How They Got $1 Million

A LAYOUT OF BRINK'S second floor shows the path that the seven bandits took in the nation's largest cash robbery on Jan. 17, 1950. The FBI announced the solution of the holdup Thursday which netted 11 men, $1,218,211.

Gang Planned for Year, Ran 'Dry-Run' Holdups

BOSTON (AP) — A full year of planning and including several "dry-runs" of the actual holdup contributed to the success of the million-dollar Brink's robbery, the FBI said Thursday night.

The FBI said the robbery of the Brink's Express office in downtown Boston was "the product of the combined thought and criminal experience of men who had known each other many years."

"The gang spent more than a year in planning the robbery and they started making a systematic study of Brink's organization."

"All the participants were well acquainted with the Brink's premises. Each of them had surreptitiously entered the building on several occasions after the Brink's employees had left for the day and they made a study of Brink's schedules and shipments."

"The planning included several 'trial runs.' Gang members practiced their approach to the building in a truck and their flight over the 'getaway route.'"

"They abandoned plans to carry out the robbery several times when conditions were not favorable."

"One man was stationed on the roof of a building overlooking Brink's. He signaled the others with a flashlight. The last of the 'false' approaches was the evening before the robbery."

"During the early evening of Jan. 17, 1950, members of the gang met in the Roxbury section of Boston and entered the rear of the Ford stake-body truck stolen in Boston in November, 1949, to be used in the robbery. This truck carried nine of them to the scene of the robbery."

"During the trip from Roxbury seven of the men donned Navy-type pea coats and chauffeur's caps. Each also was given a pistol and Halloween mask. Each had gloves and wore either crepe sole shoes or rubbers, so their footsteps would be muffled."

"As the men approached the Brink's building, they looked for a signal from the 'lookout' on the roof of the Prince street building. The 'lookout' previously had arrived in a stolen Ford sedan."

"After receiving the 'go ahead' signal, seven members of the gang left the truck and walked through a playground which led to the Prince street entrance to Brink's. Using the side door key they had previously obtained, the men quickly entered and donned the masks."

"Other keys in their possession enabled them to proceed to the second floor where they took five Brink's employees by surprise. The seven robbers ordered the employees to lie face down on the floor, tied their hands behind them, and placed adhesive tape over their mouths."

"Before fleeing, the seven attempted to open a metal box containing the payroll of the General

Ike's Plan Would Add 60,000 Classrooms

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower called for a new school aid program Thursday.

Under the federal government would put up $1 1/4 billion in grants for school construction in the next five years.

He said his plan is an emergency measure aimed at providing "the basis for better education in America in the years ahead."

States would be required to match the federal money on the basis of ability to pay.

The state with the greatest income per child would be required to put up $2 for every $1 in federal aid. The state with the smallest income per child would put up $1 for every $2 of federal money.

Of the $1 1/4 billion, $750 million would be to buy local school bonds if these cannot be sold on the market. Twenty million would go for grants to states for school planning. Total: $2,020,000,000.

Another federal school aid bill, already approved by the House Education Committee, would give $1.6 billion over a 4-year period,

Claims Ike Said 'Yes' to Primary Race

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — An extremely reliable source told The Associated Press Thursday President Eisenhower has authorized use of his name in this state's March 13 presidential primary.

A few hours later Gov. Lane Dwinell said he would personally file the papers next Monday.

The reliable informant, who declined to be identified, told The Associated Press exclusively that the White House will specifically endorse the move next week.

This would be the first definite sign that Eisenhower, recovering from a heart attack, plans to seek another term.

The source said this will be the sequence of future events: Dwinell and several other Republican leaders will appear in the office of the secretary of state next Monday at 9:30 a.m.

The governor will present petitions bearing Ike's name to the secretary of state who, acting under state election laws, will immediately send a telegram to the White House informing the President that his name has been submitted for ballot listing.

The White House will then send back a telegram saying that the President has no objections to the use of his name.

Under the law, a candidate whose name is submitted is given 10 days in which to ask that it be withdrawn, if he so chooses. If the candidate takes no action, his name stays on the ballot.

Thus, if the President did not want the world to get a definite hint that he plans to run for reelection, he would not have to do or say anything in response to the New Hampshire secretary of state's telegram, leaving him free to decide against running at some future date.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Veterans Administration reports that almost all veterans with heart conditions who have received vocational training now have jobs. The VA says 95 out of every 100 rehabilitated veterans with heart and circulatory ailments are working, without regard to state income. But a cabinet official said this bill is not acceptable to the administration.

Controversial issues: How should the federal money be divided?

Should the federal aid money go only to states which do not practice segregation in the public schools?

Should the federal money be matched by the states or by local school districts?

While $2,020,000,000 is listed for Mr. Eisenhower's plan, there are extras not figured in.

The program would end after five years. Once the classroom shortage has been overcome, Eisenhower said, "the federal grant program can and must terminate."

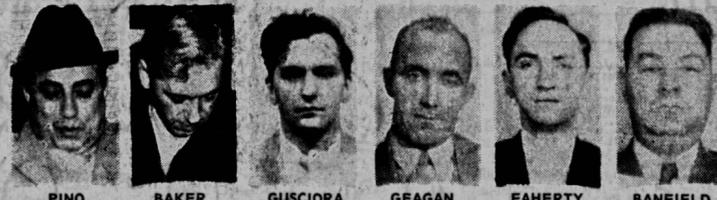

It was estimated the administration program would add an extra 60,000 classrooms in five years. Present plans would account for 410,000 extra classrooms and that the Eisenhower plan would boost this total to 470,000.

BOSTON (AP) — The nation's biggest cash robbery — the Brink's job, which netted the robbers $1,218,211 — has been solved, the FBI announced Thursday.

The FBI would provide no details of how it finally cracked the case, saying "The evidence has to be protected for the trial."

The loot also included $1,557,183.83 in checks, money orders and securities. None of the money is known to have been recovered, nor was it disclosed whether any of the checks, money orders or securities was negotiable.

The FBI said 11 men — all with criminal records — took part in the robbery of the money transfer of-office in Boston six years ago.

SIX OF THE ACCUSED IN BRINK'S CASE

Five of the men were called before a grand jury three years ago for the Brink's robbery, but were not indicted.

The FBI announced the arrest of six men on charges of conspiracy to violate federal laws, bank robbery and theft of government property.

Two other men already are in prison serving time in other cases.

Two others are sought and the 11th man is dead.

The FBI listed the six newly arrested men as:

Adolph Maffie, 44, of North Quincy; Joseph F. McGinnis, 52, Boston; Vincent J. Costa, 41, of Pembroke; Michael V. Geagan, 47, of Milton; Anthony Pino, 48, Boston; and Henry Baker, 49, of Natick.

Already in jail in other cases, but charged with the six, are Joseph J. (Specs) O'Keefe, 47, of Boston; and Stanley A. Gusciora, 36, Boston.

Thomas F. Richardson, 43, of Weymouth and James I. Faherty, 44, of Boston, are being sought.

The 11th man named by the FBI was Joseph S. Banfield, 45, of Boston, who died a year ago of natural causes.

The FBI said it has turned over all its evidence and reports in the case to Boston's Suffolk County Dist. Atty. Garrett Byrne because state penalties are heavier.

Under Massachusetts law the maximum penalty for armed robbery while masked is life imprisonment. The cases were continued for two weeks with bail set at over $100,000.

U.S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell told newsmen in Washington the federal statute of limitations on the crime had run out, but that the Massachusetts statute of limitations has not expired.

Anti-Cancer 'Bomb' to SUI

Student Parking Unit Urges Restrictions

By ELLEN FERNANDEZ

The Student Council Parking committee Thursday proposed as its final recommendation on the parking problem a plan based on a restricted use of SUI-owned parking lots.

Right to park in SUI parking lots would be granted to students living outside a restricted area close to the campus.

The system would be enforced by use of different colored stickers which would designate the driver's housing area. Fees of $3 and down would be charged for the stickers. Fees would be larger for those entitled to use SUI lots more.

The committee, composed of representatives of all SUI housing units, recommended that students living outside an area generally bounded by Park Road, Lucas Street, the west side of South Quadrangle Dormitory, and the Rock Island railroad tracks be allowed to park in SUI-owned parking lots.

Students living within the area would be prohibited from parking in SUI-owned lots between 7 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Some students living in areas within the generally defined rectangle will not be affected by the ban.

Those living in Quonset Park, Parklawn, and Beta Theta Pi, Alpha Tau Omega, and Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity houses would be allowed to use SUI lots.

Sees Possibility of New Virus Outbreak

By HAROLD SCHWARTZ

There may be another outbreak within six or seven days of the virus sickness which hit more than 157 residents of Hillcrest dormitory Wednesday, Dr. Chester I. Miller, head of the Student Health Service, said Thursday.

