Benson Blasts TV Farm Plight Show

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson said Thursday night he would demand that Columbia Broadcasting System give him television time to reply to a "distorted" picture of farm woes presented Thursday night on the Ed Murrow program.

Benson expressed concern lest the program give the public the idea that the small American farmer is on his way out. Any such contention is "demagoguery at its worst," he said.

Murrow, in a program from Johnstown, Pa., presented a series of films showing woes of farmers. Benson, in Johnstown to make a speech, was invited by Murrow to view the program and comment toward the end.

Time Runs Out

He was just about to demand that CBS give him time later to "present the facts" when time ran out on Thursday night's program.

But Benson, in a telephone interview with a reporter in Washington, said he would make the request of CBS today.

Murrow's program was entitled "The Farm Problem; a Crisis of Abundance," and opened with a farm auction sale near Corning, Iowa. The farmer explained he was being forced out of business by low prices.

Murrow's TV camera also peeked into Liberty ships, warehouses and huge tents full of crop surpluses. It showed farmers arguing vigorously over Benson's merits. One accused him of doing a "rotten job," another pictured him as a capable man beset by "tough" problems and pressures from "politicians."

Murrow spoke of many small farmers being driven off the land and said the Corning auction scene might be called "the death of a small farm."

But Benson said the Corning auction was not a foreclosure sale at all. He said he had learned it was a voluntary sale on the part of the farmer, Dale E. Peterson, who was leaving because he felt he had greater opportunities in California.

No Comment

Benson took vigorous issue with any idea that "thousands of farmers in Iowa or elsewhere are being driven off the farms."

The fact is, he said, that fewer farmers left the soil in the past three years than in the preceding three years.

He pledged to take all "economically sound and fair" steps to solve the problems presented by the farm price decline.

In New York, a CBS spokesman said the network had no immediate comment on Benson's remarks.

The Weather

Snow
Warmer

Iowa's dauntless weatherman once again predicts snow for the Iowa City area for today. This, despite a similar prediction made for Thursday which failed to precipitate.

Only an early-morning fog made driving somewhat hazardous Thursday.

The light snow which spread into northwest Iowa Thursday morning was expected to spread into central and eastern sections Thursday night and end in the east this morning.

The high today in the Iowa City area will be about 28 degrees.

Red Chinese Guns Blast Kaoteng Isle

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Red Chinese guns on the mainland blasted Kaoteng island Thursday night and the nationalist Central News Agency said Red invasion craft are massing just north of Kaoteng and the other Matsu islands.

Communist batteries fired 133 shells into the island, the agency reported.

Kaoteng is seven-tenths of a square mile in area and four miles from the mainland.

Further Shellings

Nationalist quarters predicted further Red shellings as the build-up continues near the Matsu group, 100 miles northwest of Formosa.

The Interior Ministry's Tiao News Agency said, without confirmation elsewhere, that Russia had given approval Jan. 10 in Peking to a Chinese Communist invasion of Nationalist offshore islands.

The report, true or not, coincides with the Nationalist insistence that the Communists are bent on attacking the Matsus and Quemoy—across the Formosan Strait—regardless.

The supply craft were reported under escort of four gunboats and proceeding northeastward toward Luyan Bay, which is only 15 miles north of Matsu, main island in the group.

Gunboat Hit

Central News asserted one of the gunboats was hit and caught fire. The mainland batteries opened up to protect the convoy and a gun duel with Kaoteng's artillery raged for nearly an hour, the agency said.

The fall of Kaoteng would put heavily fortified Matsu within range of Communist guns. Matsu is five miles south of Kaoteng.

Official quarters said Nationalist determination to defend the offshore islands was too well known to require a formal restatement. This was their reply to reports published abroad that Sir Anthony Eden, British Prime Minister, would urge President Eisenhower to persuade the Nationalists to quit the outpost islands.

L.A. Train Wreck Claims 30th Victim

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The wreck Sunday night of the Santa Fe's San Diegoan claimed its 30th victim Thursday.

Laura Bryning, 32, Camp Pendleton, Calif., died in Good Samaritan Hospital of injuries suffered in the two-car derailment.

Say Bulganin Asked Peace Pact with U.S.

Death on the Highway

GRIMMACING WITH GRIEF AND PAIN as he kneels by the body of his father, is George B. Clark of Bethesda, Ohio. Clark's father, Albert L., was killed when their car was crushed by a semi-trailer which flipped over on top of it. The accident occurred on Highway 40 west of Wheeling, W.Va.

No Comment From Officials On His Note

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin is reported to have proposed to President Eisenhower that the United States and Russia sign a treaty of friendship in the interests of promoting world peace.

Information to this effect circulated in official and diplomatic quarters here Thursday night in the absence of any formal disclosure from either the White House or Moscow about the "friendly letter" which Bulganin sent to Mr. Eisenhower Wednesday.

Discussed by Council

The letter is expected to be made public eventually, perhaps when the President and his advisers have had time to prepare a reply.

It is believed to have been discussed at Thursday's meeting of the National Security Council and some word of it has presumably been given to congressional leaders.

Suggested Treaty

According to the best available information, the major purpose of the communication from Bulganin was to lay out the treaty proposal and suggest that the making of such a pact between the world's two great atomic powers would contribute to the development of an atmosphere of peace and confidence.

It appeared unlikely that Mr. Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles would be very seriously interested in carrying through such a proposition, however courteously the President may respond to it. Both Mr. Eisenhower and his secretary of state are known to be opposed to any measures which in their view would create a false sense of security in the world.

Ike Urges Step-Up in Disease Fight

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Thursday called for a stepped up attack on cancer, heart disease and other ailments, but put off renewing his request for federal reinsurance of health insurance plans.

The President said he would revive the reinsurance proposal if "practical and useful methods" cannot be developed along other lines.

What the administration is now considering, he said, is legislative action which would permit private insurance companies to pool their risks so as to "offer broader benefits and expanded coverage on reasonable terms."

In a special message to Congress supplementing his budget requests, Mr. Eisenhower proposed:

1. A 28 per cent increase in federal funds for basic medical research to a total of $126,525,000.
2. A new program for grants, totaling $250 million over the next five years, for construction of medical research and training facilities. These grants would go to state, local and private institutions which supply "at least equal amounts in matching funds."
3. Further steps to alleviate health personnel shortage. No specific amount was recommended for this, but Mr. Eisenhower said the number of physicians being graduated from medical schools is barely keeping pace with the increase in population, and the number of dentists and nurses is diminishing in relation to population.
4. Action to strengthen certain other basic health services throughout the nation.
5. Measures "which will help our people meet the costs of medical care."

On the latter point, Eisenhower recalled that in 1955 and 1954 he urged the federal reinsurance plan. He did not mention it but the proposal was stalled in Congress after the American Medical Assn. opposed it on the ground it might open the way to socialized medicine.

5 Get Jail Terms In Theft Ring Case

Five persons were sentenced Thursday to jail and reformatory terms for participation in a series of break-ins and thefts from cars in the Iowa City area. Judge Harold D. Evans pronounced the sentences in Johnson County district court.

The cases of Lance Powell Penney, 16, 405 S. Dodge St., and John R. W. Bolton, 17, 1031 E. College St., arrested with the other five, will be heard next week.

The four boys sentenced Thursday pleaded guilty to charges of larceny. Ray J. Scheetz, 50, Morse, father of two of the boys, pleaded guilty to a charge of receiving stolen property.

He was sentenced to one year in the county jail and fined $200. Judge Evans also ruled that Scheetz may apply for parole and suspension of the balance of the sentence after serving 60 days.

