The two largest political parties in Iowa are gearing up for an election that is likely to be the closest in recent history. Both parties are working hard to win the state's nine electoral votes. The Democrats have nominated Governor Hubert H. Humphrey for President and Senator George McGovern for Vice President. The Republicans have nominated Governor Richard Nixon for President and Senator Spiro Agnew for Vice President.

The key battle in Iowa is expected to be the contest for the Senate. The incumbent Democrat, Senator Harold Hughes, is facing a challenge from Republican state Senator John G. Moynihan. Hughes, who has held the seat for 12 years, is expected to face a tough re-election campaign.

The Iowa Senate race is considered one of the most important in the country, as the state has a long history of producing influential senators. If Hughes is defeated, it could signal a shift in the political balance of power in Washington.

In addition to the Senate race, there are several key House races that could determine the balance of power in Congress. The Democrats hold a small majority in the House, and a change in control could have significant implications for domestic and foreign policy.

The final days of the campaign will be filled with intense activity as both parties try to mobilize their bases and attract independent voters. The outcome of the election is far from certain, as past elections in Iowa have been closely contested.

The Sales Tax
One of the biggest issues thrown toward the state legislature last spring came from merchants in Iowa’s border counties. The reason: increased sales taxes (1/2 cent to two and one-half cent per roll) might drive business into the neighbor states.

The merchants along the Nebraska border (there is no Nebraska sales tax) are still complaining. So are the ones along the Minnesota border. Gov. Vavich says he is against the tax and the tax may be returned to two per cent of the next session legislature.

At all, the Iowan holds the opposite view. It is the merchant’s neighbors who are doing the complaining about the legislation.

The Illinois government has 50.4 sales tax, and Iowa has a one and one-half cent per roll sales tax.

The Illinois legislature, at its last session, passed a bill raising the sales tax to seven percent. In Iowa it is 5.5 percent. Iowa cities are now imposing a one-per cent sales tax. Some 600 Illinois towns have already followed.

As the Rock Island and Ilinois cities concurrently increased their sales taxes, the Illinois towns were deprived of a stream of revenue. It hit the low wage-earner harder than it does the merchants. It is not based on the ability to pay.

Mail We’re Proud Of
An editor’s mail is very interesting, but often irritating. Most of the letters in the envelope, large or small, contain some views of the writer very well. Most of them disagree with something the Iowan has had to say.

Every once in a while, however, someone will write us a letter which we feel is a true statement to give the editor a piece of his mind.

Here are a few samples from a letter we received last week from a man in Iowa City.

"Truthfully you are no different than the other jockeying editors trying to make a name for themselves. This letter is a true statement to appeal to the masses.

If you can’t see things your own way, move into Iowa City or at least enough to make it a proposition of two to one. I’d like to see you educate the masses and the students, throw away the old times, into our church buildings, clubs, municipal pools and playgrounds.

"The Iowan is a business organization in which many emotional thinkers cooperate.

"The whole South does not think with the band, the people in the South are emotionally below and in the South. There are ideas. The real people are in this position because of choice new and because of heroes."

It will not be made ever. The masses can only be appeased in certain cases and these are always unjustified. This one was an exception.

Perhaps the proof of our enemies exists now.

Martin’s Poll
Jan. Thomas E. Martin (3d-6a) annually sends out a questionnaire to his constituents asking them for their opinions on the important issues of the day. He made this as First District congressman and is repeating this as First District senator.

This year’s poll once again is interesting and enlightening. It leaves out, however, important questions because it has only about 90 per cent parity support.

Last year’s 58 per cent of those answering the questionnaires was a bit lower, but this was before the introduction of the roll call vote plan (which got a 30 per cent parity support).

Perhaps the most significant result of Senator Martin’s poll evaluated federal aid to education. Last year federal aid got only a 53 per cent approval. This year 87 per cent approved.

7. The Iowan is in an independent daily newspaper organization that has been founded and operated by students. It is governed by a board of five student trustees elected by the student body, and its editors are appointed by the president of the university.

8. The Iowan’s editorial staff writes its editorials without censorship by administration or faculty. The Iowan’s editorial policy, therefore, is not necessarily an expression of SUI administrative policy or opinion.

9. The Iowan, in the terms of a policy statement adopted by its trustees, is "an independent medium of communication for the students of the University of Iowa... The Iowan is committed to the perpetuation of the University’s past, present and future. It will endeavor to hold the goal of the University in trust for these students..."

Study Now, Pay Later
Suggest Higher Tuition, Installment Plan
As Solution to College Financial Crisis
Editor’s note: This is the first in a series of two articles from the Department of Journalism, University of Iowa.

The problem is not new. With all the recent financial news, we often hear the word "instalment," but what does it mean? How can it be used? It is used in a number of different ways, but the basic idea is that of making payments over a period of time.

"I never fail to make a payment, nor do I ever fail to make a payment for anything," states the Iowan. "I believe that, in order to pay for something, you should be able to make the payments over a period of time."

The editor goes on to say that he has been working on this problem for many years and that the solution is found in the "instalment plan." He believes that, if people were given the opportunity to pay for things over a period of time, they would be able to save money and that the instalment plan is the way to go.

WRA Holds Tournaments Continuously
By ROLANDA PETERMAN

"Do you like to shoot your play group - or just? If you do, the Ranger's sports clubs can be a treat for you.

For the first time ever, these tournaments are being held throughout the year. Several popular sports are being played in sessions. Others are spaced between them.

The basketball tournament is being held on SAT, and will last until SAT. The tennis tournament will begin on SAT.

Tournaments are planned for the RRA's annual basketball tournament, Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

At the end of each year, a WRA tournament is expected on the basis of individual participation. The WRA also sponsors a number of clubs. Among them are the tennis, basketball, badminton, hockey, and volleyball clubs.

The other two clubs, the swimming, tennis, and skating clubs, are sponsored by the RRA's recreation committee, which has a complete selection of equipment.

The clubs are primarily concerned with sports, but they are also social organizations. Each club has a rule to abide by, but they are all open to all WRA members. The clubs are made up of students who are interested in the different sports, and all of them are fully equipped with the necessary equipment and personnel.

The clubs have many officers, but the most important is the president. The president is elected by the club members, and he has a complete selection of equipment.

Iowa Teams, 4-1, Over Weekend

The Hawkeyes went 2-0 for the weekend, with wins over Western Illinois and Conference rivals Western Michigan and Michigan State. Iowa played well overall, with strong performances from several key players. The biggest win of the weekend was a dominant 81-68 victory over Michigan State, which solidified Iowa's position in the conference standings. The Hawkeyes are now tied for second place in the Big Ten with a record of 14-4, just behind the conference leaders. Iowa faces a tough challenge this weekend with games against Illinois at home and at Ohio State away, which are crucial for their playoff chances.

There's No Doubt About It—
City Water Gets Treatment

By DAN HUNSON

Here chlorine was added to Iowa City water. Monday in order to maintain a bacteria in the water and to keep the odor out.

"Our chlorine content is increased toward the end of the city to keep the odor down," said Dean Layton, superintendent of the water plant.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Bikts, of N. 9th St., have been in the hospital for the past few days. They are expected to be back in about two weeks.

The funny odor of the city's water is likely to be increased by the use of more chlorine. The amount of chlorine necessary to make the water safe is about 2.5 pounds per million gallons.

Rattlesnakes have been found in the area, and the Iowa City water company said that the water is now being treated in order to keep the odor down.

The chlorine is added to the water to keep bacteria from growing in the system. The amount of chlorine necessary to make the water safe is about 1.5 pounds per million gallons.
