Mix Up in Land Annexation

Proposed Area Now Belongs to Coralville; Balloting Might Be Meaningless

Iowa City voters will cast ballots Nov. 8 on whether to annex land that already belongs to another town.

The land is a 15-acre strip located just north of Highway 6 between the western city limits of Iowa City and the eastern limits of Coralville.

It is one of the eight tracts of land that the city council has asked city voters to annex.

The mixup came about in this manner:

Council Vote

The City Council Sept. 28 voted to place the annexation on the Nov. 8 election ballot. Two steps would have been necessary to effect the annexation. Iowa City voters would have had to approve it. Then the city would have had to prove in the Johnson County District Court that it could furnish the necessary services.

The property owners of the area sprang into action and petitioned the Coralville town council to annex them.

When property owners ask to be annexed the matter does not have to go before the courts. The Coralville council voted to bring the land within the city limits, effective immediately.

Enforce Speed Limit

Coralville Mayor Donald Anderson said Thursday that the portion of Highway 6 running through the area will soon be brought under the town's 45-mile-per-hour speed limit.

Meanwhile, the annexation of the strip has been placed on Iowa City's election ballots.

And it will stay there, Mayor LeRoy Mercer said Thursday. It would be too much trouble to take the question off the ballots, which have already been printed, he said.

Mercer, however, said that he regards the area as part of Coralville.

The balloting, he said, might be meaningless and Iowa City, he said, has no plans to take legal action to annex the land.

Small P&G Fire Raises Technical Problem with City

A small fire in a crane at the site of the new Procter and Gamble Drugs Products plant brought up a technical question Thursday.

The Iowa City fire department has not yet signed a contract to provide fire protection for the plant site. The plant is outside the city limits.

But city officials decided to send out a wagon from station number 2, with instructions to "be very careful."

The firemen extinguished the blaze, a grease fire that started when a part of the crane became overheated.

District Republicans Confer

'Just Donkeys Up to Tricks,' Sen. Martin Labels Demos

By IVARS LIEPINS

The Democratic party is just a donkey trying to return to power, they are up to tricks, but the Republican party will look them in the eye and hit them, Sen. Thomas Martin (R-Iowa) told a First District GOP gathering here Thursday night.

The dinner party with speeches by Martin and Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) concluded a day-long conference on party strategy at the Jefferson Hotel.

Martin blasted the Democratic party and said that the Democrats are responsible for the wars in which America has been involved.

'Led Into War'

He declared that the Democrats tried to save the economic situation of the country in 1941 by leading America into war.

"We can not give them credit for high prices of hogs if war is brought to our country," he said. "We farmers don't want to pay with the blood of our sons for higher livestock prices."

Martin emphasized that the Republican party must be organized in this off-election year, and said that a long campaign is necessary to get the Republican team together.

'Smash Them'

"Let us compare our notes, organize our ideas, and then run against the Democrats and smash them," he added.

The meeting of the First District Republicans here is part of a national series designated to expand the party base for the coming elections.

Following Martin, Hickenlooper spoke before the 200 Republicans.

"Not one Republican administration has brought war to America, in this century," Hickenlooper said. "The Democrats with their policies and bureaucratic administration have been involved in war every time a Democratic president has led the nation."

Praises Ike

Hickenlooper praised the Eisenhower administration for bringing the Korean War to an end and said that at present the potentials of war are far removed from the United States.

"The Republican party has done the best job of administration through the years, the country is prospering under Republican stewardship," he said. Farmers will benefit under

Shuttle Bus For Students Considered

The Student Parking Committee Thursday discussed a shuttle bus service as a means of easing the parking problem.

Chairman Jim Cooney, G. Washington, D.C., had organized the meeting chiefly to define the problem and put it before the student body. He was "pleasantly surprised" by the enthusiasm shown by those who attended the meeting.

The concept of shuttle buses running from strategically located pick-up points to the campus was generally approved by the group.

The possibility of opening the remainder of Old Iowa Field to parking was raised.

Don't Want Ban

The committee agreed that restrictions on student cars should not be imposed at this time. However, they did not rule out the possibility of a ban on cars in the future.

Poor transportation facilities to and from Iowa City were cited by committee members in defending student ownership of automobiles.

In addition, they pointed out that with the exception of the Union there is not one place to dance in Iowa City.

A two or three story parking building and metered parking for university lots were also discussed briefly.

The unit representatives gave brief descriptions of the parking difficulties in their areas, as follows:

1. Carrier: street parking east and south is adequate only after 10:30 p.m. The new women's dorm will make the situation worse.

2. Fraternity Circle: Simply too many cars for the space and little prospect of providing additional parking facilities.

3. Quadrangle and Hillcrest: A serious problem both at night for residents and during the day for students and employees at the Fieldhouse and University Hospitals.

4. Sororities: No problem except near Currier.

5. Commons and Westlawn: No space is provided at Westlawn for student parking. No problem at Commons.

6. Town Men and Women: No problem.

REST MURDER CASE

DAVENPORT (AP) — The state rested its case Thursday afternoon as it presented testimony from the last of 30 witnesses in the murder trial of Louis (Rusty) Myers. Defense attorneys will present witnesses Monday.

Iowan, Two Others Down In Arctic

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A ground party set out Thursday in zero cold to reach an Iowan and two other men who were sighted alive near their disabled plane in the Arctic.

The Iowan is Harold W. Brazell of Harpers Ferry. He is a technician for Western Electric Co.

The Alaska Air Command here said the ground party set out across the ice from Barter Island to reach the spot where the three were seen huddled around a small fire Wednesday.

It is a distance of 25 to 30 miles, in a desolate, snow-covered area where the terrain is too tough for a military rescue plane to land.

Other Men

The other men are pilot Kenneth Lenhart of Anchorage and R. F. Catlin, a General Electric Co. technician from Toronto.

The trio vanished six days ago on a flight from Barter Island to a radar station outpost.

An Air Force spokesman said the rescue party is traveling a rugged coastal route with an Army-type weasel vehicle.

Pilot Spotted Them

A civilian pilot, Clarence Case, spotted the three men Wednesday afternoon, jumping up and down and "waving like mad."

A plane of the 74th Air Rescue Squadron from Ladd Air Force Base, one of several planes which had participated in the long search, dropped emergency radio equipment and survival gear.

The men asked for a rifle but indicated they had plenty of rations. They had built a snow shelter near the plane which appeared to have little visible damage.

Labor Strike In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Faced with the threat of a nationwide general strike, Provisional President Eduardo Lonardi reportedly prepared Thursday to take temporary charge of the big General Confederation of Labor (CGT).

Unofficial sources reported this development after Lonardi met with Labor Minister Luis Benito Corrucci Costa and military chiefs to discuss the strike threat posed last night by the CGT. The sources said Lonardi had ousted Corrucci Costa but the minister later denied he had resigned.

Officials of the huge organization told government representatives a nationwide walkout would be called unless the government within 48 hours got rid of anti-Peronista labor leaders who have grabbed control of several CGT unions in recent weeks.

City Government Debate Is Tonight

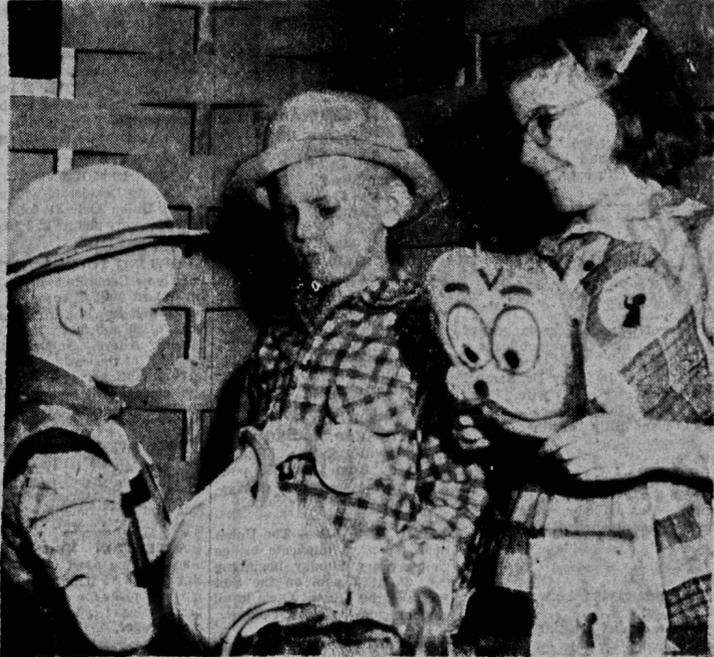

A debate on two opposing forms of city government will be held at a meeting of the Worthley Club in the Unitarian Church at 8 tonight.