Suspended Sentence

Raphael M. Scheetz, 18, son of Ray Scheetz, received a 5-year suspended sentence and was paroled to the Iowa Board of Parole. The suspension was granted by Judge Evans at the suggestion of County Attorney William Tucker.

James P. Musack, 16, 1228 Sheridan Ave., William H. Neubauer, 16, 1026 Kirkwood Court and David L. Scheetz, 17, brother of Raphael, were committed to the Iowa Training School at Eldora until they are 21.

The four boys pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge Evans Jan. 16. They had waived preliminary hearings in Iowa City police court.

Ray J. Scheetz was indicted by the grand jury for keeping stolen property in his store in Morse.

Grand Larceny Charge

Raphael M. Scheetz was indicted on a charge of grand larceny in connection with the theft of tires and wheels from Reliable Sales and Service, Inc., Oct. 19.

Musack, Neubauer and David Scheetz were indicted on a charge of larceny in excess of $20. The charge resulted from the theft of two outdoor motors and other tools from the I. L. Orris farm north of Iowa City Dec. 2.

Bolton and Penney were indicted on a charge of larceny in nighttime. They were charged with the theft of a topcoat from an auto parked in front of the Iowa City Post Office Dec. 2.

Tradition at SUI

Religious Emphasis Week, a long standing tradition at SUI, is designed "to bring about a deepening of spiritual awareness among the students." Prof. Robert Michaelsen, head of the SUI School of Religion, said.

Michaelsen said the week's program will be built around addresses by these religious leaders and informal sessions between them and the students.

Members of the SUI School of Religion faculty, as well as several Iowa City clergymen and laymen, also will take part in the week's program, Michaelsen added.

Nudity Or Modesty?

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Vincent Nesbert, a dean at the Art Institute of Pittsburgh, told Thursday of firing a reluctant model who, while posing in the nude, insisted on wearing her sandals.

"When I told her the students were there to paint her toes as well as her face and form, she kept talking about 'having to draw the line somewhere,'" Nesbert related. He did not disclose the lady's name.

Man Dies at SUI Clinic; Shock Kills Wife

A Cedar Rapids man fell dead of a heart attack Thursday in the waiting room of the SUI Dental Clinic and his wife died of a heart attack 18 minutes later when she heard of her husband's death.

Dean William J. Simon of the SUI College of Dentistry, said Ryan collapsed within seconds after he had entered the clinic. Simon said Ryan had never been treated at the clinic, which opens at 9:30 a.m.

Ryan's body was taken to Beckman's Funeral Home here. Services for the two will be in Cedar Rapids.

Dead were: John W. Ryan, 69, who died about 9 a.m. just after he had entered the first floor waiting room at the Dental Clinic, and his wife, Mary, who died in Cedar Rapids 18 minutes later.

Dean William J. Simon of the SUI College of Dentistry, said Ryan collapsed within seconds after he had entered the clinic. Simon said Ryan had never been treated at the clinic, which opens at 9:30 a.m.

No More Movies for Grace, Says Prince

Grace Kelly
Movie Career Ended?

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Grace Kelly's marriage to Prince Ranier of Monaco will mean the end of her acting career, the Prince said Thursday.

He received the Hollywood press in the baronial Bel-Air home he has rented for his month's visit here and appeared set on putting an end to questions about his fiancée's film future.

"I think it would be better if she did not attempt to continue in films," he replied. "I have to live there in Monaco and she would live here. That wouldn't work out."

No European Films

Asked if he would approve Miss Kelly's making films in Europe, he answered, "I don't think so."

He added that he has discussed the matter with the actress and she is in agreement. This may come as a shock to MGM, which still has a 4-year contract with her.

Prince Ranier remarked that his future wife will have enough to do as princess. But he said she would not be involved in the administration of Monaco. He told reporters that no exact date had been set for the wedding but it will take place "in the middle of April in Monaco."

He's Committed

Why Monaco? "Because I'm committed to it."

He said he doubted if another ceremony would be held in Philadelphia, Miss Kelly's home. He also supplied these bits of information:

He expects the Bishop of Monaco to perform his wedding;

He expects to honeymoon on his yacht in the Mediterranean;

His future wife can cook;

He saw only one of her films, "Green Fire," and it was an Italian version;

He hasn't selected a best man or guest list for the wedding.

After 15 minutes of questioning, he seemed happy to retire to another part of the mansion.

7-Inch Rain Swamps L.A.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Seven inches of rain fell here Wednesday and Thursday, turning a normally dry flood control channel into a booming river that threatens some 500 homes.

The Los Angeles river, which is usually little more than a trickle, was running five feet deep and 300 feet wide late Thursday night.

Soldiers from Fort MacArthur worked late into the night sandbagging the levee along the channel. Police warned residents near the channel to leave their homes if the water goes over the old levee.

The storm caused more than 1,000 flooded intersections in the city to be closed. Los Angeles' 500,000 school children were given the day off because of the storm.

Some 1,500 persons were being evacuated in other parts of southern California as rivers reached flood levels.

The rains are expected to moderate today, but the weather bureau said a new storm now off the Oregon coast might reach here by the weekend.

JOE WON'T RUN

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said Thursday he doesn't know just yet whom he'll support for president this year—but he said he personally won't seek the job. McCarthy talked to reporters after testifying in a court case here.

Lutherans Defrock Pastor, Now at SUI

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Two former Wisconsin pastors found guilty of heresy by a church trial committee were voted out of the ministry Thursday night by the English Evangelical Lutheran Synod of the Northwest.

Action to defrock the Rev. George Crist Jr., who has been studying at SUI since he was suspended, came on a voice vote after motions failed to have him suspended for two years, or force a review of procedure followed in his case.

In a recorded ballot, the vote was 229-8 to defrock the Rev. Victor K. Wrigley, 36.

The Rev. Mr. Crist, formerly pastor at Gethsemane Church, Durham, Wis., has been at SUI since he was suspended Aug. 2, 1955. He turned his ordination certificate over to the synod 22 days later.

Crist granted permission to address the special meeting, objected to procedures used in investigating his case. He called the report of the examining committee "unfair."

He told the synod his theological point of view "was not unchristian or unlutheran," and that no effort had been made by the committee to present the "positive side" of his case.

The synod was also taking up the case of the Rev. John Gerberding, 33, acquitted in his heresy trial.

Continued as Pastor Although the Rev. Mr. Wrigley was suspended from the ministry after being found guilty, he has continued as pastor of Gethsemane Church, Brookfield, Wis., at the request of his congregation.

The Rev. Mr. Gerberding, although acquitted, resigned the pastorate of Holy Cross Lutheran Church at Menomonee Falls, Wis., after some 30 pastors from the Milwaukee area demanded he be retired. He is now working on a weekly newspaper at Lancaster, Wis.

The three were accused of doctrinal deviation on such matters as the virgin birth of Christ, the physical Resurrection of Christ and the Lord's Supper.

Group Cancels Election Objectivity Poll of Papers

NEW YORK (AP)—Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity, announced Thursday it has abandoned plans to conduct a $650,000 survey of American press objectivity in this year's presidential campaign.

The study had been proposed because of Democratic criticism in the 1952 presidential campaign that American newspapers constituted a "one-party press," favorable to the Republicans.

The decision was reportedly based on results of a poll of editors and publishers which showed they did not favor such a project.

Ford Profits
Even in these times, when we're accustomed to big numbers, it's hard for most of us to grasp the magnitude of the sales, earnings and tax figures revealed recently by the Ford Motor company.

