Freezing Rain, Fog Hit State; Drizzle Covers Iowa City

Freezing rain and fog which covered sections of the state Friday are not expected to reach the Iowa City area until Sunday. Light drizzling rains fell in the Iowa City area Friday night. Road conditions were reported slightly hazardous, but warm weather in the area prevented ice from forming on the streets. Clear skies with temperatures ranging from 32 to 37 degrees are predicted for the Iowa City area today.

The Weather

Rain & Fog

The Iowa Highway Commission reported Friday that highways throughout the state are near normal except in an area northwest of a line through LeMars, Storm Lake, Clarion and Mason City, where thin ice and sifting snow have made roads slippery.

Heavy Snow
 Forecasters issued a heavy snow warning for northwest Iowa in the advent of another storm system expected to move across the state today. Five inches of snow is predicted for this area by tonight.

Snow and colder air is expected to spread over most of the state tonight with the snow ending Sunday in most sections.

Lows early today will range from 28 to 34 with highs in the mid-30's.

Five Days Normal

The five-day forecast predicts normal highs of 36 degrees and normal lows of 16. Precipitation will range between one-fourth and one-half inches in the form of rain or light snow.

The low in the state Friday was at Sioux City where the temperature was 9 above. The mercury varied from 27 at Mason City to 33 at Burlington and Davenport Friday afternoon.

The Iowa Highway Patrol's report on road conditions as of 7:30 p.m. Friday showed:

District 1 (Des Moines) — light mist, northwest becoming icy, elsewhere wet; highways wet.

District 2 (Osceola) — light mist, highways wet.

District 3 (Red Oak) and 4 (Denison) — light to heavy mist, highways wet, becoming icy some sections.

District 5 (Cherokee) — northwest, east and southeast light rain, fog, visibility 1/2 mile, some drifting snow, 100 per cent ice covered; central light mist, wet to snow and ice covered protected areas.

District 6 (Spencer) — west light sleet, rain and snow, 100 per cent ice and snow covered; north central light mist, some drifting snow, 100 per cent snow packed and ice covered; southeast light mist, some blowing snow, 100 per cent ice covered; central light mist, wet to snow and ice covered protected areas.

District 7 (Humboldt) — light mist north becoming icy, west 100 per cent ice covered; east icy, sanders out; north central sleet and wet; south central 100 per cent ice covered, salt crews out.

District 8 (Mason City) — southeast light mist, some blowing snow, becoming icy; elsewhere light freezing mist, icy.

District 9 (Allison) — light mist, central and northwest ice covered; east central wet to icy in spots.

District 10 (West Union) and District 12 (Tipton) — normal.

District 11 (Marengo) — West central light rain, becoming ice covered; south-west light rain, wet to ice covered, elsewhere normal.

District 13 (Fairfield) — southwest light rain, wet; east central normal.

Here's the Path of U.S. Satellites

THIS IS THE elliptical orbit around the earth which scientists announced Friday will be the path of the first made-in-America satellites. After launching from Patrick Air Force Base, Fla., the satellites will follow a course about 5,000 miles wide along the equator, ranging from the two latitudes of 40 degrees north and south. The satellites will be about 30 inches in size and weigh 21 1/2 pounds each.

May See Satellite From Iowa City

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first American-made earth satellites will travel in an orbit that will bring them close enough at times to be visible from Iowa City. Scientists announced Friday night that the satellites will travel orbits in a band about 500 miles wide, with the equator as a center. This would make the upper boundary the line of 40 degrees north latitude. This line is the Kansas-Nebraska north border farther west and runs only about 120 miles south of Iowa City.

10 Bus Firms Urge State Tax Exemption

DES MOINES (AP)—The Iowa City Coach Co. is among 10 bus companies which have urged that they be exempted from all or most of the state taxes they pay. This was revealed Friday as Gov. Leo A. Hoegh named a 9-member committee to study problems facing Iowa transit firms.

Figures presented to the governor by the Iowa Transit Assn. show that revenue bus passengers in 10 cities dropped from 103,368,000 in 1946 to 41,596,327 in 1954 or about 58 per cent.

The other nine firms are at Des Moines, Sioux City, Davenport, Cedar Rapids, Ottumwa, Burlington, Ft. Dodge and Ames.

Political Fires Grow Hotter—

Benson 'Boner' Causes Big Stir

GOP Hits Back By Criticizing 'Drug' Remark

WASHINGTON (AP)—Kindling was added to the political fires Friday as Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson admitted a "boner." Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) announced he will enter the Minnesota presidential primary and Senate Republicans expressed shock at a letter written by Sen. Richard Neuberger (D-Ore.).

Benson apologized for a letter-to-the-editor he supposedly had written to Harper's magazine applauding an article which called the American farmer "our pampered tyrant."

A few hours before Benson's apology, Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) had led demands for his scalp. Humphrey said that whenever something goes wrong in the Eisenhower administration, "it is always someone else who did it."

Accepts Explanation
 But Humphrey said he accepts the explanation that Benson gave for the letter: that various clerks in Benson's office composed a letter acknowledging receipt of a copy of the Harper's article, called it "excellent" and sent it out over Benson's signature without anybody, apparently, ever reading the article.

After the dust settled in the Senate, there was around of commendation for Benson's acceptance of responsibility for the boner, but one Republican, Sen. Francis Case of South Dakota, said he felt the secretary's usefulness "has been impaired by this unfortunate incident."

Humphrey, who a short time before had been demanding Benson's immediate ouster from the Cabinet, was in a somewhat forgiving mood.

'Customary Honesty'
 "As Sen. George Aiken (R-Vt.) says, this is in keeping with the customary honesty of the man," Humphrey said, adding:

"I don't know what government department will take on what magazine next."

This was after an allusion to the controversial "brink of war" article in Life magazine which got Secretary of State John Foster Dulles into a row.

Humphrey said the administration is "so confounded busy writing letters to Harper's" it hasn't had time "to do anything about the price of hogs."

The White House declined comment on the uproar.

Kefauver in Race
 Meanwhile, in St. Paul, Minn., backers of Kefauver said the Tennessee senator definitely will enter the Minnesota presidential primary election in a struggle against the forces of Adlai Stevenson and the state's Democratic organization.

It will be the nation's first major contest matching two leading contenders for delegate support at the Democratic National Convention. The primary is March 20.

Kefauver conceded the campaign will not be easy. He emphasized the task was made difficult by action of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor (DFL) State Central Committee endorsing Stevenson.

Will Back Adlai
 Gov. Orville Freeman, Humphrey and other top DFL leaders had said they will campaign vigorously in behalf of the former Illinois governor.

Kefauver was en route from Wisconsin to Washington Friday when announcement of his intention was made, but his supporters produced a statement by the senator in which there appeared to be resentment of the DFL party's endorsement.

He noted some Minnesota DFL leaders had "attempted to circumvent the intention of the primary law by committing the state in advance to one candidate."

Letter Shocks GOP
 And back in Washington, Republicans expressed shock and shouted

Numerous Changes After Library Poll

By LORETTA PETERS

There have been some changes made at the library this winter. It is open longer—from 7:30 to 2 a.m. instead of 8 a.m. to midnight.

The reserve desk is open later at night, too. It closes at 11 p.m. instead of 10 p.m.

The reserve desk is now open Sunday evening, too. To use a seminar room, a person must reserve a 2-hour period at the reserve desk.

Previously, it was a case of "first come, first served" in the seminar rooms. There was no time limit on their use.

Survey Helped
 All this has happened since the end of October as a part of the result of a survey taken then by the Student Council Library Committee.

The committee wanted to find out what students thought could be done to make the library more convenient for their use.

In cooperation with the library administration, the committee has been instituting the findings of the survey.

About 1,500 questionnaires were distributed to students leaving the library.

About 1,000 were returned to the main entrance of the library. Of that number, Robert Fisher, A4, LaGrange, Ill., chairman of the committee, says about 95 per cent were satisfactory.

Favor Beer
 The other 5 per cent made unorthodox requests, including a few favoring beer in the lounge.