Ansel Chapman, Iowa City Councilman and backer of the Council-Manager Association (CMA), will debate Atty. Kenneth M. Dunlop, a member of the Non-Partisan Taxpayers League (NPTL).

The CMA is supporting the city-manager form of government in the Nov. 8 municipal election and the NPTL is advocating a return to the mayor-council system.

Chapman was elected to the council in 1953. His term ends this year and he is not seeking re-election.

A Good Purpose

SUNDAY SCHOOL CHILDREN from 10 Iowa City churches will "trick or treat" this Halloween with a new twist and a good purpose. They will collect money to be used for food and medicine for needy children around the world. Mike Wehrman, 11, 603 E. Market St., shows his identification badge to Tommy Fattaruso, 5, 230 N. Clinton St., while Rita Fattaruso, 8, Tommy's sister, holds the mask she will wear.

An Astute Decision—

A Western diplomatic source Wednesday night reported the Big Three has decided against big new arms shipments to Israel to balance Communist arms shipments to Egypt.

This announcement on the eve of the Geneva foreign ministers conference which opened Thursday displays an astute diplomatic awareness on the part of the Western leaders.

The Soviet bloc has signed a deal to supply arms to Egypt at prices reported to be only a fraction of the price Communist China has been forced to pay. It seems, if these reports are true, to be a rather heavy-handed bid by the Communist countries for recognition and support in the Middle East.

This contrasts sharply with the professed Russian interest in world peace which has been the Moscow line since the "summit" talks. Supplies of war materials and talk of peace seem incongruous.

Clashes between Israeli and Egyptian troops in the demilitarized zone separating the two countries have been a recurring news story during the past several months. A technical state of war under armistice has existed between Israel and her Arab neighbors since the Palestine war of 1948.

In the interests of peace in the Middle East, the Western powers have rationed the flow of arms to both Israel and the Arab states. The Red shipment to Egypt upsets the balance that has been maintained thus far.

Clearly the American-British-French decision stems from their resolve not to take any action which would set off an arms race. This does not mean Israel is being deserted—only that the West won't willingly be a party to adding fuel to the military tinderbox in the Middle East.

The decision can only be interpreted as additional evidence of the Western Nations' desire for world peace.

No Campus Queens?—

The University of Michigan will have no Homecoming Queen at its Homecoming football game with the Iowa Hawkeyes Saturday. Michigan never has a Homecoming queen. It never has a beauty queen.

The custom just never reached Ann Arbor, explains a news story elsewhere on this page.

We sympathize with University of Michigan students. Ann Arbor must be quite an isolated spot.

We at SUU have a Dolphin queen who reigns over Homecoming and several beauty queens each year—bless their peaches and cream complexions and their silken hair, long or short, blonde, brunette or red.

Our queen selections are high spots of the social year. SUU alumni can look at a dazzling display of feminine beauty in the queen section of their Hawkeye yearbook and remember something about the "good old days" which were mighty good.

We regret one thing. There aren't nearly enough titles to go around to our hundreds of coed queens. But maybe Michigan just doesn't have queen material.

Interpreting the News—

Says Acheson Contributed Much to U.S. Foreign Policy

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Dean Acheson was one of America's great secretaries of state during a very dangerous period in its history.

Before that, he contributed importantly to some of the nation's most constructive policies, such as the Marshall Plan. He made a few mistakes. He also avoided a vast number which might have been made in a period of great uncertainty.

DURING HIS TERM America built up a foreign policy, the principal points of which were to prevent Russia from gobbling the world piece by piece, while developing the strength of the free world to where it could force a change in Russian strategy.

Right now that policy is being credited with putting a new face on Russian tactics, if not yet on her intentions.

While doing these things, Acheson was subjected to bitter criticism by many Republicans and some members of his own party. It was a time of uncertainty when differences of opinion were natural, and they were freely expressed. It would be superhuman to expect Acheson to forget.

BUT IT WAS also a time in which the United States solidified her leadership of the Free World. Acheson's stature in that world is very high.

It is, then, somewhat disappointing that he should choose this time, when even his own party is giving strong nonpartisan support to an American foreign policy fundamentally like his own, for partisan criticism.

the dangers of which he knows so well.

It is particularly unfortunate that this criticism, however accidentally, should come at a moment when Foster Dulles is actively trying to take advantage of the "position of strength" which Acheson was so influential in building; when the President is ill, and it has been necessary for him to give written assurance that the secretary of state has full power to speak for the nation in exceedingly grave negotiations.

ACHESON HAS written a book. This is the season for publishing books on weighty matters, as well as the season for good Democrats and Republicans to be at each other's throats prior to election of a president. The book undoubtedly was under way before the Geneva conference was planned and will not appear until its end. Part of it consists of an attack on Republican conduct of foreign policy, and that part has been published in advance by Harper's, as frequently occurs when such written books.

Before going to Geneva, Dulles obtained what seems to be a virtual truce on foreign policy from Congressional leaders. Anything which indicates a serious rift in America at this moment does his cause, and that of the United States, no good.

U.S. Keeps Slim Lead In Atomic Energy Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Russia has made impressive progress in the development of atomic energy for peaceful uses but still ranks behind the United States and Great Britain.

This is the conclusion drawn by men who went to Geneva for the recent Atoms-for-Peace Conference. They went as members of the official U.S. delegation or as scientific observers.

development in this country enjoyed the knowledge and talents of American scientists as well as those of many other nationalities. The Russians presumably had only Russians and possibly some captured German scientists.

AMERICANS BACK from Geneva generally agreed that on questions of pure atomic science—or theory—the Russians are now our equals.

They lag behind in some phases of the technology which, as one delegate explained, is the problem of "translating theory into hardware."

"The Russian progress amazed me when I recalled that the last time I was there—25 years ago—you couldn't even find a piece of copper wire in a laboratory," said Dr. Victor Weisskopf, professor of physics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

"They are now building a 10-billion-volt accelerator," he said. "When it's finished in a year, it will be the most powerful in the world. Our most powerful at the moment is the six-billion-volt machine at Berkeley, Calif."

GENEVA ALSO revealed that Russia has the first atomic reactor for producing commercial power but Russia is attacking this problem from only one angle, through the use of a small, uranium, graphite, water-cooled reactor.

American scientists are working on this problem through a variety of approaches rather than the one type, it was pointed out by Oliver Townsend, who was special assistant to Gordon Dean when Dean was chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

THE EXTENT of Russian progress in the atomic field as a whole surprised many American delegates.

These delegates had expected that Russia would be further back because the Soviets presumably started work on atomic energy later than we did, because they are less industrialized and had a smaller reservoir of scientific talent to draw on.

During the war, atomic de-

Michigan Has No Queen For Homecoming

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Television viewers who happen to tune in the Iowa-Michigan football game Saturday may have a feeling that something's missing—particularly if they stick through the half-time entertainment.

The game, which will be shown in both color and black and white, is the highlight of Michigan's Homecoming celebration. And there will be almost all the hoopla usually associated with this gala college day—brilliant displays, ingenious decorations, colorful flowers and costumes.

