Here's a Different Way To Propose!

By GENE INGLE
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

DES MOINES — A combination of love, luck and endurance gave a 1955 SUI graduate now in the Army in Germany a 10-minute trans-oceanic telephone call to propose to another SUI graduate here Christmas Eve.

The two are: 2d Lt. Howard M. Greenwald, 23, now with the 302d Reconnaissance Battalion in Bamberg, Germany, and Marilyn Maywald, editor of the 1954 Hawk-eye and now assistant editor of Midland Schools magazine here.

Marilyn, also 23, loves surprises and Greenwald searched for an unusual way to propose.

He sent her a check for plane fare to Germany and marked the envelope: "Do Not Open Until Christmas Noon."

When Christmas Eve came, he tried to book a telephone call to her so he could propose while she opened the envelope. But every line to the United States was booked solid.

Not one to quit, Greenwald, a newspaperman by trade, decided to ask the help of Bamberg's largest newspaper, Der Frankischer Tag, which immediately began to pull strings.

The trail led from Bamberg to Nuremberg to Frankfurt to the United States and back again, as all sought permission to put a telephone call through.

Finally, a sympathetic telephone supervisor in Frankfurt ordered the call be put through to Marilyn.

HOWARD M. GREENWALD MARILYNN MAYWALD

Opens Envelope
Just before midnight Christmas Eve in Germany (lunch time here), Greenwald asked Marilyn to marry him as she tore open the envelope.

Of course, her answer was "Yes."
"I thought he was just calling me as a Christmas present," Marilyn said here Friday after the story came to light.

"He asked me if I was ready to give him 50 years of my life," she said. "I told him I'd love to."

She said she "had no idea he was going to propose. I haven't got my feet on the ground yet," she said.

Leaves Feb. 28
Marilyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Maywald of Cambridge, will leave here Feb. 28 by plane for Bamberg where she will be married to Greenwald March 3, not-so-coincidentally his birthday.

"We had decided we would not be too serious," she said, "since he was going overseas." Greenwald received a commission in the Army through SUI's ROTC program.

"We had written each other regularly," she said. "But when he proposed it was really a shock." In letters to her since the call, Greenwald has told her of all the red tape it took to complete the call. "I guess he really was lonesome," she said. "We talked for about 10 minutes."

Then she added: "There were some tears."
Waited 2 Weeks
Marilyn didn't tell her parents about the telephone engagement until about two weeks later. "I don't know why," she said.

Greenwald, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Greenwald of New York City, received his B.A. degree cum laude from the University of Miami, Miami, Fla., in June, 1954, and an M.A. degree in journalism from SUI last June.

It was in Iowa City that he met Marilyn, who received a B.A. degree at SUI in 1954. Marilyn's sister, Joyce, is now a liberal arts sophomore at SUI and a member of Alpha Delta Pi, sorority of which Marilyn was president while at SUI.

When Greenwald and Marilyn return to the United States in about 16 months, they plan to settle in the midwest or south.

Slain Missionary

One of five American missionaries killed by savage Indians in jungle country in remote Ecuador is shown with his wife and two children. They are posed before the plane that carried five missionaries into the area. All were killed. Search teams have located and buried four of the bodies at the site.

5 Missionaries Buried in Jungle

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—All five American missionaries who flew into the Aca Indian jungle last week with hopes of Christianizing those savage, stone-age tribesmen are dead.

The five were buried Friday in the Curaray River valley where they fell under attack, apparently just after radioing last Sunday: "Here come a group of Aucas we have not known before."

Grady Parrott, president of the Missionary Aviation Fellowship, announced this end of the mission to the Aucas, a bloodthirsty Ecuadorean tribe of naked, painted lancers who know almost nothing of modern civilization.

Find Fifth Body
Ground and air searches found the fifth body Friday. The others had been spotted at intervals since last Tuesday in a quest directed from Shell Mera, 100 miles southeast of Quito.

At least one body was pierced by a primitive lance.

The victims were Peter Fleming, Seattle, Wash.; Nathaniel Saint, Huntington Valley, Pa.; James Elliott, Portland, Ore.; Edward McCulley, Milwaukee, Wis., and Roger Yoderian, Lansing, Mich.

The missionaries had worked since last September to win the friendship of the tribesmen.

Repeated Flights
They flew repeatedly in a light plane over an Aca village on the river and dropped gifts—machetes, beads, clothing, combs—which the Indians received with evident delight.

Thus encouraged, the five landed on a beach of the river Jan. 3 and put up a prefabricated hut in a tree to serve as their advance camp.

Entries from Fleming's diary—made public Thursday by Abraham Vanderpuy, president of the Inter-American Fellowship of Ecuador—told of the first direct contact of the missionaries with the Aucas. They were two men and a girl—all completely nude—the missionaries lured from the jungle by shouting in the Acau tongue. All seemed unafraid.

New President
She said a nominating committee, composed of members of the board of directors of the C-MA, is "working on" the selection of a new president. They are expected to report early next week.

Farrell has been on the board of directors since the fall of 1954. He was elected president at the association's annual meeting last spring.

ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY
DAVENPORT (AP)—Henry M. McCullough, Democrat from Davenport, Friday announced his candidacy for U.S. Representative from Iowa's First District. McCullough attended SUI.

DES MOINES — The State Board of Regents Friday approved an increase in dormitory room-and-board rates at Iowa State College from $540 to $570 per year and at Iowa State Teachers College from $510 to $540 a year.

Housing rentals for married students were increased from $26 to $42 at Iowa State and from $25 to $35 at Iowa Teachers.

College spokesmen said increases were required because of the need for money to build more dormitories.

This action follows another, taken by the board on Dec. 9, 1955, when it approved a $30-a-year rent boost for SUI dormitories effective next September.

Single, double, and quadruple rooms with bath were raised $35, as were rooms in South Quadrangle, the only non-boarding dormitory on the SUI campus. This will raise rates to $220 a year.

Hillcrest and Quadrangle dormitory rates will rise to $650 for double and triple rooms and $720 for rooms with bath.

Set $10 Fee For Student Health Exam

Other Board of Regents Stories: Pages 4 and 6

(Special to The Daily Iowan)

DES MOINES—The State Board of Regents Friday approved a $10 fee for all students entering SUI for the first time who haven't filed a report of a physical examination with the Student Health Service.

Under the new program, each new student, with a few exceptions, will be required to take a physical examination with his own physician.

Then he must furnish Student Health service with a report of this exam. Failure to do this will mean the student must take the exam at Student Health, which will assess the $10 fee.

The plan, to become effective next September, will exempt students in the SUI College of Medicine, College of Dentistry, and College of Nursing. These students will continue to take free physical exams at Student Health.

The report of the physical must be filed by the beginning of orientation week for the first semester for which the student is enrolling.

Mother, Infant Hit By Polio; Receive $500 Donation

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A Madison woman, believed to be the first woman in the nation to give birth to a child when she had infantile paralysis and at the same time her infant born with the disease, got an unexpected assist of $500 Friday.

The woman, Mrs. Daniel F. Benson, was stricken with polio Sept. 23. On Oct. 3, her baby boy, Daniel Patrick, was born, also with the disease, according to her physician, Dr. Homer Carter.

Dr. Carter said that a spinal tap was performed on the baby, which definitely showed it had active polio. The infant's legs and left arm failed to show normal muscular response.

The unusual gift came to the woman through the Dane County March of Dimes from Marion, Ohio. It was in the form of a cashier's check for $500.

Symphony Band To Give Concert

The SUI Symphony Band will present its first concert of the year Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Iowa Memorial Union.

Free tickets are available today to the public at the information desk in the south lobby of the Union. SUI students will not be required to present identification cards.

The Weather

Cloudy & Warmer

Warm weather is expected for Iowa today with highs estimated between 40 and 50 degrees.

The weather bureau, however, expects cooler air, following a low pressure disturbance over the great plains, to move into the state Sunday with possible snow flurries.

State Balks At Payment

DES MOINES (AP)—The state cannot pay Iowa City for a $16,193 assessment for a street widening job done last summer next to SUI property. This was a ruling handed down by the Iowa attorney general's office Thursday.

The ruling came as a surprise to members of the State Board of Regents who control and operate SUI. Board officials claimed that similar payments had been made for previous widening projects.

The $16,193 is part of an $89,932 bill submitted by Iowa City to the State Executive Committee for widening Madison Street between Washington and Jefferson Streets, and other street modifications.

The bill, subject to approval by the attorney general's office, was approved earlier this week by the executive council.

However, Oscar Strauss, assistant attorney general, ruled that street widening cannot be considered an improvement under the law providing for street assessments against state property.

Strauss did approve payment to Iowa City of $73,739 of the total street improvements bill. This figure is mostly for street paving and improved lighting. The entire project involved about $97,000 in repairs.

University officials say the state had approved payment earlier for widening Madison Street one block north of the section it now refuses to pay for.

Report Gen. Wedemeyer Excellent After Surgery

GREAT LAKES, Ill. (AP)—Gen. A. C. Wedemeyer (Ret.) was reported in "excellent condition" Friday following a gall bladder operation at Great Lakes Naval Hospital.

Wedemeyer, commander of U.S. forces in the China Theater during World War II, retired from the Army in 1951. He is vice-president and a member of the board of directors of Avco Mfg. Co.

Remarks on 'War's Brink' Cause Furor

WASHINGTON (AP)—A demand that President Eisenhower tell whether he approves Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' "brink of war" tactics in foreign policy was made Friday night by Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.).

Humphrey declared that "indiscreet" remarks by Dulles showed "callousness toward world opinion," tended to sap this nation's alliances and to dull the edge of its foreign policy.

Humphrey issued a statement calling on Eisenhower to state whether he agreed with Dulles.

Dulles OK's Story

Earlier in the day, Dulles okayed, as correct in substance, remarks attributed to him by an interviewer for Life magazine. Life had quoted him as saying the Eisenhower administration had "walked to the brink" of war three times and averted it by "strong actions."

