Hancher Starts 16th Year as SUU President This Week

President Virgil M. Hancher

Progress, Expansion Have Marked Term

Virgil Melvin Hancher began his sixteenth year as president of the State University of Iowa this week and the state and the university look forward to many more years of service from one of the nation's most prominent and popular university administrators. The first 15 years of his administration have not been easy ones. From the time Hancher assumed his presidential duties on Nov. 1, 1940, the world has been in a constant state of crisis.

Hancher is well aware of the implications of social change. Enthusiasm for the dynamic progress is always evident in his actions.

Adapt to Change
In a commencement address at the University of Utah in 1948 Hancher said: "Our students and graduates must understand that change will be the order of the day. They must be able to adapt themselves to a world of change, if they are to be the masters and not victims of events."

Though he is essentially a man of action, Hancher has never lost sight of the need for cultural continuity. Later in the Utah address he described the role of our colleges and universities as being two-fold: "On the one hand they must understand and teach the nature and characteristics of social change; and on the other they must understand and teach those fundamental values and aspirations which give meaning and purpose to the life of man even in the midst of change."

Balanced Education
Hancher's emphasis on the Liberal Arts program at SUU is a natural outgrowth of his balanced educational concept. From the beginning, he has attempted to improve SUU's facilities for general studies. His success may be measured partially by a Time Magazine article in 1954 which called SUU "the Athens of the West."

Throughout his career at SUU Hancher has championed new projects. The concept of using a library as a teaching device may be credited largely to Hancher. By making books accessible to students on open shelves, the new library stimulates the use of research material, as well as enticing the casual browser with interesting titles.

Backed Medical Plan
Hancher was instrumental in the development of SUU's medical compensation plan. In brief, the plan regulates the income which an SUU medical staff member gets from private practice. Proceeds from the private practices of university clinicians are paid into a general fund and the staff members are reimbursed up to a predetermined maximum salary.

Medical schools throughout the nation have hailed the SUU compensation plan as an effective method of retaining doctors who would otherwise be drawn into more lucrative private practices. The entire student counseling staff is housed in the new Hancher building.

RIFLE STOLEN
Bob Suplee, 1213 Yewell St., Thursday reported the theft of a .22 caliber automatic rifle and 10 boxes of shells from his car parked near the Hy-Yee Food Store.

UN Agency Gets Nobel Peace Prize

OSLO, Norway (AP)—The office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize Thursday.

Established in 1951 to protect racial, religious and political refugees, the office administers the UN refugee emergency fund which provides financial aid for needy refugees. The peace prize cash award of $35,066 will go into this fund.

The refugee agency headquarters are in Geneva, Switzerland. Its director is Dr. G. J. Van Heuven Goedhart, an Amsterdam editor and former Dutch minister of justice.

The peace prize, under terms of the will of Swedish industrialist and dynamite inventor Alfred Nobel, goes each year to the person "who shall have most and best promoted the fraternity of nations and the abolishment or destruction of standing armies and the formation or extension of peace congresses." It also may be given to organizations or institutions and twice has been won by the International Red Cross.

A committee of five selected the Norwegian Parliament names the peace prize winner. Reasons for the award never are stated. Thursday's award was for 1954. The committee postponed naming a winner for 1955.

A spokesman said the prize money probably will be devoted to a single project of the refugee office. Officials at UN headquarters said the refugee agency's funds presently are at a low point, only $2 1/2 million having been pledged by 16 countries toward a goal of $4,200,000 this year.

Tickets Remain for Notre Dame Trip
About half the 64 tickets available for the student Council sponsored student trip to the Notre Dame football game have been sold. Trip committee chairman Ron Dowd, C3, Vinton, said Thursday.

Tickets are $13.85. The price includes a ticket to the Nov. 19 game and round trip bus fare. Tickets are being sold on a first-come, first-served basis. They will be on sale at the Student Council office in the new addition of the Iowa Memorial Union through Nov. 15.

Ike Leaves Wheelchair, Strolls in Sun

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower discarded his wheelchair Thursday and for the first time walked onto an outdoor terrace to soak in sunshine and brisk air.

For several days, the President has been able to stroll at will around his room and through the corridors on the eighth floor of Fitzsimons Army Hospital. On Thursday his doctors told him he could walk anywhere around the one level—the sundeck and an auditorium included.

Mr. Eisenhower marked up this additional progress toward recovery from his Sept. 24 heart attack on a day without official callers. None are scheduled for the rest of the week.

Social Calls
Today, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chief of staff of the Army, and Mrs. Taylor will come for a social visit. British Field Marshal Bernard B. Montgomery, an old friend and comrade from World War II days, will be a guest of the Eisenhowers Saturday.

Montgomery now is deputy commander of Allied forces in Europe. But Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said his visit here would be of a social nature.

Report from Dulles
Through a coded report from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Mr. Eisenhower kept abreast Thursday of Western pressure on Russia at the Big Four foreign minister conference in Geneva to permit unification of Germany through free elections.

Asked whether the daily reports from Dulles reflect optimism the secretary has mentioned in Geneva, Hagerty said he was not at liberty to discuss the nature of these personal messages.

Big 3 Lashes Russian Acts

GENEVA (AP)—The Western Powers accused Russia Thursday night of violating the "spirit of Geneva" by refusing to offer any plan for the unification of Germany by free elections.

U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan, and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay reproached Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov for his opposition to giving the Germans free choice of their destiny. Molotov sharply challenged the West's ideas on German unification.

Soviet press officer Leonid Il'yichev reported Molotov answered criticism of his all-German council plan by saying: "I do not deny that the proposal can be improved upon. I would not call it final."

U.S. Lowers Trade Barriers to Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, seeking to encourage a worldwide exchange of "peaceful goods," Thursday let down some of the bars against trading with Russia and her European satellites.

Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks announced that private traders will no longer be required to get special government licenses for each shipment of nonstrategic articles to countries behind the Iron Curtain.

American exporters can now send such products as automobiles, hides and skins, cigarettes and tobacco, tallow, phosphate rock and wool rags under a "general license."

Seek Student Bitten by Dog

Student Health Officials Urge Unknown Man To Report to Hospital Immediately

A Student Health official Thursday appealed to an unknown male student treated Wednesday at University Hospitals for a dog bite to "report immediately to the Student Health office."

Wednesday night the student came to the hospital after being bitten by a dog, Dr. Chester Miller, head of Student Health, said. He was treated in the surgery out-clinic and told to return Thursday for further treatment at the Student Health center.