EVERYTHING THAT IS, but a Homecoming queen.

The lack of a queen will not be a surprise to the old grads in the expected crowd of 80,000. There has never been a queen at Michigan — at Homecoming or any other time.

Somehow this standard college custom of picking the beauties just never reached Ann Arbor. By now most of the old grads would tell you there is an official ban. But they would not be quite accurate.

"THIS IS ONE THING that is even stronger than a written regulation," says Deborah Bacon, the dean of women. "It is an unwritten custom."

No girl represents the university in the "Miss Big Ten" competitions. The college yearbook's pages display not a single face of student royalty.

The main current objection seems to be that any queen contest would be followed by commercialism.

LET SLEEPING DOG LIE
RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Dr. J. P. McDonough, a veterinarian, may be considering a course of treatment to make his own dog, Buffie, a bit more alert. Buffie snoozed soundly in the McDonough kitchen while four armed men broke in the house, roused McDonough and his wife, and made off with cash, jewelry and four pistols.

Seeking Secret of Navajos' Near Immunity to Cancer

The white man is delving deeper into the great secret of the Navajo Indians — virtual immunity to cancer — as a result of a two month field operation this summer on the vast, sun drenched reservation.

Nutritional specialists examined 1,300 Navajos on the remote northern Arizona plateau in an effort to find why there is a lack of cancer among Indians while American Cancer society statistics show nationally one out of four will contract a malignancy in his lifetime.

NUTRITION IS BELIEVED the key to the secret, says Dr. Clarence G. Salsbury, Arizona state health commissioner.

He brought the Navajo cancer immunity to the attention of the United States Public Health service and it assigned one of the country's top nutritional experts, Dr. William Darby of Vanderbilt university, to direct the field study.

Dr. Salsbury, who was superintendent of the Presbyterian Ganado Mission and its hospital's medical director 23 years, says that of 35,000 Indian admissions at the hospital there were only 66 cases of cancer.

LACK OF CANCER among North American Indians has been known for some time and the 75,000 Navajos isolated on their 25,000 square mile reservation comprise an ideal tribe to check, doctors say. Dr. Salsbury says the nutritional theory is based on the vast difference between the traditional Navajo diet and the white man's.

The Indian diet is heavy in protein. They use poorly refined flour. They eat herbs, roots and almost the entire animal — usually sheep — except for the lungs, hoofs and hair. Corn is one of their staples. It is ground on metates, allowing use of the entire corn.

"No one," the doctors say, "knows how much damage is done whites by the refining of flour, corn and sugar."

RESERVATION INDIANS were notified they could get free physical examinations in connection with the cancer research project and the response was gratifying.

One aged squaw drove her herd of sheep into a corral for safe-keeping while she trudged to a crude examination center set up in an old wagon. Even medicine men submitted to examination. One returned in a few days and wanted another blood test.

Through an interpreter, he said, "I had an arm pain and knee pain. You took blood from arm and pain stop. Take blood from knee so it won't hurt."

State Health department nutritionists studied the Indians' diet, eating habits and visited the hogans in which they live to watch how food was prepared and ate it.

THE NAVAJO DIET confounded the nutritionists. By white man's standards, no one could survive on it.

A typical one-year-old was found to have been getting coffee (black), soda pop, mutton, stew, tortillas, and a native fried bread. On such a diet a white mother would not give her child long to live, but examining doctors said the child was "real healthy."

"What we'll find from compilation of this summer's file cards or what research the Public Health service will plan after this year, we don't know," Dr. Salsbury says, "but we hope the Navajo can furnish a clue to solving cancer."

Indiana Toll Road To Have Built-In De-icing Equipment

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — When it opens next summer, Indiana's new east-west toll highway, final link in an 875-mile hookup between New York and Chicago, will have one safety feature that no other present toll road has.

It's de-icing equipment built into the roadways at the toll plazas, where motorists will pay their fees as they leave the road.

Working something like an ice skating rink in reverse, the de-icing process will be carried out by heat-circulating pipes, buried in the concrete.

Another safety feature will be the paving of the road shoulders with blacktop having a surface especially roughened to create a roar from tires, awakening any dozing driver whose car may stray from the roadway.

The Indiana road will resemble the newly opened Ohio Turnpike in many respects, although the Indiana right-of-way will be 300 feet, compared to 250 for Ohio.

Both roads have scooped-out dividing strips between dual traffic lanes. The Indiana road will have a minimum distance of 56 feet between lanes, enough to greatly reduce headlight glare.

Two Join Faculty of SUI Home Economics Department

The home economics faculty at the State University of Iowa this fall includes two new members—Ruth Baldwin and Mrs. Richard L. Holcomb.

Miss Baldwin teaches classes in meal management and introduction to foods, and Mrs. Holcomb, who is the wife of the chief of SUI's bureau of police science, teaches home management and is a faculty adviser of the Graduate Home Economics Club.

Miss Baldwin holds a B.S. degree from Kansas State College and an M. A. from the University of California at Los Angeles. She served a dietetic internship at Vanderbilt University Hospital, Nashville, Tenn.

After spending one year in Africa and two years in Italy as a hospital dietitian in the medical specialists corps of the U.S. Army, Miss Baldwin held positions as dietitian for the Gerber Products Company, Fremont, Mich., and was associate in home economics at the University of California at Los Angeles, and did home demonstration work in California and Colorado.

Miss Baldwin has been chairman of a section of the Colorado Home Economics Association and treasurer of the Colorado Home Demonstration Agents Association and has trained women for emergency mass feeding as a civil defense activity.

The SUI instructor is a member of Omicron Nu, honorary home economics organization, an associate member of Sigma Xi, and a member of the American Public Health Association. She was also a member of the Colorado Mountain Club.

Mrs. Holcomb, who came to

Iowa City in 1945 when her husband joined the SUI faculty, has taught at Purdue University, Ball State Teachers College, and De Pauw University. She received a B.S. degree from Iowa State College and an M.A. degree from Purdue University and has done further graduate work at Northwestern University. As a student at Iowa State College, she was awarded a scholarship to attend Merrill-Palmer School, Detroit, Mich.

Organizations of which Mrs. Holcomb is a member include Omicron Nu, the American Home Economics Association, the National Education Association, and the American Association of University Women. She has been active in Kappa Phi, Methodist sorority, and has done volunteer work for the Johnson County group of the Iowa Heart Association.

The Holcombs have two children—Judith, 13, and David, 12. Both are students at Iowa City Junior High School.

Why do more college men and women smoke Viceroy than any other filter cigarette?
Because only Viceroy gives you 20,000 filter traps in every filter tip, made from a pure natural substance—cellulose—found in delicious fruits and other edibles!

- Yes, only Viceroy has this filter composed of 20,000 tiny filter traps. You cannot obtain the same filtering action in any other cigarette.
- The Viceroy filter wasn't just whipped up and rushed to market to meet the new and skyrocketing demand for filtered cigarettes. Viceroy pioneered. Started research more than 20 years ago to create the pure and perfect filter.
- Smokers en masse report that filtered Viceroy's have a finer flavor even than cigarettes without filters. Rich, satisfying, yet pleasantly mild.
- Viceroy draws so easily that you wouldn't know, without looking, that it even had a filter tip... and Viceroy's cost only a penny or two more than cigarettes without filters!

That's why more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette... that's why VICEROY is the largest-selling filter cigarette in the world!

DRAKE RANKS 7TH—Drake university of Des Moines ranks seventh in the nation in passing offense. The Bulldogs, with quarterbacks Rog LaBrasca and Ron Diederich throwing, have averaged 139.8 yards per game through the air.

HOAD 'INTERESTED'—Lew Hoad, Australia's Davis Cup star, said Thursday he was willing to listen if promoter Jack Kramer would make a new offer. Kramer is in Australia to attempt to get Hoad back to Rosewal to change their minds about a recent refusal of his offer to turn pro.

