Says He'll Enter Ike In Illinois Primary

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Wednesday authorized a statement that he is neither assenting nor dissenting at this time to the entry of his name in the April 10 Illinois Republican presidential preference primary.

The statement was issued by James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, shortly after Gov. William G. Stratton announced in Springfield, Ill., that he would enter the President's name. Stratton said he had not consulted Mr. Eisenhower. He said of his action: "This is our way of saying, Mr. President, we hope you run again."

The press secretary said in a statement which he said had been approved by Mr. Eisenhower, that the President knew nothing about the statement by the governor of Illinois until he showed him the story which moved on the news ticker from Springfield.

No Comment by Ike
"Under the Illinois law," Hagerty said, "there is nothing the President needs to do. Consequently, there will be no official statement from here signifying either assent or dissent."

"I want to make it clear, however, that lack of any assent or dissent cannot be taken to mean that the President has yet made any ultimate decision on whether again to be a candidate."

Gov. Stratton said he was taking the step on his own and had not consulted the President.

The Illinois presidential primary is merely a popularity test and is not binding on convention delegates. The filing period opens Jan. 16 and ends Jan. 23, followed by a five day period in which candidates may withdraw.

Consent Not Needed
A candidate's consent is not required for entering the primary, but the practice in Illinois is to withdraw his name if he requests it.

The 41-year-old Republican governor, who is running for re-election, said his action "expresses my own views and in my mind the feeling of the Republican party in the state and a great majority of the people in Illinois."

Support Aid Program: Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower appealed to all Americans Wednesday to "wake up" to the urgent need of a free world victory in the economic struggle with the Communists.

"Defeat in this contest could be as disastrous as defeat in an armaments race," said a statement which the President endorsed.

"We could lose this economic contest unless the country as a whole wakes up to all its implications."

A major purpose of the statement was evidently to enlist support for Eisenhower's foreign aid plans, which are faced with opposition in Congress.

The statement was read by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles at his news conference. Dulles called reporters' attention to the words "as a whole" and said they were underlined in the statement.

Dulles said he and the President agree with the statement. He said it very strongly re-emphasizes administration views inherent in such foreign aid proposals as Eisenhower's call for long-range spending authority over a period of up to 10 years.

The statement described the current cold war phase as apparently "a shift . . . in which economic and social problems have moved to the forefront."

Man Killed by Car Near Shueyville

(Special to The Daily Iowan)
SHUEYVILLE — Roy Glen Travis, about 75, was killed here Wednesday night when he was struck by a car as he was walking along U.S. Highway 218. Shueyville is nine miles south of Cedar Rapids.

Travis was struck by a 1937 model automobile driven by Theodore R. Larson of Kalona.

The car, which was south-bound, carried Travis' body nearly 150 feet from the point of impact.

It was Johnson County's first traffic fatality of 1956.

Health 'Excellent,' Say Ike's Doctors

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Excellent" was the word doctors applied to President Eisenhower's health Wednesday.

Three Army physicians who made another examination of the President in his White House bedroom this morning reported his recovery from a Sept. 24 heart attack continues to progress satisfactorily.

Then they added: "His physical condition is excellent and he benefited greatly from the exercise and relaxation obtained during his recent visit to Key West."

The President reiterated to newsmen just before he left Florida Sunday that his health will be a very important factor in deciding whether he will run for re-election.

U.S. Atomic Tests To Continue: Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles served notice Wednesday that the United States will carry on tests of atomic and hydrogen bombs because it is "imperative" to hold an American lead in nuclear weapons.

Dulles said he believes this country is ahead now although he conceded that the question of its atomic position in relation to the Soviet Union is partly a matter of speculation.

Dulles Claims Strong Policy Averted War

(Special to The Daily Iowan)
WASHINGTON — The United States came to the brink of war three times during the first two years of the Eisenhower administration, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said Wednesday.

Dulles is quoted in a Life magazine article as saying that a strong deterrent policy and threats to use atom weapons against Red China narrowly avoided all-out war on each occasion.

Dulles said war was near:

1. In June, 1953, when Syngman Rhee's bid to continue the Korean war by releasing all North Korean prisoners gave the Chinese Reds an opportunity to break truce negotiations. U.S. notice that it would renew the war and perhaps use A-weapons in Manchuria kept the Reds from walking out, Dulles said.

2. In April, 1954, when Dulles claims that U.S. dispatching of two carriers with Atom-equipped planes to the South China Sea strengthened the French bargaining position at the first Geneva conference and saved South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia from the Reds.

3. In the fall of 1954 when the U.S. feared a Red Chinese invasion of Formosa. A resolution prepared by Dulles and passed by congress authorized the President to use U.S. military force against such an attack. This threat averted a war, Dulles said.

Second Unidentified Body Spotted—

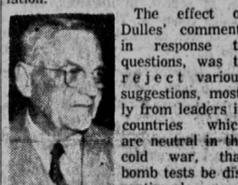

5 Missionaries Feared Dead

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Five U.S. missionaries who penetrated Amazon jungle territory peopled by savage Aucas Indians all were feared dead Wednesday after a second unidentified body near their stripped plane was seen from the air.

John Keenan, also a missionary, reported spotting the body of a man in the Curaray River not far from the plane, which has been reduced to a skeleton.

Keenan made his reconnaissance flight from Shell Mera, an oil company headquarters camp, early Wednesday morning. Capt. Gonzalo Ruales, an Ecuadorian commercial pilot, reported seeing a bonfire in the same area at dusk Tuesday, but Keenan said he saw no sign of life.

Tuesday Keenan found the plane and a U.S. Air Force searcher saw an unidentified body about a quarter of a mile from the plane. One report said an Indian lance pro-

Dr. Sam Gets A Review of Murder Trial

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard Wednesday was granted a review of his murder conviction by the Ohio Supreme Court.

Dr. Sheppard was convicted in 1954 of murdering his pregnant wife, Marilyn.

The high court's action opened an avenue of hope to the 32-year-old osteopath now serving a life sentence in Ohio Penitentiary for second-degree murder in the July 4, 1954, bludgeoning slaying of his pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31.

A few hours later, Sheppard told newsmen during an interview at the prison that he feels he eventually will be a free man. He added:

He Expects Confession
"I feel the case will be solved. I feel there will be a confession made. I am hopeful the courts will favor my case and I feel they will if they adhere to the law."

His attorneys, under the decision to review, will have a chance to attack the conviction by a jury in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court.

But, one of his attorneys concedes, they will be forced to confine their arguments to those presented to the jury more than a year ago.

No New Evidence
In another action Wednesday, the Supreme Court rejected Sheppard's appeal from lower courts' refusal to grant him a new trial on grounds new evidence has been discovered. That action, says William J. Corrigan of Cleveland, means he and his colleagues cannot present new evidence in Sheppard's behalf.

At the hearing, his attorneys can argue these things:

1. That errors which prejudiced the case were committed in Judge Edward Blythin's conduct of the trial.

2. That the evidence introduced at the trial was insufficient to support a conviction.

If the high court should agree there was not enough evidence, it could send the case back to Common Pleas Court in Cuyahoga County for retrial or it could render final judgment. If the high court should do the latter, Sheppard would be a free man.