Ford's net earnings since the end of World War II have averaged about $150 million a year—a sizable sum, indeed. It's somewhat beyond the ken of the average wage earner or taxpayer even today.

However, we have found one way to understand money in $150 million hunks.

All you have to do, as a taxpayer, is to remember that this sum would almost buy one—just one—of our warships. The supercarrier Forrestal cost $197,859,000.

DOG DAYS
Remember when you first noticed that the world was going to the dogs? That was when you were beginning to grow old.—De Pore (Wis.) JOURNAL-DEMOCRAT.

The Story of 'Sixteen Tons'

Composer Merle Travis, the son of a coal miner gives the background of the popular tune

(From article in United Mine Workers Journal by Merle Travis, "composer of 'Sixteen Tons'")

You load sixteen tons, what do you get?
Another day older and deeper in debt,
Saint Peter don't you call me 'cause I can't go,
I owe my soul to the company store

I was raised in the southwestern coal fields of Kentucky. My father was a miner in the little town of Beech Creek, in Muhlenberg county. The two openings were known as "Number Five" and "Number Nine." From the latter came the reason for the line:

"I loaded sixteen tons of Number Nine Coal
And the straw boss hollered,
Well bless my soul!"

I have known the fruits of strikes. The bitter and the sweet. Hunger and music. Jokes and threats. Fist fights and murders!

Who deserves more credit than the wife of a coal miner? My mother was one. She never complained about the hardships that were hers in abundance. Lighting the coal-oil lamp long before daylight, and cooking breakfast for her children and husband. Filling the three piece aluminum "dinner-bucket" for Dad to take to the mine.

In the top compartment was a big slice of apple pie. In the middle she'd place a cup of beans, a spoon, three or four biscuits filled with butter, some fried potatoes and a few slices of fat bacon. In the bottom she'd pour spring water to wet the dusty throat of a man who was to spend that day grabbing sulphur from the black gold that was to go to his fiery duty of smelting iron and steel for a strong nation.

There were four of us children—three boys and one girl. While I never worked in the mines, my two older brothers did.

My first year of high school went against my grain. I wanted to seek my fortune in the world of entertainment. I left home with a guitar under my arm. I landed a job with a little group playing on the radio in Evansville, Ind. Each job led to a better one.

I was appearing on a show on radio with Cliffie Stone when he suggested that I make an album of songs from my native Kentucky.

Most of the traditional folk songs had been recorded, so I set about that spoke of the mines and the miners. The album was called "Folk Songs of the Hills" by Merle Travis. It was a big success, I'm happy to say.

In the album were the following: "Muskrat," "Nine Pound Hammer," "Dark as a Dungeon," "John Henry," "That's All," "Over by Number Nine," "I am a Pilgrim" and "Sixteen Tons."

Mr. B. A. Botkin, collector of American folklore for the Library of Congress, printed word for word, in his volume "A Treasury of Southern Folklore," one of the songs from my little recorded effort. It was "Dark as a Dungeon:

"I hope when I die and the ages shall roll
My body will blacken and turn into coal
Then I'll look from the door of my Heavenly home
And pity the miner a-diggin' my bones.

"Where it's dark as a dungeon and damp as the dew
Where the danger is double and pleasures are few
Where the rain never falls and the sun never shines
It's dark as a dungeon 'way down in the mines..."

A few years ago I met a young and talented man from Bristol, Tenn. He was just getting out in show business and was one of the finest singers I'd heard. His name was Ernie Ford. He used the name "Tennessee Ernie."

About a month ago he recorded one of the songs from my album titled "Sixteen Tons." It made history! It sold a million records in a shorter time than any other record in musical history.

There's one thing I'm certain of. Things have changed. Coal mining is now an occupation to be proud of. A miner has the chance to provide his family with the things that were only a dream not long ago.

The sinking sun no more reminds the weary miner that he's

"Another day older and deeper in debt..."

"And when payday rolls around he can afford to answer Saint Peter, if he should call, and not have to explain—
"I owe my soul to the company store..."

Anti-Communism Is Not Enough

One carry-over from the era of Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) is the idea that from time to time you must prove what a staunch anti-Communist you are. This proof must take the form of a denunciation of communism and of someone who might be aiding it. And if this someone happens to be a political, social or economic foe of yours, so much the better.

Last week George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, stood up before a Rotary International Club luncheon in New York to renew his anti-communism. He managed to get in a few digs at American business leaders while doing it.

"Somehow or other, many in our American business community are not sufficiently alert to the danger of world communism," he said. Their most serious error, according to Meany, is that they believe that Communists at home are the main Communist threat. "Since these businessmen don't see Moscow as the mainspring of the Communist menace to American progress and prosperity, and to world peace and human liberty everywhere, they turn to appeasing the Soviet rulers."

Meany went on to point out that many American businessmen have been urging recently that trade be started with Communist bloc nations.

"I urge you not to let the prospect of monetary profits blur your vision," Meany urged businessmen. "Know your enemy. Don't help him."

Meany is correct in saying that too many American businessmen have thought Communists at home — especially those who infiltrated unions — were the greatest threat to the United States. They have ignored the need for fighting communism abroad with economic programs. Indeed, they have often denounced such programs as a waste of money.

But when Meany criticizes trade with Communist nations and likens it to appeasement, he is getting careless with his thinking.

First, trade with Communist nations will not profit only the businessman. Increasing markets for American goods will mean more jobs for American workers.

Second, Meany assumes that trade is helping the enemy. Who is the enemy? Is it the people of nations under Communist domination? Certainly not. They can be our greatest allies in the battle against communism for they have seen its brutality and learned to hate it.

Our enemy, then, should be classified as the Communist rulers. Are we helping them by trade? Will bringing consumer goods to them help stabilize Red regimes that might be toppled by a discontented people? That is doubtful. There is no organized opposition in Communist-dominated nations at present and little chance of armed revolts.

If anything, trade will weaken the position of Communist rulers. Trade will bring American products and American influence and ideas into these Communist nations. And Communist rulers and their ideals won't be able to stand the comparison.

People in Russia and her satellite nations have been deprived of consumer goods because the Red rulers have maintained large armies and armaments programs since World War II. Once some goods enter these nations the demand for more will come about. If it is not met, discontent with the regimes will follow. If it is met, less production of armaments will be possible. This will be a partial disarmament forced upon Communist rulers by their own people.

Third, Meany is assuming that a policy of having nothing to do with Communist nations is the most effective. This program has been tried by both sides during the past 10 years and has proved a failure.

Isolation creates doubt. Doubt breeds suspicion and fear, which are the parents of hate and intolerance.

We cannot stay aloof forever from Communist nations, hoping for a collapse that will never come. Negotiation has proved futile for 10 years, but the door must always be left open.

The free and Communist worlds are currently in a period of military stalemate. Neither side wants war. Both know that a war will leave no victors, only survivors. And yet is history to record that both spent billions for a war that neither wanted, while millions lived in poverty and wretchedness because the money for them could not be spared?

This was not the first "stay-tough-with-the-Communists" speech by Meany. And it probably won't be the last — unless someone tells him that it is no longer enough to be merely an anti-Communist.

Today one who has a position of leadership should have a positive approach to the problem of rolling back communism and achieving world peace.

They're All Wet—in Print

A playful remark can lead to the damndest things.

Prof. William Porter of the SUI School of Journalism, in introducing Gov. Leo A. Hoegh to the American Association of University Professors here last week, jokingly suggested that Hoegh take on Gov. C. Mennen Williams of Michigan in a swimming match to raise money for the March of Dimes.

Iowa had just defeated Michigan 48-45 in a dual swimming meet. Hoegh earned a swimming letter when he attended SUI.

