Pope Had Vision of Christ, Vatican Says

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican said Monday it is true Pope Pius XII had a vision of Jesus Christ during his illness last winter.

A brief announcement from the office of Vatican press director Luciano Casimiri said:

"This press office has been authorized to confirm what has been announced by the weekly illustrated Oggi in its issue of Nov. 24 about the vision of the Holy Father in the course of his illness of December 1954."

The current issue of Oggi, a picture magazine of wide circulation which appeared on newsstands last Friday, said the vision occurred when the Pope's illness reached a climax — on Dec. 2, 1954 — and he was reciting the prayer "Anima Christi (Soul of Christ)".

Oggi said:

"The secret about the episode was kept until now and only the affectionate indiscretion of one of those knowing it enabled us to learn and tell of the marvelous episode. . . ,

No Dream

"The Holy Father is perfectly sure he saw Jesus — it was no dream; in that moment he was fully awake and clear-minded."

It said that when the pontiff came to the invocation of the prayer, "in horas mortis meas, voca me (in the hour of my death, call me)," the Pope saw "the sweet person of Jesus Christ at his bedside."

"In that moment," Oggi continued, "the Holy Father believed that the Teacher came to call him to Himself and, serenely answering to the call, he continued the prayer: 'Jube me venire ad te (order me to come to You).' Jesus, however, did not come to take him, but to console him and give him certainty that his hour had not yet come."

It was from that moment, said Oggi, that the Pope "started to improve in such a sudden manner that many people considered it a miracle."

No Precedent

A member of the Vatican Congregation of Holy Rites, the church agency concerned with beatification and canonization, said he could recall no such reported vision since Jesus appeared to St. Peter when the apostle was fleeing persecution of early Christians in Rome.

Roman Catholic writings tell of the appearance of Christ — usually as the Infant Jesus — to various saints, among them St. Anthony of Padua and St. Christopher.

The 79-year-old Pope still is at his summer residence at Castel Gandolfo and is to return to the Vatican at the end of this week.

Evy Denies Report He'll Leave Iowa

Iowa Coach Forest Evashevski said Monday he "never heard" of Gregg McBride, Omaha World-Herald sports writer who said in an article Monday that Evashevski is among those "to be considered" for the Nebraska coaching job to replace Bill Glassford who resigned Friday.

"I'm flattered to be considered for the job but I feel the same now as I did in 1948 when I was an assistant coach at Michigan State and turned down an offer from Nebraska," he said.

Evashevski was offered Glassford's job in 1948, but said Monday that he had not received an offer from Nebraska for the current position opening when Glassford retires in June.

The Iowa coach repeated a statement he has made nearly every week this season. "I have no intention of leaving Iowa. I have no ambition to move. I like it here."

Evy also said that he wants to give Iowa a "winner" and will "finish my coaching career at Iowa."

SUCCESSOR FIRED

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — Al Kircher, who replaced Iowa Coach Forest Evashevski at Washington State College four years ago, was fired Monday night along with two of his assistants, line coach Mike Scarry and end coach Dale Gentry. Evashevski was not available for comment.

Teenagers Admit Setting 2 Fires

Deputy Sheriff Donald L. Wilson said Monday that four teenage boys have admitted setting fire to two abandoned farm houses which burned recently in the North Liberty area.

The admissions were made in signed statements, Wilson said.

The names of the youths were not disclosed pending further investigation. County Atty. William M. Tucker said no arrests have yet been made and no charges filed against the four boys.

Officials of the state fire marshal's office have been investigating the fires, since the second occurred last week on the A. C. Chipman farm, near Oakdale.

The first fire was Nov. 10, when an unoccupied house on the Leo Tesar farm near North Liberty burned to the ground.

See Readings In 70's Today

The collision of a storm center over northern Wyoming and cooler air moving eastward across the middle of the nation gave Iowa another day of mild temperatures Monday.

The weather bureau forecasts unseasonably high temperatures for Iowa City today. Highs were expected to reach the 70s, with a low tonight of 40.

But the weatherman warned Iowans not to put away their overshoes, because a cold front and low pressure system is moving toward Iowa from the northeast and may bring snow and rain with it.

The Des Moines Weather Bureau said the cold probably would reach western Iowa this morning, followed by snow in the northeast and rain in the Iowa City area tonight and Wednesday.

Meanwhile, temperatures in state continued to climb Monday, with Iowa City reporting a high of 49. Low here was an early morning reading of 22.

Committee To Urge Parking On Iowa Field

By JAMES FLANSBURG

Old Iowa Field, the areas north and south of the Iowa Field House and an area just south of the Hydraulics Laboratories will be requested as parking areas in the final report of the Student Council committee on student parking.

In a meeting Monday, the committee agreed to recommend that the Old Iowa football field (now a band practice field); half of the area north of the Fieldhouse; half of the tennis courts south of the Fieldhouse, and a vacant area south of the Hydraulics Laboratories all be opened to parking.

James Cooney, G, Washington, D.C., chairman of the committee, said that the recommendation would be a part of the general plan which was proposed by Paul F. Barritt, E4, Council Bluffs.

Restricted Area Plan

Present plans of the committee call for an inscribed line on the map of Iowa City, dividing the city into two areas. The line will be a square surrounding areas which are within walking distance of the campus.

The plan then proposes that three different types of stickers be used.

1. Unrestricted — All handicapped students and students living outside the square would be allowed to park anywhere at any time.

2. Restricted — Housing area parking lots such as the Quadrangle would be assigned by the housing unit on their own priority system with only holders of these stickers allowed in these lots. The holders of these stickers would not be allowed in other university parking areas.

3. Restricted—All students in university housing who do not have sticker number two, would be allowed to park only in Old Iowa Field.

The square, which includes all dormitories, most fraternities, Currier Hall and surrounding sororities, will not include Stadium Park and Finkbine Park.

More Parking for Quad

Present plans provide for the parking area requested north of the Fieldhouse to be a part of the Quadrangle parking lot. Half of the tennis courts south of the Fieldhouse will be used for persons attending classes in the Fieldhouse.

The area south of the Hydraulics Laboratories would be used for the anticipated overflow of cars from Hillcrest. It was believed by the committee that most of Hillcrest parking could be in the area just north of the dormitory.

As the plans now stand, married students, if they live within the square, are included, Cooney said.

Planning Stage

Cooney said all developments are still in the planning stage. He said that final approval rested with the university administration and that it was a long involved process before any plan would be submitted for approval.

The university parking committee has approved the council committee's approach to the problem, he said, but nothing is final.

Library To Remain Open Until 2 a.m.

The SUI library will be open until 2 a.m. every night except Saturday, beginning Nov. 28, Ralph Ellsworth, director of the University Libraries announced Monday.

This new ruling will go into effect on an experimental basis.

Ellsworth said that a survey of student opinion conducted by the SUI Student Council's library committee brought requests for additional study hours. The questionnaires were sent to about 1500 students, he said.

"This is an experiment," Ellsworth said. "We want to see how it will work out."

The library now closes at midnight.

Individualist

Evaded Income Tax But Is Freed

DES MOINES (AP) — A Muscatine grocer who was described by a psychiatrist as "a rugged individualist" won probation Monday in an income tax evasion case.

SCHMELZER

Federal Judge William F. Riley, in deciding that George W. Schmelzer, 54, Muscatine grocery store owner, should not go to prison, relied in part on a psychiatric report.