The Weather

Cloudy and Warm

Iowa weather is expected to remain unchanged today with a possibility of warmer temperatures Friday.

Wednesday's high was 34, with a low of 18.

Today's high is expected to be in the low 30's.

A few snow flurries were expected in the extreme northern part of the state today, and although some cloudiness is expected today the Weather Bureau predicted no snow here.

West Asks UN Censure Israel

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain, France and the U.S. proposed Wednesday that UN Security Council censure Israel for what they called a "flagrant" attack upon Syrian outposts Dec. 11.

The Western proposal omitted a Syrian demand for compensation. Two days ago the Soviet Union handed in its proposal calling the Israeli attack "outrageous" and demanding payment to Syria for life and property destruction.

Both of the East-West rivals omitted Syria's demand that Israel be thrown out of the UN.

UN figures show that 56 Syrians, eight of them civilians and six Israeli were killed in the clashes near the Sea of Galilee.

The resolutions are to be introduced formally when the 11-nation Council resumes consideration Thursday of Syria's Dec. 13 complaint over the attack.

Parochial School Tax Cuts Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury Wednesday rejected suggestions for exempting parochial schools from federal excise taxes on their purchase of such things as buses and gasoline. It stated general opposition to further extension of tax exemption to particular classes of beneficiaries.

Dan Smith, special assistant on tax policy to Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, characterized the parochial school proposals as "a use of federal tax policy to further general social aims."

The suggestion on parochial schools was made by Rep. Aime Forand (D-R.I.), chairman of a House Ways and Means subcommittee studying the need for revision of the excise tax laws.

Forand said taxpayers supporting parochial schools are carrying a double burden of private payments and school taxes.

Smith told the subcommittee he sympathizes with Forand's proposal as a "worthy objective," but he said it represents a social rather than a fiscal matter and is not a proper subject for tax policy.

Georgia Chiefs Vow Fight on Segregation

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP)—Georgia's political leaders said Wednesday they will never surrender to the U.S. Supreme Court decisions on segregation and called for a "great crusade" to let the world know that the state will run its own affairs.

Addressing the first grass roots meeting of the States Rights Council of Georgia, Inc., Gov. Marvin Griffin said he "did not believe in the decisions of the Supreme Court and as long as I am governor of the state there will be no mixing of the races in schools and colleges at any time or any place."

Former Gov. Herman Talmadge told the cheering overflow meeting of some 600 persons in this southwest Georgia city:

"The meeting here today is the beginning of a great crusade which will sweep the state and southern regions to let the world know regardless of what the Supreme Court says, does or thinks that by the grace of God Georgia will continue running its own affairs."

Referring to members of the high tribunal as "peanut politicians," Talmadge declared: "We fought overseas to keep our rights, why not at home?"

Council Readies SUI Elections

(By ELLEN FERNANDEZ)
SUI student apathy was hit Wednesday as the Student Council campus election committee prepared for all-campus elections March 21.

Sandra Miller, 28, Davenport, committee head, pointed out that 2,000 male students voted for Miss SUI this year while all-campus elections last year drew only 1,900 students of both sexes to the polls.

To stimulate student interest in the elections, the committee hopes to introduce candidates at a Union dance. It is not known how the dance would be financed.

Decorations for the dance would consist of various campaign platforms posted around the Union.

One problem with elections in past years, the committee noted, was that candidates seldom had a concrete platform and seldom expressed their views on campus issues. With no platform announced, students could see no definite results from the candidates elected.

Another change from previous years' elections will be the appointing of campaign managers for candidates for senior class offices, Union board, Panacea board, Student Publications, Inc., and Student Council.

Housing-Unit Campaign

It is hoped that campaign managers will bring their candidates' platforms to the students by campaigning in housing units, on campus and through posters and speeches.

This year information on elections will be handed out during spring registration, Miss Miller said. The Student Council will use a sound truck again this year to promote the elections.

Plans for polling centers on campus have been revised by the Student Council, Miss Miller said. This year there will be no polling places in Currier or Quadrangle dormitories.

"We feel that placing polls in the dormitories is like having polls in your own home," Miss Miller said.

"If there are polls in the dorms, it could be argued that they should be placed in sorority and fraternity houses."

"We hope this will prevent block voting and encourage the student to think for himself. We think it's much more fair to have polls only on campus."

Plans 7 Polling Places

Plans call for seven polling places: two polling places each at University and Schaeffer Halls, one each at the Iowa Memorial Union, East Hall, University Library, Chemistry Building and the Medical Laboratories.

It was suggested that each polling place post information on which students are eligible to vote for which offices. Also proposed

Illness Not Due to Food, Doctor Says

(By HAROLD SCHWARTZ)
A virus infection of "epidemic" proportions has hit Hillcrest Dormitory, Dr. Chester I. Miller, head of the SUI Student Health Service, said Wednesday.

"Hillcrest has estimated that 157 of the 679 students living there (about 23 per cent) have come down with a mild virus infection," Dr. Miller said.

"The outbreak occurred in the last 24 hours." The first cases, he said, were reported about 3 a.m.

Dr. Miller indicated to dormitory officials that the illness was not food poisoning but that the virus might have been spread through contact with food by an infected person.

More Sick Than Usual

Dr. Miller said many more students than usual came to Student Health Wednesday.

"Since the beginning of the year, we have had from 5 to 15 students a day coming down with the infection. Wednesday more than 50 students reported to the Health Service with it," he said.

He listed as possible causes of the sudden outbreak:

1. Contact with individuals (perhaps as few as five) who had it over the last few days. They may have served as carriers to the others. He said that it spreads quickly.

2. Possible contamination of the food by a person or persons who had the virus.

3. Nose and throat contact with those who have the virus.

There was not an unusual number of virus illnesses in the Quadrangle and South Quadrangle men's dormitories or in other student housing units.

Quadrangle officials reported "no more than the usual number" of illnesses. Officials at South Quadrangle said there were no students sick in bed there.

Doesn't Expect Worse

Dr. Miller said he does not expect the situation to get any worse.

He added, however, that this year there may be more virus cases reported to Student Health than in 1955.

In 1955, 567 cases of virus infection came to the office for aid. So far this year 120 have reported for treatment, Miller said.

The 50 who reported Wednesday, the majority from Hillcrest, were less than a third of the number who actually had the virus. Others either remained in bed or went about their usual duties.

Sickness Recent

Dr. Miller, who has been associated with Student Health since 1928, said that very few such cases

Nolan Won't Handle Case

State Senator D. C. Nolan (Iowa City) declared Wednesday he would withdraw from a case in which he has been reported to have conflicting interests "if the case ever came to trial."

Nolan made the statement after Russell F. Lundy, State Highway Commission chairman, raised the question of whether it is proper for Nolan to handle certain lawsuits both for and against the commission.

Nolan said he had not handled any cases for the commission since he was elected to the Senate in 1952.

He said the case referred to was probably one in which he represented the state several years ago.

The matter came up Tuesday when Norman Erbe, assistant attorney general, reported on the status of cases involving condemnation of land for highway purposes.

Erbe said Nolan was acting as attorney for the state in one case but in another represents clients objecting to condemnation of their land.