Hoegh, going along with the joke, said that he would be glad to.

Williams, rising to the occasion, suggested a decathlon — swimming, rowing (he was a Princeton varsity crewman), wrestling with the legislature and executive table-banging.

Hoegh soon scotched serious talk of such an event (newspapers had reported it as straight material) before someone started taking it seriously.

But the best was yet to come.

In reporting the event Time Magazine this week said that Hoegh was a former swimming star at "Iowa State University." As if that wasn't bad enough, SUI was referred to thereafter in the Time account as "Iowa State."

More Meetings, More Progress

It's always interesting to note whether Iowa is progressing as fast as other states.

For years students of government in Iowa have talked of holding annual sessions of the state legislature. A 20-month period of no legislative activity (except by the state interim committee) seems too long. And governors have been loath to call special sessions of the state legislature.

Most states (34) still cling to the practice of holding one legislative session every other year. It is a hold-over from theory (held by many of our Founding Fathers) that the more legislatures are in session, the more damage they are likely to do.

This worked well until the 20th century. But life moves too fast nowadays. Problems pile up annually. Any state legislature could well be kept busy eight months per 2-year period instead of four months.

Fourteen states have realized this and are now holding annual legislative sessions. Interestingly, not all are states that have been noted for progressive government. They are: Arizona, California, Colorado, Georgia, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Louisiana, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island, South Carolina, and West Virginia. Georgia, Kansas and West Virginia joined the list this past year.

Alabama and Ohio legislatures are holding special sessions. In Iowa and other states the holding of special sessions and annual sessions is on the way. It's only a matter of time.

Low Music, Soothing Voices Help Quiet Excited Children

Editor's Note: This is the final article in a series of six that have described relaxation and have told what it can do for the normally stressed American.

By M. GLADYS SCOTT

When small children don't settle down promptly after being put to bed, they may have been too excited previously.

Make going to bed a pleasant routine, not something to be fought for each night. Quiet play, soft music, a low, steady voice in telling the bedtime stories will soothe and quiet them.

Help them play the game of making their way to sleep, of being just like the rag doll or teddy bear lying in bed beside them.

Soft words and a soothing voice will help adults as well as children be more relaxed.

Dynamic Speaker

The lecturer who has the audience's attention is the dynamic speaker, with compelling voice and manner.

The opposite type soon leaves most of his listeners playing the lazy man's part, not making the effort to listen. And some may even have gone off for a sail with Winkem, Blinkem and Nod. Perhaps that voyage should be made more often; for many it should be a mid-day routine.

We Americans scorn the siesta, the closed shop at midday, the leisurely lunch hour which is characteristic of so many of our neighbors in Europe and Latin America.

Pay the Price

For that attitude we pay the price of tension, fatigue and sometimes poor health.

If we are going to accelerate our activities in the business and social world, then surely the acceleration of the process of resting, of shifting into "leisure gear," is in keeping with our philosophy.

It is amazing how much rest and relief can be obtained by the person who really knows how to be lazy at the right time in the right way.

No Rubbing with New Wall Cleaner

A new nonrubbing wallpaper cleanser to remove grease and oil stains as well as finger marks is now available.

It is applied directly to the wallpaper from a metal tube and is spread with knife or spatula to form a one-eighth inch thick layer over the stained area.

After it is dry, the powder may be removed with a soft cloth. Stubborn stains may require a second application.

To Get More Use of Car: Try Cleaning

Maybe father or the hubby wouldn't be so hesitant to lend you the car if you put some of your time and effort into keeping it clean.

After all, if you share in the work, you should be able to share in the benefits too—at least you can try that argument on him.

If you don't like to slop around with hose and shampy, you can be just as helpful by cleaning the inside of the car. Chances are, the male member of your family doesn't like this job anyway and you can work out a very comfortable arrangement.

To help you with your new job, here are some tips for the care and cleaning of automobile upholstery:

Stiff Brushing

Brush the upholstery once a month with a stiff brush or use the vacuum cleaner to give the interior a thorough cleaning.

To remove ice cream spots, sponge lightly with lukewarm soapsuds, using a neutral soap. Rinse with cold water and allow to dry. If an oily spot should remain, rub lightly with a good fabric cleaner.

Candy (with the exception of chocolate) may be removed by moistening a cloth with very hot water, and rubbing fabric lightly. Chocolate spots should be sponged with lukewarm water, allowed to dry and rubbed gently with fabric cleaner.

Gum, Tar

Chewing gum and tar can be removed if first moistened with cleaning fluid and then scraped off with a dull knife.

Fruit stains should be given immediate attention and car owners should not use soap and hot water which causes the stain to set. Rub stain lightly with a cloth dampened with lukewarm water. Allow to dry and rub gently with cleaning fluid.

For removing oil and grease spots, scrape off excess with a dull knife and rub fabric with a cloth moistened with cleaning fluid until spot disappears.

Special Care

Lipstick and liquid cosmetics require special attention. Apply fabric cleaner to stain and blot quickly with a clean blotter. Repeat process as often as necessary.

Bloodstains are removed by sponging with cold water mixed with a few drops of household ammonia. Do not use hot or warm water, which causes stains to set.

Leather and vinyl plastic should be cleaned with lukewarm water and a mild castile soap. Work up a thin suds on cheesecloth and rub over entire surface. Then wipe with dampened cloth until dry.

About That Time of Year

A LULL IN BASKETBALL COMPETITION means "hit the books" for semester exams for these two Iowa cagers—guards Babe Hawthorne, left, and Bill Seaberg. However, Coach Bucky O'Connor said he will hold daily practices until the Wichita game Feb. 4.

Cagers Drill Daily During Exams

Iowa's basketball schedule has given the Hawkeye cagers a break from competition (until Feb. 4) because of semester exams, but Coach Bucky O'Connor continues to hold daily practices.

Thursday the Hawks were sent through a strenuous workout, their first since turning back Purdue Monday, 67-63. O'Connor plans hard workouts today and Saturday. Next week the practices will be "short but hard," the Iowa coach said.

O'Connor is more wary now of mid-season layoffs after the post-Christmas slump on the West Coast. At the time he blamed part of the slump on the lack of practice during the holiday vacation.

Mid-Season Slump?

Have Iowa teams been prone to slump after between-semester layoffs? "Not particularly," O'Connor replied. "We've had our ups and downs, but that is why we schedule a non-conference game after tests, such as Wichita Feb. 4."

Win 7 of 12

During the first semester Iowa recorded a 7-5 mark, a 4-1 in Big Ten competition. After the Wichita game here a week from Saturday, the Hawks launch their drive for the Big Ten crown again when they invade Wisconsin Monday, Feb. 6. The drive will include five conference games in the Fieldhouse and four on the road.

So far, Iowa has done well against Big Ten foes on the road. Three of the four conference victories have been on foreign courts.

Lose on Road

Just the opposite is true of the Hawks' non-conference schedule. Iowa won 27 three home contests and lost all four games to the home school.

After the Wisconsin game the Hawks travel to Evanston, Ill., Feb. 11 to battle cellar-dwelling Northwestern. They come home Feb. 18 to meet Wisconsin and then Northwestern Feb. 27.

Two more home games include the possible climactic CBS-TV game with Illinois March 3 and next Indiana March 5. Games at Indiana Feb. 20 and at Minnesota Feb. 25 conclude the schedule.

Hitting at .372

At the midway point, O'Connor's cagers have a field goal percentage of .372 and a free throw mark of .630. Their 12-game offensive average is 69.1 and their defensive record is 63.6 points per game.