Hospital authorities did not get the man's name before he left. He had not appeared at the center by Thursday. "We don't want to alarm the lad," Miller said, "but we urge him to report to the center immediately."

Announce Discovery of Possible Cold Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service and Johns Hopkins University Thursday jointly announced a successful trial of a still-experimental vaccine against a common cold "cold-type" illness.

But illness against which it has shown evidence of high protection is only one of many cold-type ailments, the Health Service said.

The joint announcement said experiments with prisoner volunteers indicate that the vaccine provides "substantial protection for human beings" against one of the nine "APC" viruses.

Research on Three
That's a family of respiratory viruses discovered several years ago. The initials stand for adenoidal, pharyngeal, conjunctival. The APC viruses usually attack the adenoids, throat and eye tissue.

The current research dealt with Type 3 APC virus, which causes a five-day illness marked by fever, sore throat and conjunctivitis, or "red eye." This sickness can occur sporadically or in sharp outbreaks or epidemics.

The researchers stressed that "there is no prospect for production of the vaccine for public use in the near future."

Vaccine for One
Moreover, they emphasized that: "The present vaccine is designed against only one of the nine APC organisms."

2. Infections caused by all the APC viruses constitute only part of the over-all problem of common respiratory—or cold-type diseases—which strike the average American six times a year.

"APC infections are widely prevalent in the general population," the announcement said, "and are easily transmitted from one person to another."

"They do not cause the non-feverish, runny nose type of infection which is often called the common cold. But they cause a great variety of other respiratory illnesses, and the symptoms sometimes are virtually indistinguishable from a simple cold, influenza or streptococcal sore throat."

U.S. Urges Arab-Israel Peace Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Thursday prodded Israel and the Arab states to hold high-level peace talks instead of trying to fight out their "explosive" border dispute.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said such talks "would be welcome." He endorsed a call by Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, for face-to-face parleys with Arab leaders.

In Cairo and Washington, Arab leaders challenged Ben-Gurion's sincerity. Egyptian officials in Cairo and Egypt's embassy in Washington said the border fighting Thursday was planned, though Ben-Gurion urged peace talks Wednesday.

White told his news conference that the chief responsibility regarding the fighting rests with the United Nations, whose Security Council is specifically charged with maintaining world peace.

UN Offers Peace Plan for Israel

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld gave Egypt and Israel a new peace plan Thursday night. An Israeli representative reported it calls for withdrawal of any Egyptian troops in the El Auja demilitarized zone and the permanent marking of that zone.

The UN said Hammarskjöld submitted to Egyptian and Israeli representatives certain proposals for re-establishing order and stability in that zone but it did not say what the proposals were.

Hint of Sabotage in Airline Disaster

LONGMONT, Colo. (AP)—An explosives expert and federal investigators sifted through the smashed bits of a United Air Lines plane Thursday to learn whether sabotage—possibly a bomb—caused the crash near here which killed 44 persons.

At the same time, it was learned that representatives of the five airlines operating out of Denver met with government officials to pool resources and information in an attempt to learn the cause of the disaster.

A United DC6B of a New York-to-Seattle flight appeared to disintegrate in the air Tuesday night 11 minutes after leaving Denver.

Egypt, Israeli Troops Clash On Frontier

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel and Egypt Thursday reported hard fighting between their forces for possession of a frontier checkpoint in the Sinai Desert.

There were casualties on both sides, but the figures differed, and every aspect of the fighting was in dispute.

UN truce observers and officials have not given their account of the battle, described as the most serious since the Palestine war of 1948. Britain Thursday held Israel responsible for starting the fighting.

Claim Truce Dead
The Israelis said they killed 50 Egyptians and captured 40 while losing 5 killed and 18 wounded. The Egyptians said they lost 70 killed or missing—but killed 200 Israelis.

The fighting, which started Wednesday night, was for the strategic El Sabha post in the El Auja-Nizana demilitarized zone. The Israelis say the post is in Israeli territory and the Egyptians insist it is in theirs.

According to the Egyptians, the post changed hands twice and now is held by Egyptian troops. The Israelis claim they still hold the post.

Accuse Truce Violation
Accusing the Egyptians of occupying El Sabha in violation of the armistice, Israeli forces attacked and seized the post Wednesday night. Thursday the Israeli Foreign Ministry announced the "Egyptian invader" had been expelled from Israeli territory.

The Egyptians indicated there was action by warplanes but the Israeli announcement made no mention of air operations.

Army headquarters in Cairo said the Israelis threw 3,000 troops against 100 Egyptians at the El Sabha post. The attack was supported by armored cars and heavy guns, the Egyptians said. They added that Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, Egyptian commander-in-chief, had gone to the front.

Proposes Negotiation
The fighting came less than 24 hours after David Ben-Gurion had taken office again as Israeli premier.

He offered immediately to meet Arab leaders in an attempt to end the strife.

Arab League sources replied that Ben-Gurion's proposal was useless because the Arab states will continue to avoid direct talks on the ground they would imply recognition of the Israeli state.

Cold Wave Chills State

DES MOINES (AP)—Iowa recorded its coldest weather of the new season early Thursday, but forecasters predict a warming trend will take over today and Saturday.

The mercury slid down to 8 above at Sibley in the northwest Thursday morning as Davenport recorded the high of 23. By afternoon the mercury had inched upward to 32 at Burlington, Dubuque and Ottumwa while Council Bluffs had a relatively warm 44.

The cold Arctic high pressure system responsible for the chilly weather has split into two cells. And a low pressure trough will bring southerly winds and slightly warmer temperatures to the state.

Lows this morning will range from 18 to 24 in the northeast and 25 to 32 in the southwest. Highs during the afternoon will vary from 44 to 52 northeast and 52 to 60 southwest, while maximums Saturday will be in the 50s and 60s.

SEN. BOURKE HICKENLOOPER (R-Iowa) told the Young Republicans Thursday the GOP is the people's party.

Public Must Control Politics, Says Senator Hickenlooper

We have to keep politics free, decent and in the hands of the people, Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) told the SUU Young Republicans at their meeting Thursday night.

Hickenlooper emphasized that college students are the future of America and will be the leaders of their country in the coming years.

"Young people have to choose a party in which to believe in, and it is my job to show them why GOP would be their right choice," he said.

GOP Best Steward
"I believe that in the long run, the Republican Party has proved itself," the Senator declared. "It is the best steward American people can have."

