Negro Coed Expelled For 'Impertinence'

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—The University of Alabama's trustees "permanently expelled" Negro coed Autherine Lucy on disciplinary grounds at a secret meeting Wednesday night.

The action, which leaked out early Thursday, came within hours after U.S. District Court Judge H. Hobart Grooms ordered the 26-year-old former school teacher readmitted to the Tuscaloosa campus by Monday.

Miss Lucy, first Negro ever enrolled at the 125-year-old school, was suspended Feb. 6 after three days of rioting by students and "outsiders" over her presence.

The Birmingham woman charged in her suit seeking readmittance that university authorities conspired in the mob action. The charges were withdrawn at the opening of the hearing Wednesday.

Red NAACP?

In Montgomery, the House of Representatives adopted a resolution to establish a legislative committee to determine if the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People is Communist controlled.

Under the terms of the resolution, which now goes to the Senate, Miss Lucy would be subpoenaed as a witness. Her legal battle to enter the university has been backed by the NAACP.

The Senate, meantime, shouted unanimous approval of a resolution asking for federal funds to transplant Negroes from Alabama to regions outside the South where "they are needed or wanted."

Gov. James E. Folsom told a reporter in Montgomery he had not been advised of the trustees' action against Miss Lucy but said he hoped this would wind up the situation for good. He added that he had been prepared to maintain law and order if she returned to the campus.

'Scandalous Charges'

In expelling Miss Lucy from the university, the trustees accused her of making "false, defamatory, impertinent and scandalous charges" against university officials in court and through newspapers, radio and television stations.

The resolution added, "No educational institution could maintain necessary disciplinary action if any student, regardless of race, guilty of the conduct of Autherine J. Lucy be permitted to remain."

Shocked

Miss Lucy said she was "shocked by this turn of events."

"I was looking forward to returning to school," she added. "At this point there is nothing more I can say."

Then she departed by plane on a surprise trip to New York City. With her went Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel for the NAACP.

Miss Lucy's local attorney, Arthur D. Shores, had no immediate comment on the university's action. However, Marshall told reporters on his arrival in New York:

"We leave the final decision to the good people of the nation. As disgusting as this latest development must be, Negroes and others must work out this problem within our own democratic framework."

"There are only two groups in this country who received benefit of the Board of Trustees' action. They are the White Citizens Council and the Communist party. The Communists will use this action to try to get Negroes to follow their lawless program."

Pep Rally To Be Held Today

Students will have an opportunity to show their appreciation and support of the basketball team this afternoon at 4:30 when a brief pep rally will be held on the east steps of Old Capitol.

The rally is sponsored by the Hawk-I Pep Club.

Rollie Williams, assistant athletic director and head basketball scout, will be the main speaker at the rally, first in many years to be held during the basketball season.

The SUI Pep Band will provide music for the rally. Emcee will be Lloyd Courter, C3, Boone, who served as pep rally chairman during the football season.

Courter explained that the Hawk-eyes themselves will be unable to appear because of basketball practice which starts at 4 p.m.

Courter called upon students to attend the meeting and demonstrate the "spirit and support" which the team needs to defeat Illinois Saturday afternoon.

Williams has scouted the Illinois team this year and should have some comments and insights on the potential of their squad.

Priest Tells How Stalin Hurt Church

When Stalin stopped his program of positive religious persecution in Russia during World War II, he hindered the Russian Orthodox Church's program in three distinct ways, the Reverend Frederick Wilcock said here Thursday night.

Father Wilcock, who in 1951 established the Russian Center at Fordham University in New York, said that the disappearance of the Russian underground church when the official state church was allowed, was definitely bad for the growth and health of the church.

"Another reason that violent persecution of the church was stopped by Stalin," said Father Wilcock, "was that he felt a number of the country's best men were being kept out of the Communist party because of the church."

Gained Unity

"Foreseeing the danger of another war — with the United States — Stalin stopped persecution of the church, and thereby gained unity within the country," Father Wilcock said.

Father Wilcock was in charge of 6,000 Russian refugees in a tent colony in the Philippines in 1949. He estimates that one out of every 10 persons in Russia, or 12 to 20 million people, are still in slave labor camps.

This includes many of the priests Father Wilcock knew there and many of his best friends. He described one torture used in such camps on those practicing religious rites. "The prisoner is made to sit on a beam high above the ground, without clothes in freezing weather. Most of them died of exposure."

Few Russian Churches

Father Wilcock said there are now only two Catholic churches in Russia in which the priests are allowed to celebrate mass. There are 53 Orthodox churches in operation. "There is a great deal of discontent among the Orthodox in Russia; they feel that they're working too closely with the Communists," Father Wilcock said.

He spoke at an SUI Religious Emphasis Week meeting in Shambaugh lecture room.

He briefly explained the Byzantine ritual to be used Friday at 7:30 p.m. mass in St. Thomas More Chapel.

BOYCOTTERS PROTEST

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Attorneys for 100 Negroes indicted in Montgomery's bus boycott filed legal arguments Thursday attacking constitutionality of the Alabama law under which they are charged.

Iowa City's five Republican ward caucuses Thursday night expressed optimism toward the coming presidential elections.

For the most part, the GOP members were proud of the Eisenhower administration's record although there was some disagreement over the farm policy and the recently vetoed Natural Gas Bill.

The GOP caucus meetings selected representatives to the Johnson County Republican Convention, March 16.

Pick County Delegates

Delegates were nominated at both City Hall and the County Courthouse. However, eligibility and acceptance must be confirmed before the nominations are official.

At caucus meetings of wards two and three at City Hall, a proposal was made to "censure" Bourke Hickenlooper (R-Ia.) and Tom Martin (R-Ia.) for their affirmative vote on the controversial Natural Gas Bill. The proposal was rejected.

A resolution by Prof. Leslie Moeller, director of the SUI School of Journalism, concerning agricultural policies of the administration was debated by ward caucuses one, four and five at the County Courthouse.

Commends Farm Program

The resolution asked approval of the efforts of President Eisenhower and of Secretary of Agriculture Benson to develop a well-founded, soundly based program for agriculture, having in mind the development of a long-term pattern which will be fair to all elements of the American economy."

The bulk of the argument concerned the achievements of Benson's agricultural policies. No immediate decision was made on the resolution.

It was unanimously agreed by all five wards to approve the Eisenhower program for economic aid to foreign nations and the exchange of students and teachers. Iowa Supreme Court Justice Robert Larson, attending the caucus at City Hall, expressed confidence in President Eisenhower's achievements and compared him to Abraham Lincoln: "Lincoln resolved the war position into a peaceful condition and Eisenhower has done the same."

U-Heights—

The University Heights Republican caucus Thursday night unanimously backed President Eisenhower for a second term.

Chan Coulter was elected precinct chairman without opposition. He was also elected a delegate to the Johnson County Republican convention in Iowa City March 16. Coulter and 18 other University

Loot Recovered

LOOT RECOVERED EARLY Thursday in a raid in Lexington, Ky. is shown by Police Maj. Wallace McMurray. Grand larceny charges were brought against three University of Kentucky freshmen and narcotics counts against two others in the case. Two non-students were charged with defrauding an innkeeper for living in university dorms without paying. All but one are from Louisville.

Nab College Dope Ring

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—A small party of college freshmen, tripped up by a federal agent living among them, were nabbed in a raid Thursday as police struck at narcotics traffic and theft activity.

The raid at a University of Kentucky men's residence hall, carried out before students awakened, resulted in state charges against five students and two "guests."

Federal narcotics agents said two students and two other non-students would be taken before the U.S. commissioner at Louisville and charged with selling marijuana.

Lexington police questioned five other students but released them.

Agent Enrolled

An explosion in a dormitory washroom nearly two months ago touched off the inquiry, climaxed by an undercover narcotics agent enrolling in school and rooming with one of the principal suspects.

The narcotics traffic apparently was not extensive. An agent hinted that less than a pound of marijuana was involved; none was seized in the raid.

Those arrested were identified by Lexington Detective Capt. Rolie Leach as:

7 Nabbed

William Robinson, 18; Wes Bratcher, 19, and a juvenile, unidentified by name, all of Louisville, charged with grand larceny.

Edward M. Grigsby, 21, Bulan Perry County, and Charles Neil Huffman, 18, Louisville, charged with illegal possession of barbiturates, a state offense. Conviction carries a maximum penalty of one year.

Terry Dupont, 18, and Mitchell Bishop, 18, Louisville, charged, in effect, with defrauding an innkeeper.

Dr. Donovan explained the latter pair were non-students and had lived in residence halls without paying room and board. The school discovered this, he explained, but made no disclosure during the inquiry.

"This group was organized before coming to the university," the president said "and came with the idea it was a sanctuary and they wouldn't be overtaken."

House Passes Colorado Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Thursday passed a bill which would authorize a $760 million series of power dams, reservoirs and irrigation systems in the Upper Colorado River Basin.

The action paved the way for a House-Senate conference to work out the details of a final draft of the bill.

The Senate last year approved its own version calling for project authorizations totaling $1.2 billion.

