Hancher: Don't Pick Careers Too Early

DES MOINES (AP)—SUI President Virgil M. Hancher, said Thursday that he opposes the policy used in England and France, of deciding at age 14 whether a child shall be a bricklayer or college graduate.

"In this country," he said, "we want to give the child more time to explore and find out what he can do and what he wants to do. Giving him more time results in more efficiency in our educational system."

Dr. Hancher spoke to the State Board of Regents in its discussion of the future of education with the Iowa Committee on Secondary School and College Relations. The committee accredits non-public high schools.

At the meeting in Des Moines, SUI top officials of Iowa State College and Iowa State Teachers College expressed belief that the schools should not arbitrarily limit the number of students they will accept despite the ever increasing enrollment.

Hancher called any such step "a mistake."

"We should go slow on any steps toward limiting enrollments," he said. "It could be the turning point in our history if we closed the doors of higher institutions to some of our students."

Four Airmen Saved from Stormy Sea

HONOLULU (AP)—Four of five airmen who parachuted into stormy seas 650 miles from land were picked up Wednesday night and early Thursday in a dramatic rescue which the Air Force termed "a miracle."

Eighteen planes and 17 ships searched calming seas east of Hawaii for the fifth airman from a stricken C119 Flying Boxcar which went down late Wednesday on a flight from the mainland to Hawaii.

The Navy Tender Floyds Bay, dashing 75 miles through 12-foot waves whipped by 28-mile winds, picked up two in the darkness last night and two more in the half light of dawn.

Search for Fifth
"Now that it's daylight we ought to find the fifth man soon," an Air Force spokesman said.

Rescued Wednesday night about five hours after they hit the water were Lt. Kenneth E. Whitney, navigator, Broderick, Calif., and Airman I-C. Harry W. Brinegar, flight engineer, Carleton, Neb.

Both were reported in good condition.

Then early Thursday, nearly 12 hours after disaster overtook the Flying Boxcar, the tender rescued Lt. Donald O. Nelson, pilot, Alexandria, Minn., and Lt. David N. Hibbard, copilot, Pasadena, Calif.

Radio Man Missing
The search went on for Airman 2-C, Jerry C. Caywood, radio operator, Cincinnati, Ohio.

The plane was one of two which took off from McClellan Air Force Base, Sacramento, Calif., for Hawaii. It was ferrying flight to Japan for the 1708th Ferrying Wing, based at Kelly AFB, San Antonio, Tex.

As darkness began to descend on the tossing Pacific, the lead plane received this message: "Unable to feather propeller and will have to bail out."

Lost in Clouds
The lead plane swung around, came up with its limping partner and escorted it downward until it was lost in the clouds.

"Tell the Air Force people to come and get me in the morning," Nelson said over the intercom as his plane vanished from sight.

One of the propellers of the twin-engine cargo plane was running wild. The crew knew that the bulky Flying Boxcar is one plane that cannot be ditched.

Jump at 1,500 Feet
The Navy said Brinegar told them that he got the forward escape hatch ready for the pilot and co-pilot, then he, Whitney and Caywood hit the silk at 1,500 feet. Their hope of rescue was a forlorn one in such weather.

Nelson and Hibbard put the doomed plane in a great circle and bailed out. The time was 6:45 p.m.

U.S., Britain Coax Israel, Egypt Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Britain made further moves Thursday to coax Israel and Egypt away from hostilities and into negotiations to settle their long dispute.

The State Department, taking President Eisenhower's Middle East policy declaration Wednesday as its text, laid down this rule:

"We would be strongly opposed to the side which starts a war and would be very favorably disposed to the side, which convinces us that it desires to maintain peace."

The department warned that war would be "utter folly."

The spokesman who issued this statement, Lincoln White, compared a British mediation offer made last night to peace proposals put forward Aug. 26 by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. He said there was a "close parallel."

The French, who guaranteed Middle East peace along with Britain and the United States five and a half years ago, did not appear prominently in the current picture.

Eisenhower's gesture indicated quickening British interest in the extremely edgy situation.

In New York Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett said Thursday his country would accept arms from any source if her survival were at stake.

Asked if the Soviet Union had offered to supply arms, Sharett told a news conference:

"I know of no offer from that side."

Czechoslovakia, a Moscow satellite, recently agreed to supply arms to Egypt, engaged in border warfare with Israel.

Sharett, here to seek U.S. arms for what he called Israel's legitimate self-defense said:

"If driven to a tight corner and our existence is at stake we will seek and accept arms from any source in the world."

He said he was "disconcerted" at a territorial reference in British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden's offer of his services to help resolve Israel-Arab differences.

Leaps Three Stories

WARREN MCCLINTOCK, a former Air Force sergeant, turns somersaults in a three-story leap from an apartment building in San Francisco Thursday. Police said that McClintock jumped following an argument with a neighbor. McClintock was reported in critical condition at a hospital with fractures of the right shoulder and hip and internal injuries.

Gets $147,000

ROY VAN AUSDAL, a nine-year-old boy from Connerville, Ind., who lost his right arm and left hand when the wheels of a train passed over him, won an out-of-court settlement Thursday for $147,000 from the New York Central railroad. The money will be put in trust for him.

Veterans Day Observances

All federal, state, county and city offices will be closed today in observance of Veterans Day. The Iowa City banks will also be closed.

Retail stores and schools will maintain regular hours.

The post office will make holiday collections, but windows in the building will be closed and no rural or city deliveries will be made with the exception of special delivery letters.