Hickenlooper pointed out that there has been no war under the Republican administration in this century, and said that every Democratic leadership has led America into a war.

editorial

Iowa City's Choice—

Last Aug. 10 The Daily Iowan said in an editorial: "We are glad to see this opposition forming. It will arouse an interest in city affairs that has been missing since partisan politics went out with mayor-council government."

The Iowa was referring to the Non-Partisan Taxpayers League (NPTL), which had held its organizational meeting the preceding night. The NPTL's stated objectives at the time were a return to council-mayor government in 1957 and the ouster of City Manager Peter F. Roan at once.

The NPTL leaders were Edward O'Connor, former attorney general of Iowa; Jack White, Johnson County Democratic chairman; and Ken Dunlop, former city attorney. The Iowan said of them: "... they are experienced and able politicians. They can be counted upon to give city voters a clear-cut choice Nov. 8."

The Iowan has never regretted this editorial. The NPTL has brought about a revived interest in city affairs. It has placed Roan's administration and achievements under the first political scrutiny. It has attacked Roan's plans and the City Council's policies every time its leaders and candidates thought they had found an opening. It has placed before the public the record of Roan and the City Council for the past years.

The voters now have to make the choice. How are they to arrive at their conclusion?

Can they reach a fair decision by choosing between the candidates of the NPTL and the pro-manager Council-Manager Association (CMA)? This would be difficult.

The voters have not had much of a chance to see or hear the candidates. The vocal part of the campaign has been carried on by NPTL chairman O'Connor, CMA chairman Thomas Farrell, Jr., and other leaders of both groups. Except in a radio round-table discussion and in articles written for The Daily Iowan, the candidates have made their views known to only some of the voters.

The Daily Iowan therefore does not feel qualified to pass judgment on the capabilities of the individual candidates for the city council—the CMA's George Dvorsky, Louis Loria and Phillip Morgan and the NPTL's Lee Blodgett, Lee Chopek and Glenn Meeks.

Enough has been said by both groups, however, to pass judgments on the issues and principles involved in the campaign.

Nothing has been brought forth to prove that the city manager plan is not better for Iowa City's purposes than the old mayor-council system. The NPTL candidates obviously recognize this. They have modified the program adopted by the NPTL at its first meeting to endorse, in principle, the manager plan. They have offered a substitute plan in which the councilmen would again be elected by wards, the mayor would be elected at-large, and the city manager plan would be set up by an ordinance and could be disposed of at any time.

While the Iowan does not agree with this plan, we commend the NPTL candidates for recognizing that some sort of a manager plan would be better for 20th century Iowa City than the old mayor-council system.

The CMA candidates have chosen to base their campaigns, in their few talks and in newspaper advertisements, on the four-year record of the Roan administration. It has been a great record of accomplishments.

... the paving or re-surfacing of 166 blocks of city streets.
... a better system of garbage collection.
... better (but not sufficient) pay for policemen and firemen.

... the abolishment of the old city dump and the setting up of a sanitary land-fill.

... the saving of thousands of dollars per year to city residents by allowing a three per cent increase in electric rates instead of a 14.3 per cent jump.

... the holding of city taxes in line for the past three years while cutting the city debt.

The NPTL has not proved, and in most cases, has not even tried to prove, that this record has been anything but beneficial to the people of Iowa City. The CMA candidates, however, have not recognized the need for presenting a program for the future to Iowa City voters. Their recommendations have been few. We hope that this does not mean they think Iowa City has gone far enough in way of civic improvements. We don't think that this is the case.

The NPTL candidates, on the other hand, have offered a few more recommendations in the past few days. Blodgett has proposed a plan for allowing students to park in metered areas near the campus during class hours without receiving tickets. We hope that the new City Council, whether CMA or NPTL-dominated, will consider this plan.

They have also proposed better recreational facilities and better fire and police protection. We agree that both are needed, but fail to see how they can be reconciled with the NPTL's attacks on the tax collections since Roan took office in 1951.

They have proposed cutting Roan's salary of $12,744 per year and putting at least part of the difference into salaries for city councilmen. This will not be of benefit to city taxpayers.

The NPTL, however, has given Iowa City voters the clear-cut choice the Iowan predicted in August. The choice cannot be made over the candidates, who have not appeared in the campaign as individuals. It cannot be made on programs for the future, since neither side has one.

The voter should answer this question in his mind: Do you approve of the improvements made in Iowa City during the past four years and do you have confidence that CMA councilmen will continue to make necessary improvements in the future?

Our 'Right to Move' Threatened Says Vestal

A basic and conspicuous habit of Americans might be seriously threatened by the strains of such possible crises as a depression, a critical water shortage or a World War III, suggests Allan Vestal, SUI law professor.

Discussing "Freedom of Movement" in the fall issue of the Iowa Law Review, Vestal points out that "legal bases of the right to move are not as clear as one might like," compared with definite Constitutional guarantees for the freedoms of speech, press, religion and assembly.

BUT LEGAL and non-legal supports for human rights, he says, gain their strength through popular understanding of the realities of a situation. And he expresses faith in an information-rich "reservoir of understanding" deep enough to survive drains created during violent social and economic upheavals.

Calling attention to the westward movements of the American people as far back as the settlement of the original 13 colonies, Vestal says "great segments of the story of America have been written in terms of the migrations of people."

IN RECENT years "conservative estimates" show two million workers and their families crossing state lines annually. He adds that an average of 400 persons daily have been moving in to the Los Angeles area since 1940.

However, in spite of this "heritage of mobility," various regions of the U.S. have experienced a number of attacks on freedom of movement, for instance, during the 1930's, when relatively prosperous states and localities attempted to block the inward movement of indigent persons. And recalling the relocation of West coast citizens of Japanese descent in 1942, the writer notes that discriminatory restrictions on free movement may again be urged in the name of internal security.

HE NOTES too that in 1943 Attorney General Francis Biddle was reported to have recommended to President Roosevelt that in view of race riot dangers in the coming post-war period, "it would seem pretty clear that no more Negroes should move into Detroit."

"All of these considerations suggest that the question of the protection of the right of movement is not an idle one. Serious threats have been made to the so-called right in the past, and there is every reason to believe that some threats will be made in the future," the Iowa law professor continues.

He explains that there are several aspects to the right to move, including the "right to leave a present location, to travel across various boundaries and the right to locate in a chosen place."

BOTH GOVERNMENTAL and non-governmental forces exert pressures on the freedom of movement, he continues. For instance, there are laws on the granting of relief to recently arriving individuals and residency requirements for the practice of profession. But "out of a vast briar patch of legal and non-legal considerations, the greatest threat to population mobility seems to exist in possible governmental interference," Vestal suggests.