One of the major differences between the two bills is the omission in the House's version of the controversial Echo Park Dam in Colorado. It was left out as a concession to conservation groups protesting that the dam would flood a portion of the Dinosaur National Monument.

The project, designed to develop water and power resources of Utah, New Mexico, Colorado and Wyoming, has been endorsed by President Eisenhower.

It was opposed by southern California interests. They say it might jeopardize water rights in the Lower Colorado River Basin.

It would be the second largest reclamation project ever approved by Congress. The largest is the Missouri Basin project.

The Weather

Fair and Warm

Iowa City, with a 53 degree high at noon Thursday, missed equalling the record high for March 1 by only one degree.

Temperatures Friday in Iowa City should be only slightly cooler with the high about 50 degrees as a weak cold front moves across the state. The clear skies should change to partly cloudy skies.

In contrast to the spring weather in the southern section of the state, light snow is expected in the extreme north.

High in the state Thursday was 60 degrees at Burlington, while the low at Mason City was 38 degrees.

Probe Group Nears Accord

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats and Republicans drew closer together Thursday night in efforts to resolve a dispute over the organization of a special Senate committee assigned to investigate lobbying and campaign contributions.

Senators Gore (D-Tenn.) and Bridges (R-N.H.) told newsmen they had approached agreement on some points and would meet again this afternoon after conferring with their colleagues on the special bipartisan committee.

Bridges went to Gore's office after he and the three other Republicans on the committee had met with GOP leaders in the office of Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California to discuss rules of procedure for the investigation.

The Republican get together came amidst rumblings from the four Democrats on the special committee, who balked at the group's initial meeting Thursday at accepting Republican-proposed rules for conducting the $350,000 investigation ordered by the Senate last week.

Gore and Bridges were designated by the other committee members to try to work out a solution of the dispute.

The investigation was ordered by the Senate as an aftermath of a $2,500 campaign contribution rejected by Sen. Francis Case (R-S.D.) during the Senate debate on the natural gas bill.

U.S. Claims Russ Balloons Over Alaska

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States told Russia Thursday that Soviet balloons have flown over U.S. territory—that is, Alaska—just as U.S. balloons have flown over Soviet territory.

An American note to the Kremlin asked in effect: So what are you complaining about?

"It is illogical," said the note "that the Soviet government should desire one rule for itself and another for the rest of the world."

Suggests U.N. Action

With that, the U.S. government sought to wash its hands of the whole affair. It suggested that a United Nations agency take over the controversy by trying to work out "a joint program for the utilization of techniques and equipment" for gathering weather information with balloons.

The Russians have protested that camera-carrying U. S. balloons have been "spying" on Soviet territory and endangering air traffic.

American Note

The American note, delivered to the Soviet Foreign Ministry by the U.S. Embassy at Moscow, also:

1. Demanded return of U. S. weather balloons—"scientific property which rightly belongs to the United States"—in exchange for Soviet balloons now in U.S. hands.

2. Declined a Soviet suggestion that captured U.S. weather balloons, already displayed to Western newsmen at Moscow, be exhibited in the U.S. by Russian technicians.

3. Rejected, as having already been proved groundless, Soviet charges that U.S. weather balloons endanger air travel.

4. Chided the Soviet government for not publishing in its own press a Pentagon news release dated Jan. 8 which described the weather balloon project as a purely scientific endeavor.

5. Commented that the Russians had made no move to accept a U.S. offer of Feb. 8 to talk over safety devices.

State Department press officer Lincoln White told reporters he had no figures on how many Red balloons had come into U.S. hands or how recently, although he said it was within weeks.

The American note said: "It is noteworthy the Soviet balloons have flown over U.S. territory and that authenticated reports have been received of the recovery of Soviet balloons on the territory of several countries including Japan, Turkey, Iran, Finland, and Germany."

President Ike Health An Issue

GOP Chief Backs Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall threw his weight solidly behind Vice-president Nixon Thursday for another term.

It was an important political boost for Nixon, whom some Republicans would like to see dropped from the ticket, and perhaps put away in a Cabinet post.

Hall held a news conference in the Young Republican wing of the National GOP headquarters. He planted himself in front of a huge photograph of President Eisenhower and Nixon, and declared:

"It is the greatest team in the country."

A reporter told Hall he had been a good prophet in saying Eisenhower would run again, and asked him how he felt about another Eisenhower-Nixon ticket.

"I said some time ago that I assumed the ticket would be the same as in 1952," Hall replied. "I will not change that one bit."

In theory, a party chairman doesn't come out for any one candidate before the national convention, but Hall sounded as though that wouldn't be his practice in the case of Nixon any more than it was in the case of Eisenhower.

A New Force

While Hall has said before he expected an Eisenhower-Nixon slate, the timing and vigor of his declaration Thursday amounted to a new force.

Reports persisted nevertheless that some persons close to Eisenhower would like for him to choose another running mate.

Demos Demand TV Time for Reply to Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Turned down on their first request, the Democrats fired fresh arguments at the radio and TV networks Thursday that they should have free equal time to reply to President Eisenhower's speech of last night.

Party Chairman Paul Butler telegraphed heads of the networks saying "in the name of fair play, I call upon you again to reconsider your hasty decision" against granting the free time.

The Democratic chairman argued that Eisenhower's speech was political.

Butler said Eisenhower "spoke as a candidate."

The Columbia Broadcasting System and the American Broadcasting Co. rejected Butler's request for equal free time.

POPE IS 80

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII, in apparent good health, reaches 80 today.

As Democrats Open Fire on Health Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower thrust his second-term bid into the Wisconsin and California primaries Thursday in the midst of political gales blowing up over his health and running mate.

Party battle lines for the oncoming campaign formed swiftly around the health issue.

Democrats drummed on the "part-time president" theme and set up Eisenhower's health as a key issue on grounds the President already had done so himself. Adlai Stevenson said in New York the presidency "cannot be conducted on a part-time basis."

Republicans predicted that such tactics would backfire and cost the Democrats votes.

'Electronic Campaign'

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall Thursday envisioned an "electronic age" GOP campaign with no "whistle-stopping" but with upwards of two million dollars spent for television and radio time.

Hall told a packed news conference that President Eisenhower may make some "quick trips" but as Eisenhower himself said Wednesday night, there would be no barnstorming by the chief executive.

Eisenhower backed up his big decision to try for another term with assurance to the American people Wednesday night that in spite of his September heart attack he is able to handle his presidential duties as well as ever—now and "indefinitely."

Under 'Restrictions'

So, he said, "I shall accept" the presidential renomination. At the same time, he said, he will be a man operating under "restrictions," doctors' orders, and a lighter working schedule.

Shifting from words to action, Eisenhower Thursday signed the papers which will put his name in to the GOP primaries in Wisconsin April 3 and in California June 5. His consent was required in those states. He will also be in primaries in half a dozen other states where his consent wasn't needed.

Three Republican House members were tapped to fly to Wisconsin Thursday night with the President's signed entry for the primary.

3 California Chiefs

Vice-president Nixon, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California and Gov. Goodwin Knight of California were picked to sponsor Eisenhower in their state.

Knowland, who had presidential ambitions of his own until Eisenhower's hat-in-ring announcement, predicted that the President will be nominated unanimously at the GOP national convention starting Aug. 20 in San Francisco.

Although he bypassed a direct answer to a question whether he was backing Nixon, he told a news conference he assumes his fellow Californian will get second place on the ticket once more.

Support For Nixon

Nixon has strong and important support among Republicans in Congress and among GOP state chairman and national committeemen. Hall forecast at another news conference that Nixon will get the call as Eisenhower's 1956 running mate.

Yet there was also some sentiment within the GOP for ditching Nixon.

The open political sparring Thursday was over the issue of Eisenhower's health.

One of the potential Democratic presidential nominees, Gov. Averell Harriman of New York said certainly it will be a "major issue" and Eisenhower made it one.

'Full-Time President'

For the Republicans, Hall countered that Eisenhower is "a full-time president." He declared that Democratic attempts to raise the health issue will "backfire on them and cost them votes."

Stevenson said he prays for Eisenhower's good health but he also respects "a great office, which cannot be conducted on a part-time basis."

The Daily Iowan

The Daily Iowan is an independent daily newspaper, written and edited by students. It is governed by a board of five student trustees elected by the student body and four faculty trustees appointed by the president of the university.

The Iowan editorial staff writes its editorials without censorship by administration or faculty. The Iowan's editorial policy, therefore, is not necessarily an expression of SUI administration policy or opinion.

The Iowan, in the terms of a policy statement adopted by trustees in 1946, "will try to act as a good citizen of the SUI community and the community of Iowa City. . . . The Daily Iowan conceives its owners to be the whole constituency of the University, past, present and future. It will endeavor to hold the good of the University in trust for these owners. . . ."

The Iowa City Mob

Iowa is playing for the Big Ten championship Saturday. We will be playing against the team rated as the second best college team in the United States by sports-writers and coaches of the nation. Some Big Ten observers are already calling Illinois one of the great conference basketball teams of all time.

Iowa fans, however, should go to the Iowa Fieldhouse Saturday with more than the Big Ten championship in mind.