"Although things are 'back to normal' at Student Health with only eight cases of the virus reporting to the office, an incubation period of about seven days may result in another outbreak of a similar nature at Hillcrest, other dormitories, or fraternities and sororities," Dr. Miller explained.

Dr. Miller stated that the virus may take as long as a week to "break out" after it has entered the system.

"All we can do is wait and hope," he said.

However, Martha Van Nostrand, manager of Hillcrest dormitory, said that proctors there reported 60 additional cases Thursday morning.

Two of the maids at Hillcrest also came down with the illness.

None of the students who have reported to the Student Health Service have been sent to the infirmary, Dr. Miller said. "The cases have all been of a mild nature, lasting about a day or two at the most," he added.

Of the eight who reported to student health, three were from Hillcrest — one a carryover from Wednesday, he added.

The others came from various sections of the campus: One each from the Quadrangle, Westlawn, a sorority and another who lives in town.

Some local doctors reported a slight increase in cases of the virus, but all the doctors contacted stated that there was no cause for alarm.

Superintendent of Schools Buford Garner said that, as far as he knew, the increased tempo had not been felt on the high school or elementary levels. The Junior High School, however, was hit at the close of last week.

Junior High Principal Sterling Goplerud said that about 70 pupils became ill last Thursday afternoon and Friday morning, but there has been no recurrence.

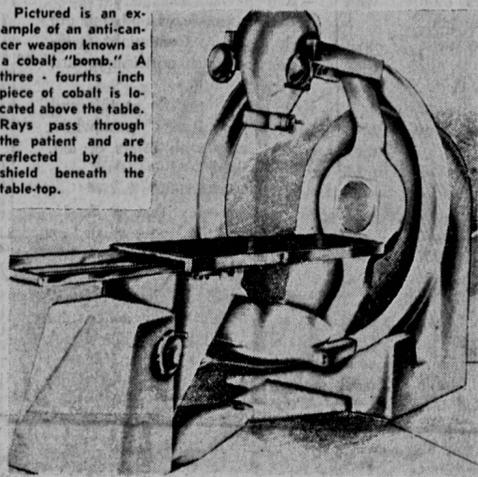

"The attack lasted about one day and students were back in school Monday," Goplerud said.

NIXON ILL WITH FLU

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon had a touch of the flu Thursday and stayed home to recuperate. Office Associates said he hoped to be back on the job Friday.

Comments ranged from "I heard" to "I know it was really food poisoning." This, despite the positive statements made by Dr. Chester I. Miller that it is "definitely not food poisoning."

Pictured is an example of an anti-cancer weapon known as a cobalt "bomb." A three-fourths inch piece of cobalt is located above the table. Rays pass through the patient and are reflected by the shield beneath the table-top.

Cobalt Rays Give Better Treatment

By GEORGE WINE

A powerful weapon to fight cancer — a cobalt radiation unit — is scheduled to be installed in about nine months at the Medical Research Center at SUI.

The unit, sometimes called a cobalt "bomb," will cost about $43,000, Dr. Robert C. Hickey, director of the SUI Department of Medical Research, said Thursday.

Grateful for Grant

Half the cost will be paid from the $110,589 grant the American Cancer Society (ACS) awarded SUI Thursday, and the remaining amount will be paid from receipts from the 1955 cancer campaign, Dr. Hickey said.

"Naturally we're grateful to receive such a huge grant from the American Cancer Society," Dr. Hickey said, "since it enables us to buy this cobalt unit. It will give us a tremendous advantage in fighting cancer."

12 Times as Potent

The unit emits high-voltage X-rays. These rays can be directed at cancerous areas deep within the body and are often effective in destroying cancer cells.

The cobalt "bomb" has one tremendous advantage over an ordinary X-ray machine in treating cancer.

It produces a ray 12 times more potent than that of an ordinary X-ray unit, and is more effective in reaching deep and less accessible cancers.

Dr. Norman B. Nelson, dean of the SUI College of Medicine, joined Dr. Hickey in announcing the $110,589 ACS grant to the Iowa City Rotary Club Thursday.

No Sure Cure

The cobalt unit is no sure cure for all cancers, Dr. Nelson emphasized, but he added that in some cases the cobalt rays proved a much more adequate treatment.

Dr. Higdon B. Elkins, Director of the SUI Department of Radiology, said:

"The cobalt unit may not be used for treatment for perhaps several months after installation. There will be checks, double checks and triple checks," he emphasized.

The Atomic Energy Commission will then require further checks before the "bomb" is put into operation.

Thick Walls

The "bomb" will be installed in the northwest corner of the basement of the Medical Research Center, now under construction near University Hospitals.

The cobalt unit will be housed in a room with walls two feet thick, so that radioactive rays emitted from the unit will not penetrate beyond the room.

More Advantages

Dr. Elkins, who will direct operation of the cobalt unit, said the other advantages of the "bomb" are:

1. Reduce skin reactions which sometime occur due to rays being absorbed by the skin. The rays emitted by the unit are less likely to stop at skin surface.

2. Produce a tighter beam of rays, which will enable irradiation of a smaller area around the cancer.

3. Provide a means of conducting intensive research in the area of cancer treatment irradiation.

The Weather

Fair and Warm

A good-weather-weekend was in sight for Iowa Thursday as the Weather Bureau predicted continuing pleasant weather with the prospect of slightly higher temperatures Saturday.

The high here Thursday was 40. The low, early Thursday morning, was 13.

Temperatures today are expected to be in the high 30s or low 40s.

4 Bodies Found in Missionary Search

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — A radio report received here Thursday night said a U.S. Air Force helicopter has located four unidentified bodies in the Aca Indian country where five American missionaries disappeared five days ago.

Diary entries indicate the five missionaries, attacked in the Amazon Basin jungles of northeast Ecuador, were lured by signs of friendship from the savage Aucas.

The diary turned up in the party's base camp among the personal effects of Peter Fleming of Seattle, Wash., one of the missing evangelists.

A 29-man ground rescue team, meanwhile, was reported nearing the campsite where the missionaries were attacked Sunday by the Aucas they had sought to convert.

An airline pilot's report that he had seen two men on the bank of the Curaray river late Wednesday boosted hopes that at least two of the missionaries survived.

Pilots Sighted 2 Bodies

Search pilots previously sighted two bodies near the stripped skeleton of the Piper plane the men had flown to the jungle campsite.

In addition to Fleming, the missionary party included Nathaniel Saint, Huntington Valley, Pa.; James Elliot, Portland, Ore.; Edward McCulley, Milwaukee, Wis., and Roger Youderian, Lansing, Mich.

The missionaries had worked since last September to make friends with the Aucas and then, on Jan. 6, three Indians came out of the jungle in response to their calls.

Fleming's diary gave this account: "Today is a great day for Christ's evangelists. This morning we had our first contact with the Aucas."

Three Aucas Appeared

"From time to time we shouted words of the Aca language which we had learned. Suddenly we heard a loud masculine voice from the other side of the river and immediately three Aucas appeared. Two women and one man waved to us from the opposite river bank. My heart leaped."

"They showed no fear of us nor of our Kodak and we were able to take many excellent pictures of them. The man showed much interest in us... he showed great curiosity over the plane and got into it. Nat Saint took him for a short ride and he yelled with joy."

The missionaries had landed on a beach on the Curaray river Jan. 3, and apparently were seized here Sunday just after radioing: "Here come a group of the Aucas we have not known before."

Needed: A New Colonial Policy

The Cold War has now moved out of the military stage. The battle now is for minds.

This battle is hottest in Africa and Asia, where the colored-skinned peoples, rising out of, or rebelling against, near-slavery, have not yet made their choice between the Communist and free worlds.

The European nations, except for the traditionally neutral, have made their choices. Either the Communist armies have occupied the land or they have chosen to side with the free world.

In Asia and Africa, however, there is little feeling one way or the other on the merits of communism and capitalism. Most Asians and Africans have come out from under the heel of European rulers only within the lifetime of most SUI students. Many are still struggling to win their freedom.

Capitalism to them doesn't mean Cadillacs and deep freezes. It means a white man making himself rich by paying them coolie wages.

They are not shocked by reports of communist brutality to American fliers or priests, or communist slave labor camps. They have seen (and in many cases are still seeing) examples of brutality and slavery in their own land.

They have one hate and fear: colonialism. Even citizens of the nations that have secured freedom (India, Ceylon, Egypt, Indonesia, Burma) recoil from any nation that practices or condones colonialism in any form. They are leery of any alliance that smacks of domination or colonialism.

This is why they have avoided any alliance with the Russian or American blocs. Both Russia and the United States have shown too many tendencies to dominate and bully their allies, albeit by diplomatic means.

