$200,000 Fire in Davenport

A FIRE AT DAVENPORT Thursday gutted the State Furniture Co. warehouse on River street. Loss was estimated at as much as $200,000 including $75,000 worth of new furniture. Cause of the fire was unknown.

Downtown Davenport Fire Guts Warehouse

DAVENPORT (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin caused estimated damages of $200,000 to the State Furniture Co. warehouse and the adjoining Amvets Club building Thursday.

All available firemen and 25 off-duty men fought the spectacular three alarm blaze nearly four hours before bringing it under control.

They managed to prevent it from spreading to the adjacent Globe Auto Body shop and three other buildings.

The blaze destroyed the warehouse and about $75,000 worth of new furniture recently moved to the warehouse.

The roof of the Amvets building was destroyed and both the apartment and the clubrooms suffered heavy water and smoke damage.

The fire apparently started on the first floor of the two-story brick warehouse and swept through piles of furniture and mattresses on the second floor.

It then jumped across to the roof of the Amvets building before being brought under control.

Dense smoke billowed over downtown Davenport, halting some traffic and attracting many spectators.

The council reported that last year:

Accidents of all types brought death to 92,000 Americans, injured 9,200,000 and caused $10,300,000 in financial losses — such as equipment and property damage, medical expenses and lost pay.

Traffic accidents alone resulted in 38,300 deaths, about 1,350,000 injuries and $4,700,000,000 in financial setbacks.

The motor vehicle remained the No. 1 accident killer.

Deaths on the streets and roads ended the year on the upbeat. The December toll of 3,960 was the largest for any month since December 1941.

Bulganin Urges Ike To Reconsider Pact

Would Sign With France, Britain, Too

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin appealed to President Eisenhower Thursday to reconsider his rejection of a proposed 20-year friendship treaty. Bulganin also said he would be willing to make similar pacts with Britain, France and other countries.

Bulganin told the President in a new and friendly letter:

"The conclusion of a treaty of friendship and cooperation between the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A. would be of great positive significance . . . in establishing the necessary prerequisites for the solution of the German problem."

Mr. Eisenhower had called on Russia to show good intentions by deeds, not mere words. Among other things he had urged unity and freedom for divided Germany.

Hits Ike's Charges

Though Bulganin's letter was couched in amicable words, he struck back at Mr. Eisenhower's arguments that Russia is to blame for world tensions. Bulganin criticized Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' "brink of war" remarks as a violation of the "spirit of Geneva."

Bulganin accused the United States of increasing American military bases abroad — around Soviet borders — and said:

"You will agree that this cannot fail to create fully understandable apprehension among the Soviet people concerning the intentions of the U.S.A."

Delivered by Zarubin

The Bulganin letter was delivered to the State Department Thursday by Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin, who handed it to Secretary of State Dulles.

A rough translation was quickly prepared and sent to Mr. Eisenhower at Gettysburg, where he had gone only a short time before, following his talks here with Prime Minister Anthony Eden.

The White House and State Department had no official reaction immediately. But some State Department officials said that Bulganin took a "negative" position on Mr. Eisenhower's challenge to the Soviets to take concrete steps to ease world tension instead of merely offering another treaty to sign.

'Change of Spirit'

Mr. Eisenhower's challenge was contained in a letter he sent Bulganin last Saturday, rejecting the latter's proposal for the friendship treaty. The President said a "change of spirit" was needed to assure world peace, not a mere stroke of the pen.

State Department officials contended Thursday night that Bulganin's newest letter was in the main simply a rehash of arguments and positions Russia had previously advanced.

Bulganin struck again at Mr. Eisenhower's "open skies" proposal for an exchange of aerial reconnaissance by the United States and Russia.

He said that with a "completely unrestricted armaments race" under way such an exchange of reconnaissance "would not only fail to free the peoples from the fear of a new war, but on the contrary would intensify that fear and mutual suspicion."

Argues for Treaty

In arguing for his friendship treaty, Bulganin said the United Nations Charter "cannot be sufficiently effective if the two greatest powers in the world — the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A. — do not harmonize their relations."

Mr. Eisenhower had turned down the treaty in part because he said it would not add anything to the pledges which the two nations have already undertaken through the United Nations Charter. The proposed pact would commit the United States and Russia to peaceful settlement of disputes, noninterference in each other's affairs, and to increased cooperation.

Bulganin said that in the Soviet view the treaty would "contribute enormously to a healthier international situation," and, he added, "We are willing to conclude similar treaties with other states as well."

Judge Voids School Vote at Lone Tree

By DAN HINSON

Judge James P. Gaffney Thursday ruled the Sept. 13 Lone Tree School District reorganization invalid.

He ordered the school districts involved restored to their status previous to the election.

The judgment, returned in Johnson County District Court, involved an election which approved reorganization of portions of Fremont, Pleasant Valley and Lincoln Townships to form a Lone Tree Community School District.

Fifth Try

It was the fifth attempt in the past 18 months to reorganize the school district.

Judge Gaffney ruled that "because of the material departure and the looseness in procedure followed, the election should be held invalid."

In his judgment, he referred to errors in description of the area proposed for reorganization, the lack of a survey of existing buildings and equipment in the area and investigation of the number of teachers involved in the reorganization plan had not been made.

The judgment said such surveys are required by law, and should have been handled by the County Board of Education.

Judge Gaffney found valid a charge of "gerrymandering" in the redrawing of the school district to eliminate voters opposed to the reorganization plan.

Plaintiff in the case was Wesley Wall and others who objected to the reorganization.

After the original petition was filed by Wall, interveners, people considering themselves involved in the issue, for both sides entered the case.

'No Willful Conspiracy'

Judge Gaffney ruled there was no "willful conspiracy" on the part of petitioners for reorganization, but that "some of the official acts were unfair, unreasonable, arbitrary, and the result of hasty judgment."

Over 60 witnesses appeared before Gaffney in the hearing.

He referred to the May 11, 1955 meeting of the county Board of Education, the county superintendent, members of the Lone Tree Independent School District Board and John C. O'Connor Jr., chairman of the Citizen's Study Group for reorganization.

Set Public Hearing

At the meeting, held one day after the defeat of a different proposed reorganization plan, May 23 was set as a date for a public hearing to discuss a new reorganization plan.

A special edition of the Lone Tree Reporter carried notice of the hearing.

Judge Gaffney noted that the County Superintendent of Education did not use the 10-day period permitted by law to set the petition for the hearing.

The hearing ended Nov. 23 and arguments were heard on Dec. 3.

DIES HERE

Dale Lane, 21, Conroy, died Wednesday in a hospital here of a spinal fracture he suffered in an accident Jan. 12 when his car went out of control and into a ditch on Highway 149 near here.