Dulles said the Chinese Reds were put on notice that the United States would hit them with atomic weapons if they walked out of the Korean truce talks or intervened openly in Indochina. The third instance he mentioned was when Congress authorized Eisenhower to fight for Formosa.

Dulles' remarks stirred alarmed comment in British newspapers, one of them calling him "this edgy gambler."

Dulles Quoted
"The ability to get to the verge without getting into war is the necessary art," Dulles was quoted as saying. "If you cannot master it, you inevitably get into war."

"If you try to run away from it, if you are scared to go to the brink, you are lost."

While firmly backing up these views, Dulles refused either to disown or endorse the remainder of the lengthy Life foreign policy review which credits him with the "greatest display of personal diplomacy since the great days of the Franklin-Adams-Jefferson triumvirate in the Europe of the 1780s."

Humphrey said that, taken literally, the magazine article "in effect expounds a new basis for American foreign policy. Mr. Dulles' art of getting to the verge of war comes precariously close to rejecting the traditional American conviction that we must never strike the first blow."

His Decisions
In the Life interview, Dulles said it was President Eisenhower who made the ultimate decisions for "strong action" which, Dulles said, averted war.

For example, Dulles said Eisenhower decided that if the Communists walked out of the Korean truce negotiations, the United States would launch air attacks on Manchuria and use tactical atomic weapons.

and the U.S., he added, must be one of two-way mutual acceptance, with neither country attempting to evade the importance of neutral acceptance.

"India has not become pro-American because of American aid," Lall stated. He stressed that aid should not become a political string and that it is the spirit of cooperation and friendship which is important.

He said the basis of the United Nations has to be agreement. "There is no victory in majorities. When there is one country refusing to agree to a resolution, that resolution is in fact dead," Lall said.

Lall said that "by dint of perseverance" India was able to get the Korean prisoner of war formula accepted by both sides. "We try to bring countries nearer to each other. Our approach is that the fundamental basis in the UN should be a mood to synthesize, to harmonize."

India keeps a modest army, Lall said, very small in size, primarily for internal use and for such instances as the Korean war and the Indochina war. He said India's armament expenditures takes about seven or eight percent of their total national and state budgets.

Lall said he did not understand why the visit of Russian Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev brought such negative reaction in the United States.

Russia has developed remarkably from a material standpoint in the last 35 years and the Indian people wanted to see these leaders, Lall said. "It is fallacious to think that it would change our policies or feelings."

No Food Poisoning at Hillcrest

By JAMES FLANSBURG

A final search into the possibility of food poisoning at Hillcrest dormitory revealed no bacteria and "negative results," Dr. Chester I. Miller, head of Student Health Service, said Friday.

Also, Dr. Miller said, the number of virus sickness cases is back to a "pre-flare-up" normal — 8 or 10 treated cases Friday and several more reported.

He said only three Hillcrest residents reported for treatment. Although there may have been a few new cases in the dormitory, the outbreak at Hillcrest probably is over, Dr. Miller explained.

No Poisoning

Dr. Miller, speaking for Prof. Marcus P. Powell, of the SUI Department of Hygiene and Preventive Medicine, who could not be reached Friday night, said the analysis by Powell proved conclusively there was no food poisoning.

There is the possibility that residents contracted the virus from the Hillcrest meal Wednesday evening, he said.

There is also a possibility the disease was contracted several days before the outbreak. Dr. Miller stated, inoculation period may be a few hours or several days; no one knows for sure, he added.

'Several Ways'

"Not too much is known about the virus," Dr. Miller said. "It probably can be contracted in several ways."

He declined to predict but said there is a chance another "flare-up" will break out in "two or three days or perhaps longer."

"It's not known for sure that the disease is caused by a virus," Dr. Miller said. It may be bacterial. But a virus of some kind is the generally accepted cause."

He said it would be possible to isolate the virus but the expense for research would be tremendous. It would take a great deal of work and possibly several years, he added.

220 Affected

As the toll stands now, nearly 30 per cent of the Hillcrest residents have been hit by the disease — 220 of 679. Unofficial estimates have placed the number at 250 and higher.

Throughout SUI and Iowa City there has been an increased tempo in the number of cases. Some students living in other dormitories and private residences have been hit by the virus. Nearly 70 pupils at the Iowa City Junior High School became ill last week, but there has been no recurrence.

Iowan Considered For National Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three Nebraskaans and one Iowan are among farm experts being considered for assistant secretary of agriculture.

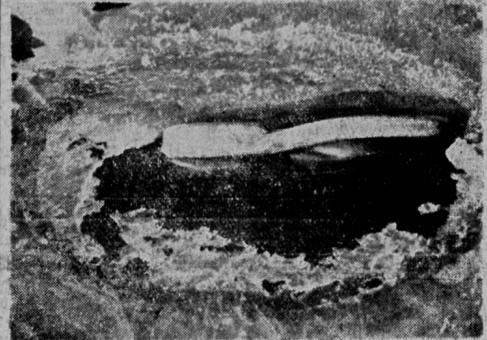

They are Herbert Hughes, Imperial, Leroy Welch, Omaha, and Charles Marshall, Lincoln, Neb. and Marvin McLain, Brooklyn, Iowa.

James A. McConnell, Mansfield, Pa., resigned last Dec. 31 as an assistant secretary.

McLain has been with the department for several years as director, grain division, Commodity Stabilization Service.

Hughes is vice-president of the National Wheat Growers Assn. and a member of the Commodity Credit Corporation's advisory board.

Shoe Found in River

(Daily Iowan Photo)

A SHOE WHICH appeared in a hole in the ice covering the Iowa River Friday led to an investigation by police. The shoe was discovered by three SUI students. Speculating as to whether there might be a body in the river, police said that the possibility was remote because the water is only two feet deep at that point.

Police Probe Iowa River

Iowa City police were investigating the mysterious appearance of a shoe in a hole in the ice on the Iowa River Friday.

The shoe was discovered about 15 feet from the riverbank, behind the Iowa Memorial Union parking lot by three SUI students who reported it to police.

Detective Harland Sprinkle, Capt. Laurence Ham and Sgt. Richard Lee probed the hole with a 15-foot hooked pole Friday evening, but said they found nothing else in the area. They said the shoe apparently is a boy's style, about size six and one-half.

The hole, about 14 inches wide, is surrounded by an area of what appears to be freshly frozen ice. The shoe was partially frozen into the ice and was lying with the sole up.

The river at that point is only about two feet deep, police said. They were unable to explain the appearance of bubbles on the surface of the hole. They said they did not think the river was deep enough for a body to float down the river, if there were a body.

Police said only one person has been reported missing here in the last several weeks. He is Edward Dohski, 70, 620 S. Dodge St., who has been missing from his room since December 31. There have not been any unsolved reports of missing children, they said.

Dr. Bean Given $7,700 Grant

Dr. William B. Bean, head of the Internal Medicine Department of the SUI College of Medicine, received a $7,700 grant from the National Vitamin Foundation, Inc. for cancer research.

SUI is one of 10 schools to receive the grants which became effective Jan. 1.

Dr. Robert S. Goodhart, Scientific Director of the foundation, announced that the grants would be used to augment the extensive research program in the fields of vitamins and nutrition carried on by the foundation.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Friday announced the launching site and first specific details of the earth satellites it hopes to send whizzing into lower space.

Russia has also announced plans to launch an artificial satellite at least six months ahead of the first American launching.

The Defense Department disclosed that Patrick Air Force Base at Cocoa, Fla., had been selected as the U.S. takeoff point. The rocket-launched "baby moons" are expected to circle the earth in an egg-shaped orbit ranging from 200 to 800 miles from earth.

Tried To Cross Mississippi Ice; Believed Drowned

DUBUQUE (AP)—Authorities Friday called off a four-day search for Marvin Anderson, 22, Dodgeville, Wis., believed to have fallen through thin ice and drowned while attempting to cross the Mississippi River from East Dubuque, Ill.

East Dubuque County, Ill., officials said they believe Anderson and a companion, Jerry Daney, 20, also of Dodgeville, both attempted to cross the river ice on foot and fell in.

Daney, about 50 pounds lighter than Anderson, is believed to have fallen pulled himself back onto the ice and made his way to shore. He was arrested Monday night by Dubuque police on a complaint of a harbor watchman who found him in a truck.

The car in which the pair had been riding was found abandoned on the Illinois side of the river on a sandbar at the end of a dead end road. East Dubuque Police Chief Dane Steiner said green paint on the car, owned by Anderson, linked it to a hit-run accident in East Dubuque Monday night.

Daney has told authorities he fell down while crossing the river bridge alone. He told officers after the fall everything went blank and he can't recall how he got wet or what happened to Anderson.

Basketball

TO THE EDITOR:
After watching the Iowa basketball team lose a heart-breaking one point ballgame to Michigan State, I expected the sportswriters (this is not an all-inclusive term, so no one need feel insulted), to, of course, comment on Iowa's "fold" in the final minutes, but I also expected some mention of the courageous play of the Hawks.

I felt there was more pressure on this game than the game at Minnesota last year, for in this game the Hawkeyes were playing two opponents—Michigan State and themselves. They lost to Michigan State, but won against themselves.

Did anyone really expect the team to display their old brilliance right from the tip-off after a confidence shattering West Coast trip? If this collapse on the coast had been from lack of effort maybe this would have happened, but this was not the reason for the collapse.

True, the Hawk's play was extremely ragged at times, but I don't see how anyone who has followed these Hawks for the last two years could possibly fail to see that this ragged play was due to desperate determination to regain their form of last year, and not to carelessness or any other reason.

I also fail to see how anyone could think only in the terms of the 13 point lead the Hawkeyes lost. Wasn't it evident that before the Hawks lost the lead, they had regained their confidence and much of last year's form?