Americans are often puzzled that anyone should connect our nation with colonialism. Weren't we the first nation to break away from Great Britain? Didn't we demonstrate our feelings by setting the Philippines free? Haven't we refused to accept spoils from the past two World Wars? Haven't our leaders — most notably Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt — stood strongly for the right of self-determination for all men?

This is all true. But there is another side to the picture.

Asians and Africans expect little from Russia and Red China. Therefore they are seldom disappointed at the actions of the Communist nations. But, when Russia and China make peaceful sounds, they are pleasantly surprised and say so.

From the United States these people expect much. We have been a model in their struggle for independence. Our Declaration of Independence, our War for Independence, our Constitution, our Bill of Rights — these have been their inspiration. They have looked to us for leadership. Weren't we an early and deadly foe of colonialism?

But we have failed them. We have hesitated to denounce colonialism. We have done so, it seems to them, to keep from offending colonial powers Great Britain and France, who we value as NATO allies.

And when Secretary of State John Foster Dulles joined Portugal in denouncing Russia's support of India in the Asiatic nation's attempt to free Indian-populated Portuguese colonies, it seemed that we were actively condoning and supporting colonialism.

This was not the first example of American foot-dragging on colonialism. We hesitated to aid India in her struggle with Britain. We gave little moral support to Indonesia in her attempts to end Dutch rule. Asians and Africans are disappointed with us — and they say so.

So it seems to Americans that they are giving much praise to Communist countries and directing much criticism toward us.

We have bristled angrily at this and often flared back. Russia, meanwhile, moves in soothingly with offers of aid, trade and friendship.

Once more it seems that a drastic change of policy and thinking is needed on the part of the United States administration.

We have watched as the people of Cyprus try to gain their independence from Great Britain in order to join their Greek countrymen in a greater Greece. Britain is once more dragging her feet with her colony — waiting until almost total disaster occurs before backing out. The same is true for the French in Morocco and Algeria and the Portuguese in Goa. It is true of all three nations in Africa.

None of the nations want freedom to join the Communist bloc. All will eventually get this freedom. The only question is: How much blood will be spilled before the colonial powers decide that they must withdraw.

America must declare, in unmistakably clear terms, that she is against colonialism practiced by anyone. We must make it clear that this includes British and French colonialism in Asia and Africa as well as Russian colonialism in Eastern Europe.

Americans believe in freedom and independence for all peoples. Why don't our leaders draw up the courage of their convictions and say so?

We have wasted time while Russia and China have weaned Asians and Africans away from us. The Bandung Conference, in which Asian and African nations participated, should have impressed us with the potential strength of the non-white world. It didn't. Our state department tried to discourage nations from participating, didn't send an official representative, and then dithered at the sidelines while Red China wooed and charmed the uncommitted millions.

This should be a warning. If we don't act soon and decisively, we may someday find ourselves alone and terrified in a hostile world.

Wise Decision on By-Pass

Last October Iowa City residents got the news they had thought would not come for a long time: a Highway 6 by-pass was going to take the road out of the city.

Preliminary plans called for the by-pass to be built in three phases. The first would take the highway off its present course at a point six miles east of Iowa City. It would pass south of the city to connect with Riverside Drive at its intersection with Highway 1. That phase was to be completed by 1957.

The second phase would have Riverside Drive widened to handle the traffic over the piece from the intersections of Highways 1 and 218 and the Burlington Street bridge. The third phase would take the highway from the 218-1 intersection on Highway 1, then north along the west edge of University Heights to connect with highway 6.

This made everyone happy — except the people of University Heights. Phase three, which presumably has been completed many years hence, would box in their town.

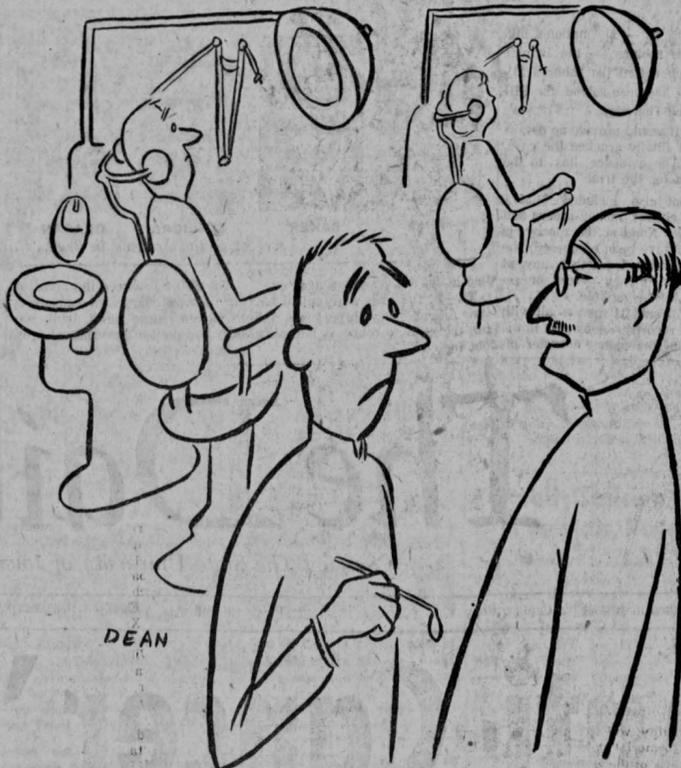

U-Heights would be surrounded by Iowa City boundaries, the railroad tracks, and the highway, preventing any expansion of the town. Besides it would run a noisy, dirty highway close by a quiet, clean residential district.

U-Heights residents protested to the highway commission. This week they got what they wanted: the commission's assurance that phase three would never be undertaken.

The purpose of the highway by-pass is to take the highway out of the residential districts. This will be true — for a while. Eventually, Iowa City will expand south to surround the by-pass. University Heights in time will expand to the west. Phase three would then be running a highway through what will someday be another residential area.

Phase two of the program will run the highway south of Iowa City, up Riverside Drive and out the present highway. There will be no residential area on the phase two route — only commercial districts. Phase three will be better left undone.

Farm Program

The plan is worth trying. Certainly it offers more promise than the bill to go back to price supports at 90 per cent of parity which the Democrats pushed through the House of Representatives last year. To return to that wartime program would insure increased surpluses. The new plan may be the best available in the circumstances. But the American people should watch to insure that in meeting an immediate need they do not permanently subsidize inefficiency. — THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

As in all approaches to the farm problem, the big question with the soil bank proposal is whether it is broad enough to provide a real remedy. Certainly, it should help; and certainly a return to the system of rigid supports that stimulated over-production is not the answer. — THE WASHINGTON POST

Assuming that Congress is going to put more of the taxpayer's money into farmer pockets one way or another, there is a good deal to be said for the theory and intent underlying the president's soil bank proposal. It would mean more inducement for farmers to do things eventually good for themselves and the nation. There would be less inducement to follow present practices that make matters progressively worse. — THE MILWAUKEE JOURNAL

The program isn't going to solve the farm price problem overnight. It will not satisfy the more radical farm groups who are demanding immediate government payments to bail producers out of their low income predicament. Nor will it completely satisfy the politicians who fear the effect of current low prices on the farm vote in next

fall's election. — CEDAR RAPIDS GAZETTE

The administration soil bank proposal sounds reasonable as far as it goes. But there appear to be few safeguards to prevent the surpluses of cotton and wheat from being turned even more rapidly than at present into livestock surpluses. — THE DES MOINES REGISTER

Kelly Marriage

The engagement of Miss Grace Kelly to Prince Rainier of Monaco leaves us unconsoled if not inconsolable.

What distresses us is the fact that Miss Kelly is marrying beneath her. She is too well bred a girl to marry the silent partner in a gambling parlor. She is too nice a girl to become the social leader of a town that, at any moment of the year, contains more well dressed riff-raff than are likely to be found anywhere else under the sun. It's a shame to see a wholesome girl thrust into this milieu, for it is unlikely that she can change it for the better, though it may change her for the worse. — THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

Virginia's Schools

The Virginia plan would force Negro taxpayers to help support schools from which they were excluded. In view of the supreme court's decision on the subject, it is hard to see how the tribunal could allow such a plan to operate. — THE MINNEAPOLIS STAR

The south's whole stand against integrated schools seems to make even more potent the argument against federal school aid. If segregation remains in any degree, the rest of the nation does not want to help support the expensive dual system of the south (equal facilities). If desegregation wins, then the savings should help the south provide better schools for all its youngsters, and make federal aid less important. — THE MINNEAPOLIS STAR

The final decision with respect to the Virginia proposal and those in other states will have to come from the United States Supreme court. Advocates of the Virginia plan have taken refuge in the ruling of Federal Judge J. Parker of the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals that "nothing in the Constitution or in the decision of the Supreme Court takes away from the people the freedom to choose the schools they attend. The Constitution, in other words, does not require integration. . . . It merely forbids the use of governmental power to enforce segregation.