Both the fifth and 14th amendments to the Constitution contain provisions that no person shall be deprived of "life, liberty or property without due process of law." And movement of people from state to state has been held to fall within the power of Congress "to regulate Commerce ... among the several states," Vestal points out.

ARTICLE IV, section 2 of the Constitution provides that "The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of the citizens in the several states." And the 14th amendment states that "no state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge" these privileges, Vestal explains.

Shortly before the Constitution was written, the Articles of Confederation contained the provision that "the people of each state shall have free ingress and regress to and from any other state." Although this specific support for the right to move was not written into the Constitution, the basic document for federal law "reflects a spirit and an attitude which shows that by implication, at least, mobility is a constitutionally protected right," Vestal concludes.

Present City Government Far Superior Says Dvorsky

(Editor's Note: This is the fifth in a series of six articles written by candidates for three city council positions to be filled Nov. 8.)

By GEORGE DVORSKY
CMA Candidate

The problem of city government is important to us all. It affects not only us but also our children's future.

As I said in an interview last month I have what I consider the average citizen's view point on city government. As I see it, our present plan is far superior to the older form of government used previously in Iowa City. The council is chosen more as an advisory board with the city manager as the actual head.

HE TAKES the blasts from the critics for what they feel "he" has done wrong. But progress of any kind is scarred with criticism and our present setup is no exception.

Still with a council manager plan, while the people have the power to retain or expel the manager we can be sure that the people will benefit on the whole.

This appears to me the more democratic way of running the city. There will always be those who feel an injustice is done them in decisions made by the government. I only hope they will try and realize that the decisions made by a council type government must serve the community as a whole.

THE MANAGER, given this great obligation, must know his work. He is a man schooled in the art of city government. Just as a doctor has specific training so must he; just as a doctor is necessary, important and well paid, so should he be. Because the obligations of council manager government are not divided,

Heart Attack Hits Brazilian President

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — President Joao Cafe Filho suffered a heart attack Wednesday night which may keep him from serving the final three months of his term.

Doctors said the 56-year-old chief executive's condition was not serious. He is expected to be hospitalized three to five days.

He is serving out the term of Getulio Vargas who committed suicide Aug. 24, 1954. His term ends Jan. 31, 1956, when the president chosen in the Oct. 3 elections takes office. The vote count still is incomplete but Juscelino Kubitschek of the dominant Social Democratic party is the apparent winner.

George Dvorsky Far Superior Government

he cannot blame the street department if the streets are out of repair, nor can he blame the fire department if there are not enough trucks to insure the citizen's safety. It is his business alone, his responsibility, his duty. I believe we can all see a notable improvement in our city that has come about due to the council manager type of government.

I want to thank The Daily Iowan for this opportunity to express my opinions. However, let me say this. No matter how good the plan, it is the citizens' interest and vigilance that makes a city such as ours, a fine place in which to live.

Timber Growth Now Greater Than Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lumberman says a U.S. Forest Service report shows that "for the first time since America began the harvest of its virgin forests, the country is growing timber faster than it is being used."

Leonard G. Carpenter, president of American Forest Products industries, added that his analysis of the report gives "satisfaction over what has been accomplished and optimism for the future."

"It sounded good to me"

Charles Poole, B.S. in Business Administration, Boston University, '52, is working for New Jersey Bell Telephone Company as a Traffic Superintendent. For a young man he has a lot of responsibility. And responsibility is what he likes. He has three New Jersey exchanges under his supervision—Dover, Madison and Washington—which total nearly 16,000 customers, and he manages a force of some 160 operators, including nine chief operators and fifteen service assistants.

"It's the type of job," says Charlie, happily, "where you can never say you're caught up. There's always something to do." Each day brings Charlie new problems, new experiences. And with every passing day his grasp of the telephone business is getting stronger, his value to the company is growing.

That spells the kind of future that Charlie wants; the opportunity to take an ever-increasing part in an ever-expanding business.

"It sounded good to me," Charlie says, remembering what he thought when the telephone interviewer had finished telling him about the company and its future. And, as you might expect, it still sounds good to him.

Charlie Poole is typical of the many young men who are building careers in telephone work. Similar opportunities exist today with other telephone companies, and also with Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. Your placement officer has the details.

Condensed From Associated Press Dispatches

NEBRASKA SWITCH—Jack Fleming took over the starting right tackle spot for the University of Nebraska Thursday, the only lineup change as the Cornhuskers completed practices before the Iowa State game.

KALINE SIGNS—Outfielder Al Kaline, Detroit Tigers star and 1955 American League batting champion, signed his 1956 contract Thursday. He is reported to be getting about $20,000.

DO-IT-YOURSELF—Golf architect Bill Mitchell is transplanting sod from his "grass farm" in New Hampshire to form the greens for a new golf course. Workers have cut 12,000 square feet of the extra-fine grass in the last two days, for replanting on the course.

HERE'S A SWITCH—Frankie Ryff needs more fights before he goes after Bud Smith's lightweight boxing championship, and the word is on good authority. Ryff made the statement himself after whipping former champion Paddy DeMarco Wednesday night.

RYDER CUP—British and American Ryder Cup golf teams were expected to put in a last day of practice today, prior to the opening of the international matches Saturday.

COTTON PROSPECTS—Cotton Bowl officials will fan out this weekend from their Dallas, Tex., headquarters to survey Georgia Tech, Tennessee, Mississippi State, and Auburn, all top prospects for the January 2 football game.

TROJAN BOOTED—Chuck Griffith, starting right end for the University of Southern California Trojans, has been dropped from the squad for breaking training rules, according to coach Jess Hill.

YANKEES WIN—The New York Yankees beat the Japanese all-stars Thursday, 7-3, in another of the American League champions' series of exhibitions. 70,000 fans watched the game at Osaka, Japan.

BRAVES VS. TRIBE—The Milwaukee Braves revealed Thursday they will play home-and-home baseball exhibition games with the Cleveland Indians next spring.

HORSES BURNED—Five horses at the Quebec, Ontario, Canada, harness racing track were burned to death Wednesday night when a barn caught fire.

Cyclones Lose Five For Nebraska Tilt

AMES (AP)—Five men probably will miss next Saturday's game with Nebraska, Iowa State College Coach Vince Di Francesca said Thursday.

They are halfbacks Donn Lorenzen, Gary Lutz and Brooks Young, center Chuck Muelhaupt and guard Ron Bredeson. All are nursing injuries.