Ike Not Ready For Decision, Doctor Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's White House doctor said Thursday "no man who is just 4½ months past a heart attack is in a position yet" to decide whether to run for a second term.

"It takes longer," said the physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder. "He should have more time — all the time he needs."

There was no indication, however, as to whether Eisenhower actually would delay his decision as long as Snyder might feel advisable. Eisenhower said on Jan. 19 that he would announce his decision "as soon as it is firmly fixed in my mind." On Jan. 25 he said, "I am not going to dilly-dally too long about it."

Snyder declared "I would prefer not to say" when asked how much more time Eisenhower ought to have to decide whether he is physically able to stand four more years in the presidency.

Republicans boosting Eisenhower for a second term have been hoping he would announce his decision by the middle of this month or certainly by early March.

Snyder expressed his views shortly after former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York conferred with Eisenhower and then told reporters:

"I can't even conceive of the possibility of the country and the world without President Eisenhower's leadership in these times."

There was no indication whatever that Snyder was aware of Dewey's remarks when the physician voiced his view that it is too early for Eisenhower to decide.

Ike Pauses, Helps Stranded Motorist

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower rode through a sleet storm from Washington to his farm home Thursday, pausing once to help a fellow motorist in distress.

About two miles from Emmitsburg, Md., the President spotted a car in the ditch, spinning its wheels and trying to get out of the snow. He detailed a Secret Service car directly behind him to help the distressed motorist. Otherwise the 85-mile trip was without incident.

The President came here in order to register today for voting in the November election and to get a weekend's rest.

Hughes Acquitted on 2 Perjury Counts

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal court jury acquitted Paul H. Hughes Thursday night on two counts of a 6-count perjury indictment and reported it was "hopelessly deadlocked on the remaining counts."

U.S. Attorney Paul W. Williams told reporters it was "inconceivable that the government would move for a new trial" in view of the jury's action.

The jury had deliberated for 11 hours. Hughes, a private investigator, was charged with lying to a federal grand jury investigating the case of Harvey Matusow, an ex-Communist who testified against top Red leaders, then recanted his testimony.

Testimony in the trial had alleged that Hughes sold a series of lies about Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) to McCarthy's political enemies. Hughes testified that several leading Democrats who knew his information was false had urged him to go ahead.

Eden Addresses Congress

BRITISH PRIME MINISTER Anthony Eden addresses Congress Thursday after the conclusion of his conferences with President Eisenhower. He termed the meeting the best he has ever attended.

Eden Urges Continued Anglo-American Unity

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden told Congress Thursday the United States and Britain must fight communism with "political enlightenment" because guns alone can no longer do the job.

Eden declared: "It is not so much military containment as political enlightenment which is the need of the day."

One of the things the lawmakers seemed to like best was his remark, not in his formal text, that the big thing about American-British relations is their spirit.

"You cannot analyze what it is due to, but it is something that only the free world enjoys," he said. "As long as we treasure and hold it, our nation and yours together, there will be peace in the world."

He told the Senate that uncertainty and fear of the Communist-provoked cold war "is a somber prospect which we confront together." Even so, he said, modern weapons like the hydrogen bomb and long-range guided missiles amount to a "mutual deterrent" against war because both sides have them.

Eden later appealed to the American people, in a nationwide television and radio address, to join with Britain in keeping alive a "spirit of unity" which "can mean peace in the world forever."

The British leader said even more important than the understandings reached with President Eisenhower during the White House meeting was the spirit of unity "which expresses itself when you and we sit down together to work out our problems."

He reported that his conference with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles was "the most encouraging conference I have ever attended."

La Prensa Back In Free Publication

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The voice of the old La Prensa was raised once more in Argentina Thursday night. The famous newspaper resumed publication with a fighting editorial promising its best efforts to keep dictatorship from rising again in Argentina.

La Prensa reappeared under the guidance of Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz five years after it fell victim to ex-President Juan D. Peron's regime.

Farm Meeting Here Told Need for 'Realistic Policy'

Unless a realistic farm program is adopted, agriculture can lead the rest of the economy into depression, Corbin Crawford, Washington County farmer told a meeting of the National Farm Organization here Thursday night.

"If agriculture has a moral responsibility to the nation, it is to maintain agriculture's economic equality and purchasing power," Crawford said.

Economy Mainstay

He pointed out that our economy maintains the economy of the entire free world and that if our slips, then the entire free world slips, leaving a free path for Communist gains.

"We shouldn't be penalized for doing our job too well," Crawford said. "We need direction, advice and sympathetic help."

He said that the farmer gets complaints when he sells milk at 20 cents a quart but beer sells at 45 cents a quart without any complaints.

"We in agriculture must impress upon the people of the nation that agriculture is a basic industry. We must prevent her from being milked to death," Crawford said.

Output Doubled

Crawford stressed that since 1940 the farm output per man hour has doubled. "That's one of our problems," he said. "We're too darned efficient."

Crawford suggested that the U.S. direct research into other fields to increase uses of farm products. "But let's not have any more research into increasing farm production," he said.

200 Attend

He said the farmer must realize that labor is his best customer and that low-income families can be a source for increasing consumption of food.

"We have farm surpluses," Crawford said, "while we have 5 million families with only one-third adequacy of diet."

About 200 people attended the Johnson County meeting, held at the Iowa City Sales Barn.

105 a Day

38,300 Die in '55 Traffic Accidents

CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic deaths in the United States hit an average of 105 a day in 1955.

The National Safety Council Thursday reported that motor vehicle accidents cost 38,300 lives last year.

The total tied the 1953 toll for the third highest in history, and it fell just 1,669 under the record of 39,969 established in 1941.

The 1955 toll represented a gain of 8 per cent over the 1954 total of 35,586.

"The basic reason for the increase," the council said, "was that more people were driving more cars more miles than ever before."

The remedy, it added, will be to bring effective methods of traffic control into line with the increased volume.

The council reported that last year:

Accidents of all types brought death to 92,000 Americans, injured 9,200,000 and caused $10,300,000 in financial losses — such as equipment and property damage, medical expenses and lost pay.

Traffic accidents alone resulted in 38,300 deaths, about 1,350,000 injuries and $4,700,000,000 in financial setbacks.

The motor vehicle remained the No. 1 accident killer.

Deaths on the streets and roads ended the year on the upbeat. The December toll of 3,960 was the largest for any month since December 1941.

Stabbing Kills Miami Girl

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A pretty 23-year-old brunette, who lived a life of mystery after leaving her farm home for the bright lights of this resort area in 1951, died violently Thursday with nine deep stab wounds in her body.

