Ambulance Service Used Over 68 Times

By LARRY DENNIS

The Iowa City police department has taken on a sideline to its law enforcement business. It now deals directly in saving lives. The department started an emergency ambulance service in July, 1955, when the Iowa City Ambulance Service stopped operating. Since then, it has been called on more than 68 times to transport the injured and sick to city hospitals.

Student Back After Bout With Polio

Dr. William Tade
Studying Oral Pathology

It's been a struggle from an iron lung back to school for Dr. William H. Tade who is again on the SUJ campus after a year's bout with polio.

A 1954 graduate of the SUJ School of Dentistry, Dr. Tade, partially paralyzed, is now studying oral pathology.

Because he can never hope to do any operative or chair work, Dr. Tade has set his goal for research and teaching. "It's the best way that I can stay close to my field," he said. "And that's the important thing."

Almost completely paralyzed at first, Tade contracted polio while stationed with the marine corp at Camp Pendleton, Calif., in October of 1954. After remaining in an iron lung in the camp hospital until April, he was flown to Veterans Hospital here.

Chose Iowa City
"I had my choice of where to go," he said, "but I chose Iowa City because I thought I could return to school if things worked out all right. Besides, we liked it here before."

Released from the hospital last October, Dr. Tade is still receiving physical therapy treatments. Recovery through these treatments should be complete within about two years.

Though the doctor can now walk unaided, he usually sits in a wheelchair while at home "because it's more convenient." With a board placed over the arms of the chair, he can eat and study there.

Eating and writing are slow processes for him. Normally right-handed, Dr. Tade has been forced to become a left-hander because his right arm is still paralyzed. A specially designed case which slips over his hand holds his pencil or fork.

Dr. Tade needs no chauffeur to take him to his classes. "When he boards the bus in the morning for his 8:30 class in the Engineering Building, the driver reaches into Tade's pocket and extracts the fare which his wife has put there."

After his first class, he walks to the Dental Building where he studies until noon. Afternoons are spent teaching as a graduate assistant, going to classes and studying.

Taking Eight Hours
This semester Dr. Tade is taking just eight hours, all reading courses, "to see how it works out." "If everything goes all right, he'll start on a full schedule this summer. He expects his program of study to take him about five years."

A veteran of World War II, Tade was married in 1945. He has four children: Mark, 6, Christine, 4, Jim, 3, and Paul, 2.

Operates Austin Aero Service—

Chasing Balloons One of Many Jobs for Pilot

By ELDON LIBBY

Glenn Hovland, a Minnesota pilot, flew a presidential candidate around two states for a campaign tour last week and this week tracked a balloon from Iowa City to New York.

Such is the work of the owner and operator of the Austin Aero Service.

Hovland piloted the tracking plane that followed a "Skyhook" balloon carrying cosmic ray equipment from SUI and four other schools through over 700 miles, most of it bad weather.

Hovland is married and his love for flying can be shown by a sort of contract he made with his wife.

Settled Before Marriage
"My flying was one of the terms we settled on before getting married. She knew I would be rough to live with if I didn't fly," Hovland said.

The Austin Aero Service at Austin, Minn., will charter flights, teach flying, and will take aerial photographs, he said.

Hovland said that his flight chartered by Adlai Stevenson did not mean anything politically.

"People ask me if I'm a Democrat or Republican. When I'm in an airplane, I'm non-partisan," he said. "I treat them all alike."

Stevenson 'Calm'
But Hovland said he liked the way Stevenson took flying.

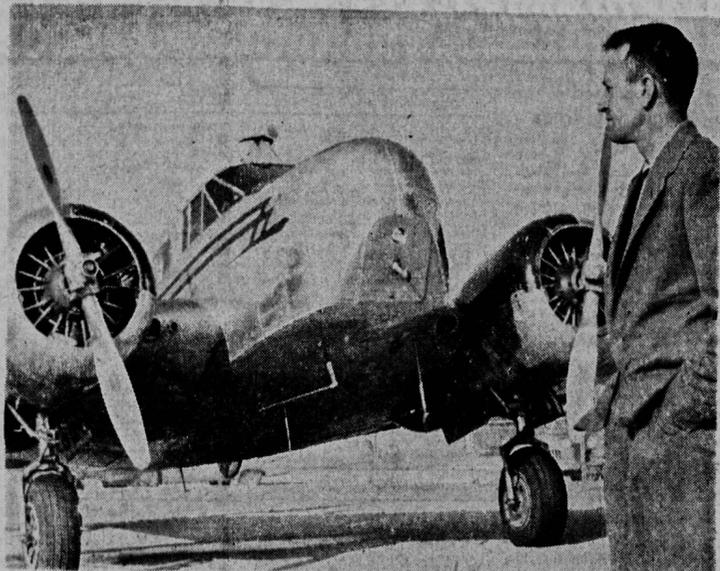

"He was calm during all the trips we made although every flight was by instrument alone with bad visibility," Hovland said.