The Cyclones drilled on both offense and defense Thursday, and planned to study Nebraska movies Thursday night.

CASSIDY HOLDS LEAD

Howard Cassidy, of Ohio State took a commanding lead in the Big Ten scoring race with a pair of touchdowns Saturday. He has nine touchdowns for 54 points, 17 more than Michigan State's Gerry Planutis. Ron Kramer, Michigan end, is in third place with 34 points.

'Iron Man' Couppee To Be Main Speaker

By FRED MILLER
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

The Iowa-Minnesota game Saturday marks the last home appearance of 17 senior Hawkeyes. The seniors, including eight lettermen, will be honored at a pep rally at 7:15 tonight at the northwest corner of old Iowa Field.

Featured at the senior pep rally will be Al Couppee, quarterback of the famed "Iron-man" Hawkeye team of 1939. Couppee is currently with KRNT-TV, Des Moines, and will fly in tonight for the rally and then return to Des Moines.

Senior members of the team will be introduced by master of ceremonies Larry Sealise, LI, Des Moines. Other features of the pep rally will be the Iowa marching band and the cheerleaders. A bonfire will be lit to climax the rally.

Finishing out their collegiate football careers at home this year are:

CALVIN JONES—Guard and captain of the 1955 squad. Jones was named to virtually every national collegiate team last year as an all-American guard. At Steubenville, Ohio, Jones was captain of the Big Red in 1951, his senior year. The physical therapy major stands six feet and weighs in at 225.

JIM FREEMAN—A star end on the squad for the past three years. Freeman hails from Iowa City, and is the team's punter and chief kickoff artist. Last year Freeman punted four times for a 43-yard average. He was an all-stater and a high school all-American in his senior year.

JERRY REICHOW—One of the spark plugs of the team in his role as starting quarterback. Reichow is currently second in the Big Ten in total offense and has gained more than a mile on the ground in his three-year career. Reichow is the brains of the Hawkeye squad and has been exceptionally dangerous on the quarterback option play. Decora is his home town, where he was named as an all-stater.

EDDIE VINCENT—One third of the Steubenville Trio, he plays halfback. Vincent is versatile on offense as well as on defense. His offensive play paid off last year when he won the Big Ten rushing title. Vincent, known as "Punkin'" in high school, has grown from a 90-pound, five-foot four-inch quarterback (as a freshman in high school) to a speedy 170-pound, five-foot eleven-inch right half.

ROGER WIEGMANN—The workhorse of the team at fullback. Wiegmann, who claims Waverly as his home town, has come into his own this year after playing behind former captain Binkey Broeder. In his sophomore year, he was never thrown for a loss, and this year has been the most dependable ground gainer for the Hawkeyes.

EARL SMITH—An expert in punt returns and pass interceptions at left halfback. He set a scoring record for Iowa last year with 48 points in conference games, and scored 11 touchdowns for 66 points in all nine games. Smith comes from Gary, Ind., where he played with Roosevelt High.

GEORGE KRESS—A dependable man at guard behind Jones. Although Kress is a senior he has one more year of eligibility because he missed last season with an injured knee. He may return with the Hawkeyes next year. A former all-stater from Loras High in Dubuque, he has had knee trouble ever since an operation last year.

NORMAN SIX—One of three centers on the Hawkeye squad filling the shoes of Bud Lawson. The 210-pounder was named to the all-tri-state prep football team when he was playing with New Cumberland High in West Virginia.

RODGER SWEDBERG—A big tackle with injury trouble

Warren's Runs Earn I-M Victory

Chuck Warren's five touchdowns paved the way for Phi Kappa Psi Wednesday afternoon as they stormed to a 44-6 triumph over Theta Xi in Social Fraternity League intramural touch football.

Warren opened the scoring when he picked off a Theta Xi pass and went 10 yards for a touchdown after only three minutes had elapsed. Jack Price's pass for the PAT was incomplete.

Several minutes later, Theta Xi's Bob Steele intercepted a Price pass and went 30 yards down the sidelines to tie the game, 6-6.

But the tide didn't last long. Phi Kappa Psi returned the kickoff to the Theta Xi 15, and on the next play Fred Wilson skirted end 15 yards for a touchdown. Price's pass again was incomplete in the extra point try.

Warren added the third touchdown when he hauled in a 35-yard pitch from Price. This time Price's pass to Warren for the PAT made it 19-6.

On the last play of the half, Warren again intercepted a Theta Xi pass and raced 40 yards for the fourth Phi Psi touchdown of the half. Price's pass was incomplete for the extra point.

Half-time score: Phi Kappa Psi 25; Theta Xi 6.

The Price-Warren pass combination worked again early in the second half for 7 yards and a touchdown. Warren's run for the extra point was stopped, leaving the score at 31-6.

Thompson added the 37th Phi Psi point when he took an 8 yard pass from Warren. Price's run for the extra point made the score, 38-6.

With 1½ minutes left, Warren took a pass from Price and zig-zagged 42 yards for the final Phi Psi score.

Owner Urges Pro Ban On Face Masks

WASHINGTON (AP)—George Preston Marshall, Washington Redskins' president, proposed Thursday that professional football abandon use of face masks.

He said the face mask causes more injuries than it prevents and added that he had urged National Football League Commissioner Bert Bell to "abolish the use of any and all types of face masks."

Marshall spoke up in the face of an accepted fact. Nearly all professional football players now wear either iron or plastic face guards.

A check was run on Marshall's Redskins and it turned out that all but four of the 33 players on the squad use face masks.

In an informal poll, the Red 4 skin players went against their president, 32-1, in favor of face masks. The lone exception was halfback Vic Janowicz, who said he believes he once suffered a severe thigh bruise when he was banged by an opposing player's face mask.

Tackle Don Boll headed the opposition. "If they took my mask away, I'd quit pro football," he said. "I broke my nose seven times in college when I didn't have a mask. The University of Nebraska spent $1,250 on me for plastic surgery."

"Masks don't belong in football," Marshall said. "They're causing more injuries than they're preventing. Furthermore, the grabbing and attempted grabbing of masks is becoming all too prevalent."

Smith, Dobrino Battle For First Team Berth

Iowa's football team tapered drills sharply Thursday with the starting left halfback position still a question mark for the Minnesota game.

Earl Smith and Don Dobrino have traded off at halfback in the four practices this week. Thursday Dobrino reported to practice after a late class and worked with the second team, while Smith ran with the No. 1 squad.