Police Chief Andrew W. Murcia Jr., of suburban Surfside, where the body was found in a vacant lot on exclusive Biscaya Island, said he believed Ruth L. Downing was killed while resisting an attempted rape.

He noted there were numerous cuts on her head, neck and hands, as if she had been trying to wrest a knife from her killer.

It had not been established whether Miss Downing had been living recently or whether she had been working. She was identified through fingerprints, which unearthed a record showing an arrest in 1952 for suspicion of auto theft.

The shapely brunette was reared by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Columbus J. Downing, on a farm near Live Oak, Fla., until she came to Miami in November, 1951, to seek work. The family heard no more from her, said an aunt, Mrs. Albert Thompson of Live Oak, until her arrest six months later.

Coldest Day Of Century In Britain

LONDON (AP)—Britain had its coldest day of the century and Paris, France, its coldest in 75 years Thursday as the European cold wave continued.

The temperature in both countries dipped to five above zero.

The European deep freeze has claimed at least 48 lives in 72 hours.

Temperatures dropped as low as 37 degrees below zero — the reading at Kalenbrunn, in West Germany.

Snow covered the usually sunny Mediterranean resort towns along the French and Italian Riviera, and fell as far south as Naples.

The known death toll from the cold air mass that has been sweeping westward out of Siberia the last three days included six in Britain, five in Germany, eight in Denmark, six in Italy, 18 in France, three in Austria and two in the Netherlands.

G.M. '55 Earnings Top $1 Billion

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—General Motors last year became the first industrial corporation in history to reach a billion dollars in net earnings for any one year.

Net earnings is the excess of total income over expenses.

On record-smashing dollar sales of $12,443,000,000, the corporation had net income of $1,189,000,000.

The 1955 net income compared with $806,000,000 in 1954, and with the 1950 record of $834,044,039. The dollar sales volume compared with $9,824,000,000 in 1954, and the 1953 record of $10,028,000,000.

The Weather

Cloudy & Colder

The Iowa weather cleared Thursday and the groundhog was able to see his shadow, so if legends can be believed, this means at least six more weeks of winter.

Following the 4.5 inches of snow received in Iowa City were clear skies accompanied by near cold wave conditions, Thursday.

Highs today are expected to be in the teens.

Further outlook for Saturday is partly cloudy and rather cold.

A Fighter for the Farmer

You would think that Dan Turner has had enough excitement out of life. He is a former governor of Iowa (1931-33). He has fought for the farmer for 50 years from the floor of the Iowa legislature, from the rostrum at national GOP conventions and from the governor's mansion.

He is 78 years old, an age where most men retire to an easy chair and let younger men carry on the fight, reasoning that they can do it better and that they have the most at stake. Many others become conservative and give up the ideals of their youth. Dan Turner is doing neither.

He is still fighting the battle for the farmer, although at 78 he has no political ambitions. No one could blame him for taking it easy in the twilight of his life. But Turner has traveled the length and breadth of Iowa during the past eight months, speaking for the National Farm Organization (NFO), a group that is protesting the farm policies of the Eisenhower administration.

One might expect a man raised in rural Iowa to be a conservative. Turner has never aligned himself with the conservatives. He has been a Theodore Roosevelt-style progressive since he went to the state legislature in 1903. He fought for the farmer and against the railroads and "stand-patters." Along with Governor Frank Lowden and a young Republican farm publication editor, Henry A. Wallace, he tried to persuade the Republican party to pass legislation to aid the rural areas. Wallace left the Republican party in disgust and served as secretary of agriculture and vice-president in Democratic administrations.

Turner stayed to tell the 1928 Republican convention: "We in agriculture are not begging for crumbs from the rich man's table! We have not come to the ante rooms of privilege with our hats in our hands."

Turner served one term as Iowa's governor. Farm prices were falling as the 1932 election neared, and Turner headed a delegation that went to Washington for an interview with President Hoover. Turner told Hoover that the Republicans "most certainly" would lose the farm states. Hoover lost Iowa to Franklin D. Roosevelt by 184,000 votes. Turner was swept out of office in the Democratic landslide.

Since then Turner has remained active in Republican politics and continued the fight to bring liberalism into his party. "My party lost the leadership of the nation," he once said, "because of the lack of consecration to high ideals."

He was a leader in the successful fight to take a pro-Eisenhower delegation to the 1952 convention.

Turner, unlike most midwestern Republicans, has always spoken in behalf of labor. "The AFL and CIO are not wrong," he once said. "They would be working for a pittance if they had not had the courage to organize."

When Iowa's corn-hog economy began slipping in early 1955, Turner started urging farmers to organize. They have, he now claims, in 70 of Iowa's 99 counties. How well Dan Turner and other NFO leaders think the Eisenhower administration has done with the farm problem may well determine the fate of the Republicans in Iowa this fall.

We think it is sheer irresponsibility when men suggest that we junk the public school system of North Carolina in order to prevent integration of the races in classrooms!

Extremists on either side of this controversy will do severe and irreparable damage to the state of North Carolina and to the people of this state. It is not a time for haste nor exaggeration. It is a time for serious consideration and deliberation.

The question now seems to be: How and when can compliance be realized to the mutual agreement and harmonious acceptance of both sides?

Therein lies the greatest problem Southern society has ever faced. Such a problem deserves and requires the prayerful study and deliberation of every Southerner and every American everywhere! —The Cleveland (Shelby, N.C.) Times

The Wall Street Journal suggests that the farmer has been leaning on price crutches so long that he can't handle himself without them.

Quite so, Mr. Wall Street editor. But why confine your comments to the farmer? Why not say something about the eastern industrialists who have been leaning on tariff price crutches for half a century or more? Tell them to learn to get along without them. Also tell the other segments of our economy to throw away the crutches.

And remember, Mr. Wall Street editor, that the farmer didn't start this price crutch business. Your pals in eastern industry did — and they did it so long ago that you've forgotten that they have crutches. —The Thorp (Wis.) Courier

Not Asking Much

Editorial Grab Bag

Editors voice approval for Ike's reply to Russia; Heap praises on H. L. Mencken

H. L. Mencken

The death of H. L. Mencken takes from the American scene one of its most powerful critics and vivid interpreters. We are impoverished by his death just as we were enriched by his life. Behind the barbs of his wit, moreover, there was a gigantic, almost Olympian, humor. Mencken never giggled, seldom even chuckled; he roared with laughter. That quality, we may be sure, will keep his writing long alive. And he will live, also in turns of phrase and turns of idea in the minds of thousands who may never even suspect their source.—THE NEW YORK TIMES

Henry L. Mencken's caustic pen ran out of ink this week and thus passed from the American scene the man who had knocked more sawdust out of more stuffed shirts than any figure in our literary history.

