Job Outlook for June Grads—

Need for Commerce Grads Rises at SUI

(Third in a series on employment and job availability for SUI grads.)

By DAROLD POWERS and BILL KNOWLES

Demand for commerce graduates has risen and will continue to rise, Dean Sidney G. Winter of the SUI College of Commerce predicted recently.

Greatest demand for persons trained in commerce is in the fields of business education, accounting, management and marketing, Winter said.

Most June commerce graduates will accept employment in business or industry at salaries between $325 and $400 a month, the Journal of College Placement reports. The salary a graduate receives is commensurate with the technicality and specificity of the work.

However, most commerce grads realize the oft-quoted difference between a career and job. They strongly tend to gain sound footing in a career at a somewhat lower salary, rather than sell their services to the highest bidder.

Small Businesses
Large industrial concerns can train new employes in a technical field, if they are familiar with fundamentals, Winter said. But he warned that small businesses cannot carry on extensive training, and that students going to work for them must be highly-trained technically.

More SUI College of Commerce graduates go into small businesses than those of other schools, Winter noted.

In the light of these facts, he criticized what he called the fallacy that one can get a good job in business or industry, even if he has no technical training.

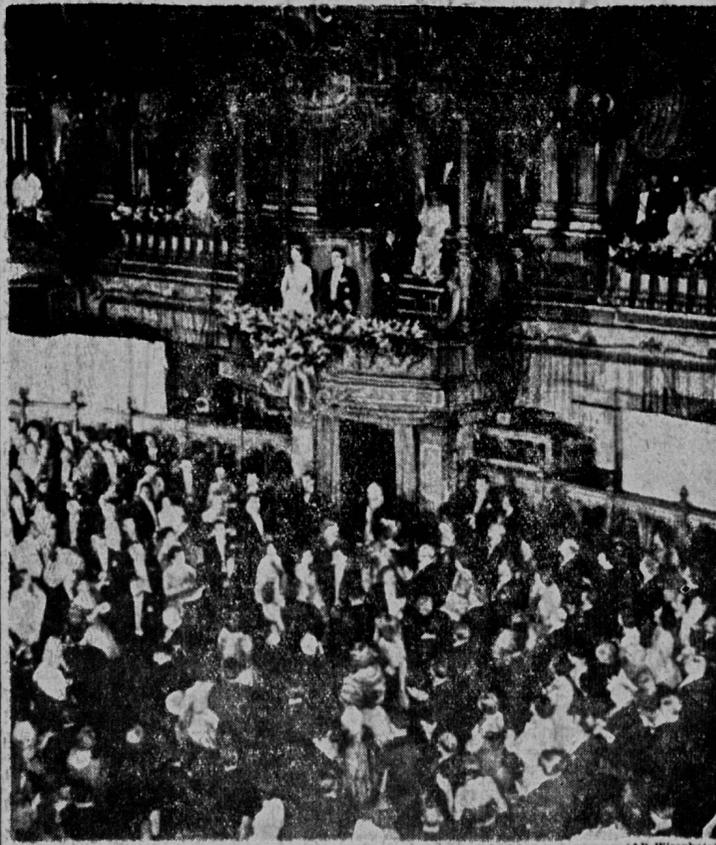

Important Facets
By technical training, Winter means that a student must grasp while in college important facets of the field in which he majors.

Some jobs require specific technical training in such fields as accounting and marketing. In other positions, complete knowledge of all realms of commerce is necessary.

"Any student who has evidence he has profited from his college education, who has reasonably

After the Civil Wedding

Princess Grace and Prince Rainier As They Appeared at a Ballet Performance After Their Wedding

Meyner Real N.J. 'Winner'

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Gov. Robert B. Meyner, a dark horse possibility for the Democratic presidential or vice-presidential nomination, emerged Wednesday as the party's real winner in New Jersey's primary.

Meyner led an unpledged slate of Democratic convention delegates that administered a smashing defeat to Sen. Estes Kefauver.

In the delegate balloting, the young bachelor governor got 35 1/2 of the state's 36 convention votes. Kefauver got one-half vote. The Tennessee had campaigned vigorously in the state for six days and had said he expected to get at least 10 votes.

The results gave Kefauver the worst setback of his campaign. Kefauver, in a telegram to Meyner, congratulated him on a "tremendous victory."

Kefauver's setback was emphasized also in President Eisenhower's almost 3 to 1 vote in the "popularity" phase of the voting.

With returns from 3,992 of New Jersey's 4,155 voting districts the vote was:

Eisenhower	325,570
Kefauver	109,694
Stevenson (write-ins)	2,274

Kefauver, campaigning in California, said he had "no excuses, no alibis" for his New Jersey defeat.

Asked how he thought the New Jersey outcome would affect his vote in the California primary June 5, Kefauver said:

"I don't think it did me any good. But we take them as they come."

Religious Ceremony Is Today

MONTE CARLO (Thursday)—Newly married Prince Rainier III and Princess Grace took their first night out as man and wife at a flashy ballet gala.

Today they will be married finally as Roman Catholics.

Ten hours after their civil wedding Wednesday, they drove in the evening to Monaco's ornate opera house in their wedding gift Rolls-Royce.

Went Separate Ways
In the opera house, richly dressed spectators stood, bowed and applauded as the couple entered the royal box, high above the audience. The Prince and Grace bowed back.

After the show they went their separate ways for the last time. The Prince drove Grace back to the palace. He went to his villa at St. Jean-cap Ferras, just outside Monaco in France.

Civil Ceremony Brief
The civil wedding ceremony Wednesday was brief and dignified. Surrounded by families, friends, and television cameras, the couple allowed neither tears nor kisses.

Miss Kelly and the Prince sat in the Throne Room of Rainier's palace — she statue-still and he moving nervously — while Justice Minister Marcel Portanier recited provisions of the Monacan marriage law.

Not once during the ceremony did Grace look squarely at Rainier. Only when it was finished did she turn toward him.

Red Leaders In London

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Russia's leaders, Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev, came to Britain Wednesday proclaiming themselves good neighbors. British crowds greeted them with thin cheers, some boos and spoofing curiosity.

Prime Minister Anthony Eden and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd dined with Bulganin and Khrushchev Wednesday night at Claridge's, the luxury hotel where the Russians have taken royal suites on the first floor.

There they began informal talks on the East-West issues. Official conferences start today on such problems as German reunification, disarmament and the middle east.

During their 10-day visit, the two Russians, among other things, will see British atomic installations. They also will take tea with Queen Elizabeth II at Windsor Castle.

Eden invited the Russian leaders to Britain at the time of the Geneva summit conference last July.