The judge specified a $7,200 fine and 2½ year probation. Schmelzer had pleaded no defense to charges that he evaded payment of $7,233 in federal income taxes over a four-year period.

A report by Dr. Wilbur R. Miller, medical director of the Iowa psychopathic hospital, said Schmelzer had no signs of mental disease but is "somewhat of a unique person."

Self Made Man

The report called him "a rugged individualist," and a "self-made man," and commented: "His virtues seem to be altogether rare these days."

Dr. Miller said it appeared "inconsistent with his nature" for Schmelzer to have "planned to defraud the government."

Own Accounting Method

Schmelzer's attorney said his client has "his own way of accounitng." Judge Riley replied on this point that "if every citizen made out his income tax return by his own rules, you can see the confusion that would result. . ."

Schmelzer is known as Muscatine's "No. I honorary fireman" and has gone to every fire of importance in Muscatine the last 25 years, his attorney said.

Officials Doubtful Of Parking Solution

SUI Dean of Men L. Dale Faunce and Ray Phillips, superintendent of the University physical plant, said Monday in a discussion on radio station WSUI that it is doubtful that SUI will ever find enough parking space.

Faunce and Phillips said that even though the parking facilities of the university have been increased nearly 350 per cent since 1950, the problem has not been alleviated.

Phillips advocated a restriction on the number of students allowed to operate cars. However, the panel could not agree that this was the answer.

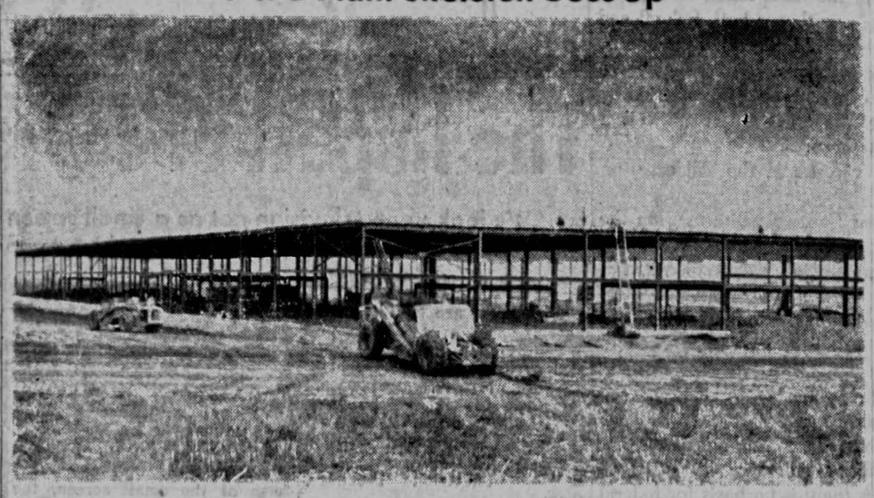
P & G Plant Skeleton Goes Up



THE STEEL SUPERSTRUCTURE of the new Procter and Gamble plant, at this stage in construction Monday, should be completed in six weeks. The plant, 208 feet wide and 554 feet long, is located on a 73 acre site on Lower Muscatine Road. Procter and Gamble will employ about 200 people in the local plant and the annual payroll will total about $1 million.

C of C Sets Christmas Store Hours

Iowa City retail stores will remain open until 9 p.m. seven nights during the Christmas shopping season, Keith Kafer, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce said Monday.

Stores will remain open Monday and Thursday nights until Christmas. Monday dates include Dec. 5, 12 and 19. Thursday dates are Dec. 1, 8, 15 and 22.

"Most retail stores that sell Christmas items will take part in the program," Kafer said.

Gunman Kills Stewardess

SEATTLE (AP) — A stewardess, standing at the door of a United Air Lines plane welcoming passengers aboard, was shot to death here Monday night.

Sally Shedd, 25, of Seattle died en route to a hospital.

After pumping "three or four shots" into the stewardess at Seattle-Tacoma International Airport, Miss Shedd's unidentified assailant walked calmly back down the ramp and shot himself, the King County sheriff's office said.

The sheriff's office said the gunman was "in bad shape" at a hospital.

Miss Shedd, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Shedd of San Francisco, joined United as stewardess in July, 1952.

The hospital identified the man brought from the airport as Robert Clendenin of Salt Lake City.

In Salt Lake City, Clendenin's father, Beverly S. Clendenin, an attorney, said this was very "sudden" to him.

His son met Miss Shedd last summer when she was a bridesmaid at the wedding of a fraternity brother, he said, and "saw her a few times after that."

Chest Drive Tops Goal by $1,000

For the first time since 1948, Iowa City has met its Community Chest goal.

Contributions turned in Monday put the 1955 total at $36,692.51, almost $1,000 over the goal of $35,772, drive chairman John H. Graham reported. The 4-day collection campaign ended Nov. 5 but the fund total has increased steadily since, as late contributions came in.

Prof. Robert F. Ray, president of the Chest board, said "Graham did a wonderful job in conducting this year's drive."

Graham said "the coverage was as complete as possible. Everyone did his job well."

The 11 agencies receiving the funds are:

Visiting Nurse Association, $10,000; Girl Scouts, $9,118; Boy Scouts, $9,000; Salvation Army, $1,600; United Service Organization, $1,464; Iowa Children's Home Society, $1,000; Children's Milk Fund, $700; Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, $168.66; American Social Hygiene Agency, $99; Multiple Sclerosis Foundation, $41.91, and Travelers Aid, $28.

High Court To Rule On Security Firing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court agreed Monday to rule on whether President Eisenhower exceeded congressional authority in extending the federal employe security program to all jobs—non-sensitive as well as sensitive.

Kendrick M. Cole, a former inspector in the New York district of the Federal Food and Drug Administration who filed the appeal, was fired in January, 1954, for associating with reputed Communists.

The congressional act provided for security firing of employes in departments and agencies directly concerned with security matters. It further provided that the President could add to the list of departments and agencies specified.

Eisenhower's executive order directed that provisions of the act "shall apply to all departments and agencies of the government." Cole's contention is that the 1950 law applies only to persons holding sensitive and policy making positions.

Ike Meets With Defense Strategists

Mr. Eisenhower drove 22 miles from his farm home at Gettysburg, Pa., for his first meeting with his top defense planners — the National Security Council and about 15 experts in defense and diplomatic strategy — since before his Sept. 24 heart attack at Denver.

Come in 'Copters

The experts who arrived in the first two of four helicopters were: Secretary of State John Foster Dulles; Sherman Adams, Presidential chief deputy; Lewis Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission; Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover, Jr., Rowland Hughes, budget director; Robert R. Bowie, director of State Department policy planning staff; Vice-President Richard M. Nixon; and Dillon Anderson, Mr. Eisenhower's special assistant for national security affairs.

Two more helicopters brought Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson; Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey; Harold Stassen, special assistant to the President on disarmament; Attorney General Herbert Brownell; Theodore Streibert, head of the U.S. Information Agency; General Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief representing the Joint Chiefs of Staff: Nelson Rockefeller, presidential assistant for psychological strategy; John Hollister, head of International Cooperation Administration; Arthur S. Flemming, defense mobilization director, and James S. Lay, executive secretary of the National Security Council.

2-Hour Meeting

The conference lasted about two hours. James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, followed his practice on NSC meetings of refusing to disclose what was discussed or decided.