The committee found that most students favor the installation of a soft drink machine in the library. Arrangements for the machine have been completed, and library officials say the machine will be installed in the next week or 10 days.

It will be a 6-cent machine and will use paper cups instead of bottles.

Local Iowa papers will remain in the library. Students stated by a 3-1 margin that they preferred to read them there and not in the Iowa Memorial Union library.

Open Sunday
 The change in reserve desk hours was made after survey results indicated that students prefer to have the reserve desk open later and on Sunday evenings.

Some students said they had been disturbed by groups supposedly studying on second floor of the library. Study areas there were rearranged by alternating carrels and tables in an attempt to soften conversation.

The change in the seminar room system was made to meet the need for a place where groups can study without disturbing others. The new system also prevents any one group from monopolizing the rooms.

The library will continue to be open on Friday evenings. Students indicated they prefer having it open Friday rather than Saturday evenings.

Like Fine System
 Except freshmen, who did not understand the system, students said they liked the library fine system begun last year. (Students who habitually keep books overtime are fined through the SUI business office.)

A paper explaining the system in detail is being prepared for use in the student handbook in future years.

See Bulganin Note as Good 'Propaganda'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Diplomatic authorities speculated Friday that President Eisenhower may answer the Bulganin proposal for an American-Soviet friendship treaty with a new appeal for Russian cooperation in working out a disarmament program.

The President and his chief advisers are known to feel that if even a tentative beginning could be made on a workable disarmament plan, it would do more to create confidence in peace prospects than almost anything else.

The letter which Mr. Eisenhower received Wednesday from Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin has put the United States in a propaganda hole. State Department and White House officials are understood to be working on the problem of drafting an answer which would make the best possible statement of the United States position on the issue posed by Bulganin.

What Bulganin asked the President to consider is a treaty formally declaring friendship between Russia and the United States. They would promise to settle their differences peacefully, within the framework of the United Nations Charter, while avoiding interference in each other's internal affairs.

The White House and State Department are reported convinced that the Bulganin proposal is primarily a political and propaganda maneuver aimed at two things:

1. Taking some of the dramatic edge off the Monday meeting here between Mr. Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden.

2. Establishing an impression throughout the world that Russia is intent upon reviving the "spirit of Geneva," created at the summit conference last July.

One Hurt in 3-Car Crash Near Union

One person was slightly injured and three others escaped injury Friday night in a 3-car collision at the intersection of Madison and Jefferson streets in front of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Sandra Smith, 18, of 115 S. Governor St., riding in one of the cars, received minor injuries when she was thrown against the dashboard. She was taken to Mercy Hospital, X-rayed, and immediately released.

Police said the accident occurred when a car driven by Tom Smith, 16, brother of Sandra, pulled out of the parking lot next to the Union.

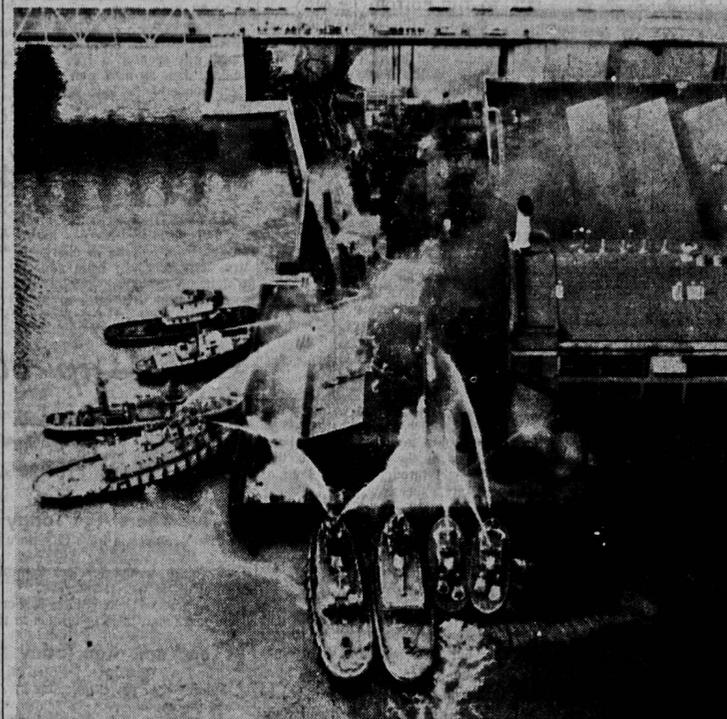

A car driven by Fred Spielhagen, 329 Hutchinson Ave., moving north on Madison Street, hit the Smith car broadside in the middle of the intersection.

The impact of the collision spun the car driven by Tom Smith into one operated by Earl Smith, A3, Gary, Ind. Earl Smith's car was stopped at the intersection on Jefferson Street.

$1-Million Fire in L.A. Flood

FIRE BOATS from the Long Beach and Los Angeles fire departments pour streams of water on a blaze that broke out in the Ford Motor Co. here during the recent floods. The fire started after an explosion, caused when oil-covered waters swept into the plant and short-circuited an electrical transformer. The main plant was not involved and two persons were reported injured as workers had stayed home from work because of flood conditions. STORY: Page 6.

Will He or Won't He?

For the past year one question has overshadowed all American political activity: Will President Eisenhower run for re-election?

Most Americans thought the question was answered last September, when the President suffered a heart attack. His excellent recovery, however, renewed the speculation.

All news analysts, columnists and commentators have speculated about the president's candidacy. Some have declared flatly that he will or won't run. Others offer good reasons why he will or won't run. Members of the United Press Washington bureau expressed a 2 to 1 opinion last week that the president would not run.

The truth is that no one knows. The president has said, and there is no reason to doubt his word, that he has not made up his mind.

Nevertheless, the speculation and predicting continues. Seldom before in American journalism has so much been written and said by so many who knew so little.

Some say that his decision to remain in the New Hampshire and Illinois primaries is a sign. They should remember that ex-President Truman also allowed his name to be entered in the New Hampshire primary of 1952, long after he had decided not to seek re-election.

There are plenty of reasons why the president might not seek re-election.

1. The nation is in excellent shape domestically. There are no international crises on the horizon. In this situation, the president might convince himself that he isn't needed.

2. The president is 65. At the end of a second term he would be 70. He has said that he must avoid fatigue for the rest of his life. And the presidency is the nation's most tiring job. President Eisenhower is not a man to shirk duty. But if he feels that he cannot give full time to his job, he will not seek to retain it.

3. The president has served his country most of his adult life. He retired once, but was called back to serve it again. He has a sense of duty, but he could say truthfully that he has done more than his duty.

There are strong arguments for the prediction that the president will run.

The sense of duty cannot be overlooked. The president, no doubt, feels that the continuation of a Republican administration would be best for the United States.

He must realize that he is the best chance the Republicans have of retaining control of the government. If Adlai Stevenson is the Democratic nominee, Mr. Eisenhower may be the only chance the Republicans will have.

The president has said that he would announce his decision as soon as he decides himself what it will be. This is encouraging.

But should he announce it early this year? If he announces early that he has decided not to run, the Republican party will be torn into the Nixon faction, the Knowland faction, the Knight faction, the Herter faction, the McCarthy faction, and the Dewey faction.

The longer this split remains, the more bitter the feelings within the Republican party will become. If the president announces late that he will not run, this may be avoided.

If the president gives a "no" answer early, the split in the party will have an adverse effect on the president's program in congress.

A late answer will have adverse effects, also. The Republican party has no candidate that can compare with Stevenson, who appears to have the Democratic nomination sewed up. The party will need time to build up candidates to cope with Stevenson. They won't be able to do this if they do not know of the president's intentions until a few weeks before the convention at San Francisco.

But, if the president . . .

Like everyone else, we are just speculating. We won't even try to reach a conclusion.

Fires in the Freeze

January is usually the coldest month of the year in Iowa City. It is the worst month in which to fight a fire. The water freezes on the fireman's clothes. The cold weather numbs his hands, making maximum efficiency impossible.