So the issue is drawn not only for the high court but the power of public opinion and the enforcement authorities of the land. — THE KANSAS CITY STAR

If a majority of the voters of Virginia, led by the dominant political machine of Senator Harry F. Byrd, have turned their backs on the future, a very strong minority have not.

The same and orderly development of integrated education has been slowed by this week's vote, but it cannot be stopped; and a large and growing number of Virginians, along with modern-minded citizens everywhere in the South, afford hope that it will be quietly accepted in the not-too-distant future. — THE NEW YORK TIMES

Virginia is not a rich state. Segregated schools are more costly than integrated schools. Private schools are generally more costly than public ones. Junking one set of schools and starting new ones from scratch is bound to be costly. The Virginia plan, though devised by ardent segregationists, seems bound to make continued segregation an expensive nuisance. — DES MOINES REGISTER

Administration

Men's hopes for peace have not been fully answered, even though a second year in succession has gone by without formal warfare anywhere in the world. Rivalry and strife still distract the nations from the path of progress. But at least, the President suggested, concerted efforts to end war have borne some fruit. — NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

The administration's record in reducing the cost of government has been admirable; a few years ago it would have seemed hardly credible that it could do so much so fast. From over $74 billion in fiscal 1953, it cut spending to $64.5 billion last fiscal year; the estimate for this fiscal year indicates a further reduction to less than $64 billion. — THE WALL STREET JOURNAL

Factory pay in the United States is at an all-time peak and the cost of living has hardly risen at all in the two years that are past. . . . Factory workers are better off now than they were in 1947-49 by over 20 per cent. And there is no indication that these beneficent trends won't go on. — NEW YORK TIMES

Week-end Includes Five Winter Formals

Five social fraternities and sororities on the SU campus will hold winter formals this weekend.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity will hold its winter formal today at the Jefferson Hotel from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. Leo Cortimiglia will play. Chaperones will be Mrs. Ralph Burt, Sigma Alpha Epsilon house-mother, Mrs. Mary Hamilton and Mrs. Louis Perry. Guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ris, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Whitesel and Wilber Teeters.

Kappa Kappa Gamma The pledges have charge of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority formal tonight at the Mayflower. Joe Gately's band will play from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Chaperones will be Mrs. Henry Nelson, Kappa housemother, Mrs. Carl Richter, Mrs. Lyle Lofgren, Mrs. Erwin Feddern, Prof. and Mrs. George Hartman, Prof. and Mrs. Arthur Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Citek, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson.

Delta Tau Delta fraternity will hold its winter formal today from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Big Ranch. Vance Dixon will play.

Chaperones will be Mrs. Charles Birdsall, Delt housemother, Mr. and Mrs. John Whitlock and Mr. and Mrs. William Burton.

Fantasy of Stars "Fantasy of Stars" is the theme of the Phi Kappa Sigma social fraternity formal to be held today from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the chapter house. Paul Pearson will play.

Chaperones will be Mrs. Rolla Ford, Phi Kappa Sigma house-mother, Mrs. Allan Maiden, Mrs. Herbert Ballard and Mrs. Alice Harker.

Delta Delta Delta social sorority will hold its winter formal Saturday at the Mayflower from 7 to 12 p.m. with the Dick Kaufmann combo playing.

Chaperones will be Mrs. Lide Mae Filkins, Tri Delt housemother, Mrs. Harriette Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sweeney and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Kelso.

Delta Upsilon Elects Courtier President

Delta Upsilon social fraternity recently elected Lloyd Courtier, C3, Boone as its president.

Other officers elected for second semester are: Bob Landess, A3, Des Moines, vice-president; James Wiese, A2, Schaller, recording secretary; Tom Hamilton, A2, Crystal Lake, Ill., corresponding secretary; William Cass, A4, Waterloo, senior delegate; Phil Pattie, A3, Marshalltown, junior delegate; and Bob Bring, A2, Des Moines, sergeant-at-arms.

YWCA Girls Offer Service Of Babysitting

Iowa City mothers who would like to leave the kids home while they go shopping, to a meeting, or hunt for a quiet spot to collect their thoughts should contact the YWCA babysitting committee.

Babysitters are available for mornings, afternoons, and evenings every day, Roberta Howard, chairman of the committee, said.

To obtain a babysitter, mothers should phone the YWCA office (Ext. 2240) in the Iowa Memorial Union. A list of girls who are interested and the time they have available is kept on file there.

Many of the girls are available on weekends, during games, and as companions for older people. Some are interested in doing housework along with their babysitting duties.

The standard price for the babysitters is 40 cents an hour during the day and 50 cents an hour after 6 p.m.

Parents must provide transportation for girls. The committee prefers that they keep university women's hours of 10:30 Sunday through Thursday and 12:30 on Friday and Saturday.

The committee's purpose in the project is twofold. First, it hopes to provide Iowa City mothers with a reliable source for obtaining babysitters. Second, the girls who participate find a way to earn extra money.

WRA Organizes Women's Rifle Club

A Rifle Club for women has recently been organized by Women's Recreational Assn. in cooperation with the ROTC department.

Instructors and equipment are being furnished by ROTC. The purpose of the club is to promote interest in riflery and to enter competition on collegiate and national levels.

Club members will meet once a week from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. or 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Thursday in the Fieldhouse Armory. Those of the ROTC staff who are assisting with the club are Col. Charles Kirk, Lt. Morton C. Blaisdell and Sfc. Robert Wilson.

Nancy Hendryx, A1, Center Point, was elected president of the club. Other officers are Pat Hannah, A4, Sturgis, S.D., vice-president, and Marlene Dorland, A2, Cedar Rapids, secretary-treasurer.

To Appear Here

THE FOUR FRESHMEN, noted for their versatility, will sing and accompany themselves in a concert at the Iowa Memorial Union tonight at 8. Tickets are available at the Information Desk of the Union. Price is $1.50 per ticket. The combo, which is rated tops in the vocal department as well as instrumentally, includes Ross Barbour, drummer and trumpet player; Ken Errair, trumpet, bass and French horn; Don Barbour, guitar, and Bob Flanagan, bass and trombone.

Applications Open for Hospital Gray Ladies

Applications are now being taken for membership in a new Gray Lady class to serve in University and Veterans Administration hospitals.

The volunteer organization is sponsored in Johnson County by the American Red Cross chapter.

Mrs. R. A. Fenton, Red Cross Volunteer Services Chairman, and the co-chairmen of the Gray Lady Services, Mrs. George Easton and Mrs. George Frohwein, are in charge of the program.

Volunteers must be at least 21 years old. Gray Ladies act as hostesses in hospital recreation rooms, staff hospital information desks, work in hospital libraries, serve as guides to visitors and entertainers and perform personal services for patients.

These services include bedside visits with the patients, shopping for patients, reading and writing letters for them and performing other services.

Volunteers will attend two orientation classes, one given by the hospitals and one taught by the Red Cross. No date has been set for these meetings.

After receiving orientation, Gray Ladies will set up their own time schedules. No minimum amount of service is set by the organization.

Applicants may contact Mrs. Easton, phone 8-3908; Mrs. Frohwein, phone 6698, or the Red Cross office, 6933.

Bailie Named To All-Star Gym Group

Sam Bailie, Iowa gymnastic captain, was selected Thursday as a candidate for the Midwest Gymnastic Assn. team, an all-star unit which will compete against the Swiss Olympic gymnastic team in Chicago Feb. 11.

Gymnastic coach Dick Holzaepfel said Thursday that plans are being made to reschedule the Illinois meet at Iowa City for Feb. 10 so that Bailie could participate in the meet. The Illinois meet was originally scheduled for Feb. 11 in the Iowa gym.

Selection of the members of the team was made by leading coaches on the basis of collegiate and AAU competition, the association said. Bailie was fourth in the NCAA all-around competition during the 1955 season. He picked up 51 of Iowa's 89 points in the Big Ten championships, although he won only the horizontal bar event.

Coach Holzaepfel said, "Without a doubt, Bailie is Olympic material and belongs among the top five gymnasts in the country."

Said Bailie, "I feel it is a great honor to be selected. I only hope I can do something worthwhile to prove I deserve being selected."

A junior from St. Petersburg, Fla., Bailie was selected for the All-Star Collegiate team and the all-American team after the 1955 season.

The Iowa gymnasts take to the road today and will meet Wisconsin and Ohio State in two dual meets in Madison Saturday.

The squad, boasting a 2-0 record, will have assistance from Jerry Kottong on the trampoline, but Coach Holzaepfel said the team is still weak in tumbling and on the horizontal bar.