Of course, I was disappointed at the loss, but it was when Bill Logan made two free throws in a row, symbolizing the whole team's regained confidence, that I told myself the Hawkeyes would do o.k. in 1956. After coming this far I expected the Hawks to do as they did against Ohio State, but a lesser team with not as much determination might have let the one point loss put them back where they were at 7:30 Saturday night against Michigan State. Not our Hawkeyes!

Editorials

TO THE EDITOR:
As a one-time sports editor of the Daily Iowan I'm extremely proud of the editorial "Welcome Cyclones" carried in your Jan. 4 edition. It represents a fine step toward the big time attitude each of Iowa's great educational institutions should share toward each other. No finer thing will ever be said for our team than you have said in your editorial. Many thanks from all of us here. We want you to know, too, that our best wishes go to Iowa and Bucky O'Connor in the coming Big Ten race. We hope that the Cyclones and Hawks will be playing in March for the NCAA title.

Many areas in Virginia—those in the larger cities and in the counties where few Negroes live—would like to give up segregation now. They are tired of the expense of maintaining separate schools for Negro students.

But the Griffins, Talmadges and Byrds know that this feeling will not spread over the South within their lifetimes. So they will continue to use race-baiting as a means of staying in office—and leave it for the next generation to clean up in their wake.

TO THE EDITOR:
The several fine editorials that have recently appeared in the Daily Iowan deserve commendation, both for their timeliness and social significance. Your presentation of issues seems fair, and interpretation sound.

Thesis Policy

TO THE EDITOR:
I am a patient sort. That is to say, I can bear other people's tribulations in stoic silence. I maintained this decorum through such juicy journalistic jousts as the "Parking Question," (most of my classes come with attached parking facilities), and "End-Zone Seating." (I have a conscientious buddy who gets there early and can sit two-wide even under the most scathing glances from standing coeds).

But now, they've gone too far! The University has committed a miscomputation which directly affects my already humiliated bank account. Hence, I am moved to speak.

Buried in the archives on the third floor of the library, in a section normally visited only by the morbidly curious, mice, and lurking chair-slashers, is that scholastic graveyard, that monument to sleepless nights and peptic ulcers, the theses section. Some few years ago a benevolent inventor, himself perhaps a former M.A. or Ph.D. candidate, brewed up a batch of wood pulp and old rockford socks and rolled it out into a type of paper called "Corrassable Bond."

Now, this stuff does not sell for chicken-grit, but it's worth its price because even the most flagrant typing errors erase off it like crazy. Also it's thin enough that you can make umpteen carbons. A generation of grad students clutched this invention to their breasts in their hot little hands, and because of it, developed, perhaps, one less ulcer speck.

THIS, like all honeymoons, was bound to come to an end.

So, the powers-that-be reread back and passed a law that, henceforth, all theses should be typed on 100% rag, 20-pound bond.

a few struggling degree candidates about it and counted on their stricken walls to attract the attention of the rest of us. So far, so good! The initial griping chorus was joined by a choir of other voices, including those of the various student supply firms, who were caught with their stocks down. (Practically) everyone in question, thereby heard about the change.

ZERO HOUR (5 p.m., Jan. 6) drew nigh. A fellow M.F.A. candidate and I decided to combine our typing and editing experience in a last-minute dash for the deadline.

Our first blow fell when we went to purchase the paper, itself. Seven-forty a ream. Pfft! Ten bucks, just like that!

The second stroke was more subtle. Once home, we found that using these 1/16" sheets of white gold, neither of our valiant little portables would take an original and three carbons, even if the last two were on cigarette paper. So we dashed back to the supply shop and rented an upright. Pfft! Six more bucks! Incidental materials ran around $7.50.

THE RACE BEGAN! About 4:20 a.m., January 5, we paused for calculation. Panic reigned when double-checked mathematics revealed that, slowed by difficult erasures, the typist-half of the coalition couldn't possibly make the required deadline, even without sleep. As soon as the supply store was open, we mortgaged her cat and rented another upright, for a week. Pfft! Three dollars extra!

To make this tragedy less tedious, the editor turned typist, and promptly at 4:15 p.m., upon the appointed day, dazed but triumphant, we charged into the grad office with two copies each of our respective theses.

The lady at the desk smiled compassionately, consulted her (corrected) instruction sheet, and handed back one copy.

"WE ONLY NEEDED the original," she said, unaware of the physical danger she was at that moment liable to. "They're microfilming them now."

"When," I inquired, weakly, trying to keep the froth from showing at the corners of my mouth, "was this decided?"

"It's something new. A week or two ago," was the reply.

Total score: For me, 240-odd unnecessary sheets of necktie-quality paper, at 1 1/2¢ per sheet; half the rental on two typewriters, $4.50; plus incidentals such as extra carbon and untold hours of agony, erasing carbon-smudges off a 100% rag first carbon. For the lady, 110 sheets of extra paper; the other half of the typewriter tab; equal incidentals; two more hours of erasure, plus duplicate copies of 18 Ektachrome color prints at half-a-rock per each.

Preventative measure: Two twenty-cent cards.

Thank heaven they aren't billing us for the microfilm. Or maybe they're saving that for a surprise.

Why They Don't Vote

Every year the Student Council scolds SUI students for the apathy they show at the spring all-campus elections.

It never does much good. Only 1,990 students voted in 1953. In 1954, the vote dropped to 1,330. Last year it was about 1,900.

The Student Council is right. Students have little interest in student government at SUI. They care little who is elected to the Student Council, Union Board, Board of Student Publications and other bodies.

The Student Council, however, has never attacked the real evil: the reason for student apathy.

Sandra Miller, A3, Davenport, pointed out at a meeting of the council's campus election committee that 2,000 males voted in the Miss SUI contest this year while last year's all-campus elections drew only 1,900 students of both sexes.

That's easy to explain. There is a clear and simple choice in the Miss SUI contest: which girl is the prettiest? Personality, scholarship and talent are supposed to enter in, but beauty is the most important factor.

How can a student make his choice in all-campus elections? He may not be a close friend of any candidate. Then why should he vote?

The candidates usually stand for nothing. Last year The Daily Iowan offered space to all candidates to present campaign platforms. Of the 60 candidates, only eight took this opportunity to list platforms.

And some of these (independent . . . the efficient prosecution of any assigned duties . . . the bettering of student position on campus) were nothing to get excited about.

Students are no different from other voters. Before they vote for a candidate they want to know what — if anything — he stands for. If he just wants to run for the office for the honor of holding a position, students aren't likely to take time to make an "X" next to his name.

The student elections are no more than popularity contests. How can students be expected to vote in them — especially if they don't have strong feelings for or against any candidate?

Members of the present campus election committee have recognized this problem and want to do something about it. They talked this week of using campaign managers, more posters and speeches by candidates to bring up student interest. This will help.

It is hard to see the logic, however, behind the committee's desire to take polling places out of the dormitories and place them in campus buildings. Isn't it desirable to make voting convenient, to place polling places where they can be used with convenience?

Committee members say that the dormitory polls make the election unfair to fraternities and sororities, who have no polls in their living quarters.

It would make just as much sense to place all city polling places in the business district, because voters in crowded tenement districts had easier access to the polls than persons in the estate sections of town. This change will not help to raise the total vote, which is the committee's stated desire.

Committee members noted the fact that the candidates have taken no stands on campus issues over the past few years.

There will be no excuse for candidates, especially those for the Student Council positions, not taking stands on campus issues this year.

Student seating, housing, discrimination, parking — all of these are campus issues. And there are others that are lying dormant, waiting for some candidate to raise them.

If issues, not popularity, are the most important factors in this year's campus elections, a larger vote is almost certain to result. Students will be more eager to vote for issues than names.

Just One Sign of Winter

It's been so nice in Iowa City this winter. The snow-shovels have gathered dust. No one has had aching back muscles from shoveling since before Christmas.

It's been cold — but never below zero since early in the winter. Driving has been easy. There has been little trouble with snow-packed roads, snow glare, snow tires, or chains.

Walking has been easy for the SUI students and townspeople who don't have cars. There have been no drifts to wade through, no cars throwing water and slush from the streets, no sidewalks covered with snow over a thin layer of ice.

They even took Santa Claus' little house away yesterday. Maybe winter really is over.

The Counter-Attack

The counter-attack on the Supreme Court's 1954 ruling that outlawed segregation in the schools is in full swing. Virginia this week joined Mississippi in passing constitutional amendments making it possible to turn the public school systems of the state over to private corporations. Georgia and South Carolina politicians are considering similar legislation.

The amendments will not, in fact, make private schools out of the educational facilities of the states. Colored and white students will receive the same education they are receiving now — in segregated schools. There will be no tuition charges. The states will appropriate the money to run the schools.

As private schools, the institutions can accept or reject pupils. They will, of course, reject colored pupils who wish to attend white schools. They will accept the colored students only in schools that are now used for colored pupils.

This, southern politicians hope, will make segregation legal for a time. This situation, of course, will not last. Lawyers of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) will bring the case back to the courts. The grounds: the state is supporting an unconstitutional practice. Few southerners think the Supreme Court will rule against the NAACP.

The racist politicians of the South will no doubt fight school integration in the same manner they fought giving colored people the right to vote. As soon as courts declare one method unconstitutional, the politicians will think up another to last for a few more years — until it goes through the courts and is declared unconstitutional.

This practice will end in the same manner as did the one designed to prevent Negro voting. Time will catch up with it. The people of the South will see that integration is inevitable and right and stop thwarting it.

Many areas in Virginia — those in the larger cities and in the counties where few Negroes live — would like to give up segregation now. They are tired of the expense of maintaining separate schools for Negro students.

But the Griffins, Talmadges and Byrds know that this feeling will not spread over the South within their lifetimes. So they will continue to use race-baiting as a means of staying in office — and leave it for the next generation to clean up in their wake.