Center Bill Logan leads the scorers with a 15.8 average and .432 percentage. Following him are Bill Seaberg, 12.1 and .373; Carl Cain, 11.9 and .379; Bill Schoof, 9.8 and .354; and Sarm Scheuerman, 8.1 and .356.

Negro Club Sells Eight to Majors

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Tom Baird, owner of the Kansas City Monarchs of the Negro American League, reported Thursday he has sold eight of his players to major league clubs.

Five of them were purchased by the Chicago Cubs, two by Philadelphia and another by St. Louis.

In addition, Baird said, four players went to minor league clubs. Asked if this meant the Monarchs will not operate this year, Baird said he had made no decision yet.

Players obtained by the Cubs were outfielders Ernest and Louis Johnson and George Altman, who also can play first base, and Dock Connors and Joe Hartman, infielders.

Enrique Maroto, a southpaw, went to the Cardinals.

Illinois' Ridley Out With Knee Injury

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Bill Ridley, small but clever guard on Illinois' basketball team, may be benched by a knee injury as the Big Ten pacesetter Illinois meet De Paul at the Chicago Stadium Saturday night.

Bill Altenberger has been named by Coach Harry Combes to start at Chicago if Ridley fails to mend. The Illini, unbeaten in four Big Ten starts and standing 10-1 for the season, resume conference play at Minnesota Monday night.

U.S. Stars Open Olympics

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP)—America leads with a pair of her trump cards — skier Andrea Mead Lawrence and bobsledder Waughtman (Bud) Washbond — today when the seventh Winter Olympic Games shift from pageantry to grim competition.

Mrs. Lawrence, 23-year-old mother of three and double gold medalist in the 1952 games at Oslo, defends her women's giant slalom championship.

Washbond, of East Hartford, Conn., attempts to crack the Italians' pre-Olympic mastery on the risky bobsled run. The first two heats of the two-man event are scheduled for today, with the final two Saturday.

Still No Snow

The bleak peaks of the Dolomite Alps, thirsty for snow, presented a disheartening backdrop as the games were declared officially open Thursday by President Giovanni Gronchi of Italy.

watched 1,100 athletes from 32 nations parade past the President's stand. They cheered almost equally for the jaunty Yanks, attired in red fur caps, white jackets and blue pants, and the serious Russians, in somber brown and powder blue.

Russians Get Nod

The Russians, with their speed skaters who go like the wind and their indefatigable skiers, have become strong favorites for unofficial team honors in these, their first Winter Olympics.

A minor incident marred the brilliant opening day pageantry. Italy's champion speed skater, Guido Caroli, tripped on some wires and fell headlong on the track while carrying the Olympic torch into the stadium.

He righted himself quickly, never dropped the torch, and skated on to light the flame which will burn steadily until the end of the games Feb. 4.

Five Horses Killed, Others Injured in Race Track Fire

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A flash fire roared through a barn at Tropical Park Race Track Thursday, killing an estimated five thoroughbreds and touching off a stampede that injured several more. Two automobile crashes also resulted.

"It was like a Wild West show for a while," said Officer Billy Stephens of the Coral Gables police department, who helped round up the 40 fear-maddened horses who charged out of the park and galloped in a body up heavily traveled Bird road.

Fire fighters kept the blaze from spreading but horses were led out of four other barns as a precautionary measure.

Park attendants said it was impossible to tell at once how many horses died in the blaze.

3 City Cage Teams Play Tonight

Three Iowa City prep basketball teams swing into action tonight with University High playing at home and two other clubs traveling out of town.

The Bluehawks will entertain West Branch in an Eastern Iowa Conference engagement, a team they had no trouble defeating earlier in the season.

City High goes to Davenport for a Mississippi Valley game, and undefeated St. Mary's travels to St. Martin's of Cascade.

Berra Now Ranks as Highest-Paid Catcher

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankee catcher Larry (Yogi) Berra celebrated his seventh wedding anniversary Thursday by signing his 1956 contract, which calls for the highest salary ever paid a catcher in major league baseball.

Berra, the American League's most valuable player the past two seasons as well as in 1951, received an undisclosed raise from his 1955 salary, estimated at $45,000. When writers guessed he will receive $50,000 this year, Berra said that was "close enough."

The figure tops the $42,500 for which catcher Roy Campanella of the Dodgers signed Wednesday. Only two Yankee players — Babe Ruth and Joe DiMaggio — ever received higher salaries.

Ruth's top figure was $80,000 a year while DiMaggio received $100,000.

Berra, who will be 31 May 12, said he had little difficulty coming to terms with the Yankees. He was proudest of the fact that he has received a raise each year since he came to the club from Newark in 1946.

The squat, good-natured receiver said he hoped to improve on his .272 batting average last season, the lowest of his career.

Yogi's bat was a big factor in the Yankees' pennant victory, however, driving in 108 runs and slugging 27 home runs.

He caught 147 games, marking the eighth straight season he has caught 100 or more games and the seventh straight year he has hit 20 or more homers. His lifetime mark is .293 and his 30 homers in 1952 was the most ever by a Yankee catcher.

Thunderbird Lead Goes To DeMaret

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Jimmy DeMaret knocked seven strokes off par for a 64 Thursday to take the lead in the first round of the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational Golf Tournament.

DeMaret, who won this event in 1953, putted brilliantly and toured the Thunderbird Country Club course in 33:31 for his 64. He held putts that measured from 40 feet to 5 feet.

Tied at 66 were Julius Boros, Bo Wininger, Doug Ford and Gene Littler, and at 67 were Cary Middlecoff, two lesser known pros, Gardner Dickinson of Panama City Beach, Fla., and Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., and the club pro, Jimmy Hines.

Big Three Off

Things were not so good for the big three of last year's Thunderbird, winner Shelley Mayfield, Mike Souchak and Freddie Haas. Thursday Souchak and Mayfield had 72s, and Haas a 73.

Tommy Bolt wound up with a 71. Lloyd Mangrum, winner of the recent Los Angeles Open, had a 69.

Byron Nelson, in one of his rare appearances, collected a snappy 68, while National Open Champion Jack Fleck from Iowa took a 72.

Played in Rain

Earlier, Dickinson posted his 67 in intermittent showers. He played the par 36-35-71 course in 34-33-67, bagging an eagle on the par four ninth.

One stroke back at this point were Bud Holscher of Apple Valley, Calif., with 36-32-68, and Leo Biagetti of Willoughby, Ohio, 32-36-68.

Former PGA champion Walter Burkeno, another of the 42 players invited to compete, had a 69, along with Jerry Barber and Marty Furgol.

First Cager

TOP BASKETBALL scorer Bill Reigel, McNeese State forward, was the first college cager in the nation to reach the 500-point mark this year. In his first 18 games, he scored 576 points. He is a 6-foot 5-inch native of Monaca, Pa.

Drake Pulls Upset On Bradley, 79-73

DES MOINES (AP)—Drake rebounded from four straight defeats here Thursday night to upset Bradley, 79-73, as Red Murrell, Bulldog forward, reached a season individual high with 29 points.

The revived Bulldogs took advantage of Bradley's cold shooting in the first half to lead, 38-24. The Braves came back strong after the intermission but Drake kept pace.

The Bulldogs had a 77-63 lead with a minute left when Bradley suddenly hit a hot streak and scored 10 points in 47 seconds.

Wake Forest Gets Gopher Grid Aide

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Billy Hildebrand, an assistant football coach at the University of Minnesota the past two years, resigned Thursday. The former Mississippi grid star said he will become first assistant of Paul Amen, new head coach at Wake Forest.

Amen said Thursday he will have an entirely new staff of five assistants.