At Veterans Hospital, a special program is scheduled. Participating will be members of Iowa City veterans groups; hospital personnel and a representative of the Army.

Col. James A. Scott, head of the SUI military department, will deliver a talk on military preparedness at a ceremony in the hospital at 10 a.m.

Dr. L. E. Stillwell, hospital superintendent, will speak on "Reflections for Veterans."

A coffee hour will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. with the help of the American Veterans Auxiliary. The American Legion Auxiliary will assist the hospital staff in a recreational program at 7 p.m.

HITS MENTAL SERVICE

DES MOINES (AP)—Dr. H. C. Merillat, a Des Moines psychiatrist, Thursday told the Iowa Health Council that psychiatric service in state-operated mental health institutes "has decidedly deteriorated in the last 10 years."

Ike Passes Final Test; OK for Trip

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower passed an important, final medical check-up Thursday in "satisfactory" shape and he will leave today for Washington and a gala welcome home.

Seven weeks of hospitalization from a Sept. 24 heart attack will end for the chief executive at 9:20 a.m. (CST) today.

Forty minutes later he will take off for Washington.

Secretary Resigns
On the business side, the President accepted with "deepest regret" the resignation of his appointment secretary, Bernard M. Shanley, effective next Tuesday.

Reports have circulated that Shanley might run for governor of New Jersey in 1957. His letter of resignation mentioned only "Pressing personal problems" as the reason for quitting.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower will leave the hospital in a limousine and drive directly to Lowry Air Force Base and up to the 19-step ramp of the Columbine.

To Thank Nation

The President will pause on the sixth or seventh step of the ramp for an informal speech, and radio and television will carry his voice to the nation for the first time since his heart attack. He is expected to do little more than voice his thanks to all the millions of people who have wished him well and prayed for his recovery.

There will be another talk from the ramp in Washington when Eisenhower arrives there around 3 p.m. (CST).

Washington has set up a civic welcome for the returning chief executive, who left the capital Aug. 14 for a Colorado vacation.

Handshaking Banned

Vice-President Nixon, members of the Cabinet, diplomats and other dignitaries will be on hand at the Military Air Transport Service terminal. But a heavy round of handshaking for the President has been ruled out.

Some two-score civil and military organizations will have a role in the welcome home celebration. And for the benefit of people eager to see how the chief executive looks after his weeks in the hospital, he and Mamie will drive to the White House in a plastic-topped car.

Ray Anthony's Band At Fall Party Tonight

Bandleader Ray Anthony, nationally known as the "Young Man With a Horn," and his orchestra will play for the Autumn Nocturne dance tonight from 8 to 12 in the Main Lounge of Iowa Memorial Union.

The annual fall dance is sponsored by Central Party Committee. Tickets can still be purchased at the Union Information Desk for $3.25 per couple.

Now rated one of the top band-leaders in the country, Anthony was given his first important job in 1940 by the late Glenn Miller. At the time he was 18.

Formed in 1946
Upon discharge from the Navy in 1946, Anthony formed his present orchestra. Featured vocalists are Tommy Mercer, Marcie Miller and the Skyliners, vocal quintet.

Anthony's recording success proved a boon to the entire dance band business.

Among his biggest disc favorites have been his own musical creations such as "Mr. Anthony's Boogie," "Sky Coach," and "All Anthony and No Cleopatra," as well as his own recorded interpretations of such standards as "Darktown Strutters Ball," "Tenderly," and "I'll See You in My Dreams."

National Tour
Anthony is currently touring the country, appearing on television programs in addition to filling college engagements.

Al Waxenberg, A4, Davenport, president of Central Party Committee, will emcee intermission entertainment. The program will feature the Quad Quartette, a skit by Sigma Delta Tau sorority, and a song presentation by Kerin O'Kerlin, A2, Clarinda, and Billie Reeber, N2, Estherville.

BAGHDAD MEETING

GENEVA (AP)—Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan of Britain will fly next week to Baghdad for five-nation talks on the defense of the Middle East, aides reported Thursday. The meeting in the Iraqi capital will inaugurate the Ministerial Council of the Baghdad Alliance of Turkey, Iraq, Iran, Pakistan and Britain.

Molotov Rejects Ike's Disarmament Program

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov said Thursday night President Eisenhower's proposal for immediate U.S.-Russian exchange of military blueprints and reciprocal air inspection "would strengthen mutual distrust."

He told the Big Four conference the President had good intentions but his idea for quickly wiping out fear of surprise atomic attack would, instead, increase international tension. Molotov said the American proposal could only be considered in the final stage of world disarmament.

'Gloomy Atmosphere'
His statements increased the gloomy atmosphere of the conference, which has already failed to agree on European security and German reunification.

On the only other remaining point of their agenda—development of East-West contacts—an experts committee has made no substantial progress.

The foreign ministers will meet in private today to chart the final course of their negotiations, expected to conclude next Wednesday.

'General Reduction'
Molotov said his government would alter its "negative attitude" towards Eisenhower's "open skies" plan if the President's proposal were made part of a general reduction of armaments and prohibition of atomic weapons.

Molotov proposed to reach global disarmament in three stages, starting off with an immediate pledge by the Big Four powers "not to be the first to use atomic and hydrogen weapons against any country." This was Premier Nikolai Bulganin's idea at the summit conference in July.