SUI Graduate Still Missing

OLEAN, N. Y. (AP)—The search for a SUI graduate and his wife, missing in their private airplane since Sunday, switched to the Olean area of southwestern New York Wednesday, but continued to be hampered by weather.

The Civil Air Patrol is handling the search in rugged country where at least 30 lives have been lost in air crashes in recent years.

Gordon Pollock, 28, and his wife, Norma, failed to arrive at their New York City home from a scheduled flying business trip to Detroit last weekend.

Pollock is a Broadway play producer. Mrs. Pollock, a former ballet dancer, was expecting a baby, according to an associate of Pollock in New York.

Frequent snow flurries kept half a dozen CAP planes at Midway Airport here grounded most of the day.

Last word from Pollock was a radio report that he was "having difficulty" over Lake Erie on the Detroit-New York flight Sunday.

An air and surface search of the lake and the shore failed to turn up any trace of Pollock's single engine plane and operations were shifted to the wooded, mountainous country along the New York-Pennsylvania line.

Delinquents
Town students in the College of Liberal Arts may pick up mid-semester delinquents at the Liberal Arts Advisory Office, 109 Schaeffer Hall. The office is open 8 a.m.-5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

U.S., Reds Agree On Atom Unit

Model-T's or Hot Rods, Cars Still Fail Drivers

Grandpa had a big problem with his Model T, and his grandsons are meeting the same problem with their automatic, souped-up cars of today — breakdowns.

Regardless of the safety equipment, the luxurious automobiles now being driven in America still break down.

Estimates based on reports from more than 18,000 garages under contract with the American Automobile Association show that the nation's motorists had 50 million auto breakdowns in 1955. Motor vehicle registrations number 60 million.

These figures were tabulated from the AAA's annual calls for emergency service. The general manager of the AAA Motor Club of Iowa, John Doyle, said the national average of a little less than one call for every car also applies to Iowa.

Car registrations across the nation were nearly 7 per cent greater in 1955 than the year before, and AAA figures show that auto breakdowns increased more than 9 per cent.

Flat tires topped the list of breakdowns followed by battery and electrical trouble, ignition and tow jobs.

Would Push Peaceful Use In UN Agency

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, Russia, and ten other nations agreed Wednesday on the basic form of an international "atoms for peace" charter.

If carried through, it would set up an international atomic energy agency to promote use of atomic energy for power, medical research and other peaceful purposes.

Others in on the agreements are Great Britain, France, Canada, Australia, Belgium, Portugal, India, Brazil, Czechoslovakia and South Africa.

The draft charter will be presented for further consideration at a general international conference on peaceful uses of the atom to be held at United Nations headquarters in New York in September.

All In Favor

A communique announcing the agreement said that "while several delegations participating in this meeting reserved their positions on certain details, all delegations voted in favor of the statute as a whole."

Russia was reported to have made a substantial concession which facilitated the final agreement. The Soviets were said to have given up their earlier insistence that the agency should be established in such a way as to be subject to the Big Power veto in the UN Security Council.

The formula understood to have been adopted provided that the agency would report to the Security Council and General Assembly but would not be under their direct operating control.

Ike Proposal

The proposal for an international agency was announced in a speech to the General Assembly of the UN in December, 1953. For a year and a half efforts to obtain Soviet cooperation were unproductive. But at the summit conference in Geneva last July Premier Niko-lai Bulganin told Mr. Eisenhower that Russia would be prepared to contribute atomic fuel if an agency to handle it was created.

Officials did not immediately disclose whether the new agency as now projected would operate as a pool or as a clearing house. But earlier reports said the charter was so drafted that it could function in either manner.

Clearing House

As a clearing house it would receive requests for assistance in the development of atomic power from countries like those in Asia or the Middle East and pass them on to countries like the U.S. and Britain which would be able to fill the order. As a pool such requests would be filled out of the agency's own supplies.

The Weather

Fair & Mild

Iowa's pleasant, rain-less weather is expected to continue at least through Friday.

The Weather Bureau predicted a mostly fair and mild day for eager golfers.

Highs between 55 and 65 is expected today.

Friday should be mostly fair and a little warmer.

Nixon Says Demos Helped Prosperity

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice-President Richard Nixon, who seldom has had a good word for the Democrats, Wednesday night credited them with helping achieve "America's great prosperity."

He still gave Republicans the chief credit.

In a speech Wednesday night, Nixon stated, "We know that, in all fairness, the credit for America's great prosperity today must be shared among Democrats and Republicans, labor leaders and business executives, farmers and city folk alike."

While Nixon said it was only fair to share credit for prosperity, he added:

House Supports Ike's Farm Veto

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House refused Wednesday to override President Eisenhower's veto of the farm bill, and plans for any other farm relief legislation this year entered a state of confusion.

Democratic leaders, who acknowledged in advance that they were merely going through the motions, failed to get even a simple majority in their motion to override. No Senate action on the veto will be taken in view of the House vote.

"This is the end of it," said Rep. Harold Cooley (D-N.C.), referring to prospects of any general farm legislation at this session of Congress. Cooley is chairman of the powerful House Agriculture Committee.

Republicans and other Democratic leaders, however, indicated they would continue to struggle with the politically important farm issue.

Sen. George Aiken of Vermont, senior Republican on the Senate Agriculture Committee, announced late Wednesday that more than 40 senators, including 3 Democrats, were joining in an effort to enact the separate soil bank bill requested by Mr. Eisenhower.

A total of 189 Democrats and 48 Republicans voted for the bill when it passed the House on a 237-181 roll call a week ago.

Wednesday's test found only 20

May Condemn Land For Highway 6 Route

AMES (AP)—Land along the proposed route for the Highway 6 bypass of Iowa City may be condemned, Emory Loomis, acting chairman of the state highway commission, said Wednesday.

Loomis added two other alternatives; abandonment of the projects or an attempt by the commission to find another route for the highway.

Rocket Plant Secrecy Lifted

CANOGA PARK, Calif. (AP)—The secrecy surrounding what may be the world's most advanced facilities for testing the world's most powerful rockets.

News items were permitted to describe a visit to the Air Force Propulsion Field Laboratory, in the Santa Susana Mountains, 35 miles northwest of Los Angeles, where they witnessed the testing of component parts of a tremendously powerful rocket engine.

The laboratory was jointly financed by the Air Force and North American Aviation, Inc., for the development and static testing — that is, testing on the ground rather than in flight — of rocket engines for various missiles under development for the Air Force, Army and Navy.

The size, thrust and identity of the engine was not disclosed, but it conceivably could have been of the type planned for the capability of flying as far as 5,000 miles, at speeds up to 10,000 miles per hour.