THE THORPE TRADITION—Jim Thorpe's grandson is carrying on the family name in Chicago. Mike Koehler, whose mother is the late football great's daughter, has scored seven touchdowns for Mt. Carmel high this season, and has an average yardage gain of 6.4. He wants to become a coach, says his mother.

HALF-MILLION—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano has been offered $500,000 to defend his title against European heavyweight Franco Gaccioni at Bologna, Italy, next June. The offer was made by Promoter Renato Torri, and relayed to Marciano through Rhode Island boxing officials.

CURLY AND THE STARS—Curly Lambeau, who directed the 1955 All-Stars to a 30-27 victory over the Cleveland Browns, has been signed to coach the college stars again in 1956. The Chicago Tribune, sponsor of the game, made the announcement in Chicago.

IOWAN IN EUROPE—An Iowa athlete finished 12th in the world modern pentathlon championships held in Malcolin, Switzerland, this week. He was Pvt. George Lambeth, Sioux City.

GRIDDERS DROPPED—Nine members of the Valley high (Des Moines) football team have been dropped from the squad as a result of the Knoxville-Valley game last Friday. Coach Gordon Stainbrook said he suspended the boys because they violated his orders in "looking for trouble" after the game.

BOW SEASON—Iowa's 21-day bow-and-arrow season on deer opens Saturday, the longest Iowa deer season in modern times. A season limit of one deer per hunter is imposed, and all Iowa counties are open.

Trainer Credited With Saving Life Of Choking Player

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Coach Herb Royer credited Marshall College trainer Ed Prelaz Thursday with saving the life of halfback Dyke Six, injured in the Marshall football game with Kent State at Kent, Ohio, last Saturday.

The 165-pound Six, struck on the face, swallowed his tongue, locked his jaws and was suffocating.

Fast action by Prelaz saved his life, said Royer.

Prelaz inserted an oral screw, drove it between Six's jaws, opening them, got his tongue back into position, and Six regained consciousness.

An oral screw is a plastic device resembling an oversized corkscrew, regarded as a "must" piece of equipment for trainers in rough sports.

Asked about the incident, Prelaz said:

"I just did my job. I just put that screw in Dyke's teeth, said a prayer and applied the pressure. It worked fine."

Marshall was defeated 39-6.

Hawks To Leave for Michigan Today

Haven't Topped Irish Since '45—

Navy Sets Sail for ND

By JERRY LISKA
SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—The revenge motive will burn strong in Navy Saturday when the unbeaten Middies sail into their most perilous football reefs, Notre Dame's Fighting Irish.

Only 4 times in 28 meetings since the colorful series started in 1927 has Navy vanquished the Irish, the last triumph recorded 11 years ago when the wartime-powerful Middies won 32-13 in 1944.

Prior to that, Navy's 3-0 conquest in 1936 marks the last "normal" time the Middies humbled the Irish. After a 6-6 tie in 1945, Navy never finished closer than nine points behind the Irish until Notre Dame's mud-splattered 6-0 decision last year at Baltimore.

In last season's contest, the Middies pushed the Irish all over the field in the last half and lost a chance to tie or win when a Navy fumble on Notre Dame's one was recovered in the end zone by Ralph Guglielmi.

This Saturday, the Middies will be directed by a lad who probably most vividly recalls that 1954 contest. He is brilliant quarterback George Welsh, whose modesty probably cost Navy victory last year. Welsh sneaked

Sendoff

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Navy's football team leaves today for South Bend, Ind., with a rousing sendoff from the brigade of midshipmen and carrying hopes for a long-sought victory over Notre Dame.

The more than 3,500 middies staying behind plan to see the squad off on buses at 11 a.m. for Baltimore's Friendship International Airport and the plane flight to South Bend. Saturday they'll watch the game on closed circuit television piped into the Naval Academy.

Navy has not been stopped in its first five games and will be full of battle for a Notre Dame team which squeaked past Navy 6-0 last season for one of only two losses on the 1954 Middle schedule. That was the last game Navy has lost.

twice from the Irish five to the one, then called on another Middle, Bob Craig, who made the expensive fumble.

An unofficial weather outlook calls for rain Friday night and perhaps right up to game time, followed by windy, cool weather. Notre Dame enters the game as a one touchdown favorite.

Jones' Status Still Doubtful At Departure

Amid ballooning hopes that injured Captain Calvin Jones will see action at Michigan after all, Iowa was scheduled to emplane early this morning for a trip to Ann Arbor and the annual collision with Michigan, a game which for two consecutive seasons has wound up in a 14-13 Michigan victory.

The optimism concerning Jones' injured knee received some impetus from team physician Dr. W. D. Paul. Following Wednesday's practice, Dr. Paul examined the knee, and reported that it had "swelled up a little." He still refused to predict Jones' availability on Saturday, but said that Cal would not be benched "until gametime, at least." The injury kept Jones out of action throughout last week's UCLA game.

Jim Freeman, veteran right end, is the other question mark on the team. He suffered a pinched nerve in the UCLA game, and his status is still doubtful. He is expected to play Saturday, although he will probably not see fulltime duty.

Coach Forest Evashevski announced a 37-man travel roster for the Michigan trip, Thursday. Among the men going are:

Frank Bloomquist, tackle; Don Bowen, tackle; John Burroughs, guard; Dick Deasy, guard; Jim Diek, end; Don Dobrino, halfback; Jim Freeman, end; Jim Gibbons, end; Collins Hagler, halfback; Bill Haggel, halfback; Fred Harris, fullback; Tom Hates, end; Jon Janda, fullback; Ken Jelle, tackle; Calvin Jones, guard; Alex Karras, guard; Bill Kendall, fullback; George Kress, guard; Edean Matheson, halfback; Charles Pierce, center; Kenneth Pien, quarterback; Jerry Reichow, quarterback; Bill Reichow, tackle; Frank Rigney, end; Dominick Sgro, tackle; Terry Shuck, tackle; Norman Six, center; Earl Smith, halfback; John Smith, guard; Don Suchy, center; Roger Swedberg, tackle; Dick Therer, tackle; Duane Tofson, quarterback; Bill Van Buren, center; Gene Veit, quarterback; Eddie Vincent, halfback; Roger Wiegmann, fullback.

Kramer To Play? Coach 'Undecided'

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Michigan Coach Bennie Oosterbaan said Thursday he still is undecided whether end Ron Kramer will face Iowa's Hawkeyes Saturday in a nationally televised Big Ten game.

But if he does play, Oosterbaan said, he'll be called on to do what the moment suggests. In other words, he'll have to do everything, punting, running, and pass receiving.

The Wolverines split their time between offensive and defensive work again Thursday with Kramer taking part in some of the lighter drills.

The Issue Is in Doubt

THE QUESTION of whether or not Captain Calvin Jones will play full-time Saturday against Michigan is liable to be an important one for the Hawkeyes. Jones has been sidelined with a knee injury which is still causing trouble, and team physicians are not sure to what extent he will be able to operate at top efficiency against the Wolverines.

Grimsley Sees Hawk Loss; Irish To Win

By WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK (AP)—The list of major unbeaten and untied football powers should undergo some more surgery this week. We think it will be cut from six to five.

Navy is our pick for scuttling, Maryland, Oklahoma and West Virginia should win easily. Georgia Tech will beat Duke. Michigan won't have a soft touch with Iowa in the national TV game.

Last week's score was 28-15, making the season's mark 190-69 for 738.

Notre Dame 21, Navy 14: The Irish, steamed up in this "Rockne Memorial" game, should stop the great George Welsh.

Michigan 28, Iowa 21: The Wolverines will be out to regain No. 1 place in the poll.

The others:
Midwest: Illinois 21, Purdue 14; Ohio State 28, Northwestern 7; Colorado 21, Missouri 6; Nebraska 28, Kansas 6; Southern California 20, Minnesota 14; Iowa State 21, Drake 0; Indiana 33, Ohio U. 0.