Legion Commander Blasts UNESCO
WASHINGTON (AP)—National Commander J. Addington Wagner of the American Legion blasted UNESCO Thursday night as "the international sanctuary of impractical one-worlders, Red-tinged radicals, and apparently deserters from the ranks of loyal Americans."

Wagner denied, however, in a speech prepared for the Legion's District of Columbia Department, that the veterans organization proposed United States withdrawal from the United Nations agency at the recent Legion convention in Miami, Fla.

UNESCO, the United Nations Educational, Social and Cultural Organization, has been a target of key Legion officials although a Legion committee reported that accusations against UNESCO were unfounded.

Wins News Award
GENE INGLE, A4, Iowa City, former editor of The Daily Iowan, was awarded third place in the news writing division of the undergraduate journalistic competition of Sigma Delta Chi campus chapters. The award was announced Thursday at the professional journalism fraternity's national convention in Chicago.

Receive 161,000-Volt Power Line Shocks

TWO MEN WERE HOSPITALIZED Thursday when they came in contact with a 161,000 volt power line at a transmission sub station in Hills, Jim Peak, Rock Island, and Ray Judd, Davenport, were both burned and stunned, and two other workers slightly burned. All were part of a crew of Iowa-Indiana Gas and Electric Co. workers repairing the broken insulator shown in the foreground. Making an inspection at the scene is Ben Mortenson, superintendent of electrical transmission for the company.

The Student Parking Committee Thursday continued discussion of a plan to limit student parking on a geographic basis. The proposal was made at the committee's second open meeting last week.

The plan under consideration would mark off a roughly circular area around Old Capitol, dividing the city into inner and outer zones. Those students living in the inner zone would not be allowed to park in university lots, except the lot north of the Fieldhouse during school hours.

'Outer Zone'
Students living in the outer zone and any disabled student could park in any student lot at any time, except dormitory lots. Dormitory residents would have reserved parking in their own lots or in other nearby university lots, but would not be able to park in the general student lots.

Parking stickers would be issued to students at registration, a different colored sticker for each of the three main groups—dorm residents, inner zone students and outer zone students.

The committee proposed that a charge be made for the stickers, the proceeds going to improve university parking facilities. One of the improvements suggested by the committee was marking off individual parking spaces, so that people could be prevented from taking more than one parking space.

No Non-Students
Cooney said that all university parking lots would be closed to non-students if the plan is adopted, but was not able to say what arrangements would be made for University Hospitals employees. The committee expects to have the most trouble providing parking space in the hospital area, since the men's dorms, the hospital, and the fieldhouse must all share in the available parking facilities.

The committee decided to drop the shuttle bus plan which had been mentioned at the last meeting.

Perfect Circle Ousts CIO

HAGERSTOWN, Ind. (AP)—Employees of Perfect Circle Corp. at the main plant here and two small plants at nearby Richmond ousted the CIO United Auto Workers in National Labor Relations Board elections Thursday.

Almost 95 per cent of the eligible voters cast ballots. The vote against the union was 2-1 but closer at Richmond.

Perfect Circle is a major supplier of piston rings for the automotive industry.

The NLRB said the vote was 475 to 233 at Hagerstown, 138 to 96 at the Richmond machine plant and 45 to 35 at the Richmond sleeve casting plant.

The UAW has been on strike at the three plants and at Perfect Circle's New Castle foundry since July 25. The foundry was not involved in the decertification action.

The foundry was the scene of a demonstration Oct. 5 in which eight strikers and non-strikers were wounded by gunfire. Gov. George N. Craig called out the National Guard as a result of that riot and put the area under martial law for 10 days.

The plants have continued to operate during the strike with nonstriking workers.

Smashes 32 Parking Meters with Ball Bat

CATLETTSBURG, Ky. (AP)—Thirty-two parking meters were smashed here Tuesday night by someone wielding a baseball bat.

Charles Kelin Jr., 22, was arrested Wednesday and charged with destruction of public property.

Group Plans Student Parking For Parking

The Student Parking Committee Thursday continued discussion of a plan to limit student parking on a geographic basis. The proposal was made at the committee's second open meeting last week.

New Warning of Northeast Floods

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Weather Bureau Thursday warned of possible new floods in the Northeast, particularly parts of New York and New England.

It said moderate to heavy rains were spreading northward "and are expected to reach the southern New England coast before midnight."

A Partial Solution—

The Student Council Wednesday night gave full approval to a plan to restrict student parking on the SUI campus.

This plan was presented to the council Nov. 3 by Paul F. Barritt, E4, Council Bluffs. If put into practice it should do an excellent job of controlling parking on university lots.

However, it does not answer the really pressing problem of too many cars for the facilities which Iowa City can provide at the present time.

The proposal adopted by the council provides for dividing Iowa City into two zones. The first would be that area which is within easy walking distance of Old Capitol. The second would include the rest of the city. Students who own cars would fall into one area or the other on the basis of where they live.

Stickers would be issued to student car owners which would place them in one of the following categories:

1. Unrestricted—All handicapped students and students living outside the first zone would be allowed to park anywhere at any time.

2. Restricted—Housing area parking lots would be assigned by the housing unit on their own priority system. Residents with these stickers would be allowed to park only on the assigned lots.

3. Restricted—All students in university housing, who do not have stickers for housing area parking lots would be allowed to park only in Old Iowa Field.

4. For all students within the first zone living in private housing, no parking in university lots at any time.

Actually all this plan will do is set up a priority system for parking in university lots. Though no mention is made, we presume that faculty parking is to be retained as it is presently. This is as it should be.