Freezing weather just isn't the time to engage in a wet business like fire-fighting. So, naturally, Iowa City has been having its worst fires in January.

In January, 1955, a warehouse in the rear of the Johnson County Creamery burned to the ground, causing $5,000 worth of damage. Firemen fought the blaze for four hours.

Then, on January 28, came the $350,000 Community Center fire — one of the worst blazes in Iowa City's history. The temperature was near the zero mark as the fire department tried for six hours to stop that fire.

Last Saturday, with the temperature at three degrees above zero, the Griffin home at 532 Olive Court was gutted by fire. These three fires, along with the SUI Laundry fire of last fall, have been Iowa City's hottest and costliest over the past year.

January has four days to go yet. Keep your fingers crossed.

Unwise Movie Censorship

For many years the movie industry has policed itself through a code of self-censorship. The Motion Picture Association of America screens controversial movies and applies its approval or disapproval or censorship to them. This opinion of the MPA carries much weight with theater companies, although it cannot prohibit a movie from being shown.

Part of the MPA's code censures movies that deal with drug addiction. This was why "The Man With A Golden Arm," starring Frank Sinatra and dealing with dope addiction, received the MPA's disapproval.

"The Man With A Golden Arm" does not glorify dope addiction. Rather, it shows all of its horrors. No sensible person who sees the movie will have any yearning to try dope of any kind.

Dope addiction is a problem. It has been discussed by Congress, local governments, newspapers, and magazines. More light must be thrown upon it if it is to be wiped out. Nothing will be gained by not mentioning it.

Moreover, any form of censorship halts the flow of ideas. Any board of censorship can keep new ideas bottled up. Time moves too fast for any code of censorship. Too often today's heresy becomes tomorrow's rule.

Obscenity in the motion picture industry has never been a great problem. The theater owner can refuse to show movies he deems in poor taste. The public does not have to see them. And the courts are much better equipped to handle the problem of obscenity than is any other board or group of people.

Letters to the Editor Readers find fault with Daily Iowan music critic; Fans urge SUI vs. Iowa State basketball game

TO THE EDITOR: I believe William Donaldson's elephant-in-bloomers review of the University orchestra's Jan. 25 concert needs some public airing.

The clue to Mr. Donaldson's qualifications as a reviewer first becomes apparent when he suggests that the Dvorak Cello Concerto is a "little-known" item. The fact that this concerto has been in the standard orchestral repertoire for the past 50 years, and the fact that it receives numerous performances throughout the United States each year, is apparently unknown to Donaldson. That he should not know this is nothing against him. But he ought to say so when he reviews it.

Next, the reader learns that Wallingford Riegger (who recently received the New York Critics Circle Award) wrote a piece "more like a roll call for orchestra members than a concert piece."

What does this mean? — if it is supposed to mean anything. He says that Riegger's piece is technically commendable. What does this mean? Is Mr. Donaldson prepared to show evidence of his qualifications for judging whether music like Riegger's is technically commendable or not? Or is Donaldson simply confused—like his mad elephant-in-bloomers metaphor?

I submit this letter with great seriousness, because I know that an important function of the Iowan is to give students journalistic training. I don't wish to belabor Donaldson's qualifications but surely he has, by now, received sufficient training in dashing off musical reviews while the presses are held. Perhaps he, too, would like another beat. He has harassed enough, and there must be other journalism students who need training in meeting deadlines.

However, if Mr. Donaldson is determined to be a music critic, he needs to learn that his copy will take on authority only to the extent that he, himself, is informed. It is everyone's right to voice his opinion. But when one has the freedom of public utterance, his qualifications ought to be a matter of public record.

Leroy Ostransky, G 430 E. Bloomington

TO THE EDITOR: It is unfortunate that a Daily Iowan critic who doesn't happen to like a certain kind of classical music chooses to let his dislike color his view of the performance.

That appears to have happened in the review of Wednesday night's SUI Symphony Orchestra concert. I don't care particularly for Shostakovich's music, but I thought the "Overture Festivo" was especially enjoyable and that the orchestra handled the selection very well indeed. And, if my ears did not deceive me, the orchestra gave Professor Koelbel splendid support in the Dvorak Concerto.

I am writing all this to help repair the unfortunate and (to my mind) wrong impression that the critic must have made upon Daily Iowan readers. If the orchestra played badly Wednesday night, my sense of what constitutes a good performance has become sadly warped.

Professor Dorrance S. White Department of Classics 114 Schaeffer Hall

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Reviewer William Donaldson did not say that the orchestra played badly. His comments were on the selection of music, not on the performance of the SUI Symphony Orchestra. In fact he said quite the opposite about the conductor and orchestra: "... they were fully emphasized by James Dixon's forceful conducting. The group, except possibly for a few weak points in the string section, was at a high standard, and the trumpet work was outstanding and responsible for much of the performance's success."

DEAR GOVERNOR HOEGH, A short time ago we heard about your suggestion for raising money for a United States Olympic Team by encouraging various basketball teams throughout the state to donate the proceeds from a basketball game. To us this is an excellent suggestion for we are certain the sports fans of Iowa will enthusiastically support such a venture.

It is obvious that a great deal of money is needed to finance the athletes of the United States such that they can properly represent their country in the Olympic Games. We would like to make a suggestion for another fund raising drive which we feel sure could be carried out successfully. As you know, Iowa is fortunate in having two excellent college basketball teams which have gained national recognition. Since these teams, the Iowa State Cyclones and University of Iowa Hawkeyes, do not play each other during their regular seasons, we believe a post season benefit game played at the Veteran's Memorial Auditorium in Des Moines would provide Iowa sports fans an opportunity to really get behind the Olympic Fund Drive.

The possibility of making this a doubleheader game using two more Iowa teams such as Drake and Cornell would give Iowa sports fans an opportunity to see several of their own college teams in action and also an opportunity to support American athletes in Olympic competition.

With this in mind we are sending copies of this letter to various sports, educational and public figures in the state of Iowa in the hope that with your approval the scheduling of this game can be arranged.

TO THE EDITOR: In spite of the many excellent improvements in The Daily Iowan, one thing still disturbs us. We can find no sensible organization of the various notices and calendar columns. Three of the columns seem to cover about the same ground. Their titles even suggest the same subject matter — General Notices, University Briefs, and SUI items. Let us take Thursday, Jan. 19's Iowan as an example. The talk by Professor Knowlton is listed both on the Calendar and in the Briefs. Also, the lecture by John Scott is listed both on the Calendar and in the Notices. We could give many other examples from other days even more flagrantly disorganized.

Rather than labor the point we respectfully suggest a very simple solution. Just list everything which is to occur at a specific time on one general calendar and list everything else under a column headed "Notices."

Perhaps one obstacle to instituting the system we propose is that the present University Calendar is "official," meaning that the events on it have been scheduled in the President's office.

If it is necessary to designate some items in The Daily Iowan as official (for some reason unknown to us), why not simply mark these items with an asterisk on a comprehensive calendar.

Instituting the simplified system would save space since it would prevent overlapping and it would make the reader's choice much easier by consolidating the listing of events.

TO THE EDITOR: Our Iowa City papers, the Press Citizen and the Daily Iowan, have done a good job of placing vividly before us the heroism, character and deeds of the little girl who saved the lives of five from death by fire.

Often such worth while things are printed just as news, especially when not local. This time the articles had human interest, and the reporters and editors of both papers are to be commended for it.

The picture of the brave firemen, although obscure, working strenuously over the little girl and her baby brother, spoke volumes. They saved two lives — and no reward.

Ruth Ann preached sermons. She said she prayed, then rushed to the telephone and put in the call. People from distant states are writing to her. Each who helped or contributed in any way has been reached by the heroic deed of this little girl through one or both of our city papers.

So thank you Press Citizen and Daily Iowan for making us wake up!

Old Capitol Remembers

One Year Ago Today The proposed visit of relatives of imprisoned American servicemen to Red China was banned. President Eisenhower proclaimed that his Formosa policy is purely defensive.