Hovland flew Stevenson through Minnesota and North Dakota from Sunday to Wednesday of last week.

He mentioned that Stevenson's coolness was best shown on the last flights to Grand Forks, North Dakota and then to Minneapolis.

Blizzard
"We flew through a blizzard that had winds of 65 miles per hour and when we landed at the airport at Grand Forks, we got lost on the runway and had to call a jeep to pull us into the terminal," Hovland related.

"The one flight that I sweated the most was the one bringing Stevenson to Minneapolis when we had just 30 minutes to get there before Stevenson had to board a plane back to Washington. We flew by radar reports of the GCA (Ground Controlled Approach) which gave us the altitude and heading to follow to reach the airport. We landed with five minutes to spare," Hovland said, "and Stevenson was calm all the time."

Hovland does not restrict himself to flying. His "hobbies" include goldmining and drilling for oil wells.

A Prospector
"A group of us went prospecting in Nevada for gold and were doing fine until we could not get enough water up to the top of a mountain to wash out the gold," he said.

"Another group of us drilled for oil in Kansas and hit oil on four out of seven holes drilled. We gave that up when we found that the people who sold us a lease were not too careful and we would run into certain legal trouble if we continued in the oil business. We sold our stock then."

Hovland also is a deputy sheriff in Austin, Commander of a local Civil Air Patrol squadron, in the air reserve, and runs a farm near Austin.

"We (wife and five children) do all the farming ourselves believe it or not," Hovland said, "and with all our interests, (his wife operates part of the Aero Service) it seems that we make 30 hours out of every 24."

Back to the flying part of Glenn Hovland, he said he had one of his most interesting flights last July.

"I flew by air line over to Madrid, Spain, and picked up a Lockheed Lodestar there. It was given to General De Gualle of France during the second world war for use as De Gualle's private plane. I flew the plane back to Minneapolis via France, England, Scotland, Ireland, Greenland, and New Foundland (The plane had to make short hops because of not enough gas tanks). It is being converted to an executive aircraft which will be worth $250,000 when completed."

Has 60 Students
Hovland said that he has flown 17,000 hours without an accident. (He has 60 students now and 7 planes and "I've never scratched a student.")

"This record sounds even better when you consider one of his flights for the Winzen firm last fall.

"We were trailing a balloon and it flew through a tornado at the time its load was to be released. I flew above the storm and the truck waited at the edge of it. The parachute took the load through the tornado and when the storm blew over, we recovered the equipment 7 or 8 miles from where the center of the tornado had been."

"If there is a flight today, it will be the 13th time that the Winzen company has flown one of the balloons that expands to two million cubic feet.

"It doesn't make any difference to me. I'm not superstitious," Hovland said.

Expel Citizens From Cyprus 'Murder Zone'

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Britain expelled 30 householders and shopkeepers Friday from a terrorist "murder zone" in downtown Nicosia.

Field Marshal Sir John Harding, island governor, issued the order as collective punishment for a screen of silence shielding a bloody challenge to British rule by pro-Greek gunmen.

Six British soldiers and a police sergeant have been killed within the zone, all by bullets in the back, since last October.

Find Own Lodgings
Ten families were instructed to leave and shutters were down on 20 shops. All their quarters overlooked places where shootings have occurred. The expelled were told to find their own lodgings elsewhere until the area is made safe.

Expulsion of the group from homes and shops is part of a new campaign by the British authorities.

The banishment order came after Martin Clements, British commissioner for Nicosia, summoned 75 residents to an outdoor inquiry court in a search for information on the killings.

Offer Reward
A reward of 5,000 pounds ($14,000) was offered for information, but not a single clue was provided that could lead to an arrest.

The "murder zone" is a thickly populated, rectangular piece of land covering about 80,000 square yards in the heart of the island's capital. The last victim there of the rebel Cypriot movement was a British police sergeant, shot in the back Wednesday.

Defiant Cypriots continued their 5-day-old general strike in protest against the arrest and deportation of Archbishop Makarios, the Greek orthodox leader of the island's union-with-Greece movement, last week.

WINE FLOWED LIKE WATER
During World War II, wine ran in the gutters of Marsala, Sicily, when Allied planes bombed the big wine works there.

Foreign Newsmen at SUI

Austrian Doubts Reds Will Start Third War

An Austrian newsmen, visiting SUI Thursday and Friday, said that his country is not fearful of Russia touching off a third world war.

Ludwig Klein, chief editor of the Austria Presse Agentur (comparable to the United States' Associated Press), told The Daily Iowan that Austrians have learned that war is not won by the soldier, but by the industrial potential of a nation.

"America produces 10 times as much steel as does Russia, therefore Russia would never plunge into a world war," he said.

Doesn't Speak English
Klein is touring the United States under the sponsorship of the American Council on Education. He speaks no English, so he is traveling with a State Department interpreter, Werner Stavenhagen.

Austrians are interested in the current Middle East crisis, Klein said. He added that his country thinks of Middle East as a "powder keg" from which a world war could explode.

