the second time."
—HEDDA HOPPER
Times

"This is the Gable picture the women have been waiting for during the past 10 years. In the best role he's had since Rhett Butler, he proves that he's still 'The King.' Rich in humor and surcharged with sex appeal, in which passion and jealousy are mixed with laughter... A box office smash. One of the biggest and best westerns ever made."
—JACK MOFFITT
Hollywood Reporter

"A virile, brawling actioner, replete with a type of sassy, sizzling sex, humor and the marquee sock that comes from the combination of Clark Gable and Jane Russell. It's a natural."
—BROG
Daily Variety

"Clark Gable finally has found a picture to his size in 'THE TALL MEN'... This big, brawling Western bulges the CinemaScope screen with Indian fights, gun-play, rugged humor, lusty love-making, and a climatic cattle stampede that rates among the top action sequences ever filmed... Gable gives his most colorful performance since 'Gone With The Wind'."