The University of Washington student newspaper says that Coach John Cherberg has failed to restore harmony to the football team. Harmony, you know, is when the entire football team squad belongs to the same fraternity.

Lack of snow has become a major problem at the Winter Olympics in Italy. They're talking about importing several SUI professors to solve the problem, however... the pros who specialize in giving "snow-jobs."

Down in West Virginia, they've ruled out a wrestling match between "the Blimp" (a male) and "Lady Angel" (a female), saying such a thing would hardly be proper. We must be lucky here at Iowa. You can see a wrestling match between the sexes almost any night if you just drive by Currier Hall.

They had to stop a basketball game in North Dakota because of the floor "sweating." This is a switch. Usually it's the coach who is drenched in perspiration.

Jim Tatum, new head football coach at North Carolina, is called a "parasitic monster of open professionalism" by the student newspaper. Tatum isn't mad, though. He isn't sure if the remark is a compliment or a criticism.

Court Gets Petitions for Annexations

Petitions to annex six territories to Iowa City were filed in Johnson County District Court Thursday by Edward W. Lucas, city solicitor.

The territories were approved for annexation Nov. 8 when voters adopted a resolution during the Iowa City municipal election.

A seventh area, land north of Highway 6, bordered by the Iowa City limits, Coralville limits and the Iowa River, is being considered for annexation, Lucas said.

Residents of this area have petitioned to be annexed to Coralville. But Coralville has not yet filed a petition for annexation.

Annexation proceedings began when the Iowa City Council considered a proposed resolution Sept. 24 to annex the territories.

City Council adopted the resolution Oct. 3 and placed it on the Nov. 8 election ballot.

The petitioned areas are:

1. Land extending from the southeastern city limits to the Proctor and Gamble plant on Lower Muscatine Road.
2. Land south of University Heights to Highway 1.
3. The area bordered by City Park, Park Road and the Iowa River.
4. Part of the Sunnyside addition not now located within the city limits.
5. Two areas surrounded by city-annexed property near the airport on Highway 218.
6. Area on Court Street bordered by city school property.

Prof Links Religion With Campus Life

Religion's place in education was outlined Thursday to the Iowa City Rotary Club.

Prof. Robert S. Michaelson, administrative director of the SUI School of Religion, said religion serves two main functions for a college student:

1. It teaches him how religion has affected other cultures and individuals.
 2. It develops the student's own fundamental beliefs in religion, and deepens his spiritual awareness.
- "Everyone realizes the value of instilling ideals into children that we want them to cherish," Michaelson said. "Religious education helps maintain these ideals."

Union To Feature Mozart Records

In commemoration of Wolfgang Mozart's 200th birthday today, the music room of the Iowa Memorial Union will present a series of Mozart recordings from 7:30 p.m. until midnight.

The program will feature piano sonatas, piano and violin sonatas, a serenade, a symphony and operatic selections.

The recordings are from the private collection of Chavarche Tchalekian, G. Alexandria, Egypt.

Macbride Park Buys 20 Additional Acres

Roy Reed, superintendent of Lake Macbride state park, announced Thursday the purchase of an additional 20 acres for the park by the State Conservation Commission.

Located north and west of the Coralville dam, the new area will provide access to the permanent conservation pool formed by the dam. A picnic area is expected to be developed on the new purchase.

In Ceremonial Dress

BORNU TRIBESMEN of northern Nigeria in colorful array take part in the post-Islamic fast of Ramadan. Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will see part of the Nigerian splendor during their 3-week visit to the country.

Nigeria Waits For Queen

Lagos, Nigeria (AP)—A sign in the new Mainland Hotel here says: "The management requests that for the evening, gentlemen wear ties and long trousers of appropriate African attire."

Shorts, sandals, and open necks won't do—but jackets may still be skipped.

This is one manifestation of the manner in which Nigerians are polishing their manners and giving the country a thorough scrubbing for the ceremonial three-week visit of Britain's Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh which starts Saturday morning.

Although Nigeria has been a British colony for almost a century, Elizabeth will be the first British sovereign to visit this warm and lush land, which is bigger than any country in Europe, except Russia, and which has a population of at least 32 million.

Never Seen Queen
No one here, except a few statesmen who have traveled to distant London, has ever seen the Queen, and it is a safe presumption that the Queen herself has never seen quite such a country.

Up to a very few years ago, cases of cannibalism troubled the police, and out in the remote bush country it is possible that they could still occur. As little as 75 years ago, life was a primitive struggle among hostile tribes, and geographers were not sure of the course of the mighty River Niger.

Exported Slaves
Not so long ago Nigeria's chief export was human slaves. Today it is an exciting, challenging boom country.

The Queen will see mud huts and shanties mingled among modern buildings of striking grace and beauty.

No Politics
Lagos has a population of about 300,000, but down the bush trails, roads and railways, other thousands are converging on the city.

Most Nigerians are confident that in the comparatively near future they will be an independent nation. But it is understood on all sides that this is not the Queen's business, so no one will talk politics with her.

Arab Troops Near British Supply Port

LONDON (AP)—The War Office Thursday night reported Saudi Arabian troop movements near Agaba, only port of supply for British forces in Jordan.

The rival dynasties of King Saud and King Hussein of Jordan have been feuding. Britain is locked in a territorial and political dispute with the Saudi Arabians. Much of the trouble is over oil rights.

British officials said the Saudi Arabians are in a position to hit either at Israel in case of an Arab-Jewish conflict or to intervene in Jordan.

A War Office spokesman said the Saudi Arabian force included about 3,000 troops.

Political Trip Deadline

Today is the deadline for applications for a week's trip to Washington under the "political internship" program of the Iowa Citizenship Clearing House, Robert F. Ray, director of the group, said Thursday.

Ray, director of the SUI Institute of Public Affairs, said that thus far, 36 students from all over the state had applied for the ten available positions.

About 62 students from Iowa schools applied last year.

Ten Students
The 10 students, two at a time, will be house guests of Rep. and Mrs. Fred Schwengel (R-Iowa) during their stay in Washington. The "interns," five Democrats and five Republicans, will be introduced to national political and congressional leaders, visit the national headquarters of their political party and attend committee meetings and sessions of Congress.

To be eligible to apply for the trip, students must be residents of Iowa and attend any college or university in the state, Ray said.

Students should preferably be in their second or third year of college, he added.

Board Chooses
Candidates will be chosen by the Clearing House advisory board composed of university instructors and members of the Democratic and Republican parties in Iowa. Each student chosen will receive $50 from the Clearing House and $25 from his political party to finance the trip.

Applications may be obtained from Donald Johnson, assistant professor of political science, room 1310-A, Schaeffer Hall.

Bulgarian in Good Health: Kremlin

MOSCOW (AP)—Top Soviet leaders said Thursday Premier Nikolai Bulganin is in good health.

Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev was asked about Bulganin's condition at a reception at the Indian Embassy celebrating the Indian Republic anniversary.

"Good," exploded Khrushchev in reply. There has been speculation concerning Bulganin's health since he failed to attend several functions this month.

Prof Talks To Educators

Instructors from more than 90 public and parochial schools Thursday heard SUI medical educator, Dr. Rubin H. Flocks, tell the story of cancer in Iowa.

Dr. Flocks, professor and head of urology in the SUI College of Medicine, spoke to the group during a workshop on "How Iowa Educators Can Help Control Cancer." The event was sponsored by the Iowa division of the American Cancer Society.

Schools represented were high schools, junior high schools, junior colleges and colleges from the southeastern section of the state. "Cancer will account for 396,000 deaths among Iowans now living if the present death rate continues," he said.