North American is reported to be working on such a rocket engine which if successful, would be able to deliver a nuclear warhead from the United States to points as far away as Moscow in half an hour.

Bill for Road Building OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 5 1/2-billion-dollar road building program — one of the most important measures before Congress this session — was approved Wednesday by the House Public Works Committee.

The action, which reportedly came on a voice vote, cleared the way for early House action — perhaps next week. The Senate already has passed a less comprehensive bill.

Backed by both the Eisenhower administration and Democratic leaders, the House bill calls for a 13-year program to include a 40,000 mile network of interstate super highways.

To help finance the program, the measure carries with it an increase in highway-user taxes estimated to net an additional $14.8 billion in the next 15 years.

One of the tax increases carried in the House bill would add one cent to the federal gasoline tax, now set at 2 cents a gallon.

The federal government would furnish some $37 1/2 billion for the 13-year program, with the states providing the rest.

Veteran Cast in 'Misalliance'

Shaw Play Opens Tonight

By WILLIAM DONALDSON
George Bernard Shaw's "Misalliance" which will open at the University Theatre at 8 p.m. today, is a comedy-drama that calls for skillful ensemble acting from every member of its cast.

The persons filling the play's nine large roles will be familiar to most of Iowa City's theater patrons. All but one have appeared in one of this year's offerings.

"Misalliance" is a comedy concerning an underwear manufacturer, John Tarleton, and his household — a comparatively peaceful group until an airplane crashes into Tarleton's greenhouse. Its pilot and his passenger — a "femme fatale" of sorts — enter the household, and everyone becomes involved in a Shavian plot of confusion.

The role of John Tarleton will be played by Robert Paulus, G. Iowa City, who, because he has appeared in nearly 20 SUI productions since 1948, could be called the "trouper" of the lot.

Mrs. Tarleton will be played by Pat Cliff, G. Newcastle, Ind. Miss Cliff came to SUI in 1954 and has since been in four plays.

Barry Fuller, A4, Sydney, Australia, will be seen as Bentley Summerhays. Fuller came to SUI in 1954 and in the past two years has been seen in five plays.

John Tarleton Jr. will be played by Jack Darland, A2, Oskaloosa, who has appeared in five plays since 1954.

Both Robert Bentley, A3, Ames, (the pilot) and Pat Pope, G, Coralville (Lord Summerhays), came to the theater this year. Both had leading roles in "Dial 'M' for Murder."

Jeanlee Mathey, A1, Earlville (Hypatia Tarleton); Candace Hilligoss, A3, Huron, S. D. (Lina Szczepanowska); and Dennis Jones, A1, Marion ("Gunner") came to SUI this year and have been seen in "Ondine." Jones also has appeared in "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial."

"Misalliance" is being directed by Willard Welsh, instructor in Dramatic Arts. J. P. Cochran, G. Gadsden, Ala., is assistant director. Costumes are by Prof. Margaret Hall; settings were designed by Prof. Arnold S. Gillette; and lighting is by Prof. Walter Dewey.

The play will run tonight through Saturday and April 25 through 28.

SUI students may receive free reserved seat tickets upon presentation of their ID cards at University Theatre box office, Room 8A, Schaeffer Hall. Others may acquire reserved seats at the same place for $1.25.

The Daily Iowan is an independent daily newspaper, written and edited by students. It is governed by a board of five student trustees elected by the student body and four faculty trustees appointed by the president of the university.

The Iowan editorial staff writes its editorials without censorship by administration or faculty. The Iowan's editorial policy, therefore, is not necessarily an expression of SUI administration policy or opinion.

The Iowan, in the terms of a policy statement adopted by trustees in 1946, "will try to act as a good citizen of the SUI community and the community of Iowa City. . . . The Daily Iowan conceives its owners to be the whole constituency of the University, past, present and future. It will endeavor to hold the good of the University in trust for these owners. . . ."

'Justice' in Indonesia

The Indonesian Republic is only seven years old, but it already has on its hands a cause celebre to rank with France's Dreyfus Case and the United States' Sacco and Vanzetti Case.

It involves the trial of Leon Nicolaas Jungschlaeger, a 52-year-old Dutch citizen who is accused of conspiring to overthrow the Indonesian government.

To understand the Jungschlaeger case one must understand the hatred of Indonesians for their former Dutch masters. The Netherlands, unlike Great Britain, believed to the end that it could hold onto its East Indies colony against the tide of nationalism that swept Asia after World War II. The Dutch government refused to give ground and finally had to give up Indonesia in the midst of a rebellion.

India maintained friendly diplomatic relations with Great Britain after it attained freedom. When the last Dutch troops left Indonesia, Indonesians changed the names of all towns and streets and tore down the statues of Dutch governors to wipe out the memory of everything Dutch.

Jungschlaeger during this time was head of Dutch Military Intelligence. He left when the Dutch colonial government left, and returned shortly afterward as an executive in a Dutch shipping firm. In 1954, the Indonesian government suspected that bitter Dutchmen were aiding rebels who were fighting the Republic. Jungschlaeger, a man hated by many Indonesian patriots, was among 30 Dutchmen rounded up.

Since then Jungschlaeger has become the defendant in a trial being run like no other trial of recent times, except in Communist nations.

The trial is practically a comic opera farce. It would be funny if a serious matter like a man's life (the death penalty has been demanded) were not at stake.

... the trial spectators shout "Death to

Why the Secrecy?

The Eisenhower administration and Senator John McClellan's (D-Ark.) government operations committee have backed themselves into ridiculous positions in their dispute over the lifting of the allied embargo on the shipment of certain strategic goods to the Soviet Union.

The administration last year took certain goods off the embargo list to allow our allies to trade with Communist bloc nations to boost their economies. Just what goods were taken off the list has remained a secret.

Now McClellan is demanding that his committee be allowed to see the list. Administration spokesmen have offered to show it to senators at a closed session. The committee has refused this offer.

These proceedings raise three points. First, the senators want to make po-

It'll be all over today. Grace Kelly will have been married to Prince Rainier and they'll be off on their honeymoon aboard the Prince's yacht, the Deo Juvante II. ## World Ponders Dead Sea Scrolls

Opinions Vary on Significance of Ancient Documents, Committee Trying To Solve 'Jigsaw'

By WILLIAM KNOWLES Daily Iowan Staff Writer

From the spring day in 1947 when an Arab boy wandered into a cave near the western shore of the Dead Sea and came out with an armful of leather rolls wrapped in linen cloths, the world of religion has discussed and re-discussed the meaning of the "Dead Sea Scrolls."