"Wisconsin should not be difficult," Holzaepfel said. "But Ohio State may be too much, although we don't know a great deal about them."

Iowa beat Chicago and Indiana in Chicago last Saturday in its opening meets. The opening home meet of the season will be Jan. 21 against Northwestern at 3:30 p.m. in the Fieldhouse gym.

Second Glance

By George Wine

Cal Jones and Jerry Reichow return to the campus after a pair of bowl games wrap up a long football season. They immediately went to the registrar's office to find out what courses they're enrolled in.

Forest Evashevski advocates a two-games-a-week football schedule. Evy figures a 6-12 record would look more impressive than a 3-6.

Harvey Knox criticizes UCLA Coach Red Sanders for blowing the Rose Bowl game in the second quarter. Harvey has it all wrong. If you're going to lose, it's easier to take in the second quarter than in the fourth. . . . ask any Iowa football fan.

After an eastern tour, the San Francisco basketball team is new national record for consecutive games won. The Dons are a shrewd outfit. They play so far from home the fans don't have a chance to help coach the team.

Jerry Reichow lost three front teeth in the East-West Shrine game, but Hawkeye fans are expected to rush to the rescue. They may get him a new bridge — the same shade as Evy's Cadillac.

Ballplayer Learns New Job—at 4 a.m.

VALHALLA, N. Y. — Sal Yvars, former catcher for the New York Giants and St. Louis Cardinals baseball teams, was sworn in Wednesday night as a volunteer fireman.

At 4:30 a.m. Thursday the fire department got an alarm from the Yvars home — the automatic gas heater for the house wouldn't turn off. A squad of his fire department colleagues answered his call and showed him just how to fix it.

NBA Meets To Back Up Boxing Stand

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO — The National Boxing Assn.'s Executive Committee meets here Saturday in a regularly scheduled session which is expected to give full backing to Julius Helfand's smashing of the New York Boxing Managers' Guild.

However, NBA President Lou Radzienda of the Illinois State Athletic Commission, said that while there was no doubt the NBA would "do something" about following up on non-member New York's lead, "the question is how to fit any similar platform into each state's laws."

Helfand, chairman of the New York commission, was invited by Radzienda to attend Saturday's meeting but wrote that because of current developments it was impossible for him to be here.

"It's very understandable to me," said Radzienda. "Helfand has his situation well in hand and I, for one, appreciate what he has done."

Some Resignations

In New York, Helfand said he had received "some" resignations by wire from members of the Boxing Guild of New York. His order to "resign or lose your license" has a Jan. 16 (Monday) deadline.

Helfand declined to comment on the guild's action Wednesday night in recommending that members licensed in New York quit the guild but that the organization remain in existence pending a court test of Helfand's order.

Charge Promoters

Meantime, in New York Thursday, the State Athletic Commission brought specific charges against the promoters of the weekly Monday television fights at St. Nicholas Arena and ordered that they show cause why their licenses should not be revoked.

Eight specific charges were brought against Tex Sullivan and Willie Gilzenberg individually and against the London Sporting Club, which promotes the St. Nick's shows.

Seven of the charges against the two promoters and the organization were the same. The eighth accuses Sullivan and Gilzenberg of "consorting with known criminals."

Radzienda said that while the various NBA members are just as interested as Helfand in ridding boxing of undesirables, archaic codes hamper some.

"In Illinois, for instance, we lack the power that Helfand has obtained within two years. He can take specific action. Commission suspensions in Illinois are subject to administrative review and the right to appeal always rests with a person denied a license.

"Our State Boxing Code hasn't been substantially altered for some 28 years. I've been trying to get it modernized for 7 years."

In response to a question whether the NBA will take any stand concerning the International Boxing Managers' Guild, parent of the New York guild, Radzienda said: "As far as the entire picture is concerned, I think it will turn out nicely. Take away the New York guild and what is the International Guild? In Chicago, you don't know it's in existence."

Among some 15 or 20 representatives of various state and city commissions expected, at least a half dozen have climbed on the Helfand band wagon.

Russians Ask Bid To Cowes Regatta

LONDON — Russia has asked for permission to take part in one of the most exclusive events in British sports — the Royal Regatta at Cowes.

The Russian Embassy is sending a naval commodore and two other senior officers to Cowes to discuss arrangements.

Leading yachtsmen from the United States and Europe regularly compete at Cowes. The Russians last visited Cowes 45 years ago.

BANKS TURNS DOWN DAY

CHICAGO — Ernie Banks, Chicago's National League All-Star shortstop, turned down a chance to get a day from the fans last year. "I've been playing for the Cubs only two years," said Banks. "I don't want a day until I have proved myself."

Bowl Prophet Dies Before Receiving Forecasting Prize

NIORARA, Neb. — Thursday was to have been a red letter day in the life of C. S. Dalton, 67-year-old owner of the O.K. Ranch near Niobrara.

Last September he entered a football prediction contest. He forecast that Michigan State and UCLA would wind up in the Rose Bowl and the Big Ten Conference team would win 17-14. His forecast came true Jan. 2.

Eight days ago, Dalton was notified he had won the contest from among 1,500 entries. He was asked to appear Thursday at station WMAX, Yankton, S. D., to receive $1,000 in cash and a television set.

Last Thursday, Dalton suffered a heart attack. He died in a Creighton, Neb., hospital Thursday.

'Little Men' Top Big Ten

CHICAGO — Led by Ohio State's 5-11 Robin Freeman, moderately sized players are proving the top scorers in the Big Ten basketball race.

None of the first 10 point-makers, according to official conference statistics released Thursday, is taller than 6-4, quite a novelty in this day of sky-scraping scoring phenoms.

The sensational Freeman has whipped in 65 points in two loop starts for a pace-setting average of 32.5.

In second spot with a two-game mark of 25 points is Minnesota's 6-3 forward-center, Jerome Donmeyer, followed by 6 feet tall Dick Mast, Northwestern guard, with a 24-point average and the Big Ten star "little guy," 5-9 Bill Ridley of Illinois with 23.

Cain Ninth

Other leaders are fifth, 6-foot Dick Miller of Wisconsin, and 6-2 Charlie Brown of Indiana, each with 20.7; seventh, 6-2 Julius McCoy of Michigan State, 20.0; eighth, 6-4 Wally Cole of Indiana, 19.7; ninth, 6-3 Carl Cain of Iowa, 19.5; and 10th, 6-4 Paul Judson of Illinois, 19.0.

The clever shooting Freeman leads in field goals with 25 in two games, while Wisconsin's Miller is the free throw leader with a perfect record of 24 gift shots in 24 tries for three games.

Indiana's Choice has the best field goal percentage with 55.6 in three games.

Team statistics disclose Illinois, unbeaten in two league starts, the top offensive unit with an 84.5 average and Purdue (2-1) the best defensive outfit with an average yield of 64.7.

University High Faces Wilton in Vtial Game Tonight

University High tonight plays perhaps the biggest game of the season, against league-leading Wilton Junction.

Wilton, currently leading the Eastern Iowa conference, invades the U-High gym with full intentions of staying on top of the league.

The Bluehawks, with a 7-1 record, think otherwise. Coach Chuck Wolbers has been bringing his team around fast this year, and he thinks tonight's contest will turn out a little differently than the last meeting between these two clubs, which Wilton Junction won, 49-34.

The Junior varsity game is scheduled to start at 7:15, with the varsity encounter about an hour later.

Other games tonight pit City high against Clinton, while both Catholic schools travel to Cedar Rapids for games. St. Pat's faces rough Immaculate Conception, and potent St. Mary's of Iowa City goes against its fourteenth straight win against St. Wencelaus.

The City High-Clinton game matches a part of the less-fortunate members of the Mississippi Valley conference. Clinton has won only two games all season. Both clubs were beaten decisively by powerful Davenport, and enter tonight's game rated as even.

Simonovich To Figure in Gopher Plans

Concluding heavy workouts with a long scrimmage against a freshman team Thursday, Iowa's climbing Hawkeyes are expected to limit themselves to a light drill today in preparation for Saturday's crucial Minnesota game.

The Hawks, standing exactly where they did a year ago at this time, with a 1-1 league record, have apparently regained their timing and shooting touch, Coach Bucky O'Connor believes. The team hit 39 per cent of its shots against Ohio State Monday, and O'Connor said, for the first time this season showed an effective defense.

The offensive pattern to be employed by Minnesota is of prime interest to Iowa, with especial emphasis on the part 6-11 Bill Simonovich will play in the game. Gopher pilot Ozzie Cowles has started Simonovich in some games, used him sparingly in others. The other top center, Jed Dommeyer, has a 17-point scoring average, and has been playing more regularly than the mammoth Simonovich in recent games.