Wolverines Test Puzzling Offense Against Hawkeyes

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Michigan's puzzling Wolverines, short on statistics but long on victories, show their baffling brand of football to a national television audience Saturday against Iowa.

The TV fans will get a chance to decide for themselves whether Michigan's perfect record is the result of might or myth.

While the Wolverines have run up five straight victories, they barely have gained a statistical margin on their opponents.

They've made 53 first downs against 50 for the opposition; 739 yards rushing to 731 for the enemy. Their margin in passing yardage is somewhat larger, 381 to 196, but a slender difference when spread out over five games.

How, then, has Michigan been winning?

Like many Michigan teams of the past, the 1955 version is an opportunistic one, quick to seize upon enemy errors and turn them into touchdowns. For instance, only three times this season has Michigan moved from its own territory for touchdowns.

The Wolverines have yielded only four touchdowns while turning back Missouri, Michigan State, Army, Northwestern and Minnesota.

Shuffle Backs At Iowa State

AMES (AP)—Iowa State Coach Vince DiFrancesca Thursday announced several position changes he says will strengthen the Cyclone football team overall.

Included in the switch was Donn Lorenzen, who probably won't see action against Drake Saturday night because of a knee injury. Lorenzen now will play left halfback, where DiFrancesca says he will get a chance to do some passing. Marv Walter, Lorenzen's replacement last week, will hold down the fullback spot.

No 'Dirty Deal' To Players At Baylor: Sauer

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Baylor Coach George Sauer replied tartly Thursday to "dirty deal" charges by three of five football team members kicked off the squad on charges of violating training rules.

He said he wished the whole ruckus would die down but added:

"I do have the proof. We checked it out and I have the evidence. I am afraid the boys are mistaken in their statements."

Quarterback Jimmy Davenport and center Jimmy Taylor, Thursday said they agreed with the complaint of Don Miller, a Bear line star, that "we got a dirty, rotten deal."

Deny Charges
All three denied they were in a night club early last Saturday morning—the day the Bears lost, 19-7, to Texas A&M in a game in which Baylor was outplayed in the line.

Miller said he did not know he was expelled until he read about it in a newspaper. Davenport said he did not know about it until another student happened by and "said he was sorry I had been kicked off the team."

Players Confronted
Sauer's rebuttal on that front: The players were "called in, confronted with the charges and the evidence. No decision was made on them, and no announcement, until they had this hearing. He (Miller) knew he had been dismissed when he left the hearing."

Miller, he said, "was dismissed for repeated violations of the training rules."

The two other expelled players, Dugan Pearce and Paul Caver, were unavailable for comment.

The New York boxing commission has a ruling that forbids fighters to wear a mustache in the ring.

Clark Griffith Dies At 85 After Relapse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clark Griffith, the "old fox" of baseball, died Thursday night. He was 85.

Griffith died at 8:40 p.m. (EST). News of his death was announced by Dr. George A. Resta.

Griffith, the president of the Washington baseball club and one of the game's best known personalities, was unable to survive stomach hemorrhages and lung congestion although he had made a game fight for his life.

Griffith was put on the critical list at Georgetown University Hospital Oct. 22.

Series of Setbacks
He had entered the hospital three days earlier for treatment of neuritis and expected to leave within a week, until the hemorrhages set him back.

Doctors apparently stemmed the bleeding but he then developed lung congestion.

It appeared briefly that he might overcome that but he suffered a sudden relapse.

Three Pennants
Under his direction the Senators had captured three American League pennants and one World Series.

Ironically, the Senators finished in the cellar in the last of Griffith's 44 years with the club. That had happened only twice before since Griffith came to Washington as part-owner and field manager.

Griffith took over as president in 1919 and shortly afterward turned over the coaching duties to others. Even in late years he continued to supervise club affairs, although much of the administrative burden shifted to his adopted son, Calvin, as executive vice-president.

At Griffith's bedside were Calvin and his physician, Dr. George A. Resta.

Funeral arrangements will be announced Friday.

Once Was Pitcher
An outstanding pitcher in his playing days, Griffith was elected to baseball's Hall of Fame in 1946.

It was as a pitcher that he acquired the "Old Fox" nickname. He won 236 games and lost only 139 — with craft as much as with his arm.

While still playing and managing, Griffith helped organize the American League in 1901. That year he piloted the Chicago White Sox to a pennant. He also managed Cincinnati and New York before casting his lot permanently with Washington.

Connie Mack, 92, Steadily Improves

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Connie Mack Thursday continued his "very satisfactory" recovery from a broken hip injury suffered last month, his doctor reported.

AK Psi Rolls To 34-0 Win In I-M Loop

Alpha Kappa Psi, displaying a versatile attack, roared to a 34-0 Professional Fraternity league victory over Delta Sigma Pi, in intramural touch football Wednesday afternoon.

Martin Christensen and Marvin Fliss were the big guns for the Alpha Kappa team. Christensen passed to two touchdowns — setting up one of them with a long run, and Fliss raced to two touchdowns and passed to End Wayne Freshour for a third.

Alpha Kappa Psi scored early on a pass from Christensen to Ken Finch that covered 15 yards. Christensen's pass was incomplete for the extra point.

Midway in the first half Christensen passed to Keith Deibler from the five yard line for AK's second touchdown. Again Christensen's pass was incomplete in the extra point.

Just before the end of the half, AK's Chuck Granger broke through and nailed a Delta Sigma in his own end zone for a safety. This made the score 14-0 for AK at halftime.

Delta Sigma never could get a touchdown march underway. They were stopped throughout 'the game by a tight AK pass defense which halted every bid Delta Sigma offered.

Fliss took over the offensive reins for AK in the second half. He picked up thirty yards on a run, and skirted end for a touchdown on the next play, with only four minutes of the second half gone. A short time later, he passed to Freshour for another AK score, and passed for the extra point.

With two minutes remaining in the game, Fliss provided the final score. He intercepted a pass, and returned it to the Delta Sig 10-yard line, then carried the ball over from the five for the final touchdown.

More Defense Stressed By College Teams

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK — There's less scoring, less ground gaining, less forward passing — and more defense — in college football this season.

With the season more than half over, NCAA Service Bureau statistics show a rather startling drop in offense figures as compared to last year. It's so big that the early season bad weather which afflicted many teams no longer can be blamed.

The national scoring average is down to an even 32 points a game for both teams. That's nearly three points below last season's 34.7 point average and the lowest mid-season rate since 1943. Yardage is down by more than 20 yards a game.

And where college teams have averaged from 30 to nearly 40 forward passes a game through the last 14 seasons, they're down to an average of 27.3 passes a game for both teams, the lowest figure since 1941. The high average was 37.7 passes in 1951 but it had dropped to 29.7 last season.

Although passing is less frequent, it's more accurate, according to the statistics. The national rate for pass completions is .438, far above the over-all average for recent years and just short of the record high of .446 in 1951. And the average of 6.24 yards gained on each pass equals the all-time high set in 1949.

Sundt Eulogized in Funeral Services

MADISON Wis. (AP) — Guy M. Sundt, 57, University of Wisconsin athletic director, was eulogized in funeral services Thursday as a man whose spirit was courageous at all times.

The Rev. Alfred Swan, pastor of the First Congregational Church paid tribute to "Guy Sundt, a man who kept well the heritage of his father from Norway and the university."

Sundt, an eight-letter winner at the university from 1918 to 1922 and its athletic director since 1950, died Tuesday following a heart attack.

Princess Stays Cheerful

PRINCESS MARGARET looked unworried Thursday night as she left Clarence house to join the royal family at a gala party for the visiting president of Portugal. Earlier in the day she talked alone with the Archbishop of Canterbury, who as head of the English church must oppose her marrying Captain Peter Townsend.