Students will not be restricted in parking on city streets nor in city parking lots. We believe application of this plan will put an even greater load on street parking.

This plan will put an even larger burden on the university police who now patrol only the restricted faculty lots. However this additional load should not be prohibitive in time or manpower.

On the surface this plan sounds good. But it still doesn't cope with the real problem of a steady yearly increase in the number of student cars in Iowa City and the inability of both university and city officials to find more parking space fast enough to accommodate them.

A priority system for use of university parking lots makes good sense. But it should not be considered a solution to Iowa City's parking problem.

The solution to that problem is some means of reducing the influx of student cars into Iowa City. The only logical method to achieve this is to ban cars owned by single undergraduate students under 21 who have no physical disabilities.

"Can't be too careful, y'know."

Bad Planning Hampers Russian Construction

Ten Russian building experts recently came to the U.S. to find out not how but in what the other half lives, this side of the Iron Curtain. They all took notes and pictures and asked plenty of questions. However, when they in turn were asked a few they clammed up tighter than an attic trapdoor with a trunk on top. "How are you doing back in Russia?" they were asked.

IT WAS WASTED breath—and here's why: The floors, partitions, rafters, floor beams and other wooden parts of new houses in Russia are being made of green lumber. In new apartment houses in Moscow, Leningrad, Kirov and other cities, the floors warp in a couple of years. In Novgorod, chimneys began to crack and windowsills began crumbling "soon after" new houses were moved into. In charge of construction there is the provincial building materials administration, which moved into a brand new building. It wasn't long before the plaster started littering the bureaucrats' floors and the chimney showed the inevitable crack.

IN NOVOSIBERSK, an apartment was redone by a group of laborers. The work had been OK'd by a state commission; the roof was fixed up and plaster and the walls were painted. A month later, "the building could not be recognized." Why not? Somebody forgot the drain pipes. They were clogged up. Came the first rain, the water ran off the roof and down the walls, staining the blue paint with dirty lines and streaks of rust. As the newspaper Izvestia commented: "A mere detail!" Yet the administration officials, say disregard of this "detail" results in large state funds being thrown to the winds.

TAKE the little matter of bricks. The Russian visitors took out tape measures near Washington, D.C., and carefully noted the size of American bricks. However, at a construction project at Stalingrad last year, these finicky calculations would not have done any good. Bricks were unloaded by hand, each worker trying to grab as many as possible; most of the bricks were dropped and cracked. Consider rock and gravel, needed for foundation work. Big piles of rock lie around railroad spurs, often blocking trains. At one project, workers were seen loading rock into dump trucks while modern "belt" conveyors stood unused nearby.

GENERAL HOUSING planning often goes haywire. For instance, an order went out to builders in Novgorod that they couldn't construct anything except an eight-family, two-story structure. There was another regulation, however, that these two-story affairs couldn't be built on the main streets, for what reason nobody knows. Result: the houses were built in the outskirts where there weren't any roads or sewers or water mains.

IN SARATOV, where the Volga river flows by, every day, water taps in houses were gurgling feebly. Izvestia blasted the city's planners with a refrain of "water, water everywhere..." "One of the worst things about Russian housing is that the builders sometimes let their sense of proportion run riot. (See cartoon.) This applies even to the big earth moving machines that dig foundations. Last year they came up with a beaut that looked like an attempt to prove that Russian dirt is the cleanest in the world. They brought out equipment with whitewall tires!

Tension Returns as Russia Changes Tune

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The world has now returned to an atmosphere of even greater foreboding and tension than existed before this year's two big peace conferences at Geneva.

By deed in the Middle East and by word at Geneva Russia has revived the old Western slogan, "You can't do business with the Communists."

You can bet your bottom dollar the Western diplomats are not as shocked and surprised as they appear to be. If they were, they would be unworthy of their positions.

The foreign ministers conference was never expected to produce much. It was expected to prolong at least for a time the "Geneva spirit," and allow for continued negotiations. Now these appear futile, with Molotov's sudden statement that Germany will be reunited only under Communist terms.

The one great by-product of the meeting from the Western standpoint, is to demonstrate to the Germans that Russia's attitude toward them is completely self-seeking.

There is also the demonstration that a positive program of expansion, not fear of aggression by a revived Germany, is the chief factor of Russian policy. This is newly apparent in the Middle East as well as in Middle Europe.

It seems strange, however, that Russia should drop so suddenly her campaign of sweetness and light and the facade of what she calls "cooperation for peace." Only last Monday she was playing all the stops on this theme.

Justice Warren Faces Hard Decision If Ike Doesn't Run

WASHINGTON—Chief Justice Earl Warren could be confronted by about the toughest personal decision in political history if President Eisenhower does not seek re-election and support for the GOP nomination starts snowballing for the former California governor and vice-presidential nominee.

No chief justice ever has resigned to bid for the presidency, although one was willing to do so. The Founding Fathers in the Constitutional Convention made it clear that they conceived of the head of the judiciary as of equal stature with the chiefs of the executive and legislative branches.

It is true that Charles Evans Hughes resigned from the highest court in 1916 to become the unsuccessful Republican standard bearer against Woodrow Wilson but he was only an associate justice at the time, having given up the New York governorship in 1910 to accept President Taft's appointment.

THERE IS NO law which says that a chief justice or associate must resign to run for high public office, but Hughes probably set a precedent when he immediately did so.