Five Years Ago Today Temperatures in Iowa City were predicted to go as low as 15 below zero. A House Armed Services Committee was reported considering the draft of World War II veterans. Two units of United States soldiers came within 15 miles of Red-held Seoul and found little opposition in the area.

Ten Years Ago Today The Iowa Hawkeyes defeated Minnesota in an overtime game, 63 to 61. Murray Wier saved the game by sinking a shot with but two seconds left in the game. 19,000 Ford workers were back at work with a 15 per cent wage boost.

Twenty Years Ago Today A coal shortage threatened the hard-hit midwest area. Coal dealers in Des Moines were reportedly getting further and further behind on deliveries as the supply grew shorter. President Roosevelt announced that he would make an official reply to Al Smith's charge that the New Deal was faithless to campaign promises.

Indian Crowds Hear Evangelist Graham

A crowd of 50,000 persons heard American Evangelist Billy Graham on one night of a three-night series of meetings in Madras, India, this week.

Graham held morning meetings at 7 a.m. all three days for ministers only. Over 5,000 attended. Many of them were missionaries stationed in India.

Graham slowed his dramatic delivery to a phrase or sentence at a time with long pauses for interpreters. The messages were translated into Telegu and Tamil dialects, only two of the hundreds of Indian dialects.

Christians in India
Graham said, "Many Indians seem to have the idea that Christianity is a western religion. That is wrong. There were Christian churches in India before America was discovered. Christ was an easterner. His skin was not as light as mine and it was not as dark as yours."

During his three days in Madras, Billy spoke to more than 100,000 Indians. Graham's trip through the Far East, however, did not start out so well. Graham was welcomed to Bombay with a bloody orgy of mob violence in which 50 were killed and hundreds wounded. The civil disturbance was caused by argument over who will rule Bombay. Most officials said that the uprising was Communist inspired.

Meetings Canceled
Graham's first meetings had to be called off. It is said that Graham feels religion is not the answer for India. India is the most religious nation on earth. The Hindus have over 30,000 gods.

Graham is presenting his message—Jesus Christ, the only hope for the world—primarily to a handful of Christians with the hope that they will carry it to the 400 million people of India.

Church Long Established
The Christian church of India is long established. It has about 10 million members, half of them Roman Catholics. When the Protestant church was established in India the American continent was inhabited only by animals and savages.

Tradition says Thomas, one of the 12 disciples, made a missionary journey to Cranganore, India, in 52 A.D. He was supposed to have established seven churches on the Malabar coast of India. Mar Thomas Church, which today has over 2 million members, is thought to be an offshoot of the journey of Thomas.

28 Youths Will Lead Worshippers

Twenty-eight young people will be responsible for the Sunday morning worship at First Christian Church in observance of Youth Week, Jan. 29 to Feb. 5. The three youth groups of the church will have programs for both the regular church worship at 10:30 a.m. and the annual Youth Banquet at 6 p.m. on Sunday.

The Chi Rho consisting of junior high school age youth and the Christian Youth Fellowship, high school age, carry the major planning of both projects.

Bob Clarke, P. I. Ida Grove, of the DSF and Diane Mortensen of the CYF will lead the morning worship of the Youth Week theme: "Our Citizenship Under Christ." Three youths bring the morning message on the subject, "Roadmap of Christian Citizenship." Ronald Cuppy presents the text, "Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's and to God the things that are God's."

Rob Wikel of the CYF will present "Milestones." Sherry Cooper, A3, Iowa City, of the DSF concludes the morning message with "Signposts." The youth committee plans special music. The responsibilities of ushers, deacons and elders will be carried by the young people directed by Harold Hill, chairman of the Worship department of the church.

Chi Rho youth serving as ushers are Jeffrey Stober, Jerry Jones, Ben Hedges, Lynn Hofrichter, CYF boys in training to serve as deacons are Rollie Holmes, Ronald Shalla, James Hedges, Allen Hedges, Kenneth Clatterbaugh, Ronald Whitaker, Daryl Cuppy, and Berton Gorwood.

The DSF provides for greeters, Donna Hill, N1, Leon; Bill DeBruyn, A2, Ottumwa; Ethel Christensen, and Edward McLachlan, M4, Clinton. These CYF girls serve in the coffee hour: Linda Wilmet, Beverly Shalla, Joyce Donham and Norma Gerling.

The Annual Youth Banquet at 6 p.m. is planned on the theme, "No Hands But Ours" with four foreign students of SUI sharing their experiences and viewpoints. These include Ida Van Dam, A1, The Netherlands; Penuel Malafa, L1, Nigeria; Antoun Mikhal, A3, Egypt; and Sam Ling, G, Formosa. Master of ceremonies is Ron Whitaker.

Lutherans Collect Clothing for Needy

A two week clothing drive, with the theme, "You Are There," was announced Friday by First English Lutheran Church.

The clothing collected here will be distributed throughout the world by Lutheran World Relief to needy people regardless of creed.

Bernard Confer, executive secretary of Lutheran World Relief, said, "In our complex world, the simple deeds often carry special significance. To him who goes cold, a clothing gift makes an effective witness. Given to a needy person, without our asking for anything in return, a gift of clothing makes plain our Christian concern!"

"Children's clothing, blankets and shoes, in good repair, are especially needed. Military clothing can not be sent," said the Rev. George T. L. Jacobsen, minister of First English Lutheran Church. Mrs. Carl Lillick is the congregational chairman for the appeal.

Set Book Drive For Asian Students

The YMCA and the YWCA will sponsor a book collection drive from Jan. 31 to Feb. 6, for books to be sent to students in Asian countries.

Collection boxes for the books will be placed in the dormitories and other SUI buildings. The fraternities and sororities will be contacted to contribute books.

Books may also be taken to the YMCA or YWCA office in Iowa Memorial Union.

Nigerians Flock To Capital To Greet Queen Elizabeth

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—Thousands of barefooted Nigerians Friday trudged hot and dusty miles from the bush country into Lagos to welcome Queen Elizabeth II, who will arrive here today for a 20-day ceremonial visit.

A million persons, including Lagos's 300,000, are expected to be on hand to cheer the first British sovereign to visit this colony.

Friday afternoon dusky squatters, many under umbrellas to protect themselves from the sun, staked claim to a yard of space on the 11-mile route from the airport to Government House, where the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh will stay.

The royal couple will travel 2,500 miles by train and plane touring Nigeria, a country the size of Spain with 32 million people.

50 Apply for Political Trip

Nearly 50 applications had been received Friday afternoon in the SUI Institute of Public Affairs as the deadline passed for Iowa college students to apply for the eight remaining week-long political internships in Washington, D.C., this spring.

Applications had been received from students at a dozen Iowa colleges and additional ones, mailed before the deadline, were expected to arrive in Iowa City early next week. Robert F. Ray, director of the Iowa Citizenship Clearing House, said.

The internships, offering a week to observe the federal government in action as guests of Iowa Congressman Fred Schwengel, are sponsored by the Iowa clearing house, in conjunction with Schwengel and the Republican and Democratic parties in Iowa.

Two "political interns" spent the past week in Washington and eight more—four Democrats and four Republicans—will make the trip while Congress is in session this spring. Ray said. Students in Washington this week were Donald Mathews, Ft. Dodge, Iowa State College Democrat, and Stanley Henderson, Waukon, Coe College Republican.

The 26 speakers in "American Public Addresses" include political leaders, ministers, teachers, popular lecturers, a journalist, a labor leader and orators of special occasions.

Prof. Baird says the selections are not to be considered the "best of thousands of addresses. But they are a 'mirror of the American mind, reflecting national issues and critical movements of American history.'"

N.Y. Church Feuds Over 2 Clergymen

NEW YORK, N.Y. (AP)—In a way, a church is like a small town. It is a place of close associations, habits and memories, loyalties and jealousies.

Out of such elements has arisen conflict that has torn the heart of a venerable Brooklyn church.

At communion service in Holy Trinity Episcopal Church two weeks ago, two clergymen competed for worshippers.

"It was beyond belief," said Lewis G. Reynolds, a retired school teacher and a longtime leader in the parish.