Nolan said he had informed commission officials "I would prefer to withdraw if the case ever came to trial."

Needed: A New China Policy

Two recent events should have convinced the State Department that something must be done about Chiang Kai-Shek and his Nationalist government. Nationalist China is becoming an embarrassing problem for the United States and a definite liability in our fight against communism.

The first of these events was the Nationalist Chinese United Nations veto on UN membership for Outer Mongolia. This veto almost killed the entrance of 16 nations into the assembly. Russia offered a compromise by which the 16 were allowed to enter the assembly. But Japan, a friend and strong ally of the free world, was kept out by China's ill-tempered action.

The Nationalist Chinese, who control one of the five UN vetoes, have become an obstructionist force in the UN and have indicated that they may become as troublesome and unreasonable in the future as Russia has been in the past.

Many UN members, including most of our close allies, have wanted for some time to dump Nationalist China from the powerful security council (and perhaps from the UN). They feel this way not because they approve of communism — most are strongly anti-Communist nations — but because they want to face the reality that the Communist government is the true government of China.

Few UN observers believe that even the United States can save Nationalist China from expulsion this year. If we continue to fight for Chiang in the UN, we face a defeat that will injure our prestige as leader of the free world.

Then came Chiang's Christmas threat (he makes them periodically) that he would soon launch an attack on the mainland from his Formosa retreat. He has a large army and a small air force of American-made jets.

CHIANG

Our Seventh Fleet patrols the waters of the Formosa Strait to protect him from a Red invasion. Would it be used to stop Chiang? Would we stand by and watch him crushed by a larger Red Chinese army in any invasion? Would we be forced to support him? Or would we use pressures to prevent any attack? These questions may someday have to be answered.

Our present China policy evidently is: Hold Formosa, don't recognize Red China, and continue to claim that the Nationalist government is the rightful ruler of China.

How has this thwarted the Chinese Communists? It isn't keeping Chiang's army, which fled to Formosa with him in 1949, from getting older. The average age of the Nationalist soldier is past 30 — too old for an effective fighting force. And the population of Formosa is too small (seven million) to give him replacements.

It hasn't stopped the Communists from crushing all opposition within China. They have given China its first strong, centralized government in history.

It hasn't stopped Chinese Red armies from fighting us to a stand-still in Korea. It isn't stopping them from building roads and dams and a modern China.

And it hasn't stopped the remainder of the world's nations from recognizing them and dealing with them, politically and economically.

Why are we clinging to a policy that promises us nothing but troubles and crises and further loss of prestige in the years to come?

Both parties must assume part of the blame for this predicament. This policy, like most of our foreign policies, was started by the Truman administration and strengthened by the Eisenhower administration. Senators Knowland and McCarthy are the firmest and loudest supporters of the policy and leaders of both parties seem to be afraid to pick a fight with them over it.

The shooting in Korea ended 30 months ago. We have since engaged in a major conference (Geneva, 1954) with the Chinese Reds. We have sat down with them alone at the conference table to discuss the release of Americans they are holding as hostages.

There is no longer an excuse for not going the rest of the way. The United States should recognize Red China, send an ambassador to Peiping, and treat Red China as an equal in the family of nations.

It is time to bring Red China into the UN. This does mean that Nationalist China should be expelled. And it would not be wise to give a new member like Red China Nationalist China's Security Council seat. It would be better to give this seat to a nation such as India which is a truly democratic nation and a neutral in the Cold War. And all of these changes will be far better than the present pretense that a government that controls only seven million people is entitled to recognition as a Big Five power.

What can be done about Chiang and his Nationalist government?

This is where the situation gets ticklish. We have accepted him as an ally. We can't unceremoniously dump him.

One answer would be a Two-Chinas Policy. We could recognize both Red and Nationalist China as independent and sovereign nations. But this won't satisfy either side.

The best solution might be to force the Nationalist government to turn Formosa over to UN control for a period.

A plebiscite at a later date (1960 or later) could be held to allow the people of Formosa to decide whether they want to join Red China or remain an independent nation. If they voted for independence, as they probably would, we will have proof to show the world that we are not maintaining a puppet government on Formosa.

Will steps like these harm the United States and help Red China?

They will bring Red China into the UN as a nation with prestige. No longer will Russia be China's mouthpiece to the outside world. China will be less inclined to accept Russian domination. Now she must depend upon Russia to speak for her. She will not become independent of Moscow domination overnight, but the opportunity will be there. It isn't now.

This change in policy won't give the Reds an inch of extra territory. It won't help feed their people, build their dams or highways, or equip their armies.

And it's inevitable if the United States wishes to remain the leader of the free world.

Sickness at Hillcrest

The first rumors Wednesday morning around campus went like this: "Three-fourths of the kids at Hillcrest are sick in bed. . . it's ptomaine poisoning. . . they came down sick last night and this morning. . . must have been in the supper. . . some of the kids are leaving."

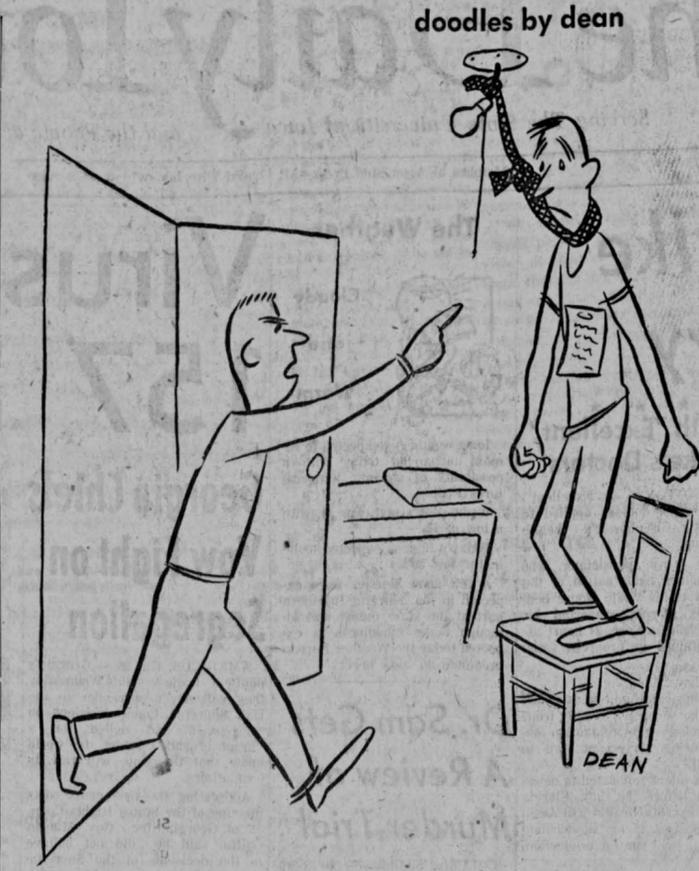

These statements show how fast wild stories can spread. They become wilder and wilder as they pass from mouth to mouth. "Some kids are sick" becomes "a lot of kids are sick" which in turn becomes "most of the kids" and, in time, "three-fourths of the kids."

A dormitory survey Wednesday night showed that only 23 per cent of the students were in the hospital infirmary or their beds. Many more, of course, were attending classes despite a queasy feeling in the stomach.