But Simonovich proved in last year's game at Iowa City that he could score. He notched 16 points in Minnesota's 81-80 victory, and rebounded well. Weighing an astonishing 270 pounds, he has the physical equipment to be more than rough under the boards.

With Simonovich on the bench, Minnesota's strategy might be expected to change markedly. The 6-3 Dommeyer would then handle the pivot, and would, with veterans Buck Linsley and Dave Tucker, form the nucleus for a potent fast-break combination. Information from Minneapolis bears out this supposition.

In Thursday's practice, Coach O'Connor continued to play the unit with which he has started all games to date. Carl Cain and Bill Schoof were at forwards, Bill Logan at center, and Sharm Scheuerman and Bill Seaberg manned the guards. Others likely to play prominent parts include Tom Payne, and Augie Martel, both of whom played well in the Buckeye game.

Mikan To Return To Pro Basketball

MINNEAPOLIS — George Mikan, longtime basketball great, announced Thursday night he is coming out of retirement as the team's general manager to play with the Minneapolis Lakers in the National Basketball Assn.

Mikan, who amassed a 23.05-points-per-game average in eight years before his retirement in 1954, will be in the lineup here Saturday night when the Lakers meet Ft. Wayne, he said.

Mikan said his decision was prompted in part by 1,500 letters he reported receiving in the past six months asking him to put on a Laker uniform again.

"It was pointed out that, since I asked the people of this area to support the Lakers, I should practice what I preach and try to give them a boost," Mikan said.

The Lakers currently are a few percentage points ahead of St. Louis in the NBA western division third place.

Mikan, 31, drew a reported $20,000 per season before he doffed his uniform.

Santee Withdraws From KC Track

BOSTON — Star miler Wes Santee has been forced by disability to withdraw from the mile run in Saturday night's Knights of Columbus Games at Boston Garden.

The flying Kansan telephoned meet director "Ding" Dussault Thursday that a leg had stiffened in training.

The same stiffness forced Santee to withdraw from a meet in New York last week. Santee said he suffered the muscle tug two weeks ago in Miami.

Jockey Dies After Racehorse Mishap

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Brain injuries brought death Thursday to jockey Leroy Nelson, 18, who was hurled from his horse in a race at Agua Caliente, Mexico, Sunday.

Another horse fell during the race with a broken leg. Nelson's mount stumbled over the fallen animal.

Boxer Langford Dies in Obscurity

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Sam Langford, boxing's fearless "Tar Baby," died Thursday just three months after he gained the "Hall of Fame" recognition which almost eluded him in his sightless old age.

Langford died in comparative obscurity in a nursing home at the age of 72.

Born in Weymouth, Nova Scotia, Langford ran away from home as a youth to embark on a career encompassing some 642 bouts from 1902 through 1923. His performances caused many ring experts to consider him the greatest pound-for-pound fighting machine in the history of the professional sport.

Despite his maximum 162½ pound weight and 5 foot, 6½ inch height, Langford took on many heavyweights. His most memorable battle was a bloody 15 round loss on a close decision to Jack Johnson in nearby Chelsea in 1906 in which he was outweighed by 49 pounds.

Sam was knocked out in the 13th round against Clem Johnson in El Paso, Tex., in 1923—his final bout.

Blindness

The following year Langford became blind as the result of eye injuries suffered over years of savage ring battles.

His only source of income in recent years was a trust fund set up by the New York Herald Tribune after sports writer Al Laney discovered the destitute "Tar Baby" huddled in a small, cold room in New York's Harlem section. The fund drew contributions from sympathetic readers and reached a reported $10,892 at the time.

Langford's final public appearance was in 1952 at the site of many of his fights—Boston's old Mechanics Building. At the time he was given a testimonial by about 1,000 boxing enthusiasts and friends in New England.

Langford became a familiar sight on Cambridge streets during the past few years tapping the path of his daily walks with a white cane until his final sickness overtook him.

Overlooked

But for the "rediscovery" of Langford, the man's endless feats of courage and strength in the ring might have been overlooked. He was nominated to the sport's Hall of Fame recently.

Honor Jehle At Banquet Monday Night

Ken Jehle, Iowa football player for four years, will be honored by his home town of West Liberty at a banquet Monday night.

Tait Cummins, Cedar Rapids radio sportscaster, will be toastmaster at the dinner, to be held in West Liberty's Methodist Hall at 6:30 p.m.

Jehle, a tackle, was awarded the President Hancher trophy at a post-season banquet, as the player contributing the most to all-around spirit and team development on the 1955 squad.

Head Coach Forest Evashevski will attend the banquet, according to dinner officials.

Holdup Gang Split Loot

Electric Co., but they had brought no tools and were unsuccessful.

"Immediately upon leaving, the gang loaded the loot into the stolen truck. As the truck sped away with nine members of the gang, the 'lookout' departed in the stolen sedan. The truck was unloaded at the home of one of the parties in Roxbury that same evening. Some of the gang tried to count the loot, but they quickly dispersed.

"On the night of the robbery, approximately $380,000 of the loot was removed from the house. The equipment used in the robbery was taken by a gang member for disposal. On Jan. 18, 1950, another gang member took the remainder of the loot from the house; and several weeks later it was divided among the 11 men.

Took 4 Pistols

"In addition to the cash and securities, the robbers took four pistols from Brinks. One of these was recovered by a Somerville, Mass., police officer on Feb. 5, 1950. It had been found by a group of boys near the Mystic River in Somerville.

"Descriptions of the truck used in the robbery were obtained from persons in the vicinity of the crime scene. Pieces of an identical truck were found at a dump in Soughton, Mass., on March 14, 1950. This truck had been cut up with an acetylene torch.

"During the FBI's six-year investigation thousands of possible suspects were eliminated. Thousands of other persons, possible witnesses and individuals who could concern matters arising in various phases of the investigation were interviewed. Circulars concerning a $100,000 reward offered by Brinks were distributed to all parts of the country and no tip was overlooked.

Gave House Secret Paper; Beats Felony

WASHINGTON — Rea S. Van Fossen, former Air Force intelligence officer who gave House Red hunters a secret FBI report, pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor Thursday and escaped prosecution on seven felony charges.

Van Fossen, 36, faces a sentence of up to one year in jail and a $1,000 fine. Had he been convicted on all eight charges, the maximum possible penalty would have been 34 years and $63,000.

Van Fossen, a former bombardier-navigator who holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal, the Purple Heart and other decorations, replied "I do" in a low voice when asked if he wanted to withdraw his plea of innocent to the first count of the indictment and plead guilty.

The charge to which Van Fossen pleaded guilty was this: Converting to his own use 113 sheets of government-owned paper valued at less than $100. This is a misdemeanor. Hitz said the government is agreeable to dismissing the remaining charges.

4 To Vie in Speech Event

Four freshman students will compete Jan. 17 in the LeFevre Memorial Speaking Contest at 7:30 p.m. in the House Chamber of Old Capitol, Prof. Hugh F. Seabury of the SUI Speech Department said Thursday.

The contest was set up by Mrs. Ann LeFevre in 1923 as a memorial to her husband, Samuel L. LeFevre. Income from the $500 bequest is used for the prizes.

The purpose of the contest is to promote interest in public speaking among freshmen.

Eight students competed in the preliminaries Tuesday, Seabury said.

The four students who will compete in the finals are: James Bane, E.I. Iowa City; Jack Elkin, A.I. Iowa City; Dorothy House, A.I. Muscatine; and Robert Simpson, A.I. Ottumwa.

The contestants in the speech contest will compete for a $10 first prize and $5 second prize.

The contest is directed by Prof. Carl A. Dallinger of the Speech Department. It will be judged by the Speech Department faculty.

Father Welch 1st In Lecture Series

The Rev. Robert J. Welch, associate professor in the SUI School of Religion, will be the first speaker in the eighth annual Hillel Forum Series. The first talk will be at 8:15 p.m. Friday at the Hillel foundation, 122 E. Market St.

Father Welch will discuss "When Strangers Marry." He will deal with various problems of marriage and divorce, especially of marriage without proper preparation.

Each year since 1947, Hillel has sponsored a series of forums on contemporary problems. Both local and out of town speakers have addressed the group.

This year students were consulted on the speakers and topics they would prefer to hear discussed, Prof. Frederick Bargeburh, of the SUI School of Religion, said Thursday.

The public is invited.

County's TB Drive Is Short of Goal

A total of $7,550.21 has been collected in the ninth annual Tuberculosis Christmas seal campaign. This is $1,499.79 short of the $9,000 goal set by the Johnson County TB Association.

Atty. William V. Phelan and Mrs. Carol Mickey, co-chairmen, said contributions are coming in slowly.

The seals were sent to Johnson County residents in mid-November along with 13,000 letters outlining the budget and purposes of the drive.

In last year's campaign, $8,016 was collected.