Usually cited as the reason for the clash is the "outside" political activities of the Rev. William Howard Melish. Underlying this, however, is a deeper-rooted story of personal emotions.

"For the past few years, I haven't had any time for activities outside the church," said the Rev. Mr. Melish.

He has occupied the church pulpit, on a kind of makeshift basis, since 1949, the same year he was named chairman of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship.

That was when the bishop of the diocese, the Rt. Rev. James P. DeWolfe, acting at the request of the then-church vestry, removed the Rev. Mr. Melish's father, the Rev. Dr. John Howard Melish, as rector.

The reason given: That the Rev. Dr. Melish had defended the alleged "outside" left-wing activities of his son, who was serving as his assistant.

The ouster, upheld after a long court feud, caused repercussions in the congregation. Bonds between it and the Rev. Dr. Melish were not easily shaken by church law.

For nearly half a century, he had been their rector. He had baptized, married, counseled and taught most of the living, and had spoken over the graves of their dead.

Quickly the congregation elected a new vestry, the governing body of laymen. It named the Rev. Dr. Melish as rector emeritus, with the right to remain in the rectory, and nominated the son as rector.

Bishop DeWolfe declined to approve the younger man's selection.

For seven years the dispute persisted. Last week, six of the nine present vestry members voted to bring in a regular rector whom the bishop would approve.

"Our motive was simply to do something so the church would have a real rector," said Reynolds, who took part in the action.

"We have been, to a large extent, cut off from the diocese, with no representation or cooperation. It has hurt the church and still is hurting it."

When Bishop DeWolfe sent a temporary minister, the Rev. Robert K. Thomas, to fill the church pulpit two weeks ago, the competitive worship services—led by him and the Rev. Mr. Melish—took place.

Finally, the Rev. Mr. Thomas walked out and about 40 of the estimated 400 persons followed.

The others remained as the Rev. Melish continued. And from a side pew, his 81-year-old father watched, his hands trembling.

Court review of a dispute as to whether a quorum of the vestry were present when it requested approval by the bishop of the new rector is set for Jan. 31. Until then the Rev. Mr. Melish will retain temporary control.

Brownell Says Federal Courts Are Overloaded

NEW YORK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr., Friday said "almost chronic" congestion of the federal courts may become "a disgrace to our nation."

Brownell made the statement in an address to the 79th annual meeting of the New York State Bar Assn. He said he is asking the presidents of all state bar groups to meet with the Justice Department next spring to see what can be done to reduce the backlog of federal cases.

Brownell said the backlog of federal cases is "a disgrace to our nation."

Germany, Finland Score High—

U.S. Fails 1st Olympic Tests

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP)—A German and Finland's skiing "iron man" raced to the first gold medals and America experienced her darkest Olympic hour Friday in the seventh Winter Games. Ossi Reichert, a 30-year-old Berlin cafeteria manager, dethroned the United States' Mrs. Andrea Mead Lawrence in the women's gislalom ski race. Veikko Hakulinen, a wiry Finnish lumberjack, became a repeat champion by winning the exhausting 30-kilometer (18 miles, 1,128 yards) cross country ski marathon. They were the first titles decided as full-blown competition began. Snow fell like manna from Heaven on the starved peaks of the Dolomite Alps but even this could not bring consolation to the American camp, humbled in events in which it hoped to make a standout showing. The U.S. hockey team, rated just back of the favored Canadians and Russians, was upset by Czechoslovakia 4-3, beaten by a late goal, and now must whip Poland Saturday or face elimination in the preliminary round robin. Mrs. Lawrence, a 23-year-old Parshall, Colo., housewife who has borne three children since her double Olympic triumph four years ago, could finish no better than a tie for fourth in the giant slalom while three other U.S. contenders were far out of the running.

Uncle Sam's two-man bobsleds, Waightman (Bud) Washbond of East Hartford, Conn., and Art Tyler of Rochester, N. Y., fared miserably on their two opening runs down Cortina's twisting, 1,700-meter (1 mile, 109 yards) bobsled track and dropped well back of the streaking Italians. Jet Pilot Speeds

An Italian jet pilot, mustachioed Lamberto Dalla Costa, outsped rivals from 15 nations with a total time of 2:44.45 on the two runs and his only serious challenger was a pint-sized teammate, Eugenio Monti, second at 2:45.26.

Washbond, with the 250-pound Fat Biesiadecki of Ware, Mass., at the brake, had runs of 1:24.82 and 1:24.15 for a total of 2:48.97. Tyler, accompanied by Edgar Seymour of Rochester, registered 1:25.41 and 1:23.77 for 2:49.18.

Russia Favorite At the close of the day's activities, Russia, a strong favorite in its first Winter Games appearance, was tied with Finland and Germany for the lead in unofficial team standings with 10 points each. Austria had 9, Sweden 5 and the U.S. and Switzerland 2 1/2 each.

There is no official team point scoring but the traditional formula gives 10 points for a championship and allots points on a 5-4-3-2-1 basis to the next five finishers. Figure Skating Champ Practices After Injury

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP)—Tenley Albright of Newton Center, Mass., the world figure skating champion who cut her ankle in a rehearsal Jan. 19, took her first workout with bandages Friday.

Later her coach, Miribel Vinson, said: "Tenley is skating fine. I don't think anyone could have beaten her today." She is favored to win the women's figure skating event, starting Monday. Pro Coach Quits Post

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Lapchick, who brought the traditions of the original Celtics into modern professional basketball, Friday gave up on the nerve-wracking business of pro coaching.

His resignation as coach of the New York Knickerbockers, to become effective at the end of the National Basketball Assn. season, was followed by strong indications that University of North Carolina Coach Frank McQuire may succeed him and that Lapchick may return to college coaching.

Lapchick said he was quitting because of the strain of constant travel and the long NBA season. He pointed out that a college coach can stay at home most of the time and has only about 25 games as compared to 90 or more for the pros.

Now in the middle of his ninth season as Knickerbocker coach, Lapchick said he might stay in basketball, possibly as a college coach but wouldn't decide until he had talked things over with his family.

Lapchick, 56, joined the original Celtics in 1922. When that club was disbanded in 1927, he moved to Cleveland and Toledo, then reorganized the Celtics in 1930, touring with them until 1936, when he became coach at St. John's, Brooklyn.

The Waterloo quintet set a pace in the opening minutes which staggered the Iowa City team. The Irish were kept in the game during the first quarter by the shooting of Streb and the play-making ability of Ryan. The final three quarters saw the remainder of the team come to life and the scoring was fairly even from then on.

St. Pat's was just unable to match OLVA basket for basket. The Irish had as many shots at the hoop as the home team, but were unable to capitalize on their attempts.

The local team will have an opportunity to avenge the defeat Monday night as the same two teams will meet on the St. Pat's floor.

CASCADE — St. Mary's of Iowa City remained unbeaten last night, but had its share of scares in winning a close game from St. Martin's of Cascade.

Final score in the contest was 62-58 in favor of the Ramblers. However, this doesn't tell the whole story, since Cascade led throughout the contest. St. Mary's didn't go into the lead until about halfway through the final period.

Miss Walljasper The Iowa City quintet missed the services of Walljasper, but went on to victory despite the handicap. Dave Maher led the Ramblers in scoring with 20 points, followed by Don Lumsden who collected 14.

Cascade's Wayne Ressler stood out offensively and defensively, scoring 28 points and playing a smooth floor game. Dan Menster was second high for St. Martin's with 15 points and Mike O'Shea found the range for five field goals.

Lead at Quarter St. Martin's led at the quarter mark by five points, 19-14. At half time they still had a four point margin, 35-31. The first half saw St. Mary's taking many long shots and missing more than their share.

In the third quarter St. Martin's maintained its pace and led 50-46 at the close of the period. The long shots with some regularly toward the end of the quarter and the tide showed signs of turning.

Ramblers Find Range In the final period, St. Mary's continued to find the range and the home team cooled off considerably. At the midway point in the quarter the Ramblers tied the score and then took the lead.