Smith, a senior, may get the nod Saturday if Iowa receives the opening kickoff. The fleet senior specializes in punt and kickoff returns. It will be his final home game.

On the other hand, Dobrino, an able passer, has also proved himself as a more powerful runner on the single wing.

If Smith starts, the Hawks will have six seniors, two juniors and three sophomores on the first eleven. The backfield—Jerry Reichow, Eddie Vincent, Roger Wiegmann and Smith—consists of four fourth-year men.

In the line seniors Cal Jones and Jim Freeman lead the way. Two sophomores man the tackle positions—Don Bowen and Frank Bloomquist. Juniors in the lineup are center Don Suchy, and guard Dick Deasy. A third sophomore, Jim Gibbons, is the left end.

Physically, Iowa is near its peak. Rodger Swedberg, the only injured man in the Michigan game, is reported in top shape. The big tackle has been practicing with the second team this week.

Warmath Polishes Gopher Defenses In Final Session

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minnesota's football Gophers worked on defense against University of Iowa attack patterns Thursday in final preparation for Saturday's game.

The freshman squad, with transfers Bob Cox and Jim Reese doing the passing, ran Iowa plays against the first and third varsity teams while Coach Murray Warmath put his second stringers through offensive drills.

All units worked on covering punts, a department in which the Gophers made a poor showing against Southern California last week.

Second string tackle Norm Sixta and Bob Schultz, regular halfback, continued on the all-Iowa list that will make the trip to Iowa City.

Touring Scots Guards Gain Praise of American Critics

When the Scots Guards Regimental Band and Massed Bagpipers perform at SUI next week, they will have gained many kind words from critics in many American and Canadian cities.

The company, officially titled "Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth's Scots Regiment of Foot Guards," will appear in the SUI Fieldhouse next Tuesday, Nov. 8, at 8 p.m. under the auspices of the Scottish Highlanders, University Band, and the University Concert Course.

The group will wear the costumes in which they perform their duties at Buckingham Palace.

Praised in New York

When the Scots Guards appeared in Madison Square Garden Oct. 27 where they received good reviews from New York critics, and public reaction was so good that the group has been scheduled to return to the garden Dec. 5.

Said Howard Taubman, critic for the New York Times: "These pipers made an art of their work. They played with the conviction of men who understood and treasured their musical style. That is an achievement to be respected in any musical forum."

Of the dancers Taubman said: "The dancers... have such control and grace that they could beguile one for an entire evening..."

Call Requests

In speaking of the spectators, Taubman said, "Some called out requests. When the dancers punctuated some of their numbers with shouts, hundreds in the audience joined them in outbursts of sound. In an arena where patrons are not discouraged from expressing themselves, all this was natural."

Douglas Watt (New York Daily News) called the show "proud and colorful," and the New York Post termed the crowd "wild" and "enthusiastic."

Cyrus Durgin of the Boston Daily Globe said, when the Scots Guards performed in the Boston Arena, that the dancers were "impressive, nimble, and very graceful."

All 108 members of the group will perform here next Tuesday evening.

Tickets for the performance are on sale at the Iowa Memorial Union, Whetstone's Drugstore, and the Fieldhouse, and may also be obtained by mail order from the Scottish Highlanders. Reserved seats are $1.50, and general admission is $1.

THE REGIMENTAL BAND, massed pipers and 1st battalion dancers of the historic Scots Guards will be in Iowa City Nov. 8 as part of a 44-city tour of the United States which began in Washington D.C. Oct. 9. Some of the Queen's Pipers are shown at Wellington Barracks, London.

Police Hunt Vandals Who Halted Train

Persons who placed two red lanterns on the Rock Island railroad tracks Tuesday night and early Wednesday are subject to penalties of from $500 to one year in jail, Iowa City Police Detective Harland Sprinkle said Thursday.

The charges would be removing the lanterns from a construction barricade, not for placing them on the tracks.

Police still are looking for the unknown thieves.

An 8:30 p.m. freight and a 1:30 a.m. passenger train were forced to halt because of the lanterns. A brakeman on the freight was slightly injured when he was thrown against a hand rail.

Taken from Barricade

The red lanterns, of the type used to mark street construction, were taken from a barricade guarding a ditch in Brooklyn Park, north of the railroad tracks on Myrtle Avenue.

One was placed on a tie about 18 feet from the Myrtle Avenue crossing and the other lowered from the Melrose Avenue bridge to within five feet of the tracks.

Sprinkle and a railroad detective from Davenport have been investigating the incident.

Both termed it "post-Halloween vandalism."

'Very Serious'

"But very serious," Sprinkle said. "If the passenger train had been moving much faster when the engineer saw the red light, a number of persons might have been seriously injured."

The railroad detective said there was a possibility of federal charges being brought against the thieves under the codes prohibiting interference with interstate commerce.

Some such codes carry penalties of a minimum of 25 years in prison.

Iowa City Doctors Give Private Polio Shots

Inoculations of the Salk anti-polio vaccine were given Thursday on a private basis by Iowa City physicians.

Several local physicians said they are notifying persons at the head of their waiting lists as the vaccine becomes available.

Children five through nine years old head an unofficial priority list set up locally. Expectant mothers have second priority and other children one through 15 are third.

Local physicians have set a fee of $4 for the shots.

Supplies of the vaccine released by the state health department for private inoculations are limited.

Local officials said that sufficient vaccine will be available to inoculate all persons on the lists by next summer's polio season.

Farrell Says NPTL Is Misleading Public

Thomas Farrell Jr., Council-Manager Association (CMA) chairman, said Thursday that the issue in the city election Nov. 8 is whether to retain the council-manager government.

In his crisp speech of the municipal election campaign, he accused the Non-Partisan Taxpayers League (NPTL) of misinforming and misleading the voters.

"A vote for the opposition (NPTL) candidates, or any one of them, is a vote against retaining the present form of government in the city," Farrell said.

Farrell mentioned five of the charges made by the NPTL candidates that "mislead or misinform" the public before a meeting of the Altruistic Club of Iowa City.

They made a public charge of nepotism (favoritism shown to relatives), stating that a relative of Mr. Roan was employed in a city office. No such man has ever existed," he said.

Farrell charged that the opposition had misrepresented the situation in the city.

Cities Taxes

"For purposes of showing an increase in gross city taxes, taxes collected in a nine-month fiscal year were contrasted with those collected in a twelve-month fiscal year," he explained.

"He added that a gross tax figure is meaningless. It represents that more people paid more taxes on more homes, he said.