No chief justice since John Marshall, except Salmon P. Chase, has considered the office anything but the highest public calling in the land for a man in his line.

Chase in 1872 made an unsuccessful bid for the Democratic nomination. He had been named by President Lincoln in 1864 and served as head of the highest bench until 1873.

WARREN HAS said he wishes no further elective office, but somehow many people will not take "no" for an answer when the presidency is concerned. Moreover, he had an auspicious start on the court and his leadership there of diverse intellectual groups among the jurists has won great respect. He gets right in and digs on the grueling job of writing decisions, preparing more than his fair share.

The Chief Justiceship is a job replete with honor, dignity, and significance, yet far from the strains and stresses of the presidency. Marshall's 34 years set the record for length of tenure. The pay for such top spots in the nation is hardly comparable, but even on that score Warren probably comes out at least as well as he would in the White House. He became chief justice at $25,000 per year and if he takes a retirement available to him as a longtime California office holder, he may be eligible for as much as $18,000 addition in 1956.

THE PRESIDENT "makes" $100,000 a year, plus a $50,000 expense allowance, but after taxes, the upkeep of the 30 domestics he has to pay out of his own pocket, the extraordinary personal expenses he is bound to encounter, and incidentals he may do well to make as much as the chief justice.

It is only in comparatively recent times that the two highest offices have drawn somewhat together. Taft is the only one of 33 presidents who ever served as one of the 14 chief justices and that was after he occupied the White House.

Probably every chief justice has figured in the early speculations of one or more presidential races, but no full scale movements ever shaped up. In fact, Warren already may enjoy the distinction of being mentioned more seriously and purposefully in that connection than any predecessor.

Red Schoolboys At American Party

MOSCOW (AP)—John Benton, 13, gave a party Thursday for four Russian schoolmates who came to John's room at the National Hotel to eat cookies and drink fruit water. It was probably the first affair of its kind since the beginning of the cold war.

The host, who is the son of former Democratic Sen. William Benton of Connecticut, has been going to a Russian school an hour daily for two weeks. He has quit now, however, since he is leaving Moscow Saturday for Warsaw, Budapest, Prague and home.

The host gave his guests postcard views of America as souvenirs.

EXPECT MORE CORN

DES MOINES (AP)—Iowa probably will harvest a 1955 corn crop about 32 million bushels larger than was expected a month ago. The new total was set at 492,062,000 bushels Thursday by the Iowa Crop Reporting Service. The estimate as of Nov. 1 also upped the outlook for the per acre yield from 43 bushels as of Oct. 1 to 46 bushels per acre.

Hattier Hats For Holidays

Holiday hats will be as gay as the ornaments on the Christmas tree this year — and just as important in the festive scene.

The new slim silhouettes give added emphasis to hats in the current fashion picture — and the bareheaded girl will look strictly out-of-date in the holiday lineup.

Milliners of both New York and Paris interpret the bulkier silhouette in various ways, as demonstrated at a recent showing of holiday hats by the millinery industry.

The peach basket shape is interpreted by Claude St. Cyr, of Paris, in a dramatic hat with black transparent petals forming the brim, and a tiny blue satin crown. The same milliner shows striking deep cloche of stitched yellow satin banded with brown velvet, worn pulled on the head and almost covering all the hair. In the spirit of the holiday gaiety is John Frederick's small white satin pillbox in Empress Eugenie style with a point on the forehead, and a large jeweled ornament front and center.

Also prominent among the current headlines are many versions of the Oriental turban, many little pastel satin sailors, modern adaptations of the Turkish fez and white hats.

Second Youth Dies In Hay Ride Crash

ELGIN, Ill. (AP) — A 14-year-old girl became the second fatality Wednesday of a road mishap involving a tractor-drawn hay wagon laden with 40 high school merry-makers and an auto.

The driver of the auto, Charles Payne, of Fox River Grove, has been charged with reckless homicide.

Dorothy Warren To Become Bride

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another daughter of Chief Justice and Mrs. Earl Warren is to become a bride.

The jurist and his wife announced today that Dorothy, 24, is engaged to Dr. Carmine D. Clemente of Los Angeles. The wedding will be in California during the Christmas holidays.

Another of the Warrens' three daughters, 22-year-old Nina or (Honey Bear) was married Nov. 1 to Dr. Stuart Brien, a Beverly Hills, Calif., obstetrician.

D. Clemente, 21, Dorothy's fiance, holds a Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania. He is a native Philadelphian and now teaches anatomy at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Dorothy has been working in the UCLA medical center since her graduation there in 1954.

A third Warren daughter, Virginia, 27, remains single. The three attractive girls were attention getters at the 1948 Republican National Convention when Warren tried for the presidential nomination and accepted the vice-presidential nomination under Thomas E. Dewey.

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER — Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!

Hawks Conclude Drills; Leave For Columbus

Condensed From Associated Press Dispatches

A'S DIDN'T PEEK — Manager Lou Boudreau of the Kansas City Athletics Thursday scoffed at rumors the A's used a surveyor's telescope in the bullpen to steal signals from opposing teams last summer. "I didn't know about it if it was done," said Boudreau, "and I don't see how it could have been done without my knowledge."

SAXTON AGAIN — Johnny Saxton appeared to be in line today for another shot at the welterweight championship he once held. Saxton, who defeated Ralph (Tiger) Jones Wednesday night in Oakland, Calif.