Klein said that Austrians keep informed on world affairs because they realize they are in the midst of an area which could be directly effected by any immediate conflict of world powers.

U.S. Standards Higher
When asked to compare Austrian and American economy, Klein said that Austria does not have as high a standard of living as the United States. Few middle class Austrians can afford an automobile, he declared.

When quizzed about recent good-will tours of American musicians, Klein explained the highly-publicized riots occasioned by concerts of American jazz trumpeter Louis Armstrong.

He said that jazz addicts—mostly youths—battled for tickets and tore up chairs in the theater in their enthusiasm. Those who could not obtain tickets broke down doors in attempts to gain entrance to the concert, he said.

Klein visited the SUI College of Engineering, Bureau of Labor and Management, School of Journalism, television center and WSUI.

The Iowa City Chamber of Commerce arranged for Klein to tour Johnson County farms.

Carroll County Youths Arrested

Three Carroll County youths have been arrested in connection with thefts in Carroll, Green and Calhoun Counties, Sheriff Al Thorup said Friday.

He said the youths are accused of stealing several hundred pounds of copper wire from alongside the railroad tracks north of Churdan and of taking lightning rods and cables from two farm houses in Greene and Carroll Counties.

Announce Grants
The Alcoa Foundation announced in Davenport grants totaling $2,500 to St. Ambrose College, Augustana College, Grinnell College and Morningside College.

In addition, $1,000 was designated for 18 colleges of the Iowa College Foundation, was announced by E. B. Fassel, manager of Aluminum Company of America's Davenport works.

Service Station Robbed
A lone bandit held up Wayne Upton, Oskaloosa service station operator and made off with nearly $700. Upton said the man walked into the service station office just after he had turned out the station's flood lights preparing to close.

Boy Killed
Robert L. Hansen, 16, Council Bluffs, was killed and three other companions hospitalized when their car overturned as they were returning from the state basketball tournament in Des Moines.

Those hospitalized were Jerry Dorman, 16; Larry Kelly, 15, and Michael Moon, 16, all of Council Bluffs.

2 Slightly Injured In Auto Accidents
Icy streets Friday resulted in minor injuries for two people in separate auto accidents.

Mrs. Ronald Leon, of Oxford, received minor facial injuries after her car brushed a city service truck and swerved into a telephone pole. The accident occurred at the intersection of Benton and Miller Streets.

Mrs. Loan was treated at Mercy Hospital and remained for observation.

Joe Cook, riding in a car driven by Jesse E. Beardsley, 1116 Finkbine Park, received forehead abrasions when Beardsley's car collided with one driven by David A. Bingham, 414 Finkbine Park.

Cook was released after treatment at the scene of the accident.

West Germany OKs Rearmament Under NATO Agreement

BERLIN (AP)—The final legal green light flashed here Friday on West Germany's road to rearmament within NATO.

The West German Bundestag upper house — sitting for the first time in the Allied sector of this divided city 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain — unanimously approved measures authorizing the buildup of federal armed forces that are to total 500,000 men by 1960.

The measures now go to President Theodor Heuss for his signature.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Bonn government sponsored these bills to implement a pledge to his Western partners to rearm within the 15-nation North Atlantic alliance against the threat of Communist aggression.

The bills include a "soldier's law" under which 150,000 volunteers will be recruited to form the professional cadre. The "soldier's law" allows enlistments to begin April 1.

The Bundestag, which ordinarily meets in Bonn, journeyed to Berlin for its historic action to remind Communist East Germany's 18 million people they are not forgotten by the West and to symbolize hopes Berlin will again become the capital of a united Germany.

Law College Hikes Bar Membership

The SUI College of Law has increased its membership in the American Bar Association from 70 to 89 per cent in the first phase of the nation-wide membership drive by the Bar association.

Membership to the association was increased to 78 per cent in Johnson County and 74 per cent in Iowa County, Atty. Emil G. Trott, campaign chairman for both counties, said.

Preceding the drive, the membership was 50 per cent in Johnson County and 16 per cent in Iowa County. Today there are 35 ABA members in Johnson County and 14 in Iowa County.

Republicans Pick State Delegates

The Johnson County Republican Convention Friday selected 45 delegates to attend the state convention in Des Moines April 6.

Those selected were:
Atty. William F. Morrison, county chairman; Mrs. Howard Crew, ex-chairman; George Nagle, state finance chairman; William M. Tucker, Albert J. (Pat) Murphy, R. M. Ricketts, Judge Harold D. Evans, George Dane, Sen. D. C. Nolan.

See How to Get More for Your Money in a National Home

Assembly-line techniques—which produce better automobiles and other products for less money—are today producing better homes for less money. You can benefit from the growing use of factory methods in home building which are replacing the slower, more costly piece-by-piece construction of conventional builders.

See the Wide Variety of Designs

For a home that is really your own, National Homes offers individual styling. Ask to see plans of homes to fit any budget.