Program Launched—

Church Seeks New Members

The First Christian Church has launched a 13-week pre-Easter evangelical program aimed at increasing the size of the church congregation by 75 members.

The program began with the visit of Mr. and Mrs. Jack A. Sutton here the first week in January and will end March 18 with a dedication service.

A four-week visitation by church members will begin Feb. 5 under the direction of Mrs. Frank Anderson. A six-month goal calls for 100 new members.

The program is being directed by Dean Jones, chairman of the evangelical department of the church; Mrs. W. C. Wikel, chairman of the membership development department; Mrs. Marjorie Clatterbaugh of the education department and Harold Hill of the worship department.

The church has also approved for action a plan proposing to sponsor a refugee family's resettlement in Iowa City.

Unitarians To Hear 2 SUI Professors

Two SUI professors will lead the services at the First Unitarian Society this Sunday.

Prof. Alexander Kern of the SUI English Department will speak on "Unitarians and the Flowering of New England." Prof. D. C. Spriesterbach of the SUI Speech Pathology Department will conduct the church service.

The Rev. Alfred J. N. Henriksen, minister of the local Unitarian Society, is preaching at the Third Unitarian Church of Chicago Sunday.

SPOT REMOVER

One new spot remover, said to be ideal for removing grasy stains from Dad's neckties, is in an aerosol container, may be sprayed easily on clothing, rugs, upholstery and car interiors.

To Meet One Of Founders of SUI Hillel House

Rabbi Kaplan

Rabbi Harry Kaplan, one of the founders of Hillel in the United States, will visit the SUI campus Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday.

Rabbi Kaplan is midwest regional director of Hillel and director of B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation at Ohio State University.

Hillel Asks 'Why Study Medicine?'

Money may not be the answer to the question: "Why People Study Medicine?" — the subject of a talk at Hillel discussion group Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

The lecturer will be Dr. William B. Bean, professor of medicine and head of the SUI Department of Internal Medicine. Dr. Bean, who delivered the SUI commencement address in June, 1955, is the editor of several medical publications and has had over 70 articles on various medical subjects published.

Lutherans Plan Installation of New Council Members

Five new council members of First English Lutheran Church will be installed at the 11 a.m. worship service there Sunday.

The new council members, elected at the 100th annual meeting of the church Wednesday evening, are: Prof. David McCuskey of the SUI Athletic Department, Prof. George W. Forell of the SUI School of Religion, Carl Bolender, Prof. Clarence Berg of the SUI Chemistry Department, and A. C. Cahill.

A 1956 budget of $22,500 was approved by the congregation. This figure is about 22 per cent above the 1955 budget. Total receipts of the church for 1955 were $18,058.14.

Part of the rise is attributed to an increase in proposed benevolent gifts for 1956. The increase will be from $4,000 to $5,350.

This year's budget includes $3,500 for improvements in the church and on fixtures and furnishings.

Michaelsen To Appear On Waterloo Telecast

Prof. Robert S. Michaelsen, director of the SUI School of Religion, will appear on a telecast on KW-TV, Waterloo, 11:30 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 15.

His topic will be "Religion on the Campus," and the program will be sponsored by the Waterloo Council of Churches.

Prof. Michaelsen will also be the speaker at a Union Service in Waterloo at 8 p.m. Sunday, under the auspices of the Waterloo Council of Churches.

Conference Gives Students 'World Problems Insight'

The Student Volunteer Movement Quadrennial Conference gave us "insights into the problems facing the world," said Miss Sally Smith, student worker at First Christian Church.

Seventeen persons from SUI attended the conference held on the University of Ohio campus, Athens, Ohio, Dec. 27-Jan. 1. Conference planners had expected 3,000 students to attend. More than 3,500 students from over 70 countries were in attendance.

The purpose of the conference was to analyze the world situation and plan ecumenical and mission action. The topic of the conference was "Revolution and Reconciliation."

Each day of the conference a festival of nations was held. The songs and dances of many foreign countries were presented.

M. Richard Shaul, author of "Encounter with Revolution" and staff member of a Brazilian Presbyterian seminary, spoke each day.

After the main addresses each day small groups of 15 would meet and discuss the meaning of that day's address in regard to the Christian life today. A full length religious motion picture was offered each day.

An international display of art by the students attending the conference was on exhibit during the six-day meeting.

About 1,300 of the students attending the meeting were foreign students. Korean and Japanese students, whose countries are rather "cold" toward each other, had a joint meeting before the conference ended.

South African whites and negroes, who usually do not get along well, had an area forum, a session on the Church activity in their area of the world, before they left for their respective campus homes.

Although 32 area forums were held, Twenty-seven vocational seminars brought together students interested in all types of vocations. Students were housed in Ohio University dormitories and fed in dormitory cafeterias while in Athens.

A chartered bus from Iowa City picked up students from other Iowa colleges and university students. The 17 students from SUI included 3 Methodists, 3 Congregationalists, 3 members of First Christian Church, 3 Lutherans, 2 Baptists, 2 Episcopalians and 1 Presbyterian. Three of these persons were religious organization staff members and three of the students were from foreign countries.

The students from here had no travel expenses. Funds for chartering the bus were raised by a committee. Members of the committee were the Rev. Albert C. Hofrichter of First Christian Church, Mrs. Ray O. Johnson of First Presbyterian Church, Bea Diecks, A4, Iowa City, and Lowell Mathes, A4, Iowa City.

Five local churches contributed to the fund. The group also contacted service clubs, individual church members and groups within churches.

Bye, Santa Claus

SUI PHYSICAL PLANT EMPLOYEES removed Santa's headquarters Friday. The metal building in which Santa resided from November until Christmas will be stored away for use next year.

SUI Considering Buying It—

Hamburgers To Eat in a Minute with New Oven

By PENELOPE MALAFA

SUI students might possibly be served a hamburger cooked in one minute, two poached eggs in 45 seconds and a large turkey in 30 minutes when units four, five and six of the Iowa Memorial Union are completed, Miss Violet Pammel, Union dining service manager, said Friday.

This speed in service will not be due, however, to an increase in the Union's kitchen staff.

SUI is considering buying new cooking equipment — the Raytheon Radarange microwave oven which utilizes a new heating principle that cooks food faster than any other known method, Miss Pammel said.

"It is a revolution in the science of cooking," said Miss Pammel, "and we would be fortunate to have one installed in the new section of the Union."

Miss Pammel, who said it took her exactly 60 seconds from the time she ordered a hamburger to the time she was served in a Boston, Mass., restaurant, said the new microwave oven will cook a ham steak in 50 seconds, a pork chop in 60 seconds, a chicken lobster in 3 minutes, baked potatoes (6 oz.) in 2 minutes and a chicken (1 lb.) in 90 seconds.

"It takes us about three hours to cook a 21-lb. rib roast beef," she said, "but it would take only 45 minutes with the new electronic oven."

Radarange has the ability to re-heat precooked foods without robbing them of their original freshly-cooked appearance, flavor and aroma, she said.

Radarange delivers 750 watts of microwave energy which instantly penetrates the food from all directions. This creates internal heat which does the cooking, thawing or reheating with great speed.

Manufactured by the Raytheon Manufacturing Company of Waltham, Mass., Radarange is already in use in Boston, Providence, Detroit and Chicago.

Its use will become more widespread, Miss Pammel said, when servicing facilities and trained personnel become available to assist in its care and installation.

Plan To Enlarge Student Art Gallery

An enlarged student gallery, a new series of exhibits, and a series of art films are activities planned by the University Art Guild this year.

The Guild soon will announce the schedule of exhibits during the spring semester. Group shows, one-man shows, and an open-air exhibit are under consideration.

The schedule of art films also will be announced soon. These will be shown Friday nights in the Chemistry Auditorium.

Officers of the Art Guild include: Mary Hecht, G, Glens Falls, N.Y., president; Bruce Dorfman, A2, New York, vice president; Dick Anderson, A4, Burlington, treasurer; Janet Jones, A3, Iowa City, corresponding secretary; and Maria Christensen, A1, Burlington, recording secretary.

Committee Chairmen are: Jayne Carmichael, A2, Columbus, Ind.; Lyanne Schneider, G, Alton; Nell Anderson, G, Chicago; Jean Souders, G, Iowa City; Katherine Heiner, G, Canton, N.C.; and Helen Hinman, G, Iowa City.

2d Meeting for Students On Mission Conference

The second in a series of fire-side meetings on the Student Volunteer Movement Quadrennial Conference held at Athens, O., Dec. 27-Jan. 1, will be held at the United Student Fellowship Center in the Congregational Church at 7:45 p.m. Sunday.

All students who attended the conference and all who are interested are invited.

In Tonight's Big Ten Game—

Hawkeyes Face Minnesota

By DAVE STEVENS

An improved Minnesota basketball team will invade the Iowa Fieldhouse tonight with the same goal in mind as the Hawkeyes— to move above the .500 mark in Big Ten play.

The contest looms as a big test for both teams, for each has a 1-1 conference record.

There is no telecast scheduled for the game, which starts at 7:30 p.m. All tickets have been sold out for six weeks. Although Iowa has recorded an enviable home court record in recent years, Minnesota has not taken notice of it. The Gophers have won in 1955, 1954, 1950 and 1949.

Score in Last Seconds
In the last five games between the two clubs, the winning points were not scored until the last five seconds. Iowa has won three of the five, two of which were overtime contests. The Hawks lead by no more than three points in a collective score.

Minnesota carries a 6-4 record, but three of the four losses were in overtime games to Michigan, Southern Methodist and Wake Forest.

Monday the Gophers recovered from their Michigan loss to upset Indiana, 77-71. It is reported that they used an effective zone defense most of the game. Minnesota is a tough team to play for two reasons: 1) The Gophers employ many types of defenses including the new zone, and 2) they are difficult to defense because any player is capable of being the leading scorer. Four have scored over 20 points in a single game this season.