The game will be televised. That's why it is being played in the afternoon. Millions will be watching over their television sets throughout the nation.

A rash of boos or other unsportsmanlike action will be carried all over the nation to persons sitting in their living rooms.

Bad actions at the Iowa Fieldhouse will not reflect on Iowa sports fans alone. It will reflect upon SUI and the state of Iowa.

This isn't directed at the student body alone. We are sure that we are on safe footing when we say that non-student spectators at past Iowa athletic contests have contributed more to bad sportsmanship than have the students.

SUI does not enjoy the reputation of having sportsmanlike crowds.

From the University of Minnesota comes the most criticism.

It started in the 1930's, when occurrences on the football field produced ill feeling. Bernie Bierman, longtime Minnesota football coach, complained in the 1940's of sitting in front of a "wall of insults" at an Iowa-Minnesota game. In 1948, a close Minnesota-Iowa basketball game ended in a minor riot.

A letter appearing recently in the Minnesota student newspaper referred to SUI crowds as "the Iowa City mob."

The University of Illinois still carries bad memories of the 1952 Iowa-Illinois football game which wound up with a barrage of apples being thrown onto the field.

The conduct of fans at Iowa basketball games this year has not been above reproach.

The Northwestern game last Monday was an example. Iowa all but sewed the game up in the first 12 minutes.

Yet the booing of officials' decisions continued until the final five seconds of play.

We think Iowa can win tomorrow. We think Illinois has been over-rated. . . its regulars have been left in uneven games to run up the score over the 100 mark. We think Iowa's team will show the nation that it has one of the nation's great teams.

But a victory today. . . a Big Ten championship. . . a great showing in the NCAA tournament. . . would never take out of the mouths of millions of Americans the bad taste left by a display of bad sportsmanship by Iowa fans. A nation-wide reputation as "the Iowa City mob" could not be eclipsed — even by a national championship.

Lucky For Hickenlooper

Robert K. Goodwin, Republican national committeeman from Iowa, saved himself and his party a lot of grief in turning down alleged financial support from the oil interests as represented by Nebraska lawyer John Neff.

Neff, Goodwin says, mentioned "campaign contributions" of $2,500 and $1,000 in talks with him on the vote of Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper on the Natural Gas Bill.

Goodwin says he told Neff: "Don't bother to get it out of your pocket. We don't do business that way."

Neff denies that any offer was ever made. Sen. Walter George (D-Ga.), chairman of the committee investigating Neff's activities in behalf of the Natural Gas Bill, says that the matter will be turned over to the Justice Department.

At the moment there seems to be little the Justice Department can do about the case. It's Neff's word against Goodwin's. Senator Hickenlooper, who is up for re-election this fall, had no part in the dealings. It's to his advantage that he wasn't.

Senator Hickenlooper voted for the Natural Gas Bill. This alone may lose him votes among the Iowa consumers of gas, who probably would have had to pay higher gas bills if President Eisenhower had not vetoed the legislation.

Had he talked to Neff, the question of why he did not repeat the money offer (as did Sen. Francis Case of South Dakota) would have been raised.

The farm revolt will be giving Senator Hickenlooper trouble enough this fall. His vote on the gas bill will not help him any. Any connection with underhanded dealings would have placed upon him a burden that would have made a successful campaign for re-election very difficult.

No Criticism Allowed

For years, southern states used every dubious means their legal minds could think of to keep the Negro from voting. They tried to keep persons whose grandfathers had not voted from the polls. This was tossed out by the Supreme Court. They tried to declare that Democratic primaries (which decide southern politics) were private affairs. This didn't work. They tried rigged literacy tests — which are still being used in Deep South states. When all else fails, they try economic strangulation, shootings and bullyings.

The University of Alabama is following the example of the resourceful southern politicians. Autherine Lucy, Negro co-ed, was re-admitted to the university Wednesday by the order of a federal court judge.

She had been suspended by the university earlier this month when rioters cowed the school administration into taking her out of classes.

Thursday she was expelled from school on grounds that she made unproved charges that school authorities had conspired in the mob action against her.

Miss Lucy made these charges. They are undoubtedly true. University officials failed to call out extra police to the riots and failed to deal firmly with student rioters. In general, they showed a complete lack of courage. There is nothing, however, to indicate that they encouraged rioting.

But to expell Miss Lucy on these grounds is ridiculous. Is the University of Alabama administration saying that no criticism will be tolerated at its school? Are they serving notice that those who do criticize will be expelled?

Think what this order, if enforced, would mean to college professors and newspaper editors on every campus in the United States.

How Much Racial Integration In Our Southern Colleges?

By HENRY LESSENE
(Central Press Correspondent)

ATLANTA, Ga.—The riots and demonstrations by students and townspeople which led to the exclusion—temporarily, at least—of the first Negro co-ed at the University of Alabama, has posed the question:

Just how far has the process of racial integration proceeded in the state universities and denominational or private colleges in the Southern and "border" states since the first Supreme Court decision affecting segregation on the campus was rendered over a decade ago?

The answer is that all states now except four — Mississippi, Georgia, Florida and South Carolina — admit Negroes to white state universities at least on the graduate level. Pending or threatened federal court litigation is expected to force the issue in these states sooner or later.

A great many of the denominational colleges have dropped the color bar in the last few years, although not in such states as Mississippi or South Carolina, which have the highest rates of Negro population among the Southern states.

A recent study by Dr. Guy B. Johnson, professor of sociology at the University of North Carolina, revealed that well over a hundred institutions of higher learning in the South and border states now admit Negroes, compared with only three or four, something over a decade ago.

Dr. Johnson calls this a quiet revolution. It has not attracted a great deal of attention. The hundred or more colleges include both state-supported and private colleges.

Generally, according to this study, the attitude of the white student has been one of indifference or sympathy toward the newly-arrived Negro student. There has, however, been no particularly large matriculation of Negro students at any one college.

AUTHERINE LUCY, 26-year-old Negro secretary of Birmingham, attended only a few classes at the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa before shouting, egg-throwing mobs caused university authorities to exclude her from further classes as a "safety measure."

The university authorities, as well as Miss Lucy, blamed "outsiders" for agitating or fomenting the demonstrations, although a considerable number of students, it was conceded, were involved.

Some states in the South, such as Texas and Tennessee, and others, are in a process of "gradual" racial desegregation at all state-supported institutions of higher education.

However, states such as Mississippi, South Carolina and Georgia have so far succeeded in resisting any sort of racial comingling at schools, even on the graduate level, and their legislatures have adopted standstill legislation that will permit them to close all public schools, if necessary, to resist integration.

ALABAMA was in this same category until federal courts ordered the University of Alabama to admit Miss Lucy, an undergraduate. Meanwhile, the suit of a Negro to enter the University of Georgia law school has been pending for several years.

Various factors or circumstances, together with a regulation requiring an entrant's application to bear the signatures of five former students, have served apparently to prevent, so far, the filing of such a suit in Mississippi.

South Carolina was one of the first states to be faced with legal action to obtain admittance of a law student to the University of South Carolina.

The state hastily created a law school for Negroes at Orangeburg and such a course was upheld in a district court decision by Federal Judge J. Waties Waring, now retired, who took occasion, however, to comment on the state's "extravagance" in such an expedient.

The Waring decision antedated by several years the United States Supreme Court decision in the Texas and Oklahoma cases which held that because of certain "intangible" factors involved, separate law school facilities could not, in fact, be equal.

THURGOOD MARSHALL, general counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told a state NAACP meeting in South Carolina recently that the organization's next objective in the state was to obtain the admittance of Negroes to the University of South Carolina.

The case of a Negro seeking to enter the law school of the University of Florida has been pending

54th Military Ball To Be Held Tonight

Presentation of the 1956 Honorary Cadet Colonel and the music of Richard Maltby will highlight the 54th annual Military Ball tonight in the Main Lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union.

The ball, sponsored by SUI's advanced Army and Air Force cadets, will begin at 9 p.m. and last until 1 a.m.

The Honorary Cadet Colonel will be presented at intermission by Cadet Roger Wiegmann, A4, Waverly, student commander of the ROTC cadet corps.

Finalists for the title were chosen from a field of 27 by a popular vote of the AFROTC and ROTC advanced corps cadets. They are Janet Hall, A4, Iowa City; Joby Rankin, A4, Tracy; Janet Stanzel, A4, Sac City; Barbara Work, A4, Homewood, Ill.; and Mrs. Rodney Miller (Marilyn Ray), A4, Park Forest, Ill.

Easton to Emcee

Al Easton, A4, Iowa City, will emcee the intermission entertainment which will precede the presentation of the Honorary Cadet Colonel.

The program will consist of three acts. The Quad Quartet composed of Jim DeKalb, A4, Davenport; Bruce Appleby, A2, Monticello; Arden Greener, A2, Manchester; and James Thompson, A1, Toledo, will sing. They will be accompanied by Carroll Bennett, A2, Newton.