Margaret Confers with Head of English Church

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret, torn between the dictate of her heart and a tenet of her church, talked alone Thursday with the Archbishop of Canterbury. As head of the Church of England, he must be the most adamant opponent to any idea of her marrying Captain Peter Townsend, a divorced man.

The princess met the archbishop — apparently at her request — in the archbishop's Lambeth Palace across the Thames from Margaret's royal residence at Clarence House.

What they discussed at this surprise meeting with its note of high drama no official would say.

But to everyone in Britain it was inconceivable that they could meet in this heart-to-heart fashion without the archbishop making clear his opposition to any marriage with the 40-year-old war hero.

After her call on the archbishop, Princess Margaret faced the public at a gala party at the Royal Opera House honoring the President of Portugal. All members of the royal family turned out.

Group Capt. Townsend returned to his Lowndes Square residence after being out of London for some hours.

Raid 2 Clubs Near Dubuque

DUBUQUE (AP) — Five state agents raided two Dubuque County supper clubs just north of here Thursday night and seized a quantity of liquor at both places, R. W. (Doc) Nebergall, chief of the Iowa Bureau of Investigation, said.

Nebergall, who was in Dubuque but did not participate in the raids, said 23 bottles of whiskey were seized at the Chateau Club and 49 bottles at the Sportsman's Lodge.

Nebergall said complaints against both places had been received in Des Moines but he refused to say which state office had received the complaints.

Atty. Gen. Countryman knew of the possibility of raids here but probably didn't know when they would be made, Nebergall said.

County Attorney Robert Oeth said he would file charges today against Bernie Solowko, bartender at the Chateau, and Hubert (Red) Dukas, operator of the Sportsman.

Nebergall indicated additional charges might be filed since some of the seized liquor bore Illinois stamps.

'Left-Leaning' Writer Gets Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The 1955 Nobel prize for literature went Thursday to Halldor Kiljan Laxness, a left-leaning novelist from Iceland. He is little known in the United States, though he used to live there and one of his books was a best seller there in 1946.

Laxness describes himself as one "who loves the Russians but practices a lot of the American way of life."

The Swedish Academy of Letters in making the award cited "his vivid epic writing, which has renewed the great Icelandic narrative art."

Ike Shaves Self, Starts '56 Planning

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower got a head start Thursday on whipping into shape a 1956 legislative program expected to lay heavy emphasis on farm, highway, school, health and water resources problems.

Sitting up in his hospital bed — after shaving himself for the first time since his Sept. 24 heart attack — Eisenhower approved various topics to be included and stressed in his State of the Union message in January to a Congress still under Democratic management.

The chief executive tackled the message-framing project after what his doctors said was a "good night's sleep of more than eight hours" that left him "feeling refreshed and in a jovial mood."

Progress Satisfactory
They reported the usual satisfactory progress in his convalescence and said he told them "he was looking forward to a preliminary discussion of topics for his State of the Union message."

Ordinarily this is a task Mr. Eisenhower wouldn't take on until December.

Already something of an outline of the message is beginning to appear.

Mr. Eisenhower himself has indicated some of the points that are likely to be covered.

Farm Prices
The problem of sagging farm prices scarcely can be overlooked in the message. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson is flying out from Washington Saturday to confer with Mr. Eisenhower.

In a Washington news conference Aug. 4, immediately after Congress adjourned, Mr. Eisenhower listed water resources, health, school construction and highway legislation as "absolutely vital to our future."

White House Denies Benson Ouster Try

WASHINGTON (AP) — The

White House Thursday night denied as "not only untrue but completely unfounded" a published report that some members of President Eisenhower's Cabinet had tried to oust Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

The report was carried by Farm Journal magazine, one of the largest farm publications. It said Atty. Gen. Brownell, Postmaster General Summerfield and presidential assistant Harold E. Stassen launched the ouster move, after Eisenhower's Sept. 24 heart attack.

Benson himself disputed the article Thursday, but without direct comment on what it had to say about an ouster move. He told reporters, "There has been no split in the Cabinet on this farm situation."

Reporting on an Oct. 7 Cabinet meeting Benson said, "We all expressed concern over the price squeeze" but, "There was not a word of criticism of the farm program and there hasn't been any since."

They Get Higher Grades, Hunt for Housing—

24 Per Cent of SUI Students Are Married

By DICK YOUNG

Married students now comprise slightly more than 24 per cent of the State University of Iowa student body. Of a total enrollment of 9,331 students, 2,245 are married.

It is impossible to measure the effect of marriage on student life with a high degree of accuracy, but some sense of the situation may be gained through the statistics available.

The single woman may be interested to know that 1,867 single men are available to her for dating purposes.

534 of a Woman

The SUI bachelor may expect to find 534 single women answering the phone when he calls for a date.

Or, if you are not interested in fragmentary dates, there are 4,615 single men and 2,471 single women.

The influence of marriage on academic performance is of great concern to educators throughout the country.

Better Scholars

The general consensus has been that married students tend to be better scholars, but there is little statistical proof of this theory.

A February, 1955 study of 938 Korean veterans at SUI showed that single veterans were making better grades than the married group.

The single veterans' grade point average was 2.76, as compared to a 2.495 mark for married veterans.

Top University Average

These figures would seem to refute the idea that married students are better students. However, the overall veteran average was 2.65 as compared to 2.36 for all university undergraduates.

Possibly age is a better indication of how well a student may be expected to do than is marital status.

This would explain the SUI survey findings concerning veterans, although it may very well be true that among younger students those who are married are more serious scholars.

Of more immediate concern to university officials is the housing problem created by the growing number of married students.

The university maintains 726 married housing units. All are now full. There were 1,015 families on the waiting list for university housing Sept. 30.

There are 424 cottage apartments in Central Park, Finkbine Park, North Park, Riverside Park, Stadium Park, Templin Park and Westlawn Park.

Quonset Park and South Park contain 74 quonset apartments, and there are 28 apartments in Parklawn. With the exception of Parklawn, all of the units are temporary structures erected following World War II.

Must Build More

Now the university is faced with the prospect of having to replace these temporary buildings. But, before new construction is undertaken, an estimate of future housing requirements is sorely needed.

Research by The Daily Iowan shows that 1,633 of the 2,245 married students live off campus. If the number of married students drops sharply with the departure of veterans from the campus, non-university housing might be adequate and the university could get out of the housing business.

Perplexing Problem

There is no way of knowing if there is a significant trend toward marriage among the younger students without making lengthy and expensive studies. Until this is done, university planners must continue to meet the individual crises as best they can.

COMFORTABLE LIVING QUARTERS for married students are a major problem at the State University of Iowa. Statistics show that 24 per cent of SUI students are married. Stadium Park, where Mr. and Mrs. Don McGhan, E4, Osage, reside, provides some of the needed housing. Nikki Lin, 8 months, is shown playing with a ball while her brother, Jimmy Joe, 3, looks on.

As one university official said: "We could do as well with a ouija board."

Air Hostess Job Interviews Planned

A representative of United Airline will be at the State University of Iowa to interview women interested in becoming airline hostesses, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Meetings will be held in Room 107, University Hall, Claudine Jacobs, assistant to the director of Business and Industrial Placement, said.

Applicants must be attractive, unmarried, 21 to 27 years old, weigh less than 135 pounds, and be from five feet two inches to five feet seven inches tall.

Educational qualifications require that the applicant have college training, be a registered nurse or a high school graduate with related experience in public contact work.

A movie, "Scotty Wins Her Wings," will be shown at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday in Room C-1, East Hall. The film deals with hostess training and her work on the job.

Fire Chief Warns About Leaf Fires

A leaf fire in front of the Sigma Nu fraternity house, 630 N. Dubuque St., prompted Iowa City fire department officials Thursday to issue a warning against careless handling of matches and cigarettes during the current dry weather.

The fire, which was put out after it charred a telephone pole, was probably started from lighted cigarette thrown by a passer by, firemen said.