Today the President returns to Gettysburg to meet with his Cabinet.

The President walked the 300 yards from his lodge to Laurel Lodge for Monday afternoon's session, stopping to look at the helicopters hovering overhead. He was with Allen W. Dulles, a brother of the secretary of state, who flew into Gettysburg Monday morning to brief the President on intelligence reports in advance of the meeting. Dulles is director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Student 'Fair' After Friday Auto Crash

Charles H. Isbill, D4, Iowa City, was listed in fair condition Monday with a possible dislocated cervical spine at University Hospitals after the car in which he was riding collided with another vehicle on Grand Avenue hill Friday night.

Isbill, 31, was riding in an automobile owned and driven by Wallace High, D3, Iowa City. The High car, traveling west, collided with another vehicle entering Burlington Street from the Hillcrest area. Three persons were in that car, but no other injuries were reported.

Russian Bloc Vows Boycott Of Meetings

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations voted Monday to review its 10-year-old charter, amid threats by Russia to boycott the review. The UN set no date for start of the proceedings, however.

The motion, proposed by the United States and six other members, provided that the United Nations hold a review conference "under auspicious international circumstances and at an appropriate time." The motion was passed by the general assembly, 43-6.

Create Committee

The proposal calls for the creation of a committee made up of all members of the United Nations to consider the mechanisms of the review. It would fix the time, place, and make other arrangements for the conference, and would report back with its recommendations at the 12th general assembly two years hence, in 1957.

In spearheading opposition to the move, the Soviet Union contended that the present charter needs no revision.

There has been considerable speculation in recent months that the charter would be formally reviewed by the United Nations. At the original assembly, in 1945, it was provided that the charter might be reviewed and changed after ten years, and the waiting period expired last summer.

Veto Fight

A major cause of dissension over the present charter has been the veto power of any of the nations in the security council. Originally proposed by the United States, the veto has since come to be associated with delaying tactics employed by the Soviet Union and her satellites, and has come under heavy fire by U.S. congressmen and other officials.

Plot Mid-East Defense Pact

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Britain and four other members of the Baghdad Pact took the first steps Monday to set up a permanent defense organization along the Soviet Union's southern border.

The premiers of Iraq, Iran, Pakistan and Turkey met with British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan for the inaugural council meeting of the newly formed alliance.

The defense organization being set up ties the Middle East with NATO in the west through Turkey and to SEATO in the east through Pakistan, a member of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Macmillan and the four premiers—Nuri Said of Iraq, Hussein Ala of Iran, Adnan Menderes of Turkey and Chaudrhi Mohammed Ali of Pakistan—met for the first time under the alliance in Al Zahour (Flower) palace on the outskirts of this ancient city.

10 Killed as 200,000 Riot in Bombay

BOMBAY, India (AP) — More than 200,000 rioters led by Communists and extreme left Socialists turned this big industrial port into a battlefield Monday.

Ten persons were reported killed, 250 wounded and 1,000 were under arrest when uneasy quiet was restored.

Police and army units stood on the alert Monday night. There was sporadic violence even after darkness fell.

These were the worst riots in Bombay in the eight years of India's independence. They grew out of demonstrations of protest against the decision of Prime Minister Nehru's government to make a separate state of Bombay, India's second largest city.

Communist leaders raced about the city on motor scooters flying hammer and sickle flags, egging on the frenzied mobs and ordering them to "capture" the state legislature, which was meeting to discuss the city's future under the new state plan.

In New Delhi, 750 miles north, Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev, state guests of the Indian government, were attending a joint session of Parliament. They will visit Bombay Wednesday.

It was the second successive day of violence and the third outbreak against the government in four days.

Visiting Soviet Leaders Blast West

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The two high men of the Soviet Union lashed out at "Western reactionaries" in speeches before the Indian Parliament Monday.

Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin told the 700 members of Parliament that the Western Powers are to blame for "setting the problem of disarmament back 10 years."

Kikita Khrushchev, first secretary of the Communist party, charged that "reactionary circles" tried to intimidate Russia with atomic bombs and "as a result we were forced to create atomic and hydrogen weapons."

"The spirit of Geneva causes indigestion to certain persons who are still trying to follow this notorious policy from a position of strength," Khrushchev said.

Both Khrushchev and Bulganin, who were interrupted frequently by cheers of Parliament members, declared Russia and India are united in an "unending battle for peace."

Both vowed respect for India's right to choose its own path of development.

Federal Intervention in Till Case?—

Deputy Attorney General William P. Rogers called the slaying of Emmett Till "a real black mark" in that the Negro boy's killers "have not been brought to justice." He spoke on a nationally televised interview Sunday.

He said the justice department has received over 3,000 letters from citizens who demand why the department doesn't "do something" about the case.

"We just have no authority to step into a state if we think there is a failure in the administration of justice," Rogers said.

Two white men, Roy Bryant and J. W. Milam, have been found not guilty of the murder of the 14-year-old Chicago youth by a Mississippi jury. A grand jury refused to indict them on a kidnaping charge.

Certainly the wanton murder of the youth is a reflection on the ideals of American justice. But the nation should do some sober thinking before advocating federal action.

To do so would violate one of the basic tenets in our federal system of government. Under our theory both federal and state courts function at the same time. Federal courts handle violations of federal law and appeals from state supreme courts.

Though it very seldom happens, a person may be tried by both federal and state courts IF the crime he commits is a violation of both federal and state laws.

In the light of the present evidence in the Till case, no federal law has been violated.

The trial jury which acquitted the two white men on the murder charge was installed in accordance with the law. Correct trial procedure was observed, and the jury's decision was not guilty.

Since no error on which an appeal could be based has been uncovered, there is little possibility that the murder charge will be reopened against Bryant and Milam.

In this case there is no basis for federal intervention.

A lawfully instituted grand jury found insufficient evidence to indict the two on a kidnaping charge. Kidnaping becomes a federal offense only if state lines have been crossed. No evidence of this has been forthcoming; thus there is no basis for federal action on this charge.

The fact remains that a Negro youth was brutally murdered in Mississippi. The case is still in the hands of the Mississippi authorities. Eventual solution of this crime must be handled by them.

Though the nation rightly feels that this crime should be avenged, it should not be handled by the federal government. To do so would be in direct violation of our division of powers between the federal and state governments.

A Black Eye—

Reports Monday of more damage to property of non-strikers at the Perfect Circle Corporation in New Castle, Ind., indicate that mob violence may not be entirely quelled. Whether or not the union has anything whatsoever to do with these attacks, the union is getting a black eye in the minds of many Americans that will require many years of good union public relations to heal.

The Impact of TV in the U.S.

"We look upon television not as a small screen that demands intimacy, but as a miraculous port through which every man can look upon a fascinating, wide wide world."

(Following are excerpts from a rebroadcast over radio station WSUI Monday night of a speech by Sylvester Weaver, president of NBC. It was delivered at a luncheon given by the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising in London, England, Sept. 27, a few days before the first commercial television broadcast there.)

By SYLVESTER WEAVER
President, NBC

. . . . It has been said that a society follows its communications, not only in its physical form, but in its cultural patterns.

I believe this, and believe that the revolution that is going on because of broadcasting is accelerating certain trends in our society, and that the evidence on balance is overwhelmingly for good . . .

Let me make my plea here that I have fought for so long in the States against the great critical opinion which almost unanimously in the States as here defined television as a "small screen reaching people in small groups and an intimate instrument that should remain true to those limitations."