Hospital doctors and dormitory officials say that there is no chance of food poisoning of any type. The students showed the symptoms of stomach flu or some sort of virus infection — nothing more. That, at least, is encouraging.

Only one boy was taken out of the dormitory by his parents Wednesday. But newspaper and radio and television stations have carried the story around the state. Hillcrest, like all SUI dormitories, has the most complete health inspections state laws provide for. An outbreak of sickness, however, just doesn't sweep a dormitory without cause. SUI officials will have to make some sort of explanation.

Comic Book Problem

Crime comics read partly because no other simple, interesting material is at hand

Following are excerpts from "Chalkdust," a weekly presentation of radio station WSUI. They are taken from the program of Dec. 2.

By DAVID STEWART
Co-ordinator of Elementary Education for Iowa City Public Schools

Over the years we have decried penny dreadfuls, yellow journalism, undue amounts of crime in the press, the tabloid treatment of horror, sex, and violence.

We have cleaned up the movies at least three times. Excessive violence in television has been a subject of recent Congressional investigation.

Today the crime, sex and horror comic books are under scrutiny. It is not so easy to determine what periodically brings the critical pot to a boil in these recurrent criticisms of the mass media.

Perhaps the 45 per cent increase in juvenile delinquency in the 5-year period 1948-1953 has led us to search for scapegoats and valid causes. Lurid sex and crime covers on paperback books in thousands of retail outlets may have made the problem of reading materials visible.

The National Congress of Parents and Teachers, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and many other organizations began study and action in the field of crime comic books. John Mason Brown attacked comics as the "Marijuana of the nursery."

On the first page of a detective comic book I looked at not too long ago: guns were used three times, there was one robbery, and one prison break was made successful. By the time the 7-page story was finished, 15 people had been killed, 7 robberies had been committed, and 23 shots had been fired. There had been 2 love scenes, one safe-cracking, one slugging, and a scene where a woman was slapped.

The rest of the magazine introduced the use of guns, knives, daggers, swords, toy pistols, machine guns, automobiles, clubs and beer bottle as weapons for criminal doings. The five stories following repeated themes of greed, murder, sex, and lust.

Criticism was brought to a sharp focus in the volume "The Seduction of the Innocent" by Dr. Fredrick Wertham, a well known psychiatrist.

Among the charges brought against crime and horror comic books were:

1. They contribute to delinquency.
 2. They are "sadistic drivel that depend for their appeal upon mayhem, murder, torture and abduction."
 3. They waste time and money and lead to poor reading habits.
 4. They make aggression too easy, too attractive, make children more fearful.
 5. Their black-and-white stereotypes, their one-dimensional world of bad men and good men, prevent growth in understanding of oneself or other people.
 6. They distort personal and social values, cause ethical confusion, lead to violence rather than to reasoning in the solving of problems.
- An interesting and challenging body of information on the juvenile delinquency and comic books is provided in the report of hearings before the Senate subcommittee to investigate juvenile delinquency. The report is judicial and contains the viewpoints of psychiatrists, sociologists, cartoonists, publishers of comic books, and others.
- What are some of its conclusions? Four major conclusions received substantial agreement from experts:
1. "That the reading of a crime comic will not cause a well-adjusted and well-socialized boy or girl to go out and commit crime.
 2. "There may be a detrimental and delinquency-producing effect upon some emotionally disturbed children who may gain suggestion, support, and sanction for acting out (their) own hostile and aggressive feeling (s)."
 3. "There is reason to believe that as among youngsters, the most avid and extensive consumers of comics are the very boys and girls less able to tolerate this type of material."
 4. "Excessive reading of materials of this kind in itself is symptomatic of some emotional maladjustment in a youngster."
- Nothing very concrete was presented on the effect of crime comic books on reading tastes and habits.
- But crime comics are read partly because they are the only simple and interesting materials at hand. If comics do have some kind of effect, what can we do about it? First, we can expect that the comic book publishers will show their social responsibility by giving thoughtful and vigorous support to the successful operation of their newly adopted code.
- Second, parents can give increased attention to the reading material available to their children at home, at school, in libraries, on the sales counters. They can help their children choose books to read and to buy.
- Third, schools and libraries can cooperate with parents and other citizens to provide finger-tip availability for excellent reading materials.
- Fourth, we can see what reading materials are being sold to children and young people. We can ask responsible dealers not to stock those comics which reasonable people think may have a harmful effect. They can say "No" to irresponsible wholesalers. If the publishers adhere to their code, preference should be given to comic books bearing the appropriate seal of approval.
- Fifth, we can provide better intellectual and emotional outlets than are furnished by comic books. We can provide more creative first-hand experiences through art classes, dramatics, camping, hiking, crafts, music, athletics, dancing, model building, nature study, science activities. We are living too much of our lives at second-hand.
- Sixth, we can do a better job of teaching critical, discriminating reading. Some children have their reading skills and abilities arrested at the level of the comics. They need more supervision and guidance so that they can become more comfortable in their reading experiences with books.
- According to a Gallup poll, only 39 per cent of the college-trained adults were reading "some" books, 19 per cent of the high school-educated, and 7 per cent who had only a grade school education. That means that 35 per cent of our adult population never reads a book.
- Seventh, we should try to avoid legal censorship. It is likely to prove no more effective than motion picture censorship. It is likely to prove no more effective than motion picture censorship. Further, it sets up false hopes that excellent reading fare is thus insured. At its best, it would remove bad, but it could not create the good.
- Eighth, let us look at all the mass media and ask: Why do they contain so much violence? What is so profoundly appealing about crime, sex, and horror literature, TV, or comics?
- Have the emotions of love, generosity, and affection become so uncommon, so meager, so thin, that the emotions of fear, hate, envy, lust, and aggression have taken their place?
- Have our tastes been debauched? Can a whole society be sick, and if so, how do you cure it?
- We have not seen the road to good life clearly enough. Many seeking the goal have lacked the guidance to get there. And some who saw the goal, who knew the way to reach it, lacked the will, the heart, the drive, the purpose to move along that road in the face of tough obstacles.
- We need to see crime comics in the context of an industrial society not yet in charge of itself.
- Our schools and colleges can certainly attack directly the problem of helping students determine their own tastes instead of having them dictated by outside sources.

RICHEY'S . . . "Where your dollar buys more . . . of the best!"

By TERRY BLEDSOE

Hawkeye fans who until Monday night were moaning about the surprisingly unspectacular performance of the Hawks had at least one consolation — Iowa wasn't alone, not by a long shot.

Big Ten favorites (pre-season variety) have been tripping over themselves trying to reach the nether regions of the league ever since the long season opened a week ago.

At this writing, only Illinois had managed to keep its record unblemished. All other teams had suffered a single loss except Northwestern and Wisconsin, both of whom have already staked impressive claims to the basement, the Badgers with three straight losses and the Wildcats with two.

Illini Top Dog

Illinois, currently the league's top team, holds that spot on the merits of a pair of victories, a 73-65 victory over Michigan State, and a 96-77 mauling of Wisconsin. The win over the Spartans (who in the next game rebounded with the 65-64 squeak over Iowa) was accomplished at least partially due to the absence of State center Duane Peterson, a strong rebounder with an 11.5 average, who was held out of the Illinois game entirely.