St. Mary's was helped greatly in its winning effort by reserve guard John Cahill who came in late in the final quarter and connected for eight points out of three field goal attempts and two free tosses.

St. Martin's controlled the rebounds through most of the game and the Iowa City team was forced to sink nearly every shot at the basket in order to stay in the game.

Acting Commission Chairman Lou Radzienda said that since both principals had not signed for the bout, as was scheduled here Friday, there was no need to investigate Basilio's reported illness.

The Illinois Commission secretary, Pete Miller, had recommended earlier that the commission should send a doctor to Basilio's home town near Syracuse to determine the extent of his illness.

Bluehawks Slip by West Branch, 58-54

By GEORGE WINE

University High turned back a West Branch upset bid Friday night, 58-54, to remain in contention for the Eastern Iowa Conference title.

Trailing 12 points midway in the third quarter, West Branch kept pecking away at the Bluehawk lead and with 2:30 left in the contest, had the margin narrowed to one point, 52-51.

Then Bill Brechler sank a pair of free throws and Jim Scott hit a drive in for U-High to take off some of the pressure.

Madsen Scores Ron Madsen drilled one from close range for the Bears and Scott countered with another lay-up to give the Bluehawks a five point advantage with 1:15 left to play.

U-High, with Brechler leading the way, stalled out the remaining time, although Tom Bryson managed one more gift toss for the visitors.

Except for a brief time in the third period, the Bluehawks never enjoyed any comfortable advantage.

Trade Baskets The two teams traded baskets at a breathless pace in the first half, but Al Scott scored a pair of quick field goals toward the end to give U-High a 33-29 lead at intermission.

The five and a half minutes passed in the third quarter before Don Thomas hit two free throws to break the scoring ice for the Bears in the second half. Meanwhile, U-High had run its margin to 41-29.

Plays Usual Role Jim Scott played his usual role in leading the Bluehawks in point production with 12, besides chipping in with 12, besides playing an outstanding floor game.

Bryson, who is certainly one of the better ball players in the conference, led the losers with an even 20, and Burt Thumm had 14.

This victory brings the U-High league record to 10-2, and keeps the Blues right behind Wilton Junction, which has lost but a single game.

Middlecoff, Demaref Even at 133 in Golf Tournament

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Cary Middlecoff, with a brilliant display of iron shots, pulled up even with Jimmy Demaref at the 36-hole mark of the $15,000 Thunderbird invitational golf tournament Friday, each with a 133 total.

Middlecoff toured the par 36-35-71 Thunderbird Country Club course in 35-31-66, and Demaref, the first round leader, with a gallant comeback on the back nine, posted 37-32-69. Jimmy had a 64 Thursday and Middlecoff a 67.

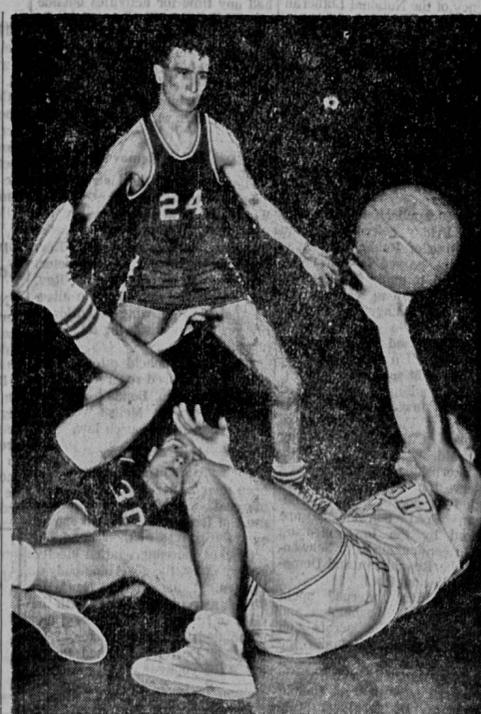

Go in Third Round Thus the two go into the third round today with a two stroke lead over their nearest challenger, Doug Ford, whose 69 gave him 135.

Tied at 136 were Julius Boros, with a 70, and Bill Ogden of Chicago, with a 66.

Demaref gave the gallery a thrill, and almost stroked himself into the undisputed lead, with an approach to the 18th green that left the ball three and a half feet from the pin. But when he putted, the ball rimmed and all but circled the cup and hung on the lip.

Only 13 players remained under par 142 after Friday's round for the 36 holes, compared with 26 who broke the 71 Thursday.

Jack Fleck of Davenport, 1955 National Open champion, continued to have his troubles. He turned in 40-37-77 for a total of 149, second highest score on the board.

AFTER A SCRAMBLE for the all-important rebound, Bluehawks' Schoenfelder and guard Bert Thumm from West Branch find themselves on the floor, while Thumm's teammate Ted Bryson looks on. The ball escaped them all and rolled down the floor. University High School won the contest, 58-54.

DAVENPORT — A third quarter surge by Davenport made the difference, as the Bluedevils defeated Iowa City High here Friday night, 65-52. In this quarter Davenport dropped in 24 points as compared to Iowa City's 14.

During the first half the contest was close and rugged, the hosts usually having only a few point lead. The halftime ended, 28-18, in favor of the Bluedevils.

Ken Denger, the fast Davenport forward, scored 14 points to lead the scoring for the game. Iowa City's high man was Jim Luper with 12 markers.

For the Bluedevils this was their sixth win in seven conference starts, and the second win over the Iowa City club.

For the season Davenport now posts a 8 won, 5 lost mark.

During the first half Iowa City played a slow and deliberate possession ball game. Davenport was not able to use its fast break effectively and many fouls were called.

After the halftime the Bluedevils seemed to find themselves, were able to break fast, and maintain a comfortable lead. Iowa City came back in the closing minutes in a vain attempt to salvage the ball game. This attempt failed.

Iowa City's Jim Luper, and Dave McCuskey were the main rebounders for the visitors. For Davenport Ken Denger took the rebounding honors.

OLVA Roms Over St. Pat's, 70-47; Ryan Drops in 14

By Special Correspondent

WATERLOO — St. Pat's of Iowa City couldn't seem to find the mark last night as they bowed to Our Lady of Victory Academy here, 70-47. The Irish scored once in the first minute, followed by a six minute lapse from which they never recovered.

OLVA upped their lead to 20 points in the late minutes of the first half, a margin they maintained until a final surge netted them the lopsided victory.

Francis Ryan was high scorer for St. Pat's, garnering 14 points. OLVA had three players who outscored him, however: Phillips had 20, Glessman 18 and Vollenweider 17.

The Waterloo quintet set a pace in the opening minutes which staggered the Iowa City team. The Irish were kept in the game during the first quarter by the shooting of Streb and the play-making ability of Ryan. The final three quarters saw the remainder of the team come to life and the scoring was fairly even from then on.

St. Pat's was just unable to match OLVA basket for basket. The Irish had as many shots at the hoop as the home team, but were unable to capitalize on their attempts.

The local team will have an opportunity to avenge the defeat Monday night as the same two teams will meet on the St. Pat's floor.

1st Pedestrian Safety Forms Adopted Here

Iowa City Friday became the first city in the state to adopt a new pedestrian accident interview form.

Johnny Lange, director of safety for the Motor Club of Iowa, presented Police Chief Oliver A. White with a supply of the forms Thursday.

The report will be filled out by pedestrians involved in accidents on city streets.

Confidential Forms
The reports are confidential and will give the city information concerning traffic hazards, such as bad intersections and blind corners.

The interview report is divided into four categories: physical conditions, the driver, traffic questions and the pedestrian.

Physical conditions include the weather, condition of the street and the direction of the car involved.

Questions Pedestrian
The driver section will include such questions as what the driver did to avoid the accident.

Questions asked the pedestrian will include his physical and mental condition at the time of the accident and his reaction to avoid the accident.

The traffic section questions the pedestrian about his habits when crossing the street.

Taught at SUI
Wood was a member of the SUI faculty from 1934 until he became ill in November, 1941. He died at University Hospitals Feb. 12, 1942.