This is absolute nonsense.

* * *

TELEVISION is a communications invention. It is a machine.

It is anybody, anywhere in that wherever one person can go or attend or be present at anything, every man can be substituted for that person by the camera.

It is this limitless definition of television as a machine that we have tried so hard to implement in the states. And this can be done in selling as well as in programming.

Today in the United States it is said that people sit at home for several hours watching stultifying entertainment bringing them lower and lower into some video idiot mental level with an unending succession of trivia and escape.

* * *

ACTUALLY THE PEOPLE are really going places via television —attending with other people an event in some meeting place for people.

They may be at a concert; at a radio show; at a rodeo or an aquacade or a Broadway theater or a motion picture house.

They may be seeing a personal appearance or a lecture platform.

The point is that television, in its limitless capaciousness, covers all the forms that human beings have developed in their entire history, and with the cameras, allows people to be present wherever anything, entertaining or instructive, is going on.

* * *

WHAT THE PEOPLE choose to see and how well the presentations are made, technically by us, are different questions . . .

But we look upon the television screen not as a small screen that demands intimacy, but as a miraculous port through which every man can look out upon a fascinating wide, wide world. Eyes that a generation ago would have rarely strayed above the ground because of status or class or other misfortune now see anything that the richest, the most priviliged, the most cultured man in any state of society could ever see for himself.

Those who would limit television's greatness to the new art form of the small screen, the small listening group and the tight unities of television itself, completely misunderstand the limitless ability that television gives us to go places, to see things, to understand, to experience and, finally, to participate.

* * *

WE WILL GO into outer space from Mt. Palomar; we will follow the electron microscope into the brain; we will attend history wherever it is being made; our people will meet the great personalities of their time face to face, not in a formal presentation but in informal conversations where you really get a feeling of the innate personality.

All these and many more aspects of television are building a new race . . .

If television does not attract and influence the big audience, elevating its tastes, increasing its knowledge, maturing its judgment, clarifying its understanding and all the other points on which information and exposure to culture can continue the movement upward of people, then British commercial television will fail . . .

* * *

WE BELIEVE, (at NBC) that we are shaping a society which acknowledges that no true prosperity, no enduring culture can stand on a bedrock of human misery or of race or class or group subjection.

We believe that it is impossible for a society to consider itself mature and intelligent and humane so long as any normal person in it has been denied exposure to the great ideas, the great achievements, the great history of man.

This is the opportunity and the destiny of commercial television. . . .

We must expose all of our people to the thrilling rewards that come from an understanding of fine music, ballet, the classics, science, the arts, everything.

* * *

IN OUR MINDS, to program for the intellectual alone is easy and duplicates other media. To make us all into intellectuals—there is the challenge for commercial television . . .

I believe that in the last few years we have set in motion an information explosion.

To each man there is flooding more information than he can presently handle, but he is learning how to handle it and, as he learns, it will do him good.

I mean that each individual has the equipment to handle far more data than he does handle, and we can vastly increase that volume of traffic through his mind, and when we do increase that volume of traffic and he has more data available, he will respond with better data handling as an individual.

* * *

BY THAT I MEAN he will make better and more rational and more intelligent decisions. He will less likely be moved by emotionalism. He will be less likely to fall prey to fear, anxiety and confusion.

I believe that man has come a long way fast, and he can now make a quantum jump forward in a generation, largely due to television, or now we can see the day coming when a normal human being can handle the entire information load necessary to place himself into his own time with all the information about his history as a human being, as a member of a race, a nation, a creed, a faith, all the information about the universe he inhabits and its scientific description; all the information about the human culture he inherits and its achievements and its history; all the information about himself and the way he works as an individual; so that his personal balance and equilibrium can be stabilized; so that he can handle his life and growth intelligently; and all the information about his future and all futures projected so that he can select from myriad alternatives the kind of person he wants to become, the kind of work he wants to do, the kind of achievements he can aim for.

* * *

THIS NEW WORLD is not really understood. People talk about pressure for conformity, from the mass media, when actually the real pressure is building an infinity of differences. There is a transitional impact of people gaining social and economic privilege that they have never before enjoyed.

But if they show certain undesirable traits, it is less than generous to criticize them.

We believe that this is a real revolution and that it is creating a new elite.

We believe this new elite will encompass all men except the handicapped, the sub-normal; we believe it will bring about no great Utopian Monolith, but an explosion of an infinite number of personalities, each moving finally as his talents and interests direct him, not as his good and bad luck in birth and health and race, etc., have determined for him.

* * *

THIS REVOLUTION cannot take place unless through mass media, and particularly television, one is able to either build a classless society or reduce the paraphernalia and points of difference between social groups, so that individuals can move from any racial or ethnic or economic or class background into any other group or class, without any fear, without any shame . . .

Because of the knowledge spread by the new media, and partially television, our entire society has an incredibly uniform desire to advance on its present economic and political patterns and concepts, and the desire to advance as fast as possible.

* * *

I HAVE GONE into this at great length, mainly because television is not just to sell soap.

Television has a far more important role not only in uplifting the population, but a dynamic and revolutionary role that will influence every aspect of society, and if it is run right, influence it for good.

Also the problems that face Great Britain are soluble in more than one direction.

The experience of the United States, with the mass media creating a desire among all of us to work harder and sacrifice personal and group advantages, to get real values quickly is something worth consideration by the British leadership.

Why are the Americans in a hurry? — because there is so much to do!

Where do Americans think they're going with so much speed?

We can see where we're going and most of us find it a happy prospect.

Letters to The Editor—

Ebbs Replies to U. of Michigan

(Readers are invited to express opinions in letters to the Editor. All letters must include handwritten signatures and addresses — typewritten signatures are not acceptable. Letters become the property of The Daily Iowan. The Daily Iowan reserves the right to shorten, select representative letters when many on the same subject are received, or withhold letters. Contributors are limited to not more than two letters in any 30-day period. Opinions expressed do not necessarily represent those of The Daily Iowan.)

(Editor's Note: The following letter was sent to Prof. W. D. Ravelli, Michigan Band Director, by Prof. Fred Ebbs, director of the SUI Marching Band. A copy of the letter was mailed to the Daily Iowan by Prof. Ebbs.)

This is to acknowledge your letter of Nov. 11. We appreciate your kind remarks on our performance at Ann Arbor.

It is evident that any discussion of the remainder of the contents would be quite pointless. Your account and interpretation of the situation will obviously never agree with ours, and in view of this there is nothing to be gained by further discussion.

* * *

WE CAN APPRECIATE the University of Michigan's desire to maintain proper relations between itself and other schools because we at SUI share similar desires. In addition may I also express my personal hope that these misunderstandings will in no way prevent the Michigan band from coming to Iowa City — we would be more than happy to have your fine organization as our guest.

Sincerely,
Frederick Ebbs
Director of Bands

Ridiculous Ideas

TO THE EDITOR:

I have watched, since the start of the school year, with a great deal of amusement the ideas offered for solving the parking problem at SUI. In my estimation most of the ideas have ranged from impossible to ridiculous and unrealistic.

The first idea of restricting cars on campus to a selected few seems to be in all three of the above classifications. It seems to me that Americans have the heritage to do what they want with their money after they have worked for it and paid taxes. I think that this is not un-American, but the attempt to restrict the operation of motor vehicles bought with that money, is.