Indiana, another top pick for the title, got its knocks Monday night, when Minnesota pulled a 77-71 upset. But lest any of Herky's readers get any ideas about the Gophers' potency, let us hasten to add that Michigan toppled the Gophers, 81-79.

Topsy-Turvy

Like Michigan, then? They in their turn were beaten by 13 points by the same Ohio State team which Iowa whipped by 15, 88-73. Purdue may be stronger than suspected, but Ron Kramer and Co. handed the Boiler-makers a 74-67 defeat Monday night.

Sound complicated? It is. The gyrations in the short period of time since season's start have, as mentioned, given Illinois the lead, with a 2-0 mark. Three teams are in second place with 2-1 records: Indiana, Michigan, and Purdue, and next come four teams in a dead heat for fifth place, Iowa, Minnesota, Ohio State, and Michigan State.

Iowa Still Figures

So the race, provided Illinois takes its allotted fall, is completely up in the air. As Iowa Coach Bucky O'Connor pointed out this week: "We're still in the middle of things. This victory (Ohio State) gives us the boost we needed, and we are going to be tough to stop for a lot of teams."

The complete dominance of the Iowans Monday night may be an indication that Bucky is right. The way Iowa completely dismantled the Buckeyes — well, all except Robin Freeman, anyhow — lends credence to the idea that perhaps Iowa has found its footing at last.

It took a poor start to do it (already the team has as many losses as were recorded in either of the last two complete seasons) but the team seems to be ready to assume its rightful place among the league's more distinguished members.

Cain Looks Sweet

Particularly encouraging has been the scoring of Carl Cain in recent games. The lithe forward has been scoring as well in the last two games as he has at any time in his career, with 20 and 19 points in the first two conference games, and a 16-point-plus mark for the season. His rebounding, always one of his stronger assets, has been outstanding, and his shooting has been good.

Cain leads a group which, in the Ohio game, gave Iowa the punch it will need to challenge for a repeat championship. Cain is averaging 19.5 in conference play, Bill Seaberg 18.

Schoof Improves

Center Bill Logan has a 14-point average, and Bill Schoof, playing better than he has at any time in memory, is good for a 13-point per game average in conference games. Scoring balance of this calibre, certainly among the best in the league, is Iowa's true forte, and is a necessary ingredient to a successful season.

If Iowa can maintain that all-important balance through the long season, it will be in the middle of the fight come March, when the climactic games, Illinois and Indiana in succession, will be run off at Iowa City. Those dates might be marked in your calendar; even at this early date they promise to be important ones.

St. Mary's Beats St. Pat's CR, 86-51

By JIM NEY

St. Mary's Ramblers lived up to their nickname again Wednesday as they crushed outclassed Cedar Rapids at St. Patrick's 86-51 here, gaining their 13th straight win and their eighth in Northeast Iowa Catholic league competition.

The Ramblers started fast, opening a 10-4 gap with only three and a half minutes gone. Dennis Walljasper, 6-foot 4-inch center, scored four field goals, and Don Lumsden and Jim Jensen chipped in two field goals apiece to boost St. Mary's into an 18-7 bulge at the end of eight minutes.

Dave Maher hit four long jump shots and two free throws in the second quarter as the Iowa City five moved into a commanding 45-21 halftime advantage.

Cold Teammates

Guard Charlie Shillig of St. Pat's, who ended up with 23 points to lead his team's scoring, fired in 10 points in the first half, but could not get enough help from his cold teammates.

Lumsden hit eight of his 16 points in the last half, and along with Walljasper controlled both the offensive and defensive rebounds.

Tom Cunningham and Shillig, St. Pat's guards who together scored 40 of their team's points, gave the Ramblers trouble from time to time with fast breaks. They narrowed the margin to 70-43.

Sends in Subs

But St. Mary's, with Lumsden and Jensen hitting two field goals apiece, moved ahead 80-45 within two minutes, and Coach Don Green started sending in the reserves.

Walljasper took scoring honors with 24.

In the curtain raiser, the St. Mary's reserves beat St. Pat's, 36-27. Paul Langenberg and Mike Blackman led the St. Mary's scoring with 12 and 10. Young was high for St. Pat's with 9.

READY TO SPRING for a rebound are these Iowa City St. Mary's and Cedar Rapids St. Patrick's players in Wednesday night's hoop contest here. However, their efforts were not necessary as St. Mary's Dave Maher's free throw split the cords in the first half. St. Mary's players are: (left to right in white jerseys) Don Lumsden, Kenny Klein (No. 4), and Dennis Walljasper (No. 11). St. Patrick's players are Purfall (No. 25), Gibbs, (between Lumsden and Klein) and Rose (No. 30).

Iowa Matmen Open Season Here Friday

Iowa's wrestling team, one of the Hawkeyes' best balanced squads in years, opens the season here against Wisconsin at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Iowa, second place finisher in the Big Ten last year, will be led by four veterans, including two conference champs. Top man is Terry McCann, National Collegiate 115-pound champion and Big Ten 123-pound winner.

John Winder, twice a conference titlist, will wrestle at 167. Kenneth Leuer, who was second in the National Collegiate 191-pound division, handles the heavyweight job.

Three of the sophomores are former state champions. They are Gary Klemesrud, 130, Asage; Simon Roberts, 147, Davenport; and Ralph Rieks, 137, Iowa Falls. Harlan Jenkinson and Gary Meyers round out the squad.

Wisconsin has won three meets this year, beating Wheaton, 15-11; Illinois Normal, 22-7; and Northwestern, 26-5.

The heavyweight match shapes up as the outstanding bout. Leuer will face conference champion Bob Konovsky, who last year beat Leuer twice, 2-0 and 2-1.

The athletic directors, Edward W. Krause of the Irish and Brutus Hamilton of California, said Wednesday that Notre Dame will play at Berkeley Oct. 10, 1959, and the Golden Bears at South Bend Sept. 24, 1960.

Jones Denies Canadian Pro Pact

Calvin Jones, Iowa's all-American guard, denied a Los Angeles newspaper report Wednesday that he had signed a pro football contract with a Canadian team.

Reports from the Associated Press said that Jones had come to terms with Bill Boiven, general manager of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of Canada's Western Inter-provincial Football league. The rumor held that Jones would receive $12,000 plus a $1,000 bonus.

"I haven't signed with anybody yet," Jones said, "but Winnipeg has made an offer to me." He just returned to school from playing in the Hula Bowl in Hawaii.

New York Breaks Up Fight Managers' Guild

NEW YORK — The Boxing Guild of New York Wednesday night recommended that all of its members who are licensed in New York resign from the organization, but refused to surrender completely to Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission.

In a 15-minute meeting, the Guild said it recognized the irreparable damage that would be imposed on its members if their licenses were revoked.

Helfand has fixed Monday, Jan. 16 as the date for managers to divorce themselves from the local Guild or lose their licenses.

The Guild also voted to remain intact and test the validity of Helfand's ruling in the New York State Supreme Court.

To Test Ruling

The members of the Guild who are not licensed in New York, estimated at about one-third of the membership of 69, would remain to test the case in the courts.