"The individual increase in city taxes amounts to only one dollar per $1,000 each year," he said.

Farrell also answered the NPTL charges that Roan is a dictator.

Mentions Street Widening

"This completely ignores the fact, which can be checked with ease, that every action taken by our city must first be decided upon by the Council and formally recorded," he said.

"To pass on misinformation to voters, to use statements and questions which serve to mislead citizens, is a kind of irresponsibility which certainly does not qualify men to hold offices of public trust."

"We cannot afford to trust our civic welfare to anyone who deals in misinformation or innuendo," he added.

Farrell also pointed to some of the aspects of the council-manager system he felt were worth mentioning.

Offers Stability

He said this form of city government offers stability and continuity.

"Though candidates may differ in their opinions on a specific issue, the voter can still choose between them and clearly indicate his wishes," Farrell explained.

"Meanwhile, the functions of the city government continue. The manager continues to investigate all civic problems and to try all facts and all possible solutions before the public," he stated.

"All city employees continue in their jobs as long as they carry out their duties satisfactorily," he added.

This Farrell contrasted with the last 20 years of the Mayor-Council government.

He said that only twice during that period did an administration remain in office for more than one two-year term.

For this reason, city employees were turned out every two years and administrative heads were demoted, he added.

Pick Officials For Elections

Forty-five officials for Tuesday's municipal election were approved Thursday by Iowa City councilmen. Three judges and two clerks were appointed for each of the nine wards.

Polls will open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. to elect three members to the city council for a four-year term and one park commissioner for a six-year term.

Candidates for the council are Lee F. Blodgett, Lee Chopek and Glenn Meeks, backed by the Non-Partisan Taxpayers League, and George P. Dvorsky, Louis Loria and Philip F. Morgan, backed by the Council-Manager Association.

Robert H. Lorenz, seeking reelection to the park board, is unopposed.

Eleven Iowa City residents have already voted by absentee ballot in the municipal election. Eight other persons have received absentee ballots but have not returned them. Three applications were filed Thursday for absentee ballots.

Iowa law permits persons to vote by absentee ballot when they will be unable to be at the polls election day because of illness or necessary travel.

Applications for absentee ballots for the city election should be made to the city clerk. The ballots should be returned by Monday to allow distribution to the proper polling place Tuesday.

During the war, SUI scientists played a major part in the development of two of the most important weapons in modern military history—the proximity fuse and the flame thrower.

Since that time SUI, under President Hancher, has made equally valuable contributions toward saving lives with scientific research and toward preparing students to lead more balanced and profitable lives.

Rotarian Stresses Need for Service

There is a need for Rotary service as long as peace fails to exist in this world, the district governor of the Rotary International told the Iowa City Rotary Club Thursday.

Nathan W. Keith, Newton, told the group about the organization and purpose of Rotary.

"We exist to serve our fellow men," he said. "Crippled children, hospitals and slums all need our service."

Keith explained that Rotary membership does not depend on racial, political or religious beliefs, but on whether a person is willing to foster world understanding.

Keith called upon the Iowa City Rotarians to live by Rotary ideals.

He outlined five points that Rotarians can follow to bring more understanding among people.

At present there are 8,844 Rotary Clubs in all parts of the world, with 419,000 members. Ninety-three countries have Rotary organizations.

'$64,000 Question' Offers Losers Cash

NEW YORK (AP) — The television show, "The $64,000 Question," has changed its consolation prize — for those who take the big chance and lose — from a car to cash.

Sponsors said Thursday the consolation prize from now on would be $16,000, instead of an expensive convertible, a change aimed at encouraging contestants to try for the top money.

The car offered as a consolation to those who try — and fail — apparently wasn't enough to make many people risk the long gamble of shooting for the $64,000 after they reach the halfway mark.

Peron Continues Nicaragua Flight

BELEM, Brazil (AP) — Juan D. Peron landed late Thursday at Macapa, near the north coast of Brazil, on his roundabout flight from Paraguay to Nicaragua.

An air force source said the exiled former dictator of Argentina planned to spend the night there, then head westward. A passenger aboard a Paraguayan air force DC4, he still has 2,500 miles to go.

A correspondent of the Rio de Janeiro newspaper, O Globo, said Peron told him at Salvador, on the east coast, that he was going to Nicaragua for a visit of no more than 10 days and then would return to Paraguay, his home in exile for a month.

8 Professors Elected to Policy Posts

Eight SUI professors have been elected to fill positions on the College of Liberal Arts standing committees, Dean Dewey B. Stuit said Thursday.

The committees determine policy and curriculum for the college.

New members of the Executive Committee are: Prof. Gerald F. Else, head of the Department of Classics; Prof. Nicholas Riasanovsky, Department of History, and Prof. Ralph L. Shriver, head of the Department of Chemistry.

The Educational Policy Committee includes: Prof. Fred L. Fehling, Department of German; Prof. Stow S. Persons, Department of History, and Prof. James A. Van Allen, Department of Physics.

New member of the Adjustment Committee is Prof. John C. Gerber, Department of English and Communication Skills.

Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the School of Journalism, was elected secretary of the Liberal Arts faculty.

All elected members of the standing committees serve three-year terms and take office upon election. One-third of the committee is elected each year.

The College of Liberal Arts is divided into three sections — humanities, social science and science. One person from each of these divisions is elected annually to serve on the standing committees.

Bad Weather Aids Insurance Sales, Agents Told

"Bad weather is good weather to sell in," the 35 members of the Insurance Agents Institute were told Thursday at the SUI Center for Continuation Study.

"When your thermometer and barometer readings are unfavorable, you're in luck if you go out, because both your customers and competitors are likely to be at home," Oscar Beling, New York agency superintendent, pointed out.

Beling is the author of "Profitable Insurance Agency Management," a text which is used in university colleges of commerce and insurance company training schools.

Stressing efficiency in the agency office, he said that "a savings of as little as $10 a month in office procedure is the equivalent of acquiring $1,500 in premiums from new business. For the national average profit for agency management is eight per cent of the premiums." The Institute will close today.

Doctor Urges Safer Designing for Autos

CHICAGO (AP)—A brain surgeon, declaring America's physicians are "up in arms" over the mounting traffic toll, called Thursday for strict national control of automobile safety design.

Dr. C. Hunter Sheldon of Pasadena, Calif., charged "faulty" interior car design as directly responsible for approximately three-fourths or 28,500 of the nation's 38,000 annual traffic fatalities.

He said the pressure for safer cars is developing and some manufacturers have made a start toward adding safety features, but that "few new ideas have been adopted."