* * *

THE IDEA OF issuing stickers for all parking lots is impractical in that it is for the most part unenforceable without greatly building up the campus police force and creating a board that would be kept busy judging who is to park where and why. Might I suggest the possibility of graft in such a situation. Heavens, at SUI!

My main objection to all the far-sighted plans that I have read so far, is that they are ridiculous. They are far-sighted in the extent that they might possibly cover the time a particular individual is in school. These plans are not ridiculous if SUI can expect fewer students and fewer cars in the not too far future. At the last report both were being turned out quite rapidly.

* * *

THEN THERE ARE those that say we don't have it nearly as bad as other universities. I say so what. Saying that someone else has it worse than us may be interesting, but is no solution.

Lest the reader think that all I wish to accomplish to ridicule, here are my thoughts on the matter. I think that the problem is too many cars for the available facilities.

The facilities should be expanded to the greatest degree possible and the time for this expansion program to start in full scale, is now before the job becomes impossible. As for the number of students, I believe that statistics will prove that the greatest number of students are in the freshman and sophomore classes.

* * *

THE STATE universities in in California have tackled this problem by establishing many strategically located extension schools in the form of junior colleges, offering students the same educational and campus advantages as the parent school. This allows the universities to concentrate on instructing upper classmen and graduate students. This also gives the coaches a minor league like system for the athletic department.

Possibly this accounts somewhat for the high national ratings for California schools year after year. The idea is not to outlaw freshmen and sophomores at SUI but to make it more attractive for them to go elsewhere until they reach their junior year.

There it is. Seems simple to me. Now all I have to do is sit back and wait for someone else to cry ridiculous.

Learn To Relax, SUI's Scott Advises

You can learn to relax muscles in any part of your body just as you learn to use them in bowling or golf or swimming, Gladys Scott said Monday evening in a talk to Federated Business and Professional Women of Iowa City. Prof. Scott is chairman of the State University of Iowa department of physical education for women.

You need to "make" yourself relax if you show signs of tension, Prof. Scott explained, adding that few Americans are completely free of tension, due to the pressures of busy schedules for both men and women today.

Signs of Tenseness

How can you tell when you're tense? If you can't sit still in a chair, but must continually squirm around in it, jiggle a foot and tap your fingers on the chair arm, you need to relax, Prof. Scott said. Facial "tics," continual throat clearing and hunched shoulders are other signs of tension, she pointed out. Incessant smoking and continual talking may also result from nervous tension.

Overweight can be traced to tension, Prof. Scott said, pointing out that "nibbling" between meals is a form of release from tension for some people. The SUI professor stressed the danger that tension and emotional strains can lead to overweight in an educational program which she developed as state chairman of health and safety for the Federated Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

What causes tension? Pain in the eyes, feet, teeth, back, joints or any other part of the body can make you tense all over, Prof. Scott explained. This can work the other way, too, she said. Constant irritations such as street noises are also offenders. Emotions can be the culprit. Worry, boredom, resentment, continued excitement — all are reflected in tightening of muscles which saps your energy and leaves you feeling deflated or even exhausted.

Determine Cause

The first remedial step to take, Prof. Scott advised, is to find out what is making you tense and do your best to remove the cause. Those you can't avoid you may be able to ignore.

First step in the physical process of relaxing is to recognize the feeling of tension in muscles, Prof. Scott said. You can do this by flexing your arm and then letting it go limp at your side, feeling the tension go out of it. Then try to sense this feeling in other parts of your body.

Simple "exercises" which Prof. Scott suggested for relaxing included these: 1. Stretch vigorously and then completely "let go." 2. When you sit down to rest, let your arms and legs hang "heavy." 3. Take a deep breath and let it all out audibly at once so that your chest feels collapsed and heavy — try to avoid breathing for a few seconds and feel the heaviness of your chest.

Relax Face Muscles

Learning to relax muscles of your face is particularly helpful, Prof. Scott explained, because facial relaxation seems to ease tension out of other parts of your body. Rhythmic movements are more restful than jerky ones.

Typing is less tiring when done at a steady, even pace rather than an erratic, choppy one.

If your hands, arms or shoulders become tired and cramped from some task such as typing, let your arms dangle limply at your sides a few minutes, the speaker suggested. Shrug your shoulders and then let them droop, uncontrolled for a few minutes as your arms hang limp. Next pull your shoulder blades together and stretch tall. Then drop your head and shoulders forward, relaxing for a bit.

If you don't learn to relax, continued tension can lead to indigestion, backache, high blood pressure, chronic fatigue, or insomnia, Prof. Scott warned.

Suggestions which she gave for a "sleep formula" included these: Organize plans for tomorrow in your mind, from what you plan to wear to what jobs you will get done, and then forget tomorrow. Think of something pleasant and relaxing such as a beach or a starlight sky. Deliberately relax muscles, first in one part of your body and then all over. By then your worries should be behind you till morning.

. . . IOWA-ILLINOIS CREDIT SUPERVISOR ALFRED GIES
at your service

Like any well-managed business, Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company must keep a careful watch on its credit picture. This means checking customer credit when accounts are opened, or when merchandise is purchased on time"; interviewing customers when credit problems arise; and making efforts to settle past-due accounts when necessary. Handling this important assignment here in Iowa City is Alfred Gies, an 18-year employee of the Company.
Besides his duties as credit supervisor, Mr. Gies often serves as customer interviewer — answering bill inquiries, taking applications for service, and explaining company policies and regulatons. Though he conducts his work from "our" side of the desk, it's his responsibility to see problems as they look from "your" side, too. Many customers know him as a friend in need when conditions make it necessary to ask for credit extensions or arrange for partial payments.
Like the other employees of the Company, whatever their jobs, Mr. Gies is "At Your Service."
MEET ALFRED H. GIES An employee of the Company since November, 1937, Mr. Gies served as customer service representative and teller before being selected for his present position in 1950. Born in Tripoli, Iowa, he attended grade school there, and graduated from Iowa City High School in 1923. During World War II, Mr. Gies served 19 months as a Sergeant with the Fifth Air Force in the Asiatic Theater. He is a Past Commander of Roy L. Chopek Post, American Legion, and is active in affairs of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce. Mr. and Mrs. Gies live at 921 South Summit Street, and have a daughter, Linda Anne, 8. They attend Zion Lutheran Church.

Behind the Sports Desk

With FRED MILLER

The old phrase says "It's all over but the shouting," that is if there is any shouting to be done. I feel there is shouting to be done, not for Iowa's season record in football, but for the outstanding work of seven sophomores who filled in for Coach Forest Evashevski on his senior ball club.

Evy had been working and planning for a senior football team this year, but due to injuries throughout the season, his team did not develop to the fullest.

The seniors on the team received their first Iowa football training from Evy back in 1952 when both he and the players were freshmen at Iowa. They had been pointing to this season as the big one.

* * *

TWO OF THE most promising Iowa stars to emerge from Saturday's game were halfback Bill Happel and fullback Fred Harris. Happel replaced Eddie Vincent and Harris substituted for Roger Wiegmann.

The new Iowa unbalanced, single wing to the left formation which Evy displayed for the first time last Saturday seemed to be designed for Happel alone.

Many times during the game, the ball was handed to the sophomore halfback. He would slant across the backfield and cut to the weak side of the line and scoot for 15 yards or so. Throughout the first half the same play worked for valuable yardage against Notre Dame.