Firemen said that many home owners in Iowa City are raking leaves into piles along the curb, and sometimes up against their houses.

"A cigarette tossed into such a pile of dry leaves might result in a major fire," Chief Al Dolezal warned.

He said that until Iowa City's current dry weather ends the danger of leaf fires will exist.

Martin Hits UN Policies On Economics

Members of the United Nations are attempting to curb the American free enterprise system, Sen. Thomas Martin (R-Iowa) told Iowa City Rotarians Thursday.

Speaking at a luncheon attended by Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), and Rep. Fred Schwengel (R-Iowa), and other Republican party leaders, Martin emphasized that he is going to do all he can to keep free enterprise in the United States.

"The Role of the UN in World Economics," was Martin's topic.

Perilous to U.S.

He said that some of the policies of the UN's Economic and Social Council are perilous to America.

"Some nations attempt to set aside strategic materials and fix prices on these goods," he said. "The proposal of the Economic Council was that America should not do so."

"We have to maintain our supply of critical and strategic materials in order not to be faced with problems like the ones we were facing at the beginning of World War II," Martin said.

Martin also criticized the Economic Council's anti-trust proposals, calling them "dangerous" to the United States.

Criticizes Proposal

Referring to the fact that only the United States, Great Britain and Canada have anti-trust legislation, Martin said that one of the Economic and Social Council's proposals would have made it possible for 85 other nations to curb American free enterprise.

Martin said that he believes in the UN, but reserves the right to criticize it when he sees something that could be harmful to America.

"We could work toward peace," he said, "but at the same time we can not go to sleep and let other nations take advantage of us."

Schwengel Cites Small Interest in 18-Year-Old Vote

Congressman Fred Schwengel (R-Iowa) told an "Information First" audience Wednesday that he would not support a bill allowing 18-year-olds to vote until the youths are interested enough to fight for it.

Schwengel said that while he was in the Iowa Legislature he supported such a bill and gave many speeches on the issue.

"I received but one letter during that time and that one was written by a mother at her son's request," Schwengel said. He added, "There just isn't enough public interest in such a bill."

Schwengel gave this opinion in answer to one of the questions offered him after his speech, "Information Before Decision," Thursday afternoon to an audience of nearly 100 persons in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol.

Will Back Benson

To question of "would he support Ezra Taft Benson with the public seemingly against Benson," Schwengel replied that the public as far as he knows is for the Secretary of Agriculture.

Schwengel said that he has toured his home district, the first district, and found that the farmers he talked to support Benson's policy of flexible price supports.

The question of President Eisenhower not running for reelection does not discourage the Republican party, Schwengel said. "We have a good program and are not afraid to present it to the public," he commented.

Decision Invaluable

In his speech, Schwengel said that information was needed before making decisions; but in the decision, the human spirit is invaluable.

The first big decision that Schwengel had to make in Congress was on the Formosan situation, he said.

"A resolution on declaring war in advance of conflict was a complete reversal of American tradition," he noted.

He said that there was much debate and a visit by him and 16 other congressmen to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles for advice.

Misplaced Pipes

STEAM PIPES for the new Hillcrest dormitory addition made a surprise appearance above Grand Avenue Tuesday. The 6-inch iron pipes are held in place by scaffolding and are a temporary measure to supply heat until underground pipes can be laid.

Confer Here On Prejudice

The Governor's Commission on Discrimination in Employment met here Thursday to consult with seven State University of Iowa staff members on ways of gathering information on the extent of racial and religious discrimination in Iowa.

Meyer S. Levitt of Sioux City, Commission chairman, said that the group came to the university to talk with survey experts and other fact-finding specialists on the best procedures of gathering reliable data on discrimination in Iowa and making comparisons with the situation in other states.

The commission has been empowered by the Iowa Senate to gather data and prepare remedial recommendations to be placed before the next state legislature, Levitt said.

Commission members present were Dr. Harry Harper, Dr. Thomas Scales, and Richard Bruner, all of Des Moines; State Senator Arnold Utzig, Dubuque; Ray Smith, Oskaloosa, and Donald Johnson, West Branch.

They met with Robert F. Ray, director, and George Mather, administrative assistant, of the SUI Institute of Public Affairs; Jack Culley, director of the Bureau of Labor and Management; Prof. H. W. Saunders and Prof. David Gold of the department of sociology and anthropology; Prof. George Forell of the School of Religion, and Carl Goehneour, manager of the University statistical service.

Gov. Leo Hoegh appointed the Commission on Discrimination in Employment.

Caught by TV; Gets Jail Term

NEW YORK (AP) — James M. Showers, 27, an elephant handler who couldn't fool a couple of television fans, was sentenced Thursday to nine months in jail for car theft.

Showers won a $50 prize on the "What's My Line?" TV program last summer in connection with his work in the "Arabian Nights" show at Jones Beach. Two viewers in Detroit notified the FBI that he was wanted on a charge of transporting a stolen car from Royal Oaks, Mich., to Glens Falls, N.Y.

Showers pleaded guilty Oct. 6.

ACADEMIC ACHIEVEMENT — 2nd Lt. Marvin E. Greenberg, B.S. June, 1954, Des Moines, recently was awarded an engraved wrist watch for academic achievement while attending the Associate Quartermaster Company Officers Course at the Quartermaster School, Fort Lee, Va. A watch is presented three times each year to the officer student compiling the highest academic average during a certain period. Greenberg topped a list of 276 officers who graduated between May 21 and Oct. 1, 1955.

CAMERA CLUB — Mrs. Marcus Bach, wife of the former director of the SUI School of Religion, will discuss "Evaluation of Color Slides," at a meeting of the University Camera Club at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Pentacrest Room of the Iowa Memorial Union. She will illustrate her talk with slides she made during trips to foreign countries.

CHEMIST AWARD — Prof. LeRoy Eyring, of the SUI Department of Chemistry, will be toastmaster at a banquet honoring Dr. Walter R. Fetzer, chief chemist of Clinton Foods, Inc., Clinton, tonight at 6:30 at the Iowa Memorial Union. The 1955 Iowa Medal of the American Chemical Society's Iowa Section will be presented to Fetzer. Eyring is chairman of the ACS Iowa Section.

YEARBOOK LOAN — A service providing for the loan of high school yearbooks to members of the Iowa High School Press Association has been instituted by the SUI School of Journalism, Lester G. Benz, executive secretary of the IHSPPA and a faculty member in the journalism school, announced Thursday. A gift of about 200 yearbooks from the American Yearbook company, Owatonna, Minn., to the School of Journalism's high school education program initiated the service.

ENGINEER HONOR — Prof. E. B. Kurtz, head of the SUI Department of Electrical Engineering, was recently elected a life member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers by the society's board of directors. Kurtz was honored for holding the highest grade of membership, that of Fellow, since 1929. He has been active in the society, which has 57,000 members, for more than 35 years.

DENTAL SPEAKERS — Five faculty members of the SUI College of Dentistry will address the annual alumni reunion of the University of Nebraska College of Dentistry Nov. 11-12, Dean William J. Simon said Thursday. The speakers are Doctors Ralph C. Appleby, William G. Goodale, James B. Bush, Gerald P. Ivanovic, and Daniel E. Waite.

MAGAZINE INSTITUTE — Prof. Carroll Coleman, head of the typographical laboratory at the SUI School of Journalism, will attend the Eighth Annual House Magazine Institute at the University of Omaha, Omaha, Neb., Thursday. The Institute will meet in conjunction with the 1955 fall meeting of the Iowa Industrial Editors Association in Omaha the following day.

LEADERSHIP MEETINGS — Jeff Clark, newly appointed instructor in the SUI School of Journalism, will be in charge of the newspaper group at a leadership training meeting sponsored by Lakes Conference schools at Spencer Tuesday.