In Medical Journal
Writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, he said:

"The reason is very simple. The automobile industry states that it cannot make the necessary changes until the public demands them. The public would gladly insist upon changes, but it is completely unaware of what changes to demand."

He said it is the duty of the nation's medical profession "to demand that the public be protected as in any national health program."

Urges Joint Action
He said joint action within the auto industry could solve the problem effectively. But he expressed the view that car makers would string out changes over the years as is done in exterior styling and design.

Instead, he proposed that the president of the United States set up a national group to regulate and approve automobile safety.

Among safety features he recommended were:

High backs on seats to prevent "several hundred thousand" whiplash neck injuries a year.

Collapsible Steering Wheel
Securely fastened front seats with a collapsible steering wheel that can be adjusted up or down to fit a driver's height.

Front seat backs attached to the doors so they won't fly forward on impact. Securely bolted rear seat cushions which cannot kill when torn loose and thrown forward by sudden stops.

Big lock bolts to prevent car doors from flying open.

Single strap safety belts that roll up in a recess when not in use and which can be fastened with one hand.

Special reinforced tops which would not cave in if a car turns over.

Sought for Murder, Boston Executive Takes Own Life

MANCHESTER, Mass. (AP)—A Boston advertising executive shot and killed himself Thursday while police were seeking him on a murder warrant in the death of a 22-year-old Pennsylvania girl bank teller whose skeleton was found Tuesday in Connecticut.

Police Chief Allan Andrews said that the Medical Examiner reported that William R. Turner, 40, committed suicide by firing a shot into his abdomen.

Turner's body was found propped against a seawall. His stomach was ripped open by a shot or shots from a .45 caliber pistol.

Being Sought
Detective Lewis Penman of the Pennsylvania State Police said Turner was being sought at the time on a warrant charging murder in the death of Miss Doris Hatch, 22, of Cambridge Springs, Pa.

The warrant was issued after the girl's skeleton was found Tuesday by a hunter at Stafford Springs, Conn.

The girl had worked part-time for Turner in his family's hardware store.

Disappeared in 1953
She disappeared July 27, 1953, after she had been seen in the hardware store with Turner, Penman said.

Andrews said that the pistol and a note were found beside Turner's body. The contents of the note were not disclosed.

Turner's wife, Dianne, collapsed upon hearing of his death. The couple had one child.

Wife Charged In Graveside Slaying Case

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Sunny Canales Worden, 42, wealthy San Antonio woman, Thursday was charged with murder in the eerie graveside slaying of her husband on Padre Island two weeks ago.

She claimed she shot Don Worden, 43, her husband of a month, after he forced her at gunpoint to dig a grave and then tried to make her kill her 5-year-old daughter and herself.

She said Worden planned to burn both bodies with gasoline he had brought along and then bury the remains. Padre Island is a pencil-shaped island along the south Texas coast.

Daughter Tied
She said the little girl, Marla Teresa, screamed and ran. Worden turned to give chase and Mrs. Worden then shot him through the head with her diamond-studded .22 pistol, she said.

Mrs. Worden was divorced Aug. 3 from millionaire oilman and rancher Prexides Canales, 52, of Premont, Tex. She said Worden had persuaded her to name him beneficiary in life insurance policies on her and her children.

She led officers Wednesday to the spot near Campbelltown, Tex., where she hid the pistol and the heavy revolver which she said Worden used to threaten her.

Rewords Statement
Mrs. Worden spent hours in the Kingsville jail Thursday rewording a statement which she then gave to County Atty. Royce C. Johnston.

Johnston refused to let reporters see the statement.

Mrs. Worden claimed her bridegroom, a San Antonio real estate man, got $90,000 cash and a $45,000 home from her during their brief marriage. She said she went through a marriage ceremony with him at Bend, Ore., a month ago but, on the advice of a lawyer had regarded it only as a "mock" wedding and not binding.

Dentist Found Guilty Of Manslaughter

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A jury Thursday convicted Dr. A. Arnold Axilrod, 50-year-old Minneapolis dentist, of first degree manslaughter in the strangulation of a young woman patient.

Judge Leslie L. Anderson sentenced the stubby, dark-haired defendant to five to 20 years in prison.

Axilrod was charged with first degree murder in the death April 22 of Mrs. Mary E. Moonen, 21, wife of a soldier then serving in Korea. The state charged Axilrod strangled her after she threatened to accuse him publicly as the father of her unborn child.

The jury, deliberating 50 hours, had a choice of six verdicts.

They were first degree murder, second degree murder, first degree manslaughter, second degree manslaughter, innocent by reason of insanity and innocent.

Detectives testified that Axilrod denied ever having intimate relations with Mrs. Moonen, whom he met in late December, "until the night of April 22." He said he could not remember whether he was intimate with her that night.

A King-Sized King

KING CHARLES MUTARA RUDAIGWA, six-foot nine-inch ruler of Ruanda Urundi in the Belgian Congo, steps out with his queen on their way from a Rome hotel to an audience with Pope Pius XII. The couple's daughter follows her royal parents. The colorfully clad ruler, who makes a strong contender for the title of the world's tallest king, was on a week's visit to Italy with his family.

Defense Rests Burkey Case

ANAMOSA (AP)—The jury is expected to get the murder case against Archie Burkey late this forenoon, court attaches said Thursday.

The defense rested Thursday after putting three medical men on the stand to finish its case. A defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal was overruled by District Judge Floyd Philbrick.

Dr. J. A. Kennedy, Iowa City, testified that Burkey, accused of fatally shooting his two-year-old son, was insane at the time he signed what the prosecution called a confession. This was dated Oct. 6, 1953.

He said his conclusions were based not only on the statements Burkey made at the time but also on his observations of Burkey. The observations showed psychiatric tendencies prevalent, Dr. Kennedy said. He added that there was organic brain damage before the crime was committed.

Hunt Prowler At Sioux City

SIoux CITY (AP)—Authorities in the Sioux City area continued their search Thursday night for a prowler while awaiting a report on laboratory tests of a blood stained knife which a Sioux City woman said she used to slash the intruder.

Mrs. Hazel Holder, about 40, told police she slashed the man when he tried to get into the back door of her home Wednesday night. Her husband was not at home at the time.

Thomas Corothers, city bacteriologist, said his tests of scrapings from the knife will be completed by this morning.

Police Chief James O'Keefe said the reported attack was one of several such incidents Mrs. Holder has told officers about in the past few months.