In this one game Happel picked up 70 yards on 11 carries for a 6.4 average, not bad for a 5-11, 165 pounder.

* * *

IN THE FULLBACK spot was Harris. On his first collegiate carry against Minnesota this year, Harris picked up 15 yards, and occasionally he repeated this performance against Notre Dame.

Harris also serves as a blocking back leading the interference for the halfbacks and does well in this capacity, too. For the season Harris has picked up 74 yards on 22 carries for a 3.3 average.

His ability is not limited to running and blocking. He is an able pass catcher and a good punter. Against the Irish he picked up 23 yards on one pass catch and punted once for 33 yards.

Both of these men, as well as the five other sophomore starters, will figure in the starting lineups of the 1956 squad. But there still remains the problem of filling the other vacancies on the squad left through graduation.

Spring practice, which gives the freshmen a chance to play, will probably help solve the problem somewhat, but Evy will still be looking for replacements for men like Jones, Reichow and Freeman.

Sophomores Are Best Prospects for 1956

By DAVE STEVENS

Iowa bowed out of the 1955 football season Saturday on the same disappointing theme that dominated the entire year, but not before Coach Forest Evashevski issued a warning to the Hawkeyes' 1956 opponents.

The warning came in the form of Iowa's starting lineup against Notre Dame—seven sophomores, three seniors and a junior. It was the youngest team ever to open against the Fighting Irish according to a Notre Dame spokesman.

Young as they were, the best Notre Dame could do was to salvage a 17-14 victory in the final minutes on a 34-yard field goal.

Seven Sophomores

Who are these brash underclassmen who almost upset the fourth-ranked team in the nation?

Three of them were brand spanking new to a Hawkeye starting eleven — fullback Fred Harris, halfback Bill Happel and guard John Burroughs. The other four had seen more action throughout the season.

The other sophs are left end Jim Gibbons, tackle Frank Bloomquist, center Bill Van Buren and tackle Don Bowen. All of them received their opportunity to start because of injuries. And all of them proved that they had enough stuff to hang onto their new positions.

All-State Happel

Television viewers are still wondering about this boy Happel, who gained manly stature by emerging the top ground gainer in last Saturday's game. He gained 70 yards in 11 tries, showing good form especially on his reverses over the weak side of the line.

Happel is a 5-11, 165-pounder who played all-state ball for McKinley High of Cedar Rapids. Actually he was better known for his prep basketball ability.

Harris proved to be just as powerful a runner as senior Roger Wiegmann and Harris made some of the hardest tackles of the game Saturday.

One Junior

Missing out of the starting eleven next year will be quarterback Jerry Reichow, all-American guard Cal Jones and right end Jim Freeman. The eleventh player was left halfback Don Dobrino, a junior.

Other seniors who will be noticeably lacking in 1956 will be halfbacks Eddie Vincent and Earl Smith and tackle Rodger Swedberg.

Additional support comes from veterans Frank Gilliam and tackle George Kress, both of whom gained another year of eligibility because of prolonged injuries.

Two top juniors returning to the line are center Don Suchy and guard Dick Deasy. Both have appeared as starters most of the season. Quarterback Ken Ploen, also a junior, should step into Reichow's shoes next fall.

A probable starting lineup in 1956 might look something like this, unless some freshmen surprise Evashevski:

Ends—Gilliam, Gibbons and Frank Rigney
Tackles—Bowen, Bloomquist or Kress
Guards—Deasy and Burroughs
Center—Suchy or Van Buren
Halfbacks—Dobrino, Happel or Hagler
Fullback—Harris
Quarterback—Ploen

* * *

Evy's youngsters dominated the Notre Dame game in the early stages, only to be turned back several times by great Irish goal line stands.

Notre Dame took the lead just before the half ended on a one-yard plunge by Dean Studer.

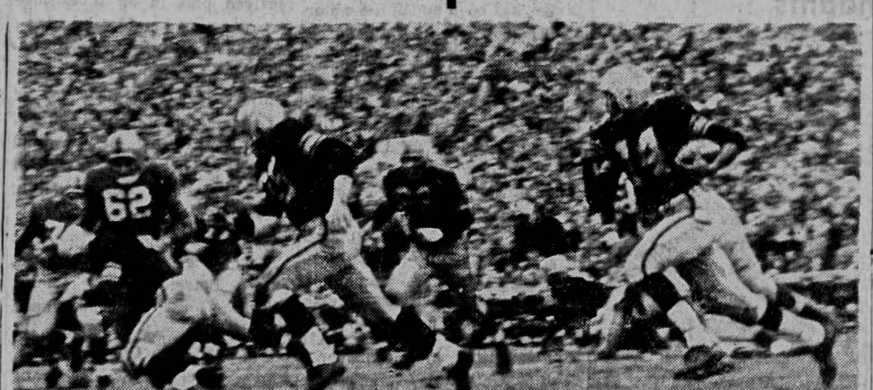
Roaring back in the third period, Iowa sent Harris over from the two-yard line for the first score. Early in the fourth quarter Dobrino pitched to Reichow for the "clincher" touchdown.

Hornung Stars

However, with 10 minutes remaining the Irish started a 63-yard march, capped by a 17-yard aerial from Paul Hornung to Jim Morse. They were not satisfied with a tie.

A couple of minutes later a penalty stalled the Irish on the Hawkeye 27-yard line, from where Hornung booted a tie-breaking field goal.

The victory was Notre Dame's eighth in nine starts and it ended Iowa's season with a 3-5-1 mark.



HALFBACK EARL SMITH, 14, picks up yardage on an end sweep against Notre Dame as Fred Harris, 35, runs interference. One good block is already in position by an unidentified Iowa player. Notre Dame won its eighth game of the season, 17-14, by kicking a 27-yard field goal late in the fourth quarter. Iowa finished its season with a 3-5-1 record.

Jones Chosen Tackle On AP Big Ten Team

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO — Sweeping eight places, Michigan State, Ohio State and Michigan dominated the Associated Press 1955 all-Big Ten football team as they did the conference drive.

Seven seniors and three juniors were named, with only one sophomore making the grade — halfback Bob Mitchell of Illinois.

Mitchell teams up with Ohio State's Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, the Big Ten's ball-carrying champion; Michigan State's Earl Morrall, quarterback, and Purdue's Bill Murakowski, fullback, to make the 1955 all-conference backfield the most potent in recent years.

Rounding out the line is Iowa's Cal Jones, shifted from guard to tackle on the No. 1 team. Despite a leg injury, the 220-pound Jones was the hub in the Hawkeyes' sturdy defense.

Jones was selected for the AP all-conference team for the third straight year. Cassady and Kramer also were holdovers from 1954.

No Iowa players were named to the second team but six Hawkeyes won honorable mention. They were ends Jim Freeman and Jim Gibbons, tackle Rodger Swedberg and backs Jerry Reichow, Eddie Vincent, and Earl Smith.