When the copper and papyrus documents eventually came into the hands of Semitic experts in Jerusalem, they were identified as ancient Hebrew manuscripts. Included were:

1. A text, differing significantly from the traditional Jewish definitive revision, of the Biblical Book of Isaiah.
2. A commentary on the Book of Habakkuk, in which the author attempted to parallel words of that prophet to events of his own time.
3. A detailed plan of campaign for an apocalyptic (having to do with prophetic revelation) war between the Sons of Light and the Sons of Darkness.
4. A volume of psalms and hymns of thanksgiving written with intense mystic fervor by men who believed they had reached and gone beyond the limitations of their mortality.
5. The Rule (manual of discipline) of a Jewish sect.

Expeditions to this land, known as Qumran, where the first scrolls were found, produced results that bordered on the fantastic. Countless fragments of writing, representing numerous religious works of pre-Christian eras, were discovered, including parts of almost every book in the Old Testament, passages of further commentaries on religious books, and pieces of Hebrew and Aramaic (an extinct Semitic language dating back to 600 B.C.), originals of several apocryphal works which had previously survived only in Greek and other less ancient languages.

Modern historians have given modern scholars an hypothesis that the Qumran area was the habitation of Essenes — ascetic Jews who left the cities so they could lead what they believed to be holy lives. They organized themselves into a desert community which evidently operated along somewhat communistic lines.

However, this hypothesis has not been completely proven because the many different accounts of Essenic practice and belief are discordant with evidence which the scrolls have brought forth. But many scholars tend to believe that the Essenes were the actual authors of the scrolls because the scrolls often concur with other accounts of Essenic history. But whoever the authors of the scrolls were, scholars generally agree that the dominant belief of these people who dwelled in the arid Qumran community was a belief that they were approaching the end of one of the great cycles of time. It is also understood that the leader of the sect was worshipped as a "Teacher of Righteousness."

Two of the religious world's foremost scholars, Prof. Andre Dupont-

Sommer of the University of Paris, and Prof. Frank M. Cross Jr., of the American School of Oriental Research, Jerusalem, and McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago, believe the Essenes penned the scrolls but differ decidedly on the extent to which the scrolls affect traditional Christianity.

Dupont-Sommer, an ex-Roman Catholic priest, was recently quoted by Time as saying: "All the problems relative to primitive Christianity henceforth find themselves placed in a new light, which forces us to reconsider them completely. Christ in many respects is an astonishing reincarnation of the Essene Teacher of Righteousness."

Cross, who lectured on the scrolls to a near-capacity audience in Shambaugh Auditorium on the SUI campus last week, has termed many of Dupont-Sommer's views "flamboyant." He has said that no Christian need stand in dread of the scrolls. The Presbyterian Cross told his SUI audience that both Essene and New Testament writers "drank from a common source of theological knowledge, and shared common religious institutions. The Essenes believed that they were the people of the New Testament. Another scholar, Theodor H. Gaster of the Columbia University School of Religion, said in a recent article in Saturday Review: "Perhaps . . . too much attention is being paid to what has been said about the scrolls and too little

Tougher Speeding Laws, People Getting Educated—

U. S. Now Having Fewer Traffic Fatalities

By LEONARD J. SNYDER Central Press Association Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Two greatly overlooked but highly important changes are now taking place on our highways. The first is that we're "wising up" to highway education and common sense. The second is that we're putting "more teeth" into the law to cut down on highway speeding. Both are paying life-time dividends.

Last year, according to a preliminary survey just completed by the American Automobile Association, there were fewer pedestrian deaths on our highways than in any other single year on record. At the same time, there's been a sizable increase in the number of "radar" speed determining sets put into operation in states with heavy traffic fatalities.

The AAA survey on pedestrian deaths in 1955 showed a toll of 7,482 throughout the nation. The previous year was in 1954, when some 400 more persons died as the result of being hit by vehicles. The worst year was 1937, when 15,500 pedestrians were killed.

THE NEW RECORD-LOW figure for fatal pedestrian accidents reflects the efforts of the many state and local officials who have been responsible for enactment and enforcement of intelligent, progressive traffic laws and ordinances designed to give greater protection to the "man in the street," says AAA President Andrew Sordani.

of pedestrian safety in the face of America's rising population and vehicle registration.

Sordani points out that "the elementary schools, especially, are doing an outstanding job." He said "there is hardly a kindergarten or first grade pupil in the country who is not taught the basic principles of safe walking."

The AAA president adds that "if we were doing the same job on as large a scale with beginning drivers, we could probably point with equal pride to other motor vehicle accident statistics."

Meanwhile, the states are stepping up their drives to crack down on speeders with the use of more radar devices. A total of 1,398 radar sets, representing a two-year gain of 146 percent, have been licensed by the federal government to state and city police and highway departments to check on motor vehicle speeds.

Ohio is the leading user of radar, with 174 sets licensed, while Wisconsin is second with 122, and Texas, which slightly over a year ago had only 31, now has 110 sets in use.

A New York traffic cop tests radar check on speeders.

licensed for speed law enforcement in April, 1954, there were only 563 sets in use. Of the 1,398 sets licensed today, 126 were obtained by highway departments for the primary purpose of making traffic studies. The others—1,272—were licensed to police departments primarily to crack down on speeders.

SORDANI, whose organization has more than 4.7 million members, asserts that "if speed laws are to be enforced with split-second, electronic time measuring devices, lawmakers should give equal attention to using modern methods for establishing sensible, scientifically determined speed zones applicable to individual stretches of highway."

When the AAA made its first survey of the number of radar sets

Sewing Business Earns Pin Money

By AUDREY ROORDA

A pair of Currier Hall roommates who are handy with scissors and needle are spending part of their out-of-class hours sewing for other residents of the women's dormitory.

Nancy Buckley, A1, Woodstown, N.J., and Carole Smith, A2, Van Cleve, became roommates at the beginning of this semester, and went into the "sewing business" together about a month ago.

"When the other girls found out we could sew, they were always bringing things to our room to be altered or mended," Nancy said. "We decided we might just as well be making a profit on the time we were spending on it."

Both veteran seamstresses, Nancy and Carole love sewing, and began working with needles and pins when they were very young. "I started sewing doll clothes when I was three," Carole explained, "but I didn't use the sewing machine until two years later." More recently she has been a sewing instructor for a sewing machine company in Des Moines and Marshalltown and for the same company in Iowa City.

Nancy said that she began making some of her own clothes when she was 10 years old, and from seventh grade on has made nearly all of her outfits. She also sews for her mother and for her niece.

Hung Their Shingle
Since the day they hung their "Sewing and Alteration" shingle on a main bulletin board at Currier Hall, they have made several skirts, sports outfits, and suits, and have altered numerous skirts and other clothes.