Entry blanks can be obtained from the Art Gallery, Public Library, Cedar Rapids.

Ike Sleeps More, Swims, Has Shorter Office Hours

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is sleeping about eight hours a night instead of his former six and taking almost daily swims in the White House pool, which he seldom used before his heart attack.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, gave reporters that information Friday in response to their inquiries about how the President's convalescence has changed his daily routine.

Carries Putter
Swimming and painting are substituting for the round or two of golf the President tried to squeeze in every week. The doctors still won't permit full-scale golf. But Hagerty said Mr. Eisenhower often walks around in the White House with a putter in his hands.

When Mr. Eisenhower returned from a 12-day Florida vacation early this month, he said he was ready to resume the full duties of the presidency. He has been back in harness since that time, but Hagerty noted that his office hours are shorter. He receives fewer callers, and his staff has been trying to relieve him of "unnecessary" tasks.

Typical Day
Hagerty gave this picture of a typical Eisenhower day: The President rises about 7 a.m. and has breakfast from a tray in his bedroom, or goes to the family dining room.

He has been arriving at his office around 8, and devoting the first hour to conferences with staff members, including his chief aide, Sherman Adams.

9 a.m. Appointments
Before his illness the President's appointments used to start as early as 7:30, but nowadays they seldom commence before 9.

At noon, Mr. Eisenhower takes a rest of about two hours after a light lunch.

Sometimes he takes a swim before lunch, other days he goes to the pool late in the afternoon.

Visitors Till 5
About 2 p.m. he confers with staff members, then sees visitors again until around 5. Only rarely does he stay as late as 6 p.m. anymore.

Dinner usually is served between 7 and 7:30. Afterwards Mr. Eisenhower sometimes sees a motion picture in the White House theater, reads, watches television, listens to the radio, or takes it easy with his family.

He is almost always in bed by 10 or a bit later, but, Hagerty said, "That's nothing new — he's always done that."

Calls Pearson Story a Lie

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, Friday denounced as a complete falsehood and a "scurrilous lie" a columnist's statement that the President had intervened in the Al Sarena timberland case.

Hagerty referred to a column by Drew Pearson which appeared in subscriber newspapers Thursday. Pearson wrote:

"I have always wondered why Secretary McKay was in such a hurry to sell this valuable piece of Douglas fir worth over $200,000 for only about $2,270, on the flimsy excuse that it was needed for gold mining."

'Generous Doug'
"McKay, though nicknamed 'Generous Doug,' is not usually quite that generous. In this case, however, he had an interesting little note direct from the President."

"Buried in the Senate Interior Committee files is a letter, which was picked up when the Senate subpoenaed the records of Secretary McKay."

"It is from a friend of President Eisenhower's addressed to him, asking that the Al Sarena section of the Rogue River National Forest be released to the McDonald family."

Claimed Ike Wrote
"Across the letter in his own handwriting President Eisenhower had scribbled 'Dear Doug.' Then followed a personal request from Ike to Doug to see what he could do about granting the Rogue River request."

"There is no such letter in existence," Hagerty said.

A Senate-House committee is investigating the transaction under which 300 acres of the Rogue River National Forest in Oregon were patented in January, 1954 to Al Sarena Mines, Inc.

Tokyo Rose Out Today; She Faces Deportation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Deportation proceedings are planned against Tokyo Rose, the siren-voiced, American-born propaganda broadcaster for Japan during World War II.

Tokyo Rose, whose real name is Mrs. Iva Ikuko Toguri D'Aquino, was convicted of trying to lure GIs into deserting their lonely Pacific outposts.

She is scheduled to leave the Federal Women's Reformatory at Alderson, W.Va., today after completing a 10-year treason sentence, with time off for good behavior.

Deportation Warrant
Immigration officials plan to serve her with a deportation warrant to test the fine legal question of whether a natural-born American can be ordered out of this country.

Since the Revolutionary War there have been only nine treason convictions in civil courts and none was followed by deportation action, so far as available records show.

Immigration officials said Friday that Mrs. D'Aquino lost her American citizenship when she was convicted at San Francisco in 1949.

Will Be Paroled
Tokyo Rose will not be kept in custody by the Immigration Service on her release from prison. She will be paroled pending hearing, so that she may proceed to Chicago with relatives who have arranged to meet her outside Alderson this morning. The deportation hearing is tentatively set to be held in Chicago.

Tokyo Rose, now 39, was identified as one of a half-dozen women who staged the Tokyo Rose broadcasts over the powerful government radio. All of the other participants were Japanese.

STOPS BUS, DIES

The child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Davis of Milwaukee, has been a patient in the hospital since last Saturday after being found in the sub-zero cold of her grandparents' home here.

Retrial Denied
DES MOINES (AP) — Three justices of the Iowa Supreme Court Friday denied the application of William G. Karston, 30, Hamilton, Ill., for a delay in his second trial on a murder charge, set to open at Bloomfield Monday.

Karston's attorney had asked that the trial be stayed pending an appeal to the Supreme Court from a verdict that Karston is mentally competent to stand trial a second time for the murder of Wendell Jones, 56, Pulaski farmer, July 25, 1954.

Worker Electrocutated

3 Days Left To Buy Plates

Penalties will be added to registration fees Wednesday as the sale of license plates in Johnson County enters its final three days today.

Due to the last-minute rush to meet the Feb. 1 deadline, the license bureau expects to run out of auto plates today.

Lumir W. Jansa, county treasurer, said earlier this week that the bureau would not close, even if its supply of plates is exhausted.

The county office ran out of commercial plates earlier this week. An expected shipment of commercial plates has not yet arrived.

The shortage of plates is due to a lag in production at the Anamosa Men's Reformatory.

The license bureau will be open today from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

He was alone in his car when it collided with one driven by Robert M. Stone, 30, Des Moines, a press representative for MGM pictures in Iowa and Nebraska. Stone, also alone, suffered minor injuries.

Crossley was assistant professor of music and director of glee clubs at Grinnell since 1952. He attended SUI during the 1953, 1955 summer sessions.

Shomer was killed late Friday when his car and one driven by John J. Kletsch, 67, Fairbank, collided near Westgate. Both were riding alone. Kletsch was not seriously injured. Westgate is in Fayette County northeast of Waterloo.

Alberts was killed near Calamus in Clinton County when his car veered to the left of the center line and into the path of a truck driven by George Klinghammer, Quasqueton. Klinghammer's truck jackknifed in front of another truck driven by L. C. Arnold, Cedar Rapids.

It's a Day the Firemen Won't Forget—

City Community Center Burned a Year Ago

By JOHN STEGMAN

One year ago today the Iowa City Community Center burned to a charred ruin.

It was a memorable day for the Iowa City Fire Department because the fire was so uncontrollable that nothing could be salvaged. The blaze caused about $300,000 in damages.

To make matters worse, the fire was fought in zero temperatures. Those who fought the blaze often found their gloves frozen to their hands.

No One Hurt

For nearly half a day firemen battled to put the fire out.

It's impossible to estimate how much water was used but the figure must be high. Three fire hydrants were in use with seven fire hoses connected to them.

Fortunately, no one who fought the fire was injured or suffered any ill effects of smoke or extreme cold.

Between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. the Community Center was engulfed by a roaring holocaust of flame. By 10:30 a.m., the main floor of the building was burning furiously and at noon, the roof, its supports weakened by the flames, collapsed.

Started in Basement

The fire was believed to have started in a wood-working shop to the rear of the building's basement.

It was first discovered by Robert A. Lee, director of the Iowa City Recreation Commission. Lee was placing a phone call when, about 9:45 a.m., the telephone line went dead.

He then went into the main floor gymnasium where two painters, Robert Roe and Jess Fulton reported that they had smelled smoke. Lee then inspected the basement where he found smoke rising from the east wall.

Thwarted by Smoke

Rushing upstairs, he told his secretary, Joan Hall, to phone the fire department. At 9:52 a.m., fire and police officials received the call.

Fire fighting efforts first were thwarted by the heavy smoke emerging from the basement. By this time, all fire fighting personnel and equipment was dispatched to the corner of Gilbert and College Streets.