Music of the "Toy Soldier" will serve as background for a chorus line of Gamma Phi Betas. They are Elaine Patrou, A4, Webster City; Jo Jones, A3, Mt. Pleasant; Virginia Glass, A3, Manchester; Bonnie Lane, N1, Aurora, Ill.; Bonnie Kutter, A3, Peru, Ill.; and Ellen Moody, A3, Cedar Rapids.

John Elman, A3, Des Moines, and Dick Bloom, A2, Davenport, will present a skit planned and directed by themselves.

Maltby in Iowa

Maltby and his orchestra have played extensively at the Cafe Rouge in the Hotel Statler in New York city. Several other engagements in Iowa are part of his present tour, including a JayCee dance in Clinton and the Military Ball at Iowa State College in Ames last weekend.

After graduating from North West University School of Music he became top arranger for the Benny Goodman orchestra. He wrote the famous "Six Flats Unfurnished" which was one of the first big Goodman hits.

When Label "X" was formed by RCA Victor, Maltby became musical director. He has since made a number of recordings, directing his own orchestra, for that company.

Prof Tells How To Evaluate Diet

(Special to The Daily Iowan)

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — The best place to start improving your eating habits is to evaluate what you are eating now. Prof. F. Eugenia Whitehead told members of the Dairy Council of Milwaukee at the group's annual meeting in Plankinton House Thursday.

Dr. Whitehead is head of the SUI Department of Home Economics. Nutritionists have found that both children and adults learn good nutrition most effectively by applying what they learn immediately in selecting their own daily diet, Dr. Whitehead explained. An "information-centered" approach which emphasizes rote learning of the body's food requirements just doesn't get lasting results, the SUI professor said.

While adults and children both may get facts about nutrition in their heads at the time they are taught, neither will remember them long or apply them unless they are made meaningful for the individual in terms of what he eats every day.

Midwestern Diet

In the Midwest, for example, where the basic food pattern has consisted of meat, bread and potatoes, the nutritionist should start with these foods and teach the midwesterner what to add—a variety of fruits and vegetables and enough milk to build a good diet.

In teaching nutrition in the schools, the children themselves and their parents should take part in the survey of their current diet so that they will understand from the very beginning what the nutritionist is trying to do.

In a project Dr. Whitehead directed, children who were not eating enough green, leafy vegetables went with their teacher on a shopping trip to find what vegetables of this type were available, bought some, made a tossed salad and ate it in their classroom.

'Chain Reaction'

Then they prepared a similar salad at home for their parents, setting up a kind of "chain reaction" of better food habits in their families, too, the SUI professor explained.

Good nutrition can be taught in almost any class, depending upon the imagination, resourcefulness and training of the teacher, and should not be confined to a few home economics classes, Dr. Whitehead pointed out.

To be most effective, nutrition education needs to reach children and young adults through a number of community agencies.

Gymnasts in Big Ten Meet Today

"We'll try to make some points," Iowa Gymnastics coach Dick Holzaepfel said Thursday as he and an 11-man team boarded the train for the Big Ten meet in Champaign, Ill., today and Saturday.

The gymnasts had one of the best records (6-0) in history until they lost their captain, Sam Baillie, three weeks ago when he broke his ankle in flying ring competition.

Baillie made the trip with the team, but will not compete in the events, although he has been keeping in relative condition with exercise on the parallel bars, flying rings, and horizontal bar since his accident.

Carlsson Top Contender
Top contender for points is Stefan Carlsson in the all-around events and in individual events as well. Two events—still rings and long horse—are added during Olympic years at the Big Ten meet.

All-around does not include flying rings, tumbling and trampoline, three events used in dual meet competition.

Holzaepfel said Carlsson should place in the all-around competition besides picking up points in free exercise, long horse, still rings, horizontal bar and parallel bars.

Bill King has a good chance to pick up points in free exercise and on the trampoline, while Mike Stolte, a greatly improved gymnast, has a chance in free exercise.

One-Two Punch
On the side horse, Iowa will have its one-two punch in Dick Dohrmann and Bill Voge, who are usually separated by five or six points in dual meets.

Stan Beebe is a strong contender to qualify on the flying rings, with support from Ralph Spears in the same event.

Also making the trip will be Dick Kuiper, parallel and horizontal bar.

In order to be in the competition on Saturday, a person must qualify in the Friday (today) competition.

Trackmen Meet Michigan Today

By FRED MILLER

Iowa's indoor track team hopes to upset defending champ Michigan today and Saturday at East Lansing, Mich., as the Big Ten championship meet gets under way.

The Hawkeyes will be minus co-captain Les Stevens after doctors told him Wednesday that he could not make the trip. He has a "bad cold" and was told to rest.

"Stevens was good for at least 10 points in the high hurdles, low hurdles and high jump," Coach Francis X. Cretzmeier said Wednesday.

Cretz said Stevens "might come up Friday if he is better, but I seriously doubt it (that he will make the trip)."

Cretz Picks Two
The Iowa coach picked out Murray Keatinge and Ted Wheeler as the expected top point winners for the Hawkeyes in the meet.

"Keatinge has a good chance of winning the 1,000-yard run and should win or take second in the half mile," Cretz said. A double win would be worth 10 points to the Hawks.

Scoring in the meet is on a 5-4-3-2-1 basis for the first five places. "Wheeler ought to win the mile and take first or second in the half," he added.

The lanky senior, who returned from service last fall, has the fastest listed time in the mile this season, 4:11.2. Last year the race was won in 4:21.3 by John Moule of Michigan.

Chance for Three
Caesar Smith and co-captain Ira Dunsforth have a good chance in the 600-yard run, Cretz reported, while Tom Ecker and Gastonia Finch have top chances in the 440.

Smith and Ecker have the second fastest times in the 440. They tied to set a new Iowa record here two weeks ago in :49.7. Don Ward of Indiana has a :49.6 clocking to his credit.

Jack Mathews has a good chance for a top position in the high and low hurdles. Mathews now ranks first among the high hurdles because Stevens will not be in the meet. His best time is :08.6, one-tenth of a second behind Stevens.

Hopes for Top
Cretzmeier hopes for two top places in the pole vault with Gardner Van Dyke and Nick Piper, both who jump around 13' 8". Both are capable of slightly more than 14 feet.

In the broad jump, Iowa will rely on its three jumpers, each who has a first place victory in the dual season to his credit. Top prospect for second place is Earl Smith, Hawkeye halfback in the fall season. Top broad jumper in the conference is Greg Bell of Indiana with 25' 6".

Close behind Earl Smith will be Phil Leahy and Joe Camamo. All three men have done over 22 feet. John Oakley is seen as a top contender in the 300-yard dash, but he will not be entered in the 60-yard dash.

Cretzmeier's team of 14 men will compete in all events with the exception of the 60 and the shot put.

Need 50 Feet
"You need at least 50 feet to even place in the shot," he added. "Our best men, Deasy and Bowen, hit around 46 feet."

The Iowa coach will have five men to choose from for the mile-relay team. Finch, Dunsforth, Caesar Smith and Ecker are the regulars, and Wheeler is under consideration. Cretz made no commitments, but said Wheeler might run, depending on his mile and half mile performances.

The Hawkeye quartet has the second best time (3:19.2) in the conference compared to the 3:17.4 performance by Michigan. Cretzmeier said he is shooting for 3:18 and first place.

About the entire meet he said, "If everything goes well, and everyone comes through, we should do pretty well."

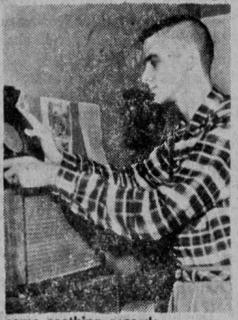

By DAVE STEVENS

Iowa center Bill Logan has a man-sized job ahead of him Saturday when the Illini invade the Iowa fieldhouse. He has to guard rival center George BonSalle, a 6-8 dead-eye who has been given the inside track for all-conference honors at the post position.

Whether BonSalle or Logan is worthy of the first-team honor award, 15,000 fans plus countless television viewers will see two of the best college centers in action Saturday.

However, a duel between the two big men will not be the feature attraction. Both the Illini and the Hawkeyes are two of the best balanced teams that the Big Ten has ever seen and team efficiency rather than sparkling individual performances will be the keynote of the championship game.

Share Lead
Both clubs are tied for the conference lead with 11-1 records. Monday Iowa ends its regular schedule by playing host to Indiana and Illinois closes against Northwestern the same night.

some soothing records . . .

These games can only be anti-climactic. Undoubtedly, Saturday's game between the nationally-ranked second (Illinois) and tenth (Iowa) teams will be the high point of the season for Logan and his mates. For Logan, a former all-stater from Keokuk, it will be his 69th straight Hawkeye game.

Big, Agile Man
He has unusual speed and good reactions for a 6-foot, 7-inch athlete. Any gracelessness that the big center may have disappears when he frequently leads a fast break down the court.

Most observers agree that a major reason for the fact that Logan's prowess has been recognized only partially in the past is the remarkable balance of the team. He did make all-conference center by the Associated Press last year.

BonSalle, chief rival, has come into his own recently, pacing the Illini to a 97-81 victory over Minnesota Monday with a 36-point display.