The "sage of Baltimore" will be missed.—MILWAUKEE JOURNAL

H. L. Mencken devoted a lifetime to driving stupidity, cant, hypocrisy and drive out of the market place of ideas. Every literate American living owes something to the sage of Baltimore for what he thinks and perhaps even why he thinks. Mencken wrote, spoke and lived with an invective that had gusto, point, and the flavor of the German he loved to sprinkle in when the English ran a little dry. He liked beer, cigars, the piano, good books, good company, and the kingly sport of flailing the Philistines.

At bottom, Mencken was an intellectual snob with Nietzschean overtones of the superman. But he fought like a libertarian Tom Paine for the freedom to write and print. What he himself wrote and printed was like heat lightning and clearing the overcharged air.

Would there were an editor like him practicing his trade in the country at this moment.—ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

Russian Proposal

The President's observations were academic in view of the Soviet record of bad faith in discharging its commitments. A few months ago the senate judiciary committee published a chronology of Soviet violations of Red treaty pledges. The catalog ran to 50 pages and contained hundreds of instances in which the Soviet Union had dishonored its undertakings.

However, the one consoling fact in these latest maneuvers is that neither side has resorted to threats. The prospect for peace is not improved, but neither has it deteriorated.—CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE

The United States views treaties more seriously. It does not believe that the cause of peace can be served by, in the President's words, "creating the illusion that a stroke of a pen had achieved a result which in fact can be obtained only by a change of spirit." America is willing to negotiate wherever negotiation appears to offer a hope of advancing peace

Benson Blunder

The Benson-Harper incident contains a valuable lesson for all government officials, of high or low degree: Don't write letters endorsing something with which you are not familiar. That goes for articles which you haven't read, as in the Harper's magazine case, or some movement or organization that you know nothing about.

The question that has not been asked — and therefore not answered — is whether it is the policy of Benson or his assistants to curry "good public relations" by praising sight-unseen articles which appear in reputable periodicals or newspapers.

Benson has been a courageous and honest public official and it is hard to believe that he would establish or condone such a policy. In any event, we do not think the matter is important enough to warrant political demands that President Eisenhower fire Benson. The good that Benson has accomplished far outweighs any evil arising from the stupid acts of his subordinate.—CHICAGO SUN-TIMES

Race Issue

The problem (segregation) will not be settled by emotional tirades and rash actions that will hasten retaliation and make any rational approach almost impossible. It must be dealt with on a basis of reason and mutual common sense.—ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

Rogue River Land

Buried in the Senate Interior Committee files is an interesting letter, which was picked up when the Senate subpoenaed the records of Secretary McKay.

It's a letter from a friend of President Eisenhower's addressed to him, asking that the Al Sereena section of the Rogue River National Forest be released to the McDonald family.

Across the letter in his own handwriting President Eisenhower had scribbled "Dear Doug." Then followed a personal request from Ike to Doug to see what he could do about granting the Rogue River request.—DREW PEARSON

It's Easy To Roast Lean-Trimmed Ham!

It's hard to go wrong when roasting a ham — it's that easy to do! Leaner hams for 1956 — those with a minimum of fat covering — mean good news for homemakers who like lean and less fat per pound of ham they buy.

Good eating whether served hot or cold, the 1956 lean-trimmed ham is an economical buy. Take a cook-before-eating ham for instance, and see how easy it is to have several interesting low-cost meals.

Serve the meal hot the first night. For the second meal, serve thick slices of the ham cold or reheated in a spicy raisin sauce. Succeeding meals might feature the ham in sandwiches, casseroles, highlighting scrambled eggs or omelets or sparking snack service.

How To Roast A Half Ham

1. Place meat, fat side up, on a rack in a shallow baking pan.

2. Insert a meat thermometer into the thickest muscle so the bulb does not rest on bone or fat. Use a skewer to make a hole in the meat for easy insertion of the thermometer. (Though a meat thermometer is not absolutely essential, it is the most accurate method of determining the doneness of the roast.)

3. Place meat in a 325 degree F., oven and roast 22 to 25 minutes per pound for a cook-before-eating half ham, or until the meat thermometer registers an internal temperature of 160 degrees F. Do not cover, do not add water, and do not baste the cooking meat.

4. Half an hour before the ham has finished cooking, remove it from the oven and spoon off drippings (save for seasoning soups, frying eggs, and flavoring cooked vegetables.) Remove any rind on ham. With a sharp knife, score the ham fat, making diagonal cuts 1/8 inch deep and about 3/4 inch apart to form squares or diamonds.

5. Stud each diamond or square with cloves, then sift a generous coating of brown sugar over the fat. Return ham to oven and continue baking the final 30 minutes — long enough for the sugar to melt slightly and form an attractive crunchy crust.

Though a clove-studded and brown sugar crusted baked ham is one of the most popular, it is by no means the only way to finish the meat. All kinds of coverings, some sparkling with jelly, honey, or fruit juice, and some adorned with a variety of fruits, are possible.

Glazes that sparkle:
1. 1 cup honey mixed with 1/2 cup orange marmalade or orange juice.
2. 1 cup currant jelly mixed with 1/2 teaspoon mustard and 2 teaspoons horseradish.
Fruity coverings to apply after scoring and sugaring:
1. Maraschino cherries centered in each diamond or square, fastened with toothpicks.
2. Orange slices, rims studded with cloves fastened to ham with toothpicks.

Comedian Bob Burns Is Dead of Cancer

ENCINO, Calif. (AP)—Bob Burns, whose tall tales of Arkansas country folks and serenades on a gas-pipe and whiskey funnel contraption called a bazooka made him one of the nation's favorite comedians, died Thursday.

Home Decorating, Furnishings Became Personal in 1955

By VIVIAN BROWN

Associated Press Newswire
Nineteen fifty-five was the year when home became a personal affair.

Junior had his Davy Crockett room or favorite sports decor. Little League baseball rugs went to the floor. The den returned and ottomans and lounging chairs were best sellers.

King-size parakeet cages gave evidence of the great fancy for the bird and some homemakers had their homes decorated in parakeet colors or in harmonizing hues. The parakeet's tribe increased.

Convenience

Furniture was built not only for comfort but also for convenience. Fold-up dinette tables and easily cleaned removable upholstery were two more items to make life easier for the housekeeper.

Frank Lloyd Wright produced his long awaited furniture designs with that theme in mind, too — no hardware appeared on any of his furniture pieces. They were space savers, too.

Kitchen appliances continued to break the bankroll because who could resist them?