CYCLONE INJURED — Marv Walter, first string Iowa State fullback, will be out of the Cyclone lineup for the rest of the season, it was learned Thursday. Walter suffered a back injury against Nebraska last week, and it was diagnosed as a fractured vertebra.

IVY TO MOVE UP? — Madison, Wis., newspapers Thursday predicted that Ivy Williamson, Wisconsin football coach, would take over the athletic directorship vacated by the death of Guy Sundt. Sundt died suddenly last week. The papers also said that Badger linecoach Milt Bruhn would take over as head coach.

TRIPPI RETURNS — Charley Trippi, veteran Chicago Cardinals halfback, will return to action Sunday when the Cards play Green Bay. Trippi has been out of the lineup since a pre-season exhibition game, when he suffered severe facial injuries.

GAER WORRIED — Drake university football coach Warren Gaer, worried about Wichita's backfield speed, polished Bulldog defenses Thursday in a last-minute preparation for Saturday's season-ending game.

PURNHAGE & BAIN — William G. (Perk) Purnhage and Jim Bain, former eastern Iowa sports promoters, will serve as general manager and business manager, respectively, for the Montgomery, Ala., baseball team next year. Purnhage and Bain previously had worked for Davenport and Clinton professional baseball teams.

DRAKE HALFBACK — Buford Waterhouse, Drake university's junior halfback, has the highest pass-catching average in the nation, according to NCAA statistics. Waterhouse has caught nine passes for 326 yards and five touchdowns, an average gain of 36.2 yards.

Evy Develops New Twists For Offense

Iowa's football team donned sweat suits for the second time this week as it added refinements to its already complex offense in Thursday's practice. The team will leave for Columbus early this morning.

Coach Forest Evashevski carefully worked over the Hawkeye multiple offense system in preparation for Iowa's last Big Ten game Saturday at Columbus, O. The Hawks also worked without pads Monday.

Because Ohio State is the statistical offense leader in the conference besides being the first place club, Evashevski drilled just about as much on defense. The Buckeyes lead the league in three departments: points, 30.5 per game; total yardage, 331.3; and rushing yardage, 313.

Iowa left halfback Earl Smith, a letterman now playing with the second platoon, reported a minor injury to his knee in practice this week. He was relieved by Eidean Matheson for much of Thursday's practice. However, Smith will probably be ready by Saturday.

Evashevski has expressed difficulty in trying to defense Ohio State's ground power. A major problem is that of halting Big Ten leader Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy's runs around the ends.

But the inside man, right halfback Jim Roseboro, has a 6.1 yardage average, slightly better than Cassidy's. Both have gained more on the ground than Iowa's top runner, halfback Eddie Vincent.

Iowa will probably start the same eleven that opened last week's game. The second platoon, also free from injuries, is slated to see much action Saturday.

Healthy Buckeyes In Hard Practice

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — For the first time since the start of October, Ohio State football Coach Woody Hayes this Saturday will have his original starting backfield for the kickoff here against Iowa.

That means the virtually injury-free Buckeyes will line up with Frank Ellwood at quarterback, All-America Hop Cassidy and Jerry Harkrader at the halves, and Don Vicic at fullback.

The Bucks worked hard Thursday for an hour and 20 minutes, and Hayes said they know "they're in for a ball game against Iowa."

Stunt, Tumbling Club Open to SUI Women

The Women's Recreational Association (WRA) stunts and tumbling club will hold the first of 16 semi-weekly meetings Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. in the Women's Gymnasium of the Fieldhouse.

The club, open to all SUI women, has no dues and is organized to promote interest in gymnastics among women.

Pat Stafford, N2, Clinton, president, said Thursday that about 25 women have signed up for the Tuesday and Thursday meetings. The club will meet for eight weeks on those days.

Tuesday's meeting will be devoted to the explanation of the apparatus used by the club. Exercises on the trampoline, parallel bars, in tumbling, on the rings, side horse and in vaulting are practiced by the women.

During the season, men from the SUI gymnastic team will give demonstrations and instructions on the apparatus.

Laura Wittekind is secretary-publicity chairman of the club and the adviser is Helen Bladon, women's physical education instructor at SUI.

Upper 'A' In Tight Victory In I-M Loop

Barry Braack's 25 yard touchdown run with 2 1/2 minutes left in the game gave Quad Upper A a 13-6 victory in a quarter-final round Quadrangle League intramural touch football playoff game over Upper B Thursday afternoon.

touchdown with a dash from his own 18 to the "B" 15 yard line late in the first half. Leigh Goff's fourth down pass to Estel Mills who made a lunging catch in the end zone gave "A" a 6-0 lead with only one minute left in the first half. Goff's pass was batted down in the extra point attempt.

Halftime score: Upper A 6, Upper B 0.

Upper B had a fine opportunity to score midway in the first half. Goff's punt squirted off the side of his foot while he was kickling from his own goal line. The ball rolled only to the 15 yard line.

However, the best that "B" could do was to advance the ball to the six yard line.

Then with only four minutes remaining in the game, the sputtering "B" passing attack clicked. Vince Barton sent a long looping pass to Bob Ennis who took it on the "A" 10 and went the rest of the way for a touchdown. The play covered 35 yards.

"A" came right back when Estel Mills returned the kickoff to the 30 and two plays later, Braack scored the winning touchdown.

Payseur Out As NU Director of Athletics

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Northwestern University Thursday announced a reorganization plan for its athletic department in which Ted Payseur was dropped as athletic director and named assistant business manager.