In a recent advertisement of the Council-Manager Association it was stated that the firemen and policemen are now being better paid. IF THIS IS TRUE, WHY IS IT NECESSARY FOR MOST OF THEM TO HOLD DOWN TWO JOBS IN ORDER TO MAKE A LIVING?

DID YOU KNOW . . .

There are 896 cities and towns in Iowa, and only 14 of them have adopted some form of city management government? Chariton, Mason City, and Charles City have all abandoned it.

Good Production of —

'The Caine Mutiny'

— By University Players

By WILLIAM DONALDSON

Herman Wouk's "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial," which has been shown, seen, and heard in various forms, has been given a production by the University Theatre that shows no signs of wear. By now the case of the missing strawberries, the broken tow line, and the downfall of the despotic commanding officer are items of common knowledge.

Yet Thursday's performance—due, no doubt, to the sensitive direction of Prof. William R. Reardon—was so constructed as to place entire emphasis on the doomed rather than on those who doomed him (as is often done).

'Queer' Outstanding

Much of the credit for this, goes to Arthur Housman, G. Kirkwood, Mo. His portrayal of Lt. Com. Philip Francis Queeg was outstanding.

Every moment he was on the stage, Housman was in command. His erratic delivery and his various awkward motions brought both sympathy and understanding to his character. The evening was Housman's, and rightly so.

Also memorable was James Rex, A2, Allentown, Pa. (Lt. Barney Greenwald). As the defense attorney, he was one of the few performers called upon to stand while talking, and his movements were as quiet and as cleverly paced as were his cross-examinations. He, too, brought sympathy to his character in the final scenes.

Exaggerated Acting

A. Kent Braverman, A4, Iowa City (Lt. Maryk, who committed the mutiny), exaggerated extremely the grimaces of Maryk in the first act. Maryk may be a shallow person, but he is not a child.

Braverman's speech on the stand in act two, however, was well done, and his performance built up from then on.

Jack Darland, A2, Oskaloosa, did well with the arrogant and conniving Lt. Thomas Keefer, and Robert Paulus, G, Iowa City, (Captain Blakely) and William Cope, G, Chickasa, Okla. (Lt. Com. John Challee) were both effective in the courtroom scenes.

Comedy Well Done

Comic scenes were well taken care of by Bernard Bates, A4, Tulsa, Okla., and Thomas Hardesty, A1, Sigourney. Minor roles were capably handled.

There will be performances tonight and Saturday night, and Thursday, Friday and Saturday next week.

High School Journalists Meet Here

The annual Iowa High School Press Association (IHSPA) convention got under way Thursday night with early registrations in the east lobby of the Iowa Memorial Union.

High school journalists from all parts of the state will continue to register for the day-long conference this morning.

The conference will include discussion groups, speeches, luncheon and a banquet in the Main Lounge of the Union this evening.

SUI-Sponsored

The conference is sponsored by the State University of Iowa School of Journalism and the Extension Division.

It will concentrate on the problems which high school students encounter in putting out their school newspapers and year-books.

Convention director Lester G. Benz, executive secretary of the IHSPA, said that more than 40 students from some 30 different high schools lead discussion groups.

More than 600 from 70 high schools are expected to attend the convention.

Sanderson to Speak

Principal speaker at the convention will be Arthur M. Sanderson, Minneapolis, Minn., assistant director of the National Scholastic Press Association.

SUI journalism faculty members on the convention program include Prof. Walter A. Steigleman, who will speak on feature writing, and Prof. Ernest F. Andrews, who will lead a session on high school radio.

Sponsorship of the conference is rotated each year among SUI, Iowa State College, and Drake University.

Russians Are 'Unlucky'

(AP Wirephoto) "NYET," which apparently means "nothing" in Russian, was a frequent comment of touring Russian newsmen in Reno Thursday. The Russians were trying their luck on some of Reno's slot machines. Reflected in the mirror are N. M. Gribachev (left), A. I. Adzhubei (center) and an unidentified member of the group.

Egypt and Arabia Sign Defense Pact

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Egypt and Saudi Arabia Thursday signed a military defense pact that may be implemented with arms from Communist Eastern Europe.

Egypt already has received big weapons cargoes from Czechoslovakia via Soviet Black Sea ports and Saudi Arabia recently disclosed the Soviet Union has offered arms to King Saud.

After the pact was signed by Egypt's Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and Crown Prince Feisal, the Arabian was asked about the Soviet offer.

Feisal said Russia has offered to sell arms to Saudi Arabia and open diplomatic relations.

The Egyptian-Saudi Arabian alliance sets up a unified army command, a joint Supreme Defense Council and a Military Council.

It is the second bilateral defense agreement Egypt has negotiated with a fellow member of the Arab League this month. A similar pact with Syria was signed in Damascus last week.

Thursday's ceremony came only a day after British Prime Minister Anthony Eden announced in London that British-backed forces had ousted Saudi Arabians from the disputed Buraimi oasis area along the desert frontier between Saudi Arabia and British-protected coastal areas.

Chest Collectors To Explain Use of Funds

A lack of understanding of the needs for Community Chest funds and all the functions performed by it have handicapped recent Chest drives. William Meardon, chairman of last year's drive, told 250 volunteer chest workers at the Iowa Memorial Union Thursday night.

"This year we want the solicitors to have a full understanding of how the money will be collected and where it is spent," said Meardon, who was chairman of last year's drive.

Distribution Card

This year, workers will be given a card showing the amount of money appropriated to each of the 11 agencies receiving funds, a breakdown of administration expenses and a suggested gift in relation to gross income and services offered by the Community Chest.

"No other fund drive that I know of," Meardon said, "allows as much of the funds collected to stay in the area. Ninety per cent of the money stays in this community."

The increased goal was necessary this year to allow the increased needs of the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Children's Milk Fund and Visiting Nurse Association program, Meardon explained.

Men to Collect

He mentioned that this year almost all the chest solicitors would be men because the committee felt it would be easier for them to make collections. Fewer people would refuse them, he thought.

John Graham, chairman of the drive, spoke briefly of the new plan using cards to explain the needs and distribution of Community Chest funds.

"The results of this method have been very encouraging," Graham said. "Of the firms contacted, many have increased their gifts and two firms have made a 300 per cent increase over their last year's contribution."

"One thing many people don't understand is that they can give on the installment basis and be billed monthly, quarterly, or semi-annually," Graham pointed out.

The drive for the $35,772 goal in the residential areas of Iowa City, Coralville and University Heights will start Nov. 1.

NAVAJOS THRIVING

There are more than 70,000 Navajo Indians, compared to 7,000 in 1867, says the National Geographic Society.

Armstrong Rubber Strike Ends in D.M.

DES MOINES (AP)—The 21-day-old Armstrong Rubber Manufacturing Co. contract dispute strike ended Thursday.

Members of striking Local 164 of the CIO United Rubber Workers union voted to accept the company's latest offer of an across-the-board wage increase of 12 cents an hour, and fringe benefits which will bring the increase to an average of 37.5 cents an hour for each employee.

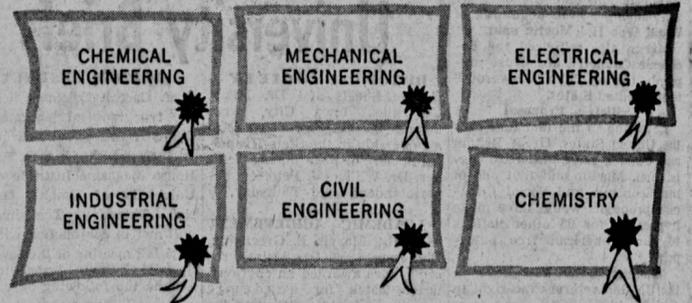

GETS LABOR POST

WASHINGTON (AP)—John W. Livingston, vice-president of the CIO United Auto Workers Union, Thursday was picked to head the organizing department of the soon-to-be merged AFL and CIO.