New Lists

The all-in-one washing and drying machine grew popular and colored appliances gave a new lift to the life of the weary chef.

Small appliances such as broiling units made cooking a joy for many housewives. A new electronic range guaranteed that plates of food could be heated without the plate becoming hot. It would cook bacon in three minutes, roasts in ten.

Lady Appeal

The bathroom took on new interest with wash basins set in Directoire and other decorative cabinets. New bathrooms had definite lady appeal too with built-in vanity tables the order of the day.

The tile was big news again in bathrooms, not only on walls and floors but also on the ceiling.

Every conceivable thing went to the floor in '55, cotton, rayon, nylon and wool carpets and mixtures of all of them.

The area rug was a top favorite, with bare shiny floors played up. Ceramic tile became a kitchen favorite.

Outdoor Glamor

Outdoors took on glamor, too, with emphasis on dining and playing. More weather resistant furniture made a debut. Cushions for outdoor comfort were colorful adaptations of indoor types.

Lighting became dramatic, with the average garden spotted like a Hollywood movie set. When electric wiring was absent, candle torches blazed a lovely garden path.

Color made more headway and gave designers, manufacturers and decorators more leeway. It was definitely not a year for the unimaginative.

Says Opera Popularity Is Rising In America

BERLIN (AP)—The granddaughter of Richard Wagner believes that opera, like oats in the spring, is beginning to take root in the United States.

"Within 50 years, every town in the United States will have an opera company," asserts Friedelind Wagner. "Look at symphony orchestras—not too long ago there were only a few of them in the States; today, there are a thousand."

"Opera is still the world's greatest combination of music and drama. So far the biggest block to opera in America has been the language barrier. Opera should be translated into the local language, like they do here in Germany."

U.S. Citizen

The 37-year-old Miss Wagner, who bears a striking resemblance to her grandfather — Germany's most famous opera composer — has been living in the United States since 1941, and is now a U.S. citizen.

She returned to Berlin recently to prepare for a tour of opera houses in Communist East Germany. She wants to write magazine articles about her findings.

Miss Wagner left Germany in 1937 because she couldn't stand Hitler, and she becomes indignant whenever Americans associate her grandfather's music with the late dictator.

'Ignorant as Hitler'

"If Americans think Wagner equals Hitler, and Hitler equals Wagner, then they are just as ignorant as Hitler was," she said in an interview. "The theme of my grandfather's operas was redemption through love and redemption through pity. What has that got to do with Hitler?"

But she will readily give one reason why Wagner came to be associated with Hitler.

"It was Hitler's unfortunate friendship with my mother, who was one of his earliest supporters," Miss Wagner recalls bitterly. "He first began dropping in at Wahnfried (the Wagner residence at Bayreuth) in 1923."

Came at Night

"He mostly came at night, because at that time the police were

Ferzacca Is Ready To Quit Marquette U.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — F. L. "Frosty" Ferzacca, faced with increasing evidence that he will be dismissed as head football coach at Marquette University, all but threw in the sponge Thursday, saying, "I sure looks hopeless."

In the absence of any definite word from university authorities and amid signs that the only question left to be decided is who will assume the responsibility for deciding his future, Ferzacca said: "I have been told that certain members of the Athletic Board do not want me retained as coach. Why, I don't know. I don't know what they want from me. My record was not too bad considering the problems I was faced with and all the shifting around I had to do with team personnel."

Looks Hopeless "The coming season would have been the test. I haven't given up the fight, but it sure looks hopeless."

Laurence A. "Moon" Mullins, who was named athletic director at Marquette two weeks ago, told Ferzacca in a letter that he would recommend three men for the job, including the 45-year-old Ferzacca.

But, said Mullins, writing from Manhattan, Kan., where he is winding up his affairs as athletic director at Kansas State, if he were to make recommendations now "it would be one of the other two — not you," because of what Mullins described as the "situation."

Has 3 Prospects Thursday at Manhattan, Mullins said he had had "three coaches on my mind" for the post, but later he added that "Ferzacca was not the man I recommended." He declined to name the man he recommended to the Athletic Council.

The Rev. John G. Holbrook, chairman of the 9-man Athletic Board, said, "We'll probably have a press conference Saturday and announce our decision."

He declined to say whether Ferzacca, now on the last year of a 3-year pact calling for $10,000 annually, would be retained. In two years under Ferzacca, the Warriors have won 5, lost 11 and tied 2.

By GEORGE WINE

Over the Christmas Holidays I had the opportunity of watching Vanderbilt, a basketball team that has done surprisingly well for itself this year, play Georgia, a club that has failed to raise anyone's eyebrows.

At the time, Vandy was undefeated, and Tennesseans were predicting great things for the Commodores.

Like most mid-westerners who find themselves temporarily in the South, I let it be known that as far as I'm concerned, the Southeastern Conference is strictly a Class D league in comparison to the Big Ten, and as the Vandy-Georgia game progressed, I felt that my convictions were more than justified.

VANDERBILT beat Georgia badly that night, and although the Commodores demonstrated a smooth, efficient attack, they seemed to lack the aggressiveness that is prevalent in the mid-west.

That's why I wasn't surprised when, a week later, Iowa State jarred Vandy with a decisive defeat to knock the Commodores from the unbeaten ranks.

SINCE THAT temporary setback, however, Vandy has moved along in the same unbeaten pattern that it assumed earlier in the season.

The climax came last Saturday night, when the Commodores were anything but cordial hosts to an undefeated Kentucky team.

They joined the Wildcats, 81-73, to make Adolph Rupp literally eat his words that "Kentucky will win the Southeastern Conference and move on to the national championship."

Vanderbilt has not yet met its conference race. It must meet Kentucky one more time, and of course, any other team in the league might knock off the Commodores.

BUT VANDY already has proven itself to be one of the top ball clubs in the country this year, and odds are with the Commodores to take their conference and move into the regional NCAA to be held at Iowa City March 23-24.

If this happens, and Iowa should win the Big Ten, I may find out if I was right when I told some friends in Tennessee, "Iowa would chase Vandy off the floor in the first half."

But even now I'm wondering if most of us aren't a little hasty in our appraisal of Big Ten superiority. If we are, then maybe Iowa State is the most underestimated team in the country.

Halas Names Driscoll As Bear Head Coach

CHICAGO (AP)—Owner George Halas of the Chicago Bears celebrated his 61st birthday Thursday by naming a 60-year-old assistant, Paddy Driscoll, as his successor as head Bear coach.

Halas, who announced his retirement after the 1955 National Football League season, denied this was an "interim" appointment. But it was suspected Driscoll got a one-year head coaching call as a reward for long and meritorious service to Halas and the Bears.