First Team

End — Ron Kramer, Michigan, Jr., 20, East Detroit.
Tackle — Calvin Jones, Iowa, Sr., 22, Steubenville, Ohio.
Guard — Jim Parker, Ohio State, Jr., 21, Toledo.
NCenter — Ken Vargo, Ohio State, Sr., 21, Martins Ferry, Ohio.
Guard — Carl Nystrom, Michigan State, Sr., 21, Marquette, Mich.
Tackle — Norman Masters, Michigan State, Sr., 21, Detroit.
End — Tom Maentz, Michigan, Jr., 19, Holland, Mich.
Back — Earl Morrall, Michigan State, Sr., 21, Muskegon, Mich.
Back — Howard Cassady, Ohio State, Sr., 21, Columbus, Ohio.
Back — Robert Mitchell, Illinois, Soph., 20, Hot Springs, Ark.
Back — Bill Murakowski, Purdue, Sr., 21, East Chicago, Ill.

Second Team

Ends — Lamar Lundy, Purdue, and Brad Bomba, Indiana.
Tackles — Joe Krupa, Purdue, and Bob Hoberl, Minnesota.
Guards — Wells Gray, Wisconsin, and Francis Machinsky, Ohio State.
Center — Joe Amstutz, Indiana.
Backs — Len Dawson, Purdue; Gerald Planutis, Michigan State; Walt Kowalczyk, Michigan State, and Harry Jefferson, Illinois.

U-High Seeks 1st Cage Win Tonight

University High will try to break into the victory column tonight when it plays host to Cedar Rapids Roosevelt, a team that has also yet to win.

The Bluehawks lost the season opener to Anamosa Friday, 78-60, after leading through much of the second half.

U-High will keep the same line-up that opened the season, according to Coach Chuck Wolbers. This will include Jim Scott and Jerry Schoenfelder at the forwards, Dick Stocker at center, and Bill DeKock and John Raffensperger at the guards.

St. Pat's Loses, 64-57; St. Mary's Wins, 89-26

St. Patrick's dropped its fifth Northeast Iowa Catholic conference game Monday night, 64-57, to Immaculate Conception of Cedar Rapids, the defending league champion.

St. Mary's, on the other hand, racked up its fourth consecutive victory by dropping Muscatine Catholic, 89-26, in a non-conference game.

Magazine Gets Just One Letter for Santa

By HAROLD SCHWARTZ

Santa Claus has not received much mail from the children of SUI staff members.

In the November issue of Staff Magazine, a monthly publication of the SUI personnel service, the editors announced that they were establishing a direct mail route to Santa at the North Pole.

"Lovable, laughable old Santa has promised to pick up his Christmas mail right here in the office of Staff," the article said.

Staff Route

"When your kiddies get their letters to Santa written, why don't you mail them through this magazine," the article continued. "We want to receive bundles of mail for Santa."

The bundles of mail have not been forthcoming. It was not until Monday that the magazine received its first and only letter.

Why is it that they do not have more letters?

"There are many reasons possible," said Mrs. Robert A. Wiggs, editorial assistant of Staff.

Santa Not Needed?

"One reason might be that Santa isn't needed," she said. "I hope that is the case; I hope the SUI personnel are so well paid that the gifts of Santa would only serve to clutter up the toy boxes of their children," she explained.

Another reason, far more sinister than the last, was listed among the possibilities.

"Do you suppose that the staff of the university has informed their children that there really isn't any Santa Claus?" she asked.

Santa
Looking for Letters

"Do you suppose that they tell their children that 'Daddy' is Santa Claus?" she added.

The "mail service" to Daddy can be much quicker by other routes than Staff magazine and the North Pole, Mrs. Wiggs explained.

One Letter

The one letter that the magazine received was signed by Carolyn Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond E. Grace, but seems to have included the "wants" of all the Grace children.

Mr. Grace is a laboratory technician in the SUI medical laboratory.

"Dear Santa Claus:

"Diane wants a bride doll and a doctor set and a piano.

"Sheryl wants a nurse set and a bubble gum bank and a doll bath tub and dressing table.

"Larry wants an earth moving hauler and a deluxe tractor and lumber truck," Carolyn wrote.

Carolyn included her own requests from Santa.

"I want a toy saxophone and a doll hi chair and a toy doll that wets, crys, sleeps and blows bubbles and has lots of clothes.

"We have been good children this year," she added.

Letters for Publication

If more letters are mailed to Staff by children who do believe in "lovable, laughable old Santa," the magazine will select a few for publication in the December issue of Staff, Mrs. Wiggs said.

Letters will be accepted by Staff, Room 200, Old Dental building, through Nov. 25.

Board To Pick Winner In Democracy Contest

First and second place winners in the Iowa City area "Voice of Democracy" contest will be chosen this afternoon, David Stewart, contest co-chairman, said Monday.

The winner and runnerup will be chosen from nine Iowa City and Cosgrove high school entries.

The contest, sponsored by the Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce, was open to all high school students in this area. Students were asked to write a five-minute radio script on democracy.

Finalists

The nine finalists, all of whom were first chosen through intra-school competition, include Richard Paulus and Ruth Nybakken of City High; Sieg Schoenbohm, University High; Mary Dee and Thomas Neuzil, St. Mary's; Rosemary Kritta and Marilyn Pinney, St. Patrick's, and Fred Kaefring and Rosemary Stockman, Cosgrove.

Judges

The board of judges for the contest is composed of The Rev. H. F. McGee of the Episcopal Church; Dean Jones, past president of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce, and Atty. Shirley Porter.

The state champion will receive a $50 savings bond and the four national co-winners will each receive a $500 college scholarship, an all-expense paid trip to Washington, D.C., and a console model television set.

Group Honors SUI Speech Pathologists

Professors Frederick L. Darley and Dorothy Sherman of the SUI Speech Pathology Department were named Fellows of the American Speech and Hearing Association (ASHA) at the annual meeting in Los Angeles.

The eight whose work was thus recognized included two other graduates of the SUI program in speech pathology and audiology—Oliver Bloodstein, now teaching at Brooklyn College and Hayes Newby, now at Stanford University. Also named as a 1955 Fellow was Jacqueline Keaster, 1945-53 staff member at SUI who is now with the Los Angeles Children's Hospital.

Previous national conventions had named SUI Professors Wendell Johnson, James Curtis and Duane Spriestersbach to this honorary circle of the organization.

The association reappointed Johnson to the chairmanship of its Speech Correction Fund committee and of its Liaison with Federal Agencies committee. As an ASHA past president, he will also continue to serve on the Association's Planning committee.

Curtis was appointed to the newly constituted Examining Committee for Advanced Certification in Hearing and was renamed to the Committee on Publications. Darley was elected chairman of the ASHA's Committee on Ethical Practice and appointed on the Program committee for the 1956 convention in Chicago.

Professor Sherman was assigned to the Committee on Revision of By-laws. She is also an associate editor of the ASHA publication, the Journal of Speech and Hearing Disorders.

Spriestersbach will continue as a member of the Committee on Organizational Structure.

List Increase Of Patients At Hospitals

The number of patients admitted to the General and Children's Hospitals at the State University of Iowa jumped to 21,026 during the year which ended June 30, 1955, according to records maintained by the hospitals' administration. Admissions for the previous year totaled 20,127.

During the past fiscal year, 280,498 "patient days" were recorded. The figure represents the total number of days spent in the hospitals by all patients admited. The figure for the year which ended June 30, 1954, was 270,763.

Out-patient registrations for the year just ended totaled 31,407. For the previous year, the figure was 29,878. Out-patients are those who come to the hospitals for examination, treatment and consultation with university physicians, but whose conditions do not require confinement to bed.