A budget of $8,200 has been set for this year.

Contributions in excess of this will be applied toward the setting up of a skin-testing program for Johnson County schools.

16 Students To Perform In Recital

Sixteen SUI musicians will form a clarinet choir today to help present a recital in North Music Hall at 7:30 p.m.

The group, directed by Prof. Thomas A. Ayres, also will perform on radio station WSUI's Recital Hall Saturday at 11:30 a.m.

The clarinet group will play "Minuet" from "Le Tombeau de Couperin" by Ravel and "Finale" from "Octet for Winds" by Haydn. Included in the clarinet choir are:

Donald Brice and Paul Benjamin, both of Iowa City; Harold Willis, A2, Chariton; Gary Behm, A2, Mason City; Dale Cleland, A2, Vancouver, Wash.; Warren Mayer, G, Three Rivers, Mich.; Joe Zucco, A1, Centerville; Jerry Pringle, A2, Garner; Marcia Mortibon, A1, Davenport; Donna Wiese, A1, Muscatine; Russell Heiland, G, Applington; Larry Addis, A1, Iowa City; Harold Anderson, A3, Cedar Rapids; Richard Staebler, A2, Plymouth, and Bruce Appleby, A2, Monticello. Marvin Thostensen, SUI music instructor, also is a member of the group.

A group composed of Sandra Wood, flutist, Marjorie Mason, bassoonist, both of Mason City; Sandra Cox, horn, DeWitt; Eugene Martin, clarinetist, Eldora, and William Webster, Iowa City oboist, will open the program. All are freshmen.

Part two of the program will feature Webster and Carmen Warner, both A3, Iowa City, oboes, and Mary Beth Taylor, A3, Davenport, playing the English horn.

Judy Templeman, A3, Muscatine, will sing "Pavanne," "Galliard," "Three Marches," "Death and the Maiden," and "Once a Farmer and His Wife." Miss Templeman is a contralto.

Staebler also will play a clarinet solo. Marilyn Ladd, A2, Des Moines, will play the piano accompaniment.

Detroit Newspaper Strike Nears End

DETROIT (P) — The Detroit newspaper strike, one of the longest big city shutdowns in history, appeared headed toward settlement Thursday.

But all sides, and neutral government mediators as well, cautioned that hitches could develop to stall a resumption of publication by the Detroit News Times and Free Press. The strike entered its seventh week Thursday.

Publishers of the three newspapers said Thursday they had reached tentative agreement with all three mechanical department unions currently on strike — the stereotypers, the printers and the mailers.

The agreements provided for a wage increase of $3.75 a week immediately upon resumption of publication and an additional $2.75 on next Dec. 1. The agreements would run until Nov. 30, 1957.

Climbers To Tell Of Peak Scaling

The story of the 1955 expedition to Alaska where the Iowa Mountaineers climbed three previously unclimbed peaks will be told in the travelogue, "The Lure of Alaska", at 8 p.m. Sunday in Macbride auditorium.

The expedition christened two of the three mountains climbed. One was named after Joe Stettner, Chicago, a driver-photographer-guide of the trip.

The other was called "James Peak" in honor of the youngest member of the expedition, James Ebert, 7, Iowa City. He is the son of John Ebert, leader of the expedition. James and his brother, Johnny, were listed on the roster as "masocots."

Ebert, chief engineer at radio station WSUI, will present the program. He and his wife, Ede, were chief photographers on the expedition.

The Iowa Mountaineer travelogue shows not only the five mountains climbed by the expedition but also Alaskan cities, highways, animals and rivers.

Night-life pictures of Alaskan cities help give a well-rounded picture of expedition activities. Pictures of Anchorage, Fairbanks, Dawson Creek and Whitehorse are included in the program.

The story for "The Lure of Alaska" was written and produced by Fred Sederholm of WSUI, assisted by Norman Stein, A4, Davenport. Photography on the expedition was done by the still-sequence technique perfected in the 1954 Mountaineer trip to Europe.

Journalism Faculty Gets Replacement

Walter Wilcox, 35, has been named to the SUI School of Journalism faculty.

Wilcox has been added to serve during the absence of Prof. Walter A. Steigleman, head of the editorial journalism sequence. Steigleman leaves for a year to be executive editor of the Chester (Pa.) Times. Wilcox will assume his duties next month.

He will teach Beginning Reporting, Introduction to Mass Communications and conduct a Seminar in Legal Problems.

Wilcox has been publisher of the Soda Springs (Idaho) Sun for the last two years. He received his B.A. degree at the University of Nevada in 1941 and his M.A. from SUI in 1951.

Karston Trial on Sanify Nears End

BLOOMFIELD (P) — The state Thursday rested the District Court case in which it is attempting to prove that William G. Karston, 30, of Hamilton, Ill., is sane. If he is found sane, Karston must stand trial for a robbery-slaying.

George E. Flagg Jr., Des Moines, attorney for Karston, said he has one rebuttal witness to present today. County Attorney Richard Wright said the case probably would go to the jury of six men and six women late today.

Karston previously was sentenced to be hanged for the slaying of Wendell Jones, 56, Pulaski farmer, July 25, 1954. But the Iowa Supreme Court ruled that Karston did not have a fair trial, and ordered a new one.

Marilyn Jacobs, A1, Bartlett, Ill., has been elected state chairman of the "Gladly for Adlai" clubs of Iowa by a state membership meeting here.

James Sutherland, A2, Rapid City, S. D., was elected executive secretary. Other members of the club's executive board are state Democratic leaders.

The clubs have been circulating petitions urging that Stevenson receive the Democratic nomination. Its goal is 100,000 signatures before the national presidential convention this summer.

Plaintiff Loses Suit Against Fuel Firm

A jury in Johnson County District Court returned a verdict for the defendant, George Dane, Thursday in the $52,117 damage suit filed against the Dane Fuel Co. by Frank E. Lee.

Glenn J. Means, foreman of the jury, delivered the sealed verdict to Bailiff A. J. Huff Thursday. The jury had deliberated for 11 hours and 15 minutes.

The charge brought against the Dane Fuel Co. arose from a fire March 25, 1952 in a greenhouse owned by Lee. Lee charged the fire resulted from inadequate installation installed by the fuel firm around a boiler in the greenhouse.

Jury Justifies Parolee Shooting

VINTON (P) — A three-man coroner's jury decided Thursday that the fatal shooting of Raymond D. Mason, 39, a parolee from the Michigan State reformatory, by Deputy Sheriff Vern McClurg was "justified homicide."

The jurors also agreed that McClurg fired in self defense Monday, after being fired on by Mason. The inquest took only about an hour and a half. Testimony established that Mason was intoxicated at the time of the shooting.

MEXICAN COLD WAVE

MEXICO CITY (P) — Temperatures dropped to 11 above zero early Friday in Mexico City. Three persons froze to death. These brought to 27 the fatalities attributed to a two-week cold spell that grips Mexico from coast to coast.

International Satirist To Perform at Union

By WILLIAM DONALDSON

Anna Russell, billed as an "international concert comedienne" and "world's funniest woman," will present one of her original programs Monday at 8 p.m. in the main lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Miss Russell's program of musical satire is sponsored by the University Lecture Course Committee.

There was a time when Anna Russell had no intentions of being funny. She seriously studied music at the Royal College of Music in her native London, specializing in voice, piano, composition and cello.

During a series of her operatic appearances some time ago, Miss Russell sang with a tenor half her size in "Cavalleria Rusticana." At one of the opera's more dramatic points the little man pushed her, whereupon she slid into the prop churk at the rear of the stage and knocked it down. This was one of the incidents that led to her becoming a comedienne.

Miss Russell's brand of satire has been hailed by critics in the major U.S. and European cities, and in such far-off places as Australia, New Zealand, and Tasmania.

Free tickets for students and staff members will be distributed at the east lobby desk of the Iowa Memorial Union today, Saturday and Monday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Staff members and students must present ID cards.

Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the Union and chairman of the University Lecture Course Committee, said that only one ticket will be issued to each person, although married staff members and students will receive spouse tickets.

Tickets remaining Monday will be distributed to the public.

GOING TO RUSSIA

BONN, Germany (P) — The Foreign Office reports eight German diplomats will go to Moscow within 10 days to prepare for the establishment of a West German embassy. The Bonn republic and the Soviet Union decided last summer to set up diplomatic relations.

Big Month For Airline

December was the record month in the biggest year of 28 years United Airlines has served Iowa City. Carl Williams, station agent A, reported Thursday.

Williams said the airline made about $33,900 in December. The monthly average for 1955 was $22,000.

During October the airport handled about 500 passengers, 100 more than the monthly average for 1955. Williams reported the increase was due to numerous medical conventions held at SUI.