Halas refused to speculate what would happen after Driscoll's one-year regime as field boss, but guesses were strong the Bears staff might be completely shuffled in 1957. The Bears just missed a divisional title last season with a 9-4 mark and seemed headed for a renaissance.

Tammatte on Staff Driscoll, a teammate of Halas on the powerful Great Lakes team which defeated Mare Island in the 1919 Rose Bowl game, has been on the Bear staff the past 15 years.

Being head man on the gridiron is nothing new to Driscoll, who owns a seat on the Chicago Board of Trade and like Halas finds football more a fascinating hobby than a livelihood.

Paddy, more formally known as John L. Driscoll, was player-coach for the Chicago Cardinals in 1921 and 1922, and after long service as one of Chicago's top high school coaches at St. Mel's, was head coach at Marquette University in 1939 and 1940.

Greatest Drop-Kicker Regarded as one of the game's greatest drop-kickers, Driscoll starred as a college halfback at Northwestern University. He joined the Bears in 1926 and retired as a player in 1928.

Halas, whose choice of Driscoll over such younger staff members as Luke Johnsos, Sid Luckman, Phil Handler and Bulldog Turner surprised second-guessers, said Driscoll "naturally gets a raise for this increased responsibility."

The "responsibility," however, isn't destined to be too great with Halas intending to remain firmly in the background by running the "business" end of the club, including player deals and drafting of players.

Attended Wisconsin A university spokesman said Gross attended Wisconsin a full year in 1954-55 and will be eligible to play for Wisconsin this season if his scholastic records meet requirements.

Gross left Wisconsin last June. If he had not previously attended Wisconsin he would not be eligible to play until after putting in at least a semester.

Annual Report Discloses—

Iowa Athletics $1-Million Deal

DES MOINES (AP) — SUI athletic activity in fiscal 1955 was a million dollar operation, State Auditor C. B. Akers reported Thursday.

An audit of the books of the Board in Control of Athletics at the University showed that during the year ended June 30, 1955, receipts from athletic activities amounted to $1,105,719.

Disbursements for the same period totaled $1,003,046. The board started the year with $353,727 cash on hand, and ended the period with $456,339 on hand.

Football Makes Profit Income from football was $613,042, up $192,333 from the previous year. But football expenses totaled $149,632, also up by $22,241. Basketball income was $85,976, an increase of $35,680. Expenses for that sport were $43,249, a decrease of $2,406.

The report, signed by M. B. Bolsem, superintendent of state agency audits, was critical of the board on the method of handling cash receipts and the recording and reporting of them to the business office of the board. The report said:

"In our report for the year ended June 30, 1954, we recommended that the method of handling cash receipts and the recording and reporting thereof in the business office of the board be revised and improved to the point that all cash receipts may be reported to the general accounting department of the university.

Inefficiencies Corrected "During the year under review, these matters were discussed with both the athletic department and university officials, and we were assured that these inefficiencies would be corrected at an early date and that proper control of these accounts will be established.

"Our audit for the year under review revealed some improvement in the handling, recording and reporting of cash receipts. Until our recommendations in this matter are more fully carried out, however, discrepancies are more apt to be revealed when an attempt is made to reconcile the gross receipts, less refunds, for admissions with the number of tickets and books sold at various prices."

The report said the board's working capital on July 1, 1954, was $333,371. On June 30, 1955, the total was $219,406, a reduction of $113,964.

Income From Other Sports In addition to football and basketball income, receipts from other sports included: baseball, $770, off 50 cents; track and cross-country, $33, off $13; swimming, $143, off $134; wrestling, $225, off $191; golf, $17,683, off $3,722; and gymnastics, $17, off $24. The total, including football and basketball, was $717,893, up $225,926.

The audit showed income from football games at home (for the 1954 season) was up $109,930; away from home up $38,853; from television rights up $23,677; and miscellaneous income was up $2,061. The total, including football and basketball, was $254,995, up $18,757.

Income from home basketball games was up $15,335; away from home up $11,190; from television rights up $10,022, and from miscellaneous off $967.

Yearbook Sales The report said yearbook sales and student activity fees were not allocated to the several sports. Income from these sources was $103,130, up $25,490.

Income not allocated to sports included: Radio, $17,615, up $6,268; Iowa's share of the year's Rose Bowl football game, $25,128, off $3,095; and film rental $17, up by $17.

Expenditures for sports in addition to football and basketball included: baseball, $10,800, off $3,253; track and cross-country, $11,915, up $1,683; swimming, $4,470, up $437; wrestling, $7,275, up $2,088; golf, $17,111, off $1,835; gymnastics, $4,407, up $157; tennis, $3,517, off

$478; and fencing, $2,614, up $121. The total, including football and basketball, was $254,995, up $18,757.

Additional Expenses Additional expenses not allocated to sports included such as team travel and meals, equipment and supplies, awards, and buildings and grounds repairs and improvements. These amounted to $748,785, up $201,909.

Over-all expenditures totaled $1,003,780, up $220,677. Capital improvements included an athletic office building which cost $239,832; a new golf course, $114,615; and football practice fields, $23,065.

The report said the board in control of athletics is a 15-member organization. Members must be nominated by the president of the university, and a majority must be members of the university faculty, the report added.

U.S. Pucksters Win; Humble Sweden, 6-1

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP) — America's brassy ice hockey forces crushed Sweden 6-1 for their third straight victory Thursday and Tenley Albright, though wracked with pain, beat out teammate Carol Heiss for the women's figure skating championships in a banner day for Uncle Sam in the Winter Olympic Games.

The gala Yankee occasion was marred by a show of friction between its two brilliant figure skating stars when the 16-year-old Miss Heiss, bitterly disappointed, avoided photographers' attempts to have her pose with Tenley, the new queen.

Criticizes Outcome Later Carol's coach, French born Marcel Brunet, criticized the outcome of the figure skating event, commenting tartly: "The judging was unfair."

But these few minor differences couldn't drown out the jubilation of the hockey forces, who followed up their upset triumph over favored Canada with a sound wallop of the Swedes.

Face Russia Today the Yank puck-chasers play Russia, the only other unbeaten squad in the six-team round robin tournament, and the championship may hinge on the outcome.

Canada bounced back with a 10-0 victory over Germany Thursday but Russia kept pace with the United States, defeating Czechoslovakia 7-4 for its third victory.

Iowa Bond Quota Up $5-Million

Iowa's 1956 quota for purchases of United States savings bonds has been set by the U.S. Treasury Department at $167,100,000, an increase of approximately $5 million over the 1955 quota.

However, the new state quota is $74 million less than Iowa's total sales for 1955, which set a new 10-year record for series E and H bonds sold to individuals.