"Lots of kids got skirts for Christmas that didn't fit, and didn't get around to having them altered until now," Nancy said.

"And right now everyone's losing weight for summer," Carole added. "This helps our business." Both girls find it more interesting to "start from scratch" than to alter something old.

Dance Day Rush
So far the girls haven't been rushed in their sewing, but they report that they have a more than thriving business on days when big dances are scheduled because many last minute repairs and adjustments have to be made on formal.

Also busy are the days right after the dances, when "all the rips have to be sewed up."

Gathered skirts and bermuda shorts are in demand right now with picnic weather approaching. A few weeks ago, Easter suits were tops in popularity.

The girls haven't limited their talents completely to sewing women's clothes. Nancy is making a man's sport shirt at present, and Carole has been helping her fiancé achieve the "new look" by tapering his trousers' legs.

Sewing Classes
Both girls are taking textile and sewing courses in the SUI Home Economics Department. Carole estimates that she sometimes spends as much as 30 hours a week sewing.

Nancy says that she sews more "inspired," part of the time at her sister's home in Iowa City. Carole owns a portable machine which both girls use.

The girls report that although they won't be able to retire from earnings on their projects, they are earning enough for spending money and for buying material to make into clothes for themselves.

ROOMMATES AND BUSINESS ASSOCIATES, these girls make spending money by sewing for fellow residents at Currier Hall. They also make most of their own clothes. Here Nancy Buckley, A1, Woodstown, N.J., helps Carole Smith, A2, Van Cleve, make final adjustments on a dress she is sewing for herself. Material for the dress was paid for out of profits from sewing projects.

Mrs. Riasanovsky To Tell University Club About Finland

Mrs. Nicholas Riasanovsky will describe the life and activities of women in Finland at 2:30 today at a meeting of the University Club in the Club Rooms of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Mrs. Riasanovsky was married in Helsinki, Finland, and lived there with her husband, a member of the SUI History Department, while he studied under a Fulbright grant at the University of Finland.

New Apartment
The couple lived in a new apartment in a modern suburb in Helsinki where they had a number of English neighbors. Nearby there was a supermarket. Mrs. Riasanovsky was lucky in this respect because supermarkets are a rarity in Finland.

The store didn't stock meat, bread or dairy products, however. They all had to be purchased in other shops.

The barrier of the Finnish language and the lack of modern household equipment, which Americans take for granted, were two things that made living in Finland difficult.

But the couple found it easy to communicate with many of the Finnish people who spoke both English and German.

Visited Continent
Before returning to Iowa City, the Riasanovskys visited France, Italy, Switzerland, Austria, Bavaria, England and Scotland. They spent a month each in France, Italy and Switzerland.

In England, they visited Oxford University where Professor Riasanovsky had received his Ph.D. degree. They were in Scotland for the Edinburgh Festival.

Mrs. Riasanovsky brought home from Finland many art objects and handiwork, which will be shown at the tea.

Captains Doubtful In Hawk Grid Lineup

By DAVE STEVENS

Iowa's football team may start the 1956 fall season without either co-captain on the field.

This odd situation has cropped up in spring practice both because of injuries and because of some hot competition at the guard and center positions.

The co-captains, elected at the end of the 1955 season, are guard Dick Deasy and center Don Suchy. Neither one is playing on first string as spring practice moves into its second week.

Bad Neck
Suchy has a bad neck, which Coach Forest Evashevski is trying to protect with as little contact as possible. "But Suchy will have to work for his job," Evy said. "Van Buren played a lot last year and is looking pretty good so far."

Last season both Suchy and Van Buren had recurring leg injuries, which limited their playing time. Suchy will be a senior next year and Van Buren a junior.

Deasy, who will be a senior next fall, teamed with all-American Cal Jones at the guard positions last year. Deasy has missed spring practices because of a recent knee operation.

Promising Candidates
Looking over the list of eight promising candidates for the four inside line posts, Evashevski remarked, "We don't even know where to put Deasy. He could end up in any one of the guard or tackle positions—that is, if his knee mends O.K. and he can beat the others out."

Graduation took a large chunk out of the Hawkeye lineups. Among those who must be replaced are linemen Cal Jones, Roger Swedberg, and Jim Freeman and backs Jerry Reichow, Earl Smith, Eddie Vincent and Roger Wiegmann.

Next fall could be labeled a "rebuilding" year for Iowa. At present there are only four seniors on the first two teams.

Besides being green, Iowa—according to Evashevski—will be "shallower in depth than it has been in the last three years."

New Unit
"Our job this year," he said, "is not just to fill a hole or two. We are looking for a whole new unit that can move."

Injuries have pared the first team down so that it looks like this: ends—Frank Gilliam and Jim Gibbons; tackles—Frank Rigney and Alex Karras; guards—Frank Bloomquist and Dick (Sleepy) Kline; center—Bill Van Buren; quarterback—Kenny Ploen; halfbacks—Don Dobrino and Mike Hagler; and fullback John Nocera.

Karras, 245-pound left tackle,

Former National League Chief Dies

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—John A. Heydler, 86, former baseball president of the National Baseball League, died Wednesday.

He died at a suburban rest home where he lived for the last several years as a virtual invalid due to poor health and eyesight. He leaves his widow who was with him when he died.

Funeral services will be held here at 2 p.m. Friday at Cypress View Cemetery.

has moved up to the first unit since veteran George Kress was sidelined with an old knee injury and John Burroughs received a dislocated elbow.

Bowen Benched
Don Bowen, who started several games last year as a sophomore tackle, has also been benched because of a dislocated elbow. Bowen and Burroughs look like the eventual starting tackles even though converted end Rigney has found the new position to his liking.

Evashevski singled out sophomore Gary Grouninkle as a comer who will see action next fall as a guard. Another soph, Jeff Langston, of Iowa City, has teamed up with veteran Toni Hatch at the second team end positions.

A battle royal is expected for the fullback position, which Evashevski labels as "one of our strongest spots." Sophomore John Nocera, a 210-pounder from Youngstown, Ohio, holds down the No. 1 job now.

Staff Hopeful
The Iowa coaching staff is still hoping that 275-pound Mac Lewis of Chicago will come around. Evy said that he has not learned the techniques of offense well enough yet.

Other promising players up from the fullback position include: Baron Brenner, Iowa Falls; Darrell Drake, Shenandoah; Don Algren, Cedar Rapids; Herb Marske, Clinton, and Kevin Furlong, Detroit, Mich.

Weill-Norris Feud Ends
NEW YORK (AP)—The Al Weill-Jim Norris "feud" which both sides insist has been genuine, ended Wednesday night at a "peace dinner" when the fighting future of heavy-weight champion Rocky Marciano was discussed.