Dommeyer Leads Team
This year a returning service veteran, Jerome Dommeyer, has led the team with a 17.7 point average and a 43.2 percentage. He and Dave Tucker scored 23 and 21 points respectively against Indiana. Tucker and guard Buck Lindsay are the only veterans from last year's squad.

Iowa will have a height advantage. Tucker and Dommeyer are the Gophers' tallest at 6-4 and 6-3, whereas the Hawks have Bill Logan, 6-7, Bill Schoof, 6-6, and Carl Cain, 6-3.

However, Minnesota can even it up by sending in Bill Simonovich, 6-11 giant. He has seen most of his action as a reserve, although he started in a few games.

Morale High
Iowa's team morale was given a boost Monday when the Hawks downed a one-man Ohio State squad, 88-73, after a four-game losing streak. Iowa scored on 39 per cent of its shots, higher than this year's average but still short of last year's 42 per cent mark.

Coach Bucky O'Connor thought Iowa rebounded well against Ohio State, especially Schoof. This accounted for Iowa's 77 shots. "If we can shoot 77 times a game, we'll win," O'Connor said.

The Hawks sport a 66.7 point average at a .358 clip. This compares to opponents' 63.5 average and .352 percentage.

Iowa and Minnesota meet in a return game at Minneapolis Feb. 25.

Probable Lineups
IOWA: Cahn (6-3).....F. Tucker (6-4) Schoof (6-6).....F. Kihndall (6-2) Logan (6-2).....G. Dommeyer (6-3) Seaberg (6-6).....G. Lindsay (6-6) Scheuerman (6-2).....G. Nettek (6-2)

Tickets: Sellout of reserved seats since Nov. 30.
Broadcasts: WSUI (and network), KXIC (and network), KCRG, KENT, WHO-FM, WCCO, WOLO.

Politeness

MSU Sends 'Apology' To Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An apology for Michigan State's 17-14 Rose Bowl victory was received Friday by Mayor Norris Poulson. The writer is D. B. Woody Varner, vice-president of MSU.

Putting his tongue so far back in cheek he almost swallowed it, Varner wrote:

"We had given careful instruction to our football team to let UCLA win the game. They behaved perfectly well for 59 minutes and 53 seconds but then in the heat of the game — one of our youngsters named Dave Kaiser lost his head and scored that unfortunate field goal.

"I am sure you will appreciate that this boy is just a sophomore and therefore must be excused from some of these kinds of irresponsible actions.

"You may get some small degree of satisfaction to know that we have taken disciplinary action so far as the football team is concerned. We have already announced to them that we shall not permit them to return to the Rose Bowl prior to Jan. 1, 1958."

Michigan State, of course, is forbidden by Big Ten Conference rules from appearing twice in succession in the bowl.

Propose More Stadium Seats
(Special to The Daily Iowan)
DES MOINES — The SUI Board in Control of Athletics proposed to the State Board of Regents Friday the addition of 5,500 bleacher seats at the south end of Iowa Stadium.

This would be in addition to the more than 2,000 bleacher seats installed last fall. Dr. George Easton, chairman of the athletic board, said.

Dr. Easton said the question of more seats for the stadium is still in the exploratory stage and there won't be a definite answer for some time.

The proposed seats would increase the seating capacity of the stadium to about 60,000. The project also calls for additional toilet facilities at the south end of the stadium.

The Board of Regents authorized SUI planning and construction officials to prepare plans and get cost estimates for the project.

May Install Lift At SUI Golf Course
(Special to The Daily Iowan)
DES MOINES — The SUI Board in Control of Athletics Friday asked the State Board of Regents for authorization to install a mechanical lift between the 13th green and 14th tee on the new University golf course.

Noting that there is a 75-foot rise to the 14th tee, Dr. George Easton, chairman of the athletic board, said that before the opening of the course last August, it was concluded that some sort of mechanical lift would be needed.

The golf course committee of the athletic board, headed by Prof. Paul Blommers, is now studying the project.

The Board of Regents told the athletic board to prepare plans and cost estimates of the project.

Ed Sproat and Dave Pieper shared the scoring honors for Clinton with 13 points each.

McGuire had 10 for Iowa City and Heinson the same for Clinton. Hawklets' captain, Cline, failed to enter the scoring column, but played a fine floor game and had only one personal foul assessed against him.

Only one player, Clinton's Ed Sproat, fouled out during the contest.

Clinton also won the reserve game, 42-40. High scorers in the preliminary tilt were Garvy and Culbertson with eight points each for Iowa City and Knutson with 16 for Clinton.

U-High Tips Wilton, 58-52; Ties for 1st

By GEORGE WINE

Wilton Junction failed to stop a high-powered University High School brother act Friday night, and fell from the unbeaten ranks, 58-52, before a frantic full house at the U-High gymnasium.

Jim and Al Scott were simply too tough for the visitors to handle as they cracked the net for 47 points between them.

At one time the scoreboard read: the Scotts 26, Wilton 24, before Dick Stocker slipped in a hook shot to break the Scott monopoly on the scoreboard.

Win 15 Straight
Prior to this game, Wilton had won 15 straight and was on top of the Eastern Hawkeye Conference with an 11-0 mark.

This victory gives U-High a 9-1 standing in the conference, and will make the league title an all out effort between the Bluehaws and Wilton. If either team drops another game, it will practically insure the other the conference championship.

This game was a spectacular contest between two teams that must surely be among the top in Eastern Iowa in the smaller school bracket.

Trail at Halftime
After the leaving the floor with a 21-17 halftime deficit, the Bluehaws came storming back.

Jim Scott kept U-High in the contest almost single handedly during the third period as the two teams traded baskets with breathtaking pace.

He made seven field goals — some from fantastic positions — to bring the Bluehaws to a 38-38 tie going into the fourth period.

Al Takes Over
Now it was brother Al's turn to take over the scoring burden. The husky sophomore used his favorite jump shot to gradually pull the victory from the balance.

The Bluehaws, with Al leading the way, never trailed after two minutes were gone in the final period. They maintained a four to five point lead through the final four minutes to tuck away the sweetest victory of the season.

Scott Scores 28
Jim Scott emerged as top scorer with 28 points and Al gave him terrific support with 19. A third brother, Vince, played briefly in the second quarter and added one bucket, so the Scotts accounted for all but nine of their team's total.

Two other boys, Bob Price and Bill Brechler, also had a big hand in the victory.

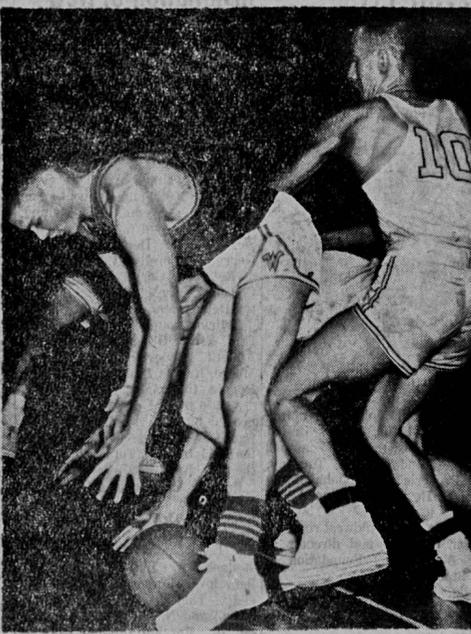

Price was good on the boards against a taller Wilton team, and Brechler played a spirited floor game by setting up several buckets and making a number of steals.

The U-High junior varsity won another one, 33-26, with Jim Keeler leading the way with 10.

River Kings Edge City High, 49-46

By PAUL JESS

Jim Luper's 21 points were not enough to beat the Clinton River Kings Friday night as Iowa City High lost to Clinton, 49-46. The Hawklets now have a conference record of two wins and five losses.

Iowa City led at the end of the first quarter and outscored the Clinton five in the final quarter, but the River Kings were too strong in the clutch as Iowa City lost its eighth game of the season. Clinton now has a 3-10 season record.

Close to Final Gun
The game was close up to the final gun, with Little Hawks showing considerable spark. Clinton proved to be the better team under the boards, grabbing off more than their share of the offensive rebounds. The winning margin was provided for Clinton in the final minutes by three successive free throws.

Iowa City was never able to score after that, although they had three opportunities, and the Clinton team maintained the margin to the end.

Iowa Wrestlers Thrash Badgers

By TRACY NORRIS

Iowa's Ken Leuer handed Wisconsin heavyweight Bob Konovsky the first dual meet loss of his college career Friday night as the Hawkeye wrestlers won seven of eight matches to defeat the Badgers, 21-3, in the Iowa Fieldhouse.

Wisconsin, a victor in three previous dual meets this season, suffered its first loss. It was the first meet of the season for the Hawkeyes.

Konovsky, twice winner of the Big Ten heavyweight crown, had a college dual meet record of 19 wins and one draw going into last night's match with Leuer.

Konovsky defeated Leuer twice in 1955, by scores of 2-0 and 2-1.

50-Pound Difference
Outweighed by 50 pounds, the 195-pound Leuer fought Konovsky to a 0-0 score at the end of the first three-minute period. Leuer escaped from Konovsky to take a 1-0 lead in the second period. Konovsky in turn escaped from Leuer at the beginning of the third period to tie the match at 1-1.

With little more than a minute left in the match, the 245-pound Konovsky attempted a take-down on the edge of the mat, and Leuer capitalized on the move as he gained control of the giant Wisconsin football tackle to earn two points for a take-down and a 3-1 edge.

Konovsky escaped again to make the score 3-2, but Leuer managed to elude Konovsky's take-down attempts, and the Wisconsin grappler lost the first college dual meet of his career.

Fast Start
Terry McCann, last year's 115-pound NCAA champion, got the Hawkeyes off to a fast start as he piled up an 8-1 decision over Wisconsin's Dick Hammes in the 123-pound class.