Norman B. Shaffer and Ben S. Sammerwill, Johnson County volunteer chairmen of the savings bond program, reported that this county's quota for the year will be $2,718,963.

Reverses Ruling, County Farmer Gels Soldier Tax Benefit

Judge Harold D. Evans ruled Thursday that Adolph Bervid, a Johnson County farmer, had satisfied the requirement of service in the Armed Forces and is entitled to soldier's tax exemptions.

The decision by Judge Evans reversed at previous ruling by the state tax commission. The state commission had based its ruling on a decision by the Iowa Supreme Court. The court had ruled that a drafted man, released before he left his home town, was not entitled to soldier's tax exemptions.

Bervid served in the Army from Sept. 5, 1918 to Nov. 19, 1918.

Riasanovsky Tells Why Russ Don't Want War

Two possible reasons why Russia has not declared war on the United States were outlined Thursday by the Iowa City Rotary Club.

Prof. Nicholas Riasanovsky, of the SUI Department of History, said he believes the Soviets feel an all-out war would be too destructive, even though they maintain an ill feeling towards America.

Secondly, he said he feels the Kremlin does not believe this is the time for a major war, and Russia may be waiting for a more opportune moment.

Riasanovsky spent last year in Europe on a Fulbright fellowship, with most of his time spent in Finland. He also received his doctor of philosophy degree at Oxford, England, in 1949.

"President Eisenhower developed a large following in Europe after the recent Geneva Conference," he said. "Europeans are convinced that he is a man of peace."

Riasanovsky said that Europeans have two main criticisms of the United States:

1. They do not understand our race problem, and make little distinction between our entire country and the Southern states.

2. They believe we are sometimes too aggressive.

"These fears, and others, are based largely upon Europe's ignorance of our political institutions and general way of life," he said.

Discussing Finland's neutral position, Riasanovsky indicated that Russia supplies the Finns with more material than does the United States.

"Soviet books and papers are cheaper in Finland than are American, and some Russian missions come to Finland to buy their own books at cut-rate prices," he said.

Ask More City Road Fnnnds

DES MOINES (AP)—The State Highway Commission said in a statement Thursday that more money should be spent for roads in urban areas, and that the present temporary 2-cent gas tax should be made permanent.

However, the commission said it would recommend that the present funds made available for primary roads not be reduced. The statement was prepared for a meeting of the transportation subcommittee of the Iowa Tax Study Committee.

The statement said that as of Jan. 1, 1955 it would cost $709,420,466 to modernize the state's primary road system. With present state funds, plus federal aid, there will be $43,831,000 a year available for primary roads, outside the federal interstate system.

The total estimated cost over a 15-year period to do the job would be $643,031,913, the commission said.

Presently, 42 per cent of the fund goes to primary roads, 35 per cent to secondary roads, 9 per cent to farm-to-market roads on an area basis, 6 per cent to farm-to-market roads on a need basis, and 8 per cent to municipalities for streets.

Council Bluffs Probe

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP)—Pottawattamie County Attorney Matt Walsh said Thursday he thinks State Safety Commissioner Clinton Moyer was "indulging in wishful thinking" when he said a local civic group had asked a probe of so-called "vice and corruption" here.

Walsh's statement was his second in a bitter exchange with Moyer over conduct of the investigation.

The statement said there was no objection to any investigation Moyer wanted to conduct in Council Bluffs, but added:

"However, I personally object to the circus atmosphere in which he (Moyer) conducts such an investigation."

Fund Totals $24,691

WATERLOO (AP)—The William Mehlhorn Memorial Fund was placed in formal trust Thursday with a grand total of $24,691 in contributions.

The fund will be administered in behalf of the widow and four small children of the Waterloo policeman who was fatally shot last month while making an arrest.

The fund, launched by the Waterloo Courier, is made up entirely of voluntary contributions. The deadline for acknowledging contributions was Thursday noon.

Trustees of the fund will be Police Chief Harry Krieg, Managing Editor Gene Thorne of the Waterloo Courier, and vice-president V. Spalding Miller of the Waterloo Savings Bank.

4th Candidate

DES MOINES (AP)—Ellsworth O. Hayes, Hamlin farmer, Thursday became the fourth candidate for Democratic nomination for 7th District Congress.

Three others also obtained petition blanks. They are State Rep. W. L. Mooty (R-Grundy Center), for re-election; Leo D. Gardner, Coin Democrat, for the Iowa House and Erwin Schoening of Bryant, who said he needed blanks for a candidacy "for state office." He served as a Republican senator in the 1953 Legislature.

Butter Production Drops

DES MOINES (AP)—Creamery butter manufactured in Iowa in 1955 is estimated at 181,100,000 pounds, on the basis of preliminary reports, Secretary of Agriculture Clyde Spay said Thursday.

This represents a decrease in volume of about 4 per cent from the 1954 total. With the exception of 1952, the 1955 total is the lowest annual production for the state since 1927.

Monkey Trader

DAVENPORT (AP)—The Davenport Park Board Thursday received a letter from a Galesburg, Ill., woman who wants to trade monkeys.

Mrs. Walter Smith wrote that she has a pet monkey which has "outgrown" her home and would like to trade it for a smaller simian from Davenport's Monkey Island at Fejervary Park.

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Women in the UN trust territories are generally faring better, a survey says but bride auctions are still a blot on the French African Cameroons. Bride barter persists in the Cameroons because Papa wants his profits and daughter's vanity is flattered—sometimes—by the price she brings.

Democratic Candidates

TWO MEN TO WATCH. Democratic candidates for the Presidency Averell Harriman, New York's governor, and Estes Kefauver glance at the Tennessee senator's watch at Harriman's home before attending the New York state Democratic dinner Thursday night. Both had met with former President Harry S. Truman earlier in the day. Truman was main speaker at the Thursday night dinner.

Truman Back-slaps Polio Drive Demo Hopefuls

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman Thursday night said the Democrats will give the American people a chance to vote for a president—and not a regency or a part-time chairman of the board.

Truman delivered a prepared address at a state Democratic dinner here.

Seated on the dais with Truman were two potential Democratic presidential candidates—Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and New York's Gov. Averell Harriman.

Kefauver is actively seeking the nomination. Harriman terms his an inactive candidacy—he claims he is not seeking the nomination but has not ruled out his acceptance of it.

Absent was the only other active candidate for the nomination, Adlai E. Stevenson, the unsuccessful 1952 nominee, currently campaigning on the West Coast.

Part of Brink's Loot Recovered

BOSTON (AP)—First official word that a "small part" of the $1,219,000 Brink's loot has been recovered came Thursday.