Weill will leave today for Macon, Ga., where the champion will make an appearance Friday. The manager expects to get some word from Rocky on his future plans.

"I want to talk to Rocky to see what all this retirement stuff is about," said Weill. "I don't know how he feels. I'll go along with Rocky. If he wants to retire nobody could change him and I wouldn't try."

Weill said Norris, president of the International Boxing Club,

He has demoted promising Fred Harris to the second team. Harris started the Notre Dame game last year and gave one of the best performances on the field.

Along with Harris, the No. 2 backfield consists of Bill Hoppel at right half and either Delmar Kloewer or Bill Gravel at right half. The quarterback job is a tossup between junior Gene Veit, sophomore Olin Treadway of Oklahoma and Randy Duncan of Des Moines.

Second Glance

By GEORGE WINE

READERS OF THIS column may think that the opening of the baseball season was entirely overlooked by the author. This, unfortunately, is true.

For the past two weeks, I have been preoccupied with a widely publicized two-act wedding taking place on the southern coast of France. All other news has escaped me, and rarely have I found time to read the sports page.

Thus I was reduced to a state of shock when I saw a picture of President Eisenhower—always a crowd pleaser—pleasing the crowd at Griffith Stadium as he threw an overhand slider into a covey of baseball players. When Ike retired to the bullpen to watch the Senator-ugh-Yankee clash, the baseball season was officially open.

THIS BASEBALL inaugural has literally caught me in a rundown between second and third. Sports fans have come to expect predictions from sports writers, just as Kentuckians have come to expect Bourbon with water.

Not that the fans put any stock in these forecasts. They merely want them so they can heckle and poke fun at the writer, and at the end of the season have proof of what a dull oaf he is.

Never one to disappoint the reader, I have set down a few predictions that will substantiate the theory that all predictions, like Hollywood marriages, go haywire. Appearing here, for the first time anywhere, are these forecasts:

AFTER A LONG and tedious investigation, it will be proved being a shadow of a doubt that the Cincinnati Reds have no affiliation with the Communist party.

HARVEY KUENN will hit four home runs in a single World Series game, but this record-breaking feat will be overshadowed by the really BIG news of the day: Grace Kelly getting caught dealing from the bottom of the deck.

SOME READERS may question the appearance of Harvey Kuenn in the World Series, since the Tigers aren't given the remotest of chances of winning the American League. But Datatron, the little electronic brother of Univac, recently gave its final forecast of how the majors will stack up this year.

For three weeks, a small army of mathematicians pumped baseball information into Datatron. When the electronic Einstein received its last bit of data, it took only 30 seconds to burp its answer: Detroit and Brooklyn.

Stunned, the mathematicians again fed Datatron the American League information, and again the answer was Detroit. If these predictions become a reality, even a casual fan will have to admit all the joy will be taken out of baseball.

FINAL PREDICTION: The AAU, which has won considerable fame in recent months, will investigate the case of Stan Musial. Averell Brundage and his boys will ultimately declare Stan the Man an amateur, on the grounds that the Cardinals aren't paying him enough. This will cause such confusion in the sports world that Wes Santee will stow-away to Australia and run in, and win, the Olympic 1500 meter event.

In Majors' Second Day—

Red Sox Rally Beats Orioles

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox rallied for six runs in the fifth inning Wednesday and an 8-4 victory over Baltimore.

Veteran Bob Porterfield made his successful pitching debut in a Red Sox uniform. He surrendered two-run home runs to Gus Triandos and rookie centerfielder Tito Francona.

Beyond that, righthanded Robert was tough, hurling a five-hit, five-strikeout performance.

Jimmy Piersall's accidental two-run single was the vital blow in the big fifth when the Sox reached loser Ray Moore for four hits, four walks and a sacrifice fly.

Trailing 4-2, the Sox loaded the bases. Then Mickey Vernon's second hit of the day dropped in for a one-run single.

With the count 3-2, Piersall put up his bat in a protective motion and wound up with a looping single to right, putting the Red Sox ahead to stay.

The Giants were trailing 4-3 going into the bottom of the ninth. Pittsburgh, trailing 3-0 early in the game, had fought back to tie the game at 3-3 on a home run by Frank Thomas and Roberto Clemente's 2-run single. The Senators rallied for three runs in the eighth but with the bases loaded and two out Whitey Herzog grounded out to end the threat.

Alabama Athletes Discuss Demands

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—Nearly 100 disgruntled University of Alabama athletes meet with Athletic Director Hank Crisp today to discuss their demands for less stringent dormitory rules.

They walked out of Friedman Hall, special dormitory for athletes, Tuesday night. This action followed the dismissal from the football squad of Roy Vickery, Atlanta, Ga., tackle who was involved in an automobile accident at 3 a.m. Sunday.

Dan Coyle of Birmingham, an end on the 1954 and 1955 football teams who dropped off the squad before 1956 spring practice, heads a committee representing the players.

He said the walkout was because "rules are too strict" and athletes are "treated like children."

The players drew up five "demands." Coyle said the students would drop out of athletics, and some might leave school unless the demands are granted.

Crisp said he was confident "everything will be worked out." The athletes demanded:

Reinstatement of Vickery and any other boys involved in the Sunday morning accident. It involved five other athletes, some with eligibility left, but no action has been announced in their cases.

No bed check out of season. Coaches check to see if the athletes are in bed at 11 p.m. on week nights, 12:30 a.m. Sundays and 11:30 Sunday night.

No restrictions on seniors, managers, etc., after their seasons are completed. Relaxing of the nightly restriction to rooms for study on week nights.

Freedom to leave the campus during weekends for the off season for athletes. They now must get permission to leave Tuscaloosa.

Ask For Bids On Seats for Iowa Stadium

The addition of 9,000 seats in the south end-zone of the Iowa football stadium will raise its seating capacity to 58,400 for the 1956 football season.

Dr. George S. Easton, chairman of the Board in Control of Athletics, said that bids for six contracts for construction of the bleachers and for related Iowa athletic and physical education facilities will be opened at 8 p.m. May 8. Bids will be accepted until 1:30 p.m. that day in the office of George L. Horner, superintendent of planning and construction.

Seating Capacity 12,000
The new bleachers will bring the south end-zone seating capacity to 12,000 including the 3,000 temporary bleacher seats placed there last season. The stadium capacity is approximately 44,000, and north end-zone bleachers provide seating for about 2,400 spectators.

The stadium will resemble a horseshoe, as specifications call for continuous bleachers in the south end-zone, joining the present east and west stadium sides.