Two other former Iowa high school wrestlers tied-up in the 137-pound bracket, with Iowa's Ralph Rieks decisioning Earle Edwards, 6-3. Rieks is a former Iowa Falls High School wrestler, while Edwards wrestled at Cedar Falls High School before enrolling at Wisconsin.

Four Iowa sophomores, Lyons, Rieks, Simon Roberts and Gary Meyers, were appearing for the first time in the Hawkeye line-up. All but Lyons won decisions.

Iowa next home meet will be Jan. 21, when the Hawkeye wrestlers face Michigan State in a 2 p.m. match at the Fieldhouse.

SUMMARY
123-pounds: Terry McCann (I) decisioned Dick Hammes, 8-1.
130-pounds: John Cole (W) decisioned Larry Lyons, 12-1.
137-pounds: Ralph Rieks (I) decisioned Earle Edwards, 6-3.
147-pounds: Simon Roberts (I) decisioned Dick Olson, 5-3.
157-pounds: Gary Meyers (I) decisioned Len Barikowick, 5-2.
167-pounds: John Wauer (I) decisioned Bill Peterson, 5-2.
175-pounds: Harlan Jenkinson (I) decisioned John Flara, 2-1.
Heavyweight: Ken Leuer (I) decisioned Bob Konovsky, 3-2.

Aims at Undesirables
"Helfand, who has become another Sen. Kefauver overnight, thanks to boxing, is supposed to be aiming at undesirables in his action," said Begun, a veteran Chicago fight manager.

"Does eliminating the boxing guild eliminate undesirables? The guild was formed to get a fair shake for boxers and their handlers from television.

Penalize Everyone?
"What has the guild got to do with licensing or refusing to license a manager in New York? If the New York commission has evidence of a bad background around a manager, sure, refuse him a license, but why penalize everybody?"

"Mr. Helfand would do well to study televised boxing as the root of the trouble."

Begun said the Chicago guild members would meet in 10 days or so to decide what action to take.

"If boxing was taken out of television, there'd be 200 promoters in business tomorrow," said Begun.

IBG on Rocks
With members speedily quitting the New York guild under Helfand's threat to revoke their managerial licenses by Jan. 16, the parent IBG also is on rocks.

Furthermore, the international guild is under federal indictment in Cleveland on charges of anti-trust violations.

Two New Items
Two other new items to be seen in today's meet will be the 200-yard individual medley and the 30-inch starting blocks.

The butterfly breast stroke has been added to the individual which increases the distance from 150 to 200 yards and adds one stroke. The orthodox breast stroke, butterfly breast stroke and freestyle.

The starting blocks are one foot higher than the old 18-inch high blocks, and add "more speed to the starts," Armbruster explained.

The swimmers take on Northwestern next Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the Iowa pool for their third meet.

Sports Briefs

Condensed From Associated Press Dispatches

EMPTY HANDED — The Hempstead, Tex., girls basketball team is having trouble hitting the baskets in their first season to field a team. Friday night in a game with the Burton, Tex., girls they failed to score a point. Burton won the game, 71-0.

TO PLAY IN USSR — Moscow Radio said Friday the U.S. and Canadian Olympic hockey teams will be invited to play Soviet teams in the Russian capital after the winter games at Cortina, Italy, have been completed.

LIGHTBURN WINS — Ludwig Lightburn, British Honduran lightweight, outpointed Joey Lopes of Sacramento, in a 10-round nationally televised fight at the Winterland in San Francisco Friday night.

FETCHIK LEADS — Mike Fetchik from Youkers, N.Y., held the lead in the National Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament Friday, but shared the glory with Ben Hogan and Harry L. Crosby.

Bowling Meeting
The Scratch League, a bowling group at the Iowa Memorial Union, will hold an organizational meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the conference room near the Union recreational area. Officials, hoping to expand the six-team league, said that interested bowlers are welcome to sign up.

Hawkeye Swimmers Meet Michigan at Home Today
Iowa's swimming team opens a 5-meet home schedule today at 2:30 p.m. against the University of Michigan team in the Iowa Fieldhouse pool.

Iowa coach Dave Armbruster is counting heavily on his two outstanding sophomore prospects, Earl Ellis and Jim Coles. Ellis, along with Ross (Bub) Lucas swims the 440-yard freestyle, and is first man in the individual medley.

Coles, who holds the fastest league time in the 100-yard freestyle this season, set a pool record against Illinois last week as Iowa won, 50-43. He will swim the 50 freestyle as well.

Michigan To Take on Hawks
Michigan, after a swimming against Iowa State at Ames Friday night, might show signs of firing when they take on the Hawkeyes. However, they boast a world record holder in Jack Wardrop who swims the 220- and 440-yard freestyle. He holds the record in the 220.

Jack's twin brother, Burt, swims the individual medley and possibly will be matched against Iowa's captain, Lincoln Hurring, in the backstroke.

All home meets this year are being swum over the long (50-yard straightaway) course, instead of the usual 25-yard course. This has been instituted in many of the Big Ten schools in order to prepare men for the Olympic tryouts, Armbruster said.

Divers Not Eligible
Although two of Iowa's divers will not be eligible until second semester, about Feb. 1, Armbruster is confident that Jim McCullough will do well against Michigan.

"He is doing nicely," the Iowa coach said Friday. "He did well against Illinois last week (second place)."

Iowa's speed relay team of Dennis Roberson, Bob Reed, Tom Jacobson, and Coles, which set a pool and met record against Illinois, has the fastest time in the Big Ten so far this season. It was this team which came from behind in the last leg against Illinois to win the meet from the Illini.

Two New Items
Two other new items to be seen in today's meet will be the 200-yard individual medley and the 30-inch starting blocks.

The butterfly breast stroke has been added to the individual which increases the distance from 150 to 200 yards and adds one stroke. The orthodox breast stroke, butterfly breast stroke and freestyle.

Disgruntled O'Keefe Squeals on Gang— Indict Eleven, One Dead, for Brink's Job

BOSTON (AP)—A Suffolk County grand jury Friday indicted 11 men—one now dead—for the million-dollar Brink's robbery of six years ago.

The 19 jurors, including three women, returned their findings after listening to several Brink's employees and to Joseph J. (Specs) O'Keefe, 47, the "leak" in the case. O'Keefe was one of the 11 indicted.

The cash loot was listed by the FBI as $1,218,111, but the indictments placed the figure at $1,219,000—the total generally used in describing the holdup which occurred the night of Jan. 17, 1950.

The indictments charge breaking and entering, armed robbery, conspiracy to steal goods from Brink's and putting persons in fear with intent to rob.

There were 46 indictments in all, with 148 counts and 10 alleged offenses.

O'Keefe, who is currently serving a sentence in Massachusetts on a gun-carrying charge, testified before the jury Friday forenoon. Police who heard O'Keefe, disclosed his fantastic story of how the robbery had been planned a year and a half; how frequent visits were made—to the Brink's plant at night while no one but a watchman was present; how locks were removed from doors, taken outside to have keys made for them and quickly returned.

O'Keefe decided to "talk," officials said, because he didn't get his share of the loot.

Two of the men indicted still are at large and all but one had appeared before a federal grand jury in 1952 and 1953. No indictments were returned then.

Under Massachusetts law, a life sentence can be handed out upon conviction of armed robbery.

The six men picked up by the FBI are being held in Suffolk County jail. O'Keefe is quartered in the Middlesex County jail across the river in Cambridge.

Dist. Atty. Garrett H. Byrne said Friday night he probably will bring the gang in for arraignment next week, and to trial within a couple of months.

"Will O'Keefe be a government witness?" he was asked.

"Yes. No question about it," said Byrne.

The district attorney said he will meet with U.S. Atty. Anthony Julian to "work out a few details."

Presumably at this meeting he will arrange to get the federal authorities records and information. Byrne said he assumes he will be required to file a habeas corpus to get the men transferred to state jurisdiction from the federal. They were arrested Thursday on charges of conspiracy to violate federal laws.

Chrysler To Idle 1,900 Additional Workers in Cutback

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp. announced Friday night it will lay off an additional 1,900 workers Feb. 17 in a cutback "in line with current market demands."

The layoffs will bring to 5,481 the number announced in recent days by Chrysler. The 1,900 will be at the corporation's Dodge main plant in suburban Hamtramck.

The plant is a major supplier of parts for all Chrysler's automobiles.

Earlier Friday General Motors Corp. announced it was laying off 3,900 workers in six assembly plants. It said production was being "readjusted" in Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac divisions.

GM said the layoffs would be in Framingham, Mass.; Kansas City, Arlington, Tex.; Wilmington, Del.; Linden, N. J., and Southgate, Calif. GM has a total work force of 525,000 in the United States.

Chrysler said operations at Dodge's main plant will be reduced approximately 10 per cent with the February layoffs. It previously had announced layoff of 1,400 in its automotive body division and 1,000 in two Chrysler Division Detroit plants and 1,181 in two Plymouth plants at Evansville, Ind. Chrysler employs 160,000, including 130,000 in Detroit.

Ford Motor Co. previously announced the layoff of 4,600, most of them in Detroit. Ford has 144,500 hourly-rated employees over the country.

Laid in Shaft Two Days After Fall of 25 Feet

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A 56-year-old transient was rescued from a light well Friday after he had lain in sight of scores of factory workers for nearly two days.