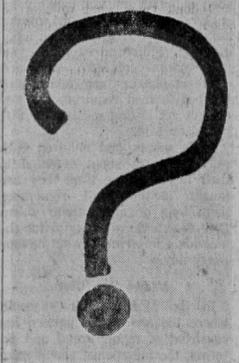

BonSalle 2nd High
BonSalle is Illinois' second leading scorer with an 18.6 point average. Logan tops the Hawk scorers with a 17.9 mark.

Logan, high point man in eight of the Hawks' 20 games this season, also leads the team in rebounds (194) and field goal percentage (.430). Teammates Carl Cain and Bill Seaberg are also hitting over 400. Defense, rather than offense, could be Logan's big selling point. His maneuvering in front of taller opponents in the pivot has meant the difference in several ball games.

A good example was furnished last Monday against Northwestern when the Keokuk senior held 6-11 Bill Schulz to just two field goals. Remember last year when Logan held Indiana's high-scoring Don Schlundt down to his lowest point total with similar tactics?

Perhaps if Logan's defensive strategy on BonSalle—coupled with about 200 other favorable factors—is effective, Iowa could don its second straight Big Ten crown.

Then the GAME, which . . .

leaves sorrow or joy.

Hoosier Swimmer Wins in Big Ten Tank Opener

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Bill Woolsey, Hawaiian-born star of Indiana University's swim team, won an easy victory in the 1,500-meter freestyle opening event of the 46th annual Big Ten swimming championships Thursday night.

Woolsey, who did the 64 lengths of the 25-yard pool in 19:6.8, got serious competition only from Gerald McManee of Ohio State, and pulled away from the Buckeye swimmer in the closing lengths.

Behind McManee, who placed second, were John O'Reilly, Michigan, third; Rocco Cirigliano, Ohio State, fourth; Earl Ellis, Iowa, fifth, and Jack Beattie, Michigan State, sixth.

The 1,500-meter was the only event swum Thursday night.

Cyclone Grapplers Top Nebraska

AMES (AP) — Iowa State College won its eighth and final dual wrestling meet of the season by easily defeating Nebraska 31-2 Thursday night.

Iowa State won six matches and a forfeit in another. The only two points Nebraska picked up came when Arnold Morton of Nebraska tied with Gordon Moser of Iowa State in the 157 pound class.

Dave Harty, 123 pounder, Bob Formanek, 167 pounder, and Mel Waldon, heavyweight, each pinned their Nebraska opponents.

Iowa State now has a record of 8 wins and 3 losses, while Nebraska's mark is 2 wins and 6 losses. Iowa State plays host March 9 and 10 to the Big Seven wrestling championships.

Buechele and Suzanne Winslow of West Des Moines Valley also tied the record for consecutive free throws in a single game with 14 apiece. West Des Moines was eliminated by Eldora 38-76.

Martin Asks More Than Yanks Offer

NEW YORK (AP) — Pugilistic Billy Martin, hero of the New York Yankees' 1953 World Series victory over Brooklyn, sulked in his New York hotel room Thursday, the most stubborn of a handful of major league baseball holdouts.

"I'm going to sit right here until I hear from the Yankees," said the 27-year-old second baseman from Berkeley, Calif. "The Yankees know what I want. The next move is up to them."

Martin was offered $18,000, the same as he was getting when recalled to the Army. He is reported asking $20,000.

"I want more," said Billy. "I lost a lot of time in the Army and I think I deserve it."

Baseball players officially become holdouts March 1, the formal date for launching of spring training.

Eight clubs have no holdout problems — Boston, Kansas City and Chicago in the American League; Pittsburgh, New York, St. Louis, Philadelphia and Cincinnati in the National.

Only five National Leaguers were still balking. Milwaukee had three of these and Brooklyn and Chicago one each.

Girls' State Tourney

Eldora 88
W. Des Moines 76

DES MOINES (AP) — High scoring Eldora raced into the semi-finals of the Iowa Girls High School Basketball Tournament Thursday with an 88-76 victory over Valley High of West Des Moines.

Jan Armstrong, Eldora's six foot forward, pumped in 41 points as the Tigerettes posted their 24th victory against two defeats for the season.

Eldora jumped into a 21-18 first quarter lead and stayed ahead all the way, although Valley pulled up to within two points at the end of the half. The halftime score was 45-43.

Garrison 92
New Sharon 69

In the second afternoon game, Garrison walloped New Sharon 92-69 to enter the semi-finals against Eldora.

The game featured a scoring battle between Harriet Taylor of New Sharon, who netted 52 points, and Garrison's Sylvia Froning, who pumped in 51.

Grafton 79
Blakesburg 73

DES MOINES (AP) — Paced by Ruth Ann Buechele's record-challenging 58 points Grafton moved into the semifinals of the Iowa Girls basketball tournament Thursday night with a 79-73 victory over Blakesburg.

Buechele, top scorer for the northern Iowa school, hit for 15 field goals and sank 28 out of 34 free throws for a tournament record in the charity department.

Maynard 81
Clarence 44

DES MOINES (AP) — Maynard, rugged title challenger from northeast Iowa, practically ran Clarence off the floor Thursday night with an 81-44 rout of the Cedar County school in the quarterfinal round of the Iowa Girls basketball tournament.

The lop-sided result closed out a day of record-breaking performances.

Kay Hasselbusch with 19 points and Sandra Woodie with 18 paced Clarence's faltering offense.

Judge Lifts Ban on Santee

NEW YORK (AP)—A justice of the State Supreme Court temporarily enjoined the Amateur Athletic Union Thursday for enforcing its ban on Wes Santee, and the great Kansas miler was reported heading to New York for what could be an explosive situation.

The injunction was issued by Justice James McNally, who set a hearing on the issue for March 9. Santee's attorney, Charles P. Grimes, announced meanwhile, that the runner, America's prime 1,500-meter hope in the Melbourne Olympics, would arrive Friday to run in the Knights of Columbus Games at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

Santee, former athlete at the University of Kansas, is a lieutenant

Santee Will Run Saturday At New York

NEW YORK (AP)—The Knights of Columbus announced Thursday night that Wes Santee would run in the mile at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

After a lengthy meeting following the injunction issued by State Supreme Court Justice James McNally, K. of C. meet director Thomas Harrigan issued a statement saying:

"The New York chapter of the Knights of Columbus has been advised that any attempt by it to withdraw an invitation extended Jan. 19, 1956 and thereafter accepted for Wes Santee to compete in the annual Knights of Columbus Games on Saturday, March 3 at Madison Square Garden would be in violation of the terms of the order. McNally signed today."

McNally set a hearing on the issue for March 9.

Earlier, Santee of Quantico, Va., where he is stationed with the Marine Corps, said: "I hope to run Saturday. I've been training for it."

Santee's attorney, Charles P. Grimes, announced shortly after the injunction had been signed that the runner, America's prime 1,500-meter hope in the Melbourne Olympics, would arrive in New York Friday.

Santee, former University of Kansas athlete, was handed a lifetime suspension Feb. 19 by the AAU Executive Committee on charges that he had accepted monies above allowable expenses for a number of track meets last year, including three in California.

Dittmer Signs Brave Pact

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Jack Dittmer, of Elkader, Iowa, second baseman for Milwaukee of the National League, Thursday agreed to 1956 contract terms in a telephone conversation from his home with the Braves office here.

The salary terms were not disclosed. Dittmer, who saw little service with the Braves during the 1955 season and complained about having to ride the bench, said earlier at Elkader he had been asked to take a pay cut this year and had refused to do so.

Dittmer said recently that rather than accept a salary reduction he would stay in Elkader and join his father in the elder Dittmer's auto agency.

Dittmer had expressed hope that Milwaukee would trade him to some other major league club so he could get a chance to play.

JUST A TEAM MAN
RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Herman Krattenmaker, general manager of the triple A International League Richmond Virginians, tells this story of a minor league hitter who went to a doctor seeking a cure for his insomnia: Seems the minor leaguer couldn't sleep because of nightmares during which he was batting against such pitchers as Robin Roberts, Don Newcombe and Bob Turley. "Try to think of something else," the doctor suggested. "Imagine you have a date with Marilyn Monroe." "What!" said the minor leaguer. "And miss my time at bat?"

Suspended For Life

He was handed a lifetime suspension Feb. 19 by the AAU Executive Committee on charges that he accepted money above allowable expenses for three meets last year in California.

On official of the K. of C. meet said Santee had been tendered an invitation originally, but that the bid had been withdrawn after he was set down by the AAU.

Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the AAU, said the crack miler, whose 4:00.5 mile is the fastest ever run by an American, may construe his original invitation as still in effect.

"I don't know what we can do about it now that the injunction is issued," Ferris said. "Maybe the people involved will have enough sense to do the right thing."

Declines Comment
Ferris, who has run amateur athletics in the United States for a quarter of a century, declined to specify whom he meant by the "people involved"—whether Santee or the meet promoters.

After Santee had been suspended, Ferris wired all directors of indoor meets advising them that they would face loss of AAU sanction "forever" if they permitted the miler to compete.