Surgical operations for the year totaled 11,700. Other statistics which showed increases over figures of the previous year were:

Meals served — 1,597,973; pounds of laundry — 3,316,579; patients transported by the University's fleet of ambulances — 21,318; laboratory examinations — 129,037; pharmacy prescriptions — 183,852; blood transfusions — 8,198.

In births there was an increase from 1,295 two years ago to 1,347 last year.

Files Drunk Driving Charges Against 8

William Tucker, Johnson County district attorney, filed eight charges of driving while intoxicated Monday in Johnson County District Court.

Pending arraignment, bail was set at $500 for seven of the men charged. Bail was placed at $1,000 for Glenn R. Rummelhart, second-time offender.

The following were arrested and charged:

Allan M. Sorensen, Sept. 24, on Burlington Street; Glenn R. Rummelhart, Oct. 1, on Highway 218 in Iowa City; Charles Janu, Oct. 3, Highway 218 north of Iowa City; Modest J. DeWulf, Oct. 6, Highway 22 near Lone Tree; Harry Kloos, Oct. 15, Burlington Street; Manuel E. Shehorn, Nov. 6, Court Street; Chester R. Bowlsky, Nov. 11, Highway 6 west of Iowa City; and Clarence P. Brawner, Nov. 14, Muscatine Avenue.

Wildlife Photographer To Speak at Kiwanis

A former cinematographer for Zoo Parade, NBC television show, will speak to the Iowa City Kiwanis Club today on wild life in Africa.

John Kuiper, a graduate assistant at the SUI Television Center, will tell of his experiences this past summer, when he spent two months in Africa shooting film for Zoo Parade.

Parking—

Faunce, Phillips, Iowa City Councilman and SUI Professor Walter Daykin, James P. Cooney, chairman of Student Council parking committee, and John Voogd, chairman of the Quadrangle parking committee, met with the purpose of clarifying the problem of student parking at SUI.

Daykin told the panel that the parking problem was not new to Iowa City — that it has existed for the past 10 or 12 years and has doubled since the end of World War II. He added that he feels the parking problem of the university to be the problem of the entire city.

Daykin also said that the city has been looking for more land for parking space, particularly west of the Iowa River, but said that each parking space costs from $1,200 to $1,500.

40 Spaces a Year

The present city budget provides for about 40 spaces per year at this cost, he said.

Cooney told the panel members of a plan which would classify different residential areas as to the distance from campus and issue restricted parking stickers to students according to the area they live in.

Cooney said that the University committee had conditionally accepted the plan and had returned it to the council committee for further work.

Overall Problem

Whether the University administration would approve the plan, Faunce stated, would depend on how the plan fitted into the SUI problem as a whole.

Faunce said that the Student Council committee is investigating the problem of student parking but the University problem includes parking for the faculty and staff. Any plan for student parking would have to integrate into the University problem as a whole, he explained.

The panel, moderated by Donald Dedman, G, was a program in an information series being presented by station WSUI.

Girl Scouts Aid in TB Drive

(Daily Iowan Photo)

County To Get 5,000 More Christmas Seals

Because of an increase in demand for them, between 5,000 and 6,000 more Christmas seals will be mailed to Johnson County residents this week.

The additional quantities will bring the total number of mailings to nearly 15,000, officials of the Johnson County Tuberculosis and Heart Association said Monday.

The Christmas seal program, oldest of its kind in the U.S., is an annual program which provides funds for the combatting of tuberculosis.

Co-chairmen of the Johnson County drive are Mrs. Carrol M. Mickey and William V. Phalen of Iowa City. Mrs. Hugh Carson of Iowa City is mail chairman.

Iowa City Girl Scouts are placing seals in the envelopes, a job which they have performed for many years.

Sixty-five per cent of the funds obtained from Johnson County residents stays in the county while the remaining 35 per cent is sent to state headquarters.

Famed Pianist To Appear

Alexander Brailowsky, Russian pianist, will present a concert at the Iowa Memorial Union Wednesday, Dec. 7.

Brailowsky will appear here under the auspices of the University Concert Course.

He has given concerts in most of the countries of the world, and has gained a reputation as one of the greatest living interpretors of Chopin.

He also specializes in Liszt's and Mussorgsky's music.

Presentation of ID cards will entitle SUI students to free tickets. Tickets may be obtained in the east lobby of the Iowa Memorial Union beginning Dec. 5.

Reserved seats for staff members will be sold at $1.50 beginning Dec. 6. Other tickets will be sold to the public for $1.50 on Dec. 7.

$150,000 Payment In Subway Claim

NEW YORK (AP)—A man who was thrown in front of a subway train by robbers and lost both legs won a $150,000 settlement in State Supreme Court Monday against the City Transit Authority.

Edward R. Wronski, 39, of Forest Hills, Queens, sales manager for a carpet firm, charged the Transit Authority failed to provide police protection at the station at 34th St. and 6th Ave.

Wronski was attacked by two muggers on Sept. 18, 1953, about 10:30 p.m. They beat him unconscious and threw him to the tracks. While he was unconscious, a train ran over his legs.

Priest Elected AFL Local Head

OMAHA (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest has been elected to the presidency of local 70 of the American Federation of Labor. As far as is known here, it's the first time a priest has been named to head a labor union local. It is a musicians' local.

The Rev. Francis P. Schmitt, director of music at Father Flanagan's Home for Boys at nearby Boys Town, was elected Sunday night by the AFL affiliate. He is director of the widely known Boys Town choir.

Explains Curbing Of Bus Service in Lone Tree Dispute

Herbert G. Hayes, superintendent of the Lone Tree School District, testified Monday in Johnson County District Court that overcrowding of buses caused the school board to cut bus service.

Opponents of reorganization of the Lone Tree School District have charged they were discriminated against when the bus routes were changed, forcing them to send their children to high school at Riverside.

The decision, Hayes testified, was reached because of overcrowded buses and the feeling that those who wanted the benefits of a larger school should have them.

Hayes told the court that the board's policy to reduce the length of bus routes was to serve the children within the existing district first, then those outside the proposed district and finally those outside the district.

In the eighth day of the hearing to set aside the results of the reorganization election of the Lone Tree School District, Judge James P. Gaffney again asked the parties to settle their dispute out of court.

The prolonged hearing already has delayed the opening of the November term of the Johnson County District Court.

City Schools To Close For Thanksgiving Recess

Iowa City school children will have a two-day vacation this week during the Thanksgiving holidays.

All public and parochial schools will be closed Thursday and Friday, school officials reported Monday. The schools will reopen Monday morning.

AMERICANS EAT OUT

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans spend $16 billon a year eating out, about one of every four dollars of the nation's food budget, according to the American Hotel Assn. And that's not counting tips.

Holiday Service Planned

United Thanksgiving church service this year will be held at the Presbyterian church at 10 a.m. Thursday. The Rev. Thomas Fatturuso, Baptist minister, will deliver the sermon, "The Great Shall Live by Gratitude."

Special music for the service will be provided by Rolanda Ringo, A4 Iowa City.

The annual Thanksgiving service is sponsored by the worship committee of the Area Council of Churches. All member churches participate in the service. Iowa City members are the Presbyterian, Baptist, Christian, Methodist, and Congregational churches.

The location of the Thanksgiving service, rotates yearly among the member churches. The minister to give the sermon also rotates among the member church ministers.

METHODIST INCREASE

CHICAGO (AP)—The Methodist Church said Monday it has 9,313,278 members in the United States and its possessions, a gain of 90,126 over a year ago.