The disclosure was made in Suffolk Superior Court as Asst. Dist. Atty. Edward M. Sullivan argued successfully against a reduction of bail for four of seven alleged bandits in custody in Massachusetts jails.

The prosecutor said he is "not at liberty to disclose" how much of the money has been recovered.

including the United Kingdom and France.
Bulgarian also said that the long-standing Soviet proposal for a treaty between the North Atlantic Alliance powers and the Communist bloc of Warsaw Pact powers "is still open."

"Calm Effect"

"One cannot fail to note also," Bulgarian said, "that the obligation of the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A. to solve all questions in dispute between them by peaceful means alone, which signifies the refusal to use force or the threat of force in their mutual relations, including atomic and hydrogen weapons, would indeed have a calm effect on the international situation and would create more favorable conditions for reaching an agreement on other unsettled international problems."

The Soviet leader then asserted that the conclusion of a friendship treaty "would mean that we can actually do something as you say in your message to convince the world that we have no aggressive designs against each other."

Benson Asks ICC To Cut Farm Goods Freight Rates

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson asked the Interstate Commerce Commission Thursday to suspend a seven per cent increase in railroad freight rates on raw and processed farm products, and farm supplies and fish.

Such an increase would "nullify" administration and congressional efforts to relieve the "difficult economic condition" of farmers through proposed new farm legislation, Benson said.

The increase is effective Feb. 25, unless the ICC suspends it pending an investigation of the railroad request for it.

NO CHARGES

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa (AP)—There appears to be no basis for filing of any charges in connection with the case of Vicki Davis, the 2-year-old "frozen girl," County Atty. Charles King said Thursday.

2d Karston Trial Opened by State

BLOOMFIELD, (AP)—The state called four witnesses Thursday afternoon in opening its second attempt to prove that William G. Karston committed a "maliciously premeditated and deliberate murder," and should pay the death penalty.

The 30-year-old Karston, of Hamilton, Ill., is accused of the $86 holdup-slaying of Wendell Jones, 56, on his Pulaski farm July 25, 1954. Karston was sentenced once to be hanged, but the Iowa Supreme Court said he hadn't had a fair trial, and ordered a new one.

Ike Receives FDR Letter, Written in '41

WASHINGTON (AP)—A letter written Dec. 17, 1941, and addressed to "The President of the United States in 1956" has just been placed on President Eisenhower's desk.

It is President Franklin D. Roosevelt's famous request that consideration be given to Colin P. Kelly III, "a young American of goodly heritage," for appointment as a cadet at the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, N. Y.

Roosevelt wrote the letter 10 days after Pearl Harbor and several days after young Kelly's father, Capt. Colin P. Kelly Jr., was killed in an aerial attack on a Japanese cruiser off the Philippines.

Colin Kelly III was a baby then. Now he's a 6-footer of 15, living with his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. J. Watson Pedlow, in Concordville, Pa., near Philadelphia.

Murray Snyder, assistant presidential press secretary, reported the White House has made inquiries and learned that the boy is interested in going to West Point.

"However, a candidate must be 17 on July 1, the annual entrance day," Snyder said. "He is not yet 16. This means it will be another year before he can apply for admission."

Girl Held in Plot To Kill Parents

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—A 16-year-old school girl charged with plotting to kill her parents so she could inherit their money and marry her sweetheart, was held in jail Thursday.

Miss Chomko, charged with plotting to kill her parents so she could inherit their money and marry her sweetheart, was held in jail Thursday.

Marlene Chomko, along with Samuel Diana, 22, and John Pitta, 24, both of Scranton, was held in $25,000 bail. They each are specifically charged with felonious assault on the mother of the teenage girl at nearby Taylor.

The mother, Mrs. Margaret Chomko, 38, was reported in critical condition. Should she die, the three will be charged with murder, Asst. Dist. Atty. Ralph Needle said.

Cleft Palate Study Meets Here Today

The most comprehensive set of facts ever assembled on children with cleft lips and palates will be sought in a study to be described in a meeting of the study consultants at SUI today.

The project will be supported by a $63,888 grant from the United States public health service and will involve seven SUI departments or services representing three colleges: liberal arts, medicine and dentistry.

The main purpose of the research is to develop a mass of information on the problems of the handicap. The objective is a better understanding of how and to what extent persons with cleft lips and palates adjust or fail to adjust to these problems.

Surveys have resulted in a "reasonably conservative estimate" that one child in every 300 is born with one or both of the clefts. Doctors are uncertain why the abnormalities occur. There apparently is no reason to believe that intelligence is influenced by whatever causes the clefts.

Advances Help Victims
D. C. Spriestersbach, director of the study and associate professor of speech pathology and audiology, says advances in surgery, medicine, dentistry and his own field already have done much to help cleft victims overcome social and emotional problems of both appearance and speech.

The palate is the "roof" of the mouth. If this "roof" fails to grow closed before birth, speech sometimes is difficult or impossible unless steps are taken to close the cleft and special help is provided to teach the person to make speech sounds. Cleft lips can be corrected by surgery.

In producing all English language sounds except those of "m," "n" and "ng" (as in "gong"), the back part of the palate is used to block air from the nasal passage.

Too Little Known
Even though extensive knowledge and skills have been developed in several special areas, Spriestersbach says members of the research team at SUI feel that too little is known about cleft youngsters as "persons." These children often need help in learning to "fit into" an employment situation, to associate effectively with others and "to become happier and more adequate persons generally," he said.

The proposed study is designed to obtain information which will help doctors, speech pathologists, dentists and the other specialists to direct their treatment more effectively toward these over-all goals as well as toward their more immediate ones.

The study will cover at least 150 children who have one or both of the cleft conditions. Ages of the children will range from infancy to 16 years. In drawing a complete picture of the cleft patient, interviewers will ask parents up to 1,500 questions about themselves and their children.

Joint Effort
Spriestersbach emphasizes that the study will be a "joint effort." The experience and knowledge of each of the consultants to the study will be essential to the success of the project," he explained.

Among these consultants will be Doctors Dean M. Lierle, William C. Huffman and William H. Olin and Prof. Charles D. Parker and Mrs. Jeanne Smith from the department of otolaryngology; Dr. Ernest H. Hixon, orthodontia; Dr. Kenneth E. Wessels, pedodontia; Dr. Raymond R. Rembold, director of the Hospital-School for Severely Handicapped Children; Dr. Hunter H. Comley, pediatrics; Prof. Leonard D. Goodstein, psychology; Mrs. Nora Ricci, pediatrics; Prof. Wendell Johnson, Frederic Darley, W. Jay Clark, James F. Curtis and Dorothy Sherman, speech pathology.