Work on the stadium is scheduled to be completed by Oct. 1. Iowa's home football season opens Oct. 6 when the Hawks meet Oregon State University. Easton said that the additional seats will make the Hawkeye stadium the sixth largest in the Big Ten, just short of those of Illinois, Minnesota, and Michigan State in capacity.

Sealed Proposals
Contractors are also being asked to submit sealed proposals for men's and women's restroom facilities beneath the new bleachers, for a sprinkler system for the stadium field and for six adjacent practice fields, and for concrete curbing and a new base for the SUJ track field.

Copies of plans, specifications and other contract documents are now available in Horner's office, Dr. Easton said.

Police Search Lagoon For Gas Station Loot

Police were unsuccessful Wednesday in an attempt to retrieve a cash box, several money bags, and a number of checks that were reported to have been thrown into the small lagoon near North Riverside by Ronald L. Farrell.

Farrell, a former SUJ student, is being held in connection with the March 26 burglary of the North Dodge Street Texaco service station.

Officers Ed Ruppert and C. D. Stimmel, using a fire department boat and a large magnet brought in from Des Moines, were unable to locate any of the items.

No other attempts will be made for the time being, Police Chief Oliver A. White said.

Farrell, 23, of 184 Riverside Park was released on $1,000 bond posted by his attorney, Ingalls Swisher.

The father of two admitted to police Tuesday that he had entered the service station and taken $700 from his hiding place under a grease rack.

Farrell is a former employe of the service station.

Mrs. Kenney Still In Good Condition At Local Hospital

Mrs. John E. Kenney, 40, and Roland Van Nest, 32, the retired barber who police say shot her, remain in good condition at University Hospitals.

Mrs. Kenney was struck late Friday afternoon by two bullets, one in the chest and one in the right hand, from a .22 caliber revolver, witnesses say Van Nest fired. The incident occurred in Kenney's tavern, 24 S. Clinton St.

Arraignment of Van Nest on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder, filed in Iowa City police court Tuesday, depends upon his recovery from a concussion suffered in a scuffle with John E. Kenney, 39, who came to the aid of his wife following the shooting.

Navy Unveils New Ejectable Cockpit

CHICAGO — The Navy Wednesday took the wraps off a model of an ejectable cockpit capsule designed to permit survival plane bailouts at several thousand miles an hour.

The airtight cockpit, which has reached the development stage, will be interchangeable on fighters, bombers, interceptors and possibly even the atomic-powered planes of the future.

Because of the tearing action of rushing air, 300 to 400 miles an hour has been the survival limit for the over-the-side bailouts. The development of ejector seats and pressure suits has boosted this limit to around the speed of sound.

Expel the Bell

THE OLD BELL IN CITY HALL, dating back to 1881, is being taken down as a safety measure. Work will be completed today. From top to bottom are Earl Riley, Leo Wineke, and Art Hanson, employees of Maher Bros. Transfer and Storage Co.

Historic Bell Down From City Hall Today

Removal of the bell from the tower of City Hall will be completed sometime today. Work was begun Wednesday.

The city council last week directed the city manager and city engineer to remove the 1,200 pound bell as a safety measure. City Engineer Fred E. Gartzke reported that beams holding the bell were badly deteriorated.

It is believed that the 4 foot high bell dates back to 1881 when City Hall was constructed. Until 1936, it was connected to the clock and tolled the hours.

Earlier, the bell was used to tell Iowa City residents of fires. To do this, the old bell was hung rigidly and rung by hammers outside the bell. Weights, suspended on cables running down a shaft the height of City Hall, operated both the fire bell and the clock works, which in turn sounded the bell.

The clock, installed by I. Babourka, has not worked for several years.

Contract price for lowering the bell from the tower to the main floor is $246. The work is being done by Maher Bros. Transfer and Storage.

Balloons To Drop Freedom Leaflets On Midwest Area

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Thousands of simulated "propaganda leaflets" will soon be dropped on parts of the Midwest from plastic balloons.

"Target areas" for the balloons will be parts of Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin.

Launchings by the mechanical division of General Mills Inc. for the American Crusade for Freedom will begin late this week or early next week if weather conditions permit. Those finding the leaflets have been asked to report where they come down.

Each leaflet will have a section printed as a return post card. The finder has been asked to fill in data and add his own name and address before mailing.

G.I. Doctors' Pay Raise Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Wednesday passed a bill providing special pay raises for medical and dental officers in the Armed Forces. The action is designed to encourage the officers to stay in service.

The bill now goes back to the House for consideration of Senate amendments.

It would boost from $100 a month to $150 the special pay now allowed medical and dental officers after two years of service; to $200 a month after six years; and to $250 a month after 10 years.

AEC Gets $70 Million To Test Atomic Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted Wednesday to authorize $70 million for building test facilities for atomic-powered airplanes which won't be ready for several years.

The money is part of a $295,495,000 Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) authorization measure approved by voice vote. It now goes to the Senate.

Safety Commissioner Warns—

Traffic Menaces Iowa's Youth

At least 15 Iowa youngsters will die in pedestrian accidents this summer unless parents and drivers remain constantly alert, State Safety Commissioner Clinton Meyer warned in Des Moines Wednesday.

Meyer explained his estimate was based on last year's record when 13 children under 10 years of age were killed in pedestrian-motor vehicle accidents in Iowa between May 1 and Aug. 31.

Drivers were reminded to observe all speed limits and remain alert in an effort to reduce the death toll.

Set Liquor Hearing

District Judge Matthew Westrate has set April 27 for a hearing on petitions for injunctions against two former Clinton tavern operators and the owners of the buildings.

Liquor was found in the establishments of the two operators during a raid by state agents March 22.

The petitions, filed in District Court by County Attorney Warren C. Johnson, request that the buildings, owners and tavern operators be permanently enjoined from continuing as a "liquor nuisance."

Police Chief Robert LaZonby and Sheriff Marvin Bruhn said Wednesday they have received letters from Johnson ordering a crackdown on illegal liquor sales.

To Study Truck Use

The State Highway Commission and the Iowa Legislative Research Bureau in Des Moines agreed Wednesday to assist the Legislative Interim Committee in a study of truck use of highways.

The 1955 Legislature asked the committee to make the study and present recommendations to the 1957 session. The committee as a start-off on the project, called in the two state agency representatives.

Mark Morris and W. O. Price of the highway commission and Clayton Ringenberg of the research bureau discussed the project in broad terms with the committee.

Morris said the commission has an analysis of truck registration data, some idea of use of different highways by different types of trucks, and could determine the type of pavement needed to hold various types of trucks.