The AAU announcement also said that any athlete participating in a meet with Santee would jeopardize his amateur standing. It's against amateur rules for an amateur to compete with professionals.

Santee's lawyers said Wes had received invitations to run in the mile event in the Milwaukee Journal Games in that city March 10; the Knights of Columbus Games in Cleveland March 17, the Daily News Relays in Chicago March 24.

Gave Ruling
Justice McNally, in handing down his decision after an hour and a half hearing, said he felt that the AAU could suffer no harm from such an injunction while "irreparable harm" might be done Santee.

"While I believe the AAU acted in good faith," added the justice, "I feel, however, that the plaintiff has made out a case in his papers sufficient for me to grant a preliminary injunction."

At Cleveland a K. of C. spokesman said he didn't know whether Santee had been invited.

Sponsors of the Chicago Daily News meet said they didn't know whether Santee would be permitted to run.

The Milwaukee sponsors said "under no conditions" would they go against the directive, but added they'd like to have Santee run.

The eyes of the sports world — 60 to 70 million pairs of them, according to estimates — will be focused on Iowa City Saturday, for this year's version of the Battle of the Century, the Iowa-Illinois game.

Now that the game is upon us, it's interesting to note how well the prognosticators did in their pre-season judgments that resulted in the game being included on the CBS-TV television Game of the Week schedule.

It couldn't have worked out better for the network. The game will be the last of the series, and, as happens only seldom when the plans of mice and men are laid, the best will be served up last.

It's one of those unique situations where things worked out the way they should have. But typically, the path of both teams to this

A news story on this page documents the latest development in the continuing Wes Santee vs. Amateur Athletics controversy. A New York Supreme Court justice granted Santee a temporary injunction, the result of which will stay the AAU's life ban on Santee until further investigation is made.

Dan Ferris, secretary of the AAU and the man most directly responsible for the war on Santee, sounded somewhat deflated by the news. "I don't know what we can do about it now that the injunction is issued," he said.

We can't summon much sympathy for Ferris and his ruling body: they could have saved all the fuss had they just controlled their emotions, and proceeded a trifle more slowly.

Ferris said Santee was barred;

Have You Noticed Dept.: A dismaying run of bad luck has quite possibly cost the University of Iowa two conference championships. Latest casualty was Les Stevens, track coach Francis Cretzmeyer's top individual star, who was ordered by Iowa medics to pass up the conference climatic game was a rocky one, and contained more hairpin turns than a goat trail.

For instance, how must the man who scheduled the games have felt when Iowa was beaten in its very first game of the season against a Big Ten opponent? And did he have misgivings the day Illinois racked up a 47-point victory over Ohio State? Surely someone must have asked himself if there wasn't a better game in the league that day.

But the Planner, whoever he is, had the last laugh. Sitting in a New York office in mid-November, he accurately predicted the way the Big Ten race would stack up some four months later. And that's some trick.

He might be a good man to talk to before tomorrow's game. We've been sort of curious about the outcome for quite a while.

that started it. No, cried Wes, and proceeded to engage an attorney to fight the ban. And then Ferris pulled one of the more juvenile stunts of the whole argument. Santee's lawyer warned he would take the matter to court. Thundered Ferris: Any track meet which allowed Santee to run would face loss of AAU sanction, and that, he added, his voice quivering, meant forever.

Now Herky doesn't propose to take sides in the fight; we frankly don't feel qualified to do so. But any spokesman for a body so responsible as the AAU has no business saying that regardless of what the court rules, the AAU Has Spoken.

That's just plain childish, and about six miles below the dignity of an official in American Amateur Athletics.

track meet because of a severe cold.

Earlier, of course, the gymnastics team had lost Sam Baile, its star, with a broken ankle.

With these two, both teams had been given good chances to win the Big Ten; without them, chances drop markedly.

Hawks, Illini Statistics Are About Even

CHICAGO (AP)—There is little statistical difference between Illinois and Iowa who meet Saturday at Iowa City in a Big Ten basketball showdown before a national television audience.

The game, starting at 2 p.m. and carried by CBS, in all probability will decide the conference title and NCAA tourney representative, although each club still will have one contest remaining before ending its regular season.

Illinois is at Northwestern and Indiana at Iowa Monday night.

Illini Top Offense
Illinois, sharing the lead with the Hawkeyes, each with 11-1 records, is setting a Big Ten record-breaking scoring pace with an average of 93.6 points per game, according to official conference statistics Thursday.

Iowa is fourth on offense with 79.3 but is the league's best defensive club, holding opponents to a 69.5 average. The Illini is second defensively with a yield of 76.1.

Illinois is hitting 403 per cent of its shots from the field and has averaged a whopping 83 shots per game. Iowa has hit at a 401 pace, attempting an average of 73.

Few Fouls For Iowa
Illinois also packs scoring strength from the foul line, sinking 313 free throws for .762 per cent of its attempts. Iowa, with the fewest personal fouls against it in conference play, has cashed in 251 free tosses for a .698 percentage.

Both teams have three scorers in the top 15. George BonSalle, Illini center, has vaulted into third place with a 21.8 average. Paul Judson is 11th with 18.0 and Bill Ridley shares 12th spot with 17.9.

Iowa's top scoring trio are Bill Logan, 10th with 18.3; Bill Seaberg, 14th, with 15.8, and Carl Cain 15th with 15.6.

Freeman Leads Scorers
Robin Freeman of Ohio State, who pumped in 43 points last Saturday when Ohio State tripped the Illini 87-84, stretched his individual scoring lead over Michigan State's Julius McCoy, 31.6 points a game at 28.4.

McCoy and Freeman meet again Saturday when the Spartans invade Ohio State. The last time they got together, they combined for 86 points—46 for Freeman and 40 for McCoy.

Indiana's Wally Choice, although dropping to fifth in the scoring race, continues to top field goal percentages with 5.07.

Cain, Logan Get Honorable Mention—

Russell Tops All-America Team

NEW YORK (AP)—Just as impressive in the voting as he has been in leading San Francisco to 48 straight victories, 6-foot-10 Bill Russell dominates the 1956 Associated Press collegiate All-America basketball team.

Russell missed a perfect tally by only 91 points in the voting of 329 sportswriters and broadcasters announced Thursday. He received 308 first team votes and 7 second team notations for an aggregate 1,554 points on the basis of five for a first and two for a second. A perfect score would have been 1,645.

Freeman Repeats
Robin Freeman of Ohio State, and Darrell Floyd of Furman, like Russell repeaters from the 1955 All-America, Sihago (Si) Green of Duquesne and Tom Heinsohn of Holy Cross, comprise the remainder of the team. All are seniors.

Freeman, who is engaged in a virtual neck-and-neck struggle with Floyd for major college individual scoring honors, was an easy second in the balloting.

Cain, Logan Get Mention
The 21 players on the honorable mention list included Carl Cain and Bill Logan of Iowa, Gary Thompson of Iowa State, and Paul Judson of Illinois.

Ron Shavlik of North Carolina State got 81 firsts and 88 seconds for 581 points to top the second team. K. C. Jones, Russell's San Francisco teammate, was the only other player to poll over 500 points. He received 519 on 73 firsts and 77 seconds.

Completing the second team are Hot Rod Hundley of West Virginia with 470 points, Len Rosenbluth of North Carolina, 324, and seven-foot Bill Uhl of Dayton, 322.

Joe Holup, George Washington's 6-6 star in the Southern conference, heads a third team. Two players from the Big Ten, Julius McCoy of Michigan State and Bill Ridley of Illinois, along with Bob Burrow of Kentucky and Willie Naulls of UCLA complete the third team.

NEVER UNDERESTIMATE THE POWER OF A COED

No, these coeds aren't on the weight-lifting team. The freight car above rolls so easily on Timken® bearings that those gals can actually pull it.

Most freight car axles turn on bearings that are just plain metal shoes. When lubrication fails, as it often does, metal slides against metal causing a hot box—the No. 1 cause of freight train delays.

Timken tapered roller bearings end the hot box problem because they roll the load instead of sliding it. "Roller Freight"—freight cars mounted on roller bearings—is the next great step in railroading. A step that the Timken Company has pioneered to speed the nation's freight and save America's railroads an estimated $190 million a year in operating costs. And a step that's already under way as more and more railroads are making the big switch to "Roller Freight".

"Roller Freight" is the latest example of how the Timken Company works hand-in-hand with all industry to keep America on the go—by pioneering improvements in machines and machinery that increase speed and precision, decrease wear and maintenance. We're the world's largest manufacturer of tapered roller bearings and removable rock bits and a leading producer of fine alloy steel.

Because the best place to keep going—up—is with a company that's on the go, you may be interested in what lies ahead at the Timken Company for college graduates. For details, write for our booklet: "This is Timken". The Timken Roller Bearing Company, Canton 6, Ohio.

Three Years in Court

DESK WORK piling up all day long is one of the tasks which keeps Mrs. Irene Shalla, clerk of police court since 1953, busy. Even disgruntled citizens waving traffic tickets in her face fail to disturb her calm.