The plan was announced by President J. Roscoe Miller after consultation with the Faculty Athletic Committee and with university administrative officers.

Dr. Miller said no successor to Payseur has been named but he will continue to serve as athletic director until the Faculty Athletic Committee makes recommendations for a new director.

"Northwestern has no intention of withdrawing from the Big Ten in any sport in which we now compete," Miller said today. "The reorganization requires a new director of athletics who will be free to evolve a program consistent with membership in the Western Conference. Responsibility as to all personnel in the athletic department will be in the hands of the new director."

Under the new program, Payseur will supervise general promotion, advertising and ticket sales for athletic events. In this capacity he joins the administrative staff as assistant business manager, Miller said.

An editorial in the campus newspaper, which came out following a 49-0 defeat by Ohio State, pointed out that Northwestern had won only one Big Ten football game in three years and contended the school was not able to compete with Western Conference teams.

Bob Voigts was fired as football coach last year and was succeeded by Lou Saban who was given a one-year contract.

Northwestern has lost all seven of its football games this year, including five to conference opponents.

A's Johnson Wants Pro Football Team

CHICAGO (AP) — Arnold Johnson, who is satisfied he is making progress with his Kansas City Athletics, said Thursday he also would be interested in buying a National Football League franchise for Kansas City.

The Chicago industrialist said he didn't have any particular pro football club in mind, but would buy "on the proper basis."

It was rumored previously the Chicago Cardinals were eyed by Johnson, but Walter Wolfner, managing director of the Cards, said the club will stay in Chicago.

Johnson said he has not made any offers for a football club, but that he was convinced Kansas City was "ready for big league football, just as it was for big league baseball."

The pro football team would play in Kansas City Municipal stadium which is the home of the A's.

"It's perfect for football," Johnson said. As for the baseball A's, Johnson said "re-subscription" of season tickets has reached the 60 per cent mark of last year. He said Kansas City fans realize the club needs considerable rebuilding and that he is directing every effort towards this goal.

West Virginia Faces Pitt In Showdown Tilt

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — West Virginia's unbeaten and untied football team will get a major bowl bid—probably the Sugar Bowl—early next week if it can whip powerful Pitt in Saturday's traditional head-bashing at Pittsburgh.

This was the reliable information here Thursday as the Mountaineers, the country's offense leaders with an average of 436 yards and 34.1 points a game, tapered off for their 60,000 sell-out battle with their old anthracite rivals.

West Virginia officials, including the crusty coach, Art (Pappy) Lewis, were non-committal on bowl feelers but didn't hesitate to extol the virtues of their unheralded team which has swept past seven foes this season.

"We may get our brains kicked in by Pittsburgh but that won't mean we haven't got a fine ball club," said Lewis, son of a West Virginia miner himself and one of the game's top recruiters and tacticians.

Huge Balloon Falls On Iowa Farm

CHEROKEE, Iowa (AP) — A giant weather balloon, which when deflated covered an area about the size of a football field, came to earth Thursday on the Clarence Bengtson farm seven miles northwest of Cherokee.

The balloon, sent aloft by the U.S. government at Minneapolis, was laden with costly instruments.

In accordance with a note attached to the balloon, Bengtson notified the weather station at Minneapolis. He also notified Sheriff Carl Schiefel who put a guard on the balloon pending arrival of federal authorities.

The balloon, made of plastic cloth, required six men to lift it over a fence and fold it up.

Kills Wife, Hangs Self

CHEROKEE, Iowa (AP) — Ernest P. Kniese, 44-year-old Hartley farmer, who last week was indicted for murder in the slaying of his wife, hanged himself at the Cherokee State Mental Health Institute Thursday. He was undergoing psychiatric examination at the institution.

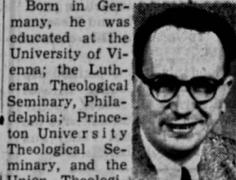

Dr. Willard C. Brinegar, superintendent of the institute, said the body of Kniese was discovered at 5:45 a.m. in the room where he was confined.

Cherokee county coroner, Dr. G. E. Bunker, listed the death as a suicide.

On November 1 Kniese had gone to the home of Sheriff Jake Mulder at Pringhar and said he killed his wife. He told of choking her to death on a country road while a 6-year-old daughter watched. An O'Brien country grand jury subsequently indicted Kniese for murder. A county sanity commission had ordered the tests at Cherokee.

The Rev. Mr. Forell was ordained a Lutheran minister in 1941 and was pastor of three churches in New York and New Jersey and an associate professor at Gustavus Adolphus College before coming to SUI in 1954.

Now teaching a course in the Protestant Faith, the Rev. Mr. Forell has published books dealing with Martin Luther's doctrine, Luther's social ethics, and an introduction to Christian ethics.

The petition blanks were obtained by Millard Carlisle, Cunningham's administrative assistant.

Cunningham is the first of the eight Iowa Republican members of the national House to thus declare themselves for re-election. However, all of the others are expected to follow suit.

Shortage of Labor Seen For Future

(Special to The Daily Iowan)
DES MOINES — Population forecasts for the next 20 years indicate a possible shortage of the labor supply in the United States, Prof. Harold Saunders of SUI told members of the Iowa Welfare Association here Thursday.

Saunders is chairman of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology.