Iowa Farms Larger

The number of Iowa farms has declined since 1950, but the remaining farms are larger and have a bigger dollar valuation, the Iowa Development Commission reported in Des Moines Wednesday.

The average size of Iowa farms has increased from about 168 acres in 1950 to about 176 acres in 1954, while the total number of farms decreased from 203,159 to 192,933. Iowa ranks first in the nation in total area of state in farmland — 94 per cent of approximately 35,868,800 acres of land area are farms.

Walton League Meets

The 34th annual convention of the Isaac Walton League of America got under way Wednesday in Sioux City with registration of delegates.

Alden J. Erskine, Sioux City, who is general chairman of the convention, predicted that there would be 500 delegates in attendance. The gathering runs through Friday.

The League, one of the most active of conservation groups, is meeting for the second time in Iowa within the past five years. It met in Des Moines five years ago. Iowa furnishes the largest state membership in the League, with 13,000 enrolled.

Truman Is Calm, Wants 'Solemn' Wedding for Meg

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Harry S. Truman, father of the bride-to-be, insisted Wednesday he is calm.

"What I'm trying to do is to keep the women folks that way."

The former president referred to Mrs. Truman — whom he calls "The Boss" — and daughter, Margaret, who will be married Saturday to Clifton Daniel, assistant foreign editor of The New York Times.

He was speaking for himself and his "women folks" when he said: "We want the wedding to be very solemn and serious — because it is."

He was asked what he would wear at the wedding ceremony.

"The same striped pants suit I wore to diplomatic functions in the White House," he said.

Moisture Below Normal

Most of Iowa is now entering its second year with a below normal moisture record, the Weather Bureau reported Wednesday in Des Moines.

"The last month that above normal rain fell over all of Iowa was April, 1955," the report said. "With only minor exceptions, all parts of Iowa have had below normal moisture every month since then."

Job Outlook—

good personal qualifications, who has had sufficient part-time work experience to show he's ambitious and whose interests are in keeping with the needs of business and industry, has an infinite number of job opportunities over the country," Helen M. Barnes, Director of the SUI Business and Industrial Placement Office, declared.

Miss Barnes reports that 242 companies have conducted on campus some 2,000 interviews of prospective employees graduating from SUI this year. The placement service deals with 500 to 600 companies annually.

The placement service does not keep track of how many students are placed to date, but reports that students scatter widely in their employment. With increased industrialization of Iowa, more SUI grads are staying in Iowa after they graduate, however.

Girls in commerce are welcome and needed in personal service representative positions—explaining a company's equipment to office workers unfamiliar with it—but girls have been known to tackle just about any job in commerce if their training is sufficient.

New York Work

Some girls go to New York for graduate work in fashion and retailing. A small percentage of total commerce grads, whether male or female, go on to do graduate work at specialized business schools.

The SUI College of Commerce is a 2-year college. Students who wish to graduate with a B.S.C. degree spend their junior and senior years enrolled in commerce, after completing their freshman and sophomore years in the College of Liberal Arts.

Commerce students must major in one of six fields: economics, accounting, marketing, labor and management, office management and business education, and general business. No minor is necessary and seldom is a double major completed.

Enrollment Increased

Commerce enrollment has increased proportionately to the growth of SUI. There are now 578 students in commerce compared with 457 at this time last year. Although commerce is a college generally regarded as being dominated by men, 39 women are enrolled in commerce, or about 15 per cent of the total enrollment.

A total of 707 students are now enrolled in pre-commerce in the College of Liberal Arts.

It is estimated by the College of Commerce office that a majority of commerce students are majoring in general business. Accounting ranks second in attracting majors. The college keeps no official figures on the number of majors in each division of the college.

Republicans voting with 182 Democrats to override. A total of 173 Republicans and 38 Democrats voted to sustain the veto.

Just before the voting started, Cooley announced that Mr. Eisenhower's alternate proposal for a soil bank program this year also was "a dead duck."

However, House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) told reporters "there may be something done" yet on farm legislation this year.

He would not elaborate, but Democratic leaders were reported to be considering an attempt to work on the matter through the pending appropriations bill for the Agriculture Department.

Congress could earmark funds for specific farm purposes — or deny them for others — in handling the appropriations measure.

This is the recorded vote of Midwestern representatives.

Democrats for override: Dan-ron, Gordon, Gray, Kluetzynski, Mack, Murray, O'Brien, O'Hara, Price.

Republicans for: Simpson, Springer. Democrats against: Boyle, Yates.

Republicans against: Allen, Arends, Chipfield, Church, McVeey, Mason, Sheehan, Velde, Vursell.

Hancher Gives Advice To Touring Bagpipers

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher gave 75 members of the Scottish Highlanders, who plan to tour Europe this summer, some informal tips on how they can be ambassadors of good will for the United States and SUI during the trip.

Speaking in the Pentacrest Room of the Iowa Union Wednesday night, Hancher said the girls will be identified quickly as Americans and representatives of SUI, even if spotted by a European a block away.

The girls were told that a good rule to follow while in a European country is to be "gracious, polite, and above all remember that you are acting as representatives of the U.S."

Hancher related events and experiences from his personal experience as a Rhodes scholar studying in England years ago.

"You may see strange customs and manners," Hancher said, "but you must remember that some American customs and manners are also strange to foreigners visiting our country."

The girls who will make the trip will hear five more lectures, all designed to inform them of European customs, and ways of life. One lecture will be devoted entirely to telling the girls about customs, proper clothes and recreation facilities while aboard ship.

The Highlanders will leave Iowa City July 11th, go to New York where they will board the oceanliner Queen Mary for the trip across. They will return on the Queen Elizabeth and dock in New York September 11th.

It has been estimated that the total cost for the trip, for which plans have been formulating for three years, will be about $950 per girl.

Highlanders Fete 4-Year Members

Six 4-year "veterans" of the Highlanders were presented with certificates Tuesday night at the group's annual spring initiation party.

In addition, five other coeds who have performed with the Highlanders during the past year, were initiated into the group.

Honored for their 4-year stint in the band were seniors: Barbara Summers, Audubon; Prudence Reed, Elkader; Jonne Shiley, Graettinger; and Sheila Cunningham, Mary Sue Hancher and Virginia Yoder, all of Iowa City.

Newly initiated members include: Nancy Weih, A2, Clinton; Elaine Roggenkamp, A2, Davenport; Judy Rae Podhaski, A1, Monticello; Sue Donelson, A3, Reinbeck; and Marian Smith, A1, Cleveland, Ohio.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Oklahoma City police aren't making any special effort to crack an egg burglary case. They said a burglar broke into a creamery buying station and took a crate of eggs. The eggs were all cracked. They had been sorted from good eggs and placed in a special crate.