Other managers, like Al Weill, boss of heavyweight champ Rocky Marciano, had wired their resignations.

From Buffalo came word that the most prominent managers in the 38-member Western New York Guild, largest affiliate of the International Boxing Guild, had announced they were through.

No More Dues

John Dejohn and Joe Netro, co-managers of welterweight champion Carmen Basilio, said in Syracuse they would pay no more Guild dues. Mike Scanlon, manager of Joey Giambra, middleweight contender, said he, too, was out.

From Grand Rapids, Mich., came news that the International Boxing Guild had been banned in Michigan. Commissioner Floyd Stevens said he will urge the NBA to join "this or any movement that will preserve the sport's integrity and chase out the evil influences such as have been uncovered." We will not permit any boxing show or set of shows to come into Michigan that do not conform to all standards of our concept of the sport."

Thus the various affiliates of the International Boxing Guild, which was indicted Tuesday by a federal grand jury in Cleveland for boycotting and other alleged violations of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, may face a group of united commissions.

Iowa City Enters AAU Cage Meet

MARSHALLTOWN — Four teams are already entered in the 1956 Iowa AAU men's basketball tournament to be held here Feb. 5-12, Westin Jacobson, in charge of entries, said Wednesday.

Most recent entry is a team sponsored by the Iowa City Eagles lodge, which includes on its roster Gene Hettrick, leading scorer of the 1955 AAU tournament here.

Entries close at 2 p.m. Jan. 29 and no more than 25 teams can be accepted, Jacobson said.

Cagers Work On Offense Against Zone

Iowa's basketball team got its second straight lesson in ball-handling against a zone defense Wednesday as the Hawkeyes prepare for the Minnesota invasion Saturday.

Scout Rollie Williams brought back a report that Minnesota used a zone defense briefly in the Gophers 81-79 overtime loss to Michigan. Monday Minnesota's zone accounted for an upset victory over Indiana, 77-71.

More passing and less dribbling has been the emphasis in the Iowa practices this week against the freshman squad.

The frosh zone defense has kept the varsity's shooters farther away from the basket. However, the Hawks have kept up the offensive pace shown in their 88-73 win over Ohio State Monday, hitting a high percentage Wednesday.

Coach Bucky O'Connor believes that the team has regained its "touch" after the four-game losing streak. Against Ohio State Iowa shot about 39 per cent from the field.

O'Connor was pleased with the free throwing which netted 18 points in 20 attempts in the second half alone.

Place Two Minnesota Cagers on Doubtful List

MINNEAPOLIS — Minnesota's chances against favored Iowa in Saturday's Big Ten basketball clash at Iowa City were dimmed Wednesday as two top forwards were placed on the doubtful list.

George Kline stayed out of practice with a severe head cold or possibly a case of flu. Jerry Kindall was sidelined with a pulled leg muscle suffered in Monday's game.

NCAA To Hold Cage Tournery in 2 Divisions

LOS ANGELES — The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. (NCAA) voted Wednesday to split its annual tournament into two divisions and approved continued controls on football television.

The 212 voting delegates, representing colleges and universities from coast to coast, were denied a chance to express themselves on recruiting practices by withdrawal of a proposed amendment. It would have placed national regulations on the inducement of high school athletic talent.

The television resolution as approved for appointment of a committee to set up a 1956 plan modeled along the lines of last fall's program which authorized eight national and five regional games for living-room screens.

The 1957 cage tournament will be divided into "university" and "college" sections, but no enrollment figures were set for the split. Instead, "schools will be permitted to select the division in which they will compete."

J. Shober Barr, Franklin and Marshall College, explained that schools should be given that opportunity because many smaller institutions, specialize in basketball and compete on even terms with large universities.

An attempt by Col. Blake Van Leer, president of Georgia Tech, to wipe all recruiting regulations from the NCAA books was ruled out of order by Pres. Clarence P. (Pop) Houston of Tufts. His decision was upheld by the convention.

Van Leer declared "we make ourselves as silly as boobies when we try to get into the enforcement business."

Dr. Larson Describes Role Of Doctors in Rehabilitation

A group of medical educators at SUI described the physicians role in vocational rehabilitation Wednesday for members of a Workshop in Rehabilitation Counseling.

The workshop is being sponsored by the University for professional staff members of the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation in the State Department of Public Instruction.

Dr. Carroll B. Larson, head of the SUI Department of Orthopedic Surgery, said it's helpful for a rehabilitation counselor to know whether a person capable of 75 per cent normal activity now will be capable of only one-third that activity in five years.

Helps To Overcome Handicap
If a doctor is able to tell that to a counselor, rehabilitation can be aimed at overcoming the greater handicap, Dr. Larson said. Having such information might eliminate a need for two periods of rehabilitation, he added.

Doctors also can decide what can be done surgically to remove physical handicaps, he said, and advise counselors when rehabilitation can start.

Often, he pointed out, the training can start during, rather than after, convalescence.

Dr. Paul Huston, head of the SUI Psychiatry Department, told the group that a program aimed at only one aspect of a case may "misfire." Like Dr. Larson, Huston emphasized the importance of understanding the patient.

Program for Individual
Dr. Huston also said any rehabilitation program must be an individualized one.

"Some rehabilitation patients can be helped with drugs," he said. "Others can be helped by various organizations. But in every case, the rehabilitation program should be made to fit the needs of the individual patient."

Dr. L. E. January, professor of internal medicine at SUI, described some of the more common forms of heart disease.

He said it's the "exception" when a person dies from the first coronary heart attack.

95 Per Cent Recover
In cases of mild first attacks, he said, about 95 per cent of the victims recover, and about half of those who suffer severe initial attacks recover.

"It's my conviction," Dr. January said, "that victims of this particular form of heart disease can usually return to at least some form of gainful occupation."

Dr. William D. Paul, professor of internal medicine, was moderator of the panel. He told the group that rehabilitation is much too complicated from the medical point of view to say: "Let's rehabilitate this person and he can then go out to work."

Dr. Miller To Discuss Help of Psychiatry

Dr. Wilbur R. Miller, director of the SUI Psychopathic Hospital, will speak at Information First this afternoon. Dr. Miller will discuss "How Psychiatry Can Help Us Understand Ourselves."

The Information First lecture will be at 4 p.m. in the Senate Chamber of Old Capitol.

Dr. Miller joined the SUI faculty in 1930. He was appointed head of the Department of Psychiatry in 1943 and director of the Psychopathic Hospital in 1944.

Since he has been at SUI, Dr. Miller has had a number of articles printed in medical publications.

The lecture today will be the third in the 1955-56 Information First series. The theme of this year's lectures is "Knowledge, the Last Best Hope of Mankind."

The purpose of Information First, sponsored by the University Women's Assn., is to give information on national and international problems.

Information First is open to the public as well as to SUI students and faculty members.

Adele Davis, A2, Davenport, chairman of today's lecture, will introduce Dr. Miller.

The next Information First lecture will be Feb. 16.

To Show Paintings By Local Artists

Mrs. Zora DuVall and John Kacere—both former SUI students in art—are the local artists to be represented in the Cedar Rapids Art Association's exhibition of paintings in the Cedar Rapids Public Library Sunday.