Dr. Flocks has been active for many years in research on cancer. He was a pioneer in the use of radioactive gold as a method of treatment for the disease. Much of his research has been supported by grants from American Cancer Society and its Iowa division.

Medical Society Meets Wednesday

The Johnson County Medical Society will meet at the Mayflower Inn for its monthly session at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Presiding at the meeting will be Dr. John S. Greenleaf, the new president who succeeded Dr. R. C. Hardin. Other officers include Dr. John H. Randall, vice-president, and Dr. John R. Maxwell, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. R. T. Tidrick, head of the department of surgery at University Hospitals, will moderate a symposium entitled, "Management of Patients With Incurable Cancer."

TOO MANY BEGGARS
NEW DELHI (AP)—Two of India's greatest social problem groups are beggars and usurious moneylenders. Indore's state government has found most of its two thousand beggars also are money lenders charging exorbitant interest.

DENTISTRY CLINIC—Dr. O. J. Berg, assistant in instruction in pedodontics of the SUI College of Dentistry, will present a clinic on the use of chrome alloy materials in children's dentistry today in Decorah. He will address the Northeast Iowa Dental Study Club.

SUI GRADUATE—Edward B. Buxton, graduate of SUI in 1949, has been appointed casework supervisor for Dodge Co., department of public welfare in Juneau, Wis.

90 Attend Nursing Standards Meeting
More than 90 Iowa nursing educators are attending a conference on standards for schools of nursing and licensing of nurses which will close today at the Continuation Study Center.

Dean Myrtle E. Kitchell of the SUI college of nursing, chairman of a steering committee, on the development of more flexible state board standards, presided at an opening general session at which work groups were organized.

Sister Mary Barbara Ann, Mt. Mercy College, Cedar Rapids, will serve as chairman of today's general session summarizing recommendations of the conference. She is a past president of the Iowa State Nurses Association.

Congress Honors Dr. Jonas Salk

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk was awarded a congressional gold medal and the official thanks of the nation Thursday for his development of the Salk polio vaccine.

Presenting the medal to the slender, 41-year-old University of Pittsburgh scientist, Secretary of Welfare Marvin Folsom told him the Salk vaccine is "a great landmark in the war against polio."

Folsom also read a letter in which President Eisenhower told Dr. Salk that "the entire nation joins me in lasting gratitude and appreciation."

Dr. Salk, who worked for six years on the vaccine, sometimes as much as 18 to 24 hours a day, gave credit to "those whose contributions came before, but whose lot it was not to become a symbol of honor."

It was the second big official Washington ceremony for Salk. Last April at the White House Eisenhower gave him a citation for his achievement.

Congress voted $2,500 for the medal awarded Thursday. One side bears Salk's name and likeness. On the other is an allegorical figure protecting two children and the words "Award of Congress to Dr. Jonas E. Salk."

JayCees Set Farm Contest

Five nominations had been received by Thursday in the contest which will select an outstanding young farmer of the Iowa City trade area.

The contest, sponsored by the Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce, will accept nominations mailed by Jan. 31, contest chairman John Dane said Thursday.

Adlai for President Says Mrs. Roosevelt

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said Thursday she favors Adlai Stevenson for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The widow of Franklin D. Roosevelt was asked by a reporter whether she planned to work in the 1956 presidential campaign. "No," she replied, "but I am for Stevenson."

"If Mr. Stevenson gets a solid enough organization behind him, I feel sure he will win the Democratic nomination," said Mrs. Roosevelt, who is in Arizona on a tour to promote the United Nations.

Present Awards

Winner of the contest will be presented at a dinner, Feb. 7, at the Mayflower, where he will be awarded a plaque and an all-expense-paid trip to the state outstanding young farmer banquet at Oelwein.

Dane said that nominations may be written or made in person by any individual or organization in the area. Written nominations, he added, should include the nominee's name, address, age, and qualifications. Letters should be mailed to Iowa City Chamber of Commerce, Iowa City.

Name Judges

Judges named for the contest include: Harold J. Montgomery, extension director of the Johnson County Farm Bureau; Ross L. Barnett, soil conservationist at the U.S. Soil Conservation office; and Woodrow Weeber, president of the Johnson County Farm Bureau.

Film Career Started With Coin Toss

By LORETTA PETERS

Eric Pavel once tossed a coin to decide whether to go to Brazil or Argentina. Brazil won.

A Bulgarian-born engineer and economist, Pavel went to Brazil to be an engineer and cameraman. He later was contracted by the Venezuelan government to make educational and documentary films for Venezuelan schools and colleges.

Thus he became acquainted with the two countries, Brazil and Venezuela.

Films Here Sunday

Pavel will present his films at 2:30 and 8 p.m. Sunday as part of the Iowa Mountaineers' Travelogue series in Macbride auditorium.

The Brazilian film will be shown

Eric Pavel To Give Travelogue

at 2:30, and the Venezuelan one at 8 p.m.

Mountaineers and guests will see Bahia, Brazil's oldest city, founded in 1548. The old and new sections of the city are connected by a cable car.

Palaces were built by landowners there during the sugar boom.

Air Views

Included in the films are an airplane view of the Rio de Janeiro residential section and beaches, and views of an expedition along the Amazon river and its tributaries.

A glimpse of mining and cutting of semi-precious stones, iron ore mining, and steel production is also included.

The Venezuelan film includes an expedition to the land of the Jivaro Indians, once-famed enemy head shinkers; the ancient churches of Bogota, plus views of rubber plantations and crude rubber.

Color Picture

The first man to make color films in South America, Pavel, Baron Gaston de Leseur, a former schoolmate, and Sylvia Marks formed the Pan American Press and Film Company in 1947 in San Paulo, Brazil.

Pavel attended the University of Birmingham, Bulgaria, until it was bombed during World War II. He holds an engineering degree from the University of Zurich and an economics degree from the University of Bern.

Mencken Finds His Lost Book

BALTIMORE (AP)—The aging and controversial author, H. L. Mencken, has come up with another book which he had written seven years ago and had "forgotten about" until his secretary recently dug it out of a dusty pile of papers.

The book, to be called "Minority Report," was created before a cerebral hemorrhage struck, limiting his powers of communication. Mencken describes the book as a "notebook" containing essays of varying lengths on a variety of subject matter.

Subject of Controversy

Mencken, who has been the subject of controversy over thousands of essays and scores of other books produced over a 75-year span, said he looks forward with pleasure to the heated replies his barbed epigrams will bring.

"You see," he said, "the book is controversial."

When the manuscript was found several weeks ago, it was among a pile of papers headed for the Enoch Pratt Library for inclusion in the Mencken room.

Recalls Project

The author recalled the project and authorized his brother, August, to contact publisher Alfred Knopf.

Here are some excerpts from the manuscript: "The fact that I have no remedy for all the sorrows of the world is no reason for my accepting yours. It simply supports the strong probability that yours is a fake."

Still Eating Herring

"The Russian proletarians who were to have been made rich, fat and happy by the triumph of the Marxian gospel are still eating herring and black bread and getting $7 cash a month, but their saviours are riding about in imported cars, sleeping with perfumed women, and living in steam-heated flats.

"If it be true, as the American Communists allege, that 10 per cent of the American people own 90 per cent of the national wealth, then it is equally true that 5 per cent of the Russians eat 95 per cent of the caviar and drink 100 per cent of the champagne."

SUI Grad To Run For State Senator

Jack C. White Announces Candidacy

The second Johnson County man to announce his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for state senator from this district is Attorney Jack C. White, who received his law degree from SUI in 1936.