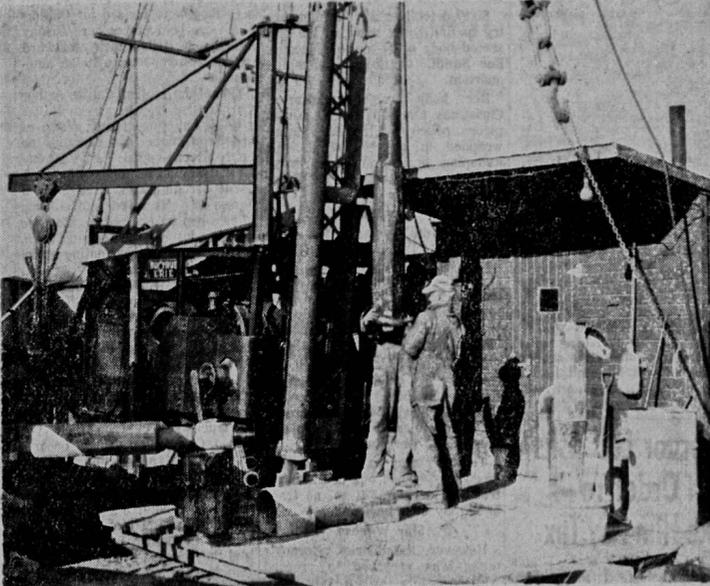

Clyde May was taken to Georgia Street Hospital with serious head injuries. Police said he apparently fell 25 feet down the shaft.

Workers in the building said they first noticed the man at the bottom of the well Thursday, but thought he was "a drunk sleeping it off."

Sinking 400-Foot Well

A NEW WELL 350 to 400 feet deep is being drilled southwest of the new addition to the Iowa Memorial Union. Last summer a fungus growth developed in the 30 foot well which formerly supplied water for the Union air conditioning system. The fungus plugged up the new air conditioning equipment, making the drilling of a deeper well necessary. Hoeh and Ames Contractors of Lincoln, Ia., are doing the drilling. The well is presently to the 230 foot level.

Conference Hears Hope For Disabled

A worker who loses an arm in an accident is disabled only as much as he wants to be, H. L. Benschhof, director of the State Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, said Friday.

Speaking to a vocational rehabilitation conference at SUI, Benschhof said, "the greater tragedy after the loss of a limb in a comping accident happens if the farmer 'throws in the sponge' without appraising what he has left."

He expressed the concern of his agency and the cooperating amputee clinic at the University Hospitals, for example, for the farmer who "may sell his farm and otherwise dissipate his assets because he thinks he is helpless with only one arm."

Noting that cornpicking accidents can result in as many as 200 amputations a year, Benschhof, who himself has only one arm, stressed the need for more public awareness of available services at the Workshop on Rehabilitation Counseling.

Some 50 members of state and volunteer agencies took part in the week-long workshop in the Iowa Center for Continuation Study.

Pointing up the need for more personal adjustment to make use of the "great potential of what the disabled has left," he said that he has heard of farmers bursting into tears and wearing slippers or rubber boots because they don't have ten fingers for tying their shoe laces. "Some even stay out of sight and don't come to town," he added.

"We can quickly teach the amputee to tie his shoes in the dark with five fingers. And we can train him in the use of appliances which are specially adapted to farm work."

Flyers Escape Injury As Wolf 'Downs' Plane

TOWER, Minn. (AP)—A timber wolf took a mighty leap and knocked down a low-flying airplane Thursday.

The small plane was wrecked. The two occupants, uninjured, were marooned miles from shelter before they were found by a rescue party several hours later.

Jack Burgess, 25, and Richard Lilya, 23, both Air Force veterans, were flying over Putnam Lake. They descended for a closer look after spotting two wolves.

As the plane skimmed low, one of the wolves jumped at the plane. The animal hit a ski as the plane whipped by, and the craft went topsy-turvy into the snow. The wolf was killed and the plane demolished.

Professor To Interview Politicians

Prof. Donald B. Johnson of the SUI Political Science Department will interview political leaders in Washington between semesters.

Tape recordings to be made of the interviews will be duplicated and made available to Iowa colleges for classroom use in political science and government departments, Johnson said.

Johnson's trip will be sponsored by the Iowa Citizenship Clearing house through a Falk Foundation grant. The foundation formerly was referred to as the Marice and Laura Falk Foundation of Pittsburg.

Johnson expects to interview Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall, Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler, leaders of the Young Democrats and Young Republicans organizations and other political leaders.

The interviews will be arranged by Rep. Fred Schwengel (R-Ia.), Johnson said.

Johnson expects to leave Jan. 28 and will be gone for five or six days.

Later in the semester, he will interview Iowa political leaders in Des Moines, also to obtain tape recorded interviews for classroom use.

The recordings of both national and local interviews will be duplicated after the interviews have been completed, Johnson said.

Johnson is an adviser of the SUI Young Democrats.

Seeks Legal Advice On Amana Issue

DES MOINES (AP)—Secretary of State Melvin D. Synhorst said Friday he feels the law requires him to request an opinion from the attorney general's office concerning the proposed amendments to the articles of incorporation of the Amana society.

After the society had voted to make the changes, objections arose and an appeal was taken to Synhorst. He was asked not to accept the amendments.

Regarding his decision, Synhorst said: "The Iowa statutes provide that should a question of doubt arise concerning the legality of articles of incorporation, the secretary of state shall submit the matter to the attorney general for an opinion."

"Sound, legal arguments have been presented for and against filing the amendments and all questions have not been clearly resolved," he said.

Members of the Amana society last Dec. 12 approved a proposal to create Class A and Class B stock in the society. The Class A stock of the society, but the Class B shares could be sold to the public.

Objectors to the changes argued that the changes might eventually give outsiders control of the society's business enterprises.

Will Take Over Weller Accounts

A Des Moines man said Friday he will take over the accounts of Newton Weller, Iowa City businessman, who earlier had filed a petition of bankruptcy.

The receiver, Howard I. Smith, said that he will keep the three Weller enterprises—the Weller Motor and Alignment service, the Iowa City ambulance service and the Yellow Cab Co.—operating as going business concerns.

Weller filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the U.S. District Court for southern Iowa last week. In that petition he lists claims totaling $224,010.40 and assets of $24,424.65.

Smith is a collection manager for the Chase Investment Co. in Des Moines. He said that there is no connection between his position with the investment company and his appointment in federal district court as receiver for Weller.

Smith explained that his position as receiver will be similar to that of a manager of the three businesses. He has set up office at the motor service, 106 N. Linn St.

Smith's appointment as receiver was made by Gibson C. Holliday, referee in bankruptcy of the U.S. District Court.

A meeting of creditors will be held in Davenport before Referee in February. The date of this meeting will be set later.

Under the order of appointment, Smith is to file a report on the nature of the business involved and recommend as to the continuance of them before Jan. 20. The reports are to include an operating statement through Jan. 13.

He also is to submit a report and summary of the operations of the business including a classified statement of receipts and disbursements and a profit and loss statement as of the day of the first creditors' meeting.

In his petition in bankruptcy, Weller listed taxes due the federal government of $16,388.73, taxes due state and county government of $3,497.99, wages of $1,617, secured claims of $173,937.20 and unsecured claims of $48,569.48.

Assets listed include real estate of $7,500, bills and promissory notes due him of $6,913.34, stock in trade of $3,723.69, debts due on open account of $4,444.62 and cash on hand of $125.

It is believed, however, that many of the secured claims are duplications of notes and mortgages paid off or covered in later papers but never released.

Arab Rioters Burn Baptist Missions, Americans Escape

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Four Americans were brought here to safety Friday by Arab Legion troops after rioters burned down two buildings of a Southern Baptist mission hospital and looted others in the northern Jordan.

The hospital's staff was not injured when the mob stormed the building at Ajlun Thursday. Lloyd Lovegreen, hospital director, was among the rescued Americans. The hospital was stoned last Monday.

Violent anti-Western rioting against the pro-Western Baghdad Alliance has been erupting in Jordan for nearly a week.

The arrival of the hospital group leaves only four Americans on the east bank of the Jordan River. An estimated 300 American government employees, businessmen, hospital and social workers now are in Amman, organized under district wardens.

Several American installations have been attacked by rioters, including Point 4 centers at Agaba and on the Amman-Jericho road, the U.S. consulate in the Jordan sector of Jerusalem and hospital and technical aid headquarters in Amman.

The Four Freshmen

By WILLIAM J. VAUGHAN
Although the name indicates a quartette of "green beans," the famed Four Freshmen proved their known outstanding musical abilities at Friday night's concert in the Iowa Memorial Union.

A sell-out crowd left the main lounge with a "satisfied" feeling with the top entertainment this famous foursome had provided.

Although the combo arrived in Iowa City just a few minutes before concert time, it started off with a fast-rolling show that kept the crowd asking for more.

Ross Barbour, drummer and trumpet player, introduced such all-time greats as Hoagy Carmichael's "Baltimore Oriole" featuring Don Barbour, guitar, and "Stormy Weather," an oldy with an exciting new face-lifting.

Other members of the Capital Recording group are Ken Errard, trumpet and French horn, and Bob Flanigan, bass and trombone, who brought many moments of laughter with his comic numbers.

Many other comments such as "I'll Be Seeing You" and "The Day Isn't Long Enough" brought the first half of the concert great applause.

Following intermission, the quartet blended its harmonizing sounds in such Freshman arrangements as "Somebody Loves Me," "Day

Jury Judges Karston Is Not Insane

BLOOMFIELD (AP)—A District Court jury returned a verdict Friday night that William G. Karston, 30, Hamilton, Ill., is sane and able to stand trial for the robbery-slaying of a Pulaski farmer.

The jury of six men and six women reported its finding at 8:22 p.m., four hours after receiving the case following a 4-day hearing devoted solely to the question of Karston's mental condition.

The defendant is charged with murder in the fatal shooting of Wendell Jones, 56, at the Jones farm near Pulaski in Davis County July 25, 1954.

He was tried for the crime once before and sentenced to death. The Iowa Supreme Court ruled he had not received a fair trial in the first instance and ordered a new one.

District Judge Edward L. Simmons, following the verdict, set Jan. 30 as the date for Karston's second trial on the murder indictment.