Mrs. DuVall received her M.A. degree from SUI in 1948; Kacere received his B.F.A. and M.F.A. here.

HUBCAPS STOLEN

Ted Padzensky, A1, Cedar Rapids, reported to police Wednesday the theft of two hubcaps from his 1951 model automobile sometime between 8 p.m. and midnight Tuesday. The car was parked in the SUI library lot.

U-HOSPITALS — Christina Sturdevant, SUI graduate in 1955, has been appointed to the staff of the Occupational Therapy Department at University Hospitals.

TV FEATURE — Furs, feathers and fins will be the subject of this week's "Adventures in Art" television program, produced by SUI for televising over WOI-TV, Ames, at 1:30 p.m. Friday.

PLAY FESTIVAL — The 28th annual Iowa Play Production Festival will be held at SUI, April 6-14.

Car Owner Reports Tire Cut by Vandals

A case of vandalism involving a car owned by Harold D. Larew, 201 Woolf Ave., was reported to police late Tuesday.

Larew told authorities one of the car's tires was slashed with a sharp object while the car was parked in an alley lot off Linn Street.

Prof. Ojemann Gets Invitation To Join Safety Commission

Prof. Ralph H. Ojemann, chairman of SUI's Preventive Psychiatry research program, has been invited to accept membership on the National Commission on Safety Education.

The purpose of the committee is to develop a research program in safety education.

Investigations of accidents, Ojemann explained, have given increasing indication that many of the basic causes of accidents lie in the emotional adjustment of driver and pedestrian.

Most of the emphasis has been given to teaching driver skill and knowledge of traffic rules, he added. These are helpful but they are not sufficient. The problem goes deeper into the emotional life of the individual, Ojemann said.

He will attend meetings of the National Commission on Safety Education Friday through Tuesday in Washington, D.C.

He now is in New York City attending a session of the Education Commission of the National Association for Mental Health which will end today.

Steele, SUI Auditor, Dies Wednesday

Maurice E. Steele, 66, 307 Grand Ave., an SUI auditor, died Wednesday at Mercy Hospital after a short illness.

He has been hospitalized since Jan. 2 with a heart ailment.

He is survived by his wife, Meda, a son, the Rev. George Steele of Cedar Falls; three grandchildren, and a brother, Meryl, Washington.

Services will be conducted in the Iowa City Presbyterian church at 1:30 p.m. Friday. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery at Toledo, Iowa.

2 SUI Doctors To Tell Rotary About Cancer

Dr. Norman B. Nelson and Dr. Robert C. Hickey, dean and assistant dean of the SUI College of Medicine, will be the guest speakers at the Iowa City Rotary Club today.

They will speak on cancer research and treatment.

CHILD STUDY BROADCAST

Prof. Orvis Irwin of the Iowa Child Welfare Research Station will speak today at 12:45 p.m. on the weekly Child Study Program, "Know Your Children," broadcast by radio station WSUI. Irwin's subject will be "Helping Them to Learn to Talk."

Edward S. Rose says—

Questioning 2 Men About Missing Girl

NEW YORK (AP)—A young salesman was held Wednesday in the mysterious disappearance of his blonde sweetheart after a Christmas Eve rendezvous at his apartment. Police believe the girl dead.

The body of Jacqueline Smith, 20, has not been found. Deputy Chief Inspector Edward Byrnes said there is a possibility the body may have been discarded.

The man, Thomas G. Daniels, 24, was held in $25,000 bond as a material witness. Authorities said he had knowledge of the girl's death but that the killer apparently was another person.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Alexander Herman said Miss Smith was almost certainly the victim of a "criminal homicide — a legal charge that could cover her death at the hands of an abortionist.

An unidentified man was also under police questioning in the case. Seized in his apartment was a black valise containing doctor's instruments. Inspector Byrnes said some of them could be used for abortion purposes.

Police at first quoted Daniels as saying Miss Smith killed herself in Japanese hara-kari fashion when he refused to marry her. He reportedly told them he dumped her body in the Hudson River afterwards.

The prosecutor said it was information from Daniels that led to the search for the unidentified killer.

Lions Hear Figures On Auto Fatalities

Marvin N. Christensen, Iowa City Lions Club member, gave the Lions several statistics concerning automobile fatality on a national scale Wednesday at the club's luncheon meeting. Christensen also gave some "tips" about traffic safety.

The club normally meets at the Mad Hatter Tea Room but Wednesday held its luncheon at the Mayflower Inn.

Tighten Rule In Algeria

PARIS (AP)—The French Cabinet Wednesday clamped a tight rule over the mountainous coastal region of Algeria in an attempt to stamp out rebel terrorists who have killed 36 persons in the past 24 hours.

The unified command, which merges civil and military powers, was ordered for the Kabylie area, which stretches along the coast for 1500 miles east of Algeria and includes rugged mountains and productive coastal farms.

The rebels, fighting to overthrow French rule, drift down at night to terrorize farmers.

Two other commands, described as working effectively, have already been set up in northeast Algeria.

Rebels of the so-called national liberation army have spread terror in all three sections since the outbreak of the insurrection 15 months ago.

In some parts of the Kabylie region military protection is so thin farmers are forced to take refuge in the towns at night. Recently an entire 13-man French and Algerian garrison was kidnaped by rebels within sight of Algiers.

The 36 dead in Algeria in the past 24 hours included 27 nationalist rebels and 9 pro-French Algerians.

County Education Unit To Continue School Discussions

Members of Johnson County's Conference on Education agreed Wednesday night to continue their discussions of educational problems rather than disband as originally planned.

Lawrence T. Wade, chairman of the conference, said he would call the members together early next fall to plan a program of discussion.

Speaking in behalf of Gov. Leo A. Hoegh, Arthur Carpenter, assistant superintendent of the supervision and curriculum division of the state board of public instruction, urged the County Council on Education to continue discussions of educational problems.

Carpenter reported on the recent White House Education Conference which he attended as a delegate from Iowa.

Council Elections

It was decided to continue the use of multiple ballots, instead of a suggested all-inclusive one-piece ballot, because of the difficulty in tabulating the longer ballot.

Students will have a chance to vote for officers and representatives for 13 groups during all-campus elections: Young Women's Christian Assn., Union board, Student Publications, Inc., senior class officers, Women's Recreation Assn., University Women's Assn., Panacea board, Mortar Board, Student Council, Married Students group, student class officers in the College of Commerce, Town Men, and Town Women.

Young Demos Talk Of Trip to Adlai

The SUI Young Democrats will meet today at 7:30 p.m. in room 203 Schaeffer Hall to discuss the possibility of a student caravan to Adlai Stevenson's farm near Chicago. They plan to ask Stevenson to speak in Iowa City, John E. Christensen, Jr., A4, Iowa City, president of the group, said Wednesday.

The group also will hear reports of delegates to the CIO political action committee meeting in Dubuque and the Stevenson meeting in Des Moines, he said.

The meeting will be a general review of the semester's activities.

Radioactivity In Cobalt Endangers 4

MILFORD, Conn. (AP)—Four men learned Wednesday that weeks of uncertainty lie ahead for them because of their unwitting exposure to a capsule of radioactive cobalt.