Police Court Clerk Meets Angry People

By LARRY DENNIS

An irate citizen stomped into city hall and charged up to the traffic bureau window. The graying but youthful-looking woman behind the desk smiled a cheerful "hello" and reached for the pink parking ticket he was brandishing in the air.

"Have you had a ticket before since the first of the year?" she asked.

"Yes."

"That will be two dollars, then." The offender shelled out the two bucks and made it known in no uncertain terms what he thought of parking tickets, the Iowa City police force and law in general.

"Be Mors Careful!" The woman smiled again. "Well, you'd better be more careful next time. The next one will be three dollars, you know."

As the man left, Mrs. Irene Shalla looked up and sighed. "That happens quite a bit," she said. "You get used to it, though."

Mrs. Shalla, for the benefit of anyone who has not received a parking ticket in the city for the last three years, is the woman who suffers because patrolmen ticket autos for overtime parking.

"I've had many of them cuss me out," she says. "Some of them come back later and apologize. And they really feel foolish if they have to come back with another ticket." She hastened to add that most parking violators are "very nice" about it and cause her no trouble. It's just a few, she said, who behave like children.

Mrs. Shalla, whose official title is Clerk of Police Court, began working at the job in April, 1953.

Other Duties

Handling traffic tickets is by no means all of her work. Her day is busy. She receives all phone calls that come into the city hall administrative offices. All complaints on garbage, streets, health and communicable disease reports — to name just a few — are noted by her and channeled to the proper departments.

Her duties with the police court include taking care of all money collected in fines and costs . . . handling complaints . . . doing the necessary stenographic work . . . keeping up the criminal docket . . . sending cases to district court as it is required.

Biggest Headache

Parking tickets are, however, her "biggest headache." That in itself is a full-time job, she confesses (without complaining). Besides collecting all the fines in the face of the many and varied verbal objections, she must keep two current files on the tickets — a paid file and an unpaid file.

All this is accomplished in an 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. working day, five days a week, 8-12 on Saturday.

Faculty Club Plans Social

The University Newcomers Club will highlight its year's activities with the March Guest Tea, Monday at 2 p.m. in the Iowa Memorial Union.

Newcomer faculty wives will escort special guests to the annual tea. Arrangements have been completed by Mrs. Leo G. Erickson, membership chairman, and Mrs. Mark Hale, Mrs. William Macy and Mrs. Willard Boyd.

Vice-president and program chairman Mrs. Robert Gregg will introduce the speaker, Mrs. Jessie B. Gordon, who will discuss new books and her recent travels. Mrs. Ellis Newsome, one of the club sponsors, is hostess for the event. She will be assisted by tea chairman Mrs. Verner Hinds and Mrs. R. A. Kehl. Their committee includes Mrs. Charles Wolbers, Mrs. Neal Glenn, Mrs. William Suter, Mrs. Leonard Konopa, Mrs. Robert Bowen, Mrs. Donald Hase, Mrs. Paul Welsh, Mrs. Kenneth Hoyt, Mrs. Royce Becket, and Mrs. Richard Campbell.

Pouring at the tea table will be Mrs. Virgil M. Hancher; charter members Mrs. Kenneth Spence and Mrs. Herbert Spitzer; and Mrs. Eleanor Jessup, wife of the late SUI president.

Members should inform Mrs. Erickson, 8-2938, of any changes that occur.

Symphonic Band To Play Wednesday

The first performance of "Portraits from the Bible" by New York composer Julian Work and the appearance of saxophonist Sigurd Rascher will highlight the SUI Symphony Band Concert at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the main lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Work's composition includes three movements, "Moses," "Ruth," and "Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego."

Rascher is the first saxophonist to increase the range of the saxophone from two and one-half to four octaves. He is a former professor of saxophone at the Danish Royal Academy and is a graduate of the State Academy of Music at Stuttgart, Germany. Rascher will play Henry Brant's "Concerto for Saxophones."

The concert program will include Overture to the Merry Wives of Windsor, by Nicolai; Siegfried's Rhine Journey, by Wagner; and "Cakewalk" from Suite of Old American Dances, by Bennett.

Free concert tickets will be available Saturday morning at the east desk in the Union, at the band office in the Music Building, and at West's Music Store and Eble's Music Store.

'Battle Pages' Not Practical: Editor

Kenneth McDonald, editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune and president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, said Thursday that "battle pages" are of limited value in elections coverage.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler addressed a letter to McDonald urging the newspapers of the nation to set up a "battle page" during the fall election campaign so both major parties could "present their cases in their own words."

Butler has charged that a large part of the press is one-sidedly in favor of the Republicans.

Body Recovered

A six-man search party dragging the Mississippi River off Dubuque Thursday recovered a body which appeared to be that of a middle-aged man. The group has been searching for the body of Marvin D. Anderson, 22, believed to have fallen through thin ice while trying to cross the river in early January.

Station Destroyed

One man was burned and three others escaped injury in Atlantic Thursday afternoon when an explosion and fire wrecked Lang's Square Deal Oil Co.

The explosion, apparently the result of ignited gas fumes, blew out large sections of two walls, and started a fire which burned out the interior of the building. Irving Fay, 31, was treated for burns on the face, hands, and legs.

YOUNG DEMO ELECTIONS

SUI Young Democrats will hold elections at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Room 213, Schaeffer Hall. The meeting formerly was scheduled at 7:30 p.m. in Room 121A.

ROTC Men Told Duties

The importance of ROTC officers in the national defense and the assignments and duties of ROTC officers were explained to SUI ROTC cadets Wednesday by Maj. Lawrence E. Orr of the Army's Career Management Division.

He said in the foreseeable future about two-thirds of the ROTC graduates would get two years of active duty. Of these, about 40 per cent would go overseas to one of the 73 countries where the Army now has commitments, he added.

The Army tries to assign each officer where he wants to be, but the requirements of the Army have priority, Orr stated.

Orr is a representative of Career Management, which controls the assignments and careers of Army officers.

He entered the service in 1942 and served in World War II and the Korean War. He has received the Bronze Star and the Legion of Merit.

SPANISH CUSTOM

It is common in Spain to present women with a bottle of Sherry wine after childbirth.

Honor Roll Planned for War Dead

A Memorial Honor Roll with the names of 495 SUI wartime students and alumni who died in World War I, World War II and the Korean war will be unveiled Palm Sunday, March 25, at the Iowa Memorial Union.

The gold-bordered case at the north end of the recently-completed Union Terrace Lounge will be unveiled by SUI President Virgil Hancher at the conclusion of a Palm Sunday service.

Hancher will also deliver the dedicatory service address that afternoon in the main lounge of the Union.

The first eight lines of a sonnet, "For the University of Iowa Dead," will also be mounted in the memorial case. The sonnet was written by SUI Prof. Paul Engle, head of the Iowa writers' workshop.

The idea of the memorial was suggested by the members of the class of 1942. Members of the class started a fund which was added to by each class through 1945.

Iowa City residents who worked with the memorial committee on the project include: Paul J. Blommers, 3 Woolf Court, '43, and Dr. Jack Moyers, 210 Grandview Courts, class of '45 memorial committee chairman.

Mrs. Dorothy Klein Ray, 305 Golfview, class of '44 memorial committee chairman, and Dr. Thomas B. Summers, 2 Melrose Place, '44.

Choral Club Plans Monday Rehearsal

The Iowa City Choral Club will rehearse Monday in room 11 of the Music Building.

Following the rehearsal, there will be a social hour.

The group is making plans for a performance in May. Membership is open to all adult residents of Iowa City. For information, call Mrs. Louis Landweber, 8-1729.

The choral club was formed early in February. Sue Donelson, A3, Reinbeck, is director of the group and Betty Jean Pauls, Iowa City, is accompanist.

Police Kill Kidnap-Murderer

WAYNESBORO, Ga. (AP) — Police bullets ended the life of a Massachusetts killer-kidnaper Thursday seconds after an 11-year-old boy hostage broke away from him in climax to a running gunfight along a Georgia highway.

Wanted for killing a Louisville, Ga., policeman Wednesday night and kidnaping the boy and his mother Thursday, the slain man was identified as Gerald Peter Beaucaire, 24, of Dorchester, Mass.

Police said Beaucaire, hunted all night by a large posse for killing the policeman, entered the home of Mrs. John Herrington at Perkins. He beat Mrs. Herrington over the head with a wrench and was shot and wounded in the hand by her son Johnny who grabbed a .22 caliber rifle from a closet.

Mother and son were forced into the Herrington car by Beaucaire and ordered to drive toward Augusta. Mrs. Herrington was forced to drive at nearly 90 miles an hour while Beaucaire held a gun to her son's head.

"The man made mother drive as fast as she could and we went 70 with a tire flat," Johnny said.

"We had to go around a car and mother rammed in the side of it and we went into a ditch.

"He grabbed me and ran backwards, holding me around the neck. He had the gun up to my head and the safety was on but he didn't notice it. We got about 10 yards into a field when he tripped and fell. I fell on top of his stomach. I grabbed the gun and ran and they shot him."

Mrs. Herrington was taken to a Millen hospital for treatment of head cuts and shock.