White, former county attorney of Johnson County, will oppose John O'Connor, Lone Tree farmer, in the party's primary election June 4.

D. C. Nolan, Iowa City Republican who now holds the position, has announced his candidacy for the GOP nomination.

White is now County Democratic chairman and his wife is the State Democratic Central Committee secretary. He served three terms as county attorney from 1945 to 1951 and earlier had served as Iowa City police judge.

White received his B.A. degree from SUI in 1934.

Public School Pupils Get Half-day Off Friday

All Iowa City public schools were dismissed Thursday afternoon as the first semester is completed.

High school students may pick up grade reports at 3:15 p.m. today. High school students were required to report to school Thursday only at times when they have examinations scheduled.

Court Bans Forced Quiz Of Ex-Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals ruled Thursday that congressional committees have no authority to compel witnesses to expose former Communists simply for the sake of exposure.

Dividing 2-1, the court voided the contempt of Congress conviction of John T. Watkins, Rock Island, Ill., labor leader.

In an appearance before the House Un-American Activities Committee, Watkins refused to say whether certain fellow union members with whom he associated between 1942 and 1947 were Communists.

No Action Found

The court held such questions could be asked only in pursuit of proposed remedial legislation. It found no such legislative action.

The decision, unless appealed and reversed by the Supreme Court, would hit hardest the Un-American Activities Committee and the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

These committees often demand witnesses to name past Communist associates no matter how long ago.

Appellate Powers

The dissenting judge said the decision "puts us in the position of a court of appeals over Congress and its committees, limiting the scope of Congressional inquiries to this court's decision."

Watkins, formerly connected with the Farm Equipment Workers Union, testified he had never been a card-carrying Communist but had cooperated with Communists and had participated in Communist activity.

Watkins was convicted by U.S. District Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy in May, 1955. He was fined $500 and given a year's suspended jail sentence.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Dist. Judge Ben Wilson ruled in a divorce suit that the wife could keep her membership in the Working Girls Gift club and not include it as community property.

It Happened in Iowa— Tax Study Urges Liquor by Drink

SIoux CITY (AP)—Reorganization of county governments, legalizing sale of liquor by the drink and revision of financing methods for schools were among proposals urged upon the Iowa Tax Study Committee at a day-long public hearing here Thursday.

The effect of the Iowa sales tax on business in border counties also came in for attention, as did proposals for repealing the moneys and credits tax and elimination of the personal property tax on inventories.

There was strong criticism of Iowa's present 2 1/2 per cent sales tax. Speakers expressed opposition to the 1/2 per cent increase made by the 1955 Legislature and urged that border county businessmen be given an opportunity to compete favorably with those of adjoining states.

Students Escape Fire

SHENANDOAH (AP)—Some 230 grade school students walked to safety when fire broke out Thursday in a school housing kindergarten through fourth grade classes here.

The fire department put out the blaze and ordered the school closed Thursday afternoon and Friday pending an investigation of the fire and general condition of the building.

Fund Reaches $20,000

WATERLOO (AP)—The fund for the benefit of the William Mehlhorn family has passed $20,000 with contributions through Wednesday.

The Waterloo Courier said the fund for the family of Mehlhorn, Waterloo policeman killed Jan. 14 by a man fleeing from the scene of a burglary, had reached $20,859 by Wednesday afternoon.

Robert C. Cooney, 37, who is charged with murder in connection with Mehlhorn's death, remains in University Hospitals at Iowa City.

Pipeline Hit By Dynamite

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Dynamiters blew up a 4-foot section of a 12-inch natural gas pipeline Thursday which supplies gas to a huge nylon plant here. National Guard troops broke up massed picket lines at the plant two weeks ago.

No evidence was uncovered late Thursday to connect the picketing and the dynamiting incidents.

Mayor C. P. Mason and Chemstrand corporation officials called on Gov. Leroy Collins to take action to protect residents of the city. Mason also asked the governor's office to assist in obtaining the arrest and conviction of those responsible.

Officers estimated that 12 to 15 sticks of dynamite were used in the blast four miles from the plant. The pipeline is 42 inches underground at this point and the blast left a crater 6-feet deep and 10-feet wide.

The pickets were protesting the hiring of out-of-state workers by a construction company which is the prime contractor for an expansion project at Chemstrand.

Red Cross in Tight Financial Spot

DES MOINES (AP)—The heaviest disaster spending in its 75-year history has put the American Red Cross in its tightest financial spot in a decade, Joseph R. Stewart of Kansas City, Mo., chairman of the 1956 Red Cross fund campaign, said here Thursday.

Stewart said the Red Cross already has spent or committed 27 1/2 million dollars for disaster relief since July 1, with the "most critical spring flood months still ahead."

He said a normal outlay for an entire year is about four million dollars.

Stewart spoke to some 100 Iowa Red Cross fund officials and volunteer workers.

The organization has set a goal of 90 million dollars for the national fund drive to be kicked off Feb. 29. This is up 15 per cent over last year.

Heart Fund Gets Publicity Director

The Johnson County Heart Committee has chosen Murvin H. Perry, 928 Dearborn St., as its publicity director for the 1956 Heart Fund campaign.

Perry's duties will be to inform Iowa City residents of the dangers of heart trouble and how their contributions will be used to combat the disease. Contributions will be collected on "Heart Sunday," Feb. 26. Every house in Iowa City will be visited by solicitors.

$250,000 Fire

OTTUMWA (AP)—A $250,000 fire at the Winger Manufacturing and Construction companies destroyed two buildings and damaged a third early Thursday.

Fire Chief Harley McClure said the fire apparently originated near the roof in the building which houses the firm's office. Defective wiring was listed as a possible cause.

50 To Attend Traffic Parley

About 50 Iowa law enforcement officers are expected to attend a week-long conference on traffic accident investigation at SUI Feb. 6-10.

Under the direction of the bureau of police science of the SUI institute of public affairs, the second annual police traffic school will be devoted primarily to police activities related to traffic accident investigation and prevention.

Speakers and discussion leaders scheduled to assist in the traffic school include: Commissioner Clinton Moyer of the State Department of Public Safety; Lieut. Leonard Sims and Sgt. Richard Hohl of the Iowa Highway Safety Patrol; Sgt. Fred Lewis, Iowa City police department; Capt. E. A. Thobe, Davenport police department; Sgt. Henry Overman, Cedar Rapids police department, and Capt. T. J. Behne, Burlington police department.

All sessions of the course will meet in the Iowa Center for Continuation Center on the SUI campus.

Historical Society Adds Four from Iowa City

The State Historical Society elected 159 persons to membership during January. Superintendent William J. Petersen said Thursday. Elected from Iowa City were: Lee R. Bader, 724 Clark St.; M. F. Neuzil, 1178 E. Court St.; Miss Velma E. Burnett, 1002 Friendly Ave., and Howard W. Riley, 806 E. College St.

Set To Start Porch Drive

The 1956 March of Dimes Porchlight Drive will begin Tuesday night at 7 p.m. with the sounding of the Iowa City fire truck sirens. Ellis Brekke, chairman of the Jay-Cee porchlight committee announced Thursday.

About 35 Jay-Cees and Jay-Cettes will take part in the campaign along with other city residents who wish to help with the drive. This year March of Dimes officials hope to top the $1,000 which was collected in a similar drive last year.

Friday night the Iowa City Federation of Labor will hold a dance, the proceeds of which will go to the March of Dimes. The dance will be held in Moses Hall and will feature the music of Ogden Frazier and his orchestra.

During the dance, an auction will be held of merchandise contributed by members of the federation. It will be dismissed this afternoon, as