A Geiger counter betrayed the presence of the cobalt in an automobile in which the men arrived for work at a construction job.

Whether they suffered any harm, a hospital spokesman said, can be determined only after a long series of tests even though the men appeared in good condition.

The capsule, used to spot defects in structural steel and piping, disappeared from the job Tuesday.

Benjamin Zowacki, 33, Norwich, said he took it because he wanted the string by which the capsule hung from a pipe. He didn't know, he said, that the capsule measuring an inch and a half was dangerous.

"I didn't know anything about it until this morning when they stopped me and asked what I had in my car," Zowacki said.

Zowacki was admitted to Bridgeport Hospital.

Zowacki's companions were discharged after preliminary tests. They were told, however, they must report periodically beginning Monday for further tests.

They are Thomas Brennan, 36, Norwich; Zenas Snyder, 69, Providence, R.I.; and Stanley Gabryszewski, 39, Milford.

Civil War Veteran Rests in Hospital

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—Albert Woolson, 108, last Union Army veteran of the Civil War, was hospitalized here Wednesday.

Mrs. John Kobus, Woolson's daughter, said he had been treated several times for a form of lung congestion since Thanksgiving Day.

Mrs. Kobus said her father's condition is not serious, and that he was hospitalized only to restore his strength.

Hillcrest

There were several "unfounded and highly imaginary rumors" being circulated throughout the dormitory and SUI concerning the illness, said Martha Van Nostrand, manager of Hillcrest.

The "estimates" of the number who had contracted the virus got the greatest batting around. Several students in the dormitory said that about half the dormitory were ill. Others were willing to guess at more than 400.

"Another rumor, and one of a more serious nature, was that the cause of the illnesses was actually food poisoning," she said.

"Dr. Miller and the hygienist, Marcus P. Powell, have assured us that there is no possibility that it is food poisoning," she added.

The rumor took some toll at Hillcrest. One anxious father decided it would be better to take his son home. Dr. Miller pointed out that the student is "just as apt to get the virus at home as at the dormitory."

Symptoms of the virus are: nausea, weakness, vomiting, headaches and possible fever.

Dr. Miller suggests the following steps for those already affected:

- 1. Go to bed and stay there.
- 2. Eat and drink nothing (not even water) for about 18 hours.
- 3. Take only tea or broth in the evening.
- 4. Eat a soft breakfast the next morning.
- 5. Eat a light lunch at noon.
- 6. Possibly by that night a regular meal can be eaten.

He said the illness usually subsides after a short time.

11 SUI Artists' Work To Be Shown in Spain

PROF. MAURICIO LASANSKY, right, and H. Carroll Cassill, both of the SUI Art Department, check details of two of the seven etchings which were created in Iowa studios and are now on display in an international exhibition in Barcelona, Spain. Lasansky and nine of his former students make up about one-fourth of the etchers represented in the Third Biennial Exhibition of Hispanic-American Art.

Eleven out of the 48 artists whose work will be shown in an international art exhibit in Barcelona, Spain, are SUI art teachers and their former students.

Seven of the prints in the 50-print show were created here at SUI in the studios of Prof. Mauricio Lasansky, SUI art instructor.

The show, the 3rd Biennial Exhibition of Hispanic-American Art, is devoted to modern art in the United States.

Exhibited prints were selected by the Museum of Modern Art in New York.

In the exhibition catalogue, Alfredo Bella, director of the exhibit, cites SUI as the center of the art of print-making in the Americas. Bella is Spain's minister of culture.

Lasansky is represented in the exhibition's print section by his "Self Portrait" of 1947. Born in Argentina, he came to SUI on a Guggenheim grant in 1945. He has won more than 40 prizes in art shows in America and abroad.

Instructor Represented
H. Carroll Cassill, SUI art instructor, is represented by "The Sophisticate," which he did as a senior student on the campus in 1948.

John Paul Jones, now in charge of the print department at the University of California, is represented by "Self Portrait" which he created in 1950 while working on his M.F.A. at SUI.

Des Moines Prize Winner
"Corn Field," which won first prize for prints in the Des Moines art show of 1952 and is now part of the permanent collections of the Museum of Modern Art in New York, among others, is the work of Harry Broby, who earned his M.F.A. here in 1954.

Other former Lasansky students who studied print-making at Iowa and whose work was chosen for the international exhibition are: Leonard Applebaum, who received a B.F.A. in 1949; Max Ballinger, M.A., '41; Lee Chesney, M.F.A., '48; Roy Beny, M.F.A., '47; Arthur Levine, M.F.A., '50; J. L. Steg, M.F.A., '49, and John Talleur, M.F.A., '51.

Nominations Due For City Award

Ten nominations for the Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce Distinguished Service Award (DSA) have been received, Clifford Dawson, Jaycee publicity director said Wednesday.

"We would like to stress," he added, "that individuals as well as organizations can nominate outstanding young men of the community to receive this award."

Age qualifications were given as from 21 to 35 years, with candidates judged on outstanding service to Iowa City.

Nominations will be received until Jan. 16 by Glenn Gilseth, chairman of the DSA committee with the award to be presented at the Jaycee DSA and Bosses' Night dinner Jan. 17.

Last year William L. Meardon, Iowa City attorney received the award.

March of Dimes Porchlight Drive Set by JayCeers

The Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce has set Jan. 31 as the date of its annual "porchlight campaign" in the "March of Dimes" polio fund drive.

JayCeers will ask Iowa City residents who wish to contribute to the March of Dimes to leave their porchlights on the last day of the campaign.

In last year's "porchlight" campaign, $978 was collected by the JayCeers. Month-long collections netted $7,032.93.

This year a $10,000 goal has been set.

Poster containers will be placed in Iowa City and Coralville stores by Friday, Mrs. J. K. Schaaf, campaign co-chairman, said Wednesday. In Iowa City a committee headed by Mrs. John Ludwig will be in charge of distribution while in Coralville the American Legion Auxiliary under Mrs. Donald Thompson has charge.

Contributions can also be mailed to P.O. Box 530 where they will be collected by a committee of JayCeets headed by Mrs. William J. Ludwig.

Cornell College Ups Tuition, Rates

Special to the Daily Iowan
MT. VERNON — Cornell College Wednesday raised tuition $50 and board and room rates $65.

College officials said steadily increasing costs made the increase necessary. All increases except that for board will be effective next September. Board rates will be raised for the spring semester this year.

These increases will mean that Cornell students will pay about $1,825 a year for strict college expenses, compared with the previous 1,200.

Sanity Experts Differ at Hearing

BLOOMFIELD (AP)—A jury in District Court here heard conflicting opinions from expert witnesses Wednesday as to whether William G. Karston, accused slayer, is sane and mentally capable of standing trial.

Over strenuous objections by the defense, Dr. Throckmorton, Des Moines psychiatrist who examined Karston last Dec. 31, told the jury his professional opinion was that Karston has no symptoms of mental deterioration.

Earlier in the day, Dr. Wilbur R. Miller, director of the psychopathic hospital at the State University of Iowa, testified as a defense witness and gave an opposite opinion.

Karston, 30, of Hamilton, Ill., is charged with the robbery-slaying of Wendell Jones, Davis County farmer, at the Jones farm near Pulaski July 25, 1954.