The First National Bank of Chicago, lowest of seven bidders, was accepted Thursday by the Iowa City Board of Education as buyer of a $195,000 bond issue to finance additions to the Herbert Hoover and Mark Twain elementary schools.

Deaf Indian Boy, 13, Now Going Blind

WATERTOWN, Mass. (AP)—David Chee, a 13-year-old Navajo Indian, deaf from birth and facing inevitable blindness, drew a few of his last pictures Thursday and made an immediate hit with other youngsters whose sight also is failing or extremely weak.

The impression he made cheered shy David who arrived from New Mexico Wednesday night at the Perkins Institution and Massachusetts School for the Blind.

David has a penchant for art and his favorite subject is horses. Officials explained his sight probably will be gone completely, perhaps within a year.

David came here to learn to communicate with others, by placing fingers on other persons' lips to hear what they say.

Even after seven years here—the time expected necessary for him to become able to communicate with others—he will have difficulty at home.

His parents speak only tribal Navajo. His nine brothers and sisters speak English, although they know their parental language.

David is suffering congenital glaucoma, doctors say, and its progress cannot be stopped.

The U.S. Indian Service had no funds to send David to Watertown, but kindhearted readers who read of David's plight began contributions.

The fund has grown to $4,000.

Discuss Tours To Europe

Students can tour Europe for as little as $650, John Hendricks, National Student Association travel director, said Thursday night at a meeting on summer foreign travel opportunities.

Amsterdam, London, Paris, the Riviera, Rome and Venice are among the stops included on the NSA tours. Special tours are planned for students interested in journalism, economics, politics, music, sculpture and painting. Actual field experience in each field will be provided.

Journalists will interview political officials and music lovers will take part in the "Bastille Day" street celebrations in Paris. Artists will study the world's great masterpieces and economics and politics students will study foreign governments.

Tours, ranging in price from $650-$1,050, will cover central, north-south, and east-west Europe. While encouraging students to take advantage of the tours, Hendricks said, "You'll come back with more understanding of other countries and will want to go back. You'll have more adventures, more fun and more education in one day than you'd have in five months any place here."

Applications, accompanied by an initial deposit of $60, should be submitted by March 15 to USNSA Educational Travel Inc. Tours leave the states June 23 and 27 and return Aug. 29 and 30.

For further information, contact Sondra Cooper, x4193 or Kay Schauland, 9647.

'All Business' At University Switchboard

By VIC GEORGE

There are no gum-chewing, gossiping Myrtles on the university telephone exchange switchboard.

And, contrary to popular belief probably arising from movie portrayals, operators do not give advice to the lovers, break in on interesting conversations, or give auditions for talent scouts.

"We're strictly business here," says Miss Hattie R. Goody, chief operator. "We give strict manual service just like the city exchange."

4,500 Calls Daily

She supervises the placing of 4,500 incoming calls to university extension phones during the average day. On busy weekends such as football Saturdays, the total calls reach the 5,200 mark. Intra-exchange and outgoing calls are handled automatically; so do not require operator service.

The rise and fall of the number of calls follow the social calendar to a large extent. For example, on Friday and Saturday nights calls increase.

Time of day also influences the day-by-day call chart maintained by the operators. The hour from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. is a busy one, but the peak is reached in the hour from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. (the dating period) when the board averages 76 incoming calls a minute.

2,214 Phones

The university switchboard is manned by two or three operators according to the work load expected. On busy weekends as many as five operators are on hand.

SUI extension phones number 2,214 including 1,147 in dormitories. All are reached from off campus by dialing 8-0511.

The university board is located in the same room as the Iowa City Telephone building. The university rents the equipment and contracts with the local telephone company for the service including personnel and repairs. The University Hospital operates its own exchange.

Toll Problems

Toll-charges slips for long-distance calls for each extension number are received by the SUI Business Office which bills the appropriate department or individual.

A constant problem, according to L. R. Brcka, assistant business manager, is the allotting of toll-charges to the proper roommate. A system of matching names with hometowns (calls are usually made home) has been worked out, but other calls still stump the billers.

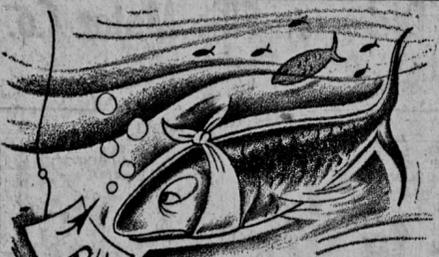

Air Force Plans Fieldhouse Exhibit

The AFROTC will sponsor an Air Transportation exhibit in the armory of the SEI Fieldhouse March 3, 4 and 5.

The exhibit covers the growth and development of air transportation over the past 20 years. It will portray the role of air power in support of combat operations, rescue operations, supply and special missions.

There will be a model airplane show by the Iowa-Illinois Association of Flyers from 2:00 - 4:30 p.m. Sunday. It will include demonstrations, stunt and combat flying, and team racing by groups from Galesburg, Ill., Davenport, and Iowa City.

Commie Says He'll Give Up

NEW YORK (AP)—Henry Winston, last of the fugitive top leaders of American communism, announced Thursday night that he will surrender for imprisonment next Monday.

He followed the same formula used by Gilbert Green who surrendered last Monday—addressing his notice in a letter to newspapers.

Green and Winston, both under sentences of five years in prison for revolutionary conspiracy, were among four top Reds who fled in 1951 rather than go to prison.

The other two, Gus Hall and Robert G. Thompson, later were seized by the FBI.

Winston, a Negro, was organization secretary of the Communist party when he was indicted with the others in 1948.

Dubuque President To Address Faculty

Surprise! Student Expecting Ticket Gets Bouquet Instead

A student motorist who thought he was being arrested Wednesday was given the first weekly Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee award.

Charles G. Schroeder, A2, Montpelier, was presented with a bouquet of flowers which he said he immediately "gave to my girl."

Schroeder stopped at Jefferson and Clinton Streets Tuesday to allow a woman pushing a baby carriage to cross an intersection. Sgt. Fred H. Lewis of the Iowa City Police Department, and a member of the safety committee, saw the courtesy, and signaled Schroeder to "pull over."

"I startled me," Schroeder said. "I came through a signal in front of the Zoology Building, and I thought it might have been red."

Sgt. Lewis gave Schroeder a courtesy ticket, and it was then exchanged for the bouquet.

Charles S. Crook, chairman of the safety committee, said members would take turns making the award to courteous drivers.

U.S., Red Chinese In 39th Meeting

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—Ambassadors of the United States and Red China held their 39th meeting Thursday in the secret negotiations which opened just seven months ago.

U. S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and Chinese Ambassador Wang Pingnan agreed to meet again March 8. They are discussing a possible Chinese renunciation of forces against Formosa and the release of 13 American civilians being held in jails.

The talks have been deadlocked for months on a Chinese demand for a meeting of U.S. Secretary of State Dulles and Red Chinese Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-lai. The United States does not consider such a meeting opportune at this time.

Last Day for School Vote Registration

Deadline for registering to vote in the March 12 school board election is 5 p.m. today.

The city clerk's office in the city hall will be open all day to accommodate new voters, persons who have not voted during the past four years and voters who must file change-of-address cards.

Candidates who have filed for the two open board positions are: Mrs. Stephen G. Darling, 431 S. Summit St.; Paul J. Frank, 520 Clark St.; John A. Nash, 504 Grand Ave.; and Earl Y. Sangster, 1106 E. College St.

Picked by Committee

The four were picked for the slate by the non-partisan school board election committee. Others who wish to run must file a petition signed by 10 voters with Robert T. Davis, school district secretary by today.

To be eligible to vote, registrants must be 21 years old, a United States citizen, and must declare Iowa City as their legal residence. They must have resided in Iowa at least six months, in Johnson County 60 days and in their present precinct 10 days.

Persons who have registered previously but who have not voted in the last four years in a city, school, primary or general election must register again.

Address Changes

Citizens who have changed their addresses should file change-of-address cards at the city clerk's office.

Residents of the school district who live outside Iowa City need not register for the school board election.

Eleven new registrations have been accepted at the city clerk's office since Feb. 23.

SUI Debate To Feature Scandinavians

Two visiting Scandinavians will debate the United States' Far Eastern policy with two SUI students in the annual SUI International Debate, at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Macbride Auditorium.

Harald Uncas Serner of Sweden and Paul J. Svanholm of Denmark will argue the affirmative on the topic "Resolved, That the Far Eastern Policy of the United States is Deplorable."

Presenting the negative arguments will be David Foster, A2, Sheffield, and Sandra Swengel, A2, Muscatine.

Serner is a 1954 law graduate of the University of Stockholm and Svanholm has been studying law at the University of Copenhagen.

This will be the first Scandinavian debating team to compete in the annual contest since it was inaugurated some 30 years ago.

Prof. Orville A. Hitchcock of the SUI Department of Speech said that the SUI debate will be the first stop for Serner and Svanholm on an 11-week tour of western and mid-western colleges. They plan to wind up their trip with a visit to Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls, in May.

Chairman of the International Debate is Dean E. T. Peterson of the SUI College of Education.