Instead of expecting a population of 221 million for the United States in 1975 as the United States Census Bureau predicted two or three years ago, the bureau now forecasts a population somewhat in excess of 228 million 20 years from now, Saunders said, citing a newly-released report.

The revised forecast was brought about by the continued high birth rate, Saunders explained. Though statisticians had expected the birth rate to recede downward, the birth rate is still almost as high as it was during the peak period following World War II.

But while the total population will be increasing, the percentage of that population in the economically productive or earning ages will rise more slowly than will the percentage in the unproductive ends of the age scale — those under 21 and over 65, Saunders said.

This means, he said, that employers will have to turn to two main reservoirs for workers — women between 45 and 65, and both men and women beyond 65. Research shows, that older workers are superior for jobs requiring patience, skill, judgment and cooperation with other employees, Saunders said.

SUI Prof. Tells Rotary Club Of Ride in Atom Submarine

Modern United States submarines are faster, can submerge deeper, and are more maneuverable, and more destructive than any other submarine that was ever manufactured, Prof. Samuel M. Fahr of the SUI College of Law told the Rotary Club Thursday.

Fahr, who is a Commander in Navy Reserve, served in World War II on a submarine. He recently returned from a trip on Nautilus, the first U.S. atomic-powered sub.

Fahr explained the advanced features of Nautilus and Albacore, and compared these two submarines to the ones America had during World War II.

Overcome Problems "Albacore and Nautilus have overcome the greatest problems faced in submarine construction," he said.

"The unlimited power supply obtained by thermo-reactor (atomic power plant), can drive the sub faster under water, than above."

Both of these submarines are experimental ones, Fahr said. The Nautilus has an atomic power-plant, but the hull design is fashioned after the World War II models.

23 Miles an Hour The Albacore is not an atomic sub, but its hull construction is very advanced and it is reported that it can reach speeds greater than Nautilus.

The disclosed speed of Nautilus is 20 knots (about 23 miles an hour), and the top speed of the sub is not known, Fahr said.

Nine knots was the average submerged speed of a World War II submarine.

Both of the submarines, Fahr said, run very quietly and can submerge very deep.

"There is not a known vessel that could catch them," Fahr added.

He reported that the modern submarines are provided with superior weapons of guided missile type with or without atomic warheads.

Many Uses The radar that was used to locate enemy ships from a submarine in World War II has now become obsolete, Fahr said.

The use of a submarine is many fold, Fahr said. They serve as troop carriers, can be used to carry fuel for airplane refueling, and as defense against enemy subs.

"The interior of a submarine is a very important part," Fahr explained. Sailors have to live together in a limited space for long periods of time, and the interior decoration is important for their mental condition."

In the Nautilus different quarters of the submarine are decorated in different styles and colors, and this relaxes the sailor as he walks from one place into the other.

"They even have a ping pong table on Nautilus," Fahr said.

$2,500 Reward Offered in Fatal Plane Explosion

CHICAGO (AP)—United Air Lines Thursday offered a $25,000 reward "for information leading to the arrest of a person or persons responsible for the crash of a United plane near Longmont, Colo., Nov. 1.

Forty-four persons were killed in the crash.

W. A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines, called the explosion "completely foreign to the aircraft or to operations in the airline industry."

Canoeing in November

Expect Adlai To Announce On Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai Stevenson indicated Thursday he plans to announce his candidacy for the 1956 Democratic presidential election Tuesday.

Stevenson, the 1952 candidate, confirmed on a stop-over here that he will disclose his intentions in Chicago Tuesday. That would be just before a meeting in Washington of the Democratic National Committee and party state chairman, STEVENSON.

His expected announcement would put him officially into a nomination race he already is regarded as leading.

One of those who may try to defeat him, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, was said by friends to be ready to announce in the next week or so that he also is running.

Stevenson said he expects to confer with the Tennessee senator next week in Chicago before a $100-a-plate party dinner at which both will be speakers, along with former President Truman and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, another 1956 Democratic possibility.

'Aristocratic' Turkeys Shun Contest Challenge

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—Gov. Robert B. Meyner has turned down a challenge to match New Jersey against Illinois in the "1956 heavy-turkey contest."

Meyner said Illinois turkeys are just too big and rough for the likes of New Jersey's aristocratic breed.

On top of that, the governor said, the Garden State gobblers couldn't win.

Meyner turned down a challenge from Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois, sponsor of the contest along with the Illinois Turkey Growers' Association.

In a tongue-in-cheek letter, Meyner told Stratton, "New Jersey looks coldly upon your boast that, unless the monsters you are feeding break out of their corral, Illinois is likely to run away with the competition. Our turkeys regard mere brawn with as much disdain as a duchess looking at bugs."

The Democratic governor continued: "With a lineage dating back 300 years to the days of Charles II, our turkeys have an aristocratic tradition. Their flowing lines and graceful contours might have been designed by Michaelangelo. Their feathers are by Christian Dior; their crests by Lily Dache; perfume by Huhndt.

"When the state of Illinois was still a godforsaken prairie, our turkeys were being eaten by President George Washington, by Secretary of State Thomas Jefferson and, if we must name a member of your party, by Secretary of the Treasury Alexander Hamilton.

"Why should a bird which has played so brilliant a role in American history, and whose fastidious qualities are well known to all connoisseurs, enter the ring with such gobblers-comelately as the overgrown ruffians of Illinois?"

"Having now made these snobbish excuses, I must frankly say that New Jersey turkeys are designed to fit into small ovens. Which means we couldn't win."