Other statistics reported by Williams include: total revenue for 1955, $271,878, up 19.8 per cent from 1954; total passengers, 4,514, up 24.5 per cent from 1954; air freight, 50,500 pounds (includes express, freight and mail), up 10 per cent.

No Court Change In Parker Case

LINCOLN, Neb. (P) — Max Towle, attorney for Darrel Parker, said Thursday he has no plans at present to ask for a change to a different court should Parker come to trial for first degree murder.

He said also that Parker would not waive preliminary hearing, set for Jan. 21 in Lancaster County Court.

Parker, 24, former Lincoln city forester, has been charged in the strangulation death Dec. 14 of his wife, Nancy, 22.

Wilson Sees Change In Defense Make-Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson disclosed Thursday he has ordered military chiefs to take a new look at the armed forces in view of new weapons and world events.

Wilson forecast, in testimony for the Senate Armed Services Committee, that there will be "continuing changes in the nature and composition of our forces." The changes will be "in line with scientific and technological progress and the international situation," he said.

He said "we do not foresee at this time any major changes in the over-all level of our military forces during the next few years."

In order to determine just what changes will be needed, he said, "I am requesting the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the military department heads to make a complete and careful evaluation of the size, nature and composition of the forces likely to be required for the nation's security during the next three years."

"This longer range study will provide us with a sound base for planning future procurement and other military programs which necessarily extend over a period of years."

High points of Wilson's statement included:

1. Military manpower will increase to about 2,840,000 by June 30, 1957, or about 26,000 more than the total of 2,814,000 estimated for next June 30.

2. A major portion of the money the Defense Department will spend in the new fiscal year beginning July 1 will go for new weapons, including "large sums for missiles."

3. The year will see the Air Force brought up to its scheduled strength of 137 wings, or 10 more wings than it now has.

4. The continental air defense system "will continue to grow in scope and effectiveness during the coming fiscal year."

5. The Strategic Air Command will continue to grow in the power to strike retaliatory blows in the event America is attacked.

In stressing his theme that defense planning must be on a continuing long-range basis, Wilson said it will be "characterized by a stability which is not materially disturbed by every propaganda effort of unfriendly nations or wishful thinking on the part of ourselves or our allies."

Wilson told a news conference last week the department is figuring on spending about a billion dollars more in the new fiscal year than the 35 1/2 billion dollars estimated for the current year.

Thursday's testimony launched the Senate Armed Services Committee on its annual study of military needs. Wilson was closeted with the committee for several hours. The text of his prepared testimony was made public in advance.

Chrysler To Cut Production Force

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp. Thursday announced production cuts of 10 per cent at two Detroit plants effective Monday, Jan. 16.

The company also said it would lay off 1,000 hourly workers today. It said 800 of them were temporary employees.

The Jefferson and Kercheval plants, which produce Chrysler cars, employ 10,500 hourly workers.

SUI's Largest Check

Plan New Atom Tests This Spring

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new series of atomic tests will be held in the Pacific this spring, it was announced Thursday by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department. They will be smaller explosions than the huge 1954 hydrogen blast.

The joint announcement by the AEC and the Pentagon said that:

"In the absence of effective international agreement safeguarded by adequate inspection to limit control of armaments, the United States government continually endeavors to maintain the most modern efficient military strength for purposes of peace."

"Pursuant to this course, preparations are under way for a series of nuclear tests to begin in the spring at the Eniwetok proving grounds. One of the important purposes of this series will be the further development of methods of defense against nuclear attack."

"Air and sea traffic will be notified through normal channels of the details of the control area well in advance of the commencement of operations."

A supplemental statement issued by Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the AEC said the tests "will involve weapons generally smaller in yield than those tested during the 1954 test series."

Violator Prefers Jail to Traffic Fine

DES MOINES (AP)—C. M. Gill, unemployed Des Moines man, was philosophical Wednesday when Municipal Judge Harry B. Grund fined him $243 on 18 delinquent traffic tickets.

Gill was given the choice of paying the fine or serving three days in jail on each charge. When he found out the sentences would run concurrently and his entire term would be only three days he chose jail.

Gill said he was broke, anyway, and after a little mental arithmetic, commented: "I don't know of any other way to earn $81 a day."

India's UN Delegate To Speak Here

Arthur S. Lall, permanent representative of India to the United Nations, will speak on India's foreign relations tonight at 8 in Macbride Auditorium.

Speaking on "The Indian Synthesis and the West," Lall will deliver the seventh annual Sudiindra Bose Memorial Lecture. The lectures were established by Mrs. Bose in honor of her husband, a professor of oriental politics and civilization at SUI from 1912 to 1946.

Lall was educated at the University of Punjab and at Oxford University in England. He was a political columnist for an Indian newspaper in his youth.

After taking part in trade negotiations with Britain, France, Sweden and other countries, he became consul general of India at New York from 1951-54 with the rank of minister.

He also is a creative writer. His latest novel, "The House of Adamspur," is scheduled to be published this spring by Alfred A. Knopf, Inc.

The 1955 Bose lecturer was Tarakanath Das, author of about 20 books on the political interrelationships of Southeast Asia. Swami Nikhilananda, Hindu religious leader, lectured in 1954.

Boyfriend Admits Help In Dissection

NEW YORK (AP)—A poetry-writing salesman was said by police Thursday to have admitted he helped dissect his sweetheart's body after she died during a bungled Christmas Eve abortion.

The dismembered parts—about 50 of them—were wrapped in gay Christmas gift wrappings and dumped in trash containers on the sidewalks of upper Broadway.

Thomas G. Daniel, 24, was formally charged with homicide, along with an alleged accomplice, Leo Pijuan, 46, a pint-sized former hospital employe. Pijuan was named as the actual abortionist. The victim in the sordid climax to an illicit love affair was 20-year-old Jacqueline Smith, a shapely blonde textile fashion designer.

Her dissected body has not been found and police quoted Pijuan as telling a friend after her death: "Police said Miss Smith was more than five months pregnant when she disappeared Christmas Eve after a rendezvous with Daniel at his East 27th Street apartment."

Police sources said the clue to the mysterious disappearance of Miss Smith came from a young Mexican doctor, Ramiro Morales, called in during the course of the abortion. He pronounced the girl dead, suggested police be informed and then left. Only two months in this country, he was not familiar with laws requiring him to report the death himself.

Miss Smith, pretty and brown-eyed, came to New York about a year ago from her home town of Lebanon, Pa.

Britain's Airlift Starts in Cyprus

LONDON (AP)—Battle-ready parachute troops flew to Cyprus Thursday to buttress Britain's influence against ambitious Reds and nationalists in the restive Middle East.

The emergency airlift numbering nearly 2,000 men began soon after dawn as a so-called precautionary measure for protection of British subjects.

Precaution was the official explanation. But no government informant disputed that the real purpose is to guard against collapse of the pro-British regime in Jordan and the British-Jordan alliance on which much of the safety of this country's oil lifeline interests depend.

A secondary aim is said to be Britain's desire to reinforce often-breach armistice terms between Israel and the Arabs.

Big Royal Air Force transports roared away through rain and mist from the Blackbushe Airport at half-hour intervals throughout the day and night with armed men aboard in full battle kit.

The situation in the Jordan kingdom—which the British carved out of Palestine in 1946—undoubtedly worries this country. Widespread anti-Western riots flared there in December and last week. They were sparked by opponents of Britain's efforts to bring Jordan into the Western-slanted Baghdad military alliance.

Unofficially the British accused Egyptians, Syrians and Saudi Arabians of joining with Communists in a campaign to wipe out Britain's influence. Although the riots have subsided, Britain senses more danger to come.

Intelligence agents have sent word to London there may be another big effort by some Jordanians to oust the British completely from their country.

Only 5 N.Y. Teachers Earn Over $9,000

NEW YORK (AP)—There are only five public school teachers in the New York metropolitan area who earn more than $9,000 a year.

The average teacher's salary in the area is $5,468 a year, while the average in comparative communities in the United States is from $4,000 to $4,500, according to a study by Columbia University Teachers College.

Doctor Talks On Behavior

Trying to understand—rather than rebel against—the undesirable aspects of human behavior can result in a happier and more contented life, Dr. Wilbur R. Miller, Director of the SUI Psychopathic Hospital, said Thursday.

Speaking before an "Information First" audience at the university, Dr. Miller said self benefits may be derived from trying to gain an insight into another person's unpleasant behavior.

Dr. Miller also emphasized the importance of understanding one's self. There has been a "curious tendency" on the part of individuals to avoid examining their own mentality, he said.

"When we are well, physically and mentally," the medical educator pointed out "we feel that there is no reason to inquire about ourselves. We seem to feel that there is nothing to inquire about."

The "Information First" lecture series is sponsored by the University Women's Assn. at SUI.