The density of the smoke did not permit firemen to get close enough to the fire to battle it effectively and as a result, the blaze spread. Within half an hour, it reached the main floor.

Mostly of Wood

Many of the structural members of the interior of the building were of wood. The gymnasium floor was wooden. Once the flames reached the main floor, the odds were against any fire department attempting to save the building.

By the time the roof caved in, few spectators and firemen held much hope for salvaging the building, because the flames still raged out of control. Shortly after, the north wall sagged inward.

At 12:15 p.m., half of the south wall tumbled to ruin, and at the same time, part of the north wall gave in. The remaining portion of the north wall was battered in by firemen later in the afternoon.

Smoking at 2 p.m.

Smoke was still pouring from the remains of the building at 2 p.m., but it was evident to officials and the 2,000 spectators who had gathered by this time, that the fire was burning itself out.

By this time, the fire was under control, but the damage already had been done. It was evident that the building could never be used again and that nothing could be saved. There remained only the tedious task of extinguishing the fire.

On a fire of this size, the job took time, and it wasn't until 10 that evening that firemen could return to the station.

That evening, where Iowa City's Community Center once stood, lay a heap of charred, ice glazed ruins with a few battered walls surrounding them.

Recreation Records Lost

It's doubtful if Iowa Citizens ever will forget that fire. In addition to robbing them of needed recreation facilities, it cost them an estimated $186,532.

The building and equipment in it were insured for $79,500. It had a net value of $266,032. The Community Center was built by the American Legion in 1927. The Legion operated its club rooms on the second floor until the time of the blaze. It has now moved to a new location on Market St.

All Recreation Commission records were lost in the fire, and as of now, Iowa City still does not have a Community Center, though plans have been proposed for the construction of a new one.

Police Are Busy While Fans Watch Ball Game

Iowa City police Friday night ticketed about 18 cars parked in back of the Iowa Water Service Co., plant on North Madison Street. The cars jammed the driveway, prohibiting the exit of any water company trucks in case of an emergency. The car owners were attending the University High-West Branch basketball game.

$1-Million Fire Hits Flooded Ford Plant

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Flood, explosions and an inferno of floating flames caused at least a million dollars damage to Ford's big west coast assembly plant Friday. The plant was knocked out of service for at least two months.

Several hours after an explosion touched off stored fuel in the flooded 72-acre factory area, firemen were wading chest deep through gasoline-covered water fighting the flames.

The fire was contained Friday afternoon but not controlled.

A chain reaction started Friday morning when a dike which protects the harbor area plant from a nearby channel burst, flooding the plant with water up to six feet deep.

Then a cable shorted out, touching off inflammables stored in a paint building 50 feet from the main factory. There were violent explosions, a towering pall of black smoke, and flames licking 100 feet skyward.

Two injured
One Ford employe, Les Schoelerman, 45, was splashed with flaming gasoline. A Ford power engineer, Mark Davis, 61, was hurled by an explosion into Cerritos Channel where he was picked up by a passing boat. Schoelerman suffered minor burns and Davis shock and exposure.

The plant employs 1,750 persons. On the flood front, the sun peeped out occasionally as southern California began mopping up after the second heaviest 48-hour rainstorm in its history.

Flooded Area Opens
Most schools and industrial plants, shut down Thursday, reopened. Residents flooded out of houses Thursday were returning to their homes. Traffic was getting back to normal.

The rain virtually ended by 8 a.m., only a trace falling thereafter.

The Weather Bureau said the 48-hour total of 7.97 inches was second only to the 48-hour drenching of 8.23 inches recorded Dec. 31, 1933 and Jan. 1, 1934. The flood then, known as the La Crescenta Valley disaster, claimed a number of drowning victims.

program were revealed Friday in a letter from Kaplan to British scientist Sydney Chapman, president of the international organization.

The size of the satellites has been increased from the proposed 20-inch diameter basketball-sized globes to 30 inches diameter, but the weight will be only about 2 1/2 pounds as originally proposed.

About half the weight will be the metal sphere and half instruments to record atmospheric conditions. Van Allen has suggested that cosmic ray recording instruments developed at SUI be part of the equipment. Information will be transmitted to the ground by automatic radio signals.

SUI May Receive
Van Allen has indicated that SUI may be one of the stations receiving this information.

The first satellite will be fired from Patrick Air Force Base in Florida. It will be sent aloft by rockets and will continue under its own momentum at speeds enabling it to circle the earth 16 times in 24 hours.

It will travel at altitudes ranging from 200 to 800 miles above the earth.

The letter said the U.S. plans to launch about 10 satellites during this first program.

Neuberger's 'Drug' Letter Draws Fire

"improper" in the Senate in criticizing Neuberger for suggesting that "panicky" Republicans might try to use drugs if necessary to keep President Eisenhower active in the 1956 campaign.

Sen. William F. Knowland of California, GOP floor leader, said he was "deeply shocked" that the Oregonian made such a statement in a news letter to constituents.

Sen. Barry M. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) chairman of the Senate GOP Campaign Committee, had called the Senate's attention to the news letter.

He agreed when Knowland said the letter "casts a reflection on the President" in even suggesting that he would allow anything like that to be done.

Thought Letter "Friendly"
During the Senate discussion, Neuberger said he regarded his news letter "friendly" enough to send a copy to the President.

Goldwater replied it "was improper" to suggest that drugs would be urged on the President to keep him in the campaign.

After stating it is his opinion the President will not run for a second term, Neuberger said that in sending Eisenhower a copy of his news letter he accompanied it with a friendly personal letter expressing good wishes for the President's health.

Quotes from Letter
The letter said, in part: "There even exists the danger that panicky politicians in the President's entourage, more interested in their own ambitions than in the President's health, might try to have him propped up unwisely with drugs and other such aids so that he could fulfill speaking and TV commitments to the permanent detriment of his well-being—just to get by election day."

The letter, however, questioned whether Mr. Eisenhower would enter a campaign where his slighted illness or indisposition "could become an issue" subordinating foreign policy, agriculture and "all the problems which confront us."

Victim of Hiroshima
Atom Blast Is Dead
HIROSHIMA, Japan (Saturday)—A 26-year-old man reported to have been about 400 yards from the center of the 1945 Hiroshima atom blast died Friday.

The newspaper Asahi said Kiyoshi Takeguchi, a telephone and telegraph office worker, was the second Hiroshima citizen to die of "atomic disease" this year.

ADN said East German Deputy Premier Walter Ulbricht made the request for inclusion of the new East German "people's army" into the Red bloc's military command.

New European Pact?
The dispatch also indicated the Communists are drawing up a new proposal for a general European security pact. The West has regarded such proposals coolly in the past.

Ulbricht was quoted as saying East Germany supports a suggestion that a portion of Europe's countries be included in a security pact in which the Soviet Union, France, Britain and the United States would be represented. He did not say who made the suggestion.

Ulbricht's speech also mentioned a proposal for establishment of zones in Europe, in which the strength and distribution of military forces would be established by the "interested states." This presumably referred to East and West Germany.

The combined Eastern Command was established in Warsaw last year under Russia's direction. Participating in the conference are Cabinet ministers of Russia, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Bulgaria, Albania, Hungary, Poland and East Germany. Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov is expected to speak today.

East Germany has been left out until now because it didn't have what the Communists called an army, although it did have a 110,000-man barracks police force that was an army in everything but name. The decision to create an army was made last week by the East German Parliament.

County Surplus Is $981,775

A $981,775 surplus was shown in the 1955 financial statement for Johnson County prepared by County Treasurer Lumir W. Jansa and William L. Kanak, county auditor.

The statement, issued Friday, disclosed receipts and expenditures of $5,126,150 by the county for 1955. The largest proportion of the receipts, $3,225,944.98, came from 1954 taxes. Taxes delinquent from 1953 and other years totaled $15,922.73.

Other large sources of income came from the state. These included homestead credits, $367,943.89; auto licenses, $624,351.16; and the use tax, $313,102.89.