He specified, however, that this date will be subject to action on motions which Defense Attorney George E. Flagg Jr. of Des Moines said he will file. The court fixed Jan. 23 as the time for hearing the defense motions.

Escaped Hanging
Since he escaped from death by hanging Karston entered a plea of innocent to the murder charge on grounds of insanity.

His second trial under the indictment had been scheduled to start last Monday but a week ago Judge Simmons granted a defense request for a sanity hearing before a jury to determine whether Karston was mentally capable of understanding the criminal proceedings against him.

The sanity trial began last Tuesday. In his instructions to the jury, District Judge Edward L. Simmons took note of defense objections to the testimony of two Des Moines psychiatrists, Dr. Thomas Throckmorton and Dr. Paul Cash.

The judge told the jurors that if they found Karston had been examined against his will by the two psychiatrists they should ignore their testimony, but if they found Karston had submitted voluntarily to the examination they could give it "what weight you will."

20,000th Patient Admitted at Vets

Patient No. 20,000 has been admitted to the Iowa City Veterans Hospital, Jerome W. Peiffer, admission clerk, said Friday.

William Fischell, Alcedo, Ill., was the 20,000th patient admitted since the hospital was opened in 1952. Fischell also was one of the hospital's first patients.

The hospital serves VA patients in eastern Iowa, western Illinois and a section of northern Missouri. It has averaged more than 400 patients a month since it started operation.

Israel Learns UN Condemns Her Syrian Raid

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Israel learned Friday that the UN Security Council was unanimous for condemnation of her Army's Dec. 11 raid on Syrian forces near the Sea of Galilee.

Four more members, in a 96-minute meeting, said the council should vote such a condemnation. They were China, Australia, Cuba and Peru. The other seven had said so before.

The council adjourned to Tuesday morning when it will hear from Syria and Israel and then may vote on pending proposals.

These include a strong Soviet resolution calling the attack "outrageous," a milder U.S.-British-French resolution calling it "flagrant."

All condemn the attack. The Soviet and Iranian proposals, adopting a Syrian suggestion, also would have the council decide Israel should pay "adequate compensation" for loss of Syrian life and property.

The operation cost a reported $6 Syrian and 6 Israeli lives. Israel said it was to quiet Syrian guns that had fired on Israeli fishing and police boats on the sea, which is within Israel near the Syrian border. But Syria complained to the UN that it was "open aggression."

Prof. Thomas Farrell Jr., who has taught English at SUI since 1940, resigned effective Feb. 3. Leaves of absence were granted to Professor Emeritus C. E. Cousins of the Department of Romance Languages and to Prof. Mabel Snedaker of the College of Education. Both will extend through the spring semester.

SUI'S $43,000 "COBALT BOMB," when installed next fall, will be located under the circled floor section of the $1.5 million Medical Research Center now under construction. The "bomb" will be used in the treatment of cancer. It is expected to be the first installed in Iowa. Grant for the unit was given by the Iowa division of the American Cancer Society Thursday.

Ike Backers File Petitions In New Hampshire Primary

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—A weekly newspaper publisher filed as a delegate candidate "pledged" to President Eisenhower's renomination as the candidate filing period for New Hampshire's March 13 presidential primary opened with a flurry here today.

This was in direct contrast to the strategy of Eisenhower's organized supporters, who planned to file a complete slate of "favorable" candidates.

Then, a backer of Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) jumped into the delegate contest with a declaration that, "We must find a winning substitute and permit Mr. Eisenhower to retire to his Gettysburg farm and live out his allotted life span."

Meanwhile, Gov. Lane Dwinell, head of the Eisenhower forces in this state, and seven other GOP leaders, submitted petitions placing their names on the ballot as delegate candidates "favorable" to Eisenhower.

The governor said he wasn't disturbed. Although Republicans dominated the activity, two Democrats appeared with nomination papers at the secretary of state's office.

One of them, Patrick N. Healey, of York, 77, Dover, N.H., was the first candidate to file. He qualified for ballot listing as "favorable" to Gov. G. Menen Williams of Michigan.

The other, Emil A. Marcoux, Manchester, said he will run "pledged" to Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), who opens a three-day New Hampshire campaign tour today.

There was no sign of early activity in behalf of Adlai Stevenson. The basic difference between a pledged candidate and a favorable one is that the former must produce written consent of his candidate before the end of the filing—Feb. 11.

If such consent is furnished, a pledged delegate is so listed on the ballot and must, by law, vote for his candidate as long as his name is before the national convention.

A favorable delegate does not have to supply written consent and is not legally committed to vote.

(Special to The Daily Iowan)
DES MOINES—One appointment, one resignation and two leaves of absence were approved for SUI faculty members Friday by the State Board of Regents.

Gladys S. Benz was appointed assistant professor in the SUI College of Nursing, effective Feb. 6. She has been an instructor in pediatric nursing at the Cincinnati Children's Hospital since 1953 and holds degrees from Columbia University and the University of Minnesota.

NY Police Search for Girl's Body

NEW YORK (AP)—Police Friday were faced with the classic paradox of crime fiction—a homicide case without a body.

Sixty detectives were assigned to try to find some trace of the dissected body of 20-year-old Jacqueline Smith, victim of a bungled abortion.

Her body was dismembered Christmas Eve into more than 50 pieces, police said, and these were wrapped in gay Christmas gift wrapping and dropped in trash containers in side streets off Upper Broadway.

Two held
Miss Smith's lover, 24-year-old Thomas G. Daniel, and a friend, Leo Pijuan, 46, are held on homicide charges. Pijuan is accused of the abortion and Daniel is alleged to have assisted him in the operation and the dissection of the body of the pretty blonde girl.

Sanitation Department trash collectors were being questioned on the chance they may have noted the bizarre gift-wrapped parcels. Unburned piles of rubbish in city dumps also were being sifted.

The body may have been burned piece by piece in one of the city's trash incinerators. If so, no trace of it may ever be found.

Star Witness
However, the district attorney's office was prepared to proceed with its case without a body.

Contrary to fiction, the law does not always require the production of a body to establish a homicide case. If it can be sustained by some other means that Miss Smith met death during an abortion, no body might be necessary.

Cast in the role of potential star witness against Daniel and Pijuan is a young Mexican doctor, Ramiro Morales. Authorities say he was called in in the midst of the abortion and testimony Miss Smith dead. His pronouncement might offset the lack of a body.

Ah, Love

Dazed Male Returns Wrong Car
Ah, love, and the power it has over men.

The ability of the well-known little guy with the bow and arrow to daze the stalwart male was demonstrated clearly Thursday in the case of Tom Hamilton and the double-duty key.

Hamilton, A2, Crystal Lake, Ill., borrowed a friend's green 1950 model auto for a date, afterwards took his date home to Westlawn, walked her to the door, and returned to what he thought was the same car.

He put the key into the ignition, started the motor and drove home to 320 Ellis Ave.

It wasn't until Friday morning that Hamilton discovered his friend's green car had mysteriously changed color, and it wasn't until Shirley Lenz, N3, Mt. Vernon, reported to police Friday afternoon that her maroon 1950 auto of the same make was missing from the Westlawn lot.

Then the mystery cleared. Tom's key worked in both cars. In his apparent daze, he had taken his date to her door, walked back and drove away in the wrong car.

The two cars were restored to their owners, and everyone was satisfied, except for one small detail.

The friend's car received a $5 ticket for illegal parking. Latest reports indicate Hamilton is paying the fine.

It Happened in Iowa—

Police Foil Vacation Of Sleepy Eye Boys

ESTHERVILLE (AP)—Two Sleepy Eye, Minn., youths, who told officers they were headed for California, were held in jail here Friday after police foiled their westward trek in two reportedly stolen automobiles.

One of the youths, Calvin Arthur Christensen, 19, was arrested after a wild, bullet-punctuated chase at speeds of more than 80 miles an hour which ended early Friday near the small town of Wallingford.

The second youth, Fred Samuel Jones, 17, was taken into custody later when he entered a cafe here dithering his car just outside town. A policeman who was eating at the cafe arrested him.

Police said the two youths took one car in Sleepy Eye Thursday afternoon and Christensen drove it here. Then, officers said, they looked for, and finally found, another car for Jones to drive.

The two youths told officers they started west on Highway 9 but became separated when a semi-trailer truck got between their two cars. Christensen then became suspicious of a car that was following him and turned around at an intersection.

Failure to dim his lights in Estherville brought him to the attention of policemen in a squad car and they started to drive up beside him to warn him. That started the chase.

License Plates Lag
DES MOINES (AP)—A lag in production of 1956 auto license plates at the Anamosa reformatory forced the Polk county licensing bureau to close its doors Friday and is expected to affect at least a dozen other Iowa counties.

W. H. Burke, superintendent of Iowa state prison industries, said counties likely to feel the shortage.

of plates include Pottawatomie, Scott, Mahaska, Marion, O'Brien, Sac, Tama, Marshall, Plymouth and Lee.

Any other counties with short supplies also will be affected. Burke said the plate-making machines at Anamosa are behind schedule because the Iowa legislature was late in making its appropriation. Work started 90 days later than usual, he added.

Polk County Treasurer Vincent L. Browner pointed out that even though delivery of plates may be delayed the law requires that motorists purchase them by February 1 to avoid a penalty of additional cost.

Driver Tests
DES MOINES (AP)—State Safety Commissioner Clinton Moyer said today that from now on "it is going to become more difficult for some Iowans to obtain and hold driver's licenses."

He outlined at a news conference three major points in his recently announced campaign to reduce the increasing toll of death on the state's highways and streets.

The program, as it pertains to driver licensing, will mean that: 1. Fewer heavily restricted licenses will be issued or renewed.

2. Some drivers applying for license renewal will have to take driving and written tests in addition to the presently required vision test.

3. Applicants for the new licenses must score at least a minimum standard grade in all three parts—written, driving, and visual—of the regular license examination.
